

INFANT DEATH RATE TOUCHES LOW RECORD
London Figures Drop From 116 to 100 in Every 1,000.
TORONTO STILL LOWER

Credit Given Public Health Director and Child Welfare Nurse.

The report on infant mortality compiled as a result of the social survey conducted in London during the past summer, has been received by T. D. McCullough of the social service council, and will be submitted to a general meeting of the council in the Y. M. C. A. on Nov. 17.

Although Mr. McCullough does not divulge the contents of the report, he intimates that infant mortality in the city has been materially lessened.

"It has been as high as 116 in every 1,000," said Mr. McCullough, "but this year it is down to 100, or in other words, 100 babies out of every 1,000 born have died before reaching the age of one year. Last year the rate was around 108."

"Dr. W. H. Hill, director of public health, who acted as chairman of the committee, and Miss Bertha Smith, who has had much to do with child welfare work, are in a great degree responsible for the much better showing that the city has made," continued Mr. McCullough, "but although the report is very favorable, London does not yet stand as well as Toronto, nor as well as the provincial average."

"In New Zealand the mortality is but 40 per 1,000, while Dunedin, New Zealand, with a mark of 30, is believed to be the healthiest city in the world."

"Other reports of social service activities will be published from time to time; some of them are being prepared right now," concluded Mr. McCullough.

U.S. ROADS TO REDUCE WAGES
Managers of Western Group Decide To Send Out Notices to Men.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Managers of the western group of United States railroads, at a meeting here yesterday, decided upon the immediate posting of notices of wage reductions of 10 per cent, according to an announcement today.

In the proposed cuts all departments will be affected and committees were appointed to draft the notices immediately so that the road may go before the railroad labor board and ask an order hearing.

Following the railroad meeting, the National Industrial Traffic League announced that meetings would be held in New York and Chicago to discuss the league's press its claims for wage reductions on the basis of rate reductions to shippers. The league represents many of the important shippers of the United States.

Resolutions for presentation to roads have already been drawn and include three salient points:

"That railroad wages, scales be put on a basis corresponding with those of other industries."

"That wage reductions and rate reductions take place simultaneously."

"That the immediate effect of national agreements made effective during the period of federal control."

The labor board has announced that it will consider questions which will be considered until after it has passed upon working rules and hour schedules, but the roads decided to press their wage reduction effort so that these might be brought to the attention of the board immediately.

Settlement of the railroad strike vote by the railroad brotherhoods for October 30 followed a statement by the railroad labor board that wage reductions would not be passed upon until after questions regarding rules and working conditions had been decided.

Foch Coming to Canada to Greet War Heroes

PROMISES TO MINGLE AGAIN WITH CANUCKS

Tells London Advertiser He Will Meet "Those Heroic Lads of Flanders' Field."

VISIT TO BE BRIEF
Detroit Pays Tribute To Beloved Marshal of "La Belle France."

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 7.—(Special to The London Advertiser).—Ferdinand Foch, beloved marshal of France, who at one time commander-in-chief of what was probably the greatest allied army the world has ever seen, will visit the Dominion of Canada.

Such was the official intimation that rewarded my efforts Monday afternoon, when, after dodging Detroit police officers, detectives, staff majors, orderlies, billposts and what not for six hours, I finally camped outside the rooms on the fifth floor of the Detroit Athletic Club, where he rested, after their afternoon activities, the "old of France" and his staff of aides.

"BRIEF THOUGH IT MAY BE," Marshal Foch awaits with keen anticipation his visit to Canada. "TO MEET AGAIN THOSE HEROIC LADS WHO STOOD SHOULDER TO SHOULDER WITH MY POILUS ON FLANDERS' FIELDS,"—and the promise is a characteristic of practically every interview that has emanated from the French general since he commenced his American tour.

No date is yet set for the proposed visit, and no point of entry has been decided upon, after the big mass meeting tonight in the National Guard Armory, at which the marshal spoke with the assistance of an interpreter, the visitors left by special train for Cleveland, O.

Accompanying the hero of the Marne is Comte de Chambrun, official representative of the French foreign office, and who incidentally is quite a romantic figure himself, being a great-grandson of no less a person than great Lafayette himself. To the London Advertiser Comte de Chambrun explained that the marshal's visit to Canada would be a real masterpiece of the French general since he commenced his American tour.

Without a doubt, Marshal Foch was one of the busiest men in Detroit, Monday. I was one of the others.

"They shall not pass," said the general, "during those eventful days along the Marne and in front of Verdun."

"They shall not pass," reiterated the Detroit police and military, Monday, and in this they were backed by Chief Mackay of Washington, D.C., who with a squad of husky plain-clothesmen allowed only the thickness of a door to separate them from their charge.

But the chief proved to be "not so bad," then once you make his acquaintance, and I did eventually.

"You have to be careful of these autograph hunters," he explained, as I waited for the sanction of entry from Major Dewberry, the marshal's chief aide.

There was an instance but a day or two ago of the Washington Premier Hara lost his life, of what may very easily occur by this free and easy handshaking.

There is one other logical reason perhaps, for the brevity of the French general's remarks to stray callers as I soon discovered. He speaks but little English and that with great difficulty.

As was the case at the armories, practically all his conversation takes place with the aid of the Comte de Chambrun or Major Dewberry. So to discuss at any appreciable length, topics of passing interest, one must surely be equipped with something better than "estaminet French."

Otherwise, as in the case, a pleasant smile in greeting and a wave of the hand toward the interpreters.

TRAIN BANDITS BEING SOUGHT BY ARMED MEN
New Orleans Limited Robbed—Passengers Are Not Molested.

Paxton, Ill., Nov. 8.—Hundreds of men in possession were searching early today for ten bandits who last night held up the New Orleans Limited on the Illinois Central Railroad, two miles south of here, and robbed four train employees, stole two pouches of registered mail and escaped after setting fire to the mail car.

No trace of the robbers has been found, and the only aid to the search being a statement by members of the train crew that they headed west in two automobiles.

The passengers were not molested, although one, K. H. Knowlton of Paxton, Ill., got three bullet holes in his coat when he and three companions went up to the mail car and fired on the bandits as the latter were fighting the engine crew and two mail clerks, who were in the mail car.

Arthur Moon, a Pullman porter, was shot in the chest. Fireman Harry B. Wounded. Fireman Harry B. Wounded. Fireman Harry B. Wounded.

On a threat of the engineer and fireman if the mail car was not opened, the robbers forced the mail clerks to open the door, but when the engineer and fireman had clambered inside the door was slammed shut.

Several charges of dynamite and firing from revolvers and shotguns finally forced the door in and a hand-to-hand battle ensued, which ended only when the robbers had thrown two bombs into the car and a firebrand which smoked out the four men inside.

When the clerks came out with the sacks containing registered mail, they were being burned, the bandits jumped into their machines and left.

SENATE REVISES SPECIAL TAX LIST
U. S. Measure Repeals Excess Profits and Luxury Levies.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The much-revised tax revision bill finally has passed by the Senate after a session lasting more than 15 hours. It still must pass the House before it reaches the president.

Outstanding features of the bill provide for repeal of the excess profits tax and all of the transportation taxes on next January 1, and a reduction of the surtax rates all along the line, with the maximum reduced from 60 per cent to 50 per cent. A great many of the so-called luxury taxes are also repealed.

As now drawn the bill is estimated by treasury experts to yield approximately $3,250,000,000 for the fiscal year next June 30, or $200,000,000 less than the existing law.

If all the changes proposed become effective, however, the measure ultimately will reduce the country's tax bill by approximately $750,000,000 a year.

CAT CALLS AND CHEERS SPOIL MAIDEN SPEECH
Montreal, Nov. 8.—Hon. Andre Fauteux, solicitor-general, scheduled to make his maiden speech in this city last night, was forced to abandon the attempt in face of a storm of cat calls, cheers and howls at the St. Henry College Hall, where he sat on the platform in support of Wilfrid Lamare, Government candidate for the Westmount St. Henri division.

The meeting finally broke up. FIRE DESTROYS TOWBOAT. ESTIMATE LOSS $30,000. St. John, N. B., Nov. 8.—The towboat Lord Beatty, owned by Nagle & Wigmore of this city, was totally destroyed by fire here on Saturday night. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

It is thought that the fire started from spontaneous combustion in her coal bunkers. MASKED TRAIN BANDIT ROBS IDAHO TRAVELERS. American Falls, Idaho, Nov. 8.—A masked bandit held up train No. 17, westbound, Oregon and Washington Limited, on the Oregon short line railroad, eight miles west of American Falls last night.

The passengers on the observation cars were relieved of their valuables, but no attempt was made to enter the baggage and express cars.

LOYD GEORGE MAY RESIGN IF PARLEY FAILS

Fulfillment of Premier's Threat Likely If Ulster Rejects Proposals.

IRISH AWAIT OUTCOME

LONDON, England, Nov. 8.—Members of the Ulster cabinet have been summoned to London by their premier, Sir James Craig, to consider proposals made by the British Government in connection with the Irish peace negotiations, and Sir James is to confer further with Mr. Lloyd George on Thursday afternoon.

These developments, announced officially, are deemed here to indicate an approaching climax in the discussions of an Irish settlement. The situation is frankly admitted in official circles to have reached a critical stage.

Success or failure of the peace negotiations now rest with Ulster, in the opinion of Sinn Fein delegates here, who declare that their proposals to the British prime minister with respect to Ulster are liberal enough to allow of a settlement if Ulster so chooses.

The serious view taken in official circles is said to be due to the stiff attitude assumed by Sir James, in his conference with Lloyd George. He is reported as signifying that the proposed basis of settlement submitted by the British premier would, in his opinion, seriously imperil Ulster's rights. Should this attitude be upheld by the Ulster cabinet, and the Government proposals rejected, it is regarded as possible that Lloyd George will carry out his threat to tender his resignation as prime minister. Everything, consequently, is thought to hinge upon Thursday's developments.

ARRANGE TO STOP RUM SHIPMENTS
"Gentleman's Agreement" Between Canada and United States.

Washington, Nov. 8.—United States and Canadian prohibition officials have entered into a "gentleman's agreement" designed to reduce smuggling of liquor across the border to a minimum.

The plan, it was explained, is to prevent the shipment of liquor from the United States into Canada intended for reshipment back into this country by requiring the consent of officials of the Canadian province involved before United States liquor is permitted to enter Canada.

The agreement, it was stated, was reached at a recent conference at Regina, Sask., attended by federal prohibition directors of Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana and Canadian officials of Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

General Prohibition Agent Matthews represented Commissioner Haynes. CANADIAN ORANGEMEN WILL VISIT IRELAND. Ottawa, Nov. 8.—A great tour of Canadian Orangemen and their friends, comprising a visit to Belfast, Ireland, for the 12th of July celebrations, a visit to the Canadian battlefields in France and Flanders, and tours to historic spots in England, Scotland, France and Belgium, is being planned for 1922, states R. H. McDonald, secretary of the Orange movement of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, whose headquarters are at Ottawa.

