PRISONER SENTENCED TO DEATH

Scandal in the British Army-Petticoat Influence in the Grenadier Guards.

found guilty and was sentenced

When the trial of Col. Arthur Lynch member of Parliament for Galway), on the charge of high treason, was resumed today, counsel for the defense began summing up. There was no attempt to deny that Col. Lynch supported the Boers, but counsel contended that his naturalization was in no way prompted by treasonable intent, and was solely for the advantage he would thus secure for journalistic purposes. Subsequently the defendant actively supported the Boer cause in the belief that he was a legally naturalized bur-

Replying for the prosecution, the Solicitor-General, Sir Edward Carson, maintained that Colonel Lynch joined the Boer army as a discontented Irishman, thereby committing a most cowardly and most serious act of

CLOSE OF THE CASE. London, Jan. 23.-Col. Lynch's naturalization, continued the Solicitor-General in his address, was only a flimsy pretext. Counsel then proceeded to detail the prisoner's alleged acts of adherence to his country's enemies. The Lord Chief Justice summed up very briefly. He said that if in war time a British subject joined the King's enemies, whatever his purpose, he was guilty of an unlawful act. Naturalization during war time afforded no excuse whatever for subsequent There was abundant evidence. he said, of overt acts in aiding the King's enemies. THE JURY'S VERDICT. The jury, after having been out half an hour, returned a verdict of guilty. When asked if he had anything to say as to why he should not be sentenced to death, Col. Lynch replied: "Thank you. I will say nothing." The sentence of death was passed on each of the four counts in the indictment. The prisoner then bowed to the court and was removed in custody. In delivering sentence, Justice Wills said the crime of high treason, of which the prisoner had been found guilty, happily is so rare that it seems to be almost an anachronism. civilized community had yet failed to punish severely defection from loyalty, whether in the way of open warfare or secret intrigue. In the darkest hours of his country's fortune, when engaged in a deadly struggle, Lynch joined the ranks of its foes and shed the blood of his fellow-subjects who were fighting for their country, and sought to dethrone Great Britain from her place among the nations. The only palliation which could be offered was that it had been the fashion for some years to treat lightly, matters of this kind, and men had been encouraged to play with sedition and toy with treason. The nation had treated with contemptuous indifference speeches and acts of sedition. LYNCH COOL. Lynch maintained an impassive attitude throughout the legal arguments which constituted the only practical ground of defense. He was neither pale nor nervous, although conviction seemed inevitable, and the only pen-alty for treason for which a precedent alarmed, however. They asserted that the trial was a sequel to the Galway election, which carried Lynch politics, and that conviction would be followed by an act of royal clemency, because Unionist politics and Irish policies would require it. SENTENCE LIKELY TO BE COM-

MUTED. London, Jan. 23.-Although formally sentenced to be hanged, Col. Lynch's sentence no doubt will be commuted. Lynch, throughout, bore himself with unfaltering composure. He walked out German Reports Regarding the Attack Increase in Wages of 15 to 25 Per steadily between the jailers and past the bench where his wife and other relatives were seated. Mrs. Lynch has been given permission to see her hus-

SCANDAL IN BRITISH ARMY. Military circles are discussing a curious episode connected with war office. Lord Douro, and heir of the Duke of son Wellington, and a lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards, quarreled with his brother officers. His mother, the duchess, wrote a complaining letter to a certain highly-placed lady. The consequence of this exertion of petticoat influence was summary forced retirement of Colonel Kinloch, of the Grenadiers, who was recently given this command, owing to service rendered in South Africa. The colonel's first knowledge of the quarrel was the order for his retirement. He has appealed to the King. The sympathy

SUFFERING FROM INFLUENZA. Owing to the fact that the Foreign Secretary, Lord Lansdowne, is suffering from influenza, his reception of important deputations from the Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom for the purpose of discussing the proposed reciprocity treaty between the United States and Cuba, fixed for today, was postponed.

[The treaty was strongly criticised Jan. 16 at a meeting of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, the speakers alleging that it practically shuts out other nations from trading with Cuba.]

CRISIS EXISTS IN AUSTRIA-HUN-GARY. The London Times' Vienna correspondent says the situation is regarded as a crisis by observant Austro-Hungarians, and still more so by resident foreigners. If the present generations of Austro-Hungarian politicians were not too perverse and faithless they might find a sign in the conciusion of Chamberlain's Johannesburg speech that the day of small kingdoms with petty jealousies is past, and their futures will be with great em. pires. Instead of seeking to strengthen bonds of union and sacrifice their particular ambitions to the higher interests of the fatherland, they exaggerate every local pretension and exploit the embarrassments of the Government in order to extort economic or political blackmail.

TURKISH CONCESSION. The Times' correspondent at Constantinople says that the Porte has communicated to the British embassy an irade, granting British schools and religious institutions privileges identical with those allowed Russian and other orthodox establishments.

EXODUS FROM ANDIJAN. The latest advices from Andijan, Russian Turkestan, which was partly destroyed by earthquakes in December last, says the exodus from that city continues. Not a single lawyer, banker, druggist or shopkeeper remains in the city, and the few necessaries on which the miserable survivors of the population subsist are brought by hawkers from different towns. The suffering from cold is intense, and failing the speedy erection of suitable shelters, many people must die as a result of the recent disasters. SOUFRIERE SMOKING. Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, pired. He was 72 years of age, Jan. 22.-A brisk eruption of the Sou-

SCREAM SAVES LIVES

Cries of a Blind Woman 84 Years Old Means of Saving Three Persons.

