Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 29 .- At 7:12:30 o'clock this morning Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President William McKinley, paid the extreme penalty exacted by the law for his crime. He was shocked to death by 1,700 volts of electricity. He went to the chair as have the majority of the other murderers in this state, showing no particular sign of fear, but talked to the witnesses while he was being strapped in the chair. NO REGRET. "I killed the president because he was an enemy of the good people-of the good working people. I am not sorry for my crime. These were his words as the guards hurried him into the chair, words he supplemented a moment later, mumbing them through the face-straps, "I am awfully sorry I could not see my father."

SLEPT SOUNDLY LAST NIGHT. Czolgosz retired last night at ten o'clock, and slept so soundly that when Warden Mead went to the cell shortly before five this morning the guard inside had to shake Czolgosz to awaken him. He sat up on the edge of his cot, and made no reply to the warden's greeting of "good morning." The prison official took from his pocket the death warrant and read it slowly and distinctly to the assassin, who hard'y raised his eyes during the perfunctory

Just as the warden stepped away from the cell door, Czolgosz called to im and said: "I would like to talk with the superintendent. The warden responded: "He will be down presently."

Then the condemned man rolled over on his cot, apparently anxious to sleep At 5:15, however, the guard brought to him a pair of dark trousers with the left leg slit so as to allow the free application of the electrode, and a light gray outing shirt. He was told to get up and put these on, which he did.

"I want to make a statement before you kill me." "What do you wish to say, Czolgosz?" asked the superintendent. "I want to make it when there are a lot of people present. I want them to hear me," said the prisoner. "Well, you cannot," said the superintendent. "Then I won't talk at all," said the prisoner sullenly. After this the superintendent left, the guards brought Czolgosz's breakfast, consisting of coffee, toast, eggs, and bacon, and he ate with quite a good deal of relish. While he was partaking of this the witnesses were gathering in the office of Warden Mead, and at 7:06 o'clock the procession passed to the death chamber, going through the long south corridor. IN THE DEATH CHAMBER. In the chamber Electrician Davis and former Warden Thayer, of Dannemora, had arranged the chair test, placing a bank of 22 incandescent lights across the arms, and connecting the electrode wires at either end. The witnesses were ordered seated, and then Warden Mead briefly addressed them, saying:

"You are here to witness the legal death of Leon F. Czolgosz. I desire that you keep your seats and preserve absolute silence in the death chamber, no matter what may transpire. There are plenty of guards and prison officials to preserve order and attend to the proper details." The prison physician, Dr. Gerin, and Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald, of New York, took a position to the left of the chair, Warden Mead stood directly in front,

Throughout his entire confinement he possessed a good appetite, and his physical condition was excellent. He weighed about 155 pounds, which was thought to represent a slight gain since

LAST INTERVIEWS. Czolgosz had his last two interviews tonight-the first with Supt. Collins and the second with his brother and brother-in law. Both of the interviews were brief, and the interviewers did most of the talking until the question of religion was mentioned, when Czolgosz broke from his seeming lethargy and violently denounced the church and the clergy, and made his relatack late today, but remained sullen tives promise that there should be no service for him, living or dead.

Prior to the late evening interviews Czolgosz reluctantly received Fathers Fudzinski and Hickey. It was late in the afternoon and occurred after he had once refused to meet them. The priests asked to be allowed to go to him despite his refusal. Supt. Col. lins consented and personally escorted them to the cell. The priests remained with Czolgosz for three-quarters of an hour, and earnestly pleaded with the prisoner to repent and pray for divine forgiveness. He rejected all their advances, however, and they regretfully withdrew. It was 7 o'clock when Supt. Collins went into the death house and tried to get the prisoner to talk to him. and Electrician Davis retired to the little room containing the electrical switchboard. Thayer gave the signal, and the current was turned through the electric lights, flooding the chamber with brilliant light, and dramatically showing the power that was used to kill the prisoner.

THE PRISONER BROUGHT IN. Warden Mead gave the signal to have the prisoner brought in, and at 7:10:30 o'clock, Chief Keeper Tupper swung open the high steel door leading to the condemned cells, and as the steel bars behind which Czolgosz had been kept were swung aside two guards marched the prisoner out into the corridor, two others followed be-hind, and the chief keeper walked in

The guards on either side of Czol-gosz had hold of his arms, either as if to support him, or to kee him from making a demonstration.

As he stepped over the threshold he stumbled, but they held him up, and as they urged him forward toward the little rubber-covered platform upon which the chair rests, his head was erect, and with his gray flannel shirt turned back at the neck, he looked quite boyish.

HE WAS INTENSELY PALE, and as he tried to throw his head back and erect, his chin quivered very per-ceptibly. As he was being seated he looked about at the assembled witnesses with quite a steady stare, and "I am not sorry for my crime," he said loudly, just as the guard pushed his head back on the rubber head-rest and drew the devisible strap across his forehead, and chin. As the pressure on the strap tightened and bound the jaw slightly, he mumbled, "I'm awfully sorry I could not see my suddenly and the whole attitude was one of extreme tenseness. For 45 seconds the full current was kept on, and then slowly the electrician threw the switch back, reducing the current volt by volt until it was cut off en-tirely. Then just as it had reached that point he threw the lever back again for a brief two or three seconds. The body, which had collapsed as the current was reduced, stiffened up again against the straps. When it was turned off again Dr. MacDonald stepped to the chair and put his hand over the heart. He said he felt no pulsation, but suggested that the current be turned on for a few seconds again. Once more the body became rigid. At 7:15 the current was turned off for good.

SHORT WORK.

From the time Czolgosz had left his cell until the full penalty was paid less than four minutes had elapsed. The scope and other tests to determine if any life remained, and at 7:17 the warden, raising his hand, announced: "Gentlemen, the prisoner is dead."
The witnesses filed from the chamber, many of them visibly affected, and the body, which had been full of plans have been made for the reception of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York at Portsmouth and in London. It is not generally felt that the tour of the duke and duchess has been a success, as on the whole comparatively little interest has been taken in it, the war and other events having completely overshadowed the royal journey. The officials however are determined that it shall end in a blaze of glory. There will be an effective naval display at Portsmouth, and in London a magnificent procession from Victoria station to Marlborough house. Newspaper correspondents who were with the duke contribute some remarkable letters to their papers here, highly appreciative of Canada. But they do not like the glimpse they got of the United States. Thus the Morning Post correspon-

CALLS IT A LIBEL. Michael Davitt writes to the London Times today protesting against its cor-respondent's description of New York which he characterizes as "a libel upon that city as gross and grotesque as

Mr. Davitt proceeds unhesitatingly to declare that the statements which he condemns are invented saying: "Life and property are as safe in New York as in London. There is less crime of a serious kind than in any of the great cities of the world and there is no more panic than there would be elsewhere on the eve of an election.

At the conclusion of an elaborate defense of the reputation of New York, he says, "I hold no brief for Tammany Hall, but I know New York as well as I know London and I write solely in the interest of fair play."