The party will have a liner at its disposal. They will sail from Montreal on July 1 next and land its passengers directly in Belfast on July 11 in time to see and take part in the great Orange demonstrations on July 12.

GASOLINE CURB STATIONS CAN BE ORDERED MOVED
Board of Works Receives Ruling From the City Solicitor.

"People who installed gasoline curb stations without authority will have to remove them if the council so orders. That is the ruling of City Solicitor T. G. Meredith," said Chairman W. A. Wilson of the board of works, Tuesday morning.

"I have just seen the solicitor," he said, "along with the engineer, and that is his ruling."

"They may be. There will be a resolution dealing with the matter at tonight's meeting of the council," was his reply.

In the meantime the city engineer is being steadily approached to grant a permit to install other stations. He declined on the ground that there is no bylaw covering the matter, and he has not the authority to issue a permit.

Monday a Richmond street garage man when told that he could not get a permit, informed the engineer that he would put the curb station in place in the morning. The engineer said that he did have authority to prevent the tearing up of streets, walks or curbs, and that if any move was made to install the station, police court proceedings would follow.

Another matter which will likely be discussed at the council meeting is the delay in getting the probe of the Wenche charges against the engineering department under way. The special committee named to look into the probe has never been called together.

An explanation of the delay will be asked by some of the aldermen of the council, Ald. John Bridge.

GARAGE PERMITS STILL LEAD BUILDING FIGURES
The demand for garage permits shows no slackening at the city hall. The recent permits show that homes for autos continue to occupy premier place in the total. C. Cook, 22 Waterloo street; George Tiner, 33 Cavendish street; A. H. Taylor, 59 High street, are the latest trio to erect garages.

Peaceful Doves Delay Dinner While Women Wage Union War
A basket of onions purchased Saturday created a bloodless battle on the Market Square Tuesday morning, and before the last verbal shots were fired a whole flock of war observers had gathered.

It seems that a Jewish woman on Saturday morning purchased onions from a woman vendor. The onions had the proper markings and were the correct size, and it remained was the important detail of transferring the onions for some old cash of the realm. The buyer paid over the money and asked that the onions be taken to a nearby feed store for delivery to her home. The seller clasped the cash tendered here and delivered the onions. On the way back to her wagon she discovered that the cash was one dollar short and that was when real war clouds started to gather on the horizon.

LAUDS LONDON AS BEST CITY IN ALL CANADA
Mayor Looks For "Big Things in City" During Coming Year.

GRAY VICE-PRESIDENT
Chamber Backs Civic Grant of $250,000 to Western University.

Mayor E. S. Little was unanimously elected president of the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year at a meeting of the directors held in the board room at the Tecumseh Hotel Tuesday night.

James Gray was elected first vice-president; Ray Lawson, second vice-president, and D. McArthur, treasurer. "What will be your policy for 1922?" "The mayor was asked, "London and more London," was the prompt reply.

"We look for big things for the city during the next year," continued the mayor, "London is the best city in Canada."

The chamber of commerce endorsement of the Western University bylaw now stands at 175 votes for and 7 against.

This bylaw will be submitted to the electors at the coming municipal election, and calls for a grant of $250,000 by the city.

The directors have appropriated a sum of money for advertising the bylaw, and appointed Ray Lawson, E. V. Buchanan and W. R. Yandall as a committee to co-operate in endeavoring to put the bylaw through.

A letter will be sent by the directors to all members asking for suggestions as to the 1922 program of work.

Reports were received on the fire prevention and health cleanup campaigns, and the recent meeting of the United Exporters of Western Ontario at Brantford.

PAL OF MURRELL BOYS ILL IN CELL
Henry Jack Williams Stricken Down With Pneumonia.

Feverish and without friends, Henry Jack Williams, who is charged with murder, lies on a cot in his ward at the county jail, stricken with pneumonia. On Thanksgiving Day his temperature was 105 degrees, and Tuesday it had dropped to 102. The danger is not past, however, Dr. James D. Williams, jail physician, stated. The disease was contracted a few days ago.

His frame is weak and not built to withstand a serious attack of this nature, the doctor declared. In addition to this, he has been physically exhausted by six months of anxious waiting for the disposition of his case. Although he was jailed on April 17, he has not been in the capital charge preferred against him, and will not get out until January, when the next assizes is held.

If his condition becomes worse he may be moved out of his present cell to the hospital, where he is waited in by the Murrell brothers. He claims that one day, when he was penniless, he stood in the bar of a local hotel. A man entered, and Williams asked him for 50 cents. The stranger gave him 50 cents, and told him to come with him, and he would show him how to make lots of money.

The stranger, it is claimed, proved afterwards to be "Fat," the missing man, alleged to be the fourth hand. It is argued that if Williams was sent to Kingston that he could be confined in the hospital there and his health restored.

Continue Murrell Hunt.
Meanwhile the postal search for Sidney and William Murrell, Williams' pals, who escaped from the county jail on Sept. 2, and have succeeded in covering up every trace of their whereabouts, continues. One thousand more circulars bearing their pictures and their descriptions are being sent out this week.

While lying ill in his ward Williams received a letter from his sister in England, which buoyed up his spirits for a short time. She gave a number of addresses of cousins in Australia, where her brother lived. These addresses were for four years. These addresses will be used by the authorities as part of the hunt for his escaped comrades.

Washington officials have been asked for a ruling.

The leaders are well pleased with the results. Although the official reports have not been compiled, it is quite apparent that many eyesores in lanes and back yards have been removed.

Buenos Aires, Nov. 8.—The naval cadets aboard the Paraguayan gunboat Adolfo Riquelme, led by the chief gunner, mutinied Sunday, overpowered the commander, took possession of the warship and fled with it northward up the Parana River, according to dispatches from Asuncion yesterday. The incident is said not to be connected with the present disturbed political situation in Paraguay.

Capt. Jess, in command of the craft, who is said to be a former German submarine commander, was locked in his cabin, according to one of the officers who was put ashore because he was ill. Several vessels were sent in pursuit of the Adolfo, which carries a battery of four guns.

A SECOND PRECEPTORY of Knights Templar will be organized in the city next Friday evening. It will be called "Lloyd George" and the first meeting will be held at 8 o'clock. This is the first new preceptory to be organized in the city since 1857. Many prominent Masons will attend from the surrounding territory.

ONLY SIX OR SEVEN of the thirty odd persons who entered appeals against findings of the court of revision appeared before the judge at the court-house Tuesday morning. Most of the appeals had to do with the placing of names on the voter's list, and those on hand in support of their appeal came off, in nearly every case, with a victory. City Clerk Baker presented a list of some 300 appeals, and all were allowed by the court.

ALTHOUGH JOHN HOWE'S mother-in-law, Mary Vandermaat, attempted to withdraw a charge of theft which he preferred against him, Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, K.C., insisted that the charge stand in police court Tuesday morning. Howe was held to appear in a week. He is charged with having stolen $150 in cash and a watch valued at $30 on Sunday. Police claim that Howe and his wife broke into the complainant's trunk and committed the theft. Police are now searching for Mrs. Howe, and on this account, the crown was reluctant at first to consent to the husband being bailed.

DECLARES Hylan TOOL OF HEARST

Curran Accuses New York Mayor on Eve of Elections.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Men and women voters of New York City, 1,263,940 of whom are entitled to cast their ballots, went to the polls today to elect a new city administration, one state senator, 62 assemblymen, and several judges and county officers. The polls opened at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. While there were seven candidates for mayor, the choice lies between John F. Hylan, Democratic incumbent, and Henry H. Curran, Republican, running on a coalition ticket. Democratic headquarters predicted Hylan's re-election by more than 160,000, while Curran's managers claimed that their candidate would win by 150,000. Impartial observers generally agreed that the women voters, 447,015 of whom are registered, held the "balance of power," and both sides made a strong appeal for the women's vote.

The campaign was waged on comparatively few issues. Mayor Hylan urged his re-election on the ground that he had maintained a five-cent fare on the subways and elevated railroads, had freed the city of organized vice and gambling dens and provided an efficient and economical administration. Mr. Curran charged the mayor and his subordinates with incompetency, failure to provide sufficient facilities for school children, plunging the city into debt and causing a deterioration of its transit facilities.

He also has charged that Hylan is merely a tool of William Randolph Hearst. Mr. Curran made his final appeal to the voters last night by wireless, speaking into a radio microphone at the Highbridge wireless station which flashed his words to 15,000 stations in and about New York. Mayor Hylan was forced to cancel three eleven-hour speaking engagements because of a throat ailment.

In his final campaign speech last night Mr. Curran said: "Before another sun sets on the city of New York, I will decide whether we are to have four years' more of government of Hearst by Hylan, or Hylan, throughout the agency of Hylan, his overseer, who chooses the self-government that our fathers handed down to us. We shall vote for or against the kind of government that comes from Hearst through Hylan. The issues are clear."

SIX THOUSAND KILLED IN NINE-DAY SIEGE

Bolshevik Sailors Say Sixty Thousand Troops Engaged.

Cronstadt, Russia, Nov. 8.—Six thousand Bolsheviks were killed in their nine-day siege of Cronstadt, following the seizure of the fortress by mutineers last March, the correspondent was informed today by Bolshevik sailors. Mutineers, who escaped had previously placed the losses at a much higher figure. Sixty thousand troops were engaged on both sides.

The sailors now are apparently far more interested in discussing football than war. Louis Apparah, one of them, merrily described how their team had defeated at soccer the crew of a British merchant ship which recently unloading at the port.

"MY center gives way; my right recedes. The situation is excellent. I shall attack!"

Among the historic words uttered by great military commanders in time of stress, none, it is safe to say, will more brightly illuminate the pages of history than this message of Ferdinand Foch to Joffre at the first battle of the Marne in 1914.

It is not improbable indeed that some future historian will pick this battle as the decisive one of the world war, instead of one of those that came later.

Here, at any rate, the rushing tide of Hohenzollern might was checked and thrown back, never again to sweep so far, and never again to appear quite so surely victorious.

And it was the sudden and utterly unexpected movement of Foch, in accord with this decision, that snatched victory for the British Empire and France from seemingly inevitable and overwhelming defeat.

THIS is the man who, revealing his character and his capacity so early in the war, rose ultimately to the supreme command of the Allied armies, and under whose leadership the war was won.

And this is the man who today informs Western Ontario and Canada in general that, "brief though it may be," he awaits with keen anticipation his visit to Canada to meet again those heroic lads who stood shoulder to shoulder with his Poilus on Flanders' Fields.

No man could be trusted with the grave responsibility that rested upon the shoulders of Marshal Foch in the closing year of the war unless he had pre-eminent qualities that justified a trust so large and rare.