Chicago, Jan. 22.-The screams of a blind woman, 84 years old, were the means of saving the lives of her sister, 86 years old, and her niece, 62 years old, and herself, yesterday morning. The women were in their home on the second floor of the building at 144 Grand avenue. The blind woman in groping about overturned a lamp and the smoke. They were rescued by Policemen Nolan and La Blane. Those rescued were: Mrs. Ann Fergeson, 86 Miss Mary Fergeson, her daughter, 62;

Mrs. Flynn, the blind woman. Playing with matches and a candle caused the death of Marie, the 4-year-old daughter of Antonio Tonerro, 1835 Clark street. The child died late Mon-

NEARLY BURNED IN BED. Murray Bay, Jan. 22. - Early yesterday morning the cure of Ste. Agnes parish, situated back of Murray Bay, was awakened by the cries of fire coming from outside. Rev. Mr. Gagnon found that the fire was raging through the adjoining rooms of the presbytery, and that all exits were cut off. Having no time to dress, he dashed down to the kitchen and came out safely, although burning his feet, legs and hands presbytery and its contents are a total loss. The building and furniture are said to be insured. Cause of fire due to an overheated stove.

spectators on Brooklyn Bridge Horrified by Daring Deed of a Stranger.

New York, Jan. 23.-Hundreds of persons on Brooklyn bridge last night were horrified when they saw a man run out from the throng and start to climb one of the big supporting cables that extends from the shore masonry to the top of the Manhattan tower. The man did not hesitate, and never for an instant seemed to appreciate e danger of immeditae death. Withut a backward glance he climbed up, now almost into a run and again slowing up a little. Once in a while he would raise his hands up to a couple of smaller supporting cables that foiow the line of the big steel rope upon hich he walked, as if to steady himelf, but he did not stop until he eached a point nearest the big tower eyond which no one could go. He ested 130 feet above the surface of the ridge roadway. Meanwhile a crowd of several thousand persons had gathered to watch the daring feat and traffic was blocked. A policeman was sent up to bring the performer down. He did not travel so rapidly, but finally gained the tower where the man was standing, looking about him. The watchers below expected to see a desperate fight on the top of the tower, but in this they were badly. The vicar and the housekeeper disappointed, for in a moment both got safely out by jumping down on a men were seen making the descent. Snowbank from the second story. The Half way down the man nearly collapsed. He threw up his hands, however, and caught the smaller cables and clung to them, sliding down the remainder of the distance. He was arrested, but vouchsafed no information regarding himself or his hazardous feat, except to say: "I just wanted to see if the tower was safe."

Mitchell's Statement Re Idle Barney Thought the Coupons Miners Challenged.

A RAP AT MARKLE AND BAER NEW LIGHT ON A MAIL ROBBERY

Clash on Socialism - Governmen Ownership Advocated in Miners' Convention.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 22.-The question of who is responsible for the apparent shortage in the supply of anthracite coal was the subject of considerable debate by the attorneys reresenting the parties before the strike commission. It was testified to that to produce more coal to relieve the Counsel Torrey, of the Delaware and Hudson Company, challenged Mitcheli's statement before the strike commission that 3,000 miners were idle in the anthracite region. He said he investigated the statement and said Mitchell could not produce 10 per cent. of the number, and that his remarks were irresponsible because they could not be based on facts. Counsel Darrow said if Mitchell's statements were irresponsible it was lue to his association with Baer and

He said that during the period be tween the general strike of 1900 and 1902, the company had 13 local strikes. This spirit of restlessness showed its effect in the loss of efficiency of the men as well as in the time lost.

NOT NEARLY THROUGH. The Lehigh Valley Coal Company closed its case today, and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Company consumed few hours in presenting its evidence. This company closed shortly before adjournment, and the independent operators of the upper region then took up the operators' side of the controversy. It is expected the hearings will last ten more days.

The commission informed the attorneys on both sides this afternoon that would like them to confine their final arguments to about four or five days. The lawyers will agree among themselves as to the division of time. The miners want half the time allowed by the commission.

MINERS CLASH. Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—There was a elash between the conservative and socialistic factions in the miners' convention today. It originated in a resolution from a local union favoring an expression of Government ownership of coal mines and railroads. A motion on the part of the con-servatives to table it brought on a long discussion, and many leaders of the two factions were heard. The socialistic faction based their arguments on the anthracite strike and the combination of coal companies and railroads, and that a tendency not to treat with miners, "according to the laws of man and God," made it necessary for the Government to take some such action. Delegate Walker, of Illinois, said that the coal companies and railroads were now in a combination injurious to the interests of the people, and were holding back coal to boost prices. Delegate Lusk, of West Virginia, also charged that the heartless attitude of the coal operators and railroads not only affected the miners but the people as well.

The controversy was referred back to the committee.

Chicago Has 5,000 Saloons Where Bets Are Taken on Races-

Chicago, Jan. 23.-That gambling on an extensive scale is carried on in Chicago is admitted by James O'Leary, the so-called "King of Gamblers," who was a witness in a suit brought by Pedro Martinez, a Cuban planter, who was induced, it was alleged, to bet $900 on a horse, with one of O'Leary's agents. The horse lost. O'Leary confessed that he had the city covered with agencies, where bets could be made. Frank Hogan and John Jerguson, the defendants, were discharged because it could not be shown that either of them was an agent for It is estimated that there are more

Montreal, Jan. 23.—"In our final interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier with regard to the placing of a duty on white lead, the Premier stated that he considered that the condition of the industry was unique, and something would have to be done to help it."

The speaker was J. L. Retallick, of Sandon, B. Altogether $5,500 Worth of Bond Coupons Recovered by New York Detectives.

Part of the amount recovered was found in the basement of the general postoffice among the debris of a partition which had been removed from the registry division office. Edmund J. Bell was a clerk in this office at the time of the robbery. Although only 19 years old and working for a small salary, he played the part of a "manabout-town." He was arrested Nov. 30, 1900, charged with stealing $2,000 from a registered letter, for which he was convicted. He was also charged with the $7,800 robbery, but no case was proved against him.

STOLEN TWO YEARS AGO. The officials of the Corn Exchange Bank notified the Pinkerton Detective Agency Jan. 16 that $3,000 worth of Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern bonds had been presented for collection at its branch bank at Forty-second street and Eighth avenue. The coupons were for interest due October, 1900, and the tardiness in presentation aroused the suspicions of the officials. The Pinkerton agency notified Capt. Langan, of the central office, who detailed Detectives Cafferty and Samuel Price on the case.

