59TH YEAR. NO. 23357 LONDON, ONTARIO, THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 8, 1922. SIXTEEN PAGES PRICE, THREE CENTS

CITY GAS BILLS AWAIT FATE OF RATE BOOST

Will Complete Sewer In London West In 10 Days

CITY ENGINEER CLAIMS SYSTEM ALMOST READY

Official Declares Cost of Work "Away Less" Than Estimate of $520,000.

SERVES ENTIRE DISTRICT

Westerly Limit of Breakwater Only Portion Not Included.

Within a period of ten days, citizens of West London will be provided with a sanitary sewer system which has taken about one year to complete, and is the first municipal sanitary sewer provided for the district.

Such was the announcement of City Engineer H. A. Brazier Wednesday, who states that according to present plans, the pumping station for this system will be initially operated by the end of next week. This important improvement to West London was estimated to cost $520,000, but the engineer states that the actual cost is "away less."

Not Available at Present.

Figures on the actual cost of this system which will serve residences on every street in West London with the exception of unpopulated sections on the city limits are not available at present.

Operation of the new pumping station situated at Douglas and Cavendish streets indicates that every house served by the sewer system may be connected up with the city pipes this month. This means increased value for West London residential property by the addition of sanitary sewer conveniences, which have hitherto been denied taxpayers of that district.

The sections not served by the sanitary sewers are those streets on the city limits, one side of which are in the township, and a section on the north bank of the river, west of the westerly limit of the breakwater.

The latter section is known as the flats and although, three streets have been surveyed there, Mr. Brazier points out that no residences have been built because this area is flooded by the Thames overflowing every spring.

It is situated west of the pumping station

"We hope to have the system completed and the pumping station in operation by the end of next week," said Mr. Brazier Wednesday. "That means that practically every house in West London can be connected up with the street sewer immediately after that time."

Will Not Be Ready.

"The section this side of the river along Thames street, which is to be connected with the London West sanitary sewer system, will not be ready because siphons across the river at York and Dundas streets are not completed. However this will not interfere with London West."

"In London West there is one section not served, which is the flats outside the west limit of the breakwater. This section of two or three streets is below the water mark, and is flooded every year. There are no houses in that area."

The sewer which proceeds along Thames street across the river to the London West system, serves a portion of London South in the vicinity of Ridout and York street bridges.

8 College Women Enter Lists For Laundry Job

LONDON, June 8. — Eight women holding degrees in Oxford, Cambridge and other English universities, underwent a competitive examination yesterday for a position in a London laundry, the duties to consist of answering telephone inquiries.

The manager of the laundry, which is connected with a big hotel, recently advertised for "a courteous, even tempered, patient gentlewoman to answer the telephone," and received more than 800 applications for the position, which carries a salary of $1,200 a year.

Nearly all the applicants possessed the qualification of a university education, which the advertisement demanded.

The manager explains that the "job essentially requires judgment and tact of a high order, and the applicant must be able to control the office."

EXPECT CUT ON DOMINION ROADS

Local Railway Workers Look For Reduction of Eight Per Cent.

Thought Action of U. S. Board Likely To Affect Dominion.

In local railway circles today, the belief is expressed that all classes of railway workers on the Canadian railroads will see a general reduction in wages amounting to about 8 per cent. It is thought likely that the two wage cuts by the United States railway board will affect directly the Canadian situation.

An announcement to this effect is expected from the Canadian Railway Association within the next week or two.

The belief is expressed that railway shopmen in London will not accept this reduction in wages if it is forced upon them by the Canadian railways, and in all events it is expected that a strike vote will be taken by the men if the reduction is attempted.

Joseph Corbett, general chairman of the Grand Trunk car men of Canada, is at present in Montreal in the interests of the shopmen, and word is expected from him within the next few days stating whether or not the Canadian railways are contemplating a cut in the wages of the shopmen.

Up to the present the four running railway trades, firemen, engineers, trainmen and conductors have not been affected by a reduction in wages.

TO HOLD INQUEST INTO NEAR KILLING

An inquest into the death of Christina Near, who was shot and killed by Gordon Dibsdale in the late afternoon of May 30, will be held in the police station tonight at 8 o'clock. Dibsdale is at present in the county jail recuperating from slight, self-inflicted wounds.

VICTORIAN ORDER MEETS.

MOLDS LIVES OF SUCCESSFUL LONDON MEN FOR 50 YEARS

Alexander McQueen, Ryerson Street School Principal, Will Complete Teaching Career At End of Month, Which Is Older Than the Dominion of Canada Itself.

Alexander McQueen, principal of Ryerson street school, whose resignation becomes effective the end of June, has completed a teaching career which is older than the Dominion of Canada itself.

When Mr. McQueen commenced teaching in January, 1867, six months before this country became the Dominion of Canada, what afterwards became Victoria School, was then only school section No. 2 of Westminster, and lay in the midst of a rich farming country.

The fifty years during which he taught there saw the district become one of the finest residential sections of London, and as each eighth grade left school, there left with it boys who were destined to become outstanding figures in the life of not only London, but the Dominion.

Practically all the professions have been enriched by men who were at one time pupils at Victoria School.

Arthur Stringer, famous among Canadian literary men, whose books are widely read and whose articles on Canadian life are accepted everywhere, spent his childhood in London and mastered his early conception of the English language in the old Victoria School.

Geo. Smith, one of the finest of Canadian students, who won the Rhodes scholarship in Alberta and represented the province of Alberta at Oxford, later becoming associated with Toronto University, acquired his first knowledge of the three R's under Mr. McQueen.

Attain Prominence.

Amongst outstanding medical men in both Canada and the United States Mr. McQueen's pupils are to be found.

For many years the presentation of the gold medal awarded the graduate carrying off the highest honors at the Western Medical School reflected credit on the classes of Mr. McQueen.

The first to win the medal was Leonard Rowntree, who later became a professor in Johns Hopkins University, and is now associated with Mayo brothers, the eminent surgeons of Rochester, Minnesota.

Dr. Leonard Pritchett and Dr. Wallace Morrison, both winners of scholarships offered by Bellevue Hospital, New York, attended Victoria School, as did Dr. J. R. N. Childs, Dr. Norman Alexander, Dr. John Ferguson and Dr. Evans Davies, eminent practitioners of London.

Dr. Fuller McPherson, now practising in Edmonton, was another of Mr. McQueen's pupils who made himself an outstanding figure in the profession he had chosen.

Many Won Fame.

Victoria School made its contributions to London business life in men who are identified with the progress of the city's commerce, for example, Ray Lawson of the firm of Lawson & Jones; Bryden and Kent Campbell, prominent insurance men; Norman Keene of Keene Bros.' furniture store; Thomas, Edward and William Geary of Wm. Geary & Sons, planing mills, York street, and Charles and Gordon Hunt of Hunt Bros., Limited.

Two other Hunt boys, John and William, who attended Victoria school, have entered the profession of law.

Fred Greenless, lawyer, of this city, was also one of Mr. McQueen's pupils.

"I have pleasant recollections of all my classes," Mr. McQueen said, "but to remember the names of all who have made names for themselves is beyond me. Some time ago, though, when I made a tour of the West, I found pupils of Victoria school in almost every town, and most of them were occupying responsible positions."

Distinctive Names.

Mr. McQueen is the originator of the practice of giving each of the city schools a distinctive name. After he had taught at school section No. 2, Westminster, for many years, it became one of the city schools, and was known as Askin street school. Mr. McQueen felt, however, that to obtain a proper name for the school would lend inspiration and objective to the pupils, and after he had petitioned the board of

KIDDIES PICNIC AT SPRINGBANK

Happy Pupils of London Separate Schools Make Merry On Glorious Day.

Mothers' Clubs Attend to Luncheon While Children Engage in Sports.

With "shining morning" faces and stiffly clean garments, stout, well-filled lunch boxes tucked under their arms, and the ribbons of their school gaily floating from sleeve or cap, eleven hundred children of the Roman Catholic separate schools in the city set out for Springbank Thursday morning.

As soon as busy mothers could get them ready, the first batches of happy young ones set out for the park, and the old cries of "Soda water, soda water, ginger ale and pop," etc., began to sound lustily on the air. The ride to Springbank, "just like being on a train," one youngster exclaimed, is in itself one of the finest treats of the picnic. Loud cries of delight filled the cars as the youngsters came to the coves and caught sight of the pond lilies, just coming into bloom, and their enthusiasm knew no bounds when the cars reached the Springbank zoo, and they saw the deer, rabbits, buffaloes and birds.

Arrived at Springbank, the youngsters having disposed of lunch boxes by turning them over to the mothers' club of each school, who are looking after the luncheon phases of the picnic, gathered to watch the events of the morning, a series of baseball games for both girls and boys. The girls of the Sacred Heart School encountered the girls of St. Mary's, and Form L of St. Angela's matched themselves against a team of girls picked from the rest of the school. The boys' games were between the cathedral sanctuary and the city sanctuaries, and Grade V versus Grade VI. After dinner the game was played off between the winners of the girls' teams. The boys of the first-year high school played against all other grades. At 3 p.m., the races started on the main baseball diamond.

Harry Ranahan, chairman of the board of trustees of the separate schools, is superintending the day's activities, while the sports are under the control of the Christian Brothers, headed by Father Brisson.

HOUSE TO SIT FOR VOTE ON BUDGET

Ottawa, June 8.—By the Canadian Press.—An all-night session lies before the House today for the winding up of the budget debate.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce, and Sir Lomer Gouin, minister of justice, are the principal speakers scheduled for Conservatives and Liberals respectively.

Hope is expressed that the debate will be through by midnight, but if not the intention is to continue until it is so the vote may not come possibly till two or three in the morning.

From indications this morning there appears to be no doubt that a vote will be demanded on the main budget motion, Progressives and Conservatives alike lining up against the government.

The government majority on the main motion is estimated from 5 to 15.

METHODISTS GIVE BOWLES BIG VOTE

Toronto, June 8.—By one of the largest votes ever given any man in a Toronto Methodist conference election, Rev. J. G. Bowles, B.A., B.D., was elected as new president. He was given 196 votes out of 296 ballots cast. Rev. A. J. Paul got 21 votes and Rev. Dr. E. B. Lanceley 10.

In a moment or two after he had been escorted to the chair, the president-elect was rousing the conference to loud and frequent applause by his ringing call for reform in the church.

"Some men have been trading on their clerical garb and their ministerial standing," he boldly declared.

"The time is long overdue for a general cleaning up and a thorough weeding out."

Naughty Princess Mary Bets On Winner Of Derby

LONDON, June 8.—The Ontario race track reformer will have another shock by the report that Princess Mary, who made her debut Saturday night as a London hostess, told some of her friends last night she had backed the Derby winner, Captain Cuttle, adding:

"But only for 10 shillings, although Harry won quite a lot."

By laying 10 shillings on Captain Cuttle, Princess Mary cashed in £5, as the winner was 10 to 1 against.

MAY EXTRADITE ED. M'MULLEN

Insurance Company Agent Claims Oldsmobile Car Was Stolen From Flint.

Date of Theft Proves Car Could Not Have Been Used in Robbery.

That Edward A. McMullen, one of the four London men now awaiting trial in the Lambton County jail for alleged complicity in the robbery of $11,000 cash from the Wyoming branch of the Bank of Toronto, October 20 last, may be extradited to Flint, Michigan, to face a charge of theft of the Oldsmobile touring car, in which he was arrested here two weeks ago, was the statement Thursday morning of Harold R. McFern of Detroit, who represents the insurance company, retained by the Maines Motor Sales Company of Flint, from which it is alleged the machine was stolen.

The police assert that a person once declared in possesion of a stolen machine may be extradited to the United States under the provisions of the Dyer law of Michigan, and as the car, bearing license No. 69-601, in which McMullen was riding when arrested, and which was subsequently claimed by his brother, John, has been identified by means of a secret number, it is alleged, that the American police authorities will ask for his arrest upon this charge.

Saw Actual Theft.

The agent, McFern, informed The London Advertiser today that there is every prospect that a resident of Flint who saw the actual theft of the car, will be able to identify the man who stole it. When McFern visited McMullen in the Lambton county jail Wednesday, the latter stated that he purchased the car from a man in Toronto.

As the theft of the car is alleged to have taken place in March, and all witnesses in the Wyoming bank robbery have already testified that the machine used by the bandits on that day was of a McLaughlin make, there will be no effort by the police to link up the Oldsmobile machine under question, with the actual robbery.

At the time of his apprehension by the local provincial officers, McMullen, together with William Ayers, another of the four alleged bandits, was riding in an Oldsmobile car, although neither of the two were operating it.

In police court, two days later, John McMullen, a brother of the prisoner, claimed the car as his property, and submitted a bill of sale, which satisfied the officers at that moment.

The latter have explained since to The Advertiser that had they suspected at that time, as they did when they seized the car the second time, that it was stolen property, they would have never allowed it to be taken away.

MAY AGAIN EXAMINE POSTAL CANDIDATES

Ottawa Likely to Give London Applicants for Deputy Post Further Test.

Ottawa, June 7.—It is quite probable that to straighten away the difficulties that have arisen in the way of making an appointment to the position of deputy postmaster at London, the four or five candidates for the office will be required to write another examination.

A few days ago, it was learned that the appointment was being held up until the return of Dr. Roche, chairman of the civil service commission, who had been absent on account of illness.

Dr. Roche has now returned, and it is believed that the decision of asking the candidates to write again will now be made.

MEDIEVAL POMP MARKS WEDDING OF BALKAN KING

Alexander of Greece Weds Princess Marie of Rumania.

DUKE OF YORK BEST MAN

Marriage Links Three Dynasties, Forming Barrier Against War.

Belgrade, June 8.—Medieval pomp and splendor marked the wedding here today of King Alexander of Jugoslavia and Princess Marie of Rumania. Nearly every nation in the old and new world was represented at the ceremony, which linked the dynasties of three Balkan countries, forming a powerful barrier against future wars in this turbulent part of Europe.

The event probably will remain unmatched for a long time in Balkan annals for its political significance; the lavishness and beauty of its settings; the enthusiasm and fervor of the people; the picturesqueness of the processions, and the quaintness of the presents to the bride and groom.

The bridal gown was an antique creation of white crepe georgette, with long court train, embroidered in pure silver and crystals, and the princess wore over her tulle veil a shower of scintillating gold strands. She was a picture of girlish beauty, dignity and grace as she was escorted to the altar by her father, King Ferdinand of Rumania.

Set With Diamonds.

From her shoulders fell a large court mantle in brilliant silver, at the lower end of which the double arms of Rumania and Jugoslavia were embroidered in silver and gold. King Alexander presented his bride with a massive crown of gold, set with diamonds and rubies, each province of Jugoslavia having contributed a precious stone to the diadem.

The king, who entered the church arm in arm with Queen Marie, his future mother-in-law, wore the bright full-dress uniform of a Serbian general. His best man was the Duke of York, son of King George of England.

The Queen of Rumania, who has come to be known as the "Mother-in-law of the Balkans," looked almost as youthful as the daughter she gave in marriage. She dominated the entire ceremony, and next to the bride was easily the most conspicuous and charming figure in the cathedral.

When she was not receiving the congratulations of her friends, she was busy giving directions for the execution of the wedding.

Te Deum Sung.

The marriage was solemnized by the Serbian Patriarch in the ancient Byzantine Cathedral of Belgrade. In accordance with Serbian custom there was no civil ceremony. As the bride and groom walked up the aisle a Te Deum was sung. The marble altar, resplendent in porphry and gold, was tastefully decorated with lilies and roses, among which the national colors of Rumania and Jugoslavia were intertwined.

The bridesmaids were Princess Ilyena, the 13-year-old sister of the bride; her cousin, Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, 14 years old, and the little 8-year-old daughter of Princess Helen of Russia, sister of King Alexander, whose husband was killed by the Bolsheviki.

The wedding was followed by a gala luncheon at the palace, at which the representatives of the foreign royal families, cabinet members and government officials were guests. In the afternoon there was a proces-

Uses Garden Hose To Drown Cupid's Fires

AKRON, O., June 8.—A garden hose as a quencher for love fires was approved here by police court today.

Floyd Hide was in court on charges preferred against him by Joe Mosturzo.

"Joe was coming home with my wife," testified Hide, "and I turned the hose on them. I don't know how many times she had been out with him before, but I decided to put out whatever love fires might be burning. I sure soaked 'em, judge."

Judge Pardee told Mosturzo he had been given the right kind of treatment and dismissed the case.

BRITISH WAR ON REBELS IN ERIN

Occupy Belleek After Successful Engagement With Republican Irregulars.

London Fears Status of Irish Free State Is Still in Doubt.

Belfast, June 8.—Belleek was occupied today by British troops which advanced this morning to take the salient from the Irish irregular forces holding it.

The fort overlooking Belleek was first captured by the British troops and the town was then taken possession of by the military.

An engagement between the Irish irregular forces in the district and British troops began at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

At that hour signals were sent up indicating that the British troops were being fired on, while there were bursts of rifle fire from the north.

The British artillery then opened up, landing two shots near the Belleek fort, which is in Free State territory.

The Republican forces are said to be falling back before the British advance, which was started from a point on the south shore of Lough Erne, six miles from Belleek. The British column was accompanied by armored cars.

Before the British troops moved off, heliograph communication was established across Lough Erne, presumably with the forces holding the Pettigoe salient. There appeared to be a simultaneous movement in progress on both sides of the lake in the nature of an encircling manoeuvre.

600 TROOPS ARRIVE.

Londonderry, June 8.—Six hundred men of the Liverpool regiment arrived here last night, taking up quarters in Termonbacra House, owned by the Nazareth News, Gwynn's Institute and the Magee Presbyterian College, all on the Donegal side of the River Foyle. The Londonderry military barracks are on the county Londonderry side of the Foyle, so that there are now large concentrations on both banks of the river.

The Republicans have commandeered the Johnston Grange Hall, four miles from Londonderry, and also Dunmore Lodge.

An exchange telegraph statement on the concentration says:

"Several thousand rebels are reported to be concentrated at Rappoe, county Donegal, armed with the latest U. S. rifles. Large rebel forces on the northern side of the Derry-Donegal border are reported to be conscripting Donegal loyalists, who believe they are going to be used

COMPANY HOLDS STATEMENTS TO PREVENT LOSS

Organization Hopes For Favorable Decision From Reconsideration of Measure.

SPONSOR ABSENT AT VOTE

Bill Restored to Order Paper After Being Ruled Out.

In the hope that 35 cents will be retained by the company on every 1,000 cubic feet of gas consumed by Londoners during the past month, the City Gas Company is withholding its bills pending the action of the Legislature on the request for a continuance of the rate charged for the twelve months preceding May 8.

The company's franchise agreement, which expired May 8 last, permitted a charge of $1.15 per thousand cubic feet of gas, plus ten cents to be set aside. On expiration of the agreement the rate automatically reverted to 90 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Bill for Continuance.

A bill for continuance of the higher rate came before the Ontario House Tuesday afternoon and was killed. However, owing to the absence of Charles McCrea, member for Sudbury, and sponsor of the bill, it was restored to the order paper for Thursday.

W. F. Nickle moved for reconsideration of the bill to be in order Thursday, and in expectation that the franchise agreement will be renewed the company is withholding the accounts.

This action has been taken rather than bill consumers at 90 cents per thousand, thereby losing a possible 35 cents on every thousand cubic feet of gas consumed during the past month.

An audit of the company's books has shown that the ten cents ordered set aside should be given to the company, so that the rate has been $1.25 per thousand feet. If the firm were to send out bills prior to being granted authority for continuing high rates there would be a loss, and a passage of the bill leaves a loophole for collection at the $1.25 rate.

Postpone Billing.

Although officials of the City Gas Company have refused to admit that the bills are being withheld for the above purpose, an Advertiser representative, inquiring for his gas bill which he had not received as usual, was on Thursday informed that the bill would not be sent out until the fate of the $1.25 rate was settled by the legislature.

An employee of the company further informed the reporter that it is the firm's intention to postpone billing the customers, in the hope that the $1.25 rate will again meet with government approval.

On presenting himself at the main office of the City Gas Company in search of confirmation of this statement, the reporter was referred to Colin Duffield, the manager.

Ushered into the manager's presence, the reporter stated his mission. Mr. Duffield did not deny that the bills were being held over for better revenue, but declined to discuss the subject.

Is In Toronto.

"You will have to see Mr. Graydon, the company's solicitor," he advised. "He is the only official of the company authorized to make statements to the press."

Mr. Graydon, who is also police magistrate, is in Toronto, according to information obtained at police headquarters, where he is acting in the interests of the City Gas Company with reference to the bill for continuance of the $1.25 rate, which comes before the legislative assembly Thursday.

NAME CANDIDATES IN WEST.

Winnipeg, June 8.—The following nomination for the forthcoming provincial elections were reported today: Kildonan and St. Andrews, Samuel H. Summersoales, U.F.M.; Arthur, D. L. McLeod, U.F.M.; Beautiful Plains, George Little, M.L.A., U.F.M.; Russell, W. W. Wilson, Liberal.

Flays Bestowal of Titles On British Dominions

South Africa Incensed.

LONDON, June 8.—The Manchester Guardian, discussing the opposition aroused in South Africa and Australia over the bestowal of certain titles, says it looks as if the king's advisors would do well to make an end of bestowing such titles upon citizens of the dominions.

A hint of this was plainly enough given, the Guardian says, when Canada politely requested that the practice should be ended, so far as that Dominion was concerned, and the trouble has now spread, and is regarded as virulent by South Africa and Australia.

"It seems unfortunate," says the Guardian, "that despite the known reluctance of the dominions to be enriched with titled citizens, the home government still persists in making the fountain of honor play on them, and play, moreover, like ill-directed hose at a fire, on individuals whom their fellows consider quite unsuitable for such conspicuous treatment. Those who might conceivably be thought suitable are dodging the jet."

The Morning Post, which had already criticized the honors list bestowed conspicuously on rich men, alludes to the opposition in South Africa to the peerage conferred on Sir J. B. Robinson, banker and mine operator, and points sarcastically to the British official announcement that this honor was for "national and imperial service."

The Post suggests that Premier Lloyd George should condescend to give particulars and rehearse the good deeds of those whom he has selected to be thus honored.

County Jail Prisoner On Hunger Strike

Awaits Extradition.

DECLARING that he will not eat alone, Harry Geer, the prisoner at the Middlesex County jail awaiting the necessary documents from the department of immigration at Ottawa that will facilitate his removal to Johnstown, Pennsylvania, launched a hunger strike Wednesday after dinner, and for the past 24 hours has partaken of no food whatever.

Jail attendants explain that as Geer had developed another of his frequent unruly attitudes, it was concluded for the peace and safety of his companions in custody to place him in a cell entirely by himself.

As a move of retaliation, evidently, Geer forthwith moved for an immediate strike, and declined absolutely to eat his food.

"I will not eat alone," he explained emphatically, and as no attempt is being made to compel him, he missed supper Wednesday night and breakfast and dinner Thursday.

The authorities state that they will let him alone for awhile in the expectation that in due time he will realize the hopelessness of his struggle and eat his meals as regularly as before. They reason that perhaps a fast may do him good.

Geer, who is the man thought, by medical authorities, to be mentally unbalanced, who will be deported to his home in Pennsylvania as soon as the papers authorizing his removal arrive from Ottawa.

American police claim that he served a term in the Western Penitentiary, Pittsburg.

WEATHER FAVORS CROPS.

Winnipeg, June 8.—Favorable crop weather prevailed throughout all parts of the prairie provinces yesterday, rain being reported in some sections of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, accompanied by cool weather.

Squire Chittick Asks Press For Ruling

SINGLING out representatives of the press before he opened the Middlesex county police court Thursday morning, Squire W. H. Chittick declared: "I want to ask you before the court starts whether or not I have jurisdiction. You seem to know all about it. I'll be after you, the first thing you know."

The squire was not in a jocular mood, but as no reply or suggestion was forthcoming from the press, he mounted the bench and delivered the customary formal directions.

UNEARTH DEATH PLOT ON EVE OF ROYAL WEDDING

Belgrade's Secret Police Claim Lives of Marie and Alexander Threatened.

GUARD ROYALTY CLOSELY

Regal Bride and Groom To Drive Through Lanes of Bayonets Today.

BELGRADE, June 7.—A plot to assassinate the royal families of Rumania and Jugo-Slavia gathered here for the marriage of Princess Marie to King Alexander, is reported to have been discovered by the secret police.

Extraordinary precautions to guard the royal personages' lives are being taken. Scores of suspects are being rounded up. The police are conducting hourly raids.

Among the royalties in Belgrade today are: King Alexander, King Ferdinand of Rumania, Queen Marie of Rumania, Princess Marie of Rumania, the Duke of York, Prince Alfonso and Princess Beatrice of Spain, the Prince of Udine, Italy.

Undercurrent of Anxiety.

While the gaiety preliminary to the wedding ceremony tomorrow is at fever heat, with colorful Balkan peasants' costumes giving the quaint streets a kaliedoscopic appearance, there is an undercurrent of unmistakable anxiety. The military police alike are reticent, but all entrances to the city are closely guarded, and strong patrols are constantly passing through the streets en route to batter their way into some rendezvous of suspicious characters.

The schedules for the movements of the royal parties are constantly being changed to confuse assassins' plans. Most elaborate precautions are taken everywhere.

Troops in Evidence.

On the route of the wedding procession tomorrow, according to orders issued today, double ranks of police and troops will form a lane of bristling bayonets through which the king, queens and princess will ride. There will be one line of guards facing inward toward the procession and another facing outward. All these troops and soldiers, standing back to back, will be armed with rifles and revolvers, and will be under instructions to shoot at the slightest suspicious movement.

Special permits are required to have windows open during the parade. Police have issued orders that persons in windows and on balconies must not sit shoulder to shoulder; there must be space between them. No persons will be permitted to view the parade from a window, balcony or housetop without a special permit and no permits are granted without thorough investigation.

Special squads of police have been detailed to keep all persons in windows, on balconies and housetops under close watch and to arrest them if any suspicuous actions are observed.

Made Her Own Dress.

When Princess Marie arrived here yesterday and put foot on the soil of her future kingdom, she was given bread and salt by the mayor of Belgrade in token of friendship and loyalty.

The princess wore a white crepe de chine dress, trimmed with silver and gold, which she made herself. She and the royal party came by boat on the Danube, and were escorted into port by Jugo-Slav airplanes, British, French and Rumanian destroyers, and a fleet of Jugo-Slav warships.

While she was traversing Rumanian territory the princess was showered with holy water, incense, rosemary and rice for good luck, and when the party arrived at Belgrade their vessel passed under an arch bearing the legend, "Long live our King and queen. Long live Jugo-Slavia. Long live Rumania." A chorus of 1,200 sang a wedding hymn entitled "Queen Marie."

The bride was met by King Alexander and his cabinet and was conducted in a procession through the crowded streets to the cathedral, where a thanksgiving service was held. The procession followed streets newly paved for the occasion along which the old buildings had been demolished to make place for reviewing stands.

New Palace Ready.

A new palace is ready for occupation by the royal pair. It is situated within a stone's throw of the old royal residence which has been unoccupied since the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga in 1903. The Serbians believing the old palace to be accursed, have begged Marie never to cross its threshold.

RAIL LEADERS PREDICT VOTE WILL FAVOR STRIKE

Several Executives Fear That Workers' Sentiment Is Generally Opposed to Walkout.

Chicago, June 8.—Railroad unions continued preparations today for their strike vote with leaders predicting that the referendum would be heavily in favor of a suspension of work in protest against wage reductions made by the railroad labor board despite statements by several railroad presidents that strike sentiment was confined largely to union leaders, and that there was good reason to doubt whether the sentiment would saturate the nation's railway workers. The statement expressing doubt whether the strike sentiment would echo through the rank and file of the unions was signed by the following rail executives:

H. E. Byram, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; Hale Holden, Burlington; W. H. Finley, Northwestern; J. F. Gorman, Rock Island; C. H. Markham, Illinois Central, and S. M. Felton, Chicago and Great Western.

Trapese Artist Misses Bars and Falls 20 Feet

OTTAWA, June 8. — Before the horrified gaze of thousands at the Hagenback-Wallace circus in Plouffe Park last night, Mrs. Louisa Stoats, a trapese artist, while attempting an aerial stunt, missed the bars and crashed to the earth, a distance of twenty feet.

There were no nets or mats under the trapese, and she landed full on her back. She was given first aid by Dr. Roberts, the show doctor, and was rushed to a local hospital. At a late hour she was reported to be semi-conscious and to be resting easy. The extent of her injuries is not known.

REPORTS 3 FOREST FIRES RAGE IN QUEBEC PROVINCE

St. Maurice Protection Association Enlists Three Hundred Men To Combat Outbreak.

Quebec, June 8.—Three big forest fires are at present raging at St. Michel des Saints in Berthier County, in the vicinity of Lac Clair, Lac Chienne and the headquarters of the Vermillion River. The St. Maurice Fire Protection Association has 300 men combatting the outbreak. Airplanes are at work locating and tracing the progress of the fires and directing the workers.