From April to November, 1918, the fate of the world depended upon the character of his leadership.

Had he failed civilization would have failed.

THE theory that might is right would have been established so firmly that it would have taken generations, perhaps, to have overcome it.

But led by him, the soldiers of Canada, with those other sturdy sons of the British Empire, were enabled to establish once and for all the truth that right is might, and must ever prevail.

Foch was a soldier who did not love war for war's sake, who found no pleasure in its panoplies, who cared nothing for the shining armor of conquest.

He realized too well the folly and the tragedy of war. The only justification for an army was protection, and the only legitimate purpose of war, as he saw it, was defense.

And on that principle he continuously, in his teaching, stressed the moral element in the winning of battles.

To be morally right, he conceived—and conceived wisely—is of more weight than legions.

He understood, as few men have understood, the spiritual qualities and spiritual recognitions that are essential to endurance, to confidence, to sacrifice—and to the triumph of right.

He knew that men in every arena of the world's battlefield will fight for righteousness as they will never fight for wrong, and that, given material powers approaching equality, victory will ever rest upon the banner of right.

He knew, moreover, and had daily and intimate contact with the God who presides over the destinies of men, and had implicit faith in his ultimate justice.

SO it was that Ferdinand Foch came into the war prepared spiritually and mentally for great achievement—a consummate warrior, inspired with the zeal of patriotism and the fervor of devotion, yet ever calm and patient, weighing the stupendous obstacles with meticulous care, but relying always upon his unconquerable reserve—his faith in God and the right.

Such, in brief, is the man who paid tribute to Canada's sons on Thanksgiving Day, and when we consider what he has done to make his name immortal, when we consider what he has done for the British Empire and all mankind through his wise leadership, a leadership that was as careful as it was brilliant, as cautious as it was daring, we are wholly justified in placing upon his brow the eternal laurel of our affection, our admiration and our gratitude.

Marshal Foch, son of La Belle France, we thank you!

All railways entering London report heavier traffic over Thanksgiving than they enjoyed last year. Trains for the most part were either on time or but a few minutes' late.

ULSTERITES MEET SINN FEIN LEADER

De Valera Sympathizes With Situation Outlined by Deputation.

Dublin, Ireland, Nov. 8.—Yet another body has challenged the homogeneity claimed for the six counties by the Government of Northern Ireland. On this occasion the deputation which waited on Dail Eireann was from the Glens of Antrim, and was introduced by Sean Milroy, deputy for County Tyrone. Its spokesman, Louis Walsh, explained that the area he represented had a population of 14,000, of which 9,000 were Roman Catholics and Nationalists, who claimed that they should be included in the system of government that the majority of their fellow-countrymen established.

He also said that it was not only the body of the Protestants who were opposed to it. At the last election a Republican candidate was returned for the Ballymoney area, comprising the entire parliamentary constituency of North Antrim, and such an overwhelming Protestant divisions as Fortrush and the surrounding neighborhood. In another Protestant area a Sinn Fein candidate had been returned as chairman of the council.

Mr. Walsh said that the Protestants of the Glens had nothing to fear from their fellow-countrymen, and that the statement that if the northern counties were included in the new system of government would result, was "the most grotesque of lies."

"If Ulster men are not to be coerced," he concluded, "then we as Ulster men refuse to be included in a plan of government which is repugnant to us; and we must take the measures that free men should to secure for themselves the same rights that the people of other portions of Ireland have demanded for themselves and are going to obtain."

Mr. de Valera, who received them, said he sympathized with the position taken by that deputation and the position he had already taken from every one of the remaining counties in the new Ulster.

Ireland, he said, was naturally a unit, and the attempt to divide it would lead necessarily to political anarchy. A divided Ireland would not get rid of the minority problems, but multiply them. The unity of Ireland was "as much a fundamental principle as that of self-determination," and both, he said, were based on right and justice.

HOLD UNIVERSAL CHURCH CONGRESS IN STOCKHOLM

Nearly Every Communion in World Will Be Represented.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—That the "Universal Church Congress on Life and Work," to be held in Europe in 1924, be convened in Stockholm, is recommended by the American committee appointed by the Geneva conference in August, 1920, of 20 countries. At this conference it was voted that four sectional groups should be set up to co-operate in preparation for the Universal conference, America, British Empire, continental Europe, and the Eastern churches.

The American group has just met here, with Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, as chairman. It is believed the relation of the congress to the various social, industrial, economic and international problems that confront the world.

DEATH TOLL 6 IN KENTUCKY VOTING

Five Others Are Wounded in Gunplay at Polling Booth.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 8.—Six men were killed and five others were wounded in an election fight shortly after the polls opened at the Clayhole voting precinct on Troublesome Creek, Breathitt County, about 15 miles from here today.

The dead are: Cleveland Combs, 35; Leslie Combs, 37; Ephern Allen, 35; George Allen, 31; John Roberts, 30; George McIntosh, 30.

From the story of the affray as it reached Jackson, it appears that Ed Combs, an uncle of the Combs boys, and defeated Democratic candidate in the August primary for county judge, was active in support of the Republican nominee for the same office.

Combs, it was said, entered the polling place today and attempted to give orders to the election officers, John Roberts, according to the story, remonstrated with him, and out of the argument grew a fight in which pistols were drawn and the shooting became general.

emphatic, they say, that ready acceptance of the new proposals would occasion great surprise.

What seems to have happened, according to several accounts, is that the Ulster premier while modifying in no degree his known attitude in regard to Ulster's rights, has merely consented to examine the proposals with his colleagues. Upon these proposals, in the opinion of the British and Sinn Fein negotiators, Dominion home rule for all Ireland might be based without infringing Ulster's autonomy or offending Irish National opinion. The outstanding fact, says the Times, is that tripartite negotiations are now in progress, and Ulster no longer stands completely aloof.

Craig State Terms.

According to the Daily Mail Premier Craig has been given a document setting forth the terms agreed upon by the peace conference committee and has been asked to submit Ulster's opinion of these terms in detail, stating how far she can come into agreement with all or any of them. The most important point, the newspaper says, concerns the constitution and powers of an all-Ireland senate.

Until the Ulster cabinet has considered the proposals and submitted its reply, the newspaper adds, there cannot presumably be any definite turn to the situation, which necessarily continues full of difficulties and anxieties, and which may always be regarded as "extremely critical" until a settlement is reached.

Ulster Organ Decries "Careful, Cunning Plot."

Belfast, Nov. 8.—Commenting on the summoning to London of the Ulster cabinet and Sir James Craig's interviews with Mr. Lloyd George, the Northern Whig presents the following typical Belfast view of the present Irish peace situation: "Dragging Ulster into the picture is not an impulsive act; it is the essence of a careful, cunning plot which Ulster has been the victim of since the outbreak of the war. The plot has not succeeded. We are confident that through the courage and determination of Ulster, it will not only fail, but its authors will be driven from place and power."

ADVOCATES EMIGRATION FOR UNEMPLOYED MEN

Candidate Says That "Own Brother Emigrates Next Week."

London, Nov. 8.—Despite the customary apathy of the London suburban dwellers, in the bulk, towards politics, the by-election in Hornsey, which has been made necessary owing to the death of Kennedy Jones, M. P., and which is a straight contest between Conservative and Liberal is now regarded as less of a foregone conclusion than when the contest opened. The studied courtesy between the two candidates has been abashed by some violent hecklers. Lord Ednam, the Conservative candidate, having advocated emigration for the unemployed, was asked at a recent meeting if he would advocate the unemployed in his own class emigrating, and replied: "My own brother is emigrating next week."

The Hornsey election will be held on Thursday, and the result of the voting will be known by the next night.

CROWDS GREET BRIAND AS HE ARRIVES IN U.S.

New York Gives Rousing Reception To French Premier and Delegates.

COME WITH FREE HAND

Unrestricted by Any Instructions On Conduct At Arms Parley.

[By Canadian Press.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—France is ready to join in every endeavor to avert new wars, "provided she has nothing to fear for her own security, which remains one of the most solid guarantees of the peace of the world," said Premier Aristide Briand upon his arrival today to attend the armament conference at Washington.

Just because she had to suffer from the war more than any other nation," he added, "she is ready to approach the problem of the conference in the most favorable spirit for the maintenance of peace."

"Between France and the United States of America there is no room for any difference, however slight. Both our countries only endeavor to lead the men and people of good will to peaceful and fruitful work, and to reduce more and more the risks of war."

World Needs Rest.

"Today the world, which is in such need of safety and rest, wants not only soothing words, but realities. A great crowd assembled at the dock and gave the premier and his party a rousing welcome as they stepped ashore from the steamship Lafayette. Official welcoming ceremonies which marked the arrival of other delegations to the conference were curtailed to allow M. Briand to go to Washington at once."

French Policies.

First.—The French Government's obligations to the League of Nations do not preclude France from joining other powers inside or outside the league in limiting armaments or settling other questions that the league considers as within its jurisdiction.

Second.—French policy favors equal commercial opportunities in China.

Third.—The restriction of sea armaments offers no difficulties peculiar to France. Her navy is already below any formula likely to be adopted.

Fourth.—French interests concentrate upon land armaments. Their strength is conditioned by Germany and the payment or non-payment of reparations. German reparations and military questions are considered to be closely related to when and how France can begin to meet her United States debt.

Philosophic Attitude.

These may be considered as the broadly-drawn boundaries within which the French delegation's thoughts are moving. But M. Briand goes into the conference with his customary philosophic attitude of not holding too closely to prepossessions, keeping a receptive mind and disposed at any time to examine fresh proposals or to re-examine old ones under new aspects.

His intimate associates during the voyage found that he had put aside his preoccupations of home politics and lived for the time in the thought of the conference alone. He had frequent conversations with Viviani, with Sarraut before he was taken ill with an affection of the throat, and with Barthélemy, Cassegrain, Briat, and other members of the mission and newspaper correspondents, both French and American.

INDIA CONGRESS ADOPTS "NON-TAXATION" POLICY

DELHI, Ind., Nov. 7.—The All India Congress committee consisting of 200 delegates, after long discussion of the political situation and imprisonment of the All brothers, adopted a resolution with only seven dissenting votes, adhering to the policy of "civil disobedience," including non-payment of taxes and complete non-co-operation.

Mahatma K. Gandhi, the Nationalist leader, who introduced the resolution, emphasized the seriousness of the proposed non-violent revolution and uttered a warning against adopting the measure in a light-hearted manner. He also foreshadowed the starting of the disobedience movement in the Gujarat district within a fortnight, which he said, would set the example for achievement for the rest of India.

TWO DIE IN FLAMES OF HUNGARIAN BARRACKS

BUDAPEST, Nov. 7.—Two soldiers were burned to death today when the Radevsky barracks, where the royal government troops are stationed, was destroyed by fire. The fire is the climax of the operations of a gang of unknown incendiaries who during the last fortnight have set fire to three mills and four factories. The police assert that the barracks fire was vengeance for the activities of those opposed to former King Charles.