They learned that the coupons had been presented at Ralph Knickman, a saloonkeeper at Tenth avenue and Forty-third street. Knickman said his bartender, Frank Pontius, of No. 501 West Forty-fourth street, had given to him the coupons. Pontius told the detectives that a man whom he knew as "Barney" had accepted a night's lodging and some whisky for the

To the Editor of The Advertiser: A few ideas about the city's water supply will be interesting to the many readers of The Advertiser. We are a growing community, and our water supply is to be cared for and none to be wasted, even when we have meters. It is even too good to use for watering the streets, and there is river water available for that purpose. But the springs at Springbank are not taken up yet, for below the Colville pond is much that is running to waste which should be collected: in fact, a second pond should be made There is much water to be had at the other, or north, side of the river if it could be turned to the city's use, all the way from the high clay bank at Byron bridge to the waterworks dam. Below Byron bridge is a further supply should Springbank be extended further west. We are a growing city, and are extending west,

A CAUSE FOR REJOICING.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: The people of Ontario have much cause for thankfulness on account of the way events have shaped themselves during the past few weeks, and we can truly say a destiny has shaped our ends for our very best interests. At the new year we were scarcely sure that we had a provincial government at all, forces were so evenly balanced. Now all this is changed, and a capable, respectable Government is firmly seated office. Yet we fear many do not realize how near we were to what would have been a calamity had J. P. Whitney gained the three bye-elections. That Mr. Whitney is an able man we do not doubt, but that he is fit to be the Government leader in Ontario we most emphatically deny. Another cause of gratification is that we have government in sympathy with the best purposes of the cause of temperance. Many of our people did not see this at the last general election, but voted against their best friends, and the only party that has given us restrictive temperance legislation, or even promised it. Not the Reason.

It is not because Pyramid Pile Cure is so expensive that many people decline to give it a trial, but because they find it too great a tax on their credulity to believe that the published letters bearing testimony to the merit of this remedy are genuine and bona fide; especially to those who have realized the suffering incident to piles it is incredible that anyone who has been afflicted 25 and 30 years with the worst forms of protruding and bleed-ing piles should be cured by the application of a simple remedy, when their physician has assured them that the only relief is in a surgical operation? This is rightfully viewed with dread by all those afflicted, as it means at the least a great shock to the nervous system, with more than a possibility of utter collapse and death; in the majority of cases, too, there is a return of the complaint, owing to the fact that

The Grand Trunk Pacific.

James J. Hill, the famous president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, has been airing his views on Canadian railway possibilities. He makes two points: (1) There is no need for another transcontinental system in Canada; (2) such a railread should be built without a subsidy. The two assertions seem to be contradictory. If there is not sufficient business at present for another line, the Grand Trunk Pacific would have a stronger claim to a subsidy. It could ask liberal encouragement on the ground that the line was needed to open up and develop the country, and could not be built other hand, if the line is being built to meet a demand that already exists, and follow in the wake of development instead of preceding it, the company would be less entitled to draw on the public purse. It would be in the position of any other private enterprise. Mr. Hill is not an altogether disingreat trunk system he is naturally opposed to a new rival in the Northwest. He thinks so well of the Canadian field, however, that he has offered to build large extensions through Manitoba, without subsidies, but the Provincial Government has shut out the Northern Pacific in the interests of the Canadian railroads, though, perhaps not of the Grand Trunk. What measure of aid shall be given the Grand Trunk Pacific? It is not likely the Government has yet formulated its policy. It will be controlled | we hope they won't show their weakby public opinion, which should make ness by allowing him to win, now that iself clearly heard. The full and frank discussion of the question now going on in the press will aid in guiding Parliament. The Minister of the Interior has dismissed the idea of a land grant, so that the subsidy will take the form of cash. We have all the colonel from indulging in mock along held that any money grant should heroics. It is a very neaf way of disbe accompanied by conditions which | posing of him. would indemnify the public. The Toronto Globe takes & similar position. The Globe says:

in the interests of the Province. It may be taken for granted that Mr.

Hays has not entered lightly into the gigantic project of a new transcontinental line. He has weighed the scheme

ing the results of his administration project in one worthy of public enencouragement, the encouragement should be extended in the way that a private capitalist would extend his encouragement. He would buy the shares of the company at the current rate, and would thus take his risk, sharing the losses if there were any and sharing the profits if there were any. This, we believe, or something very similar to it, should position of the country towards this enterprise. The advantages are obvious. The company could go to the centers of capital and say that the Government of Canada was taking ten, fifteen or twenty millions of the common stock of the enterprise, and what better recommendation could it have for investors? Parliament should not do anything for the project unless it believes in its ultimate success, and it could show its faith in no better way than by adventuring into it, taking its chances with the other investors and sharing their perils and rewards."

We do not know how far this represents the opinion of the Government, but some such arrangement is desirable. The Government should also reserve some control over the financing of the project, so as to guard against the excessive capitalization which is a radical defect of Canadian railway organization and presses heavily on the

The Coal Situation.

The city has been able to lay hands on a small lot of coal in Buffalo at $9 per ton, through the kindness of a former Canadian, who is in a position to procure it below the market figure. The freight rate to London is nearly $1 per ton, and the city will sell it at $10, or below cost, as no charge will be made for delivery. This transaction serves to correct some erroneous notions about the profits of local coal retail price in London for coal purchased for $9 f.o.b. at the Bridge. Some local dealers claim to be paying even $10 and $11 there. Here and there a shyster dealer may have been charging customers $12 for coal purchased for a little more than half that amount before the independent operators got in their work, but we think the coal merchants of London. as a rule, have acted with a full sense of their moral responsibility to the public and have done their duty as umstances. The present price of coal has exposed them to public suspicion. which is not unnatural, when it is considered that they are in a position to wring exorbitant profits out of the necessities of the people. While The Advertiser has been disposed to give the coal dealers credit for acting conscientiously, and wou'd be the first to censure them if it thought they were guilty of extortion, its contemporaries preventer on a grand scale of the

have been engaged in heaping odium righteousness that is the essential sub-on them and trying to make the public stance of both Christian and patriotic on them and trying to make the public believe that an unholy combination exists to rob the consumers. If half of what has been said against the coal merchants of London is true, they should be indicted as a band of thieves. The Free Press after vilifying them for days, is now effusively apologizing for its fool clamor and admits that some merchants are paying as high as $11 50 for coal to fulfill contracts made at $5 50. The dealers have done well to invite an investigation of the conditions of their business. Fortunately there is a prospect of an immediate break in the market and a few days may see the price of coal come tumbling down.