An emergency order-in-council closing the forests of the Province of Quebec to everyone not in possession of a permit was passed at a sitting of the provincial government yesterday. This drastic decision on the part of the cabinet follows upon the heels of the arrest of seven settlers on a charge of being responsible for fires.

Leave on Honeymoon.

The day's events closed with a magnificent banquet at the palace in the evening on plates of gold, the king and new queen leaving shortly after for their castle in Beed, Slovenia, for their honeymoon.

Among the celebrities present were: The Duke of York, representing King George of England; the Italian crown prince, representing the king of Italy; Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, sister of the queen of Rumania; the Infanta Beatrice, youngest sister of the queen of Rumania, and her husband; the princes and princesses of the Greek royal family; Marshal Franchet d'Esperey, representing France, and Crown Prince Carol and Princess Helene of Rumania. The sovereigns of Japan, Belgium, Spain, Norway and the heads of state of other countries also were represented.

Princess Helen of Russia, sister of King Alexander; Prince Arsene Karageorgevitch, his uncle, and the son of the latter, Prince Paul, who are the only living relatives of the king, also were present. Prince George, the king's elder brother, who is living in Paris, and who renounced the throne twelve years ago, was not invited.

Queen Marie of Rumania, in speaking of the marriage, expressed her satisfaction, and added:

"The marriage unites the old Rumanian family with the younger dynasty of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. The Jugoslavs are especially happy because King Ferdinand and myself are connected with so many of the royal families of Europe. They consider it is a great stroke of good fortune for them and their future that their king should marry a Rumanian princess."

MOLDS LIVES OF CITY MEN FOR 50 YEARS

education to this effect, Askin street school became known as Victoria school.

Now practically all the city schools have a name apart from the streets, nearly all of which are the embodiment of a splendid example to pupils.

The system of vertical handwriting, which has, however, long since given way to the arm movement system, was introduced in London by Mr. McQueen, who copied it from the methods of English school teachers in an effort to improve some of his pupils who were, as he termed them, "miserable writers." And in this connection it might be mentioned that although Mr. McQueen will in all probability teach no more after the end of June, he has by no means lost interest in the teaching profession, and at present is interested in solving the problem of whether arm movement is really worth while after all.

Doubts Outcome.

"We spend hours teaching it," he said, "but I am wondering what percentage of pupils use the system once they have escaped the supervision of teachers.

Mr. McQueen has nothing but praise for London schools.

"At one time," he said, "I petitioned the board of education for alterations on Victoria school, and I told them I didn't think there was a town in Ontario which had worse schools; and now I am glad to say I don't think there is a town in the Dominion has better.

"Each school in the city has distinctiveness, and the introduction of the splendid auditoriums in our newer schools is an invaluable aid to the promotion of school spirit, which is, after all, the best foundation for fine citizenship."

FIGHT TAX ON CHECKS.

C., June 8.—Representing all cities and towns of importance in Western Canada, the Council of Western Canadian Municipality Unions commenced its first annual convention here today with a vigorous demand that the federal government exempt municipal councils and school boards from taxation on checks.

DEMANDS PRESS USE PRUDENCE

Justice Monet Comments Forcibly On Alleged Delorme Confession.

Points Out Fact That Report Has Been Denied by Detective in Case.

Montreal, June 8.—A stern warning was administered today by Mr. Justice Monet, sitting in the court of King's Bench, in reference to an interview, published on Saturday last, regarding an alleged confession in the Delorme case.

"My attention was called yesterday to a sensational report on the Delorme affair," said his lordship. "I had not seen the article before, but I read it attentively. The affirmations in that report have since been denied by the man to whom they were attributed. Now we are faced with a contradiction. It is certain that the Delorme mystery excites the public to such an extent that I think the newspapers should show the greatest possible prudence.

"The report to which I refer might easily prejudice public opinion against either the crown or the accused, and public opinion includes the opinion of the jury, which represents society in an affair of such importance. This is exceedingly harmful, as a jury is obliged to be absolutely impartial, and have no leaning or prejudice either in favor of the accused or against him. Newspapers must remember that not only the liberty but the life of a man is at stake."

The trial of Adelard Delorme is scheduled to open tomorrow, when reports on his mental condition will be called for from doctors, detailed by crown and defence to examine the accused.

LONDON BREWERS PAY $200 FINE

Windsor, June 8.—Though the Labatt Brewing Company of London, Ontario, was fined $200 and costs in Windsor police court this afternoon, on a charge of having export beer in an unlawful place, the conviction will in no way affect the further export of beer to the United States, providing that the brewery receives payment at the brewery for any stock ordered by United States residents.

The charge against the brewery concerned 200 cases of beer which was seized at the warehouse of the Western Canadian Exporters, April 13 last. Brewery officials stated that the beer had been ordered by residents of Ecorse, Wyandotte and Ford City, Mich., and that the shipment was merely being held at the warehouse, pending the arrival of boats to carry the beer across the Detroit River.

It is understood that the experts dealing with the question of the Irish constitution will have a further meeting today.

It is stated that the communications brought from Dublin by Arthur Griffith, the Dail president, while being in the main reassuring to the cabinet members, do not fully settle the difficulty over the constitution for the Irish free state, as drafted.

POPE RECEIVES OTTAWA BISHOP

London, June 8.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—A Reuter dispatch from Rome states that the pope yesterday received in audience Right Rev. J. M. Emard, the new Archbishop of Ottawa. PARIS, June 8.—The first aerial round trip flight at night between Paris and London was negotiated last night by an airplane carrying ten passengers. The flight was attempted for the purpose of proving that night commercial and passenger traffic by air between Paris and London is feasible. The machine left Le Bourget at 10 p.m., arriving at Croydon at 1 a.m.; left for Le Bourget at 2:50 and landed at 6:05. The return trip was slower because of a fog encountered en route.

GEN. WU PEI FU'S FORCES CAPTURE CHENWANGTAO

Chinese Military Leaders Offer To Resign Commands in Interest of Unifying Republic.

Tien Tsin, June 8.—The capture of Chinwangtao, an important treaty port and coal exporting point on the Gulf of Liao Tung, by the Chihli forces of Wu Pei Fu, is announced in a report today to Wu's headquarters here.

Wu Fei Fu and Tsao Kun, respectively the dominant military leader of China and his chief lieutenant, today expressed their willingness to resign in the interests of unifying the republic, provided Li Yuen Hung will immediately come to Peking and assume the presidency. This development followed today upon the vigorous manifesto issued yesterday by Li Yuan-Hung prescribing as a condition under which he would attempt to head a new centralized government the removal of the military powers.

Li's manifesto was received in official and civil circles here with mixed feelings of hope and apprehension. The evils of the system of military governors, which brought about the downfall of Li Yuan-Hung, are considered indisputable.

TO EXCLUDE PRESS FROM EMPLOYMENT DISCUSSION

Service Council Decides On Course, Despite Protests of Hon. James Murdock.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—Failure of the employment service council of Canada to include in its agenda indications that the unemployment question would be thoroughly discussed, and the exclusion of the press from the meetings has resulted in C. G. MacNeil, Dominion secretary of the G. W. V. A., and secretary of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance, wiring to executive officers of his organization for advice as to the policy that should be adopted in the interests of ex-soldiers under the circumstances.

At the opening general session of the council yesterday the question of admitting the press to the proceedings was advanced by Hon. James Murdock, who gave the address of welcome to the members. A motion was brought in that the press be not admitted, which Mr. MacNeil opposed, asserting that the proceedings were of Dominion-wide interest, and that the integrity of a great public institution, the press, was involved. The resolution carried after further protest from Mr. MacNeil, supported by two other members of the council.

CLAIMS NO POWER TO BAN SALE OF RACING FORMS

Attorney-General Informs J. W. Curry, K.C.—Government Authority Limited.

Toronto, June 8.—J. Walter Curry, K. C., in the Legislature this morning, drew from the attorney-general, by reading a morning paper editorial demanding that the government pass legislation to prohibit the sale of Racing Forms, the statement that the provincial government had no authority to prevent the sale of such publications in the province in spite of the government's desire to do so.

"Does the attorney-general intend to pass legislation to prohibit the sale of Racing Forms if it is possible?" asked Mr. Curry.

"There is no doubt that this Legislature has not the power to prohibit the sale of these forms," replied Mr. Raney. The attorney-general stated that a law had been passed as an amendment to the criminal code of Canada by the federal government to prohibit the sale of such publications, but owing to a defect in the phrasing of the act it could not be enforced.

Mr. Raney stated he had written the minister of justice in connection with the faulty phrasing, and had been assured that it would be given consideration.

With very little discussion, the house this morning passed second reading to Mr. Raney's amendment to the corporations tax act. Mr. Raney, in introducing the measure, pointed out that every member of the house, with the exception of Mr. Dewart, favored the bill.

CLAIMS RAILWAY SPENT $1.10 FOR $1

Ottawa, June 8.—By the Canadian Press.—To earn one dollar in revenue the Canadian National Railways expended during March $1.10; the Canadian Pacific expended $2.29 cents, and the Grand Trunk $4.22 cents. This operating ratio, as it is termed, is an improvement over that of March 1921. Then the ratio for the Canadian National Railways was 124.3 per cent; for the Canadian Pacific 83.51 per cent, and for the Grand Trunk 90.82 per cent.

The ratios are given in returns issued today by the transportation branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

WILL REGULATE RADIO TRAFFIC

Cameron Duncan Appointed "Ether Cop" for Province of Ontario.

No Attempt Will Be Made To Discourage Amateur Operators.

Toronto, June 8, 1922.—Owners of amateur radio transmitting stations in Ontario will have to "mind their P's and Q's" from now on. The government has appointed an inspector and will be appointing others to investigate complaints against amateurs who persist in causing interference.

In other words, the government has decided there should be strict traffic regulations in the ether, just as there are on public highways and on the high seas.

Cameron Duncan, B.A., B.Sc., is the first "ether cop." His jurisdiction extends all over the province, but he will act principally in Toronto. Mr. Duncan is a part time inspector, being engaged in private duties as well. Besides being empowered by the government to make an investigation into all amateur sending stations against which there are complaints from time to time, he will issue licenses for receiving stations and examine candidates for the government certificate of proficiency in the operation of radio equipment.

Should special complaint be made against commercial broadcasting stations to the effect that they are "splashing over their wave length," etc., Mr. Cameron has authority to look into these matters as well on instructions from Ottawa.

"The intention is not to put any clamp on amateur sending stations," Mr. Duncan stated, commenting upon his appointment. "Rather the purpose of the government is to try to harmoniously settle all complaints; co-operation between all parties interested in radio is the objective. If there are any complaints sent to me about amateurs causing interference, there complaints will be gone into, and if justified the offender will be cautioned not to break the regulations again. Should they persist in so doing, however, we will soon see that they are stopped in quick style."

Mr. Duncan was born in Toronto and has been educated at Varsity, graduating today with the degree of B. Sc. in electrical engineering. He has been an ardent radio enthusiast for some years, and during the war served as a naval wireless operator.

Day's Legislative Doings at Ottawa

TODAY IN PARLIAMENT.

In the Commons.

The budget debate will be continued.

In the Senate.

The Senate will sit at 3 o'clock.

YESTERDAY IN PARLIAMENT.

In the Commons.

Hon. George Graham, minister of defence, stated that from 30 to 40 per cent of the establishment of each military district in Canada would receive a limited training either in camp or at local headquarters. The total enrollment of all ranks in non-permanent militia on March 31, 1922, was 51,576.

Resuming the budget debate, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of marine and fisheries, characterized the speech of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, opposition leader, as "a new exhibition of political rancor." The opposition claimed that reductions in the tariff would bring ruin on the country, and yet moved an amendment censuring the government for not bringing about that ruinous condition, he said. He charged the Conservatives with having obtained an extension of the life of parliament and of their term of office on condition that no controversial matter be introduced, and then altering the franchise and disqualifying British subjects. The budget was in line with Liberal principles.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, former minister of agriculture, said that men who cheered so loudly for the new government on Dec. 6 must be disappointed in the budget. The 2½ per cent reduction in the duty on implements would total about $150,000, while the sales tax would add a burden of $30,000. He regretted the striking out of the anti-dumping clause, which had been of great assistance to British Columbia fruit growers.

C. W. Stewart, Progressive member for Humboldt, said that the budget speech did not indicate that the Liberals intended to implement their pledges.

D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general, voiced the opposite opinion, saying that the pledges made would be redeemed.

Other speakers were E. A. La Pierre of Nipissing, H. E. Spencer of Battle River and T. G. McBride of Cariboo. Hon. H. H. Stevens adjourned the debate at 12:20.

In the Senate.

Bill creating the Canadian criminal court of appeal laid over until next session.

STATIONMEN FORWARD PROTEST TO GRAND TRUNK

Brotherhood Alleges Company Is Acting Under Instructions From Minister of Labor.

Montreal, June 8.—The International Brotherhood of Railroad Stationmen is forwarding a formal protest to the Grand Trunk Railway Company on the latter's non-concession to the brotherhood of representation at the negotiations now under way for the revision of working rules for railroad employees outside the running trades and shop mechanics. The brotherhood alleges that the company is acting under directions from the minister of labor, and it declares that Hon. James Murdock "is exceeding his jurisdiction in directing railway officials or committees of employees representing unions." This declaration is contained in a telegram explaining the situation sent to members of the brotherhood by R. P. Neil, its president.

Farquharson of Eye Hill district is the U. F. A. nominee for Ribstone in the provincial house. The vacancy was made by the death of C. O. F. Wright a week after the legislature prorogued.

DUNDAS CENTRE "CLASS 27" HOLDS SUCCESSFUL PICNIC

Members of Methodist Church Organization Stage Annual Outing At Springbank.

Successful beyond all expectations was the annual picnic held by Class 27 of Dundas Center Methodist Church at Springbank, attended by sixty or more on Wednesday afternoon and night, including husbands and men friends of the members. Alden Jones and W. Edlington acted as judges, the former winning the trophy in the "Judges Squawking Match," and Mr. Edlington scoring in a judging contest. The prize for the latter was a burlesque gardening outfit. Mrs. W. B. Wortman won the prize for the mystery walking race, open to ladies only; Mrs. R. Gordon, the balloon race prize; Mrs. Will Edlington, the hopping race, and Miss Smith and Aiden Jones the prizes in the blindfold pushing race.

INTERNATIONAL BANKERS FROWN ON GERMAN LOAN

Committee Feels That Apparent Lack of Unanimity Among Lenders Detrimental to Contract.

Paris, June 8.—All idea of an international loan to Germany has been given up by the committee of bankers, and they are meeting today to agree upon the form of their report to this effect, which will be submitted to the reparations commission. The work of formulating the report, it is stated, may take two or three sittings.

The prevailing conviction among the members of the bankers committee is that two things are fundamental to a loan—

First—That there must be unanimity among the lenders, which were to include all the countries represented on the reparations commission; second—that the credit basis of Germany must be outlined clearly.

The bankers look upon the reparations commission's reply to their recent note as an official declaration that unanimity does not exist among the prospective lenders, and, therefore, feel that plans for a loan cannot be advised.

SAYS METHODIST SUPPLY REFORM "SHOCK TROOPS"

Rev. Dr. Chown Tells Delegates That Church Has Incurred Hatred of Evil Men.

Toronto, June 8.—Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, head of Canadian Methodism, could not be present at the opening of the Toronto Conference today, so he sent an inspirational address, which was read for him to the clergy and laymen.

The general superintendent told the delegates that this is the day of the church's supreme opportunity, and if it cannot rise to it now, it will sink into dissolution. He wrote:

"The Church of Christ as a whole is under heavy fire, and the Methodist Church in particular is singled out for the hatred of evil men, since in their opinion she supplies the 'shock troops' of moral reform, and signally interferes with the success of their wicked devices.

"In the midst of all this strife, we must stand firm in defence of our human and Christian ideals, and put forth greater effort than ever to make them triumphant."

$12,000 IN LIQUOR SEIZED AT BORDER

Bridgeburg, June 8.—One of the biggest seizures of Canadian liquor since national prohibition came into effect across the river was made by the United States federal authorities today, when nearly 300 cases were found in a barn a mile from the waterfront.

The liquor apparently had been taken over the river gradually and assembled ready to be moved to an interior point. The value of the seizure is computed at about $12,000.

CLAIM STREET HAS NOT BEEN OILED

Residents of Wolfe street, through Ald. H. B. Ashplant, are complaining that they have paid for oiling their street since 1921, yet the oil has been conspicuous by its absence. Ald. Ashplant has brought the attention of the city council to this complaint, and his fellow-aldermen view with askance the statement that these ratepayers have been paying for something not received.

They aver that in the usual course of events, if the residents paid for oiling their street it should have been oiled, and to find out why such work has not been carried out, the complaint is being referred ot No. 2 committee for investigation.

CLAIMS LIQUID IS GRAPE JUICE

Counsel For Zinnsberg Says Liquor Was Not Manufactured.

Analysis At Institute of Public Health Reveals Alcohol.

BULLETIN.

The jury returned a verdict of "guilty" in the case of Morris Zinnsberg, after being out for 45 minutes. Zinnsberg comes up for sentence Thursday.

After but a brief hearing, a jury of the Middlesex County court, with Judge Talbot Macbeth presiding, is now considering the evidence submitted by the crown against Morris Zinnsberg, charged with committing a breach of the inland revenue act in that he was manufacturing alcoholic beverages on his premises. As the jury filed out to their room, the court adjourned for dinner.

A regular consignment of evidence was exhibited in court by the police, consisting of three small kegs, three quart bottles, partly filled with a certain liquid yet to be determined, and a glass vessel likewise filled.

Sergeant of Police Thomas Lucas testified that in November last, armed with a search warrant, he had visited the Zinnberg home at 5 Webb street and located the material brought into court. He did not find any indication of a still or similar apparatus.

Dr. J. M. Best, of the London Institute of Public Health, submitted that he had conducted an analysis of the alleged liquor, and declared that the confiscated material was something that had gone "through the process of fermentation and contained alcohol."

Cross-examined by John M. McEvoy, K. C., counsel for the defence, he admitted that one could obtain the same results from grapes, and testified that certain of the liquid was not as powerful as native wine.

The defence contends that no manufacturing was under progress, and that the liquid presented in court was grape juice.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and shall trust in Him.—Psalm lxiv., 10.

YOU will find it less easy to uproot faults than to choke them by gaining virtues. Do not think of your own faults; still less of others' faults; in every person who comes near to you look for what is good and strong; honor that; rejoice in it, and as you can, try to imitate it; and your faults will drop off like dead leaves when their time comes —John Ruskin.

LONDON MAY GAIN U. S. RAIL BRANCH

A large American railroad system, said to be the Pennsylvania, has instructed real estate agents in London and district to proceed without delay to secure data on the cost of land for a right-of-way through territory between Niagara Falls and Windsor.

The route has been only hazily defined, but is reported to lie some distance north of the Michigan Central main line, connecting the same points.

Under one proposition London would be the Canadian divisional headquarters, with important shop facilities similar to those maintained by the M. C. R. at St. Thomas.

MILITARY CAMP OPENS JUNE 12

Twelve Hundred Troops To Go Into Training On Carling Heights.

Arrangements have been practically completed for the annual infantry camp at Carling Heights, to be held from June 12 to June 21, inclusive. The military authorities of M. D. Advance parties from each unit will arrive in the city Saturday to make preliminary arrangements in regard to their particular units.

No. 1 Cyclist Company of the Corps of Guides, commanded by Major R. B. Ross, of this city, and Lambton Regiment, No. 1 Company, are two units that will attend camp for the first time since reorganization.

This year the camp is only 65 per cent of the regular forces on account of the new government regulations.

All the other regiments in the district not attending camp will have a brief training period in their local armories.

The following units will attend: Heaquarters of the First Infantry Brigade, under the command of Col. Ibbotson Leonard, D.S.O.; Middlesex Light Infantry, commanded by Lieut.-Col. DAD CAN TAKE HIS COOLING DIP AS FAIR SEX SWELTER Prospects in London Not Very Promising This Year For Ladies of Community Who Long To Gambol in Waters Deep.

BY T. ROY McLEOD.

WATER, in the opinion of some people, was made to put under bridges, while Little Willie, whose neck is inspected by mother daily before setting out for school, maintains it is an abomination, and defines it as "the stuff that turns dirty when you put your hands in it."

But even little Willie abandons his fear of water when the mercury starts to climb to 92 in the tube, and teacher dismisses her pupils for the summer with her blessing. Then it is that the call of the wild is heard by every small boy in the city, and Port Stanley, the city wading pools, or bathing camps, the River Thames or the creek, become his mecca.

If a bathing suit is available all well and good, but an improvised shirt will do, and the same chap who shivers in the bath-room on a January Saturday night and wails for a towel, lets Old Sol perform the drying task and lay on the coat of tan.

Of course the staid grownups would not think of hiking to the "old swimmin' hole." Well, to tell the truth, they think about it approximately 600 times daily when it is 92 in the shade, but a pilgrimage to such a haven is out of the question.

"What will people say," is the only deterrent for many of London's businessmen who used to gambol and shout on the banks of the Thames, where youngsters then unborn now indulge in the same recreation.

Y. M. C. A. for Males.

For the grownups there is the Y. M. C. A., with its pool of clear and cool water. Here the male members of the community may line up at either side, and plunge into the inviting depths, thereby drowning their discomfort of a sultry day, as it were.

A round or two of the pool with companions, each putting forth his apparent best efforts, yet indifferent of winning, makes the many swimmers feel that life is worth living on a hot June afternoon.

Then the suggestion of a friendly game of water basketball is in order, and just as speedily accepted. The temperature of the pool is not conducive to the players getting overheated, and a brisk rub after the dip removes "that sticky feeling," and puts father in good humor to go home for supper and call it a perfect day.

However, while all this fun is "going on," what about the female members of the community?

Has London a swimming pool where the ladies can enjoy the same cooling dip as father or brother Bill?

Did Have Baths.

Well, they did have the sulphur baths at the foot of Thames street in operation last summer, where certain days were restricted to the patronage of ladies only, and mixed bathing was in order every evening, but that was last summer.

Prospects this year are not very promising.

Therefore, the ladies of London are apparently to be denied the privilege of lining up at the side of the cooling tank, and at the signal of their instructor diving (or leaping) into the cooling depths. It is understood here that the depths referred to vary from an ankle deep minimum to waist deep as a maximum for the more daring.

They are also apparently to be compelled to sacrifice the pleasure of a friendly race about the shallow end of the pool. They must bask in the shade at home, or scorch over a hot kitchen gas range preparing father's steak or "doing down" strawberries while he does the Australian crawl to his heart's content.

One way of soothing her tired feelings would be to come home and regale mother with a graphic description of the delights of a swimming pool, but this procedure is not advisable in the interests of safety first.

Disport Creations.

At Port Stanley mother and sister can come into their own, when, arrayed in the latest beach creation, they may strut out upon the beach, to the delight of themselves and the rest of the family. After running this hazard of sunburn, the fair sex can indulge in a nose dive in the shallow water, splash one another until their teeth chatter, and once more don street attire feeling fit.

This comfort, to the average woman of London, comes but once or at the most twice weekly, unless enjoying a holiday at Port, Grand Bend or Bayfield. It serves in a way to counteract the envy of father, who can enjoy his daily swim.

But father, mother and sister must bow to Little Willie when it comes to cooling off by the water method. He can rush to the swimming hole at 9 a.m. and remain there until sunset, provided hunger pangs do not compel him to adjourn to the family domicile for lunch.

There, with the rest of the gang, Willie makes full use of all the bathing facilities provided. The home-made diving-board serves its purpose, the youngsters lining up upon it, each endeavoring to outdo his predecessor in fancy diving.

Willie Is Grieved.

Often when Willie attempts to introduce a new stunt he lands on the water's surface in a manner similar to the graceful method in which the Leviathan took its initial drop from the ways. This method, which is unintentional, and only appreciated by the spectators, is dubbed by the boys the "stomach flip," or words to that effect.

Usually one such launching is sufficient for the day, and makes the folks at home wonder why Willie zealously guards that area of his anatomy concealed by his blouse, and why he ate a small-sized supper.

It takes more than the so-called "stomach flip" to keep Willie away from the water, however, at this season of the year, and next day he is among those present. His parents share the thrill which comes when he rushes home to tell the news that he can swim, having learned the art with the aid of a bathing camp supervisor or fellow-members of the gang.

And all too soon the summer slips away, leaving the Saturday night bath tub as the only available yet desirable form of water sport. Those who cannot avail themselves of bathing facilities in the warm summer months must swelter and bear it. Theirs is an unhappy lot!

WILL PAVE WEST LONDON STREETS

City Will Proceed With Work When Roads Are in Condition.

Provided that the roads are in suitable condition following the laying of sewers last year, London West will receive its share of paving this summer. Another factor which may delay the work is whether gas or water mains have been laid on the streets involved, thereby eliminating the necessity of tearing up any new pavement which has been laid.

The main paving job scheduled for London West this summer is Wharncliffe road from Dundas street to Oxford. At the last meeting of the city council this proposed work was under consideration, but was laid over until such time as it is definitely ascertained that the sewer, water and gas mains are guaranteed to be not likely to interfere.

City Engineer Brazier states that in so far as sewers are concerned, the paving of this important thoroughfare may proceed. Owing to the condition of the subsoil in London West the street has settled sufficiently to warrant proceeding with the paving.

However, Mr. Brazier advises against paving Wharncliffe road north of Oxford street this summer, owing to the results caused by laying sewers. Regarding the water or gas mains on this road he pointed out that their management is not within his jurisdiction, but if they will not interfere, sheet asphalt pavements will likely become a welcome innovation for residents of that district.

Under the same conditions as those governing the proposed Wharncliffe road pavement, a similar improvement will likely be put through this year for Oxford street from Wharncliffe road to the bridge, thereby initiating pavements for two of the main thoroughfares of London West.

THREE FINED FOR SUNDAY GAMBLING

Vincent Denthrok, George Matsky, James Chonowsky and two other companions, James Negeka and Pawell Belowetz, were all caught gambling last Sunday at 500 Philip street. The first three paid $5 and costs for their Sunday's amusement with the "paste boards," while warrants were issued Thursday morning for the other two, Chief Birrell stating that they had evaded the summons issued.

Deputy Magistrate Bartlett had a wonderful time trying to decipher the hieroglyphics put on the police court blotter by the court clerk. Finally he gave up in despair.

"You, whatever your name is, come round here," directed the court, and Chonowsky immediately stood at attention.

The three foreigners all pleaded guilty, Denthrok appearing to consider the whole matter as a huge joke, as he grinned from ear to ear during the entire proceedings. In fact the grin was so contagious that even Chief Birrell and a sad-faced dark-eyed reporter were seen to dispense a shadowy smile.

Executives of both the men's and women's labor parties met Wednesday evening in the Labor Temple to make arrangements for the visit of Mr. Richardson and his meetings. He is at present touring Ontario, speaking in all the principal cities.

Drunk Not Particular Whether Fine Is Paid Or Not

THE lone drunk who appeared in police court Thursday morning wasn't very particular if his fine was paid or not, because his wife was waiting for him with anything but a pleasant expression on her face.

Chief Birrell informed the court that he had been told the husband had been drunk four days, and had abused his wife.

"I am only dealing with the drunk charge at present," said Deputy Magistrate Bartlett, as he imposed a $10 fine or ten days in jail on the prisoner.

THINK NEW ROAD IDEA IMPROBABLE

London Railway Officials Express Belief Another Line Would Not Pay.

Local railway officials express the belief that it is highly improbable that the Pennsylvania or any other American railroad system will build a road through Western Ontario, as announced in a certain quarter.

In Grand Trunk circles it is pointed out that the building of such a line would be mere folly with the railway situation as it is in the States today. There are three lines at present covering this part of the province, Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk and Michigan Central, and local men think that it would be impossible for another line to make the project pay.

One of the C. P. R. officials stated that for a long time past the Pennsylvania system had been thinking of constructing a line as far as Detroit, as at present their trains run over the Wabash. He said, however, that he knew nothing of the scheme to run the line from Windsor to Niagara Falls.

Local real estate men when questioned on the subject vowed that it was news to them about the report that the Pennsylvania Railroad had instructed real estate men of London to secure data on the cost of land for a right-of-way through territory between Windsor and Niagara Falls.

HAVE TO PAY $5 FOR NOT PROPERLY STIRRING MILK

Two Producers of District Face Court Proceedings On Account of Deficient Butter Fat.

It cost E. C. Shoebottam and Harry Norton, two milk producers of the district, $5 and costs in police court Thursday morning for neglecting to stir their milk.

This meant, according to Inspector Dr. C. S. Tamlin, that one customer was getting almost pure cream for her table at milk prices, while the next customer would be getting nothing but skim milk.

"The milk was not properly stirred," stated Dr. Tamlin. "Just carelessness in not keeping it mixed."

"I didn't put anything in it or take anything out," declared Mr. Shoebottam.

The sample taken showed 2.50 butter fat, instead of 3.25 as required by the city bylaw.

Dr. Tamlin reported that one sample of Mr. Norton's milk tested 9 per cent and another but 1.50, which proved conclusively that the milk had not been stirred.

INCURS WRATH OF MAGISTRATE

Frederick Hall Tells Court "All Police Want Is Your Money."