GREAT RECEPTION GIVEN W. EULER AT KITCHENER

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kitchener, Nov. 7.—W. D. Euler, Liberal candidate, addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting at his headquarters here Saturday night. He was given a hearty reception by a crowd that packed the hall to capacity. The record of the Meligen government was the principal topic of the evening and keen disapproval of it was voiced by the large audience.

King Unable To Visit British Columbia Before Election Day

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. William L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, will be unable, owing to lack of time at his disposal during the balance of the campaign, to go to British Columbia, as he had planned to do during his Western trip. Announcement to this effect was made this afternoon.

The week saved to Mr. King by the change in his itinerary will probably be spent in Ontario and Quebec centers, where a series of meetings will be arranged during his absence on the tour of the Maritime Provinces. The Liberal leader's Western tour will take him as far west as Calgary and Edmonton, and he will address a number of meetings at various cities, both going to the West and returning.

Inventors Diagrammed

HAVE YOU THE EARMARKS OF THE GENIUS?

which indicate unusual resolution and tenacity. The general expression of the composite face, according to Dr. Blackford, is that of a likeable human personality. The mouth is sensitive as well as firm. "This typical inventor is not one to be cranky or sour, or to fly into petty rages over trifles. He has hope, optimism and faith."

"One of the most striking things about the face is not evident in the photograph. Practically all of the men included in the picture are blond and nearly all of them have blue or gray eyes."

Notice the narrow brows, and that the head broadens above them until it is an inch above the ears. Note also the width of the head above the ears.

It is this feature, chiefly, according to Dr. Blackford, that stamps the composite portrait as that of a scientist of the creative type.

The composite view was made by printing in registry on a single piece of sensitive paper the sixteen portraits of famous American scientists.

The accompanying composite photograph of famous American scientists was analyzed in the current issue of Popular Science Monthly, by Dr. Katherine Blackford, expert in character reading.

The significant features characterizing the inventive genius are the prominent, well modeled nose, the strong jaw and the peculiar shape and breadth of the head.

The immediate sign of the inventor lies in the long chin and square jaw, which indicate unusual resolution and tenacity.

BRITISH PRISONERS INCREASE IN YEAR

Commissioners Report Large Number of First Offenders.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press.)—A considerable increase in the number of prisoners under sentence for the year ending March 31 last, compared with the figures of the previous year, is shown in the annual report of the commissioners of prisons to the home office.

The figures are 49,712 and 32,787, respectively, but they are considerably lower, relative to population, than for the five years ending March 31, 1913-14. The number of male prisoners added to the list until 1922, Part three, and the number of female prisoners was reduced 22 per cent.

The small increase during the year, when there was much unemployment, and industrial unrest is attributed to unemployment pay, improved education, higher wages, bigger reserves of workers with savings invested, war pensions, restriction of drinking facilities, and the substitution of Borstal institutions for juvenile courts. The Borstal institutions are for the reformation of young offenders and have disciplinary and moral influences.

Referring to first offenders, whereof there were 18,000 last year, compared with 45,000 in 1913-14, the governor of Durham Prison states that a new stamp of offender has arisen—men and women of respectable antecedents who are regularly employed and are now associated with the criminal class having taken to serious crimes such as fraud and robbery with astounding facility.

He expresses the belief that the cause of this is that the high wages which were so easily earned in war time are now unobtainable, and that the former recipients, thereof, they must have money to provide the luxuries and amusement to which they had grown accustomed so they steal, pilfer and loaf.

FIFTEEN BOILS ON NECK AT ONE TIME

Anyone who has suffered from boils can sympathize with poor old Job. There was no Burdock Blood Bitters in those days, so Job had to suffer in silence. Now-a-days no one need endure the misery of boils.

Boils are simply evidences of the bad blood within coming to the surface and just when you get rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not stop more coming. What you have to do is take

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS and the blood will be cleansed of all its impurities, and then every boil will disappear.

Mr. Roy McSwain, High Bank, P. E. I., writes: "I was troubled with boils for some time, and had as many as fifteen on my neck at once. After taking one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters they commenced to get better, and after they were all gone I was relieved of them and felt much better. I think B. B. B. is a grand blood medicine, and can recommend it highly."

For the past 45 years B. B. B. has been manufactured only by The T. M. L. Landlord and one three-fourths persons more than allowed for the air space furnished.

CRERAR BARES DIFFICULTY OF RAIL SOLUTION

Believes Increase in Canada's Population Is Key To Problem.

STANDS BY PROHIBITION

Would Give National Railwaymen Representation On Directorate.

[By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.]—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National-Progressive party, spent Thanksgiving with a couple of speeches at Smith's Falls, in the afternoon, and by a speech here in the evening. By a curious turn of fortune, he thereby invaded not only the constituency of the present minister of railways, Hon. J. A. Stewart, but also that of Grenville, until recently represented in the House of Commons by Hon. J. D. Reid, Mr. Stewart's predecessor at the department of railways.

Tomorrow afternoon Mr. Crerar will carry his campaign into Kingston represented in the last parliament by the minister of finance.

Although in the main following his usual line of argument, Mr. Crerar at Smith's Falls had some special reference to the railway situation. He argued, as in previous speeches, that the railway problem would not be solved till Canada had more population to bring additional traffic. But he went further than that, the employees of the National Railways should be given representation on the directorate.

Would Win Co-operation.

"I have advocated and I repeat," Mr. Crerar said, "that the time has well arrived when the employees of our National Railways should have representation on the board of directors. If we are to make the best of our system, it can only be done by the wholehearted co-operation of the tens of thousands of employees who operate the system."

Mr. Crerar mentioned the question of prohibition. On this Progressive stood where they had always stood. Prohibition, Mr. Crerar said, was the basis of the western farmers. He argued that agriculture being the basic industry of Canada, unless the farmers were prosperous the remainder of Canada could not be prosperous.

The farmers, said Mr. Crerar, were now receiving about 75 cents net a bushel for their wheat. Livestock was practically unsaleable, or, at any rate, saleable only at very low prices.

Explains Grain Profits.

Discussing reports that the Grain Growers' Company, of which he is president, had made huge profits, Mr. Crerar emphasized that the company was operated on a co-operative basis. It had, he said, organized a company in New York handling a line of credit from an American bank, and handled in one year $6,000,000 bushels of American grain.

"I am rather proud of the fact," Mr. Crerar said, "that western farmers could go to New York, get credit from an American bank and handle $6,000,000 bushels of American grain."

WOODSTOCK PUBLICLY OBSERVES THANKSGIVING

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 7.—Thanksgiving Day was appropriately observed in the city. In the morning a joint thanksgiving and armistice day service was held in Knox Church. The members of the city council and G. W. V. A. attended in a body.

Tonight the city council and G. W. V. A. staged two events admission to which was free: at the city hall a concert was put on by local talent, while at the armistice a dance was the feature.

The motorcycle races, which were to have been held this afternoon, were called off on account of the weather conditions.

TILSONBURG, Nov. 7.—Up till the present time all three political parties in South Oxford have been looking forward to having a big time in Tara on Thanksgiving Day, and they were not disappointed. They held a lodge of instruction here today and a grand banquet in the evening.

There are eight lodges in this district, and each lodge had representatives here today.

The three degrees were exemplified, Chesley being the first, Owen Sound, Hordge, No. 441, the second, and Warton the third. South Oxford lodges had made great preparations for the Thanksgiving Day event, and they are well satisfied with the success of their efforts.

ROBBERS SENTENCED TWO HOURS AFTER CAPTURE

CORNWALL, Nov. 7.—What was claimed to be the quickest action in a robbery case ever recorded in Canada, occurred here Saturday.

Jacob Goldstein, aged 20, Montreal, Jack Daly, 18, and Jack Green, 20, both of Toronto, were caught red-handed robbing a number of stores, and before the magistrate and sentenced to five years in Kingston Penitentiary inside of two hours.

ARREST WOODSTOCK SUSPECTS.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—Gordon Brickman and George Bryan, wanted in Woodstock on a charge of house-breaking, were arrested here today. On searching their room the police discovered a box of ammunition. They will be held until a Woodstock officer arrives to take them back.

"BLUEBEARD" OF FRANCE ON TRIAL

VERSAILLES, Nov. 7.—Court officials gathered here today for the opening at noon in the Seine-et-Oise assizes of the trial of Henri Desire Landru, the "Bluebeard of Gambais," who is charged with eleven murders.

Ten of his alleged victims were women to whom he is said to have promised marriage, and the eleventh the son of one of them. He is alleged to have burned his victims' bodies.

Moro-Glaifier, who defended Former Premier Joseph Caillaux and Former Senator Charles Humbert at their sensational trials, will appear in behalf of Landru. Prosecuting Attorney Godefroi conducting the case for the people. Judge Gilbert of Versailles will preside.

The case has attracted greater attention than any other criminal cause in the annals of the French courts.

PALACE OF CADMUS GIVES UP SECRETS

Excavations at Thebes Prove Ancient Traditions.

ATHENS, Nov. 7.—Dr. Keramopoulos, one of the Greek inspectors of antiquities, has accomplished some most interesting work in the ruins of the palace at Thebes. According to legend, this palace was founded by Cadmus, who is said to have first brought the alphabet to Greece.

In previous campaigns, the remains of the fresco decoration of the earlier palace, 1600 to 1400 B.C., were brought to light. This consisted largely of a frieze of elaborately dressed and coiffured women carrying flowers, painted jugs, or ivory boxes.

This year the excavator has found some of the store-rooms of the latter palace, 1400 to 1100 B.C. From these there have been extracted a hundred or more big stoneware jars. They are unfortunately broken, but they can be put together again.

A considerable number of these vessels have painted on them inscriptions in the still undecipherable Mycenaean alphabet. The letters, or rather signs, of a hieroglyphic character and are derived but differ from the well-known and equally undecipherable Cretan prehistoric alphabet. Scientists believe it possible that the difference of alphabet means a difference of language.

However much professors may dispute about the meaning and character of these alphabets, Athens archaeologists circles attach special interest to the fact that ancient tradition has once more been proved right by the discovery of what might be called Cadmean letters in the ruins of Cadmus' city.

$40,000 DAMAGE BY WINDSOR FIRE

Block of New Stores Threatened With Destruction.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Nov. 7.—Fire, which did damage estimated at $40,000, broke out in the Osterholt block, a new block of three-story brick construction on East Pitt street, about 10:30 tonight and for nearly an hour gave the fire department one of the most strenuous fights that it has had for a long time.

The flames were first noticed in the attic above the offices of the Windsor Business College, which occupies the top floor of the building, and had got a good hold before the firemen arrived. So serious was the situation at one time, that Chief DeSelds ordered out every bit of fire apparatus in the city.