The Street Railway Suit.

The city scores in the courts against the London Street Railway Company on nearly every count. The trackage in West London is placed to the company's credit, but the city is still enwithout sacrificing Rectory street, as was proposed. The company must relay the tracks on Rectory street, which would never have been torn up if the mayor and council of last year had without public assistance. On the shown any backbone. The court also directs the company to accept the city engineer's time table. It is one thing to draw up a time table and another thing to enforce it. The present service is inadequate on some lines and the public will now look to the engineer's department to make the company toe the mark. The latter should profit by the lesson and be a terested adviser. As the head of a little more flexible to the city's demands. At any rate the result of the lawsuit should encourage the council to be little less flexible in dealing with | dida't.' the company.

MAMMOTH GUN COLLAPSED

The Sea Whipped Up a Mile Off Shore With the Fragments.

New York, Jan. 23.-One of the mammoth guns was torn apart yesterday at the far end of the proving grounds at Sandy Hook. Before the explosion the gun was valued at $40,-000. The big gun was wrecked in the course of experiments in throwing high explosives under conditions that might happen in actual engagement, but which are spoken of by officers as 'abnormal.'

No one was killed because of the elaborate precautions for the safety of visitors, officers and men. Just before the firing one of the men was caught in the shaft of the Gentry crane, in front of a mortar battery, and his arm way that he will lose it, if he does not lose his life. Toronto, Jan. 22.-Trade was again slow at the cattle market today, prices, how-over, going no lower than Tuesday's quoover, going no lower than Tuesday's quotations. Some cattie, however, were left over unsold. There is at present no demand for export, chiefly owing to lack of boat space. A few lots of exporters were offering, but the highest price paid today for export was $5 for good cattle weighing over 1,350 lbs. Prices were fairly well maintained for good butcher cattle, but the commoner sorts were a drug on the market. A few inquiries were made for feeders and light stockers, but the demand is not keen and some good feeders offering failed to secure tempting bids. The sheep and lamb trade is dull, and offering failed to secure tempting bids. The sheep and lamb trade is dull, and prices are a little off; good export ewes are worth $350 to $375; lambs, $4 to $440. Hogs are weak, though the quotations today were the same as Tuesday's, at $6 for the best, $575 for lights and fats, and $450 to $4.75 for sows.

Canadian Flour for South Africa.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 23.-Before the expiration of 30 days the British ship Pythomene will be loading a full cargo of 3,000 tons of flour, wheat, oat and general merchandise in this port for South Africa. Orders for no less than 2,000 tons of Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat and hard wheat flour have been closed by the Brackman-Ker Milling Company, of Vancouver. It is a significant fact that although heretofore all consignments of Canadian wheat and flour for South Africa have been shipped through the port of New York, order for shipment from Vancouver has come from a New York firm. This is the second big shipment of grain to go from here to South Africa, and demonstrates that the advantages of Vancouver is being realized by the outside world.

POLICE HERE COST LESS

Hamilton's Best Men Get $2.10 Per Day; London's Get $1.90.

The City of Hamilton has increased the pay of its 51 policemen by 20 cents a day. This applies to every member of the force, including Chief Smith, and the total increased cost to the city will be $3,723. This means that the best men on the force will now get $2 10 per day, hitherto they having been paid $1 90 per day, which is the same as paid the best men in London, the wages for the men here running from $1 45 to $1 90 per day. Here the force of 41 men last year managed to keep the law in authority at a cost, including necessary expenditures for the department, of $33,000, while it cost the City of Hamilton last year $50,000. Nevertheless the increase in the Ambitious City was urged by 300 petitioners, backed by a delegation to the board of police commissioners.

Many sufferers blame their poor hearing to the use of improper remedies for Catarrh such as sprays, douches, and atomizers. Perhaps the most common cause of ear troubles and deafness is a catarrhal condition of the Eustachian tube. Not infrequently the ear drum is broken or

Associated Press Dispatch to the Globe, Toronto, January 12:

Raleigh's Great Oil Gushers. A Second Big Flow Struck Near the First One. FIVE PAYING WELLS.

Fields Expected To Have Permanent Value-Oil Is of Spiendid Quality and a Good Illuminant—The Work Now Under Way.

Chatham, Jan. 10 .- A little over two months ago Chatham was startled by the news that in Raleigh Township, eight miles south of the city, an oil gusher had been struck that gave the phenomenal flow of 1,000 barrels a day. After the first month much had been done toward the establishment of what is expected one day to be a permanent oil field, and the discovery of more oil during the past week has started another stir. Four new paying wells have been struck since the Gurd Gusher. These, however, represent but a small amount of the work that is in progress. Early in November there was no sign of the present industry; today the farms in the neighborhood are dotted with derricks and little neighboring sheds that cover boilers and engines.

ANOTHER BIG GUSHER.

The Gurd Gusher was the first strike, and ITS LARGE YIELD KEEPS IT TODAY THE BIGGEST OF THE FIELD. Yesterday afternoon, how-ever, a good strike was made, which would be considered a wonderful find if it had not to compare with the Gusher. Coryell and Gage struck oil last week on Lot 22, Concession 13, the well was "shot" in the afternoon, and after the operation produced a flow that will yield 25 barrels an hour. This is but one-half the capacity of the Gurd Gusher, but is greatly in advance of the other wells. A well on Lot 23, Concession 12, produces 30 barrels a day; the well on Lot 18, Concession 13, is producing 20 barrels a day, and one on Lot 20, Concession 10, is producing 20 barrels a day. Yesterday oil was struck on the Mills farm, a little south of the Gurd Gusher.