Pays $5 Fine For Speeding When "Stop Watch" Gives Testimony.

The remark of Frederick Hall that "all the police want is your money" brought the wrath of Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett on his head Thursday morning in police court.

Hall was threatened with a term in jail for contempt of court, and had he said anything further would have kicked his heels against prison bars for a time.

The trouble arose over a case of speeding on Waterloo street last Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Hall being at the wheel when Constable Pope timed the car as going 25 miles an hour between Princess and Dufferin avenues.

The stop-watch version of the affair was accepted and a $5 fine imposed which called forth the above comment.

The case started out in an amicable manner, Mrs. Hall appearing in court alone. She said her husband was down stairs waiting.

"Bring him up," ordered the chief. "He is the man charged."

Had Five Witnesses.

"I was doing the driving, and I have got five witnesses besides my husband," informed the lady, "but they are not down here."

"Have you got the car with you?" asked the magistrate, gallantly. "There is no use in having witnesses unless you have them here."

"No, I don't want them," replied Mrs. Hall. "I think my word is as good as the officer's."

It was now Chief Birrell's turn for gallantry. "Surely it is," replied the chief sweetly.

"My husband is here," returned Mrs. Hall. "Two against one, that's pretty good, ain't it?"

Constable Pope then gave his evidence, stating that he had taken the time with the official stop watch at 5:45 p.m.

"We were at Mount Pleasant Cemetery at 6 o'clock and how could we get there that fast?" Mrs. Hall wanted to know. "I know the time because my husband's watch is a railroad watch. The speedometer on our car registered between 10 and 15 miles an hour. One thing we never did was speed."

Questioned by the court Mrs. Hall said she had no wish to give evidence.

Talked Out Of Turn.

Mr. Hall then spoke for the first time, and apparently Chief Birrell considered that he was talking out of his turn.

"If you take the officer's word all the time, people that come up here haven't a chance in the world," commented Mr. Hall.

Mr. Bartlett passed this over, but not the chief.

"That's not a fair statement," declared the chief. "Our watch is accurate.

"I'll go in the box. I'll answer any questions you ask me," flashed Mrs. Hall, as she moved swiftly to the witness box.

Police Court Clerk John Moule, not to be outdone by other officials bowed respectfully as he administered the oath to Mrs. Hall.

"I never passed any cars that I know of," declared Mrs. Hall. "We went to three cemeteries that afternoon, decorating graves, and I'll swear that I wasn't going fast. Fifteen miles in the city is pretty fast, I'm telling you, and it's fast for the country.

"Do you want to give evidence, Mr. Hall?" questioned the court,

"No, she'll do," was the reply.

Found Guilty.

"Well, then I find you guilty. I must accept the constable's evidence," decided the bench.

"Sure, I knew it," declared Mrs. Hall, with a bitter smile.

"According to you, a stop watch is better than a speedometer," observed Hall.

"You had a chance to give evidence, and didn't take it," retorted the court, whereupon Hall remarked that "all the police want is your money," and the fireworks started.

"You'll get sent down to jail if you use any offensive remarks here," declared Mr. Bartlett in wrathful tones. "You'll find yourself in jail if I hear any more of that. This is a court of justice, where justice is dispensed."

"Well, I—" interrupted Hall.

"Not a word," hotly declared the bench. "Step out of this room right away.

"Only a certain amount of patience can be shown men like you," thundered Mr. Bartlett, as Hall hastily made his way from the courtroom.

Wilsey Still Defies Law For Sake Of "Nag" He Rooms With In Stable

"Charles Wilsey hasn't moved out," declared Sanitary Inspector Richard Sanders in police court Thursday. This means that Charles has made good his threat not to vacate his premises on the Hamilton road, where he and his pet "nag" foregather each evening to compose their respective bones in slumber.

Mr. Sanders objected to Wilsey and "Dobbin" occpuying the same room, and brought the matter to court. Magistrate Graydon decided that there should be pastures new for both man and beast.

Charlie, however, decided otherwise, and last week told Mr. Graydon in harrowing tones that before he would give up pleasant associations with his equine he would go to jail.

He would not forsake his steed, regardless of the consequences, he declared.

Mr. Graydon informed Wilsey that he would land in jail if he did not leave his present abode, and gave the teamster one week to get out.

Wilsey informed the court coldly that his lawyer had told him he did not have to get out.

"Your lawyer is not running this case," came back the court a week ago Thursday. "I say that you have to get out, and I am going to adjourn this case one week."

"I repeat that Wilsey hasn't moved out," declared Mr. Sanders Thursday morning.

"He told you he wouldn't," replied Chief Birrell, with a smile.

"Well, Mr. Graydon will have to decide this case," submitted Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett, who by the way is alleged to be Wilsey's lawyer. The case, therefore, was given another "hoist," and Mr. Wilsey will not be called upon to make the sacrifice for dobbin for another week.

Feels Electors Should Be Consulted Before Commercialiing Offices

School Trustee Thomas Rowe shed further light Thursday upon the possible explanation for the so-called aldermanic "salary grab."

"Now the mayor receives a salary," pointed out Trustee Rowe, "I do not know how much, off hand, but my impression has always been that he does not receive the same as remuneration for his services exactly, but in order that he might be better able to uphold the dignity and graciousness of his office, especially on such occasions as the recent visit of the governor-general."

"It has just occurred to me that perhaps the proposed salary for the councillors is for a like purpose, to assist them to maintain a dignity, commensurate with their office."

Questioned as to the suggestion that the board of education move in a like direction, Trustee Rowe asked, "but why stop at $300."

Discussing the situation seriously, however, the "dean of the council" was frankly opposed to such an innovation, however, and held "that if it were intended to commercialize the municipal offices, the people's representatives should take their electors into their confidence before any definite move was made."

Declares Conservatives Exhibit Political Rancor Despite Nation's Need.

DEBATE NEARS LAST LAP

Liberal Leaders Confident of Victory Over Combined Opposition Forces.

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL.
Advertiser Staff Correspondent.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, June 7.—Thursday will carry Parliament into the last lap of the budget debate.

If present plans of the government do not go astray the House of Commons will not rise after it goes into session Thursday evening until a vote is taken, even though the completion of the debate requires an all-night session.

The Liberal party will go into the last stretch fully confident of victory. The leaders admit that the majority will be a small one, perhaps not more than ten or fifteen, but they believe the majority will be decisive, and over two parties aligned almost solidly in opposition.

It was expected at the beginning of the debate that the Progressives would give little opposition to the budget, but following the attempted sub-amendment, moved by Hon. T. A. Crerar, it is apparent that the party for the most part may be forced to vote against the budget, even though it may not wish to see the government defeated.

Dooms Tory Motion.

One thing is certain. Sir Henry Drayton's amendment will be buried beneath an avalanche of "Nays," as it will find hardly a supporter outside of the Conservative cohorts.

One of the outstanding speeches of the session was delivered today by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of marine.

Mr. Lapointe criticized Right Hon. Arthur Meighen as "the bad general of a beaten army."

"He has given a new exhibition of political rancor," continued the minister. "At a time when the complexity of problems, both domestic and international grow hourly, at a time when all the energies of the nation should be grouped or directed towards a common goal he, the leader of a once great army, offers to this Parliament an empty amendment.

"When young, vigorous and new statesmanship is needed he serves us with a piece of cold roast partisan nonsense.

"Of all the absurd proposals which have been heard in this house the Conservative amendment certainly takes the palm. It is overwhelmingly entitled to being granted the blue ribbon of that inglorious race."

Denies Any Violation.

Mr. Lapointe did not admit that any Liberal pledges had been violated in regard to the budget.

It was a Liberal budget, inclined in the right direction, and in a measure based upon, and according to the conditions which faced Canada in the world. At any rate, he contended, Mr. Meighen was disqualified from discussing questions of political honor.

What would be thought, he asked, of the political honor of honorable gentlemen, who, having obtained an extension of the life of Parliament and of their term of office on the condition that no controversial matter would be introduced, had taken advantage of it to alter the franchise and disqualify British subjects.

Mr. Meighen, at this point asked Mr. Lapointe to quote the promise to which he referred.

"My right honorable friend knows that I have not the text of that promise at hand," replied Mr. Lapointe, "but everybody knows that it was made at the time."

"It was never made," declared Mr. Meighen, "and my honorable friend knows it was never made."

"I know myself," returned Mr. Lapointe, "that such a promise was explicitly made at the time."

Assails Subterfuge.

What would be thought, Mr. Lapointe proceeded, of the political honor of those, who, having obtained a mandate with a pledge that it was for a specific purpose and would expire when that purpose was ended, had then clung to power for three years after that purpose had expired? The opposition party had changed its name at least as often as Henry VIII. had changed his wives, they had appropriated the names of other political parties and had used them without even applying to them their own marking act.

The budget was a Liberal budget based on the traditional policy of the Liberal party as it is, and not as it had been misrepresented. No party in Canada was in favor of absolute free trade.

The leader of the opposition had created a bogey called free trade at the time of the last election, and had gone round trying to frighten people with it.

Free trade was largely an academic question, and could not be realized during the lifetime of those present, or at any rate as long as the revenue derived from customs was essential. On the other hand, Mr. Lapointe was opposed to protection, if it resulted in prohibition of imports. Protection might kill the goose which laid the golden eggs. It was an impossibility to draft a tariff which would suit everyone. Therefore, the best that could be done was to arrive as nearly as possible at what was in the general interest of the whole country. No fiscal system was always good in every country under all circumstances. It must be flexible and geography and the needs of certain sections must be considered.

Favor Price Fixation.

In passing, Mr. Lapointe remarked that the Western farmer seemed to be in favor of the fixation of wheat prices through the medium of a wheat board.

Mr. Crearar immediately declared that the proposal to establish a wheat board did not mean the fixing of wheat prices in any degree.

Mr. Lapointe accepted this statement, saying that he had evidently gathered a wrong impression on the matter. He went on to state that the war had turned all theories of economics upside down. Since the close of the war sixteen countries had increased their import duties. England today was collecting over $700,000,000 on import duties.

All the changes in the tariff were downward and therefore, Mr. Lapointe resented the cry that the Liberals were untrue to their principles. Any more changes would have been unwise, and in carrying them out the government would have been untrue to the trust imposed in it by the people.

The budget was in line with Liberal principles, and no fair-minded man would blame the government for acting in the way it had.

W. C. Good (Progressive of Brant) asked if the Liberal party had materially moved in the direction of free trade between the years 1896 and 1908.

Mr. Lapointe retorted that it was likely that if the Liberals had, the farmers might have voted against it. Liberals hardly deserved to be told that they did not keep their pledges when they had gone down to defeat in trying to inforce them. Many of those who were now in favor of free trade had voted against the Liberals on that occasion.

Tariff For Revenue.

The policy of the Liberal party was not a policy of free trade, but of freer trade by way of tariff for revenue only.

Mr. Lapointe expressed regret at some of the statements made during the debate, particularly the ones to the effect that agriculture was dying in Canada. It was not true in his part of the country, and he could not let such a statement go unchallenged, because it did not make for the public good.

He also regretted the remarks of the only lady member (Miss MacPhail) in which she said that everybody was trying to acquire capital at the expense of his fellows. Such notes of despondency should be dropped if Canada was to smile once more.

Dr. S. F. Tolmie (Victoria) former minister of agriculture, declared that British Columbians distinctly understood in 1917 that the government then elected was to carry on for the regular term. The men who cheered so lustily on Dec. 6, and thought the day of political troubles was at an end, must have been sadly disappointed when they saw what was in the budget.

Farmers who had talked tariff should note that the 2½ per cent off implements meant $150,000, while the sales tax would add a burden of some $30,000,000. The tariff or implements talk had been much overdone; politicians had focussed attention on it when, if half as much attention had been paid to other phases of farm life such as better farming, improved seed, etc., a whole lot more good would have been accomplished.

Warns Sheep Producers.

Dr. Tolmie, noting that efforts were being made to establish closer trade relations with Australia, called attention to the fact that Australia had over eighty million sheep against Canada's three-quarters of a million and with low costs would be able to sell very cheaply. These facts should be kept in mind to prevent unfair competition with the Canadian sheep producers.

He urged that immediate steps be taken to guard against outbreaks of hog cholera in this country. This disease had become serious in the United States and determined efforts had been made in the past to stamp it out of Canada. He referred also to Hon. Motherwell's references to the campaign for the eradication of tuberculosis among cattle. To carry this out properly would cost millions of dollars, but the result would be well worth it.

He favored following the French system whereby horse racing was taxed a certain amount and the money was used by the federal government for the improvement of livestock and the eradication of disease.

He would favor placing racing under federal control by a federal act and the removing of it from the criminal code where it is now. Any revenue derived from that source would be used through a Dominion-wide association for the eradication of tuberculosis in the human being and any balance left for the eradication of tuberculosis among animals.

Cuts Cattle Embargo.

It was interesting to note the great interest which was being taken in the cattle embargo by the British people. The minister of agriculture in the British parliament had been quoted as saying that he had inherited the cattle embargo with all its difficulties and had found it a source of great perplexity. He hoped that when he reached the next world he would not find that there was a cattle embargo there.

"I have only to say that if the minister of agriculture of Great Britain will do what he can to get rid of the present embargo Canadian cattlemen will take a chance on there being an embargo in the next world," remarked Dr. Tolmie.

Lauds Crerar Motion.

C. W. Stewart (Progressive, Humboldt) regretted that the sub-amendment moved by Hon. T. A. Crerar was not before the house, because it stated the attitude of the Progressives in a clear and unmistakable manner. He was not satisfied with the Conservative amendment, although he agreed that where pledges were broken the breaking of them should be censured. He did not feel that he had been sent to Parliament to act as a keeper for the Liberal party; neither had he been sent to Parliament merely for the criticizing of the party in power.

Mr. Stewart, dealing with the budget, said there should have been a reduction of taxation on the necessities of life and a readjustment of taxation. He believed the salvation of the country lay in increasing its population. Conditions should be made so satisfactory for the people who were already here that they would wish to bring their friends to live beside them. There were immense amounts of vacant land throughout the West, which could be made to produce necessities of life.

Hon. D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general, paid a compliment to the Progressives, who were, he said, a body of new men who had brought to the House of Commons some splendid ideas. He urged that to bring about the proper development of the Dominion sectionalism must be forgotten; everyone must work for Canada as a whole, and it would be well also, to instill in the minds of the people a new idea respecting public men and their service. It was unfair to look upon public men as though they were people who must be carefully watched at all times.

Resuming after dinner Mr. McKenzie declared that Conservatives had criticized the budget as if the Liberals had been in charge of affairs for ten years. They had criticized as if the Liberals were responsible for the public debt, for the way in which the resources of the country had been exploited, and for the way in which borrowing had been carried on.

A great deal of timidity was to be found among members when they undertook to talk about the war and the war debt. The war was made the excuse of all kinds of extravagance by the late government.

It was right that Canada took her full share in the war, with the last dollar and the last man, but there was such a thing as doing it properly and not spending $50 when $1.00 would do the work. The late government could not escape criticism by crying "war." The debt was out of all proportion. It was well known to all supporters of the old government that thousands of men were gathered up at the expense of the national treasury and to England, when they were not fit for duty in France.

Weak and Nervous

In This Condition the Blood Supply Should Be Promptly Enriched.

Hardly any condition of ill health causes more worry to the sufferer than that for which there is generally least sympathy. Men and women with nerves out of gear often become irritable and are blamed for ill temper, when it is not their fault. Their poor health is the cause. The tired, over-busy wife and mother, whose household cares have worn her out; the bread-winner whose anxieties have worried him until he is thin and ill are among the nerve sufferers who become run down. Their nerves, like all bodily organs, need rich, red blood. In such cases the best and simplest treatment is a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich the blood and tone up the nervous system and bring good health and cheerfulness. Proof is given by Mr. Donald McLellan, Bay St. Lawrence, N.S., who says: "I was nervous and run down and did not sleep well. As I grew older I became worse, and suffered from the nervousness more than can be readily believed. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began a treatment of this medicine. After taking five boxes I felt like a new man; could eat well and sleep well, and felt improved in every way. I think very highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recommend them to any person who is run down and in want of vitality."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.—Advt.

Fears Meat Men Would Sell Cattle From Canada As Prime British Beef

LONDON, June 7.—The National Federation of the Meat Traders' Association is castigated by the minister of agriculture, Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, in a letter in the Times today.

Sir Arthur says he is not surprised at the association's perturbation at his remark in a recent speech before the Constitutional Club that the advocates of the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle are aiming at the importation of cattle from Canada three-quarters finished, these to be sold shortly afterwards as prime British or Scottish beef.

He recalls the old saying: "If the cap fits, you should put it on," and says this is a case in which the cap fits the National Federation to perfection.

The minister of agriculture proceeds to say: "Expert trade witnesses who gave evidence before the royal commission on the cattle embargo admitted that the meat of animals killed in Holland and Denmark was imported and sold here as 'home killed.'" He concludes his letter in the Times by admitting that the Canadian argument for the removal of the embargo "deserves to be received with sympathy and respect, even though we do not agree with them, but we cannot say the same for the Meat Federation's arguments."

BABES IN WANT WHEN DADDY IS 'BOOKIE' VICTIM

Detroit Man Who Forged Checks To Play Races Gets 3 1-2 to 14 Years.

WIFE GRIEVES IN HOME

Aged Father Walks To Work Because Family Needs Carfare For Food.

DETROIT, Mich., June 7.—Late tonight the wife of a confessed victim of the handbook sat alone in the home of her mother and vainly sought to picture the lives of two children while their father grinds out years of a prison sentence in payment of an attempt to beat the other man's game.

No greater disillusionment has the wife of Melvin C. Duke ever experienced than when, scarcely a week ago, she learned that for months her husband had been one of the dupes of a bookmaker.

Duke was sentenced to serve from 3½ to 14 years in the Michigan State Prison at Jackson when convicted of uttering and publishing a worthless check. He is 27 years old, and his wife is a year younger.

Unknown to Wife.

"No one suspected Melvin of gambling until he left to visit relatives several weeks ago," said Mrs. Domby. "Then we were horror-stricken by reports that he had been a habitue of gambling dens. Later, the police brought him to Detroit."

Duke always was kind to his wife and children, but never had money for the home following his discharge from the Crucible Steel Company offices, where a shortage was charged in his accounts. That was three months ago.

Funds aggregating $226 were alleged to be missing when his employer checked up. Since then he has been in court many times on charges of uttering worthless checks, and always as the "fever" obsessed him, has given his last cent to the "grind," as the money gathered in by the handbook men is known, in the hope that some day he would "clean up."

Father Pays, Too.

Mrs. Duke was born in the enviroment of a sturdy, Christian family. The word "gambling" always had been unknown to her. Her father, who is in his 71st year, has been working ten hours a day to support his wife, daughter and grandchildren.

The children, Clara, 2 years old, and Robert, 3 months old, have been taken care of during a recent illness by a friend of the family. In the last few months the specter of want has done all but break the courage of the aged father, who daily walks to work because his family needs the care fare.

"If Melvin had told me he was gambling on the races months ago when he said he first began, I know I could have prevented the trouble that has come since," said Mrs. Duke. "But that's too late now, and I suppose we must face it through."

DISCOVER BODY OF MISSING YOUTH

TORONTO, June 7.—Missing for a week, Harry Magee, aged 24, employed in the auditing department at the city hall, was found dead in a bed in a room at 204 Sherbourne street, suffocated by illuminating gas.

Robert Magee, hotelkeeper at Stayner, father of the young man, arrived in the city today to assist in the finding of his son, and was with Detectives Winters and Clarke when word was received that his body had been found.

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER STOMACH FOR FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millerdale, Sask., writes: "I feel that I must write to you before another day passes, I am so happy and so grateful to your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better.

"I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I had four doctors attend me, but they did me no good. I was in no pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die, in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many weeks.

"This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken. However, he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out a little every day, but could not go alone I was so weak, but I soon got so I could walk and eat, and have got quite stout.

"I am nearly seventy years of age, and I feel better than I have for years, and can now do all my housework.

"You may use this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

BAR MATHILDE IF SHE MARRIES OSER

Zurich Society Make Declaration Concerning Contemplated Wedding.

ZURICH, June 7.—Mathilde McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, will be barred from Zurich society if she weds Max Oser.

The leaders of Switzerland's four hundred today are preparing to exclude Miss McCormick from their exclusive circles if she goes through with the marriage.

As Mathilde McCormick, member of one of the world's richest families, she is welcome, if properly introduced. But as Fraulien Max Oser, wife of a livery stable man, she could only come in through the servants' entrance.

The four hundred have nothing personal against Oser, who has always acted as a gentleman, whose manners are perfect, and who is rather pitied, because of the general belief that Mathilde threw herself at his head—but he simply doesn't "belong." As one grand dame in Zurich expressed it: "Oser is a perfect riding master, but he can enter my house only as a servant." The blue-bloods cannot forgive Oser's father for once having managed a circus.

However, many of these same exclusive personages are secretly hoping that the marriage will enable Max to purchase the riding school, in which they are financially interested, and which is running at a loss. Oser is now merely a paid instructor, and they would like to sell out to him.

FARMER WOUNDED ON HUNTING TRIP

Walter Buckston Seriously Injured When His Gun Explodes.

Special to London Advertiser.

HEPWORTH, June 7. — Walter Buckston, a young farmer of Amabel Township, near Hepworth, met with a serious accident when a gun which he was using in hunting groundhogs accidentally discharged. The bullet lodged in his left arm shattering it badly.

Buckston was trying to poke a ground hog out of its hiding place with the butt of the gun when something touched the trigger and it went off, the shot entering his left arm. He managed to make his way back to the house.

Dr. Campbell of Hepworth was called and he succeeded in removing the shot. An artery was severed and the arm was found to be in a badly mangled condition. The injured man was rushed to the General and Marine Hospital, Owen Sound.

CLAIMS UNREST IS PROTEST OF WORLD'S HEART

Rev. C. W. Gordon Addresses Presbyterian General Assembly At Winnipeg.

ROOT OUT NATIONAL EVIL

Points To Russia As Example of Godless Country.

WINNIPEG, June 7.—Delivering the moderator's sermon to the Presbyterian General Assembly, in session here tonight, Rev. C. W. Gordon declared that the world's unrest is the protest of the world's hungry heart. He questioned if any nation can ignore or think untruly of God and settle down into an abiding peace.

Following is the moderator's sermon in part:

"The history of religion has been described as the story of man's quest after God. More truly it might be described as God's quest after man. For wonderful as it may appear, in the heart of the Eternal God there is the eternal yearning that His children may come home to Him.

"Human history is but the story of that divine yearning and its reaction in human experience.

"The Bible is the record of the divine yearning and the human reaction. In the 55th chapter of Isaiah, as nowhere else in the Old Testament, is the heart of the record set forth. The New Testament counterpart is the story in the 15th chapter of Luke of the boy who left his home, wandered into desolated and shameful exile, but who found his way back to his father's home and to his father's heart. A most wonderful story, that the most wonderful story of the most wonderful event in man's history, exquisite, simple, sufficient.

"The historical setting of this prophecy is the imminent return of Israel, now for sixty years exiled in Babylon, to their native land. The purpose of the prophecy is to awaken in every son and daughter of Israel a longing for the home land and a determination to pull up out of Babylon, adventure the desert, and settle again in Israel's own land, the land of covenant and of promise. To bring to pass this desired event the prophet plays upon their heart-strings a luring melody. And first of all he offers—

Not Able to Satisfy.

"Appealing to their deepest consciousness, he reminds them that in spite of all that Babylon may have done for them in the way of delights of heart and mind it has not been able to satisfy their soul-thirst, their heart-hunger.

"'Ho, every one a thirst come ye to the waters.'

"'Why do ye spend money for that which is not bread?'

"That unrest in the heart of exiled Israel is the unrest of the thirsty soul, of the hungry heart, and never can Israel come to a quiet spirit till that hunger and thirst be satisfied.

"And why be hungry? Why athirst? Why? Because 'Ye spend money for that which is not bread and labor for that which does not satisfy.'

"What, then, is bread for man? What will satisfy that hungry spirit?

"Heaken diligently unto me."

"'My thoughts are not your thoughts.'

"'As the rain . . so shall my word be.'

"Across the centuries we catch the echo of another voice, the voice of One who spake as never man spake: 'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.'

"Words are soul food, thoughts, truth. God's truth will satisfy the mind and heart of man. The heart of man has been feeding upon falsehood and is therefore restless. Unrest is the eternal protest of the hungry heart.

"The outstanding phenomenon today in the world is the universal unrest. Never in the world's history has this phenomenon been so universally and so painfully apparent. It appears to be impossible for the nations to settle to the world's work. And this unrest is as truly apparent among the peoples calling themselves Christian and civilized as among those who make no great pretension to be either Christian or civilized. In pagan China and India and in Christian Europe the peoples are equally distracted with heart restlessness. Nor is this distressing phenomenon a characteristic of any particular form of government. It is present in republican France, in soviet Russia, in democratic America, in monarchial Britain. Nor is it confined to any special department of life. In industry, in literature, in politics, society and religion, life is 'like the troubled sea which cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt.'

Feeding on Falsehood.

"The explanation is not to be sought in things political or economic. We must look deeper. The minds of nations and of men for many generations have been feeding not upon truth, but upon falsehood; and now, famished and poisoned, they cannot come to rest. The intellectual and moral environment of the human supirit today is saturated with untruth.

"What are the great facts in man's intellectual and spiritual environment? They are but two—God and Man. And in regard to these facts the nations have been feeding upon falsehood. It is the mission of the Church of God, the Church of the God revealed in Christ, to give to the world the truth that will feed the world's famine—the truth about God and the truth about man. Let the nations receive into their minds and hearts these great truths and upon them will fall the peace of God that passeth understanding.

"And what is the truth about God?

"Wide as human thought and infinitely wider, deep as the human heart and infinitely deeper, lofty as man's imagination and infinitely beyond, is the truth about God.

"'My thoughts are not your thoughts.'

"'As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my thoughts higher than your thoughts.'

"But upon the shoreless sea of truth we may walk and compas with the finite measure of our minds some shining inlets of truth.

"Neither man nor nation can hope to come to rest unless the God of Right be in their thoughts determining the standard of right living and giving authority to conscience. Lenine had banished God from Bolshevik Russia, and Russia moans in voiceless misery. The nations of Europe, battered by war, with no clear consciousness that over them God is and reigns the God of Right, are driven hither and thither by furious gusts of untamed ambitions. How, without the subduing sense of the God of Right, can they come to rest?

God Is Father.

"But the Christian faith holds something more in its content of God. Jesus taught us something finer and better than that about God. He chose one of the two greatest words in human speech to sum up the full truth about God and told us "God is you Father." And that word holds for us the full and final measure about God. That is our greatest treasure in truth. God is Father. All that is authoritative, protective, responsible, gracious, loving, in the content of that word for us we put into our thought of God. As you think of your father, as my boy thinks of me, so we may think of God. That is our Christian notion of God for which we must thank Jesus. Does not this truth make for peace? If the nations held in their minds this truth about God; if China, dark, mighty, struggling China, knew Him so; if India, distraught with confusion of her myriad terrible gods, knew God as the Righteous Father, how the peace of God would fall upon their distempered souls!

"And what of our own dear land, the homeland of so many of us, with its social, economic, industrial unrest? Is it mere coincidence, or has it a deeper significance that this ominous unrest of the people should synchronize with the startling condition that only 11 per cent of Britain's people have any vital connection with any church? Should it not give Christian America pause to remember that, coincident with her chronic state of industrial warfare and of social disintegration, stands the fact that of their 110 millions over 57 millions are outside of any church, Christian, semi-Christian or Jewish? Can any nation that ignores God, or that thinks untruly of Him, settle down into an abiding peace? No! The world's unrest is the protest of the world's hungry heart. A world that could forget or ignore the Father God and still be at peace would be a sufficient demonstration of His non-existence. These fevered moanings, These fretful, passionate cries of the peoples are but the pitiful protests of children, hungry and wandered and bereft of parental love and care. The first step to peace is to think truly of God.

Why Not Tell Truth?

"And here let us of the Christian faith pause and ask why do these peoples not know the truth about God after all these twenty hundred years? We know God as the righteous and loving Father. Why have we not told the truth about Him? Let us come to grips with ourselves. Do we give true testimony to Him? He is a good Father, the best in all the universe. What do we say about Him? What do our lives say of Him, these vocal lives of yours, these God-ignoring lives, these sense-enslaved lives, with their passions, and fears, and unassuaged griefs? Do they speak of a Father near, whose nearness brings joy, whose hand steadies us, comforts us, rests us? Why do we not tell the truth about God? Ah! ah! if my boy should so misrepresent the truth about his father, or a father who cared nothing for him, how it would break his father's heart! God be merciful to us and rid us of these terrible hearts of ours! It is written, 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.' What of thy Father?

"Then there is that other fact in man's spiritual environment—Man. What of the truth about man? Here again we are on the shore of a sea of truth infinitely vast. For the truth about man runs up into the truth about God, because man is kin to God and shares his life. But of that truth, vast and infinite in its variety and scope, we may select one fact for our heart furnishing, a fact of mighty potentiality. He is our Brother. Brother by virtue of his blood strain, and more brother because he too is a child of the Heavenly Father. Let us not be too theological, but think here as plain men in the street. Hear this prophet with his world horizon:

"'Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not: and nations that knew thee shall run unto thee.'

