London Doctor's Discovery Cures Youth of Insanity

THIRTY-FIVE MEET DEATH AS STORMS HIT SOUTH

Seventy Persons Are Injured, With Property Loss Heavy.

OVER WIDE AREA

Terrific Storms Take Heavy Toll in Three Southern States.

Associated Press Despatch.

Atlanta, Ga., May 27.—A series of tornadoes sweeping through Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana last night and early today, took a known toll of 35 lives, and injured upward of 70 persons, according to advices reaching here today.

Property damage was heavy.
In Mississippi the known dead totaled 17, with 35 persons injured. At Collins, where two girls are believed to have lost their lives, and twelve were injured, most of the business district was wiped out. The storm also struck Jackson Station, Vicksburg, Greenville and Bay Springs, causing death and injury to several families.

Other communities reporting deaths included Swain Plantation, near Greenville, where three negroes were killed, and a dozen others injured, and Vicksburg, where several negroes were killed.

In Alabama 10 persons were reported dead and 15 injured at the Owens mining community, near Empire City. Three families were reported annihilated in the night. In Louisiana, reports from Athens place the number of dead at seven in the Elamton neighborhood.
In Louisiana one man struck by lightning was thought to be fatally injured.

PENSION BEING SOUGHT FOR MOTHER AND CHILD

George Turner, secretary of the local G. W. P. A., is taking steps to have the family of a deceased soldier granted a pension. It is said this family, which comprises a young widow and one child, has never received anything of this nature, despite the fact that the father served in the C. E. F. three years and later died in hospital.
"It is my belief," said Mr. Turner,
"that the young mother and baby deserve some recognition of the fact that the head of the family served his country and died in the army, and I intend to bend every effort to secure a pension for them."

INSURANCE BILL MEETS LIBERALS' OPPOSITION

Associated Press Despatch.
London, May 27.—The partial support of the government by the Liberals in the House of Commons was withdrawn last night when a proposed amendment in the unemployment insurance bill was introduced to extend the insurance to juveniles between the ages of 14 and 15, and it was killed by a vote of 353 to 3.
Even the Liberal members failing to support it. All the authorities of the country on matters of education are against the proposal and consider that young people should remain at school until they are 16 years of age.

Tiny Cell Near Man's Brain Discovered To Be Infected And Operation Performed

DR. HAROLD WISMER,
London X-ray expert, whose ex-posure of the sphenoid cell, has brought back a young man's sanity.

MOTORIST IS HELD AFTER CAR CRASH

William Taylor, London Township, Arrested—Mother and Daughter Injured.

William Taylor, London Township, is locked up in the county jail on a charge of reckless driving laid by High Constable Wharton as the result of an automobile accident on the Governor's road, one mile east of Pottersburg at 11 o'clock this morning in which Mrs. William A. Dawe and her three-year-old son, Allan, of Toronto, sustained serious injuries.

According to the information furnished by the high constable, both cars were proceeding east. Taylor in passing the car driven by Mr.
Dawe "hooked" in front of him, too soon, sending both cars into the ditch. Dawe's car is a complete wreck, it is said.

High Constable Wharton was notified of the accident, and with George Tustin made a quick trip to the scene.
After making full inquiries the high constable placed Taylor under arrest.

The woman and child are under the care of Dr. McGowan, who had them removed to the home of friends at 90 Mamelon street.

OTTAWA PROTESTS INCREASED RATE

Copies of Council Resolution
Will Be Sent to Ontario Government.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, May 27.—City council last night unanimously approved a motion by Controller Arthur Allis protesting against the proposal of the Ontario Hydro Power Commission that the Ottawa hydro should increase its rates by 30 per cent in order to make a uniform rate for all Ontario. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the premier of Ontario, and to the Ontario commission.

The council elected Aid Walter
"Unionham" to the board of control to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Mayor Champagne to the chief magistrate's office after Mayor Waters' death.

SUPERVISORS WILL START ON SUMMER HOLIDAYS

There will be no supervision of London's city playgrounds until the summer holidays. It was stated today by the general manager of the public utilities commission, Supervisors will take up their duties as soon as the school term closes.
Including the supervisors at the swimming pool, the new staff will likely number 20 in all.

CHILD IS FATALLY HURT WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, May 27.—When the car in which Walter Leak was taking his four children to school collided with a heavy motor truck, his son Allan, 12, was so seriously cut when thrown through the windshield, that he died 30 minutes later. The slippery grade down which Mr. Leak was driving made it difficult for him to stop when he approached the truck.

The truck driver was John Madden.
Police are investigating the circumstances.

London Doctor's X-Ray Method Reveals Cause of Patient's Insanity.