OIL OF GOOD QUALITY.

The most satisfactory feature of the Raleigh oil is its quality. The gravity is 34 degrees, which is 2 degrees higher than any Canadian oil. As an illuminant it can scarcely be excelled. Expert oil men who have examined the fields express hopeful views regarding their future. At present there are two flowing wells producing 75 barrels an hour between them, and there are three others producing oil in profitable quantities. As to permanency, it is believed that these wells and any others that may be found will compare favorably with any others in the world.

Our Petroleum Industry.

The recent oil discoveries will place the production of petroleum and its products in Ontario in a high place, probably the leading mineral product The value of petroleum and products in 1901 was $1,467,940, in 1900 was $1,869,015; in 1899, $1,747,352, and in 1898, $1,970,534.

Above is the result of careful investigation upon the part of one of the eading Canadian newspapers, which during the week ending January 10 dispatched one of its special reporters to examine the field. It still further proves the Dominion Oil Co.'s claim to at least 1,000 acres of oil lands out of the 1,530 acres surrounding their "Gurd Gusher," and constitutes an extremely gratifying indorsement of the company's claims.

The oil we produce is bringing the HIGHEST PRICE of any on the North American continent.

A marked demonstration of the way in which the permanency of this field is regarded is shown by the Standard Oil Company having constructed a pipe line from the "Gurd Gusher" to the nearest railroad, and now erecting additional steel tankage and pumping stations.

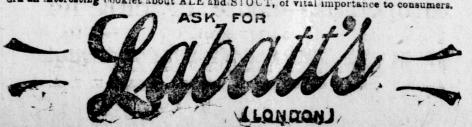

A limited issue of the t easury stock is now offered at the exceptionally low price of 35 CENTS per share, this being the OPENING and the LOW-

EST price at which a share of the stock has ever been offered. The present purchasers will be entitled to a divident of ONE PER CENT PER MONTH. # JUDGMENT WAS DECIDEDLY IN FAVOR OF THE CITY Must Operate Its Cars on Rectory Street.

Beaconsfield Avenue Line Illegally Laid Routes and Timetable To Be Changed.

Judgment has been handed out by Justice MacMahon in the suit of the London Street Railway Company against the City of London, which was tried without a jury in this city. The judgment largely is in favor of the city, which loses in only one particu-

The action of the plaintiff, the street railway company, was to have it de-clared that bylaws 2090, 2100 and 2101 passed by the council of defendants, on the 21st of July, 1902, are invalid, and for an injunction restraining defendants from enforcing any of such bylaws; also for a mandamus to compel the mayor of the defendants to sign and execute bylaw 2083, passed on the 23rd of June,

Bylaw 2090 is a bylaw passed by the council, which changed the present routes somewhat, and fixed new ones. It called upon the company to run cars on the Rectory street route, and to return to the old plan of running cars on what is known as the market line, that is, down Dundas street and around on Richmond, York and Ridout street to Dundas again. The court held, in respect to this bylaw, that the council had authority to pass it.

Bylaw 2100 fixes a timetable for the company, according to what the city engineer thinks is proper. It makes a number of changes in the time allowed between cars upon nearly all the routes, as, for instance, on the Hamilton road and Oxford street line, where a 9-minute service is demanded. This, too, the court held the council had authority to pass.

The finding of the court in respect to these two bylaws is an important advantage to the city. It will mean that the company will have to put at least four more cars upon the service.

Bylaw 2101 requires the company to build new tracks according to what it was considered was due the city under ection 21 of bylaw 916, which states that the city is entitled to an extra mile of track for every 2,000 increase in population. Under this section the city required the company to build the famous South street belt line. This line extended from Wellington street, along South to Adelaide, north to Layard, east to Mamelon and north to meet the Hamilton road line; thence east to form a stub line on the Hamilton road, extending to Egerton street. This was a total of 7,380 feet. The company contended that the line in West London, 6.386 feet, should be considered as an extension caused by increase in population. The court upheld this contention and declared that bylaw No. 2101 is bad and invalid. This is the only today he said that, of course, he still was against the city. The position in

Street Railway Company Wins in Only One Contention.

Is the difference between the 7,380 feet originally asked for and the 6,386 feet in West London. Which means that if the city wishes, it may pass a bylaw requiring the company to build the South street belt complete to where South street belt complete—to where Mamelon street joins the Hamilton road, thus forming the belt with the Hamilton road line. The portion lost is the stub extension from that point to Egerton street on the Hamilton road.

AD LAWSUIT oaar[-Hm cMO-ofl .. .. Bylaw 2083 was the bylaw which gave the company permission to remove the tracks on Rectory street, from the Hamilton road to Simcoe street, and build the short route from Springbank by way of Beaconsfield avenue, and the Wortley road. This bylaw was passed by the council, but was not signed by the mayor. The company claimed have done work upon the strength of it. The court held that this bylaw, not having been signed by the mayor, who was the presiding officer at the meeting at which it was passed, was inoperative. Until a bylaw was passed and formally accepted by the company by agreement binding on them, they were acting without authority in building a line of railway and running cars thereon. The company were, therefore, not entitled to the mandatory order asked for to compel the mayor to sign the bylaw.

The company asked leave to amend so as to claim, in the alternative, a mandamus to the council to pass a ENTERTAINMENT IS READY bylaw in accordance with the resolution of the 28th of April, the resolution tion of the 28th of April, the resolution that carried out the idea of the unsigned bylaw. It was urged that, as the council had passed the resolution providing for the building by the plaintiffs of the new line, and by the plaintiffs of the new line, and as the plaintiffs had proceeded with and built some of the lines in accordance with the resolution and with the sanction of the city engineer, who furnished the grades for the lines on Beaconsfield avenue and Westley road, the defendance (the Wortley road, the defendants (the city), were bound. In this particular the court held that the engineer could not bind defendants by giving the grades. The manager of plaintiffs obtained the grades from the engineer and proceeded with the building of the lines, taking his chance of the resolution, being ratified by bylaw. The amendment should not be allowed, as upon the facts plaintiffs are not entitled to the mandamus.