"And why?

"'Because of Jehovah, thy God.'

"With what poisoned food have the nations been feeding their souls! Greek to Greek is brother. But what of Greek to Turk? Of Russian to Pole? Of German to French, or to Briton or Canadian indeed? 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine enemy.' So they told of old time. But what is the truth set forth in our Christian faith? 'I say unto you, Love your enemies.' There is room for subtle refinings but the word of the Master of us all, the Founder of our Faith, still runs.

Face Facts.

"As honest men we must face up to the facts however ugly they be. The nations do not hold in their hearts the truth about man, that he is brother to us all. How terrible the untruth which has poisoned the heart of mankind, and poison means fever, and fever unrest!

"Upon the fevered minds of the delegates to the Genoa Conference fell, as if from the sky, an appeal brought by a priest from the Vatican, an appeal for brotherly love. How must these representatives of the Christian nations of Europe have forgotten!

"The nations of the world have been spending their money for that which is not bread. Hence heart hunger, hence unrest.

"Tonight, as we worship, souls are agonizing in China about this thing, Sin. As we speak here together, men are undergoing self-torture in India, seeking relief from sin. They know not what to do about sin. 'I doubt,' says the Greek sage to his inquiring student, 'whether we may safely say that the gods can forgive sins.' It is the age long problem of religious teachers. What can be done with sin. They have not yet found a solution. The wise men of the world, today, we do not know. 'Forget it, ignore it,' say some; but conscience leaps upon the sinner and stabs his sleeping soul into terrified wakefulness.

"Who in all the world knows what to do with sin? We do. We of the Christian Faith know. No one else knows.

Brings True Conception.

"Let us be clear about this. The Church that Jesus Christ called into being has a very definite mission to mankind, and it is this—to give a true testimony to Jesus. And in Jesus we have the true and full revealing of God as the righteous Father and of man as brother. But it is not to be forgotten that this revealing is in a world of sinful men and is for the sake of sinful men. It is the glory of our Holy Faith that it brings to the hearts of men the true conception of the Great God, that He is indeed our Father, and that He continues to be our Father in the face of our grievous sin, not repudiating us who are guilty, not ignoring the fact of our sin, but forgiving us of our sin and receiving us into the family life and the family home.

"And as to man, our holy faith proclaims all men brothers, not simply by reason of blood relationship, but because that men are children of God, and that we of the faith are to call all men home to the Father, to welcome them returning, for that they and we have been forgiven and have been received into the fellowship of the Father.

"And now there remains a last offer of the prophet to Israel, and of the Spirit to us all who wait in exile for release and return.

"There is a purpose behind the return of Israel:

"'Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the briar shall come up the myrtle tree.' The land of covenant and of promise is to be redeemed from the desolation of abandonment. Thorns and briars are to be torn up that fir trees and myrtle trees may have full room to grow.

"God's purposes are fulfilled thus. Men who feed upon his eternal truth, and who, forsaking the way of falsehood, return to him, enter into loving and living fellowship with him and with their brother-man. These are they who become his ministers and messengers to men.

Root Up Thorns.

"Here again we are at the commonplace of the gospel. Every land is God's land, however overrun with briars and thorns; and to every man who has come back to God and entered into fellowship with him there is given a great enterprise—that he should begin at once to root up the briars and thorns that trip and tear the feet of all wayfarers, that choke and hinder the upgrowth of tall, clean fir trees of which homes and temples may be built, and the fragrant and beautiful myrtle trees that bring joy and beauty to the landscape.

"That, brethren, is the work of our church in Canada. To tear up, to root out, the evil things in our national life and in every department of it, those things that hinder the development of strong men and fair women. This is the immediate duty of our church in Canada, the duty of men of the faith in public life, in industrial and in commercial life, in social and in home life—to pull up the things that hinder the growth of our sons into tall, clean, straight men, our daughters into fair, beautiful and fragrant-hearted women.

"And while Canada is our land and God's land, we dare not forget that all lands are God's lands, and what he would have us do for Canada he would have us do for those his other lands.

"Fathers and brethren, shall we seek now the Lord while he may be found, shall we call upon him while he is near? Let us forsake the evil way, the unrighteous thought of God our Father, of man our brother, and let us return unto the Lord that we may receive his pardon, that rested, cleansed, strengthened, we may fulfill here in our own dear land, and in all God's dear lands, his gracious purpose of redemption."

STATES RUSSIA NEEDS SUPPLIES

Regret Genoa Conference Did Not Agree On International Loan.

Number of German Salesmen in Moscow Constantly Increases.

Moscow, June 7.—Russia needs a vast amount of machinery and other material for the upbuilding of her industries, but instead of a flood, the incoming streams of supplies are tiny and hardly make any impression on the actual needs of the country. Had the Genoa conference agreed upon an international loan to help Russia, conditions in this regard might be much more favorable today, it is pointed out, but as it is, Soviet officials are saying: "A little water is welcome in a desert."

Up to the present time the German-Russian agreement signed at Genoa has not been followed by any great economic co-operation between the two countries, nevertheless German salesmen, German experts and German capitalists are arriving in Moscow in constantly increasing numbers. Every train from Riga brings dozens of them, and they are scattering to the four corners of Russia to buy, or sell, or build, or just look around. Some of them return to Germany disgusted with business chances. Others stay and do business.

Foreign money is coming into Russia in driblets, and foreign industrialists, particularly German, are accepting concessions with a measure of control by the Bolshevik government.

Herr F. Shottack, charge d'affairs of the German mission at Petrograd, has announced in the Isvestia that a Russo-German Chamber of Commerce is to be organized at Petrograd.

"Germany," he said, "will give Russia technical help. I am of the opinion that Russia and Germany can re-establish their economic life by their own efforts."

This feeling of Herr Shottack is shared by many Soviet officials with whom the correspondent has talked. They never had much hope, after they learned that America would not participate in Genoa, that they could expect any immediate economic help from the Allies.

The Russian foreign trade department and the supreme economic council discontinued many negotiations with individuals seeking concessions or endeavoring to make sales, while the Genoa conference was in session. These negotiations are now to be renewed.

ADANA, Cicilia, June 7.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish Nationalist government, has given orders for the conscription of all Christians resident in Cilicia. They are to be formed into labor brigades and sent to the front line trenches to assist the Turkish army in its war against the Greeks.

STOCKHOLM, June 7.—A neutral international commission organized to examine into the causes of the world war has begun sessions here. The commission consists of historians, jurists and military men from Holland, Norway, Switzerland and Sweden. Professor Reuterskioeld of Upsala University is presiding over the sittings.

STUTTGART, June 7. — Rembrandt's well-known painting, "St. Paul in Prison," valued at 5,000,000 marks, has been stolen from the government art museum here. A reward of 50,000 marks has been offered for information leading to the identification of the thief and the return of the painting.

The stolen picture is an early work of Rembrandt's bearing the date of 1627.

MADRID, June 7.—Ex-Empress Zita's baby was baptized in the Pardo Palace yesterday as Maria Cristina Victoria Eugenia. This name was given to the child in accordance with the mother's special desire to commemorate the hospitality of the Spanish royal family in the hours of her misfortune.

The Papal Nuncio officiated at the ceremony, which was strictly private, only a few persons of high rank being present. The Spanish sovereigns acted as sponsors. Among the others present were Archduchess Maria Theresa, the Duchess of Parma and Archdukes Maximilian and Otto. The minister of justice made the entries in the register.

PARIS, June 7.—Paul Guilvert, a painter living at Melun, a suburb of Paris, has had a strange experience, receiving correspondence from a father and brother-in-law who had been dead ten years and one month, respectively.

The greeting came in the form of a picture postal card sent from Provins, also a Paris suburb, and for a short time left him stunned. The signatures were obviously genuine, and the word of greeting was dated May 10. Guilvert then noticed that the card bore a 5-centime stamp, which was the pre-war postage rate. Putting the postmark under a magnifying glass, he was able to make out the date 1908.

Fourteen years for a card to travel less than 40 miles is believed to be a record for slow travel, even in Europe.

PARIS, June 7.—The best way for a woman to maintain good general health and perfect balance of brain is to perform household work regularly, according to eminent scientists and brain specialists meeting together in Paris at the "Conference of Mental Hygiene." Work performed about the house not only brings into play the whole series of varied groups of muscles, but also sooths hyper-excitability and hyper-emotivity. It further means relief for those given over to forms of obsession known as "melancholic mystic contemplation."

And whereas physical exercise does not produce any tangible result household work is a form of exercise which—say the scientists with sly humor—brings the reward of a "clean, agreeable home."

The Premier's Stand.

IN HIS address on the budget RIGHT HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING dealt with a matter that is very evident to all fair-minded people, viz., that the budget brought down by MR. FIELDING is the carrying out of promises made by the premier during the campaign of 1921.

All through the campaign a persistent effort was made to tag the Liberals as free traders. No matter what statements were made to the contrary, and how well the beliefs of the individual candidates were known, the effort was never abandoned right up to the last moment to make it appear that the coming of the Liberal government would be the signal for the immediate wiping out of all the tariff in the country, and the flooding of Canada with foreign-made goods of all sorts.

The Liberals were not free traders, and they said so. Just a day or so prior to the taking of the vote THE ADVERTISER wired every Liberal candidate in Western Ontario and published their answers, showing that the naming of them as free traders, as was being done by the Conservatives all through the country, was an unfair and an unjust thing.

Neither were the Liberals high tariff men, and they said so. There is nothing taking place now that could not have been foreseen during the last election.

The premier, all through his campaign, spoke plainly, and not evasively of the things he intended to do in the framing of the proper tariff for Canada.

The people knew when they voted on December 6 last that the KING government would not include free agricultural implements in its tariff.

The leader of the Liberals at that time stated many times that no business earning a legitimate profit would be in a place where its interests would be jeopardized. He stated that he regarded the Liberal tariff platform of 1919 as a chart, rather than an order. He stated he would bring to bear the best minds in the country in the discussion of the problems dealt with in a tariff.

These have all been done, and when the premier rises in the house to point out these things he is talking absolute fact.

Paying Aldermen.

LONDON CITY COUNCIL—or at least a portion of it—plans to get through a measure so that aldermen will be paid $25 per month for their services.

Only a few short weeks ago the school teachers of this city were facing the chances of a horizontal cut in their wages to relieve taxation.

Following that the garbage men and some of the other lesser-paid branches were cut to relieve taxation.

The street car men, although not working for the city, had a reduction in their wages.

In the face of this why should there be pay for aldermen?

They accepted—in fact, fought for—office on the basis of no pay for their services.

There has been nothing happen in the meantime to warrant changing the basis on which the electors handed over to them the management of civic affairs for a year.

The Family Man.

WRITING TO THE ADVERTISER in regard to the sales tax, a reader brings up the point that it is not operative on many of the things an average household has to buy. That statement is only a part truth, and should be further explained.

When the FIELDING budget was brought down in the house a list of articles that are not hit by the sales tax was included. (Page 2200, Hansard.) Some of these are as follows: Bread, flour, oatmeal, rolled oats and cornmeal, rolled wheat, buckwheat meal and pea meal, animals living, live poultry, meats and poultry, milk, including buttermilk, cream, butter, cheese, oleomargarine or other substitutes for butter, lard eggs, vegetables, fruits, grains and seeds in their natural state, bran, shorts, bees, honey, sugar, molasses, salt, other farm produce sold by the farmer of his own production, fish, not canned.

The list is much longer than the above, but these items are selected because they are those that have a bearing on the expenses of the average householder. As far as many of the staple articles of diet are concerned, the sales tax does not apply, but these items are only a portion of those entering into the costs of running a house and clothing the family. Any mother or father knows that large items of expenditure come in clothing, boots, shoes, etc., and on these items the sales tax is operative.

It is on this ground that the argument is based—and it is one that has weight and point—that further steps should be taken to consider the man on a small or average wage who has a large family to support. At present things bear more heavily on him than on his bachelor brother, because nearly every time purchases of clothing are made tribute is paid to the country in the way of indirect taxation. It does not take much investigation to show that this class of people have a case that is worth every consideration.

The June Bride.

JUNE is now well under way! And, upon its pathway of roses, is the June bride.

Likewise comes the groom, of course. There can be no bride unless there be a groom as well. Don't forget that. There are still a few of life's arrangements that must count man in. They are only a few, to be sure, but still they are there.

Let us pay small heed to the groom, however. It is not necessary to do more. That the show cannot go on without him is true only in the sense and in the same way that the play of "Julius Caesar" must have a supernumerary in it to hold CAESAR'S hat. The groom is no more than that, and sometimes he isn't even that much.

To paraphrase SHAKESPEARE, "The bride's the thing." It is she for whom the organ plays and the lutes send forth their melodies. She is, to use an old yet always reliable saying, "the cynosure of all eyes."

But why speak of the June bride in particular and not of brides in general, someone may ask? Isn't a bride a bride, whether she be a June or a January bride? Or a March or September bride?

True, true. Certainly a bride is a bride, no matter what month may claim her as such. But there are brides and brides. And the pre-eminent, the bride of brides, the queen bee of them all is the June bride. She is the bride of poetry and of the traditions of the ages. Because June is the month of summer; the month when the birds are chirping over their young, and the trees, as Joyce Kilmer said, are wearing nests of robins in their hair.

And so, down the crowded and expectant aisle of the church, with the organ pealing, the ladies wide-eyed and the men folks breathing hard at the sight of her, comes the June bride.

In the glory of her youth, in the glamor of her maidenhood, radiant as the morning sun, beautiful as the dawn, she comes. And in her eyes the mystery that sleeps in the pools of Heshbon.

It is worth the trip to the church to see her. She represents in that hour the destinies of life. She holds within her slim, white fingers the hopes of the world. Today a maiden, and in days to come a mother of the race.

This side of the stars of Heaven there is nothing to compare with her. God bless her, and may her tribe increase.

A Negative Force.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN has spoken on the budget debate. In his address he defended protection, urging that it would be unsafe for Canada to take down barriers and compete with United States.

In the amendment, which the leader of the Conservatives seconded, he scores the government for not having moved toward freer trade in a greater measure.

Really, MR. MEIGHEN, which do you mean?

You talk quite earnestly about the value of protection and the folly of removing it, and then condemn the government for not doing away with protection.

When a country is up to its neck in debt, it's time to expect something in the way of common sense from men who are supposed to be leaders of public thought.

It must be a bitter disappointment to many Conservatives who thought HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN was big enough to be premier of Canada to find out now that in a time when constructive thought and searching inquiry are needed, and must be forthcoming, that their leader's sole aim is to small politics.

Piling rails on the road to wreck the government is the sum total of HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN'S contribution to the solution of one of the most difficult situations Canada has ever faced.

Change the Order.

STILL ANOTHER case is reported in the east where a young man shot a girl he wanted to marry and then turned the gun on himself.

There should be a change made in the order of this shooting.

Let those who feel that they must shoot others and themselves start first on themselves. When they have done all the gunning they can there, then let them attend to others.

Now then, Mr. Weatherman, a little rain, please, and thank you.

A number of the cities in Ontario are taking up the matter of putting up road signs outside the municipality, with such words as "Welcome to ———," etc. One of the finest ways to impress the tourist is to have the city or town fixed up in such shape that the whole place gets up and shouts at him on account of its very excellence and superiority over surrounding centres.

THE WANDERING MINSTRELS

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 235—WEIGHING THE PROMISE.

Can you weigh the value of the promise which is given to you in a letter?

Yes, if the letter is written by hand. Suppose you have recently written to one of your customers who has fallen behind in the payment of his account, asking him how soon you may expect him to make a remittance.

He, or she, has replied to you with a letter in which the first letters of each word have been written large, the size of the letters trailing off somewhat toward the end of the word. Or suppose that the size of the letters trails off smaller toward the end of the line, each line having been started with comparatively large ones.

There is your answer.

It does not mean that this person has no intention of paying you. It does not mean that ultimately there is any necessity to doubt that you will be paid in full. It has nothing to do with the honesty of the person. But the warning is there that you may possibly be disappointed if you count too strongly upon the fulfillment of the promise to pay by a certain specified date. People who write this way are the kind who are inclined to "bite off more than they can chew" and to promise more than they can fulfill.

TODAY'S word is EXTRADITION.

It's pronounced—eks-tra-dish-un, with accent on the third syllable.

It means—the surrender or delivery of an alleged criminal by one sovereignty or state to another having jurisdiction to try him; hence, in general, the surrender of a prisoner by one authority to another.

It comes from—Latin "ex," out, and "traditio," a delivery up.

It's used like this—"Since there is no Canadian equivalent of an American prohibition law violation, Canadian courts have refused consistently the extradition of such offenders."

Q.—How many kinds of manufactures has Canada?

A.—Canada now has nearly 400 different kinds of manufactures, compared with a comparatively few in 1867, and the number is steadily growing as industry expands.

NIAGARA FALLS.

Q.—What is the respective flow of the Canadian and American Falls?

A.—Ninety-five per cent of the waters of Niagara Falls flows over the Canadian Fall, and 5 per cent over the American Fall. The international boundary line runs midway down the channel of the Niagara River, and some part of the Canadian Fall lies therefore on the United States side of the line.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE.

HOW TO REST!

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

HERE is a science in resting. One great cause of nervous prostration is ignorance of this science.

A person may lie down, willing himself to rest, and, by the mere effort of willing, cause a nerve strain that will undo the benefits of lying down.

We very correctly lay the blame for many nervous maladies of today to high tension and strain. People rush through work, meals and even sleep. Only those who have learned something of the real art of relaxing, can stand such strain day in and day out, and continue in good health.

Hard work never will hurt the man or woman who can forget business and worries when business hours are over.

Relaxation and recreation often are the same thing. Strenuous exercise may be a form of rest if it calls into play other organs and muscles.

There is little advantage in trying to rest your tired body if you cannot at the same time rest your tired mind and nerves.

"Nerves" never can be treated effectively while the body is fatigued. Learning to rest, therefore, is elementary.

One great neurological clinic has an effective procedure in teaching nervous patients how to rest.

The patient lies down comfortably and, closing his eyes, gives his thoughts to relaxing the arm and leg muscles. To test the relaxation, the doctor raises an arm by the wrist, or a leg by the ankle, and suddenly lets it go; the completely relaxed limb will instantly fall limp; the least enervation is shown by a hesitation in the fall of the limb or by a slightly continued rise after cessation of the motive power as applied by the physician.

This procedure has been found beneficial in several nervous manifestations.

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY CABR

THE VEHEMENT FLAME. By Margaret Deland. Hodder & Stoughton, Publishers, 265 Adelaide street west, Toronto. $2.

This novel begins with a situation, which, on first thoughts, may well be deemed hopeless by the average Ontario reader—a boy 19 years old is suddenly married to a woman of 39 in the first chapter.

But despite that apparent imbecility, the reader will quickly find himself in the midst of an absorbing and vital story of real life—a story indeed, which few will willingly lay down until the last page has been turned.

Both the leading characters—the vigorous, enthusiastic boy, Maurice Curtis; the yielding, sentimental woman, Eleanor, with her wonderful gift of song—are distinctly likable and lovable.

Why Maurice fell in love with Eleanor and why Eleanor capitulated to Maurice is not left in doubt at all. It was the floodtide of romance that carried 'em over the natural barrier of disparity in age and swept them into a region of troubled waters subsiding slowly over the waste lands of disillusion.

The boy absolutely forgot the difference of years, because, you see, he already felt himself a man grown up, and he saw that Eleanor was beautiful, most desirable. The woman, older in years but less mature in spirit, shut her eyes to the difference and let herself drift with the dream of happiness. Whose fault was it? Which of them was more to blame?

Silly question, which Mrs. Deland does not even try to answer, because it does not lie within the horizon of human judgment.

The portrait of Lily Dale, little woman of the town, is drawn with much skill, and is one of the most interesting minor pictures in the book. Her natural "commonness"—that is to say, her lack of principle, of self-control, of sensitiveness except in regard to her love of flowers and her maternal passion for her child—this side of her nature is delicately, but firmly sketched.

But it must be confessed that if Lily Dale is regarded as a type, she is not convincing. There are too many improbable links in her story. It is only as an exception that she is credible. And, after all, though she makes so much trouble, you cannot cast her out and throw stones at her. Her child may save her.

This boy, the fruit of the liaison between Maurice and Lily Dale becomes the pivot of the after-story. The piper has to be paid. With honesty and valor? Or with evasion and fear? That is the problem of "The Vehement Flame."

The scene where Eleanor goes to the river to solve her problem by the supreme sacrifice of her life—and fails—and yet somehow succeeds—is wonderfully well described: graphic without exaggeration, poignant without the overstrain of hysteria.

And what of the heroine in the background, little Edith Houghton, the "new girl" with antique principles, in whose love there is no taint of jealousy, the figure who stands out after the tragedy offering the hope of a happy ending? Even if she does not quite convince you, you cannot help loving her. She stands for sunrise after a night of storm.

This book is one of the best of the offerings of the year owing to the clarity and justness of the style in which it is written.

Other Marchers

THE march of the unemployed veterans to Ottawa has recalled to the mind of writers previous pilgrimages to other capitals.

It is 28 years since Coxey's army made its celebrated pilgrimage to Washington—the most exact historic parallel to Macdonald's march.

The early nineties in the United States were marked by severe depression, unemployment and falling prices. All sorts of fads, political and social, had the great republic by the ears. Among the sufferers from the decline in prices was Jacob S. Coxey.

According to tradition, Coxey had a horse which he considered worth all of $1,000. Unfortunately, when auctioned off, the animal went for $145. Coxey, appalled by the falling prices, sought a remedy; and the remedy he found was an immediate issue of $500,000,000 of paper money to be spent putting the unemployed to work building roads.

Massillon, Ohio, was the place where Coxey raised the standard of "the Army of the Commonwealth of Christ," and from which he set forth at the head of 100 soldiers and 45 press reporters on his crusade. Coxey led the van; the main body was headed by Kelly, the same fighting Kelly made famous in company with Burke and Shea.

As the march progressed new recruits joined Coxey's banner. At one stage of the pilgrimage the "army" numbered several thousands. On the whole they met a fair reception along their line of march and for the most part behaved passing well.

The Plutocrats Shivered.

For six long weeks the attention of the United States of America was centered on Coxey's army. Diligent press correspondents kept the country in touch with what it had done, was doing, and, above all, with what it meant to do. Timid folk shivered with apprehension as to what might happen when the horde descended on the capitol.

But six weeks is a long walking stunt—particularly through March winds and April showers. Enthusiasm for the "Commonwealth of Christ" and an unlimited issue of paper money was not proof against the material harassments of drenched clothing and empty stomachs. The further the army went the more unruly it grew, and the less encouraging was the attitude of the country on which it depended for a living. Stragglers fell out of the line at every stopping place, and in between.

In early May Coxey, faithful to the last, led a torn, tattered and footsore remnant of some 300 men into Washington and headed for the capitol. Coxey lined up his travel-stained contingents, and made a last eloquent appeal to them. "On, my men," he declared in effect. "On—on to the capitol. The goal is in sight. A few steps more and victory is ours."

The Fatal Mistake.

And just at that juncture, a vigilant policeman tapped him on the shoulder. "You're under arrest," he said. Don't you see that sign—"

"KEEP OFF THE GRASS."

So "General" Coxey went to jail for the heinous offence of trespassing on the lawn of the capitol; and Coxey's army faded away, and was numbered with the "things that were."

TRAINING TIME WILL BE BRIEF

Hon. George P. Graham Announces Allocation of Amounts by Districts.

Gives Total Enrollment in Non-Permanent Militia As 51,576.

OTTAWA, June 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Answering a question by Hon. H.H. Stevens as to the distribution of the military camps item in the militia department estimates, Hon. George P. Graham, minister of defence, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that from 30 per cent to 40 per cent of the establishment of each military district would receive limited training either in camp or at local headquarters.

Cavalry and infantry would be trained for nine days, artillery would have six days at local headquarters and gun detachments only six additional days in camp.

For departmental units little beyond the minimum requirements of the small camps authorized could be undertaken this year. Permanent force units would receive about one month's camp training.

The allocation of amounts by districts would be approximately as follows: No. 1, $89,000; No. 2, $190,000; No. 3, $100,000; No. 4, $112,000; No. 5, $48,000; No. 6, $74,000; No. 7, $34,000; No. 10, $75,000; No. 11, $66,000; No. 12, $69,000, and No. 13, $58,000. The permanent force would receive approximately $60,000, and $25,000 was allocated for miscellaneous expenditure.

The total enrollment of all ranks in the non-permanent militia on March 31, 1922, was 51,576.

Claims Ireland Remains Within Empire Under Griffith Proposal

LONDON, June 7.—The revised draft of the Irish constitution, brought to London today by Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, provides among other things, says The Evening News, "that Ireland shall remain within the empire in the same way as a dominion."

"Decisions of the privy council," says the newspaper, "shall be final in all constitutional matters concerning the Free State, subject to certain conditions. Assent of the crown must be obtained to all legislation in the Free State. The oath of allegiance provided in the Anglo-Irish treaty shall be observed."

The News says it is understood there also have been some modifications in the earlier provisions in the draft giving the Free State wider control over foreign affairs than the imperial government was prepared to concede.

DISCUSS EDUCATION OF RURAL SECTION

Members of Guelph District Meet At Ontario Agricultural College.

Special to London Advertiser.

GUELPH, June 7.—The rural educational conference held at the O. A. C. today for the Guelph district, comprising the counties of Halton, Wentworth, Perth, Waterloo and Wellington, under the auspices of the Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association, attracted a large number of those who are interested in educational work in this section of Ontario.

The program contained the names of a number of prominent workers and educationalists. The chairman was Dr. W. J. Price of Orangeville, president of the association, and the conference opened at 10 o'clock. After a few introductory remarks, in which a welcome was extended to all, and the importance of the gathering emphasized, the program was proceeded with.

Two committees were named, one on resolutions, whose duties are to receive any resolution presented by school boards or associations for consideration, and a committee to nominate the officers for the ensuing year. This was followed by a short address by W. M. Morris, secretary of the Provincial Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association, at the close of which there was a short discussion on some of the points brought out in his remarks.

John Edmund Walker of Toronto, school architect, in a paper on the construction of school buildings and the relations between the school board and architect, pointed out that the community's rate the success of teachers, and the safety of the children largely depended upon the school building and the accommodation it provided. Schools should be so permanently and sanely constructed that their maintenance would not be a burden on the taxpayer. He made the plea that there be no letting down of standards in construction, because such action was false economy. He urged that trustees give more study to this side of their work.

Plans will be discussed by the board for the establishment of the Sisk memorial, in memory of the late Miss Sisk, for many years principal of the college. It is expected that a scholarship in music will be endowed for the memorial. This year the usual custom of presenting a gold medal to the student showing the highest proficiency in the music department will be followed.

SIDE-LIGHTS AT OTTAWA

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL.
Staff Correspondent The London Advertiser.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, June 7.—In the slashing destruction attempted by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen on anything and everything outside of the Conservative party, not even W. G. Raymond, member for Brantford who, terming himself a protectionist Liberal, was the only member of his party to voice objections to the budget proposals, escaped the bitterness of the Conservative leader.

In fact Mr. Raymond was singled out for attack, and so received Mr. Meighen's undivided attention, while the leader of the opposition unloaded himself of the following:

"What is to be said of the hon. member for Brantford, who contested his seat on the distinct and unique platform of opposition to the reduction of duty on implements? What is to be thought of him if he submits to this budget, and particularly having in mind the finance minister's assertion only a few days ago that he was hopeful there would not be a reduction of revenue owing to a reduction of duty?

"If there is not a reduction of revenue it simply means more importations; it means that the reduction is made at the expense of the workmen of Brantford; it means more people in the street and more charity to be administered in the cities of Brantford, Hamilton, Toronto and 60 other places in the country."

Mr. Raymond made no reply to the thrust, the second this session from Mr. Meighen. Aside from outlining fully his position in a brilliant speech one week ago, in which he asserted that he would support the government, although protesting against further cuts on farm machinery, the member for Brantford is content to rest in the knowledge of a well-fought fight for the manufacturers in his consituency, waged in the various Liberal caucuses before the budget was framed.

AS THE result of messages received from Goderich, John W. King, member for North Huron, will urge the department of public works to take immediate steps to dredge a wider channel in the Goderich harbor.

SEVERAL members of the Sugar Beet Growers' Association of Ontario are expected in Ottawa within the next few days to assist in the fight against the proposed beet sugar tax. Protests against the tax have been received by B. W. Fansher, member for East Lambton, from the Lambton County Council and the Petrolea Chamber of Commerce. The city council of Chatham and the county council of Kent are also expected to register protests against the tax.

URGES RAIL BOARD TO FIX ALL RATES

OTTAWA, June 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—"I am going to suggest that we either go ashore together or sink or swim together," pressed W. B. Lanigan, freight traffic manager of the C. P. R., before the special house committee on transportation costs this morning. What was the condition of the mining, lumbering, fishing, farming and manufacturing interests today? Mr. Lanigan asked.