London, Oct. 29.—A dispatch from Bombay states that details received there of recent events at Koweyt show that the recent attempt to land Turkish troops was due to a secret arrangement between the Vali of Bassorah and Ibu Rashid, the Ameer of Nejd. The latter bribed the Vali to join him in an attack on Mabarouk, the Sheikh of Koweyt, and had moved 10,000 men from Nejd to the vicinity of that place, when, owing to the British intervention, the Turkish troops failed to appear. Ibu Rashid thereupon disclosed the plot to the Sultan, who recalled the Bali to Constantinople, and at the sultan's request Ibu Rashid withdrew from Koweyt to Nejd.

About Sugar Beets.

The Ontario Agricultural and Experi-

Dr. Wiley is the chief of the division of chemistry of the nited States department of agriculture, and as he has made a special study of he sugar beet industry, there is probably no better authority on this subject on he American continent. As sugar beet the American continent. As sugar beet growing in Ontario is now in its infancy, the information which Dr. Wiley will be able to give will be greatly appreciated. This address will be given at the time of the annual meeting of the Experimental Union, and will likely take place in the convocation hall at the college, on Monday evening, Dec. S. As there will be cheap rates on the different railroads to the meeting of the Experimental Union and to the Provincial Winter Show, a great many people will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Wiley's lecture on a subject which is receiving so much attention in Ontario at the present time. Other information regarding the annual meeting of the Experimental Union can be obtained by writing to the secretary, C. A. Zavitz, Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.

Number of Persons Killed by Bad Marksmen.

One of Twin Daughters Drowned in a Cistern—Suicide of a Canadian Nurse at Meriden, Conn.

Detroit, Oct. 29.—Hunting accidents give the coroners and doctors plenty of business throughout the state. At Lansing Gus Achtenberg and Smith Clawson went out shooting and were returning in an automobile. Achtenberg's dog was lying in front of them, and when it tried to get up Achtenber told the animal to lie down and he made a motion toward him with his hand. In some way he either hit the hammer of his gun or the dog did, and the discharge blew Achtenberg's face half off, death being instantane-

Stanley Chappel, aged 17, of Clare, was instantly killed by the discharge of a gun he was carrying while hunting vesterday.

Charles Sabotta, aged 19, was hunting a few miles from Big Rapids. While standing on a log his gun slipped, the charge passing along the side of his body from the abdomen to the top of his head. Part of his face was shot off and his recovery is doubtful. A few days since a farmer in an adjoining township was killed by a similar accident.

Samuel Gay, hotel proprietor at Rockwood, was out after quail with his brother. They found a bevy and just as they got up Gay shot, and his wife emerged from around the pile at the same instant, having gone to meet him. The charge struck her in the face and 26 shot entered her body The sight of one eye is destroyed and it is feared the other will be lost. Her condition is critical.

Charles Palmer, while hunting near Hillsdale, accidentally shot and instantly killed Charles W. Hagan, foreman in the shoe factory.

An accidental discharge of Leonard Mee's gun in the brush near Manistee struck his cousin, Bob Leonard, in the right knee. Leonard's leg was amputated, and he died from the shock and loss of blood.

Spiers was looking at a new gun at Howard City, and when it went off it hit a little girl named Holls on the top of the head, inflicting a bad scalp wound. In some manner Ed Alcorn's rifle was discharged in the woods near Harrisville. The ball went in one Harrisville. side and came out of Alcorn's shoulder. His condition is critical. SHOT WHILE GUNNING.

Montreal, Oct. 28.-News is received from Lachute, Argenteuil county, that W. J. Simpson, the former member for that county in the Quebec Legislature, had succumbed from an accidental gunshot wound. Mr. Simpson was hunting with some friends, when one of the friends' gun was discharged, and Mr. Simpson was wounded in the shoulder. He was 51 years of age and was very popular.

OF OREGON GOVERNOR -In His Family Uses Pe-ru-na and Grip. For Colds

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON. A Letter From the Executive Office of Oregon.

The governor of Oregon is an ar- | with this great remedy for coughs dent admirer of Pe-ru-na. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he says: State of Oregon,

Executive Department, Salem, May 9, 1898. The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Dear Sirs,-I have had occasion to use your Pe-ru-na medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.

Yours very truly, W. M. LORD.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. cold is the beginning of catarrh. prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Pe-ru-na not only cures catarrh but it prevents. Every household should be supplied (us, Ohio, U. S. A.

colds, and so forth. It will be noticed that the governor says he has not had occasion to use Pe-ru-na for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Pe-ru-na to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Peru-na in the house. Use it for coughs, affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

HUMAN TIME-PIECE New York Has a Man by Whom Watches Are | Snubbed an Impudent Millionaire Who Regulated.

At least one man in New York earns his living by acting as a human timepiece. This individual, however, cannot be termed unique, for he does he can be peremptory and cuttingly not devote himself entirely to furnishing the time for others, but at noon only, on each business day. He does not earn a regular wage for his labor, the greater part of which de-pends on faithfulness and punctuality, yet he does collect enough to keep him in tobacco and whisky, and these satisfy his desire for luxuries. His particular work consists of standing in the middle of Front street, near James slip, a point where he can observe the great ball that is lowered on the Western Union building every day at precisely 12 o'clock. A few minutes before that hour the man takes his stand in the street, and instantly the windows of the surrounding office buildings, the decks of steamers lying at the piers along the East River in sight of the "timepiece," and doors of nearby stores are

Just a few seconds before the hour is to be designated by the falling of the ball-and the man knows when the exact second will arrive almost as well as he knows the names of the persons who pay him—the "time-piece" raises his right hand perpendicularly above his head. At the instant the ball begins to descend down comes his hand and the man departs, his work finished for that day. He is said to be invaluable to shop-

Electrocution of Czolgosz.

At an early hour this (Tuesday) sin of President McKinley, paid the penalty of his crime in being put to death by electrocution at Auburn,

Many questions of fate and destiny suggest themselves when one thinks of the career of a useful and good man like William McKinley cut short by one so worthless as Czolgosz. But these things are deep and inscrutable, over them, one comes back perforce to the doctrine of a Providence through whom even the most untoward of national events "make for righteousness," both nationally and individually. One can only exclaim, with Milton:

What in me is dark, Illumine: what is low, raise and sup-That to the height of this great argu-I may assert eternal Providence And justify the ways of God to men-

Providence undoubtedly does overrule all happenings for good; and one from the death of President McKinley are being taken to themselves by the people of the United States.

After the first stunning sensation of the late President's assassination, the most thoughtful minds among our neighbors and throughout the world pointed out, as to be desired, three things of much importance:

First, that there should be no prison-breaking for the purpose of exercising lynch law on the murderer; to the end that the sentiment in favor of law and order should be strengthened and not weakened.

Second, that the ordinary processes of the law should move on, as the Latin proverb has it, without rest, yet without haste; and with provision, by the State, of counsel for the prisoner, that he might have an absolutely fair trial.

And third, that newspapers and speakers should, as far as possible. wold giving the murderer that notorlety as a "hero" for which he may have craved, rather consigning him as far as might be to an oblivion of con-

It is very creditable to our neighpors that their seventy millions well under the trying ordeal through which they have passed. There was no lynching of the assassin. The proof the law moved on calmly and steadily. Like the mills of the gods, they have ground slowly, but have ground exceedingly small, Nor

General Buller.