From the first floor the flames spread downward to the second floor, occupied by Evan Roger, photographer, and O'Donnell Furniture Company. The Home Furnishing Company and the Baxter Wall Paper Company occupy the ground floor, which suffered serious damage from smoke and water.

The fire, which is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion in a pile of old rags in the attic, was under control by midnight.

HONOR HEROES OF GREAT WAR

Memorial Monument Unveiled in St. Marys During An Impressive Ceremony.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. MARYS, Nov. 7.—St. Marys turned out en masse today to pay honor and respect to the 64 men from this town who laid down their lives during the great war, when the memorial monument erected in their memory was unveiled.

At 2:30 o'clock, as the band struck up "O Canada," the flag was removed by Mayor N. L. Wrandon, following which the monument was dedicated by Rev. Capt. Masters, M.C., to the glory of God and in loving memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice. Gen. Panet of London read the roll of honor and George Blackman sounded the Last Post.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the church adjourned to the Methodist Church, where an eloquent address was delivered by Rev. Col. W. Beattie of London. Capt. F. G. Sanderson, the local president of the G. W. V. A., before introducing Col. Beattie, spoke a few words of consolation to the many present who had lost loved ones in the war.

"You wonder," said Capt. Sanderson, "what kept up the morale of the Canadian corps. It was not the spirit of excitement or wanderlust, but that of love and sacrifice, and the knowledge that they were fighting for the sanctity of home and loved ones. We must not forget the sacrifices of these men, who gave their all for their country, and let the youth of our town be taught how sacred the names of these men are, and how they never faltered in the face of death."

It should be great satisfaction to the mourners to know that their death was the greatest one could die."

Col. Beattie called attention to the many heroic deeds of Canadian boys during the war; how they had come into prominence as the great war fighters on the Western front, and when a task was allotted them they never failed. "I want," he said, "to pay tribute to the brave women of Canada, who played such a noble part at home, for they were always an inspiration to the fighting troops. The walls that defended the nation were of human flesh and blood, and every man was a brick in that wall. You at home were the mortar that held the bricks together."

"Now, then, citizens of St. Marys, let us take the citizenship of our country and form a wall against all future wars, so as to protect our fair land and make it a credit to the world."

SARNIA MAN DEAD IN NORTH COUNTRY

Dr. Kinsman, Dentist, Dies Suddenly On Hunting Trip.

SARNIA, Nov. 7.—News was received today of the death of Dr. H. F. Kinsman, a prominent dentist of Sarnia, who dropped dead Saturday in a hotel at Bruce Mines, near the Canadian Soo.

Dr. Kinsman had been one of a hunting party which left last week for the Northern Canadian woods. He was apparently in good health and the news of his death came as a shock to the community.

He was one of the oldest practicing dentists in Sarnia. He was 50 years of age and survived by a son and a daughter. His daughter Miss Margaret recently joined him in practice, becoming one of the first women dentists in the province.

Here's An Issue.

John Fraser, auditor-general, was examined before the Returned Soldiers' Parliamentary Committee, which held sittings in the year 1917. At that time he gave testimony that showed slack work on the part of the Government at Ottawa.

He testified that in connection with the Canadian Pay and Records Department in London, England, there were overpayments alone amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars, and that the lack of system made the cost of attempting to recover the loss so great that it had been decided to let the country stand the loss, whatever the amount might be. Mr. Fraser also made the pointed remark that the matter of over-pay was so serious that he did not think the amount would ever be ascertained, let alone recovered.

Canadian ratepayers are paying for this class of work. It is being levied in various ways, but in the end it is all the same—it is an unworthy obligation shouldered on the people of Canada by men appointed by the Conservative Government at Ottawa.

Nor did Mr. Fraser let the matter rest here. He was prepared to go further, and he did. He told the committee that there were some 2,500 men employed in London in the department in question; that there were 1,700 in the pay office alone, many of them incompetent and worse than useless. He also added that it would have been better for Canada to pay them $10 per day to sit outside on the sidewalk and leave the books alone.

Here is the climax of Mr. Fraser's testimony:

"Some of those chartered accountants brought from the front because they were experts became so disgusted with conditions that they purposely put their accounts wrong in order that they might be fired and sent back to the front again. They preferred being in the trenches."

To bring the matter right home to Ottawa, let us take the case of one man who was a paymaster, and who was known to have made defalcations of $3,500. He was discharged overseas and sent back to Canada. What awaited him here? A trial or jail term?

Not much. His Tory friends took him in hand and he was raised from the rank of paymaster to colonel. But let Mr. Fraser's own testimony tell the story:

"I asked them to commence deducting this amount from his pay, and they said: 'Oh, we can't do that, the pay is to Colonel So-and-So; that was Paymaster So-and-So, and we have no authority to deduct it from Colonel So-and-So's pay.'"

"Q—Was it known here at headquarters that he was a defaulter?"

"Yes, certainly, it is shown on the books there."

Is it any wonder, in view of such a record, that the country refuses to take the Conservative party seriously when they shout: "The tariff is the only issue?"

Rank mismanagement is one great big issue, and the people of Canada are not overlooking it either.

Insidious Poison.

A speaker at a recent political gathering in Western Ontario referred to the press, outside of the Farmers' Sun, as spreading "insidious poison."

Of course there is nothing particularly new in the statement, neither is there anything particularly true. There are some speakers, though, who never let an occasion pass without trying to get the idea impressed on their audience that a newspaper is not to be relied upon—that they know the truth and will not go ahead and publish it—that their mission generally is to play favorites, and in such a way that the man on the outside of some influential body has no chance whatever of getting a hearing or having justice meted out to him through the columns of the press.

There is a certain amount of malice in these statements, and a great deal of positive and absolute ignorance of facts. There are very few newspapers in this country that do not aim to give the facts. It must be borne in mind that there are many times when it is very hard for papers to get all the facts, for there are many people more interested in keeping things out of a paper than there are in getting things in a paper.

The average newspaper has its hard and fast rules posted up in the reporters' rooms. It might do some of the doubters good some time to make a visit to the editorial department of a daily paper and see the rules that are there for the guidance of the men gathering the news, and to learn something of the efforts that are made to try and make the news columns of the paper accurate and clean.

Papers receive small encouragement in this matter. Very seldom do we hear from any speaker that the press is trying to perform a service for the community. Very seldom do we hear any person state that there is a commendable effort on the part of the Canadian press to make the news columns so clean that any member of the family can read the thing from top to bottom in perfect safety.

As far as The Advertiser is concerned, all through this political campaign there has been an effort made to report without bias all political gatherings, no matter whether they are Liberal, Conservative or Progressive. Our paper has carried column after column of the speeches of Meighen and Crerar, just the same as much space has been given to the addresses of Mackenzie King and his followers. This paper is no exception, but rather representative of what is happening all over the country. It is in recognition of the fact that the first duty of a newspaper is to print the news, without color, bias or editorial interpretation.

We have made this statement because we think it only right that readers of daily papers should know the facts. As we stated before, we invite any doubter to look into these facts carefully, especially before launching any broadsides about the spreading of "insidious poison." All the press asks is that these speakers accord it the same degree of honor and candor which they claim for themselves.

Open Ears.

Should the conferences at Washington be open or secret.

A lively discussion is being waged around this point, and some splendid reasons are being put up for both views. In this country, used as we are to publicity in nearly every move, the verdict would undoubtedly be for open sessions, with the press given every chance to report everything, and if possible as much of the general public admitted as might find it possible to get in the place where the meeting is held.

Diplomats, on the other hand, are busy pointing out that no real progress can be made in the open, since differences which could readily be settled behind closed doors would be made into mountains of difficulty and hills of prejudice were they to be aired in the press and made the subject of comment in papers of the reckless variety.

The happy medium is the best policy for this gathering. If we cannot have open sessions let us have them as open as we can. Let the public know through the press what is going on, and let the information be straight and authentic enough to place the seal of international confidence on the sessions right from the start.

There is something of even greater importance, viz.: That the conference itself be forced to listen to what the people of the world are saying. Unless the delegates to Washington open their ears they will not know of the longings, the hopes and the prayers that are being uttered in every nation with respect to their deliberations. Man-kind is trusting to this conference, three years after the armistice, to work out the foundations and the superstructure for a lasting peace.

Conditions and policies that are keeping the world in a state of frenzied semi-preparation can no longer be tolerated. The piling up of armaments has reached the limit of endurance, and the makers of these armaments must be told to stop their propaganda by setting one nation against another.

Hence the profound importance that the conference, whether open or secret, should have its ears wide open and sensitive to the united voices of men and women the world over.

On Friday afternoon the graduates of the City General Hospital were presented with their diplomas and gold medals. Mayor Little made the presentation in the dining-hall at the hospital in the presence of the members of the hospital trust and a large number of friends of the graduates. There were several addresses by Col. Lewis, Messrs. C. F. Complin, Gilmour, Burdon, Rev. Johnston and Dr. Balfour.

The ninth annual meeting of the Dominion W. C. T. U. opened yesterday in Zion Church, Toronto. The preliminary work of the convention was arranged, a number of important reports received and the president delivered her annual address. A reception was tendered the delegates in the evening, after which a public meeting was held. The treasurer's report, read by Mrs. Tilton, showed a revenue of $1,556. The balance on hand is $569. Delegates present from London were Mrs. Thornley, Mrs. Tilly, Mrs. Darch and Miss Saunby.

The fare boxes on the trolley cars are the latest objects of the sneak thief. Two of them were taken Saturday from the same car. The boxes were made of steel and are valued at $15 each. The thief evidently watched for an opportunity to take the box, as in both instances it was taken when the conductor was busy elsewhere.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL.

OVERWORK

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

Most people who believe themselves in ill health because they are "over-worked" are really simply the victims of bad air, poor diet, nervousness or worry.

They attribute their lack of normal good health to work, when in fact the trouble is due to some other cause. They are not content to observe the few rules of health, or never learned to observe them at all.

It is a common fallacy for the man who breaks down in middle age to believe himself a victim of overwork. The college girl often believes her health has been ruined by too much study. They prove their case, to themselves at least, when their health improves when given a vacation.

The truth of the matter is that they merely need to give their bodies the rest, food, air and exercise that they demand, it is true, too, that they undoubtedly tax their capacity for work beyond the powers of the body, but their working capacity is only a fraction of what it would be if they took exercise, were not constipated, did not eat too much, or ceased to worry continually.

Of course, there are many cases of true overwork, but if one will use a little observation, he will notice that the men who are the most efficient, who get the most work done, those whom others regard as "live wires" are most careful about their daily health habits.