"I can tell you," he said. "They are all in the same boat, and the carrier is there, too, and we all want to go ashore." He repeated his objections to the Crow's Nest Pass agreement as being out of touch with the necessities of today. He urged that control of all rates should be placed in the hands of the railway commission.

SIR GEORGE BURY TO MARRY AGAIN

RENO, Nevada, June 7. — Sir George Bury, former vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who procured a divorce here a fortnight ago, will be married at 4 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. Rural Telephone Companies Apply For Increase in Subscribers' Rates

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, June 7.—The Zorra Telephone Company of Embro and the Innerkip Telephone Company made application to the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board at a session held here today for permission to raise their rate to subscribers, on the ground that the ice storms of last March had caused damage to the lines totalling well over $14,000.

The Innerkip Company had 12 miles of its system broken down, and the damage exceeded $12,000. The company wants its rates raised from $14 to $20 net, while the Zorra Company asks permission to increase from $16 to $18. The Innerkip application was opposed by the subscribers. They claimed the rate asked was exorbitant, and that the expenditure caused by the storm could be met by the shareholders. In both cases judgment was reserved to give the commission a chance to look over the figures submitted.

APPEALS TO QUASH NUKOL CHARGES

Counsel For Slater and Thompson Make Applications.

TORONTO, June 7.—Hiram E. Slater and Leslie J. Thompson came up for trial today before Judge Coatsworth on the charge of conspiring with other persons unknown to defraud the public or the Nukol Fuel Company, Limited, or such persons who might become shareholders, or to affect the public market price of the stock or shares of the company, and with stealing and receiving about $400,000, the property of the company.

Slater is also charged in the same indictment with forging checks for $5,000, $1,500, $100, $100 and $100 respectively.

Mr. McRuer appeared for the crown, Peter White, K.C., and B. H. L. Symmes for Slater, and A. G. Slaght, K.C., for Thompson.

After the charges had been read Mr. Slaght rose and announced that before being called upon to plead on behalf of Thompson, he took objection to the indictment, and moved that it be quashed on the ground that whereas both of the accused were charged with conspiracy and theft, there were several charges of forgery against Slater in the same bill which were not charged against Thompson. "The reason of this application is that there is no authority or right that I know of under our criminal code or practice to try at the one trial and to include in the one bill of indictment a charge against one individual of theft and a charge against a second individual of forgery." Counsel stated that if the crown or the court had any suggestion to make which could be carried out in fairness to Thompson, that could be heard, "but it would be grossly unfair to proceed under the one indictment and investigate these charges of forgery against Slater during Thompson's trial for theft. You might as well include an infraction of the motor vehicles act and a charge of arson against some third prisoner who may be awaiting trial, with equal fairness as to indict Thompson for theft along with Slater for forgery in the same bill. It would not only be unfair to the accused, but extremely difficult to Thompson and even more difficult to a jury whose onoly desire is to do their whole duty, and to endeavor to keep clear in their details of a multifarious trial such as would have to take place under this bill." It would be a hopeless task and contrary to all practice, added Mr. Slaght.

Crown Makes Suggestion.

On behalf of Slater, Mr. White made a similar motion on the same ground from the legal standpoint.

Mr. McRuer pointed out that the court could order the indictment to be amended. He did not wish to put either defendant in a wrong position before a jury, and would be quite content if the court directed separate trials. Mr. McRuer, however, quoted from the code: "Where there is more than one count in an indictment, each count may be as a separate indictment." If the court thought proper, it could direct the accused to be charged on certain counts separately.

"Why not have the rest of the prisoners awaiting triall all brought up at one trial?" suggested Mr. Slaght, in amplifying his argument.

Mr. McRuer said there could be a separate trial on the forgery charge in which Thompson did not figure, although counsel for the defence had submitted no authority.

CLARKE CHOSEN AS MODERATOR

Former London Pastor Honored by Presbyterian Assembly.

Dr. Gordon Preaches Inspiring Sermon On Retiring.

WINNIPEG, June 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—Rev. W. J. Clarke, D. D., of Westmont, Montreal, is the new moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. He was elected in succession to Very Rev. C. W. Gordon, D.D., Winnipeg, at the opening session tonight held in St. Stephen's Church. Dr. Clarke was elected over Rev. Ephraim Scott, D.D., Montreal, editor of the Record, a veteran minister, who, after the vote had been announced, moved, amid great applause, that the election was unanimous. A third name was proposed, that of Rev. J. H. Ratcliffe, D.D., St. Catharines, Ontario, but he withdrew.

The fact that Dr. Clarke and Dr. Scott are leaders of opposing forces as far as church union is concerned, gave a touch of piquancy to the election proceedings. Dr. Clarke is an ardent supporter of the union movement, while Dr. Scott is a strong opponent. It is said that these facts had little or no bearing on the result of the vote, and that the personality and other qualifications formed the chief issue in the election. However this may be, the attitude of neither Dr. Clarke nor Dr. Scott on church union was mentioned by the proposers and seconders.

The election of the moderator followed the preaching of an impressive and inspiring sermon by the retiring moderator, Dr. Gordon. Taking as his subject, "God's Eternal Quest," Dr. Gordon, whose address was frequently marked by impassioned passages that stirred the great congregation, declared that the unrest in the world would only be ended when it realized the truth about God and lived accordingly.

Make Miss Raymond Life Member, Present Mrs. Paull With Bouquet

A membership of 500 for the 1922-3 season! This is the goal of ambition on which the members of the executive of the Woman's Music Club have set their hearts, the objective named at the first meeting of the new executive held Wednesday afternoon in the home of the new president, Mrs. R. E. Davis. Though the season proper does not begin until the autumn, plans for this have been taken up with enthusiasm, augurING well for the coming year.

A pleasing feature of the executive meeting was the tribute paid two of the charter members of the organization, Miss Minnie Raymond and Mrs. Edwin Paull. Owing to a special ceremony, the former prominent workers in the club and intimate friends of the two honored were invited to come in for afternoon tea at 4 o'clock. On behalf of the executive, Mrs. C. B. Hunt, a past president, presented Miss Raymond with a life membership in the club, and a life membership pin of most artistic design, a harp in white gold surrounded by yellow gold ribbon scroll inscribed "Life Membership." On the reverse side the name of the recipient had been engraved. In a cordial little speech, Mrs. Hunt referred to the untiring service Miss Raymond had rendered the club, frequently at the expense of her personal interests. Honored and respected as a musician, she had won admiration and affection for her readiness to lend a helping hand to others. Always ready to commend, her shining attribute as an artist was her charity towards fellow musicians, her persistent refusal to be critical.

Completely taken by surprise, Miss Raymond managed a graceful "thank you," expressing her dislike of the spirit of meanness and criticism. A slight recognition of all that Mrs. Paull has meant to the club was a beautiful corsage of sweet peas.

In addition to adopting a slogan as an incentive for effort next season, the executive decided to take a step for which there has been frequent request, namely, to permit transfer of membership tickets. According to the new ruling, if a member of the club is unable to attend a recital, she may permit a friend to use her ticket for that occasion.

The committee to draft the program for the coming year was named: Mrs. Walter J. Brown, Mrs. Harold Clarke and Miss Mabel Stevens, with Miss Raymond and Mrs. Charles H. Ivey conveners. It was decided to appoint also for next season finance and reception committees. Following the business afternoon tea was served, Mrs. John Taylor of Montreal, who is a guest of Mrs. C. B. Hunt, "Merrivale," and Miss Grace Blackburn presiding over the attractive table, adorned with peonies. Those present included Mrs. C. B. Hunt, Mrs. Robert Reid, Mrs. John Taylor, Misses Grace and Susan Blackburn and Beatrice Taylor as special guests for the presentation, and Mesdames Sherwood Fox, Walter J. Brown, Charles Ivey, George Copeland, J. D. Grant, Hubert Eckert, W. R. Roome, Ralph Johnston, A. G. Hewton, A. E. Cooper, Misses Minnie Hamilton, Minnie Raymond, Mabel Stevens and Isabel C. Armstrong.

ONDON GETS THIS FOR SIXTY CENTS

In one investment, at least, the ity of London apparently is getting ood return for money expended. In e report on the satisfactory conitions at the Aged People's Home at e present time, at the meeting ednesday afternoon of the Woen's Christian Association, held in e Wellington street Y. W. C. A., eference was made to the fact that re of the inmates, who must be pendent on the bounty of others the twilight of life, involves housg in pleasant surroundings, board, re, clothing and medicine when ecessary. For the patients which e municipality sends to the home e city treasury pays a bill of only cents a day for each. The balance ust be made up by the Women's hristian Association.

In order to make still pleasanter e Victoria Home, another charge the association, the work of screening the balconies at the back, both pper and lower, is in progress at e present time in order that the atients may enjoy, as far as posble, outdoor life untroubled by flies d other insects.

On suggestion of Rev. W. R. Hiles, n of the benefactor, it was decided use the legacy left by the late r. Hiles for treats for patients in th homes, to buy victrolas. Rev. r. Hiles made the suggestion, which ppealed to the W. C. A. members, at the music boxes would give the ost lasting pleasure.

The religious education committee reported that members of the ondon Methodist conference had nducted services in the Victoria ome last Sunday, and expressed eir surprise at the whole environent and atmosphere of the instition. At the close of the meeting, esided over by Mrs. John Currie, rs. Jeffrey Hale acted as tea hostss.

Resolutions of sympathy were oved to Miss McMillan in her reavement in the loss of her sister, rs. Helen Marshall, who closed the ay meeting of the association with rayer, and to Miss Ella Davis, in the ss of her father.

DON'T FLAP SHOULDERS BE WISE AND HEALTHY

Erect Posture Lectures Popular Features of Baby Week Exhibit.

The public is awakening to the fact that Baby Week is in progress in the Technical School under the auspices of the London Child Welfare Association. A striking indication of this was the largely-increased attendance on Wednesday, the second day of the fine educational exhibit, scores of mothers were present in the morning and afternoon, many of them armed with notebooks and pencils, a number of daddies as well turning up, particularly in the evening. The eighth grade girls of the Tecumseh School paid a visit in a body, and, with two classes in the Technical School, were present for the first illustrated lecture on "Correct Posture," given at 3:30 o'clock by Miss Clara Horton, who is at present identified with an erect posture campaign. At the conclusion of her address, many eager questions were asked by both mothers of children and the girls.

"How could round shoulders be corrected in a child?" many a mother wanted to know.

If the Tecumseh School senior girls and the Tech girls who were present cultivate as their own the slumpy flapper posture and walk it isn't the fault of Miss Horton or her slides.

The question of corsets was one which came in for a substantial amount of discussion, the speaker receiving many requests for advice on the subject.

The Tecumseh girls also witnessed a demonstration of correct care of "Sarah," the model baby, given by Miss Bertha Smith, superintendent of Child Welfare Nurses.

The Methodist General Conference child welfare pictures, posters and slides are creating great interest as explained by Rev. W. E. Millson.

Miss Horton spoke again at 8 o'clock in the evening, and Thursday's program includes a lecture at 11 o'clock to Technical School girls, one at 3:30 and another at 8 o'clock to the general public. The exhibit closes on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Lane and Mrs. W. W. Murray sang a duet, and Miss Helen Ross gave a piano number. Dainty refreshments were served and a social half-hour spent.

COOK'S CHURCH W. M. S.

Cook's Church, Caradoc, W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. William Clark, 17 members responding to the roll-call with a verse of Scripture. A chapter from the study book was read by Mrs. Stanley Trott, and at the close of the program sewing was done for the bale. The hostess served refreshments. The next meeting takes place June 28 at the home of Mrs. Ambrose McCracken.

SENDS GENEROUS MITE.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to the Mail-Box, although I read the letters with interest. Will you please send me Hampshire's address. I would like to hear more from her, and will help her if at all possible. I too, am English. Inclosure for S. C. H. HERTFORDSHIRE.

I am mailing you Hampshire's address, and I am sure you will find each other interesting, as you both come from England. Thank you for the generous donation for the hospital fund. Won't you write again to our corner?

SENDS DOLLAR TO FUND.

Dear Miss Grey,—I inclose $1 for Children's Hospital Fund. Would you kindly send me 3 cinnamon vine bulbs, also any flower seeds you may have on hand? M. A. F.

Thank you, M. A. F., for the generous donation and in return I am mailing you the bulbs.

BULLETIN.

As part of our family list has been mislaid, would the following Boxites send in their names and addresses, as they have been asked for: Peach, Cinnamon Vine, Phone, Copleston and Mother No. 6, April Showers, Bay and Bonnie Bess.

BEAUTY.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am bringing held, so find inclosed another mite. It was "English Buttercup's" letter that gave mother the idea to write to the Mail-Box. "English Buttercup" was asking for a root of mint, well we have a nice bed of it and when it gets well started mother will send "E. B." one, if you will send her address please. "English Buttercup" speaks of dear old England, well England certainly has some beauty spots which could never be found or made in Canada, but Canada is a grand and healthy country; but people generally cling to their native land, don't they?

I see where so many are asking for help in the Mail-box. I would love to help them all, but one can't do that. Please could I have "Thirty-seven's" address and "Dad's Housekeeper's" address too, as I think maybe we could help them a little.

Well, I really must close and leave room for others in the paper so good-bye for now, with best wishes to Cynthia and all the readers.

"A LASS FROM STRETFORD ROAD."

Have never been to England, so I cannot dispute your statement, that its beauty could never be found in Canada, but I doubt it, after the pictures I have seen this spring. You know Canada is a big country, and has a wonderful variety of scenery in lakes, mountains, magnificent rivers and prairies, as well as blossom time in Ontario. But, from what I have heard, I think I understand what you mean about the more finished beauty of England. It is good of you to offer to help "Thirty-seven" and "Dad's Housekeeper." so am sending their addresses along with "English Buttercup's." Many thanks for the hospital mite. I am sorry if I neglected to thank you for the first one.

WANTS ADDRESS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you please send me Working Housekeeper's address, as I saw in your Mail-Box where she wanted a home for her little boy. Thank you very much for the bulbs and seeds. We have changed our address, and now we are living about two miles from anybody, and, oh, I do miss the mail coming to my door. IMA WEE SCOTT.

Am mailing you the address asked for, Ima Wee Scott. I am pleased to hear that the bulbs and seeds reached you safely.

A NICE "BOKEY"

Dear Miss Grey,—I am inclosing the letters, and if anyone else sends me the postage I have a few more dahlia bulbs. Please send me some cinnamon bulbs. We had a lovely rain last night, which will do good. I have a nice "bokey" of wild flowers from the woods. I enjoy reading the Woman's Page. I would like a red climbing rose root if I could get one. There are lovely birds around in the woods just now. BLUEBELLE.

I am mailing you the postage, also the bulbs and seeds. If anyone has a climbing rose root she may have your address.

THISTLE'S SUGGESTION.

Dear Miss Grey,—I received your request for directions for making sachet bags, and I inclose them with this letter.' I have been well myself, thanks, but have had sickness in the house. I am thankful to say we are all in the best of health again. Although I did not write I have been reading the page regularly, and was very glad to see how the fund was growing. I inclose a mite for it. Don't you think, Miss Grey, it would be a good idea if all the Boxites would have a special self-sacrificing week, and do without something they might be going to treat themselves to, or something they are in the habit of buying for themselves, and send the money to the Mail-Box for the S. C. H. F.? I am sure we would all feel better doing that, and the fund would benefit by it quite a lot. It would also be interesting reading if each one told what they denied themselves for the sick children's sake, and you could set a special week for it, if you think it worth trying, Miss Grey.. This is just an idea, from THISTLE.

We welcome you back, Thistle, and many thanks for the directions and hospital mite. Your suggestion sounds like an excellent one to increase our fund, but it rests with the Boxites if they care to do it.

SIZE THIRTY-SIX.

Dear Miss Grey,—The inclosed letter was forwarded to me this morning, and as I will not be of much help, as my suits are size 36, maybe someone else could help. I will keep the address, and if I can find anything that will help, shall forward it. Inclosed find hospital mite. Yours sincerely, PERTH MOTHER.

Anyone wishing the suits you referred to may have your address from the Mail-Box. Many thanks for the hospital mite.

WANTS ADDRESS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I wrote you a while ago about the cinnamon bulbs and some flower seeds. I haven't seen my letter yet, but we didn't get one paper so I guess it was in that one. I got the bulbs all right and have them planted.

I see where Phone wants some lily-of-the-valley roots. If you will send me her address I will send her some. A PEST.

I am mailing you Phone's address, and thank you for offering to send roots to her.

COLORS, DATES AND HAIR.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to your Mail-Box. I always read the letters from the Boxites, and enjoy them very much. I am 14 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, have dark brown hair and brown eyes, and weigh 118 pounds. What colors would be suitable for me to wear? Also could you tell me how I should wear my hair?

What day did March 23, 1808, also May 27, 1910, fall on?

I saw where Little Miss Melody had sent in some recitations. If I am not too late, could I have some of the comic ones? Inclosed find stamped envelope for recitations, also a dime for S. C. H. Hope I have not taken anybody's pen name. I will sign myself SNOWBIRD.

I think any of the shades in the brown family would be becoming to you. You should also be able to wear canary yellow, which is going to be popular for summer dresses, and mauve. As I do not know whether your hair is long or short, curly or straight, I cannot tell you how to do it. This is a very foolish question to ask, as I cannot tell any individual the way in which to dress her hair. Do it in the most becoming manner, is all the advice I can give you. I am mailing you a few of Little Miss Melody's recitations. Thank you for the hospital dime. March 23, 1908, fell on a Monday, and May 27, 1910, on Friday.

FREELY YE HAVE RECEIVED.

Dear Miss Grey,—When reading Lonesome Mother No. 6's letter I thought I should try to send something to her. "Freely ye have received, freely give."

Will you please send some flower seeds, as I have very few flowers?

Please send address of Lonesome Mother No. 6 to me, and say what you think of my writing. SUNNY BANKS.

I am forwarding you Lonesome Mother's address. It is good of you to offer to help her out. I am also mailing you some flower seeds, and hope you aren't too late planting them. Thank you for hospital mite.

STARTS CHAIR FUND.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please find Inclosed 50 cents toward the chair for the invalid lady. It was suggested by a friend that my husband would get me a wheel chair about fourteen years ago, after breaking my hip. The doctor had said he thought at one time I would never walk without a crutch or cane, but I have, and people tell me I am wonderful to get around as I do to church and Sunday school and entertainments. My next birthday will be 80, Sept. 4. Best wishes to the Mail-Box. Yours very truly, MRS. T.

Thank you, Mrs. T., for the donation towards the wheel chair. I hope someone will give us a good, substantial one, as I am afraid the summer will be over before we realize funds for the poor shut-in. I received $1 to start the fund from a Boxite who did not wish me to use her name. As you have derived so much pleasure from your chair, you will be more than anxious that this poor soul obtains one, won't you, Mrs. T.?

RE BOBBED HEADS.

Hello, Cynthia and all! It must be a year since I last wrote, but always read the letters. I would have liked to have been Molly Maguire and had that nice long trip. I have had several train rides, but not nearly so far as Molly.

What do you think of the style (bobbed hair)? I am in favor of it. I think it is an easy and tidy way to keep the hair. Long ago men wore their hair long, and they certainly made a wise change when they got it cut, and I think women would too. How many agree with me? Don't you think this would be a good discussion for our Mail-Box? Perhaps then some of our old-timers would return. Where has Alarm Clock gone? I wish she'd come and tell us the time. Also Two Country Rosebuds and all those other roses. It is soon time for them to bloom. Then, let us hear from them all. Where are Etak, Ima Goat, Iona Ford (I guess she's joy-riding), Miss Peppery Clematis and Terrible Tempered Mr. Bangs, Maimi? Please let us hear from you again.

Now, like all others, I need help. Do you think orchid would be suitable for a girl's summer dress. She is 15 years of age and has dark hair and brown eyes. She has worn a lot of blue and would like a change.

I am inclosing a dime for bulbs, etc. Please consider my writing. I am changing my pen name.

What day did Oct. 6, 1906, fall on; also Feb. 20, 1910, and Feb. 24, 1912? PATIENCE.

Ans.—It think bobbed hair is very becoming to some girls, but other types look frightful; but the terrible part of it is you don't know what you are going to look like until it is gone, and then it is too late. Of course, when a woman bobs her hair, she makes herself ridiculous. I think orchid shade should be very becoming to a girl of the complexion you referred to. I am mailing you the addresses, seeds and bulbs you asked for, and many thanks for hospital mite. You write a very good hand. Patience, and Oct. 6, 1906 fell on Tuesday; Feb. 20, 1910, on Sunday; and Feb. 24,1912 on Saturday.

OFFERS CLOTHES.

Dear Miss Grey,—Thanks for the seeds which I received about a week ago. They are up already and I think I am going to have a nice flower garden this year. I also received the addresses, and thanks. I have a bundle of clothes which I would like some Boxite to have if she needs them. There are one or two dresses for a girl about 14 or 16. Also some small kiddies things. The bundle is very large, and anyone wishing same can get my address from Miss Grey, and I will send parcel collect. Some of our Boxites are coming back again with the warm weather. Where is Night Wind? We haven't heard from her for ages. Why not blow around and see us again. I would like to see a letter from you. Must close now, but will call again. HIST-O'-HIST.

I am glad the Mail-Box seeds are coming on so nicely. I hope all those who have invested in them have equally as good luck. The address on your envelope looked very interesting. What did it stand for, Hist-O'-Hist? It is good of you to offer clothes for our needy ones; anyone wishing them may have them; it will be another case of the early bird.

OFFERS FERNS.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am writing by return mail, as I see where Kate Dalrymple wants wild ferns. I can supply everybody with these at once, as they are getting very large. Boxites should send for them at once. I can send them by express cheaper, as they are too large to send by mail. You will have to donate something for the hospital fund, though, if I send you ferns. Don't you think they should give a good sum to the fund, as it only costs about 35 cents for the express? They grow lovely inside, and the roots will keep all winter in the basement and come up again in the spring. Now hurry and order what you want. BUSY HANDS.

It is good of you to offer to gather ferns and send them to the Boxites wishing them, Busy Hands, and it will help swell the hospital fund, won't it?

CLUB NEWS

What Women Are Accomplishing In London.

PLAN ANNUAL BAZAAR.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, Tuesday evening, arrangements were made for the annual bazaar, and committee conveners appointed. The ladies will hold a picnic on June 13, which will be in the nature of a congregational gathering. Many minor matters were also discussed at the meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. A. R. Boug.

EALING CLUB MEETS.

An address on "The Effect of Posture on Health," with blackboard illustrations, given by Dr. E. S. Detwiler, was a most helpful feature of the June meeting this week of the Ealing Mothers' Club, presided over by Mrs. W. G. Sturman. Arrangements were made for the annual picnic, to be held July 13 at Springbank, the members of the club to meet at the end of the car line in East London at 1:30 o'clock. The treasurer reported $23 on hand. Interest was added to the program by piano selections given by Harold Power and Garde Wrigley, and a reading by Evelyn Scase. The members of the club are busily engaged in sewing for the War Memorial Children's Hospital. After the meeting, light refreshments were served and a social half-hour enjoyed.

TO BAKE OR NOT TO BAKE.

To have or not to have a home-cooking sale! This was the question debated by the Women's Association of Knox Presbyterian Church at the June meeting held Wednesday afternoon. The consensus of opinion expressed was that the weather was too hot for unnecessary baking, and the majority at least preferred to make a voluntary offering of money. The collection plate was immediately passed, with the result that $17 was realized. It is expected this amount will be increased to a substantial extent when other members not present have an opportunity to give. The association made arrangements for a lawn tea to be held the afternoon and evening of June 27, on the lawns of Mrs. John Stevenson's home, Elmwood avenue. It was decided to conduct a booth as usual at the Western Fair, Mrs. Stevenson to be general convener.

WANT GIRLS' CANADIAN CLUB.

The members of the Girls' Canadian Club are invited to the reception being given at the Y. W. C. A. residence on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to Miss Shina Na Kanishi, the charming young Japanese "Y" secretary, who will address the assembled "Y" Club girls on "Girls' Work in Japan."

McCORMICK'S JERSEY CREAM SODA BISCUITS

On Wings of Wireless

by ARTHUR B REEVE

START HERE.

Guy Garrick and his wireless expert friend, Dick Defoe, seek the trail of two men and a girl who perpetrated a spectacular holdup at a fashionable radio dance near New York. They fear that beautiful Ruth Walden has innocently become a tool in the hands of crooks. Their quest leads them to the "Sea Vamp," a yacht-like houseboat frequented by Ruth and her questionable young friends. They know Ruth often goes there with Glenn Buckley, who is feared by Ruth's mother and distrusted by themselves.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER II.
THE SEA VAMP.

WITH a siren blast and a swish of dusty air a yellow racer shot past Garrick and Dick before they were a mile down the turnpike, leaving only a kaleidoscopic impression of a girl at the wheel and a fellow lolling back tensely in the other bucket seat.

"Ruth!" exclaimed Dick as Garrick mechanically threw in more power.

"Who was with her?"

"Glenn Buckley."

Garrick's motor leaped ahead as he stepped on it. Straight-away down the turnpike they raced. Garrick was just about holding his own. But Ruth had the jump and there was not a chance to pass her. She was too wise a driver. Having shot ahead of a car she did not slacken a fraction and she knew that that always makes it nearly impossible to catch one.

A bend in the turnpike toward the south and a dirt road forked off. Ruth slowed up just a bit, turned her head with a pearly smile. "I've a hunch," she called back teasingly, "you can't follow me, Dick!"

With a wave of her hand suddenly Ruth shot away on the side road to the right, to the north, in a pillar of dust cloud.

Garrick had no desire for a wild-goose quest. He stuck to the concreted turnpike.

"What's the matter, old man? Why so silent?" queried Dick a mile further on. "Suppose you're wondering, like me, how Ruth could have got meshed in the wheels of this gang, if that's what it is, eh?" Dick gazed hopelessly off at the hill and forest north of them with their maze of side roads. "I wish, by gad, a girl was like a car or a boat—something you could steer—right!"

"Time enough to worry when we know more than we think we know," returned Guy, negotiating a left turn that required some skill to make the succeeding hill on high. "After all, Ruth's just a stunning little flapper—facing a very cold and calculating world—with a thoroughly modern — ill-balanced equipment—that doesn't hug the road like this old car of mine. Except," he paused, then added, "that she has the inherited intelligence, the intuition, the instinct of woman in all the ages . . . The real question is, what will she do with it?"

They swung off at last on another concreted road and finally nosed down the middle of the sand neck that hooked about Duck Harbor. As they drew up, off the road, in a clump of stunted Long Island beach plums they were astounded to see, a couple of yards ahead on the sort of corduroy road of boards to the beach, Ruth's racer. She had taken a short cut and beat them by many minutes.

Perhaps a thousand feet further they could see a houseboat at anchor and between them and the boat a knot of young people in bathing suits on the beach.

As Garrick and Dick strolled down the shore, it proved to be Glenn and three or four other fellows in various stages of college careers past or present. They wore class numerals or other marks on their bathing shirts. Glenn was the only one with a college letter—for five minutes of play in a game lost to Princeton. Buckley was a rather handsome lad in spite of his evident satisfaction with himself, tall, slender, with a general impression, "I love the ladies and the ladies love me."

In spite of competition he was monopolizing Vira Gerard. A jet shock of bobbed hair set off big liquid dark eyes, eyes that, if they were the windows of the soul, had a depth that was baffling even to the photographic lens, eyes that dominated her splendid features and gave her that today priceless "camera face."

"Suppose you know this is a private beach?" inquired one of the numeraled youngsters as the two approached.

Guy smiled and nodded toward Vira and Glenn. "Between high water and low water marks?"

Down the shore could be seen a canoe coming from the houseboat with a girl, alone. As she beached it and stepped out, it was Ruth in a smart swimming suit of violet and white.

The encounter had reached a danger point much as if some upperclassmen had discovered a freshman violating some immemorial tradition of at least two college generations.

All stopped, however, as Ruth drew near. She made a glorious picture. She was one of them—but different.

As she came down the beach humming a scrap of a dance to herself, her body swayed with the rhythm and her feet scarcely seemed to touch the sand. Her golden hair framed her sensitive features in an aura of sunlight. Garrick saw with approval that Ruth had been strong-minded enough to hold to her curls during the days of bobbed hair.

Could those laughing, frank eyes know of crime, of anything coarse?"

"You here, Dick?" she danced up to him. "Were you afraid to come alone?" Then with a twinkling shaft at Garrick, "What do you think of us . . . Mr. Sherlocko?"

"Exclusively nifty!" smiled Garrick, then turned quickly as one of the youngsters muttered, "Snooping again! What does he want? You can just bet he's not here for a swim . . . Come on, fellows. He's been here long enough. I move we put them off the beach. Hey, all ready . . . let's give them the bum's rush!"

A general laugh followed. There was an uncertain motion. Ruth flared.

"At least we can show Guy and Dick we're not so exclusive that we're rotters! I feel partly responsible for their being here. I raced them on the road and dared them to follow—and here they are—eh, Glenn? Just this once, boys. They'll not bother us again. I'll sponsor them. Come on, Glenn, smile a little and be nice."