The case of General Buller seems to have aroused intense but mingled feelngs. No one can defend the indiscretion of a military man, seeing that discipline is of the very essence of military life, and must be demanded from the highest as well as the lowest. Yet no one can look at General Buller's career without both admiration and sympathy. As it has turned out, it is easy now to see that at the beginning of the war he had, with the material at his disposal, an impossible task. He did not make any brilliant stroke, but he did a lot of dogged fighting, and kept through all disasters the confidence and admirtary experts, but we cannot help regretting that the services of a good man have to be dispensed with. Though not a brilliant general. Buller is regarded as an honorable, reliable, useful soldier. A correspondent of the said sarcastically that there should be peace generals, and war generals; and I am not at all sure that this is can teach can act up to his teaching, and a trainer is not necessarily himself proficient. So also in soldiering. Many officers are perfectly excellent peace instructors, but no more good than a sick headache in real fighting. On the other hand, there are born fighters, who are intensely bored with peace work, and are highly inferior

There is no doubt something in this and there is strong testimony that General Buller at any rate seems to have been very useful at Aldershot, as well as dogged and determined in Natal. We can only regret that he was not sufficiently determined to do his duty silently, and let the dogs bark.

Independence.

Comment is made on the fact that P. for Labelle, has been lecturing in Montreal on Canada's future, and declaring that he believes the destiny of the Dominion is to become an independent nation.

As Mr. Bourassa places the time for the change in the far distant and undeclared future, few there be who will dogmatically contest his view, for who can tell what change may come after this country has a population of forty or fifty millions, which it is destined, we doubt not, one day to have? What we desire to point out is that Mr. Bourassa is a disciple of Mr. Maclean, Conservative for East York, who some years ago attended a Young Liberal convention in the city of Montreal, and most earnestly endeavored to get the delegates to pronounce in favor of Canadian independence. Mr. Maclean had some friends who agreed with his programme, but the convention failed to take him seriously, in which attitude it followed another Liberal convention in Toronto, at which Mr. Maclean put in an appearance. But from Mr. Bourassa's present attitude Mr. Maclean may now claim that he was in those days merely easting his independence bread upon the water and that it is returning to him after many days.

It appears the German contingent carried off the Chinese astronomical instruments from Pekin, and that this has raised a row in Germany. Then it was stated that these instruments were bought, but this turns out to be false, and the question arises, who has made the matter worse by telling lies? In many respects the Chinese have been badly treated. In comparison with the great wrongs they have suffered, the stealing of their instruments may seem a small affair. But such an outrage is unworthy of a civilized nation, and the protest made by German journals is creditable to them. One says: "A state which champions the cause of civilization. and international law, ought to be the last to ride roughtshod over the law of nations. If its troops have committed a mistake, both wisdom and justice demand that the error should be confessed, and that what was done should be undone." It then argues the case, and suggests the best method of procedure. Another journal which is regarded as an organ of jingo tendencies, comes out straight in the following fashion: "We do not think that it is enough to place the instruments 'at the disposal' of the Chinese Government, The more correct course would have been to offer to of the German Empire. If the Chinese Covernment does not desire to have the instruments replaced, the proper course would be to deduct an amount corresponding to their value from the

that the Germans are pretty well sick of the whole Chinese business, but at any rate it is a healthy sign when its press gives forth such a strong protest against vandalism.

British National Debt.

War is a great fattener of the national debt of civilized countries. When King William was brought over to England in 1688, the debt of the country was but £664,263. To this William found it necessary to add nearly £12,-000,000 during the sixteen years of his reign. In the days of Queen Anne, Marlborough engaged in wars that required the expenditure of another £38,000,000. King George I. had the good fortune to see the debt slightly decreased; but in the reign of George II, nearly £87,000,000 was added to it. While George III. was King, there came the American war of independence, when the debt, which was being steadily decreased, very speedily began to mount up, and it was nearly doubled, being increased from £130,-000,000 to £251,000,000. When this disastrous war, which many believed might have been averted, was ended, there was a popular agitation for the years, from 1784 to 1793 £10,500,000 were paid off. Then came the French revolutionary war, which lasted with but a short interval until 1815, when Napoleon was sent to Helena. During this period, money was borrowed in the most extravagant manner, an example oan negotiated in 1815, when for £36,-000,000, every subscriber received £174 3 per cent stock and £10 4s. per cent. In 1816 the national debt had mounted to the enormous sum of £900,000,-An earnest attempt was accordingly made in succeeding years to cut it down, but the abolition of slavery and the Crimean war added to it very considerably. It is interesting, in view of the very large amount spent in South Africa in the last two years, to note that Britain's additions to the national debt from the Crimean war was only £32,000,000. In 1857, at the close of that conflict, the debt stood at £838,918,443. In the succeeding 43 years, the debt was reduced by £198,-753,178, and in 1899, the date at which the liabilities were lowest, they were £635,040,965. This year, through the expenditure on the war, they have again risen to £705,723,878. Some idea of the cost of the South African conflict may be gleaned from the fact that in the past twelve months the British national debt has been added to by the sum of £66,558,613. This is over $300,000,000, besides which sum Canada's contribution of under $3,000,000 in expenses for the contingents seems very modest indeed. We can well understand why so many public men in Great Britain are anxious to have the war brought to a close at the earliest possible moment.

Winner as well as loser have suffer and pay in every war.

Money and Fame in Vaccination.

There was money and honor in vaccination for a distinguished ancestor of Sir Joseph Cockfield Dimsdale, who, on the 28th of last month, was elected to fill the office of lord mayor of the British metropolis. Thomas Dimsdale, M. D., was born in 1712, and in 1767. having meanwhile become a leading physician, he published a book entitled "The Present Method of Inoculation for the Smallpox." The book passed through many editions, and became world famous. The Empress Catherine, indeed, noted its contents, and invited Dr. Dimsdale to visit Russia, and inoculate herself and her son, the Grand Duke Paul. There were ignorant and prejudiced persons in Russia in those days, just as there are today, and the empress was so fearful of the outcome of an untoward result that she had relays of post-horses ready all the way from St. Petersburg to the frontier for the safe conveyance of Dimsdale out of the empire. As both patients did extremely well, Dr. Dimsdale had the honor of baronetcy conferred on him, and he was made a councilor of state. receiving also $50,000 down, an annuity of $2,500 a year, and $10,000 for expenses. There are few such "snaps" going for the medical fraternity today. though Sir Morell Mackenzie fared pretty well at the hands of the royal family when he attended the late German Emperor.