There are a number of simple rules easily remembered that are recommended by the Life Extension Institute. They are:

Ventilate every room you occupy. Wear light, loose and porous clothes. Seek out-of-door occupations and recreations. Sleep out, if you can. Breathe deeply. Eat sparingly of meats and eggs. Eat some hard, some bulky, some raw foods. Drink slowly. Drink sufficient water. Stand, sit and walk erect. Do not allow poisons and infections to enter the body. Keep the teeth, gums and tongue clean. Work, play, rest and sleep in moderation.

ARTHUR'LL LEAD YOU THROUGH.
(With apologies to the Tory publicity committee.)

When the rust is on the wheat-stem
And the crop is grading low;
When the price of wheat is dropping
To twenty cents or so;
When your banker says he's sorry
But your notes are overdue;
Then keep on a-smiling for Arthur'll lead you through!

When your stocks are frozen under
And the coal bin's getting low;
When your chimney smokes like blazes
And the fires refuse to go;
When your youngest croupy youngster
Wants to walk the floor with you;
Just keep on a-smiling for Arthur'll lead you through!

When your heavy milkier dries up
Or your best horse casts a shoe;
When you find your gas tank empty
With gas at fifty-two;
When the whole world seems against you—
And the outlook's black and blue;
Why, keep on a-smiling for Arthur'll lead you through!

When you see your cattle starving
And your hungry children cry;
When your loyal, little helpmate
Touches kerchief to her eye;
When you'd give the world to soothe them—
What's the best thing you can do?
Tell 'em to keep on smiling for Arthur'll lead you through!

NO. 29—SLANTING FOREHEAD
PLUS PROMINENT CHIN.

In a previous article it has been shown that in a combination of slanting forehead and receding chin that these two indications emphasize each other and besides indicate an ability to think quickly, with quick reaction of the nervous and physical to the mental characteristics.

What then is denoted by a combination of the slanting forehead with the prominent chin?

First of all, to a certain extent the two neutralize each other. You wouldn't read the extremeness of mental characteristics in a sloping-browed person when accompanied by the prominent chin as with a receding chin.

Likewise the prominent chin doesn't indicate quite the same slowness of reaction when the receding forehead is above it as when the bulging brow ac-

For the rest, the combination of the receding forehead and the prominent chin indicates quickness of mental process coupled with deliberation of action. The combination is a strong one in the battle of life, and other things being equal, those possessing it are likely to win in that battle.

It is interesting to note that it is a combination rather usual among Jews, whose success, often in the midst of adverse conditions, is a matter of history and common knowledge the world over.

TALK OF ORGANIZING
LABOR WOMEN NEXTWant To Line Up Mr. Mould's Supporters.

Following the lead of the Liberal women and of the Conservative women in organizing to give effective support to their party standard-bearers in the election campaign, the Labor women of London are considering definite steps in this direction within the next few days. The visit of Miss Mary McNab, first vice-president of the Canadian Labor party, over the week-end, has aroused much interest, it is stated, and on Sunday afternoon fully two-thirds of the audience was made up of women, and one-third Saturday and Sunday evenings.

A large percentage of the wives of Labor men, according to a local leader, are in sympathy with the movement, and behind the candidature of Mr. Arthur Mould. Provided sanction can be obtained from the Canadian Labor party, a mass meeting of Labor women of the city will be called this week or early next for the purpose of organizing a Women's Labor Party in London.

WE are all inclined to be careless, some of us more than others. Because of this trait we have stepped into much trouble that could have been avoided by a little thought.

We start by being careless in little ways, for example, being late for appointments, and by degree the habit grows on us. Only when it is too late and we are suffering from its evil effects do we realize that we possessed it.

The neglected cold, which becomes pneumonia, is due to carelessness; the boy who is caught with the gang is the result of carelessness on the part of parents. So is the wayward daughter the fruit of carelessness on the part of the mother who thought "the girl can take care of herself."

When shall we learn to be careful—rather than when shall we learn to be

For some twelve or thirteen years ago, the auxiliary has had but one president, Lady Beck. Owing to her frequent absence from the city, few meetings had been held within the past year.

The auxiliary looks after the linen and such household supplies for the sanatorium, and in the past has provided a Christmas tree and rendered other service. Discussion takes place today with regard to Christmas plans.

Must a mother lose a child before she learns to keep her children out of danger? Must a home be broken before the man or the woman realizes that love and devotion cannot thrive on thoughtlessness?

We have all been careless and most of us are suffering the consequences already, but we will suffer more as time goes on unless we grow more thoughtful.

The holiday was a very quiet day for the Y. W. C. A. both at the Wellington street residence and at "Lemmore" on King street. The majority of the girls had gone home or visiting for the Thanksgiving week-end, hence no special plans were made or entertainments arranged.

OVERSEAS CHAPTER MEETS.
The Overseas Chapter, I. O. D. E. meets today at "Lemmore" at the King street residence of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Emma O'Brien of Guelph spent the holiday in London.

Miss Betty Brown, Flint, Mich., is a guest with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dyer, Elmwood avenue.

Mr. K. Mayhew, Windsor, spent the week-end in London, the guest of Mr. Roy Rich, Piccadilly street.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Graham, Elizabeth street, entertained Miss Dorothy McKay and her sister of the Winnipeg Kiddies during their engagement in the city.

Mr. Cedric E. McCann, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. McCann of London, has been moved from the Dunville branch of the Bank of Commerce to the main branch at Ottawa.

A Thanksgiving luncheon dance was held at the Kennels Monday, for which many parties were arranged, about 100 guests being present. The rooms were gay with open grate fires, and brightly colored autumn foliage was effectively throughout the rooms and on the tables. Immediately after lunch the dancing commenced, and lasted throughout the afternoon until the tea-hour.

The pupils of Alexandra School held a jolly party last week at the Simcoe Hotel. The feature of the afternoon was a relay race on roller skates in which two teams picked from the best skaters took part. Several solos and recitations were given by the pupils. After the skating refreshments were served. Miss M. McGregor and Mr. C. March acted as joint convener of the party.

The heart of many a masculine "Frisbie" and fair-clothed is a flutter today over the big social function on the tapis, the annual reception to the freshmen, which takes place in the Masonic Temple. Hosts and hostesses of the occasion are members of such august bodies as the board of governors, the faculty of the Western, the students' council of the College of Arts and the Hippocratic Society of the Medical School. Mrs. W. S. Fox, Mrs. McKibben, Miss Hill and Mrs. Waller, representing the faculty, and Mr. Ted McMahon, Mr. Ormie Smith, Miss Lois Black and Miss Rose Sanders, the student executive, are receiving.

A bright social event of the holiday was the dance given by Mrs. W. D. Thomas in the Masonic Hall in honor of the coming out of her daughter, Miss Reta Thomas. Mrs. Thomas, who wore a gown of blue tulle and a corsage of black satin, and a corsage of blue roses, was assisted in receiving the numerous guests by Mrs. Strongman, gown in amethyst, chapeau and georgette, and Miss Anita Strongman, who wore a gown of blue and silver tulle and a corsage of blue and white orchids.

Three-Piece Suit Is Attractive

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The three-piece suit has attained a degree of popularity this season which carried the mode into the most elegant of costumes.

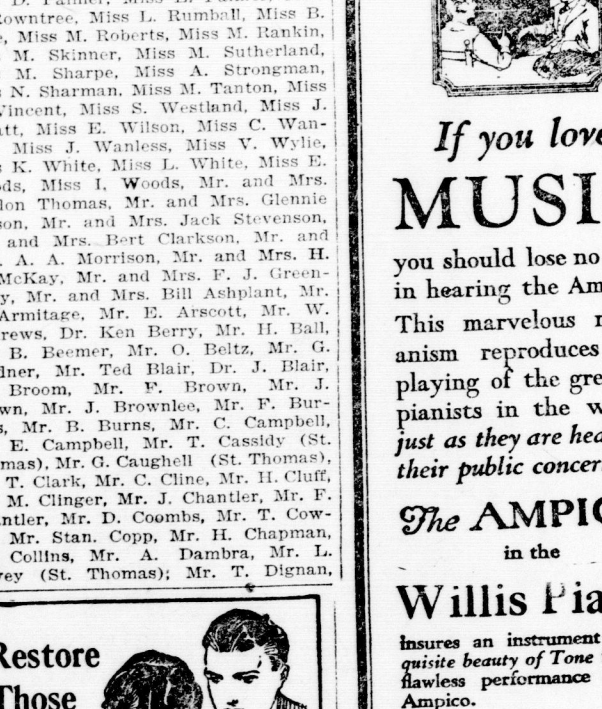

Not only the practical and the conservative effects are achieved in this combination of gown and coat, but the most bizarre and gorgeous limits are reached.

A recent creation of silver and black brocade accentuates this gorgeousness.

The heart of many a masculine "Frisbie" and fair-clothed is a flutter today over the big social function on the tapis, the annual reception to the freshmen, which takes place in the Masonic Temple. Hosts and hostesses of the occasion are members of such august bodies as the board of governors, the faculty of the Western, the students' council of the College of Arts and the Hippocratic Society of the Medical School. Mrs. W. S. Fox, Mrs. McKibben, Miss Hill and Mrs. Waller, representing the faculty, and Mr. Ted McMahon, Mr. Ormie Smith, Miss Lois Black and Miss Rose Sanders, the student executive, are receiving.

A bright social event of the holiday was the dance given by Mrs. W. D. Thomas in the Masonic Hall in honor of the coming out of her daughter, Miss Reta Thomas. Mrs. Thomas, who wore a gown of blue tulle and a corsage of black satin, and a corsage of blue roses, was assisted in receiving the numerous guests by Mrs. Strongman, gown in amethyst, chapeau and georgette, and Miss Anita Strongman, who wore a gown of blue and silver tulle and a corsage of blue and white orchids.

Confessions of a Movie Star

CHAPTER 15.—I DREAD FIRST BEDROOM SCENE

MOTHERDEAR didn't sleep very well that night. More than once I realized that she was arranging a cover over me. In the early dawn she drew the shades so that I could sleep late. So much trouble she took for me! All the money I was earning didn't make life a bit easier for her. The higher I climbed and the harder I worked, the harder I made life for her. Once I told her so and she replied:

"Why, little daughter, that's what a mother is for!"

I did not know about that but I could see that I never could earn a salary of six figures if Motherdear had not been behind me with her own special brand of morale.

I had one regret connected with Rose's dinner: I hadn't asked her with whom Cissy Sheldon had fallen so violently in love.

It really didn't matter to me so much as an explanation of what was making Cissy so dependable. I was grateful to any girl who could perform that miracle. It helped my own work tremendously to have Cissy arrive on time at the studio, and be wide awake when he arrived.

I wanted to know the girl to whom I was so indebted. Certainly it was no body in the studios. I named them over, Cissy had flitted outrageously with some of our beauties. And more than one of them complained, with Ginette, that Cissy was a piker! He wasn't spending a dollar on a girl where formerly he had spent ten!