Ruth capered over to Dick, took him by the arm and started up the beach. Guy followed with Vira, while Glenn sulked.

"I wish you had your bathing suit on, Dick. I'd enjoy a swim across the harbor with you this hot forenoon."

She nodded vivaciously back at Garrick. Even if she were doing a bit of hasty figuring on the why of their presence, thought Guy, she was perfectly at ease. Her graceful limbs showed fascinating lines through the folds of the cape she had carelessly thrown over her. "No wonder Dick's frantic over her," he thought. "She's a dangerous combination!"

Still chatting, Ruth and Vira stepped into the canoe with Dick and Guy, while the others plunged into the water and swam. They soon slipped alongside the houseboat with its gilt letters SEA VAMP.

Garrick realized as they mounted the ladder that the marine engine had materially changed the old-time houseboat from a mere scow or barge with a low flat house on it moored in a bay or river and only with difficulty and expense towed from one place to another. Now the houseboat like the "Sea Vamp" was really a fair-sized yacht.

She was perhaps sixty feet long and a most attractive craft with a hull yachty in appearance and of a type which could safely make long runs along the coast, a staunch, seaworthy boat—of course without the speed of a regularly designed yacht, but more than making up in comfort for those on board what was lost in speed.

As they approached he had looked her over carefully. One of the first things he noted was that strung from two masts forward and astern was the aerial of a wireless.

They clambered aboard and dragged up the canoe. At the stern they saw a stockily-built man in sea togs making fast a dory, and taking out a rather complete set of fishing tackle and other duffle.

"H'ye, Cap'n!" greeted Glenn, shaking the water from his eyes as he bounded on deck. "Any luck?"

"That's Captain Brock," asided Ruth to Garrick. "We hire him to take charge of the 'Sea Vamp.'"

"Too early for snappers yet. Got a couple of flat fish—and an eel." He caught sight of Guy and Dick and glowered under bushy eyebrows. "Who are they?" he growled under his breath.

"They're with me, Captain," explained Ruth. "Mr. Garrick and Mr. Defoe, Captain Brock. Just a couple of friends who are interested in how I spend my time."

"Well, so long as it's time they are looking for, all right."

Garrick could not resist a startled second glance as, tucked away in the duffle with great care, he caught sight of an electron tube, with filament and grids, precisely the latest type used in radio receiving. He nudged Dick, but Dick was equally quick. The fishing pole was equipped with a miniature aerial and he had noticed it.

Neither betrayed either interest or the burning curiosity they felt as Brock clumped forward with his stuff. Why, when Brock was even fishing, away from the "Sea Vamp," did he carry this compact wireless receiving set? What station must he be always in touch with, or what message did he expect that he must be listening in?

"Excuse us. We'll go down below. Get the shaker and some ice and . . . you know. I guess we can entertain," trilled Vira.

Alone in the comfortably furnished saloon, Garrick glanced at Dick, who shrugged at the unconventionality of it all, then made a hasty survey of the place. At one end was a sort of closet or clothes press. "Snooping," he nodded as he opened the door.

Inside hung a nondescript array of old clothes. In the back corner, on the floor lay a girl's cloth hat. He picked it up, smoothed it out, then with a suppressed "Ouch" drew his hand away and loosened a pin caught in its folds.

"H'm—a diamond clasp—initials V. G.—Vira Gerard?"

"Diamond clasp . . . that's one of the pieces of missing jewelry, whispered Dick excitedly. "Say—hold that hat again as you had it. There. By Jove, it's not only a hat. It's a bag! Tomato color . . . they said the girl at the Radio Dance put the stuff in a little tomato-colored bag. By Jove!"

"Here's a camera, too," was all Garrick answered. He turned the camera over, saw the number "6," then deftly unloaded it and dropped the roll of film into his coat pocket.

There was a step on the companionway. Softly he closed the door, rolled the hat tightly and stuffed it in his hip pocket under the tail of his coat.

The party thawed a little bit as the ice in the shaker thawed. Finally Garrick took advantage of a lull in the conversation.

"I may as well tell you just why we dropped in," he remarked, casually taking the diamond clasp from his pocket. "Is that by any chance yours, Vira?"

Vira looked at the clasp a moment, then gave a little scream. "My lingerie clasp—that they tore off my shoulder—at the dance! It was all—almost all—that stood between me—and the board of censorship!"

In the laugh that followed, Ruth was the first to speak. "Where did you get it, Guy?"

Garrick assumed a knowing air. "One of the caddies at the club came up to me this morning and tried to sell it to me. I thought if you could identify it, I'd watch him."

Garrick was unable to figure out whether or not there was any air of relief at the explanation. At least there was some connection between the "Sea Vamp" and the robbery.

"Was little Rae Larue at the dance?" he emboldened to ask after a proper interval.

"No," hastened Vira. "She was ill, at Beth's house."

"And Jack Curtis?"

"Oh, yes. He was there. He came politely late."

A buzzing interrupted. Vira turned quickly to Glenn, who was now seen on crossing swords with Garrick as a lady killer and had resumed his monopoly of Vira. "That radio, Glenn."

Ever eager to show off and please, Glenn drew a curtain of a built-in sideboard at the end of the saloon, disclosing a very complete set, including the loud-speaking horn.

He adjusted and tuned and twirled knobs and dials until at last he had it. From the loud speaker came a girl's voice.

"It's Rae!" exclaimed Ruth. "Signal back that you get her."

Glenn officiously played the radio operator.

A few minutes later came the voice much clearer, from the loud speaker.

"Now—Glenn—get up closer to the loud speaker—no—no—you know—not your cheek, Glennie—"

There was a suppressed laugh. Glenn smiled, rather sheepishly. But he turned his face full toward the little horn.

Garrick had divined what was coming. "Sort of Freudian, I guess," he whispered to Ruth, recalling her mother's repetition of Ruth's psycho-analysis.

"Huh!" laughed Ruth, taking no pains to modulate her tone. "More like the terrier—His Mistress' Voice!"

"Come now—pout your lips, Glenn," came from the loud speaker, followed by a laugh—then an unmistakable radio kiss.

Disconcerted after his ardent attention to Vira, Glenn for once looked as if he would have dropped through into the hold.

Ruth glanced quickly from Glenn's chagrin to Vira's stony face, then saw the humor.

"Never mind, Glenn. She kissed a couple of thousand on that wave length then!"

Pick Summer Play Clothes For Kiddies Now

THE sand pile, the beach and the back yard govern styles for youngsters. That's why clothes for small boys and girls are plain—shunning furbelows—and of most durable materials.

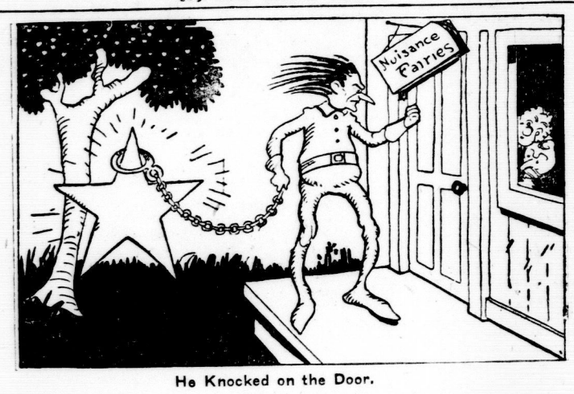
For tiny girls there are straight little frocks of print. English dimity, gingham and chambray. Cretonne and black satine are also used and are likely to stand wear and tear.

Straight short overalls for boys, made of chambray and khaki cloth, are suitable to all every-day events.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Comet-Legs Enlists Help in Fight Against Twins

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]



He Knocked on the Door.

COMET-LEGS, enemy of Mr. Peerabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, was always up to mischief. And no matter what the Twins did they never seemed able to catch him.

I don't suppose Comet-Legs was really wicked. He was jealous of the Moon-Man, that was all, and besides he thought he could manage things much better.

Mr. Peerabout was trying to please folks all he could, but Mr. Busybody Comet-Legs wasn't satisfied.

Comet-Legs could get around places, too, much better than the Moon-Man. He would straddle his shooting-star, take a good hold with his bow legs, and off he'd go.

The night after he meddled with the handles the Moon-Man ran the moon with, Comet-Legs went to the Weatherman's Star nearby.

He swaggered over to the house the Nuisance Fairies lived in (or rather where the Weatherman had them locked in) and knocked on the door.

"The key's outside," answered a dozen voices. "It's hanging on a nail."

Comet-Legs reached up and got it and turned the lock.

Such a hullaballoo as there was then, all the Nuisance Fairies crowding around and saying how-do-you-do, and how-was-he-anyway. There was Jack Frost and Howly Thunder and Jumpy Lightning and Sizzly Dry Weather and Old Man Flood and a lot of others.

"Say, boys," said Comet-Legs, "I need your help. Old Mr. Peerabout has sent a couple of children after me. They've got a shaker with magic powder and if it touches my legs they'll get straight as pokers and then I'm done for, because I can't ride my star."

"We'll help," they all cried. "Who are the children?"

"Nancy and Nick," said Comet-Legs.

THAT ninety per cent of mankind is honest, is a common statement amongst those whose livelihoods are earned through trusting their wealth to the hands of other people. Still, the old trusting their wealth to the hands of other people today. Still, the old Roman philospher Diogenes searched the earth for a single honest man.

Who is right? Or is it all in the point of view?

Who can tell "What is a perfect lady?" Are 90 per cent of the feminine population of the world perfect, or do you have to search the world over to find one perfect lady? What do you think? If you can tell what a perfect lady is then it would be easy enough to discover whether there are many or few of them today.

The London Advertiser is offering a prize of $5 for the best answer to this question and five $1 prizes for the next five best answers.

Many of the answers will appear in The Advertiser, making a symposium of viewpoints. Answers should be limited to 150 words owing to space requirements.

Consideration of the question will lead to a new line of thought for yourself in a direction you have probably never ventured before. You will want to write what you think, and obey your impulse. Address your letter to The Advertiser before Wednesday, June 14, the day on which the contest will close.

BEGINS WITH LONDON.

Has Western Ontario any perfect ladies? Well, I should say so, Mr. Editor. Begin with your own home town, good old London, Ontario.

I would like to take you back to a few years ago, "only a few." It was there I came in contact with what I should call the perfect lady or ladies.

During the recent world war, in Hyman Hall, the perfect lady, a mother with a family of five, who solved the servant problem by doing her own household duties; early in the morning be up and doing the thousand and one little jobs for the comfort of herself and home, her children being sent to school, her hat and coat donned, to pass an eight or nine hour day on socks or underwear for the help of some other mother's boys who were watching and waiting over there "for what?"

Can we ever forget the strenuous moments of suspense passed through at this critical time of our lives, everybody waiting for news of yesterday, today and tomorrow?

The woman that has borne and nursed five sons and daughters for the benefit of the country and her own good health, and has time left to step out and lend a helping hand in all her surroundings brings to us the conviction of a really perfect lady.

Then, again, we come in contact with the younger set; we find it a little difficult to reach under so much powder and make-up these days. Excusing all that, we have some very interesting and lady-like girls that I have met in Ontario. Following them into their homes, we find such a difference in nature and kind; in the one instance there is the sporty girl that can be so nice to everyone and look so pretty with the short shirt and silk socks and an attraction wherever she goes, yet causing envious enmity, unknown to herself, amongst girls less fortunate than herself.

This sporty girl also does good, with her displays of golf, swimming, dancing, etc., keeping her body in such condition to walk and act so lady-like, that it is quite common to hear the remark "She is a perfect lady."

Then, again, we find the more steady girl, one that it would be impossible for her to be sporty, yet is so happy and content to be called mother's help or housemaid. The girl that gets up, makes the fire and a cup of tea for her mother is the commencement of her day's duties, that takes everything in from the broom to the screen door, window boxes, garden, a few chickens, and all that goes to make home really home, and loves children.

In my individual estimation the latter girl is the perfect lady, one that will be more benefit to a husband, to her home and country.

A LADY.

What is a lady? All agree
It is, indeed, not always she
Whose fingers with rare jewels shine,
Whose gowns are ultra fine.
A lady true, with heart fond, kind,
Will hesitate at length to find
A fault; by etiquette's restrict,
She will not contradict.

A lady, in discretion wise,
Rude, awkward questions never plies;
She will not criticise a friend,
Nor willingly attend
To catch the evil gossip fling
Abroad on slander's dark-tipped wing;
To those beneath her socially
She dares polite to be.

A lady has the greatest care
To ever shield and gently spare
The feelings of the lowliest
From sting of scorn or jest;
Unselfishly she plans and strives
To glad and brighten other lives,
Aims high with cheerful, sunny zest
To make of things the best.

A lady, by her ease and grace,
Is known at any time or place,
In lawn or lace her taste and tact
Due courtesy exact.
Oft cultivated roses know
Less sweetness than the wayside blow;
A queen may lack civility,
The maid a lady be.

"K."

REFINED MANNERS.

My idea of a perfect lady is a lady of refined manners, well educated, and a lady of distinction above everything that can dishonor reputation distinguished from commoners by titles and by birth.

Generous and liberal, always ready to receive truth, one who is considerate and especially kind to her children and parents. One who is seeking to please and using civility to all classes, gentle and kind to all dumb animals and with excellent disposition, quiet and polite with that lovely softness of manners, I consider a perfect lady.

Miss Mollie Allen Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

"Eczema broke out on my forearms and limbs, from ankles to knees. Little white pimples formed which contained a watery fluid, and upon scratching would leave a burning sensation, growing worse all the time. The eczema scattered and my arms and limbs got so bad, and discharged so much watery fluid that my clothes were wet all the time. I had to keep my limbs wrapped in oiled silk.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave me great relief, and after using three cakes of Soap and six boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Mollie Allen, 2021, Telegraph Ave., Oakland, Calif.

Lamb Chops and Oranges--- Try Mixing 'Em

DID you ever try mixing lamb chops and oranges?

That's another of those delicious combinations of meat and fruit in which each brings out to the full the flavor of the other.

Just try this recipe.

Dip each chop in melted butter. Place on a well-oiled broiler. Broil eight minutes.

Turn and place a slice of orange on each chop. Broil eight minutes longer. The fat should be trimmed from the chops.

Sprinkle with salt and paprika and serve very hot, with a garnish of sliced oranges.

Lamb chops can be pan broiled quite as well as broiled under the flame.

Trim fat from chops and dip in melted butter. Place in a hissing hot frying pan and put a slice of orange on each chop.

Turn frequently, keeping the orange always on top of the chop.

FOR THIS RECIPE YOU NEED:
Six French chops
Six slices orange
Melted butter
Paprika
Salt.

Radio Radiations

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

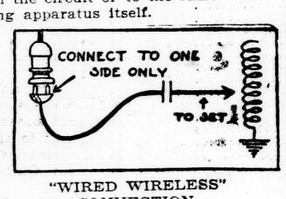
USING the electric lamp socket as a source of radio signals is certainly possible.

As a matter of fact, any elevated conductor, even though it be but a poor one, will serve as a collector of electro-magnetic energies. If the receiver be connected with the bed-springs and the incoming signals are sufficiently powerful, the broadcast programs may be received in this manner. This has been tried by many amateurs.

Screen doors, door bell wires, unused portions of telephone lines, fences, barbed wire, which does not actually touch earth, and finally, the electric light supply wires within the house, have been tried successfully.

Current in Line.

The thing which strikes one as odd about the connection to the source of electric power, is that these wires are already carrying current. It is this same fact that brought disaster either to the fuses in the circuit or to the radio receiving apparatus itself.



"WIRED WIRELESS" CONNECTION.

In most electric supply systems, one side of the line is grounded. This step is taken as a protection to the system should anything go out of order. Inasmuch as the radio receiving equipment is also grounded when connection is made through the lamp socket to the supply line, there is a chance that the connection will be made to the ungrounded wire.

If this is done, current will flow in unlimited quantities. Any fuses in the circuit will blow out—or, if the windings of the radio receiver are of small gauge copper wire, they will burn up.

The currents produced in a radio receiver alternate at an incomprehensible rate from positive to negative in character. The rate of these alternations are usually up in the hundreds of thousands. The currents produced in an electric supply line by the generators in the power house are also alternating currents, but their rate of alternation from positive to negative is comparatively slow, usually being about 60 times a second.

Application.

If a small condenser—a device consisting of alternate layers of conducting and insulating material—is connected between the radio receiving set and the electric light wire, no damage to the fuses and the apparatus can result.

The small condenser will allow the high frequency currents to pass freely, while the low frequency (lifting) currents will find it impossible to force their way through. Thus the wires serve two purposes.

But speaking generally, an outdoor atenna will be found to be far superior to this wired wireless.

In many places the electric light wire will be found useless as an antenna. When the building is of steel, or the steel conduit through which it runs be itself grounded, the wire will not act as an aerial.

The real application of the "wired wireless" principle would consist in broadcasting programs over the lighting wires directly and not through the ether. A comparatively low power transmitter would serve admirably for this purpose.

SAM VANCE, TILLSONBURG, IS HIGH GUN OF SECOND DAY'S TRAP SHOOT

KERR MAKES PERFECT SCORE IN FIRST EVENT

Roland Day, Monday's High Gun, Heads London Shooters Again—Grand Handicap Slated Thursday.

BY STAFF REPORTER.

High amateur gun honors were carried away by Sam. Vance of Tillsonburk Wednesday afternoon on the second day of the grand international trap shooting tournament at the St. Thomas Gun Club, breaking 197 out of 200 targets. In the morning events Mr. Vance only missed one of the 100 birds, and, despite the breeze, his shooting was consistent throughout the day.

S. A. Boa of Montreal was the high man in the professional ranks, scoring 195 out of 200. Bart Lewis of Springfield was a close second in this class, with a score of 194. G. M. Dunk of Toronto, the third professional trap shooter, only competed in the morning events and shattered 92 birds out of 100.

Makes Perfect Score.

In the morning Fred Kerr threatened to be high man by making a perfect score of 100, but Sam Vance was only one point behind, and Rowland Day of London, Tuesday's champion, two points behind. In the afternoon events, however, Kerr fell away down to 94, while his closest rival, Sam Vance, lost only two.

Mrs. L. J. Vogel of Detroit, who is one of the best known sportswomen in the United States, and who was high amateur lady shooter of Michigan State for several years, did not figure prominently in Wednesday's scoring, but she broke 145 targets out of 200.

The scoring made by the London men entered was not as high as on Tuesday, the scores being: R. Day 189, R. Jordan 188, and T. H. Baker 171.

Bart Lewis, Springfield, Ohio, 3rd pro, started strong by running three perfect scores in the morning shoot, but lost four birds on the last three.

Thirty trap shooters were entered in the afternoon events yesterday, and Thursday the gun club officials predict that this number will be increased.

Ideal Day.

Wednesday was an ideal day for trap shooting, there being only a little breeze, which did not interfere to any great extent with the accuracy of the shots.

Yesterday was visitors' day at the gun club, and members of the chamber of commerce, the Kiwanis Club, and the board of education were present to witness the shooting. At 1 o'clock, Stoney McGlinn, international secretary, gave a short talk on trap shooting and several of the contestants also spoke briefly. William Hollingshead, Dutton, and Wallace Thompson, Hamilton, were in charge of the program.

The grand national handicap, the feature event of the entire program, will be held Thursday afternoon. The winner of this event will be the holder of the international championship for 1922-1923.

KIRKWOOD TURNS IN HIGHEST SCORE

Absence of Hagen and Barnes Detracts From Big Golf Event.

GLEN EAGLES, Scotland, June 7.—The qualifying rounds in the thousand guineas golf tournament were completed this afternoon, and 32 players were entitled to participate in the tournament which begins tomorrow.

Jos. Kirkwood, the Australian open champion, turned in the best aggregate score, 144, with George Duncan in second place with 145. They were followed by J. H. Taylor, 148, Fred Leach, 149, and Jock Hutchison, 152.

The absence of Walter Hagen and Jim Barnes has somewhat lessened the interest in the competition from overseas, but Jock Hutchison, the American, who holds the British open championship title, had a good gallery again today, and he is considered to be the one most likely to give Joe Kirkwood, Australian champion, trouble in the later stages of the tournament.

DENIES STATEMENT.

LONDON, June 7.—Joe Kirkwood, the Australian open golf champion, in a statement to the Associated Press this afternoon emphatically denied a dispatch from Sydney, Australia, published in a London newspaper today to the effect that he had decided to accept a high salaried position with a golf club in the United States. Kirkwood said that after the present thousand guineas golf tournament at Glen Eagles, Scotland, was over, he expected to return to go on a world tour and then return to Australia, after which he made no plans.

PURITY FLOUR NINE BLANK WINGHAM STARS 5 TO 0

Goderich Team Is Undefeated in Three Leagues.

GODERICH, June 7.—The "Purity Flour" nine were visited today in the big-four league game by Lack Kennedy's imported famous nine of Wingham, who went down to defeat with a shut out by a score of 5 to 0.

Young, the Purity's pitching ace, did excellent work and had the best of support in the field.

Garner, Wingham's famous pitcher, also did great work, but at times had poor support from the infield, especially from Telfer, the second baseman.

This makes five wins and no losses for the Purity Flours in the league fixtures—three wins in the big four and two wins in the N. W. B. A.

Lineup:

Goderich—F. McCarroll, s.s.; Lindsay, 2b.; R. Bisset, r.f.; J. McCarroll, c.; Haynes, c.f.; Burling, 1b.; E. Cooper, 3b; J. Young, p.; Fridham, l.f.

Wingham—Morden, s.s.; Telfer, 2b.; S. Howson, r.f.; Arnott, c.; Walker, c.f.; Hodgins, 1b.; Brackenberry, 3b.; Garner, p.; Geddes, l.f.

Score by innings—

Goderich	200 030 00—5
Wingham	000 000 00—0

Umpires—Booty and Donahue of Teeswater.

Bill Box Pulls Stakes For Toronto.

KITCHENER, June 7. — Bill Box, Kitchener's favorite hockey star and captain of last year's sextet, is leaving the city. He has sold his dental practice, and will enter into specialist work in Toronto. The passing of Dr. Box from local hockey circles is a severe blow to Kitchener's hockey aspirations. Box is easily the peer of all Kitchener hockeyists, and his generalship will be missed by the local sextet. He claims he will not don a hockey uniform next season, but those who know Box do not take this statement seriously.

BRAVES' SIXTH.

BOSTON, June 7.—Boston won its sixth straight game today and defeated St. Louis for the seventh successive time, 5 to 2. Gowdy's hitting and the fielding of Nixon and Ford contributed largely to the result. Miller has not given a base on balls in his last two games.

BRANTS WIN ON 5 RUNS IN 1ST FRAME

Arndt Allows in Four Runs, Bullard Relieves With Nobody Gone.

With the score 8—3 and two men gone in the ninth, the crowds were beginning to make for the exits over at Tecumseh Park, when they heard a loud smack, and they watched Clarke make the circuit of the bases on a hit to the left field signboards. Schaefer, next up, delayed them another moment, when he hit safely to left, but only momentarily, for Mackey's bounding fielder's choice down at Ryan, which the Brant shortstop tossed to second for a put-out, ended a pastime which, exclusive of the Brantford half of the first frame, left little for the fans to criticize. Brants, thereupon, tucked the third game of the series away for an 8—4 victory.

Arndt started out on the afternoon assignment, but after he had walked Edgren, let Butler lay down a fielder's choice, and then permitted Dawson to mace him for a triple and two more successive singles scored two more runs, bringing the total to four, his spell of toil came to a sudden end, and Doc Bullard took up the burden with one on and nobody out. Smyth grounded out, but Hess' choice laid down to third allowed Prysock to score the fifth run. Ryan was out, hit by a batted ball, Crandall popped a hit behind short, and Edgren, on his second trip up, grounded out.

Start Sniping.

The Londoners started in their half to snipe at this five-run mark, and pressed matters so closely that they slipped three runs across, and two hopes were flattened out right at the plate. Watson drew a walk, even as the Brants had. Stimpson singled. Watson drew up at third on Clarke's choice, but was nabbed at the plate when he dashed for home on Schaefer's hard smash. Stimpson scored when Crandall let a wild pitch get away from him. Clarke was the second victim of a play at the plate when he came in on Mackey's choice. Malmquest dropped a hump-back over second, Schaefer scoring. Boyle continued the sniping with a single to center, and when Prysock got all tangled up in Beecher's bouncer Mackey scored. With Boyle on third, Bullard lifted a high fly to right for an out, and right there a 10 cent ouija board could have told the fans the old pastime was in the fat, but nobody would have believed it.

Until the eighth the patrons were rewarded with few hits but some sensational infielding, with Ryan and Oscar Beecher, ex-Brant, providing the vertebrae tickles. There was some good base-running in dabs. Two across-the-diamond double-plays enlivened the proceedings and made the war tax grumblers friends of the minister of finance. Bope, with Dawson on first, hit one down at third, and Dawson smartly kept right on going for third as the play was being made at first. Boyle's old whip back to third found Beecher waiting there for the put out. Beecher's wonderful peg from deep short in the fifth was followed in the sixth by his sensational one-hand pull-down of Prysock's liner ticketed for center field. The seventh was Watson's good frame, for he picked one off his ear, and right on top of that made a one-handed catch of Butler's warmish liner. Beecher baubled one in the second, but after that made three fine stops. In the sixth the Brants repeated on the London double for Beecher, making a legitimate attempt for third on Bullard's swinging bunt was nabbed on Bope's return throw.

Lean for Tecs.

Crandall made things lean for the Tec hitters until the sixth, when Beecher got a hit. In the seventh the Tribesmen were all set for a rally, even with two gone, as Clarke bounced one down at short and Schaefer singled, sending him on to third. Mackey was passed, Malm looked due for a hit, but Prysock took his bounding smash for a put-out at second.

In the eighth Bullard more than weakened—he almost collapsed. Prysock singled, Smyth tripled and Hess singled, and two more runs were counted. Ryan sacrificed and Crandall sacrificed, but it broke out again in the shape of two singles, which put another run in the Brant tally.

Two infield and one outfield outs in the eighth stowed the Tecs away temporarily, and then the Brants in their ninth made faces with Bope's double past third and Smyth's single. Bope was out on a hit-and-run attempt at third, and Smyth stole second later, but Hess fouled out for the third out.

A five-run margin looked too big to overcome in the ninth. It was.

STRATHROY NINE WALK OFF FIELD

LUCAN, June 7.—The N. W. B. A. game here between the locals and Strathroy tonight ended suddenly in the eighth inning, since the latter team walked off the field after the umpire handed out a decision which met with their disapproval. The last of the seventh found the visitors with two runs in the lead. However, in the last of the eighth, with one man out, Crawley the local catcher knocked the ball for the circuit, scoring another batter. A runner was tagged out at the third. The visitors' pitcher got two strikes on the next man up to bat with a man on third, and the umpire called the next delivery a ball as the runner dashed into home. The Strathroy players claimed that it was a strike and refused to play. Some of the locals state that the catcher, however, was standing on the plate at the time of receiving the ball, thus necessitating the delivery to be a ball.

HARRY GREB.

HARRY GREB, the Pittsburg "Giant Killer," doesn't bar any fighter in the business.

After his bout with Tommy Gibbons last winter Greb was asked what he thought about a match with Champion Jack Dempsey.

"I know it is going to make some people laugh," he replied, "but I am positive I can defeat Dempsey in a 12 or 15-round decision bout.

"Of course, I wouldn't expect to knock Dempsey out. My biggest thought would be to keep from getting knocked out.

"That is all I would have to do in order to win a decision bout with Dempsey, who is no harder to hit than Gibbons, and who, I feel sure, would have as much trouble reaching me as Gibbons did.

Has No Fear.

"I haven't the slightest fear of Dempsey, regardless of the fact that all the experts say he is much too big for me. When a fighter enters the ring there is always the danger that he may be knocked out. That is the only thing I would have to guard against.

"Dempsey is strong and can hit. If he reached me on the button it would be curtains. However, I feel that in a limited bout I would be able to stay away from him. In the meantime I would be doing so much execution that the judges would have to award me the decision."

Greb failed to receive the credit due him for his win over Gibbons. In many quarters it was regarded in the nature of a fluke—an off night for Gibbons.

Tunney Disposed Of.

Then Greb was matched with Gene Tunney, holder of the light heavyweight title of America. Tunney had seen Greb fight. He figured he knew the system that would beat him. Greb defeated Tunney even more decisively than he outpointed Gibbons.

"I feel positive I can win a decision over Dempsey in a 12 or 15-round bout."

Greb is willing also—yes, even anxious to take on Georges Carpentier before a Dempsey match.

Would Settle Matters.

"A meeting with Carpentier would please immensely," said Greb. "It would determine whether the Frenchman or myself is entitled to fight Dempsey.

"I am positive if I meet Carpentier there will be no further demand for a battle in England or France with Dempsey.

"Size isn't everything in the fight game. I believe I have convinced the public that a good little man is much better than a fair big one.

"I have polished off Tommy Gibbons, Charley Weinert, Gene Tunney, Captain Roper and a number of other husky heavyweights without any trouble."

NEW YORK, June 7.—All the real horse races aren't run in Kentucky, nor are all the thoroughbred breeding stables built on plots surrounded by wild growths of blue grass.