British Forestry. Forestry is an important subject, either with reference to England or Canada. In our case, the danger is that we squander our abundant wealth without making provision for the future. We are glad, however, to think that attention has been called to the subject, if not in good time, at least long before it is too late. An article in the October issue of The Nineteenth Century and After directs attention to the "sad plight of British forestry." The circumstances there are quite different from ours, but it is interesting to note that the care and cultivation of forests is important in a small, fullysettled country, as well as in one with larger spaces and smaller population. The writer points out some improvements that have been made in Scotland, and remarks "Still more gratifying, in the north, there is now the application of scientific system to forestry. Too long has the old, wasteful, hand-to-mouth, rule-of-thumb manner send them back and replace them in prevailed; not a moment too soon have their former position at the expense some Highland land-owners awakened to the increasing value of home timber, and have begun to recognize forestry as farming on a large scale. It requires, however, more than common prescience to adopt a revolution in a tation of crops must be measured not by seasons but by centuries."

Exactly. The man who wants to see quick results, will not be attracted by forest cuitivation, especially if he has the spirit of the Irlshman who is credited with the question, "What has posterity done for us?" In Britain the room and capacity for sport may have to be lessened in order to get back crops of trees, and at any rate science and forethought must be brought to

"There is a practical code of British husbandry and stock rearing, and there are agricultural societies in every country of the realm to encourage and instruct individual effort. Nothing of the kind exists in British forestry. Our abundant coal supply has enabled us to become indifferent to a good supply of wood fuel; our wealth puts the timber of every part of the globe at our disposal. Here and there few careful land-owners have borrowed from foreign countries and put in practice the rules of good forestry. But by far the larger portion of British woods are run on amateur lines, tinctured with local custom."

We are glad that in Canada both government and people are prepared to pursue an enlightened policy.

Editorial Book Table.

Physical Culture, published by the Physical Culture Publishing Company, Broadway, New York, is a timely periodical on an important subject. Se much has been written on the subject of mental development, almost at the expense of man's physical being, that this monthly magazine will be welcom ed by all who hold to the adage, mens sana in corpore sano, a sound mind in a sound body. The periodical is well il lustrated, chiefly from photographs, and in its letterpress contains many valuable hints on the subject of exercise and health.

The Cosmopolitan has endeavored to make itself known by timely contributions to all important controversies. Frank Moss, so well known in the Lexow and Mazet investigations, con tributes "Municipal Misgovernment and Corruption: A Warning to Patriots," to the November issue. This considers a serious difficulty in a way that will be found interesting not only to New Yorkers, but to residents of every part of America.

A FREDERICTON BANK MANAGER ARRESTED

In Connection With the Disappearance of $6,000-The Incident Causes a Sensation.

Halifax, Oct. 28 .- A sensational arrest was made by Detective Power, of this city, last night, when a young best families of Halifax, was arrested, just as he was leaving on the night train for Boston. Ten or tewelve years ago, A. Harley, a young Scotchman, came to Nova Scotia, and entered the service of the Bank of British North America. He was a prominent footballist, and a general favorite in social circles. His advancement in the bank was rapid, and in a few years he was given the managership of the bank in Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick. A few days ago he was dis missed from his position. He went from Frdericton to Boston, and under instructions of the general manager of the bank it is stated that he was under detective surveillance while in that city. He managed, however, to elude his shadowers, and on Friday night returned to Halifax, where wife was. Last night, with his wife. he boarded the night express for Boston, but he was arrested on a warrant two minutes before the departure of the train.

Some time ago a gentleman from Scotland, who was visiting Fredericton, deposited in the Bank of British North America $6,000, receiving the regular deposit receipt therefore from manager. The Scottish gentleman went to Montreal, and recently presented his check to the British North America branch in that city for $6,000. but was told that there were no funds to his credit. The bank's inspector immediately investigated the matter

Representatives of 2,500 Sir Wilfrid Laurier Has Received the Workers Are Here.

This Morning's Session Largely Attended.

Splendid Addresses, That Were Afterwards Discussed, Given by Local Speakers.

The lecture room of the First Methodist Church this morning held a large crowd of actively-working and earnest Christians, young women and men, whose fabors are most intimately connected with the Epworth League of London district, now in convention here. A committee had prepared for their edification a programme of adand to those to whom at future meetings, they will be reported. This afternoon the delegates are continuing in session and this evening also will be given to another meeting, at which Rev. C. T. Scott, of Dundas Center Church, whose abilities as a leader have brought him into great prominence, will conduct a devotional service, and addresses will be delivered by Dr. Hart, pioneer of the West Chinamission, and Rev. G. W. Henderson, late president of the London confer-

Early this morning a sunrise service was held to be followed, at 9:30 o'clock, by the opening of the morning session.

Rev. S. Salton conducted the devotional exercises, and an address upon the subject, "The League and the Bible," earnest and helpful, was given by Rev. G. J. Bishop. The Leaguers discussed his address afterwards, and all gained by the expression of new and individual opinions. In the same way, a clear and practical paper concerning "Our Financial Methods," prepared and read by Mr. W. G. Young, was discussed by the delegates. "Our Literary ed by the delegates. "Our Literary Work and the Reading Course" was the subject of an able address by Rev. R. D. Hamilton, whose vigorous style quite captivated his audience, Rev. J. KING'S FACE LOOKS PALE!

British Society Alarmed Over His Majesty's Health.

Royal Command to Attend the Coronation.

London, Oct. 28.-The pertinacity with which society discusses the rumors about the health of King Edward has had a serious effect on the court dressmakers, who expected, ere now, to have been busily engaged on the coronation robes, etc. They are keeping large staffs in almost complete idleness. The members of society have apparently made up their minds that they will not go to any expense, until they feel sure that the coronation will really occur.

The date for the coronation is said to have been fixed for Wednesday, June 25, 1902, ceremonies to extend over two days. Commenting on reports that King Edward is suffering from cancer in the throat, the London correspondent of the New York Journal says: "That the King has some ailment which has taken the color from his usually ruddy cheeks and given enfeeblement to his gait, is undoubted. "In the clubs, in high society and in business circles of London the main topic daily is the King's condition. The old rumors, true or untrue, that the King is suffering from threatened aneurism of the aorta, have pene-trated every circle. It is impossible to get at his physicians and inquiries addressed to those surrounding him are met by dismal headshaking. "The government will soon be compelled to make an authoritative state-SIR WILFRID SENT FOR. Ottawa, Oct. 29 .- A striking figure of the coronation of his majesty June will be the premier of the Dominion. It is understood that all the colonial premiers are to be invited to be present, the idea being to make the coronation ceremonies as impressive as possible, and at the same time representative of every portion of territory under British rule.

The formal invitation to Sir Wilfrid has been received. He will, it is thought, be accompanied by a contingent of Canadian militia.

THE EDWARD VII. COINS. London, Oct. 29 .- For the first time in many years the British mint will not issue any new money at Christmas. The first issue of the coinage of King Edward VII. will be as early in 1902 as possible. Before the date of issue the coinage will be heralded by a royal proclamation describing minutely the character and appearance of each coin, without which formality none could be legally put into circulation. Most of the dies of the Victorian coinage will then be destroyed.

WEAR YOUR MEDALS. It is suggested that on the celebration of the birthday of King Edward VII., on Nov. 9, in Canada, every person living in the Dominion who has worn a medal for service to the cause of the empire should wear it on that

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Chaperons.