What a man spent on an evening's entertainment seemed to be the only measure they had for a man.

I was glad Cissy was reforming because "Love in Lash" was a strenuous play. I didn't want any relaxes.

There was a bedroom scene. Motherdear had objected and she and Demaison had talked it over, and she admitted that the theatre owners and managers demanded such stuff and that probably I couldn't evade the demand any longer.

The bedroom scene would go into the reel as "a vision."

I belonged to the eighties in the play. I was the heroine, her mother, and her grandmother. I was to wear a nightgown of old style which buttoned high about the throat and had long full sleeves with close cuffs. It was of coral-colored satin—it would "sloot" a pure white. It was so quaint that I loved it.

Dick was to be the villain, who after a struggle in my room, would strangle me, Othello fashion.

Cissy was to come to the rescue. In a break-away set which would permit the villain to escape from him. That was the vision. Two generations later, Cissy would arrive on time and as our own descendants, we would settle the family feud forever.

I was happy to postpone the love scenes with Cissy as long as possible. I couldn't bear to think of them, after the revealing kiss which had completed our last picture. It had been an initiation in an emotion hitherto unknown to me. It gave me a hint, at last, of Motherdear's rule for boys and girls: Hands off!

But I think I dreaded the bedroom scene most on account of Dick's part in it.

WITH THE BRIDES

SMITH-McDOUGALL.

A pretty wedding took place at nine o'clock on Monday morning, at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Veronica Lucie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. McDougall, was married to Henry Arvid Smith, son of Mrs. Smith and the late Mr. W. H. Smith, Monsignor O'Connor officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a smart suit of brown duvetyne trimmed with moleskin, a duvetyne hat and a corsage of orchids and Ophelia roses. Miss Kathleen Smith, who was bridesmaid, wore a suit of taupe duvetyne and hat to match and a corsage of Sunset roses. Dr. Bernard McDougall, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Immediately after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on a honeymoon to New York, and upon their return will reside in London. Among those present at the wedding were, Mrs. J. B. McDougall, groomed in navy blue tulle and a smart feather hat; Mrs. Smith, wearing black chapeau and roses.

Foolish Virgins
Not All DeadWant to Vote, Failed to Register, Get
One More Chance.

With all the warnings given in the press and the reminders from public platforms there was a number of foolish virgins in London who failed to register until the doors of the booths were closed on Saturday night. Were their names on the voters' list? They didn't know. What they realized on Thanksgiving morning was that if they had lost a chance to exercise the franchise they had themselves to blame for it. Was there any loop-hole, any second chance?

Inquiries to this effect made a busy holiday Monday at Hyman Hall, the headquarters of Mr. C. R. Somerville, where the women's committee members were besieged with questions by telephone. At that, it was as the full force of a storm, the tidal wave of inquiries which almost overwhelmed the dozen or so people kept on duty all day long on Saturday. And the significant feature was that the major part of the inquiries were with regard to registration were women voters.

Though registration booths ceased to function on Saturday evening, there is still one more chance for the woman who was prevented from registering last week, or allowed her opportunity to slip away for her. The court of revision opens in the court house on Tuesday, Nov. 15th, at 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., with Mr. J. B. McDougall as revising officer. By presenting herself in person she may get her name on the list, provided she possesses the necessary qualifications.

HARD OILS BEAT SARNIA 7 AND SEW UP THE GROUP

PLAY-OFF OF OLD RIVALS WILL BE STAGED HERE

Hamilton Tigers defeat Toronto Varsity 4 to 3

Wilson of Petrolia Punted, Got Possession, Dashed For Touch and Converted It—Sarnia Held On Three Bucks On Petrolia's 2-Yard Line.

PETROLIA, Nov. 7.—The Petrolia Intermediates defeated Sarnia here today by a score of 11 to 7, and thus tied with the Blue and White for the group leadership. Despite the slippery condition of the field there were few fumbles and play was fast throughout. Both teams played well defensively and few gains were made through the line. The best piece of defensive work was shown in the third quarter, when Sarnia secured the ball on Petrolia's 2-yard line and failed to put it over on three downs. At last, Wilson, following down and Copeland and given better protection in getting his kicks away.

Sarnia Scores First.
In the game, when Howard kicked into touch behind Petrolia's goal line. The Hard Oil then assumed the offensive and backed the Sarnians right up to the yard line. Wilson, who was in the shadow of the goal, put three successive kicks blocked, the third time Calvin dropping on the ball for a touchdown. Wilson failed to convert. The second quarter started out fairly even, both teams kicking frequently. At last, Wilson, following down on one of his own kicks, picked it up before the Sarnia backs got near it and ran yards for a touchdown, which he converted himself. This was one of the best plays of the game.

Real Defense.
Sarnia started off with a rush in the second half and backed their way down

SMOKE CAPTURES HAMILTON RACE

Negotiates Nineteen Miles in Less Than Two Hours.

HAMILTON, Nov. 7.—Albert Smoke, the Peterboro Indian, today won the annual road race around Hamilton Bay. The race was over a distance of 19 miles, 168 yards. Smoke finishing in 1:50:04. The record for the run is held by Jimmy Duffy, who made the run in 1912 in 1:46:15. Today there were 19 starters. Arthur R. Scholes, Toronto, taking second place; James Dellow, Toronto, who won the race last year, came in third, while Norman General, a Brantford Indian, was fourth. While the day was pleasant enough overhead for the runners, recent rains had made the route hard to negotiate, and the time was considered good under prevailing conditions. The winner finished as fresh as though he had only been out for a short sprint.

L. O. B. A. MEETS IN WOODSTOCK

Lady Basketeers' Second Annual Due Next Saturday.

The second annual meeting of the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association, which is held in Woodstock, will not be held in London, but in Woodstock, according to an announcement made by the president, Miss Carrie Blackwell, yesterday.

More teams are certainly this year, but it is impossible to figure just what the make-up of the circuit will be, at this time. Ontario has put an entry in, and one which came unexpectedly. Hamilton, Oshawa and Toronto teams would have made a compact grouping, but there is a possibility of Hamilton not being in this year, owing to the breaking-up of the Browns. Windsor is also a possibility, and Stratford will have a team.

Schedules.

McDonald Hall girls had considered an entry, but found that the schedule would make considerable inroads in their school work. Western University, however, will put in a team, as far as is known, with Thistles, and a pair of champions from this city.

Home and home games will likely be even if there are enough teams for two groups, as most of the teams seem to favor this arrangement.

ON THE ALLEYS

Three new leagues started up at the National alleys during the past week, the Orient Club League, Hydro League and Liggett's League. There are six five-man teams in the Hydro League, while Liggett's have a two-man affair with seven teams.

McLean led Liggett's with an average over 155 and Burns of the "Jonties" was second with an average of 140.

In the Manhattan Club League the Cubs are still at the top with the Giants and Tigers a game behind. The Pirates and Hunters are tie for third place. None of the Giants, and Spettig of the Hunters are tie for last week's honors with 572 apiece. Johnstone rolled the big single of 248.

The 414's of the D. S. C. R. League won three games from the 415's, and 62's managed to take two out of three from the 76's. Dr. Campbell was the big contributor with 648 and high single clear 281. Bowlers over the separator and Moulding Shops, three straight. The big hitter was H. Brown with a total of 187. In this period, A. J. Fraser was next with a count of 631.

There is a nice fight on in the Forest City League, between the first five teams. Thistles and D. S. C. R. clubs are tie for first honors. H. Scheiding turned in this season's biggest score, 176, and incidentally won the league prize for the highest score. B. Marley, captain of Civil Service, was next with 177.

The Nationals of the National Ten-Pin League continue to show good play. They will play their first challenge game in the McCullum Cup series some time this month.

All teams in the City Ten-Pin League are bunched together. A surprise is promised Saturday night when the Albas meet the Elks.

The Cowan trophy game starts at 6:45 Saturday night. Smith and Fox vs. Ferris and T. Crawford. McCormick and Karrys lost to Fox and Smith last Saturday night in this trophy event.

SWANSEA ELEVEN WINS FROM NORTHAMPTON

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—By a score of 17 to 5, Swansea today defeated Northampton in the scheduled rugby fixture. In the game between Oxford University and Newport, the latter won by a score of 12 to 11.

Neither Rotherham or Barnsley scored a goal in the soccer fixture of the second division of the Association League.

OWNS BUT DOESN'T BET THEM

John E. Madden, famous turfman, and two of his horses. Right, Sir Martin, left, Hamburg, famous sire.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 7.—Could you practically live on a racetrack and never bet a single cent?
Could you develop and sell race horses and never bet a cent to back them up?
Could you race a race horse and still never bet on him?
It is not impossible, John Edward Madden, the most famous and leading breeder and racer of thoroughbred race horses on the American continent does all of this, and still more.

He has a farm at Lexington, Ky., 2,000 acres of the finest blue grass land. He has other large interest and possesses a large fortune—but not one cent of this has ever been made through betting on race horses, notwithstanding that he has bet a lot of money on them. Madden as a boy turned his early fancy to the trotting horse. He came to Lexington in 1883 and from that time to this he has been the leader of the racing world.

Just Between Us

By C. L. S.

The resignation of George Maines from the presidency of the Mint League was received with unqualified pleasure by London fans. The operation which caused the removal was not a particularly painful one, or was it long drawn out. On good authority it is suspected that Mr. Maines had an idea of continuing on for a while longer, but he was picked up by the league and he was a little bit of a surprise to the league. As president, especially during the first year, Maines' work in connection with organization and unifying the league spirit was valuable. Unfortunately, he did not wear well, but he at least provided the minor league baseball world with a president-in-fact that had many picturesque angles to it.

If disarmament goes through, there'll be no shipyards, and where will the baseball players soldier in the next war?

Johnny Wilson's idea of inflicting is to keep cheeky challengers from being too familiar.

Since there are no more saloons, what's a poor prize fighter to do, once he's made his pile?

A lot of ambitious heavies would like to call Jack Dempsey to a disarmament conference.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Opening: Wheat—Dec. $1.03 1/2; May, $1.08 1/2; Oats—Dec. 46 1/2c; May, 52 1/2c; Corn—Dec. 32 1/2c; May, 37 1/2c.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Fresh strength developed in the wheat market today during the early trading. Houses with seaboard connections were leading buyers and received the offerings. Dry weather complaints from the Southwest counted as a bullish factor. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2c higher, were followed by material gains all around.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. Seaboard exporters were bidding for cash corn here. After opening 1/2c to 3/4c higher, the corn market hardened further.

Oats started unchanged to 1/4c higher and then made additional gains.

FLOUR.
MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—Flour, unchanged. Shipments 65,332 barrels.