Eastern horsemen will strive to demonstrate this on Saturday, when the Belmont stakes, a genuine sporting test for 3-year-olds, is lined out of its ivy-grown niche in racing's collection of classics for its fifty-fourth showing over the beautified track at Belmont Park.

Even when most enthusiastic, the metropolitan race goer will concede that the Belmont is not what it might have been. Aside from the turf history that has clung to it, despite the event's decadence the Belmont stakes is important because it is a $50,000 gallop, and because it is over a mile and three furlongs.

It is the nearest approach to English Derby conditions that United States racing has, and is one of the few contests on this side that tests a colt's stamina with his speed and his gameness. What makes it of surpassing interest this year, however, is the entry of Snob II., the only 3-year-old under colors which veteran appraisers of horseflesh have pronounced a rival of Morvich, winner of the Kentucky Derby.

Unfortunately, as is now apparent, for Morvich, that horse when a yearling was not nominated for the Belmont, but 170 other horses were registered before the books closed Nov. 29, 1920, and of this prospective field at least a score have been pointed to go to the post.

Pillory, who won the Preakness at Pimlico the same day Morvich triumphed, will probably be at the barrier with Snob II.

In addition to Pillory there likely will be Hea and Relay, two worthy steeds, and a band of lesser mounts, any one of which may come from behind the curtain of obscurity to win.

Murray Shoe men won a close 4 to 3 fixture from the Stovemen in the Manufacturers League last night at Queen's Park. Arscott held the McClary swatters to three hits, while his teammates were getting six hits off Andrews, which were not so timely as the five errors contributed to the Stovemen's hurler.

MINT Patter

Last night, just before they hopped the train for Hamilton, would have been the right moment for a few of those flowers.

There should have been two homers registered in yesterday's game. Smyth's triple was easily good for a homer, but Smyth almost forgot to run for looking at his hit when he rounded first, and then he didn't gain any lost time on the runways.

If Beecher always thought he could play ball two-thirds as well as he played yesterday he would.

* * *

Arndt is either so wild that his stuff looks speedy or he's so speedy that he can't control it. He really didn't stay around long enough for the dopesters to determine which is right.

Clarke looks better in the outfield every time out. He has a few of the actions of Sammy Vandyke, with vastly more pep, of course. He gets awfully bored when at the plate.

Bope didn't become very popular with the fans for no particular reason. He reminds them, probably, of Bill Kuhn on dirt balls.

Burleigh Horne still continues to be the fielding sensation of the Saints. Horne doesn't look like either a pitcher, outfielder, or a hitter, but he's quite a bit of all three, accordig to the box scores of the last two weeks.

Wonder if Official Statistician Stein will publish the age averages of the teams this year? Some of the Hams must have just missed the Civil War draft.

If Buzz can pull off one more trade that will work as much improvement as the last one with Bill Kelly the fans will be satisfied.

Corker Legg showed some splendid umpiring on the bases during the series just closed. He had a few close decisions to make and called them right every time. Corker will never be far off if it depends on getting on the play.

CAMLACHIE WINS 16—5.

CAMLACHIE, June 7.—The village C. A. C. baseball team met and won the game from Marthaville on the ground of the latter on Tuesday. Though the score was 16—5, some innings were exciting, and the game was enjoyed by many spectators. The return game will be played here on Friday.

KELLY'S MEN SWEEP SERIES WITH ACES

Win Gave Saints Ten Won, Four Lost, On Home Grounds.

PORT HURON, June 7.—The Saints today won the series with the Saginaw Aces and made it 10 games won and 4 lost on the home stand. The final score was 12 to 5.

Kaylor hit another home run, scoring one man in front of him. Horne with three hits was the hitting star of the day. He also played sensationally in the field.

The Saints left tonight for Saginaw, where they will play another series of three games, returning here Sunday for a lone tilt with the Aces. The score:

Bay City tied it up in the seventh on home runs by Knoll and Wire, and broke the tie in the eleventh on two errors by Brown. Mostade's triple and singles by Brown and Luce gained the verdict in the eleventh, despite the fact that the game brought on the worst umpiring seen in the Mint League here in two years. The score:

GUELPH MAPLE LEAFS BLANK GALT TERRIERS 4--0

"Chuck" Henry Fans 10 and Allows But 4 Scattered Hits.

GUELPH, June 7.—In an Inter-County League postponed game here this afternoon the Guelph Maple Leafs defeated the Galt Terriers in one of the hardest fought games of the season by a score of 4 to 0. Both teams played magnificent ball, but the visitors were helpless before the masterly pitching of "Chuck" Henry, who fanned ten and allowed but four scattered hits. He was invincible with men on bases, and the team behind him played errorless ball. Kress for Galt also pitched a grand game, but he was a trifle wild, and his passes usually resulted in runs. There was a big crowd in attendance, the largest of the year, including many from Galt. The Leafs scored one run in the third, another in the fourth and two in the seventh. Pequegnat, the Leaf catcher, led at the bat with three hits, one a double, in as many trips to the plate. G. Himes had two hits for the visitors.

HOW TO PLAY BALL

Steve O'Neill, Star Catcher For the Cleveland Indians.

STEVE O'NEILL.

BY STEVE O'NEILL,
Star Catcher—Cleveland Indians.

A good glove plays a most important part in the work of a catcher.

With a great many catchers, who some day aspire to make a big league grade, there is an idea the bigger the glove the better.

Modern day catchers in the two major leagues take an entirely different view I prefer a much smaller glove.

I have used any number of models, and find by experience that a small glove is much better suited to the varied uses the catcher must put it.

A big glove is really a hindrance in handling a slow hit ground ball in front of the plate. A small pocket that is well broken in retains pitched balls much better than the larger pocket of the big glove.

In touching a runner the smaller, more compact glove enables the catcher to get a firmer grip on the ball, thereby greatly eliminating the chance of dropping the ball after having touched out the runner.

Position Means Much.

Position back of the plate means considerable. When ready to receive the pitch I favor having the right foot just a little back of the left foot, say a matter of four inches.

I have found that such a position enables a catcher to get the ball away much more quickly on a throw than when standing with both feet even up. Getting the ball away quickly means everything to the catcher.

A catcher should always back up first base with a man on first or no one on the bases.

Many a time such an act on the part of the catcher looks unnecessary when the play is properly completed. It is when the throw is wild, or the first baseman lets it get through him, that the value of backing up the play is apparent.

I find that I get good results by coaching my pitchers at all times. The catcher should always tell the pitcher at what base to make a play, when a ground ball is hit to him.

Particular care must be taken to do this on a sacrifice play, where one or more chances are offered to retire a player. The catcher has the play in front, the pitcher has his back to it. The coaching of the catcher is most important.

When I find my pitcher showing signs of wildness, I make it a point to give him a mark to pitch to. This can be done by holding the glove at a spot that would come under the strike limitations.

Watch for Tips.

If the pitcher is just outside with his delivery, I work a trifle more to the inside, and vice versa. If he is keeping the ball too high, I work more from a squat position.

Watch the batsman and base-runner in trying to outguess them. The runner on first invariably tips off the catcher when he intends to go down. Knowing this, the catcher can call for a pitchout, thereby increasing his chances to spoil the steal of second or the hit-and-run.

ST. MARYS ALERTS DEFEAT BRAMPTON

7--1 Score Shows Superiority of Last Year's Champions.

ST. MARYS, June 7.—The much-heralded Brampton Excelsiors, senior lacrosse team, received the surprise of their lives here this afternoon, when they were hopelessly outclassed by the local Alerts, last year's champions, to the tune of 7 to 1, in an exhibition game. Playing almost a junior team because of the fact that several members of the Alerts are away, the locals had little trouble in disposing of the visitors, though they played a splendid brand of lacrosse.

The game was a fast, clean exhibition, only two penalties being handed out, and these to the visitors. The first three periods were well played, the locals only being able to score one goal in each twenty minutes of play, while they succeeded in holding their opponents scoreless. Only once did Brampton come anywhere near putting one in the nets, and then Stevens, the plucky little St. Marys goalkeeper, made a brilliant stop.

Cowan came on for the locals during the last twenty minutes, which materially strengthened the home, with the result that Billy Lavelle was able to tally three times, while Cowan scored once. The only goal for the visitors was scored in the third, when Kilroy slipped in unnoticed.

Though the Brampton outfit played a nice game, they are not in the same class as the Alerts, who played the finest combination today that they have shown for some time. Every man of the St. Marys team played a wonderful game, and all starred at some point of the game.

The line-up:
St. Marys—Stevens, goal; Stewart, point; Richardson, coverpoint; Peuther, 1st defence; Yates, 2nd defence; Tuer, center; Ganton, 2nd home; Newman, 1st home; Cowan, outside; W. Lavelle, inside; Smith, Mossop, C. Wilson, subs.

Brampton—Campbell, goal; Burrell, point; Ingram, coverpoint; Maclean, 1st defence; Bavaird, 2nd defence; Kilroy, center; Core, 2nd home; Anderson, 1st home; Sproule, outside; MacNeil, inside; Watson, Boodbee and Hodgins, subs.

Referee—D. Kennedy, Brampton.
Judge of play—J. Turnbull, St. Marys.

INGERSOLL, June 20. — Although they showed improved form, the local lacrosse team met defeat here tonight at the hands of St. Thomas by the one-sided score of 14 to 3. The locals showed up to advantage in the third quarter, and at times started a splendid combination. The Saints, however, excelled in combination and were accurate in shooting. STATES CHURCH OF ROME IS MENACE TO BAPTISTS

Rev. William Arthurs of Beamsville Addresses Niagara-Hamilton Association.

ST. CATHARINES, June 7.—That the greatest menace the church has to face is the Church of Rome, was the statement made at the second day's session of the Niagara-Hamilton Baptist Association this afternoon, by Rev. Wm. Arthurs of Beamsville, in reporting upon the Grand Ligne Mission. He urged Baptists to support the mission.

Rev. E. M. Kerstead, Toronto, said from his own knowledge, French-Canadians were inclined to receive the Protestant teachings and, when French culture becomes mingled with our own Canadian national life the results will be highly satisfactory.

The problem of getting ministers for Baptists of the Canadian West was raised by Rev. H. E. Green of Hamilton. The statistical report showed a decrease of one Sunday school in this district during the last year.

The need of eight hours' sleep with the window open was emphasized by Mrs. A. Taylor of Hamilton, in an address upon girls' work.

EXPRESS PREPAID ORDER CANCELLED

WINNIPEG, June 7.—George Carpentier, secretary of the prairie division, Canadian Manufacturers' Association, announced today that the American Railway Express Company had cancelled the requirement that charges on express shipments from the United States to Canada be prepaid. The change is to become effective June 15.

Efforts of the association to secure the withdrawal of the surcharge on freight rates had been unsuccessful, Mr. Carpentier said.

The freight surcharge and the express prepayment order were caused by unfavorable exchange rates against Canada.

SEES PERIL IN DIVORCES

Anglican Bishop Deplores Increased Number in Charge to Quebec Synod.

MONTREAL, June 7.—At the annual meeting of the Synod of the Quebec Diocese of the Anglican Church, which opened here yesterday, His Lordship Bishop Williams, in his charge to the delegates, dwelt at some length on "marriage and divorce."

He quoted the resolution passed in this connection at the joint session of the synod on motion of the Bishop of Columbia, and went on to say: "I feel very strongly that the rapid increase of divorces is one of the most distressing and dangerous features of modern life.

"The Church of England in Canada does not recognize divorce. It is our bounden duty either by resolution or memorial to bring to bear upon the government of Canada all the influence that lies in our power on this most vital question involving a moral peril, which strikes at the root of the stability of our modern civilization."

POSTPONE ORIENTAL CONGRESS.

Constantinople, June 7.—The Oriental Congress of Eastern Nations arranged during the closing days of the Genoa conference, has been postponed at the request of the Russian Bolshevik foreign minister, M. Tchitcherin. The congress was to have been held in Moscow this month, and was designed to include all those governments excluded from the Genoa conference.

SWITCHMAN INJURED

Hamilton Man Struck by Bottle or Rock and Rendered Unconscious.

HAMILTON, June 7.—Walter Newman, Victoria avenue east, a switchman employed by the Grand Trunk Railway Company, is in the hospital with a bad gash on the right side of his head, caused, it is thought either by a bottle or jagged rock hitting him.

Newman, who was stationed at the North and Emery streets crossing knows nothing of the affair except that he regained consciousness to find his face covered with blood and his light out. He was sure that he had been struck by a stray bullet.

Dr. Connoll, who attended the injured man, said that Newman had not been shot, but that a bottle or jagged rock thrown carelessly from the bridge which crosses the hollow in which the switch is situated, had struck him.

DRURY PILOTS CONTROL BILL THROUGH HOUSE

Premier Resists Amendments by Dewart and Ferguson.

PINARD MEASURE KILLED

Proposals Covering Separate School Question Turned Down.

TORONTO, June 7.—Resisting all amendments to his Lake of the Woods control bill, Premier Drury successfully piloted the controversial measure through committee of the whole house tonight after three and a half hours' discussion. Two amendments, moved by H. H. Dewart, K. C., were voted down, and a suggestion pressed very strongly by Hon. G. H. Ferguson was not accepted. Mr. Dewart's amendments were to make the actions of the control board with respect to some sections subject to the approval of the governor-general-in-council and the lieutenant-governor-in-council.

Mr. Ferguson reiterated his request to have the English River and Lac Seul excluded from the provisions of the bill.

Premier Drury described Mr. Dewart's first amendment as "cumbersome, unworkable and impossible." How could the regulation of the board, he asked, be subject to subsequent government approval? If the order were given to remove stop logs, he instanced, the damage would be done before the government's approval could be given.

Curry Supports Premier.

J. W. Curry, K.C., the premier's warmest supporter, took a like attitude.

Another amendment by Mr. Dewart, seconded by K. S. Stover, Algoma, sought to set out in the bill that the chairman of the board would not have a deciding vote, and that matters in dispute should be settled by the two governments. Premier Drury, however, assured the house that similar provision would be made in the orders-in-council, and the amendment was voted down. Peter Heenan (Kenora) the chief opponent of the bill, expressing himself as satisfied with the premier's assurance.

In reply to Mr. Ferguson, Premier Drury said he had given no consideration to the matter of requesting the Dominion government to give the Ontario ministers full control of the exclusively Ontario waters.

Attorney-General Raney's "further amendment to the corporations tax act" almost came before the Legislature for second reading tonight, but was withdrawn after the calling of the order upon the protests of Hon. Mr. Ferguson and H. H. Dewart that they had only just received the printed copies.

Bill Held Until Thursday.

The Conservative leader reiterated his statement of being in favor of the government getting this money, but he was not going to be stampeded, he said, into voting for anything which he had not considered or even read.

So the bill went back under cover until tomorrow when, according to the attorney-general, the house will be asked to send it forward two stages.

Mr. Raney explained that the clauses in the measure providing for fixation of tax stamps to the winning wagering tickets was not intended to be brought into effect unless the validity of the bill were attacked on constitutional grounds.

After a lengthy fight J. A. Pinard's bill to permit a non-Catholic guardian of a Roman Catholic child of school age to be a separate school supporter, was voted down in committee of the house in the Legislature this afternoon, on the tentative understanding that the issue would go to a special committee of the Legislature next session for consideration, along with other bills affecting the separate school question. Hon. R. H. Grant, minister of education, when the bill was introduced, immediately moved that it be not reported. He stated that the measure was against the principle of the existing school laws, and that he and his departmental officials were opposed to it.

Drury Advises Caution.

"As the law now stands," he said, "a non-Catholic could not, under any circumstances be a separate school supporter." He felt that the number of cases that would come under the jurisdiction of the bill would be very few, and he doubted whether there was any real cause or request for it.

Premier Drury took much the same view. He urged that the Legislature should avoid "tinkering" with laws that involve such controversial questions. He, like Dr. Grant, did not think the number of cases in the province warranted the legislation.

Mr. Pinard, supported by H. Hartley Dewart, argued that the bill was purely permissive. He stated that the bill did not say that a Protestant guardian "shall" do such and such, but "may," if he so desires.

W. F. Nickle, Kingston, while not prepared to agree with the bill in its entirety, thought that there was some merit in it. He suggested, however, that it should have consideration, and did not think there was sufficient time left to give it the necessary consideration. On this ground he proposed the bill and Mr. Mageau's separate school debenture bill should be reintroduced next session, and sent to a special committee for consideration. This proposal was indorsed by J. Walter Curry, Southwest Toronto, and finally accepted tentatively by the premier and Mr. Grant. Mr. Pinard, however, refused to consider the suggestion of Hon. W. E. Raney, that the department of education might consider the bill in the interval between the two sessions.

On a motion of Hon. F. C. Biggs, a special committee of the Legislature, representative of all groups, was appointed to sit during the recess of the house and consider the consolidation of the various acts in connection with the ultimate consolidation of the motor vehicles act. A special committee was also appointed to deal with the government's anti-combine legislation which has been under consideration for some time.

Anglicans Decide Boys Should Be Spanked.

TORONTO, June 7.—"Should the boys be spanked?" For some moments today this problem occupied the thought of the Anglican Synod of Toronto Diocese assembled in the St. James' Parish House.

"To spank or not to spank," cropped up as a clause of the executive committee's report presented to the Anglican Synod by John D. Falconbridge, acting for Chancellor Dr. Worrald, who is absent in Montreal.

The clause read: "Having carefully considered this question, your committee expresses its approval of magistrates being authorized by Parliament to sentence youthful offenders to corporal punishment, rather than imprisonment in jails."

After considerable discussion the clause was passed on to the general council.

SPIRIT OF THE AGES SHOWN IN MODERN BRIDAL GOWNS

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused By Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. —Advt.

FINED $500 FOR OWNING STILL

Steve Bohar Given Option of Six Months in Brant Jail.

Magistrate Adjourns Second Case To Decide Who Committed Perjury.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, June 7. — The inland revenue officers have fallen across a great many illicit stills lately and this morning several offences under the inland revenue act were heard in police court before Magistrate Blake. No O. T. A. charges were laid, the offences alleged being confined to breaches of the inland revenue act.

Steve Bohar, charged with illegally having a still in his possession, was found guilty. He was given the option of a $500 fine or six months imprisonment. Excise Officer I. Newsome laid the charge.

Judge Sees Perjury.

"If Lawson is telling the truth, MacKay has perjured himself. If this man is telling the truth, then Lawson has perjured himself. Perjury is becoming too common in court, and I am going to suspend judgment for a week in order to find out which man committed perjury."

So did the magistrate deliver himself in the case of Cecil MacKay, charged with having part of a still in his possession. Evidence given by the defendant of the case was directly opposite in some instances to that sworn by Lawson, witness for the prosecution.

The defendant claimed the only tubes which were in his property were those used as gauges on a bread machine.

F. Frank of the water commission, stated this morning that the citizens were not strictly observing the regulations governing the use of water for gardening purposes. It was pointed out that while there is an ample supply of water for all needs, the summer is just beginning, and as a safety first measure, strict economy is advisable. The hours not restricted are either 6 to 8 in the morning or 6 to 8:30 in the evening, but only once a day. Unless these regulations are observed summonses will be issued to all violators.

Face Assault Charge.

"Haven't you the nerve to look any one in the face?" Bertha Payne said. Then I said, "'S-sist,' just like that, and she up and kicked me in the stomach."

So went the story of Mrs. Flora Wilson, who with her husband, was charged with assaulting Bertha Payne, before Magistrate Blake in the police court here today. Both the accused and the complainant were East Ward residents, all colored.

RUMOR SUICIDE, BUT MAN LOCATED IN PITTSBURG

Find Clothes of Clarence Schraede Under Bridge at Chatham.

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, June 7. — Despite rumors to the effect that a man by name of Clarence Schraede had committed suicide in McGregor's Canal, near the William street bridge, yesterday, local authorities took no action to investigate the rumors, the reason for which was explained today when the man, who is employed by the Canadian Desmoines Steel Co., turned up at his home in Pittsburg in a sick condition.

The report went around that the suicide was a certainty owing to the fact that clothes of the missing man had been found under the William street bridge. W. A. Dalee, manager of the Canadian Desmoines Steel Co., however, received a telegram today in answer to one sent out that the man was ill at his home in Pittsburg.

Premier King Explains Delay in National Rail Merger.

OTTAWA, June 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—The reason for the delay in amalgamating the Grand Trunk with the National Railways was asked by the leader of the opposition at the opening of the house this afternoon.

In doing so, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen inquired also whether the government was aware of the immense loss that delay was causing.

The premier, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, replied that the attention of the government was taken up with a large number of matters while parliament was sitting. The matter mentioned by Mr. Meighen was being carefully considered. He thought that in the end no loss would accrue as a result of the delay.

"Perhaps the greater the delay, the greater the advantage," commented Mr. Meighen.

SOUTH AFRICA HAS TRADE PROBLEMS

Premier Smuts Discusses Cattle Export Issue in Union Assembly.

LONDON, June 7.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Speaking in the South African Union Assembly yesterday, Premier Smuts showed that South Africa also had a cattle export problem, says a Reuter dispatch from Cape Town.

Following a discussion the house adopted a motion for the appointment of a select committee to investigate the allegations made by Alexander, an independent member, recently that a combine had been organized between the Meat Producers' Exchange and the Imperial Cold Storage Company to control the meat industry, practically with the approval of the government.

Premier Smuts, replying, gave assurance that the government did not seek to favor the monopoly.

Pointing out the difficulties attending the question, he said the Union at present was producing an annual surplus of 100,000 head of cattle, which, if not exported, depressed the local market.

The export market at present was practically at a standstill, and added that seeing it was almost impossible to enter the British market, which demanded the best qualities, he hoped a trade would be built up on the European Continent, though this would take time, trouble and money.

HIGHWAY COSTS CAUSE DEBATE

County Council Discusses Ways and Means of Raising Funds.

DEBENTURES OR TAXES

Members Think Government Is Spending Too Much On Roads.

Live discussion at a special meeting of the county council Thursday morning, was brought forth by an item in the estimates presented during the meeting, that of $91,227.34 for provincial highway construction.

This item immediately drew the attention of the council, when the report was given, and the council went into committee of the whole, with J. Nicholl of Ekfrid in the chair.

It was a point of contention with the council whether the money should be raised by issuing debentures or by taxation.

Was Not in Favor.

W. A. Collins, of Caradoc, said that the object of issuing debentures was to prevent the tax rate from being raised. He was not in favor of raising the money all by debentures, and pointed out that the cost of maintenance would be considerable.

W. J. Fuller declared that as the total use of the road would not be made by the present generation it was only fair that some of the debt should be left for future payment.

Because the present interest was $15,000, T. Hodgins, of McGillivray Township, thought that in 25 years or so it would take all the council could raise to pay the interest. "I think," he stated, "we should have struck this year's rate two mills higher than it is. You cannot do that now, but it was a mistake on the part of the council, which they will see later."

J. Morgan of Ailsa Craig, spoke saying he thought the money ought to be paid off immediately. "You burden yourselves with good roads and then you won't pay for them," he declared.

Reeve Armitage of Lucan, was of the opinion that debentures should be issued for a period of years, depending on the life of the road, so that all the users of the road would thereby assist in paying for it.

C. C. Henry of London Township, declared that it was a hardship for many farmers to pay their taxes at present, and that if the mill rate were raised, they would have gone "on the road."

"In time the county will be taxed $2 an acre," asserted Reeve Sullivan of Adelaide, "and we won't be able to pay it." The government, he thought, was spending too much on highway construction, and he urged upon the council that they send a resolution to the Ontario Government asking them to spend less in this direction.

John Couzens, warden, agreed with Mr. Armitage concerning the payment of the $91,227.34, and was also in favor of sending a resolution to the provincial government asking them to curtail expenditures on highways, and, he said, "if they don't curtail it we will get somebody down there who will curtail it."

Finally C. C. Henry introduced a resolution "That the amount required to meet the county's portion of the work of 1921 be raised by the issuing of debentures, to be spread over a period of 20 years." The resolution passed, and the whole of the estimates were referred back to the finance committee for revision.

In the estimates for the year a total expenditure of $343,890.28 is called for.

Present Bill.

A bill of $756.50 from the Children's Aid Society for children from the county cared for by the society was presented at the meeting and referred to the finance committee.

B. L. Dawson, governor of the jail, wrote to the council, stating that he had seen press reports of the meeting of the council which referred to the apportioning of $300 for the supervision of the janitorial work of the jail. He stated in the letter that through reduction of the staff and rent acquired from one turnkey occupying quarters owned by the county he had saved for the county $800 and $300, respectively. The $300 from rent, he declared, would wipe off the $300 paid for his supervision of the janitorial work of the jail, and that if his supervision was unsatisfactory to the council he was quite ready to give it up. The matter was referred to the jail committee.

A report of the county engineer, showing an expenditure on various roads throughout the county of $41,481.17, was presented, and laid on the table for the members of the council to look over.

The first report of the educational committee was read and adopted. Regarding the request from the Ingersoll Collegiate that the county pay a full 100 per cent of the cost of Middlesex pupils who entered on the same terms as other students, the committee reported no action had been taken.

To Attend Convention.

J. E. Harrison, chairman of the educational committee, was named by the committee to attend the convention of trustees of high schools and continuation schools to be held shortly in Toronto. The committee amended the report to include on the Middlesex County representation County Clerk Stewart and Warden John Couzens.

The council rose shortly after 12 o'clock, and will meet tonight at 8, the finance committee during the interval being asked to consider the estimates again and report on the debenture issue for the provincial highway.

In the estimatees provision is made for the following expenditures:

Deficit from 1921, $31,953.34; administration of justice, $20,000, grants and items, $6,000; municipal government laws costs, $19,000; school purposes, $80,000; registry offices, $1,400; jail maintenance and salaries, $15,000; printing, advertising and stationery $3,000; county buildings, $1,000; coroner's order, $300; division courts, $400; bank interest, $15,000; house of refuge, $17,500; hospitals, $10,000; agricultural grants, $800; city, re criminal justice, $1,000; Western University, $20,000; mothers' allowances, $4,500; system of good roads and bridges $214,006.80; county bridges, $4,000; sinking fund and interest, $25,660.54; court house expenses, $3,500; insurance, $2,520; provincial highways construction, $91,227.34; maintenance, $4,992.87; making a total of $592,760.89, less receipts, estimated, $109,746.20, giving a difference of $423,014.64.

Less provincial highway cost, $91,227.34. Add this issue of ten years' debentures, $12,107.93; equals, 343,890.28.

DELAY DECISION ON BYRON PHONE PLEA

Ontario Railway and Municipal Board Seeks Additional Information On Bond Issue.

Holding that insufficient data had been submitted, members of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, meeting at the Middlesex County Buildings Thursday morning, deferred their decision on two applications from the Byron Telephone Company, for ten days.

In the first instance the latter corporation seeks approval of the issuance of bonds to the value of $10,000 for the purpose of making repairs to such equipment on their lines as was destroyed or damaged during the last severe storm.

The company seeks also authority to increase their service charges. The commissioners felt in this case that additional information should be submitted.

Ten days' time was also allotted the Byron Telephone Company and the Caradoc-Ekfrid Telephone Company in which they might come to an amicable understanding concerning the interchange of lines. The former company seeks free interchange on the latter's lines, but the Caradoc concern demands certain remuneration.

Should no agreement be reached within the time limit the commissioners will then fix the terms and issue the final order. Duncan Campbell represented the Byron Company Thursday, while W. R. Wadsworth appeared for the Caradoc-Ekfrid line.

Francis Dagger, the board's telephone expert, was present throughout the sitting, at which presided A. B. Ingram, vice-chairman of the same body.

FORMER MATRON OF HURON COLLEGE CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Betsey McDonald, one of London's oldest citizens, died Wednesday night at her home, 875 Hellmuth avenue. She was 91 years and 8 months of age, and until last fall enjoyed excellent health. During the winter, however, Mrs. McDonald gradually failed. Two days ago she became unconscious, in which state she passed peacefully and painlessly away.

Mrs. McDonald came from Kintyre, Argyleshire, in 1853, crossing the Atlantic on the same boat with Mr. John Ferguson of this city. She was a daughter of the late John McDougall of London Township, who came here in 1851.

From 1892 to 1909 she was matron of Huron College, and with her daughter, Mrs. Johnston, who assisted her, will be warmly remembered by the graduates and officers of that institution. Since 1909 she has lived in retirement.

All who knew Mrs. McDonald have been impressed by her sterling qualities, her Scottish strength of character, her unfailing cheerfulness in all circumstances, and her gentle serenity of spirit. She is survived by one daughter, Mary Johnston, 875 Hellmuth avenue, a grandson, Roland Johnston, Cleveland, Ohio, and two great grandchildren.

ASHTON UNPERTURBED BY THREATS OF COLLEAGUES

Ald. John Ashton, who moved the adoption of a clause iin the proposed salary bylaw authorizing payment of $25 per month to members of the city council Monday night, is unperturbed by the threats of fellow councillors who have opposed the motion, and threaten court action to kill it.

He insists that he will fight for this clause, and scorns the statement of Ald. Judd that he waited for an opportunity to introduce the proposal when its opponents were absent.

"That's a poor excuse," he declared, Thursday. "The people elected the aldermen to attend council meetings, and they should be there."