It was abundantly proven last night,

when "The Chaperons" scored decisively before a large and fashionable audience at the new Grand Opera House, that Londoners are essentially lovers of shows that are an admixture of comedy and music. The production of Frederick Ranken and Isadore Witmark is a lyric comedy of much worth, presented by a company whose posters scintillate with names any one of which would be a potent attraction in a less pretentious organization, and it was quite in keeping with the traditions of past seasons that it should be given a splendid welcome. "The Chaperons" tells of a rich American pork-packer, an investigator for a society for the suppression of vice, who goes to Paris "in his official capacity," and at the same time to find a seal that would legalize a will made by the father of two beautiful girls, whose guardian he is. While in the giddy capital, he is caught in the meshes of an adventur-ess, a professional chaperon. His attempts to find the seal, the complications that keep it from him, and the affairs d'amour of his beautiful wards, are the foundations upon which the play stands. Mr. Ranken's libretto is far from being as original and humorous as was expected-indeed, in more than one instance, it descended to a level of mediocrity that was not relieved even by the admirable efforts of an unusually fine company. His collaborator has been more successful, the music being pleasing always, and in several of the solos and choruses, it is of considerable merit. To say of Digby Bell, who played the part of Adam Hogg, the rich investigator, that he is wasting his genius upon a character that allows him hardly any opportunity to show his worth, would be saying what is true equally true of Marie Cabill and in lesser degree, of Walter Jones. Mr. Imports of manufactured goods by Bell and Miss Cahill can and did make the most of parts that do them little justice, but their talents had little of the free play that was allowed them in former characters. Walter Jones, in his more robust style, made the best use of the part of the Mulcahey, seeking reward for its own sake, who, Gold shipments thus far this year from the chief ports of Australia are reported as $39,075,000 against $20,490,000 for the same period last year.

by the way, brought up remmiscences of the famous O'Hoolighan of "Yankee Doodle Dandy" fame. Much of the same broad humor marked Eddie Redway's Schuitzel Rinderbrust. Eva Tanguay, more perhaps than any other member of the company succeeded in creating a part that re-mains a distinct and pleasant memory. Phrosia, the unquenchable girl sleuth, especially when she sings her coon song, "My Sambo," was one of the very brightest bits of the play. and as such was appreciated by the and as such, was appreciated by the audience, and her song almost selfishly redemanded. Of a simpler, though equally admirable, kind was the work of Louise Gunning and past, as, for instance, in "Princess Chic," and both his voice and acting showed improvement. Mr. Templer Saxe, a splendid baritone, was heard here only because of the misfortunes that attended "The Ladies' Paradise." a New York production, for which he came from the London over the sea. His acting and singing gave much pleasure and were frequently applaud-At all times the chorus was effective, both in appearance and choral work, and the stage pictures formed were among the happiest features of the production.

At the London Opera House

Manager George H. Fenberg's company of players was greeted by a good-sized and thoroughly satisfied audience at the London Opera House last even-ing. The play, "Master and Slave," by Jos. D. Clifton, a member of the company, was good, and was well handled. The company is composed of twenty people, all of whom are capable actors, as their work of last evening showed. The leading role of Chick was filled by Miss June Agnot, a young, clever and vivacious actress, whose work placed her at once in touch with her audience. In addition to her dramatic work, her singing and dancing proved of an especially pleasing quality. The special-ties included Gaffy and Shuby, who did one of the cleverest musical acts ever seen at the London; Miss Millie Corbin, a female baritone, who brought down the house with her singing of two pretty illustrated songs, and Miss Beatrice Fenberg, one of the members impany last year, who again sang herself into the good graces of the audience. Mr. John Morris also made a good hit with his specialties, as did the moving pictures. Taking it throughout, Mr. Fenberg has brought to London this year a much better and stronger company than when here last March, and the theater should be packed nightly. Tonight a clever play in five acts, entitled "A Daughter of Corsica," will be presented.

ROYAL LILLIPUTIANS TONIGHT. The management of the Royal Lilliputians claim to have made their new spectacular play, "The Merry Tramps." one of unrivaled splendor and more seductively attractive in its pictorial effects than any similar production ever presented. There are four acts and twelve scenes, all of which are said to be very beautiful, while the mechanical effects are said to be delightful. There are several ballets executed by half a hundred graceful young women in beautiful costumes. The music will be found to be a special feature of the entertainment. All the diminutive fa-vorites are still in the company, which will appear at the New Grand tonight.

"A HOMESPUN HEART."

Hal Reid's masterpiece, "A Homespun Heart," will be the attraction at the New Grand tomorrow (Wednesday) matinee and evening, at popular prices Critics of the Chicago dailies, where this play opened its season, have rank ed this gem of rural love stories with such stage classics as "Way Down East," "Shore Acres," "Peaceful Valley," "Sag Harber," and "Old Homestead." It deals with a homespun people, their love, life and trials. The at mosphere of the play is wholesome and points an excellent moral. In the cast are such well-known characte portrayers as Blanche Warren, Luly Espey, Lucille Allen Walker, Estelle Howard, Fred Monley, Harry L. Dunkinson, Azack L. Evans, Will M. Chap-man and Charles W. Porter.

"AT CRIPPLE CREEK."

Hal Reid's new melodrama, Cripple Creek," will play a one-night engagement at the New Grand Opera House, Friday, Nov. 1. This production of the fire and spirit of early frontier life. Scenes of striking beauty and weird grandeur in the heart of the Rockies are depicted with startling realism. A charming love story threads its way through scenes of deadly peril. drollery and quaint humor evoke

"A GENTLEMAN OF FRANCE." Next Saturday night at the New Grand Opera House, the distinguished actor, Mr. Kyrle Bellew, and a company of one hundred people, will give one performance in this city of Har-riet Ford's dramatization of the Stan-Weyman romance, "A Gentleman of France." The inaugural performance will be given in Ottawa on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Oct. 30 and 31. The company will come direct. here by special train, so that Ottawa and London are the only two cities in Canada favored with this distinguished performance. The company goes from here to Chicago, where they will appear at the Grand Opera Hous for a four weeks' engagement, after which they go to Wallack's Theater, New York, for a twelve weeks' engagement. IN THE SHADOW OF THE SCAFFOLD!

Dane Hansen at Montreal Found Guilty of Murder-The Prisoner's Confession.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—An inquest was held yesterday afternoon on the remains of the lad Marotte, the boy who was killed by the Dane Hansen on Saturday night in order that the latter might get the few cents the boy had. The doctors and few cents the boy had. The doctors and the chief of police were examined. Hansen made a statement, in which he admitted he had killed the boy. He said he was drunk at the time, and did not know what he was doing. The jury, after a few minutes' deliberation, returned the following verdict: "We, the undersigned, having heard the eyidence, declare that Erline Marotte died at Westmount on the 26th day of October, 1901, from wounds in his throat, inflicted with a knife in the hands of Thorval Hansen."