The court gave judgment for defendants, declaring bylaws 2099 and 2100 are valid, and subsisting bylaws, and awarding the defendants a mandatory order (asked for in their counter-claim), compelling plaintiffs to run their cars in accordance with the provisions of the bylaws, and compelling them immediately to repair the tracks and works illegally removed from Rectory street, restraining them from running their cars on Beaconsfield avenue, and Wortley road, and compelling plaintiffs to remove their tracks and works from these streets.

The city is awarded so much of the costs of the action as relate to by-laws 2101, and defendants to have costs of the action, except those re-lating to bylaw 2101. No. 2101 is the extension bylaw. City Solicitor Meredith defended the action for the city. To The Advertiser programme of vocal and instrumental particular in which the court's finding | believes that the city is still entitled | the entertainment. The city hall will to the mileage asked, but he could say be annexed to the Masonic Temple for was against the city. The position in which it leaves the city is this: The city can still demand an extension of the existing lines up to 5,614 feet, which in his judgment.

The aim of the movement Miss Macdonald is now engaged with is to raise up among the students of North America a sufficient number of capable missionary candidates, to meet the requirements of the various missionary societies or boards. It is her desire to help these candidates or student volunteers in their preparation for their life work, while another object is to develop among students who are to spend their lives in Christian lands a sense of responsibility to sustain and reinforce the foreign missionary enter-

In your kind and excellent report of the annual meeting of St. Andrew's Church in last night's issue there is one sentence that should be corrected.

I am reported as saying: "The glory of this church is that she has been the mother of the Presbyterian churches of this city." I could hardly make a statement which is too comprehensive to be true. I said: "The glory of this church is that she has been the mother of churches in this city," and instanced particularly the three other congrega-tions which St. Andrew's has been privileged to assist in establishing or developing. I made this statement in fairness to other congregations that have been active and generous in the work of Presbyterian Church extension in the city. You will, I am sure, do me the kindness of inserting it. Sin-

CHAPTER VIII.

Towards the end of the evening the rumor of the engagement got about. Mrs. Strangeways had been to'd by the young couple, and there was no need that they should keep it secret. Congratulations, at first only hinted at lest the rumor should be a mistake, were now fully and freely proffered. Mrs. Woburn stopped the young couple as they waltzed round the

Well, fate is surely a woman," Mrs. Woburn returned. "She must be, sne would not distribute her favors with so little discrimination. Women are supposed to be jealous of one another. It seems to me one might well be jealous of you.'

"Because I am to be Philip's wife?" "Because all good things-all that you-wish for-come to you. I confess, Leslie, I never like to see anyone lifting a cup to their lips which seems to have in it not one bitter drop. I have often seen it dashed away before the precious draught is taken. I'm an old roker, I know, but try, try not to be Leslie looked up at her love, and the beautiful eyes were brim full of love.

"How can I help it?" she anwered. "I am indeed the happiest woman in the world, and the money has nothing-nothing whatever to do with it. The same happiness would have been mine tonight if I had not had it, and so long as fate leaves me Philip. I must be happy, and he will be mine while we both live. But we do not expect to walk through life, though it will be hand-in-hand, with-out troubles, do we, Philip? Only love will lighten them. Don't be afraid for us, please, Mrs. Woburn, even fear for one's happiness seems to bring the ghost—the shadow of a sorrow."
"Then I will not," she murmured. "I would not, for anything, bring you even so little sadness as that. I would like your life to be all sunshine, only

She left them, and once again Philip drew his sweetheart from the merry, dancing throng. 'Mrs. Woburn is a little bit gloomy,"

"She is a widow," Leslie answered. That seemed quite enough to her to make a woman sad all her life. To have lost someone who was even more than a lover-a husband-it would be terrible indeed! He drew her to his heart and kissed her.

"Darling, darling!" he whispered

"Ch, Leslie dearest, I hope I shall make you very, very happy." She lifted her lips and kissed him back, half boldly, half shyly. He was hers to kiss, if she wished. The pride that made her bold. He was so newly her affianced husband, that made her shy. "I do more than that" she whispered. "I know; but, Philip, tell me-you won't mind telling me, I know, and don't think, don't, my dearest, that it is jealously that makes me ask the question, only a woman likes to be the best loved—is it true that no love is like a man's first love?" He drew her closer to him. A little tiny thrill of fear ran through his heart. Had someone already been try-ing to poison her mind against him? "Quite true," he answered, and she shrank a little, but he drew her back. "A boy's first love is a midsummer madness, an almost childish fever that if the love leads to marriage, it is renerally not well for either husband wife. In a boy's first love there is stability; it is the later love of a etime that is the real, true love. 'st love comes but once in a man's time that love captivates him art, body and soul, satisfies all his

Oh, Philip, Philip, say it isn't, because, my dearest, you've won all, I love you so dearly.' "It's a lie!" he answered. "Who has been putting these thoughts in your head? Someone who does not like me -an enemy."

"No, indeed, a friend. He did

"I understand, darling," he answered. "But I mistrust such a friend. Be-lieve me, Leslie I never have loved, heiress, and to become an engaged lt is almost more than love, it is worgiri within so snort a time! Isn't it ship. Who was it put these doubts in your mind?"

She looked up reproachfully. 'Doubts! Oh, Philip!" He smiled a little.

'We don't call it a doubt then, darling, but who was it?" She was silent a moment before she answered him.

"I think, perhaps, I ought not to tell," she answered, "because I am sure he meant well. He spoke, oh. more than kindly of you. Philip. He said he loved you. A man would not try to injure another if he loved him, Jasper, I am sure, meant what he The name slipped out unawares.