"I did not specify that the salary was to be paid the aldermen this year or next year, so that knocks the court action on the head. I am merely following out the Labor platform, and payment of salary to the city council is authorized by the government.

"Ald. Judd had better leave me alone," concluded Ald. Ashton, "because I can put it over on him every time."

UNABLE TO TRACE MISSING YOUTH

No trace of Roy Glover, 14-year-old ward of the Children's Aid Society, who disappeared en route from Chatham to Hamilton, and is thought to be in the vicinity of London, has as yet been found by the society.

The boy was on his way to the Children's Aid Society at Hamilton, and E. J. Burns, inspector in that city, met the train which the young wanderer boarded at Chatham, but could not find him.

The society has issued a description of clothes worn by the boy when he disappeared. It is as follows: White blouse, blue tie, light cap, bloomer trousers, black stockings, and a coat matching the trousers, which was wrapped in a bundle which he carried.

CLAIMS HE WAS HIT WITH CLUB

Westminster Man Alleges Neighbor Assaulted Him.

Squire Chittick Advises Doctor Routledge Arbitrate Case.

While Wednesday was apparently "Manor Park" day in the Middlesex county police court, Thursday evidently was set aside as "Westminster Township" day.

From near and far journeyed to London the sturdy yeoman, in considerable numbers to hear the case, John Crinklow versus John Jones, both Westminster residents, and all went away seemingly satisfied with what they heard and witnessed, unless, of course, the principals in the case themselves were dissatisfied with Squire Chittick's decision to reserve judgment until such time as he had consulted with Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas.

Crowded To Door.

As the court officials graciously tendered the Ontario Railway Board the use of the court-room for a special session, the squire was compelled to hold forth in the high constable's private office and that department was crowded to the doors with eager humanity.

Suggests Arbitration.

Assuming his position Squire Chittick, with Justice of the Peace Morgan of Ailsa Craig, at his right, suggested to Messrs. Crinklow and Jones that they settle their dispute without court interference. He suggested that Dr. Routledge arbitrate the issue, as being a good friend of both men.

Jones claimed that his neighbor Crinklow struck him over the head and body several times with a club Sunday afternoon last. Crinklow, through his counsel, W. R. Meredith, pleaded "Not guilty," as any physical action undertaken was with due provocation, he stated.

As the complainant's father essayed to offer comment as the court proceeded, neither party evincing any great desire to arbitrate, Squire Chittick declared, "You got too much to say altogether. You're not running this court. You'll just step out the first thing you know."

'Just thought you might want to know something about it," rejoined the spectator.

"Well, you needn't bother. There have been better men than you clubbed over the head. We don't want your interference,' said the squire.

Exchange Opinions.

As the case progressed the debate between the contestants and their respective attorneys grew apace, and many opinions were interchanged by the spectators, gathered on the sidelines, and who could not obtain comfortable seats.

As Crinklow's witnesses related that he had gone over with a little stick to drive his cattle from Jones' field, the latter interrupted with "he run in to knock my brains out."

"Surely you don't ask him to do the impossible," questioned Attorney Meredith as the court fairly rocked with spontaneous and prolonged laughter.

At one point in the trial, the attorney for the defence suggested that as the room was crowded and the day fairly humid, the squire should adjourn proceedings while everyone moved to the lawn, where the dispute might proceed. The bench did not act upon the suggestion, however.

The complainant, Jones, at another stage of the trial, interjected untold merriment into the occasion when asked his age. He opened his mouth, seemingly for the attorney and crown to judge by his teeth.

Young Man Popular.

A stiff passage-at-arms between Attorney Meredith and complainant Jones featured the first half of the trial. "You are fairly popular out your way, are you not?" questioned the former. "Oh, yes, I am all right," replied the latter. "Yes," suggested Attorney Meredith, "about as popular as a skunk."

Once again pandemonium cut loose among the assembled spectators as Jones retorted to the effect that he was no more a skunk than the attorney himself.

After constant interchange of ideas and opinions between the two opposing factions, the evidence was eventually completed, and Squire Chittick declared he would reserve judgment.

"That will be a matter for the judge to decide," volunteered Jones at this juncture, indicating that he intended appealing the case should he lose the decision.

"You don't know anything about it," thundered Squire Chittick. "The first thing you know, I will have you downstairs behind the bars."

CHIEF RETURNS $17 LOST MONEY

Chief Birrell believes that "it pays to advertise." Wednesday afternoon he informed The Advertiser that a roll of bills was waiting for an owner at his office, and a statement to this effect was inserted in the paper Thursday morning. Wm. Doyle turned up to claim the $17 in the chief's possession.

"How much did you have?" asked the chief.

"Seventeen dollars," promptly responded Mr. Doyle. "I had a Bank of Commerce ten, a Bank of Toronto five, and two ones. I lost the bills on Carling street, near the police station, I think.

"The money's your's," said the chief. "That's just what's in the roll, found on Carling street not far from the police station.

IN THE REPORT published Wednesday the name of John Graham was inadvertently omitted from the list of those who contributed to the program on Tuesday evening, at the reception tendered the new minister of Chalmers Presbyterian Church, Rev. John Richardson.

BERRIES OFFERED AT 25 TO 30 CENTS

Growers Fear Crop Will Be Small If Drought Continues.

There was a small attendance at the local market on Thursday.

A few loads of hay were offered at $16@18 per ton.

A few boxes of strawberries were offered at 25@30c. The hot weather is greatly affecting the crop, and unless there is rain immediately the berries will be small in size. On sandy soil the berries are drying up faster than on the heavier soil. The berries offered on Thursday were small in size.

The heat is also affecting other crops seriously.

A few bags of potatoes were offered at $1.75 per bag. The price ranges from $1.65@1.85 per bag.

Chicago, June 8.—With showers in the Northwest and a decline in Liverpool quotations, wheat averaged a little lower in price here today during the early dealings. It was expected also that the government crop report this afternoon would prove moderately bearish, confirming private estimates. Commission house buying, however, developed quickly on the decline. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅜c lower, was followed by slight rallies, but then by a setback all around to well below the initial level.

Liverpool, June 8.—Wheat—Spot, No. 1 northern, 12s 10d; No. 3, 11s 4d; No. 2 hard winter, 10s 7½d.

MONTREAL STOCKS

Montreal, June 8—Close.—Mackay resumed the leadership of the local stock market at the opening today, and maintained its position throughout the session, being the most active stock as well as the strongest. From an opening of 98½, which was fractionally above last night's close, the stock advanced to 99¼, which is a new high record. Second in activity and strength came Dominion Canners, which also made a new high record for the year at 37½.

Lake of the Woods was also a feature of the local market, making a new high level on the movement at 168. The floating supply of this stock is limited and buyers have to bid up the stock to secure it.

Public utilities were all firmer. Brazilian, which was 47⅜ in late trading yesterday, rose to above 48. Toronto Railway improved to 72½, an advance of 1⅛ points from the opening. Twin City rose to 57, an advance of a point, and Montreal Power was up to 91⅜.

Pulp and paper issues were steady, and no change of importance was reported in this group.

Girl Takes Refuge With Police, Charging Gypsies Kidnapped Her

Sydney, N. S., June 8.—Giving her name as Rosa Miguel of West Virginia, for whom police and private detectives are said to have been scouring the country without success for months, a girl, 21, and pretty, took refuge with the Sydney police yesterday afternoon after making her way from a band of gypsies, encamped on the outskirts of the city. She says they kidnapped her two months ago, beat her, doped her, and otherwise ill used her. The immigration authorities are investigating her case and arranging for her return to her parents.

The girl told a romantic story of having been captured by gypsies in Norfolk, at the age of 12, living with them for some years, and being forced to marry the son of their king, of being rescued, and finally recaptured.

The refugee had hardly finished her explanation when an old gypsy woman appeared and accused her of stealing $300. The Sydney police, thereupon got in touch with Norfolk and received confirmation of the kidnapping of Rosa Miguel.

She is being held pending instructions. No charge has been preferred against the gypsies, but they are being kept under surveillance.

TORONTO'S LOSS LONDON'S GAIN

Toronto, June 8.—The departure in the fall of A. E. Oneill, specialist in English and classics at Parkdale Collegiate to the London Collegiate, at a greatly increased salary, is held by Toronto school teachers as another instance of the exodus of teachers from the city high schools on account of the low salary schedule as compared with other cities in Ontario.

LONDON TO HAVE ANOTHER CHURCH

London is about to have a new church added to her list of beautiful places of worship. Building Inspector A. M. Piper this morning issued a permit to Sam Reddick for the erection of a one-story frame church on Hill street.

The new church is to be known as Hill Street Baptist Church, and the site is near William street. It is understood that this church is being erected for the congregation of the old Horton Street Baptist Church, situated near Wellington street, which has been converted into a factory.

The estimated cost of the new building is $4,500.

R. A. Lyons has taken out a building permit to construct a stucco addition at 207 Talbot street, costing $2,000, and M. Fishbein has taken out a permit to erect a one-story stucco residence at Berbrook Place at an estimated cost of $2,400.

WARD 3 ASSESSMENT BOOST WILL NOT TOTAL $2,000,000

Commissioner Grant To Announce Figures Friday—Admits Increase Is Big.

According to Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant, the prediction that the increase of property and building assessment in Ward Three for 1923, as published in The Advertiser Tuesday, has been slightly overestimated. The published figure of approximately two million dollars of an increase, Mr. Grant points out, is too great.

Although he refused to divulge the exact amount of the increase, Mr. Grant admitted that it is between one and two million dollars. The figures for Ward Three assessment will be completed and announced Friday.

Hazarding a guess as to the probable increase, a reporter asked Mr. Grant: "How about one million and a half dollars?"

"Oh, you are too clever," replied the assessment commissioner. "Wait until Friday."

Losing Millions

The City of London is practically without public Bathing and Swimming facilities, yet almost in the heart of the city, approximately half a million gallons of high quality mineral water are wasted daily. These valuable waters, if utilized through the establishing of Hotels, Bath Houses and Swimming Pools, etc., would provide a veritable stream of liquid wealth, transforming London into one of the continent's popular Health and Pleasure Resorts; building up the River Section of Dundas Street; putting hundreds of thousands of dollars into the cash drawers of London's business houses; and returning rich dividends on every dollar of capital invested.

LONDON HEALTH RESORTS, Ltd., has been organized for the purpose of acquiring the Springs, together with adjoining properties, and getting Londoners together in a businesslike effort to exploit this great natural asset. The capital of the company is $400,000—all Common Stock—Shares $10 each. 15,000 shares are being offered to the public at par, the proceeds to be used for acquiring the properties, and erecting and equipping the first units of the project, namely Bath Houses and Swimming Pools. SICK SOLES.

'Tis the soles of the people, I keep in view,
For I am the doctor of boot and shoe.
I sole the living, but not the dead—
With the best of leather, wax and thread
I can sew on a sole, or nail it fast,
Do a good job and make it last!
There is nothing snide about what I do.
Doubt not this—my work proves it's true.
I can give you a lift in this changeable life.
Not only you, but your children and wife.
A good many patients have come to my door,
Worn out, run down and feeling quite sore.
Though I don't use poultice, plaster or pill,
I cure sick soles, no matter how ill!

BELIEVES POISON CAUSE OF DEATH

ST. THOMAS, June 7.—Fred Osborne, a farm laborer, employed by John Kelly, a farmer on the Gravel road, was found dying in a barn tonight by Mrs. Kelly, who went out to ascertain why he had not come to the house for supper.

Dr. J. D. Curtis was called hurriedly, but Osborne died in a few minutes from the effects of what the physician believes to have been a poisonous mixture of some kind. An inquest will be held.

It is said that Osborne purchased some ingredients in a drug store and mixed them himself, but it is not thought with any intention of harming himself.

Dr. Curtis said that rubbing alcohol might have been the poison which caused the man's death.

SMALL FRUITS TO YIELD WELL

Large Crops With Exception of Raspberries Expected in Western Ontario.

Reports From Leading Centers Indicate Currants and Strawberries Promising.

There is every indication at present of a large small fruit crop, with the exception of raspberries, throughout Western Ontario. In some districts the raspberry plants of all varieties were slightly injured during the winter, but in very nearly all districts those of the Cuthbert variety were severely damaged. There are many reports being received of considerable increased plantings of strawberries, but this of course will have no effect upon the crop this year.

Niagara-on-the-Lake.—Black currants will yield probably a crop equal to last year, but the winter injury on raspberries will considerably affect that crop. Strawberries are looking fine and acreage is being considerably increased by heavy plantings.

Vineland.—Conditions are exceedingly promising of all kinds of small fruits with the exception of raspberries in which the new plantings look well, but the old patches are frozen. The bearing acreage has not been increased over that of 1921, the total crop will not exceed 60 per cent of that of last year.

Grimsby.—Raspberries, especially the old canes, have suffered severely from the winter injury and the raspberry crop therefore will not be nearly up to average. With that exception prospects for heavy crops of small fruits were never better.

Grimsby Beach.—The bearing acreage of small fruits is equal to that of last year and all crops with the exception of raspberries are looking well. The acreage of grapes is being increased.

Burlington.—Strawberries are looking fair and the crop is at present estimated at 90 per cent of a full crop. Raspberries have suffered a great deal from the cane borer and from the winter, old patches in many cases being entirely frozen out. This season's crop will be therefore very light and not more than 25 per cent. Strawberries wintered well. Currants and gooseberries promise 75 per cent of a full crop.

Georgetown.—There has been serious winter injury to Cuthbert raspberry canes ranging from 25 per cent to 95 per cent. Acreage has been increased this year fully 25 per cent.

Wyoming.—Small fruits have wintered well and prospects are for a good crop of all kinds.

Collingwood. — Some raspberries have been winter killed and will have only a small crop. Strawberries and black currants will be very plentiful.

Ingersoll.—Small fruits give promise of a good crop of all varieties probably 20 per cent above last year. The acreage of small fruits has been increased this year by 15 per cent.

Arkona—Raspberries in the old patches show severe winter injury but the younger patches look promising. The acreage is a little larger than last year.

St. Thomas-Simcoe District. — Currants, gooseberries and strawberries promise a full crop and raspberries almost a full crop. The acreage of small fruits is practically equal to that of last season. Many of the growers are anxious about the disposal of such a large crop.

5-YEAR-OLD GIRL KICKED BY HORSE

Special to London Advertiser.

CARGILL, June 7.—Unconscious and with blood streaming from wounds on her face, the little 5-year-old daughter of Joseph Borho of Culross Township, near Formosa, was found in the yard at her home yesterday.

When revived the child could not tell what happened to her, but it is supposed she was kicked by a horse, although there were no horses in the yard at the time she was found. The child had left the house only a short time before being discovered.

DONALD McKAY PASSES.

WINNIPEG, June 7.—Another real old-timer of Manitoba passed away yesterday in Donald McKay, aged 80 years. Deceased was born in Glasgow, and when a child of 2 years was brought to Canada by his parents, who settled in Middlesex County. There he spent his boyhood and young manhood, but hearing the call of the West he joined the great exodus, and for the past 51 years had lived on Portage Plains until thirteen years ago, when he moved to Portage la Prarie, where he died. His widow and two daughters survive in Manitoba. One sister also lives at High Bluff, Manitoba, and one brother, Kenneth, is a resident of Forest, Ontario, and one, Duncan, in this city.

Fears Methodists Woo Lady Nicotine.

TORONTO, June 7.—Should Methodist ministers be barred from smoking? Should professors in Methodist colleges be similarly restrained?

These are questions that will be raised in the Toronto Methodist Conference if a young preacher from Northern Ontario has his way. He is Rev. A. Earl Baker, and he has a pastorate that stretches some 700 miles along the line of the Canadian National Railways. He is the Methodist missionary on the C. N. R. line.

Mr. Baker is pointing out what he believes to be an absurd situation—that students before being admitted to the ministry are required to pledge their word that they do not use tobacco, while no such pledge is asked or required of the professors who teach them.

VOTES AGAINST ALLIES ON LOAN

France Dissents From Approval of International Credit For Germany.

Louis Dubois Takes First Minority Stand On Reparations Commission.

PARIS, June 7.—The allied reparations commission by a three-to-one vote, overriding France's negative ballot, gave the bankers' committee today full authority to propose an international loan for Germany on any basis the committee thinks desirable.

The bankers, however, indicated their disposition not to take any action that would be in opposition to the French government's wishes.

The bankers decided not to reach a decision today, but to reflect upon the situation, discuss it among themselves, and meet tomorrow for a more formal exchange of views, and to determine whether they could go ahead with the loan or not.

The French attitude toward the bankers' committee was discussed at a conference this morning at which President Millerand, Premier Poincare, M. Dubois, Finance Minister de Lasteyrie, M. Reibel, minister of liberated regions, and M. Sergent, the French member of the bankers' committee, were present.

It was after this discussion that M. Dubois reaffirmed the stand he had previously taken in the reparations commission.

The opinion that appeared to prevail among the bankers as they began their informal discussions was that the view of its interests taken by the principal creditor, the French government, ought to be the controlling factor. The bankers, it was pointed out, have seen from the first that there were great difficulties in the way of the flotation of a loan, and therefore they are not surprised at the turn events have taken.

The divided vote of the reparations commission marks the first important decision taken by that body with the French member, Louis Dubois, dissenting.

IMPROVED DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE TO WESTERN CANADA—BIG REDUCTION IN TOURIST FARES.

Effective June 4, "The National" will be restored as a daily train between Toronto and Winnipeg, via Capreol and Port Arthur. This will give the Canadian National Railways double daily service between Eastern Canadian points and the West—"The National" daily from Toronto and "The Continental Limited" daily from Montreal and Ottawa, with through sleeping car connections from Toronto. Superior service is assured on these trains, which consist of the finest modern equipment, including Tourist and Standard Sleeping cars and Compartment-Library-Observation cars.

Big reductions in summer tourist fares to the Canadian Rockies and Pacific Coast points, valid for return up to Oct. 31, may be had for travel on these trains. The advantage of circuit tours, optional routes and stop-over privileges are also granted.

Make your next trip west by the new way—"The National Way." You have the advantage of new scenery and unexcelled service. For tickets, reservations and all information apply city ticket office, corner Richmond and Dundas streets, or any agent of the Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railways.

WILL NOT AFFECT TREATIES.

TOKIO, June 7.—The treaties and agreements signed at the Washington arms conference, to which Japan was a party, will not be affected by the cabinet crisis, it was decided today by the privy council.

CONVENTION OF TRAINMEN ENDS

TORONTO, June 7.—The convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in session here for the last month, was concluded today. President W. G. Lee told the delegates the convention had been most harmonious, and thanked the local entertainment committee for its hospitality.

Before the installation of officers chosen to represent the brotherhood for the next three years, a special committee was appointed to meet a committee of the Order of Railroad Conductors to adjust certain working conditions connected with the Cleveland compact. Most of the delegates left tonight.

BICYCLES STOLEN AT ST. THOMAS

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, June 7. — Three bicycles were stolen from the Athletic Park during the baseball game with Woodstock, Wednesday. The owners were able to give the police neither the numbers nor any useful descriptions.

The police say that there is the greatest difficulty in tracing stolen property of this kind without some means of identification, and little hope of recovery is held. The best protection against loss is for owners to provide their machines with padlocks, officers claim.

STRAWBERRIES RIPENING

HYDE PARK, June 7.—The strawberries are ripening about one week earlier than in 1921. Mr. T. Morris had a splendid picking last Saturday. There is great need of rain, already the later blossoms are beginning to blast, although the heavy dews are helping out a little.

Our Babies and Theirs

THESE pictures are from life. The Canadian children were photographed in Montreal—the other little soul in the famine district of Russia.

THE FAMINE IS STILL ON. Until August nothing can come from the ground.

We have food aplenty. Our babies are chubby, healthy and happy—and theirs are emaciated, miserable and racked with the agonies of starvation.

In your baby's name do something—let it be a gift from him or her to him or her in Russia. Likely your baby will never know what you have done, nor will the stricken mite in Russia, but God and you will know.

The Russian Relief Fund, Chairman Lord Emmott, with whom is associated Sir Arthur Stanley, Chairman of the British Red Cross; The Friend's Relief Mission and the Save the Children Fund, with Lord Weardale as Chairman, have been unified under the Chairmanship of Sir Benjamin Robertson—the greatest living authority on famine conditions. These organizations are feeding 300,000 children in the Saratov area and are helping some of the millions of adults who are in the direst need of food.

Cheques and money orders may be forwarded through your bank, the local committee or sent direct to Sir George Burn, Treasurer, Save the Children Fund, Elgin Building, Ottawa.

All subscriptions are expended on Canadian foodstuffs.

CONDEMNS LATE HOURS OF DANCERS

HAMILTON, June 7.—Dance halls which draw wives from their homes and result in children being left to roam the streets until the early hours of the morning, should be closed, and would be closed, if he had the power to do so, declared Magistrate Jelfs at a meeting of the police commission this afternoon.

Complaint was made by several nearby residents of the late hour to which public dances continued in the Orange Hall on Lottridge street.

They had no objection to the regular lodge meetings of the Orange Order, but they did press to have the dances discontinued.

SISKIND FREED OF BET CHARGE

Jury Returns Verdict of "Not Guilty" After 45 Minutes Deliberation.

Frequent Clashes Between Judge Macbeth and Attorney Meredith Mark Trial.

Although Judge Talbot Macbeth, presiding at the Wednesday afternoon session of the Middlesex County Court, declared, that in his opinion, Julius Siskind, Richmond street businessman, charged with allowing his store to be used as a place to record racing bets or wagers, had not submitted ample explanation as to racing publications and similar material located by the police on his premises, the jury, after 45 minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Frequent clashes between Judge Macbeth and W. R. Meredith, counsel for the defence, featured the proceedings, which were of brief duration, Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas waiving the right to address the jury, while the counsel for the defence limited his remarks to a few minutes only.

Charging the jury, Judge Macbeth expressed the opinion that the counsel for the defence "had not given any explanation of the various apparent race entries to be found in the book taken by the police from the defendant's safe."

"I must certainly object to that statement," Attorney Meredith exclaimed, interrupting the judge. "We are not called upon to offer any explanation. The onus always rests upon the crown."

"Well, I think that you should make an explanation," rejoined Judge Macbeth. "However, that may be settled by the jury."

Again Interrupts.

As the judge continued his remarks, the attorney for the defence again interrupted. "I must certainly object again," he stated, "to your honor continuing to utter these remarks."

"I still contend," retorted the judge, "that I had every right to remark that the counsel for the defence had no explanation to offer for the presence of these racing forms, books and slips, other than the suggestion that they were being used to record his own betting."

"But you have told the jury," persisted Mr. Meredith, "that it was not necessary for the crown to present proof that bets had actually been placed, but to show only that wagers had been recorded. I maintain that you should have told them bets other than his own. I claim we have given an explanation. He is a bettor himself, and the book confiscated is his handicap book."

"Does that explain the various initials?" queried Judge Macbeth.

"Well that is a matter entirely for the jury to pass on," replied Attorney Meredith.

Considerable delay was noticeable while the court argued as to the manner in which the charge sheet had been prepared, and Judge Macbeth questioned: "Why didn't the police magistrate dispose of this case in the first instance." No person knew seemingly.

Found Paper Slips.

Called by the crown, Sergeant of Police Thomas Lucas testified that on February 21 last he executed a search warrant at the defendant's place of business, when he found a book with five pages of what he believed to be race track entries; copies of the Racing Form and similiar publications, and many slips of paper containing the names of horses, etc.

As the bench insisted, witness read out several of these, as follows: Lady Longfellow, Murphy, Blarney Stone, Bob Baker, etc. As he proceeded to show that horses of these names were running at Tia Juana and other well-known tracks on the days set down in Siskind's book, counsel for the defence interfered with the examination.

"Inspector Lucas can point out coincidence, but not connection," he stated.

"Well, even that will be sufficient," retorted the crown.

"Well, I think that the police should give a full explanation," ruled the bench.

"I understand that English judges don't require explanation," remarked Attorney Meredith, indulging in hearty laughter.

Admits Ignorance.

Cross-examined, witness replied that it all depended upon how one registered a bet as to whether there was anything wrong in it. He expressed ignorance when told by Attorney Meredith that hundreds of citizens bought the Racing Form.

"You don't know that some of our leading citizens read it?" he was questioned.

"No," he replied.

The witness stated that he did not know of any person making a bet with the defendant, except that his suspicions were aroused by the people who went there. Questioned as to the legality of the sale of the Racing Form and like journals, he declared that if sold in London it was "on the sly."

Although other police constables were in attendance, the court held that their evidence was unnecessary, as it would only substantiate that of the first witness.

As the crown attorney waived the right to address the jury, the attorney for the defence, in a brief review of the evidence, urged the jurors to acquit the prisoner, holding that the case presented by the crown was of a decidedly "flimsy" nature.

"I can point out certain places to the police," declared Mr. Meredith, "where they could go and find books that would be even better than Mr. Siskind's, and 'dope sheets' as well. They won't be in the slums either. But Inspector Lucas won't go there and tell them they are conducting a betting house. They are up in the fashionable neighborhood."

Plaintiff Wins.

During the Siskind trial, the jury considering the civil action, McKinley vs. Stewart, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, holding that the defendant, by his negligence, was responsible for an automobile accident between the two at the corner of Talbot and Dundas streets, September last.

Judge Macbeth reserved the right to set the amount of damages later in the week.

John M. McEvoy, K.C., conducted the case for the plaintiffs, in lieu of J. C. Elliott called out of the city, while Jarvis & Vining appeared for the defendant.

The jury concluded after an hour's deliberation that the latter had been driving on the wrong side of the street or else his machine would not have been in the position where located following the accident.

The court proceeds Thursday morning with the case, the King vs. Frank Good, the latter being charged with a misdemeanor.

TEN NEW STURDY CANADIAN ARRIVALS

A family of ten leaving the homeland together to seek a home in a far country is an unusual event. Yet when the "Empress of Britain" left Liverpool towards the end of May, 1922, she had aboard amongst her third class passengers Mr. E. Hilton, aged 48 years, his wife Jane, aged 43 years, and eight children—three boys, and five girls. The family are of the farming class, coming from Farnworth, Lancashire. This entire family was given a free ocean passage to Canada by the British Overseas Settlement Committee. The Hiltons went to do farm work guaranteed by the Ontario Government.

The Hiltons left two other members of their family behind in England, and these will come to Canada at a later date.

EFFORTS TO UNIFY CHINA MEET SNAG

Sun Yat Sen Refuses To Relinquish Presidency of Southern Republic.

PEKIN, June 7.—Developments of the last 24 hours indicated early today that China, which a few days ago seemed on the verge of a unified government located here, was in grave danger of a worse split than ever, with the north and south drifting only toward civil war.

Wu Pei-Fu's plan for Li Yuen-Hung to resume the presidency of a centralized government in Pekin was feared to have shattered itself against a rock of opposition in the form of Sun Yat Sen who, according to advices received here yesterday, declared he would refuse to relinquish the presidency of his South China Republic at Canton.

Wu had won the support of about 300 members of the old national parliament, now assembled at Tien Tsin, and they had urged ex-President Li to take back the executive office from which he was ousted by the militarists in 1917.

Li, however, withheld his acceptance pending certain conditions, chief of which was the dissolution of the South China Republic. Thus everything depended on Sun Yat Sen.

CLUB TO SPEND $45,000 TO BOOST CONVENTION

Toronto Kiwanians Ask Grant From City To Entertain Delegates.

TORONTO, June 7.—"We are spending $45,000 on this convention," said John O'Connor of the Toronto Kiwanis Club, to the board of control in asking for civic recognition of the Kiwanis Clubs' convention here on June 20.

"We've got to treat this convention right," said Mayor Maguire.

Controller Hiltz: "We have only got $10,000 for that this year."

It was finally left to Controller Nesbit and City Clerk Littlejohn, who agreed on $500.

Mr. O'Connor showed the board a list of expenditures on the convention, which the Kiwanians are meeting, totalling the $45,000 and including $6,000 expenses of delegates to Cleveland to secure the convention, $7,500 expenses for the international office and $60,000 for the pageant to be held at Exhibition Park on June 20.

EXAMINATION OF DELORME OPENED

For the crown Dr. F. E. Devlin, superintendent of the Quebec Asylum, will test the prisoner.

SENATE DECLINES TO ANSWER QUERY

Will Not Give Information Commons Asks Regarding Accounts.

OTTAWA, June 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—The Senate declines to answer questions placed on the order paper of the House of Commons in respect to Senate accounts. This information was given by the prime minister in the house this afternoon in answer to questions asked by George Black (Conservative, Yukon).

Mr. Black asked if the amount of $561,250 as shown in the estimates was the total expenditures for the Senate, and also asked as to the salaries of the accountant of the Senate and chief accountant of the House of Commons.

The prime minister replied that he understood the Senate declined to answer questions as to its accounts. As far as the accounts of the commons were concerned, Mr. Black would be given the information he sought tomorrow.

The prime minister this afternoon tabled the protocols passed as the second assembly of the League of Nations, and a motion that these be printed was carried by the house. The house also decided to print the correspondence between the governments of Canada and the United States in respect to the St. Lawrence River improvement scheme.