HANSEN EXPECTS TO HANG

HANSEN EXPECTS TO HANG. Montreal, Oct. 29.-Thorval Hansen, the self-confessed murderer of Erline Mar-otte, stated that he went to the Presby-terian Church when he was in the British army, and expressed a wish to see a minister of that church. Rev. G. F Johnson, of St. Andrew's, Westmount was accordingly sent for and had a talk with the man. Hansen stated that his downfall was the to drink, and he expressed regret for committing the crime and asked the min-ster to take a message to the bereaved told by a visitor that he would likely hang for the murder, he said he could not help that. PATRICK'S CASE. New York, Oct. 23.—The trial of A. T. Patrick, accused of the murder of Millionaire W. M. Rice, is likely to take place in the first week of December. Two London Relatives First Learned of Accident Through Columns of Advertiser.

Mrs. L. Humphries, of 357 Oxford street. first learned through the columns of The Advertiser yesterday afternoon that her father, Henry Jewell, a prosperous Harwich farmer, had been seriously injured. Mr. Jewell, in company with his wife, attempted to drive over the Livingstone crossing, five miles east of Chatham, yesterday morning, when their conveyance was struck by Grand Trunk accommodation No. 21, due at Chatham from London at 8:15 a.m. Mrs. Jewell sustained a painful grash on the head and other London at 8:15 a.m. Mrs. Jewell sustained a painful gash on the head and other injuries, and Mr. Jewell, who was unconscious when picked up, was found to be still more seriously injured. Conductor Parker, of London, had the injured man and woman conveyed to Chatham, and they were taken to the home of their son, Richard Jewell.

Mrs. Humphries, having received no word from Chatham, was naturally very anxious to learn the exact nature of her parents' injuries. Her anxiety was re-parents' injuries. Her anxiety was relieved this morning, however, by the contents of a telegraphic special to The Advertiser, stating that Mr. Jewell's condition was much improved, and that his life was not in danger.

AFTER THE EXECUTION!

Henry Jewell's Injuries Not So Inquest Developed That Czolgosz's Brain Was Normal.

> No Sign Whatever to Indicate Insanity-The Body Given a Bath of Acid and the Victim's Belongings Burned.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 29.-When the body of Czolgosz had been removed from the room where he was killed to the autopsy table, Auburn Prison returned to the routine of its ordinary life. The prisoners, who had been kept locked in their cells, were released at 7:45, and prison work was resumed at once. There was no excitement among the convicts and no unusual scene about the prison. A crowd that numbered searcely a hundred stood around the prison gate to watch the witnesses enter and wait until they reappeared. The witnesses dispersed quickly.

DEAD TO THE WORLD. From the time the prisoner entered the prison until he was brought to the death chair today, he was practic ally out of public view. During his imprisonment the post brought more than 1.500 letters, papers and packages to the prisoner, but none of these was ever delivered to him. The prison offi-cials felt that the delivery of such a quantity of mail would not only seriously disturb him, but would have given him false ideas as to his importance and prominence. The other convicts in the death house were not per-mitted to talk to him, and the guard who kept the death vigil watched in unbroken silence. The seclusion of the prisoner operated both ways, for if the world went on in ignorance of the pri-soner from day to day, the prisoner lived in ignorance of what went for-ward in the world, even as to the great

The top of the head was sawed off through the thickest part of the skull, which was found to be of normal thickness, and it was the unanimous agreement, after microscopical examination, that the brain was normal or slightly above normal. This demonstrated to the satisfaction of the physicians that in no way was Czolgosz's mental condition, except as it might have been perverted, responsible for the crime. The autopsy was completed shortly before noon. THE BURIAL. The body was placed in a black stained pine coffin, every portion of the anatomy being replaced under the supervision of Dr. Gerin and Warden Mead. Shortly afterward it was taken to the prison cemetery and an extraordinary precaution taken to completely destroy it.

A CARBOY OF ACID. was poured upon the body in the coffin after it had been lowered into the grave. Straw was used in the four corners of the grave as the earth was put in to give vent to such gases as might form. It is the belief of the physicians that the body will be entirely disintegrated within twelve hours. During that time and as long as deemed necessary, a guard will be kept over the unmarked grave.

HIS BELONGINGS BURNED. The clothing and personal effects of the prisoner were burned under the direction of Warden Mead, shortly after the execution.

Rev. Cordello Herrick, chaplain of the prison, was in the death chamber ready for any call that might be made for his services. He was not wanted by the prisoner, however, and sat quietly in the rear of the chamber through the execution.

A museum keeper in one of the largest Eastern cities, telegraphed Supt. Collins an offer of $5,000 spot cash for either the body or the garments of the murderer, and the owner of a kinetescope, wired Warden Meade that he would pay $2,000 for permission to take a moving picture of Czolgosz entering the death chamber.

FIERCE FIGHT IN LOUISIANA!

At Least 14 Persons Killed in a Race Conflict.

Armed Men Rushed From All Sides to the Scene-Trouble Was Started by a Negro.

New Orleans, Oct. 28.-The Picayune Amite City special says: Three white men and eleven negroes killed is the startling news from Washington parish tonight. Your correspondent has just conversed with a man from Franklinton, and he confirms the above information, but he knew nothing of what happened since yesterday

The first news of the race riot was brought here today by Cornelius Mixon, who with his mother, left from near Franklinton this morning. He stated that white men rode into Franklinton at 2 o'clock this morning, asking for help, saying that the negroes were up in arms threatening to exterminate the whites. The scene of the trouble is at or near Ball Town, where a negro was burned last week for criminally assaulting a white woman. This was not the cause, how-ever, of the murders yesterday.

Mr. Mixon saw and talked many men from the scene, and they said more and worse trouble was expected today, as armed men were flocking to the scene, and it was reported the blacks were equally active in preparing for a battle.

P. B. Carter arrived from Franklinton a little after dark tonight and said the situation was terrible more trouble was feared. He said Joe Seals and Charles Elliott and another white man, whose name he did not know, were dead and E. H. Thompson, a white man, wounded, and eleven negroes were dead. His information was up to last night and was obtained from people who went to Franklinton

At 3 o'clock this morning a posse left Franklinton for the scene in charge of Sheriff Simmons and from all over the country armed men were hurrying to the same place. Mr. Carter said 500 men probably were under arms today in Washington parish.

HOW THE TROUBLE STARTED. The trouble occurred at a negro camp meeting, and the origin as near as can be ascertained, was as follows: Creer Lott, a negro, was running a refreshment stand and a constable, a white man, name not given, went to him and asked for his license. He had none and became impudent, cursed the constable and defied him. The constable withdrew and obtained assistance. He returned with several white men, when the negro Lott rushed out and fired point blank into the crowd, killing Joe Seals and Charles Elliott. "The whites returned the fire, and killed Lott. Then a negro preacher named Connelly rushed out of a house with a gun in hand attempting to shoot, when he was killed. His daughter also was killed, it is said, accidentally. In the shooting which followed another white man was killed and E. M. Thompson wounded, and seven or eight negroes killed. While the shooting had no direct connection with the burning of the negro Morris in that section last week, it is undoubtedly a sequel to that trag-

ed that the negroes have been holding nightly meetings, preparing to attack the whites. Balltown is about twenty miles from Franklinton, in a sparsely settled section. It is isolated almost entirely cut off from the outsile world. Franklinton is 27 miles east of this place,

HOUSEHOLD NECESSITIES.