LIVE STOCK
Toronto, Nov. 8.—Cattle—Receipts, 5,317. The interior quality of cattle is holding the market drabgy this morning. Heavy and butcher cattle are wanted by the packers, but they are very scarce. One head sold for 35c, and a few single animals for 6c. These seemed to be the pick of the market. No good heavy steers are offered, and it is hard to say what they would bring today. Cows are steady at 40c for choice. Calves are in demand at 2c. Prospects are for a fair clean-up at prices steady with last week. ## E. HANNAH CHOSEN HEAD OF O. C. T. A.

Annual Election of Officers Held by Travelers' Association.

At a largely attended meeting of the Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association, held in their rooms, in the Dominion Savings Building, on Saturday last, the following officers for 1922
were elected by acclamation: President, E. N. Hannah, London; 1st vice-president, A. F. E. Harley, London; 2nd
vice-president, A. E. Cowley, London; 3rd vice-president, C. G. Secord, Brantford.

The following were nominated for directors, seven to be elected as candidates: G. C. English, of Geo. C.
English & Son; J. H. Grierson, of Geo.
C. English, Granger & Co.; A. W. Howe,
of International Harvester Co.; H. V.
Kennedy, of D. S. Perkins Co.; J. H.
Laughton, of The Canadian Bag Co.;
D. S. McGowan, of I. X. L. Spice Co.;
A. A. Morrison, of Greenhills, Ltd.;
A. J. Smith, of London Printing
& Litho Co.; W. E. Watson, of Helena Costume Co.

G. Morley Adams, retiring from the presidency after two years of successful service as chief executive, reported the association as being in a very flourishing condition. The membership for this year he said was 3,528, and the capital account had passed the half million dollar mark.

The organization, with head office in this city, he claimed, did a business
from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean and had as members many American travelers who had business connections in Canada.

Mr. Hannah, the president-elect, was first vice-president for the past two years and served on the board of management for several years. His appointment proved a popular one with the membership at large.

The following outside directors were appointed: G. W. Sulman, of Chat-lam; W. G. Milne, of Galt; H. B. Callander, of Guelph; R. B. Griffith, of Hamilton; Harry Tolton, of Kitchener;
W. D. Martin, of Stratford; L. W.
Hamblin, of St. Thomas; W. T. Good-
son, of Sarnia; G. B. Lindsay, of Toronto; J. H. McGuire, of Windsor; M.
E. Sherwood, of Woodstock.

Marion Davies Begins To Show Promise As Film Actress

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—"Enchantment" is the first picture in which Marion Davies proves she has more than mere beauty to claim recognition
as a movie actress.

There are two classes of movie stars,
those who forge to the front rank of performers by the sheer merit of their performances and those upon whom thousands of dollars have been lavished to make their names familiar.

Marion Davies belongs to the latter class. Columns of space have been used to extol her praises. Despite that,
her performances have never risen
above mediocrity until now.

It is not meant by this that Miss Davies by this one performance takes rank with the best actresses of the screen. She did almost as well as Constance Talmadge, Viola Dana or Shirley Mason might have done with the same role.

"Enchantment" is the screen title
for "Manhandling Ethel," Frank R.
Adams' story. It is a modern "Taming of the Shrew." The shrew in this case is an upish flapper who consents to be seen in public with her parents provided they remain in the background.

She believes Cleopatra had little on her in the matter of vamping the men.
In fact, were Cleopatra living, she might learn a trick or two from this modern siren.

Her father, thinking to bring her to her senses, engages an actor to make love to her. The actor is to win her love and then scorn her.

That was a good idea, but it didn't work. The actor couldn't scorn her.
So he married her.

Tom Davies, as the flapper's fat-ther, gives the play many a humorous little twist. Forrest Stanley, the hero, is his usual pleasing self.

MARION DAVIES. She has beauty of features, but displayed little ability as an actress until she appeared in "Enchantment."

One such title is "I told her stories that would straighten the most permanent wave that ever was curled."

Channel. It was smooth sailing at the start, but as the picture related, "in-mid-channel it was mighty rough." And so with the Blundell marital craft.

The picture was beautifully staged.
The settings were masterpieces. The goings of Clara Kimball Young as good as a fashion review. The story has been screened so often, that it usually calls for something a little different to put it over in these days. "Mid-channel" did not sparkle with innovations of this order, but some very true sayings mingled with the picture, gave it added punch.

It's a good moral lesson, especially as the story is quite true of present-day life, especially when it is noted that the heart-yearning of the wife was for but a baby, and the lack of which led her to seek other diversions and amusements.

Three acts of vaudeville, very much of the usual brand, but nevertheless entertaining, shared the honors of the bill with the head picture. "Fascination," a little sketch by three people, was quite unique in its staging. Stanley and Winthrop, a singing and dancing turn, and Arnold and Arnold, in a take-

Noel Teale as Tranto, the radical editor, Robert Harrigan as John Culver, who didn't want his future political career hampered by a hereditary title,
and Emily Lorraine as Culver's stenographer, all accomplished creditable work.

Ernest Cossart as the ex-convict and
the only genuine Sampson Straight in the United Kingdom, who was almost
made a baronet, handled a character
role splendidly. Agnes Atherton as maid had a minor role.

Modern psychological and physiological efficiency systems, along with journalism, are the butt of some good-natured bantering. "The Government,"
however, is the main target, and it is attacked only up to a certain stage,
for not even its bitterest opponents want the Government to fall, lest they should have "to step into its shoes."

Canada. Ivan, the boy, is befriended
by a rich Canadian girl.
The immigrant is a musician and wins
the favor of his new-found benefactor.
After many hard battles, the enemy of the family is conquered and the bright future looms up. Ivan, of course, marries the Canadian girl.

A fairly good comedy entitled, "Law
and Order," starring the inimitable Snub Pollard, is shown. In addition there is an Allen News film and travelogue.

AT LOEW'S.
The standing-room only holiday
crowds at Loew's were treated to an old story presented in a new way. It was titled "Mid-Channel" and is really the portrayal of the rocks and storms which Zoe Blundell (Clara Kimball Young),
and her husband's marital craft was called upon to weather when prosperity came to them.

The opening was rather unique. The story was launched with a parable. It

Versatile Players at Grand Offer Arnold Bennett Satire

"The Title," a Scintillating Comedy, Attacks Journalism and Political Expediency With Menacing Ferocity, But Cools To Benevolent Tolerance Towards Both.

A remarkable demonstration of clever knife-throwing combined with a temporary simulation of deadliness and ferocity—such is "The Title," a brilliant satirical comedy by Arnold Bennett, which a fairly capable company of English players, including Lumsden Hare and Selene Johnston, presented at the Grand Theatre last night on Monday.

Political government and public administration generally, constitute the target all around which the dramatist hurls his infinitesimally fine-edged knives, pinning each deftly in place within a hair's breadth of vulnerability in the target. But Arnold Bennett only plays at being a revolutionist.

In the happy ending he shows his compassion and benevolence, and bitter indeed must be the radical who can see the final curtain fall without complaining that after all titles are innocent, ingenious, although rather puerile things.

Perhaps to be a trifle lackadaisical, but unusual lackadaisical in other scenes or lines might counter-balance what few weak moments there were. And not even in the minor parts was there any blemish of stilted or mechanical work.

Lumsden Hare, as Culver, the controller of accounts, who refuses, accepts, refuses and again accepts the baronetcy from which the play is named, according to his democratic instincts, his wife's feminine foibles, his children's "advanced" ideas, or simple patriotic duty dictate in turn, was excellent throughout.

Selene Johnston as Mrs. Culver, who believed "good cookery was next in importance to the Christian religion,"
and so much wanted to hear her parlor
maid call her "Lady," rose to brilliance in her work in the second act, and ended her part with striking versatility.

Shiela Courtenay as the daughter,
who writes radical articles under the pen-name of "Sampson Straight," went through her role with verve and fire,
at times accentuated in scintillating
flashes of superb ability.

Ernest Cossart as the ex-convict and
the only genuine Sampson Straight in
the United Kingdom, who was almost
made a baronet, handled a character
role splendidly. Agnes Atherton as

AT THE PATRICIA.

Capacity audiences at the Patricia Theatre Monday were delighted with the all-round holiday program presented, which will be repeated Tuesday and Wednesday. Undoubtedly it is the best bill seen at this theatre in many weeks, being overflowing with refreshing entertainment.

The film feature, entitled "Steel-heart," starring William Duncan and Edith Johnson, is a rugged drama of the West. The plot possesses an excellent basis, upon which the producers,
with a capable cast, have constructed out. Several situations, while of a dramatic nature, are not overdone, and by this means the enthusiasm of the audience is maintained at a high pitch.

The story deals with a young girl,
Edith Johnson, who is forced to marry on the day of her marriage. She seeks solace in a Western town, which has sprung up on the right-of-way of a new railroad. Here she finds a man who fulfills her ideal, only to suffer
an appearance, and again attempts to wreck her life.

However, his machinations are brought to a standstill after running a short but harrowing course. With her Nemesis eliminated she attains her life ambition, a husband whom she can love. Possibly the most thrilling incident in the entire production is the scene depicting William Duncan and Edith Johnson buried under an avanchance of stones and debris, momentarily awaiting the blast which will blow them
to eternity when the switch is thrown to remove the earth.

A two-reel Western drama, "The Cowpuncher's Comeback," and a Universal Comedy complete the screen bill.
Three juveniles present a comedy singing and character dancing act, which took the house by storm. The talent demonstrated by these kiddies is very credible, particularly toe dancing by a tiny tot, who learned to walk but a few months ago. This trio possess good

A Doctor's Vision Realized

Toronto Product in World Wide Demand
The very month that the great war broke out, Dr. Robt. G. Jackson placed ROMAN MEAL, made in Toronto, on the Canadian market. Because it was a balanced food made from whole wheat and rye cut into little granules and blended with bran and flaxseed, the doctor dreamed of seeing it sold all over the English-speaking world. But war came and substitutes and wheat control swept ROMAN MEAL for a time almost from the market. Yet the demand has survived and to-day it is shipped to Britain, South Africa, Australia, and Hong Kong, Glasgow, Scotland, has recently had several carloads.

A $5,000,000 corporation has been organized to market this Canadian product in the United States. Its Canadian sales are coming back by leaps and bounds, and Dr. Jackson's dream is fast being realized.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHTS

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following symptoms present themselves: nervous headaches, a restless and unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with frightful dreams, avoidance of crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, etc.

When the nerves become affected in

PORTUGAL GRANTS USE OF ISLAND FOR CHARLES

LISBON, Nov. 7.—The Portuguese Government has granted permission for the deportation of ex-Emperor Charles of Austria, the former empress and their children to Funchal, Madeira Island, where they will take up their residence.

Their home hereafter will probably be in the wing of an enormous building at Funchal, which was intended as a sanatorium when it was constructed some years ago by a group of German financiers. The building was never finished because of a disagreement between the Portuguese Government and the Germans, and the place has been without occupants.