Philip frowned a little. "So it was Jasper, was it?" he said. "Didn't you notice, dearest, that you let the name slip out? Well, I don't agree with you, I don't think Jasper loves me, though we are cousins. He would love me better, perhaps, if we

She laughed softly, quizzically. "Someone always knows of everything," she answered. "There is no such thing as a secret in this world, but surely he knew her, or of her? He must have, since he knew her name.'

"Her name?" Carline, that was her name, was it not?" "Yes," he answered, "that was her name. But I do not understand how Jasper knew it. I never mentioned her to him, and he never knew her. Still, things leak out, of course. Dearest, shall we forget all that and never speak of it again? It is a part of my life which is turned over-done with. There is no need to look back upon it."
"Yes," she answered. "Why should we worry with the past when we have present and future?"

But the back pages of our lives are seldom done with. Often, against our will, they lie open before us! (To be Continued.)

THE MEDICOS AT STRATHROY. HE HOSPITALITY

of the Strathroy hockey team and of the residents of that town generally will be a pleasant remembrance to the Medical School students of London and their friends. It is doubtful if a more enjoyable time could have been spent than was put in there last night. When the Medical School hockey team arranged a game with Strathroy, it was thought that the match would be of the routine order, and that the Meds would beat Strathroy and there end it. The Strathroy people announced, however, that the locals would be treated well and would be met by a reception committee and band. At this the Meds determined to bring as many friends as they could with them to hold up London's part in making the affair pleasant. Such a surprise as the Strathroy people gave the boys is fully appreciated by those who attended. In fact it is rather out of place to use sporting columns to report this event. It was quite as much a social function as a sporting one. Should any London team want to go to a place where they will, be treated right, they should not overlook Strathroy. The police force locked itself in for the night and a large number of Strathroy's prominent citizens turned out to welcome the

A fast special train, which was secured by the Meds, left the G. T. R. station about 7 o'clock. It carried fully 150 local hockey enthusiasts. On its arrival at Strathroy a procession, headed by an excellent brass band, was organized, and for a quarter of an hour the Meds paraded the town, many people gathering on the streets to see them.

A large number of Strathroy people had preceded the Londoners to the rink. The game immediately com-menced, and was a speedy and wellcontested match. Inside of two minutes both teams had scored a goal and at the close of the first half the score stood 3 to 3. The teams were very evenly matched. What the Strathrovs lacked in combination work they almost made un for in heavy checking and much individual play. The match was rough and time after time players were heavily thrown against the sides. There was little combination, but in spite of this the game was very teresting to the spectators. The whole rink cheered when good plays were made and a spirit of friendline's existed throughout. The Meds. after countless rushes, scored two goals in the second half. The last was scored shortly before time was called, making | to 1. the score 5 to 3 in London's favor. Chester McGuffin, Adams and Mc-Mahen scored the goals. All the players conducted themselves well. although the home team was rather too forcible their methods at times. No illfeeling arose from it. Both of the defenses were exceptionally good and the forwards were equally effective. The line-up:

The members of both teams and their friends were dined by Strathroy in a manner which will cause them to remember it above ordinary affairs. The order of things was altogether different from that of the ordinary banquet. A toast list and musical programme was given. In replying to the toasts, Strathroy was impressed with the gratitude which the local men felt for Strathroy's treatment of the locals. It was hoped that a return visit would be paid and that such cordial re'ations might always exist. The Strathroy and Imperial Male Quartet of London contributed excellent musical numbers. In many instances the visitors were individually entertained by their opponents. The

It was agreed that the Galt club shall have a chance at the winners if the smallpox scare abates.

WATERLOOS TO AILSA CRAIG. The Waterloos will again try conclusions with the Ailsa Craig team on the latters' rink tonight. Much interest is centered in this game, as the teams broke even last year, the Waterloos losing in Ailsa Craig by a score of 4 to 5, and won when the return match was played in London by a very close margin. The locals expect to win, as they have played one game in Ailsa Craig already, so that they will be familiar with the rink. The lineup will be: Goal, Kennedy; point, F. TORONTO GETS TOFT. Toronto, Jan. 22. - President Applegath, of the Toronto ball club, re-ceived notice today from Secretary Farrell, of the National Association of Minor Leagues, that the board of arbitration had awarded Catcher Jack Toft to the Toronto club. Toft, it seems, signed contracts with both the Toronto club and the Columbus club, of the American Association. The evidence showed, however, that he had signed the Toronto contract first, and it was therefore decided that he should play with the locals during 1903. In of the Toronto ball club of 1903, he will for the present. manage the team from the bench, although he would keep in condition, and, if necessary, take a turn in the box. It is not likely that Gardner will sign with Toronto unless Manager Barrow has made him a good offer to join the Detroit club.

FACTS FOR BUSINESS MEN.

It is surprising what an amount of really good money is wasted every year on the industrious programme

Mr. Merchant, did you ever have any notion that this sort of thing was advertising? Here is what the fakir thinks about it. He has often told me so - I, a printer - sometimes his

He figures up what he owes for board, and the few hundred other things that man wants here below but can't pay for, which enables him to know definitely what he must get out of the programme, net. The rest is easy. He sees his printer firstlook at the order of events-finds out what the printing will cost from a 'dummy" programme, that same old dummy that soon has "only one space left" that he wants you to take. From this he immediately determines what he must get for his spaces in order to pay the printer and net the board bill which was the real "ulterior motive" of the whole business.

He doesn't consider the advertising worth 5 cents. The programme is simply the easiest way he knows of to "cop out" a week's board.

There is another kind of programme that is claimed to be a sure thing for ""."

the advertiser. It is the "souvenir," which is to be treasured among the family heirlooms, to be handed down from generation to generation, each of which will see your ad. and hustle down to buy the special bargains on

About the only difference I can see between these propositions is that the "souvenir" is more honestly circulated than the ordinary variety of programme, and there is generally some effort to get out the number of copies

An ad. that is to get in its deadly work on our grandchildren is not likely to make us put on a flock of extra clerks to handle the business. And even the "souvenir" programme is not published for the purpose of benefiting the advertiser. It exists because the society needs the moneyto pay the printer's bill.