"I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicine. Some time ago my husband was taken down with lung fever. It came on him with a chill in the night. It happened I had a supply of the medicine in the house at the time. I rubbed his chest and back with the Radway's Ready Relief. I gave him a teaspoonful '1 a little hot water to drink, to help warm and stimulate him, and in about half an hour three of the Radway's Pills. By the time the doctor came the next morning he was much better. The doctor wanted to know what I had been doing. I told him. He said that was good; that they were good medicines. Another case I had was with my little nephew. He was taken with the roup. I rubbed his chest, throat and back with the Ready Relief, gave him doses about an hour apart, followed it by a dose of pills. By the next day he was about all right. I have been using this medicine with my family and my neighbors for about thirty years, and never knew it to fail. One nice dress? Elsie had not had a new one since the Countess had given her the pink ball-dress which she had only worn for an hour when the cruel telegram came and summoned her off on a false track. Now the pink dress lay somewhat crushed in her trunk. She had written a pretty note to the Countess since her return to Coome Hill House, thanking her again and again for all her kindness, and telling her that she had been summioned away by false news of her father's illness: Elsie had received a few cold, gentle lines from Lady Chase, an amiable, distant little note, which showed that the Countess did not believe in her, and was only pitiful and kind towards her as she as towards everybody. Elsie thought of all this while she was changing her blue cloth dress for the everlasting cinnamon-colored velveteen. She put collars, and laces, and toilette necessaries in her bag, and then went meekly down the stairs with a white,

Owen Hammond — how she despised him—and only that afternoon she had told him that she loved him!

She bade adieu to her governess, waved her hand to her assembled schoolfellows, and was driven off in the grand Stanly carriage, where the slim, splendid footman sat with folded arms on the back beat, and the magnificent bay horses were eat, and the magnificent bay horses were rancing on in front.

Everything in and about Bracebridge Hall spoke of wealth; but the taste which dictated the adornments and selected the shades and colors was a gorgeous one. Everything seemed to glitter with gold, or to glow in crimson, amber, and azure. The apartments were sumptuous as the saloons of some Turkish or Egyptian magnate. Much of the plate on the dinner-table was of solid gold; silver was there in abundance; and although nobody was present at the late dinner save Rosa, her father and Elaie Green Mice. was present at the late dinner save Rosa, her father, and Elsie Carew, Miss Stanly wore a necklet and earrings of emeralds which a queen might have coveted. How kind Miss Stanly was! She professed to have taken a sort of fancy to Elsie, and she talked to ner incessantly of the happy future that loomed before her and her handsome Owen Hammond.

Mr. Stanly still sat over his wine; in reality he was dozing in the deeply-cushioned velvet chair in his gorgeous dining-room. The two girls were by this time seated side by side in the green drawing-room, a salon furnished after Rosa Stanley's own heart. The chairs and couches were of green satin brocade, framed in gold. There were numerous gold-framed mirrors, convex and oval, from out of which branched richlygilded candlesticks. There were cabinets of inlaid foreign woods and gold, loaded with the blue china, without which, or the semblance of which, no drawing-room is considered comme il faut in these days of high art. days of high art.

It was a very cheerful and a very costly room, that green drawing room, with its three long windows staring straight out into the park, where the timber was small, but the view was magnificent.

There was nothing romantic about Bracebridge Hall. Mr. Stanly had purchased the estate, pulled down an old farmhouse, and bullt a solid, imposing and even magnificent massion in its medicine has done it all."

much love from Owen Hammond—" Elsie did not carry on that train of thought—she shrank from it in conscious pain. "Owen Hammond is heartless, and a firt—heartless, and a firt—sheartless, and a firt—heartless, and a firt—sheartless, and a firt—sheartless, and a firt—sheartless, and a firt—heartless, and a firt—sheartless, and a firt—heartless, and a firt—sheartless, clear soprano—at least, she had often sung it to her father when she was a little child, for he had taught it to her. It was an Irish melody, commencing:

Believe me, if all those endearing young which I gaze on so fondly today,
Were to droop by tomorrow, and fade in these arms,

Like fairy gifts fading away—
Thou wouldst still be beloved, as this moment thou art,
Though thy loveliness fade as it will;

And around the dear ruin each wish of my heart Would entwine itself verdantly still." "How touching that air is!" said Elsie, when the cavalier had re-entered the clock, and the hammer had sounded the hour of eleven.

At that exact moment the front bell of Bracebridge Hall rang loudly.
"Good gracious!" said Miss Stanly, "who can that be at this time of night?"
The two girls listened and heard the bolts withdrawn, the sound of a volce, footsteps on the stairs; in another instant Owen Hammond entered the room. There was a look of wildness and disorder in his attire. He was very pale; but his eyes flashed brilliant gleams when he saw Elsie Carew standing by the

"No, certainly not! You foolish boy, what put such rubbish into your head?" Rosa Stanly laughed loudly. "Lord Hammond! he is really scarcely civil to me; perhaps I am not handsome enough for him, eh?" Rosa laughed again and lossed up her head. ossed up her head.

She kissed Elsie, who withdrew, and found her way to the large, luxurious chamber appointed for her use.

This room communicated with Miss Stanly's. It was one she always gave to her favorite lady visitors, so that she might sit by her friend's fire on wintry nights, or invite her friend to sit by hers. Two large, splendid rooms were these, fit, in point of costliness and luxury, for any princess to occupy. There was only a little wood fire in the low grate, with its polished gilt fender and fire-irons, that looked like golden toys; but Elsie sat close to it and shivered. She was coid, though the night was warm; a nameless dread was upon her. What had brought Owen Hammond there that night? Why was there such a stronge coard look is was there such a strange, scared look on his face?—Why was he so deadly pale
"He is afraid that Lord Hammond will put his threat into execution and come here and tell Miss Stanly that he only wants his fortune; that is what ails him," said Elsie, speaking aloud in a sudden blaze of contemptuous anger, which swent through here like on the standard of the same of th swept through her like a storm.

LOST ON A FOUL!

Matty Matthews Gets Decision Over Tom Couhig at Fort Erie.

LOST ON A FOUL. Fort Erie, Ont., Oct. 29 .- Tom Couhig, of Dunkirk, lost his fight with Matty Matthews in the fifth round and on a foul in what was to have been a 20-round contest before the International A. C. last night. The fight was awarded to Matthews because Couning struck Matthews while the latter was on his knees. Up to the time of the foul the contest was very even. In the fifth round Matthews put Couhig down with a right swing to the jaw. Couhig got up, bewildered, and rushed Matthews, forcing him to his knees, and while he was down Couhig struck him, and Referee McBride promptly awarded the decision to Matthews.

TURF. OPENING AT THE AQUEDUCT TRACK.

New York, Oct. 29.—The fall meeting of the Queen's County Jockey Club was begun yesterday at the Aqueduct. Only two favorites were successful, Major Dangerfield in the second and Bon Mot in the fifth race. The first named won easily from Extinguisher, while Bon Mot had to be ridden out to beat Carrington. The Aqueduct handicap, the feature of the day, went to Potente, at 4 to 1. Bellario was a heavily-played favorite, but he ran a bad race and finished far back. Oom Paul made the running by a big margin, but Potente wore him down in the stretch and won, ridden out, by a length Summary: First race, 7 furlongs, selling-Merer 1, Astor 2, Kilogram 3.

Had it been only the usual work-outs given it would have made no difference except that several men who on Thursday thought they had phenomenal yearlings would nave found out the mistake later; but a New Yorker, Mr. Hill, a representative of Clarence MacKay, was there on Thursday and timed a yearling, the young-ster making the short three-eighths in 36½ seconds. He returned to New York with the option on the colt said to be $8,000. Trainers at the track made the discovery as to the change in the position of the pole. Suspicion rests on no one in particular, but a popular demand for an investigation led to a call for the meeting of breeders on Tuesday.

A CROOKED SPORT

Caught in the Act of Entering a Windsor Store-Turns Out To Be a Bigamist.

Windsor, Oct. 28,-Through the clever work of Officer William Reid. who has been engaged on the case for several weeks past, Thomas Clement, bigamist, gambler, and common thief, was arrested here at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and at once locked up at police headquarters. The arrest has created something of a sensation, as Clement was a well-known man about town, being an expert cricketer and sportsman. A number of petty robberies have taken place in various parts of the city during the past few months, but no arrests were made. Officer Reid's suspicions were aroused some time ago by Clement's move-Shortly after midnight this morning Clement was discovered just as he was about to gain an entrance into Wigle's hardware store on Sandwich street. A pane of glass had been removed from a rear window, and the officers nabbed their man just as he was about to climb inside. A search of his trunk at the International Hotel revealed a miscellaneous assort-ment of knives, razors and razor strops, all of which Mr. Wigle identifled as his property and which was missed some time ago. Clement strongly asserts his innocence of the theft, and declared he does not know how the articles came to be in his

But the strangest part of the story remains to be told. Letters found on Clement's person show him to be a much-married man. He has at the present time a wife and two grown daughters residing at No. 9 Ainsworth road, W. Croydon, England, whom he deserted some sixteen years ago, and a second woman, who believes herself his wife, living in Hamilton. This woman, who was Miss Jennie Trout before her marriage to Clement twelve years ago, also has a son now nearly 11 years of age, who calls Thomas Clement father.

On Parliament street, Toronto, there resides a married woman who signs her letters "Mae," and who within a week has acknowledged receiving $35 from Clement with which to purchase clothing. This woman and Clement have been on the most intimate terms. as her letters indicate. One letter from "Mae" concludes as follows: "I shall come to you just as soon as I possibly can, which will be about the middle of December, after I make a visit to Alex in New York. He offers to pay all my expenses. But you know, dear, I love you best of all." A letter from his Hamilton wife tells of her struggle with poverty, and asks if he cannot give her some assistance. Letters from Clement's brother George, of 116 Livingstone road, Thornton Heath, England, speak of the prisoner's two daughters as handsome young girls, who are helping their mother to live comfortably until their father comes home. Clement takes his arrest very coolly, Kidney Troubles of Children.

There are many mothers blessing Dr. Pitcher and his wonderful Backache Kidney Tablets. This remedy has proved so successful for that serious affliction of children-bed wetting-that mothers rejoice to know of a positive cure. The Tablets have a strengthening and tonic influence on the weak urinary organs of children and enable them to retain their water naturally. Don't let your child grow up with this weakness blighting his life. Have the trouble cured in time before it does permanent injury to the health.

THE DIFFICULTY REMOVED.

Mrs. W. M. Glover, Pearl Street, Brockville, Ont., says: "One of my children that had been suffering from sluggish kid-neys read about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and procured a bottle from F. R. Curry's drug store. They removed the whole difficulty promptly. That depressing pain over the kidneys stopped, dizziness and headaches ceased, and there was a general invigorating of the system. There is no question regard-ing the merits of these Tablets for the back and kidneys."

He resolved never to run with the Common Herd. He stopped Ding the Bike when his Servant bought a Wheel. He stuck to Golf until it became a Craze, and then he broke his Clubs and began to wear a Pained Look whenever he saw a Pink Coat. No matter what Pastime he went in for, he learned that many who were not his Social Equals came along and followed his Example, and it irritated him. He was kept busy thinking of something else to take up.

At last he decided that the Steam Yacht Game was a little too swift for the Middle Classes, so he bought a Yacht and went into the White Ele phant Business, but even that Move did not save him from humiliating Associations, for the next thing he knew he MORAL-If Prunes cost ten cents

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interest Catarrh Sufferers.

In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but sooner or later the disease will extend to the throat, bronchial tubes and even to the stomach and intestines.

Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucous, stoppage of the nostrils, irrita-tion in the throat, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging and frequent clearings of the throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often gives temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh is Stuart's Catarrh Tab-

These tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine, as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastin, Eucalyptol and similar cleansing antiseptics, which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrhal poison. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant-tasting lozenges, taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly in the mouth; in this way they reach the throat, fauces, and the entire ali-

If desired, they may be dissolved in water and used as a douche, in addition to the internal use, but it is not at all necessary to use a douche; a few of them dissolved in the mouth daily will be sufficient. However, when there is much stoppage of the nose, a douche made from these tablets will give immediate relief, but the regular daily use of these tablets will cure the whole catarrhal trouble without resorting to the inconvenience of a douche. Dr. Brement states "that the internal treatment for catarrh is rapidly taking the place of the old plan of douching and local application, and further says that probably the best and probably the safest remedy at present on the market is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as no secret is made of their composition, and all the really efficient remedies for catarrh are con-tained in this tablet." Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50 cents for full sized packages. Ask your druggist, and if he is honest he will tell you that there is no safer, more palatable, more efficient and convenient remedy on the mar-

and tearing the flesh and muscles, but not injuring the bone. A great amount of blood flowed from the wound before he could be taken to the hospital. A physician was called at once, and the injured man was given surgical attention, but the injury was not considered of such great amount as to necessitate an operation. But either from the shock and loss of blood, or from some internal injuries not suspected, Quinn collapsed all at once, and passed away almost without those about him realizing the fact that his condition was so serious. Mr. Quinn was about 42 years of age, and had been employed in Great Falls but a short time. His home was in St. Thomas, Ont. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge of that place. He was a married man, and his wife had gone to Great Falls just three days before for the purpose of visiting him. Questions Answered.

STRATFORD .- B, C, D and F own farms, through which an open water course runs. A is at head of drain and has underdrains running into it. About fifteen years ago there was ar agreement signed by all parties to maintain this open drain with 5 feet top, 3 feet deep and 18 inches bot-tom. A and B ask them to dig deeper Can they compel them to do so There is a nearer way of only 80 rods the old run being over 300 rods. Can the parties force A and B to take their water the nearest way? Ans .-Upon the facts stated, A and B cannot compel C, D and F to dig deeper than the agreement calls for. The water should be taken off by the nearest way. The proper course to pursue is to get an award of the engineer under "the ditches and watercourses act," in case the parties cannot arrange a new agreement for the shortest way. Any one of the parties interested may institute the proceedings to obtain an award.