The programme ad. is rarely worth what it costs.-Advertising World.

Man and Woman Arrested Here on Serious Charge.

Wanted in Toronto Where Another Wife is Said to Live.

H. D. Finlayson, who lives on St James street, in London Township, just outside the city limits, and a woman who claims to be his wife, were arrested last evening by three local detectives. The charge against them is bigamy, they being wanted by the Toronto police. Detective Black, of that city, came here today to take them back to Toronto, where it is claimed Finlayson was an expressman living on Parliament street with a wife and three children. It is alleged that last summer he disappeared, and a few days later the woman, Mary Crawford, left. Mrs. Finlayson learning later that they were married and living in London, swore out a warrant on the

When taken in charge last night there did not seem to be any objection to arrest. Finlayson is a laborer at odd jobs, and a respectable-looking man of about 45 years of age. The woman, who appears to be about 30 years of age, and pleasant-looking, has also been doing quite a lot of hard work. They have a nicely-furnished little home, and appeared quite happy. They have a baby about 6 months old; they claim to have been married 18 months ago, the woman stating that her name had been Mary Crawford. The child, of course, remained with its mother, and the couple spent the night

THE BALL WAS A SUCCESS

Over One Hundred Couples Dance at Wolseley Barracks.

Dance Club To Be Congratulated Upon Resuit of Its Efforts.

"There was a sound of revelry last night," at Wolseley Barracks, the occasion being the annual ball of the non-commissioned officers and men. The ball has always been something of an event, but this year the Barracks Dance Club outdid itself. The men spared neither effort nor expense, with the result that they eclipsed all former efforts and have good reason for self-congratulation.

The hall set apart for the dance was tastefully decorted with flags and bannerets, standards and Union Jacks. At one end was a portrait of His Majesty draped with the royal standard; at the other a picture of Over Victoria framed in the Union Queen Victoria, framed in the Union

A military ball has the advantage of ordinary every day balls in that there is more color, and last night's affair was no exception to the rule. A large number of those present were from the Barracks, and the red and blue of the uniforms, blending with the many colored decorations and the lighter colors of dresses made a picture. Cortese's orchestra supplied the music, and refershments were furnished. Over a hundred couples took part in the dances, which were prolonged until an early hour this morn-

Among the guests of the evening were Col. and Mrs. Denison and Mise Denison, Col. and Mrs. Young, Capt. Uniacke, Capt. Dawson, Lieut. Eaton and Lieut. McLennan.

Those who had charge of the arrangements were as follows: President, Col.-Sergt. Cranston; committee on music, Sergt. Beales and Pte. Kay;

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served, and the food crank is in his glory, and arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for human stomachs, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health. Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best. As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form, and is digested and is assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains. Dr. Julius Remmson on this subject says: "Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three ours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diatase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets comosed of the natural digestive priniples, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and its, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic mediines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless for indigestion as they have absolutely no affect upon the actual digestion of Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is indorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

Grand Trunk Railway Men Patronize Their Rooms.

During Past Year 261 New Books Were Added to It.

At the fifth annual meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway Library and Literary Association, which was held in the reading room at the carshops, the reports of the secretary-treasurer and librarian proved to be very satisfactory, and showed the affairs of the association to be in good condition. The librarian's report was especially encouraging. During 1902, 261 new books were added to the library, of which number 254 were purchased and 7 presented. The total circulation for the year amounted to 5,192 volumes, a weekly average of 100 books issued. The reading tables are supplied with eight of the leading provincial dailies, five weekly and 24 monthly periodicals. The members of the association feel greatly indebted to the general manager, Mr. C. M. Hays, and other officials of the company for their hearty encouragement and co-operation in the work. The association also feels grateful for the cheerful and untiring interest in its affairs shown by Mr. T. Treleaven, master car builder. "WIZARD OF THE NILE." Grau's Opera Company will make their first appearance in London this evening, when they begin an engagement for two evenings and a matine performance. "The Wizard of the Nile" will be presented this evening and tomorrow afternoon, and Sousa's "El Capitan" tomorrow night. It is in this opera that Mr. Sousa figures a the March King, having written one of the greatest and most successful marches ever heard in this country. "AN AMERICAN HUSTLER." The attraction at the Grand on Monday next is "An American Hustler," with the comedian, George F. Hall, in the leading role. The supporting company surrounding the star is said to be a well-balanced organization, and the costumes are neat and tasteful. American Hustler" is a clean-cut comedy. Popular prices will prevail.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Nathan Hale, as a Play, Is Distasteful to Canadians. "Miss Alice Adams, please come forward." When the teacher thus addressed a pupil in the schoolroom scene, with which the play "Nathan Hale" opens, there was an outburst of applause. This was at the Grand last night, the performance being witnessed by a fair audience. The young lady who went "forward" was Miss Florence Smyth, who is a London girl, and from then to the drama's close her acting was critically watched, and to her friends a scarcely more satisfactory performance could have been given.

The story is of the American revolution, and even the fact that the historical period is so far back, does not save it from being odious to a Canadian audience. It was designed by Clyde Fitch to strike a responsive chord in the United States, and portrays British soldiers as drunken, cowardly brawlers. Nathan Hale is a school teacher, who loves one of his pupils, Alice Adams, and who becomes a soldier and then a spy. The drama ends with his being put to death, the actual execution, of course, not being shown. The play in very many places drags, the humorous passages being few, and in the main portion of the play there are too many cessations from action. Fitch's climaxes are originally arranged, and occasional bright spots appear such as Hale's declaration to Alice at the school, when the other pupils are playing, that he wished "life was one long recess," and he could "keep her in Mr. Howard Kyle's acting was not the subject of an enthusiastic reception. His peculiar musical voice gives an impression of insincerity, and in but a few places does any especial talent exhibit itself.

There was only one lady on the stage, as far as genuine acting was concerned, and that was Miss Smyth, who barring negroes from membership.