RETURNS TO HOME

Is Completely Cured Three Weeks After Treatment in Hospital.

Three weeks ago, a young man of 20, a university student of brilliant capacity, came from a Western Ontario town to St. Joseph's Hospital under a medical decision of hopeless insanity. He left today for his home, completely cured, and in the pink of mental and physical condition. The case reveals a curious coincidence in the development of X-ray study by a local doctor.

Recently, Dr. Harold Wismer has been working to perfect a new technique of X-ray examination in connection with certain cells near the brain. Progress was such that it made possible an examination of the sphenoid cell, a small compartment, immediately next the brain, and separated from it only by a small portion of bone. Dr. Wismer was able to determine a diseased condition of this cell, a condition which had formerly been determined largely by guesswork.

It is a matter of common knowledge among the medical profession today that mental conditions are very often the result of infection in the body. Diseased tonsils, antispi-chondritis, or even a diseased condition of the appendix are known to contribute to a state of diseased mind.
Dr. Wismer's contention was that if infection in parts of the body so removed from the brain would contribute to insanity, how much more would a diseased condition in a small cell lying immediately next to the brain.

The case of the young Western Ontario student, coming at a time when Dr. Wismer's entire profession, interested in such a sphenoid cell, was a remarkable coincidence, which gave the doctor splendid support of his belief.

A decision of insanity had already been pronounced upon the young man, and his condition was such that he refused to eat. The case seemed hopeless. He was examined by Stuart Fisher, leading psychiatrist, and Dr. Wismer, and the latter's method of X-ray inspection revealed very clearly the contrast between a healthy sphenoid cell on the one side and a diseased cell on the other. Here within such a short time, after the perfection of his new technique, Dr.
Wismer found startling proof of his theory. The operation for draining the cell took place and 48 hours later, a marked improvement was evident. Within three weeks the case was completely cured.

Dr. Wismer and Dr. John G.
Hunt, who performed the operation, are confident that numerous cases of insanity can be traced to this infection of the sphenoid cell.

Opening High Up.
When man walked on all fours, or hung in trees like the monkey, there was a small opening on the floor of this compartment, so that drainage was comparatively easy. With man now walking on a horizontal position, however, this opening is high up in the walls of the cavity, so that drainage is no longer so easy.
This leads the doctors to believe that in many cases there may be infection which has not so far been notficed. Only the one case of this type has been treated in the city, and that through a coincidence. Cases of insanity are constantly being cured as the result of the removal of infection from certain parts of the body, but both Dr. Hunt and Dr.
Wismer support the theory that this number could be greatly increased by the examination of the sphenoid cells in patients for whom no cure has as yet been found.

MacLaren May Abandon Flight

Imminence of Monsoon May Force Flier To Quit.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, May 27.—Stuart MacLaren and his companions may be compelled to abandon their world flight in consequence of the accident to their seaplane at Akyab, notwithstanding the presence of a spare machine at Tokio and the American offer of assistance.

It is believed here that the British fliers, despite their best efforts, will be unable to re-start before 12 days or a fortnight, by which time the monsoon probably would make further flight impossible for several weeks. It is further pointed out that the fliers have not recovered from the crossing of the northern Pacific, owing to the likelihood of fog and blizzards.

CITY'S TOWN PLANNING IS URGED AS BIG SAVING

A. T. Kaufmann Addresses Representative Body at the Chamber of Commerce.

FAVORS ZONING

Would Divide Areas According to Size of Houses Desired.

A. T. Kaufmann, chairman of the Kitchener Town Planning Commission, addressing the town planning committee of the London Chamber of Commerce and several members of the city council interested in this work at a luncheon in the Tecumseh House today, advocated the adoption of the town planning plan which was started by George Adams of New York some time ago in the city. In order that such changes as were necessary might be made now, and so effect a large saving of money in the future in putting into practice the changes which would inevitably be necessary.

He stressed the need for having a plan that would meet with the approval of the majority of the citizens, and would have their united efforts in carrying it out.

Entirely Approved.
"In Kitchener," he said, "we have a plan that is entirely approved by the citizens, and, as a result, we have no difficulty in carrying it out.
There are only a few junk dealers in some of the older and narrow streets who object, and they have now come to see the value of the scheme for the whole community, and are falling in with the development of the plan."

"Zoning is the essential thing in a city plan. By this you have a number of residential districts, in which you allow only individual residences which must be 16 feet apart;
in number two residential district you allow two-story residences, which will have a clearance of eight feet, and in which apartment houses may be built.

"Then you have industrial districts, one for the large industries that give off a large amount of smoke, and small and noise. This should be in the district opposite the other, in which you allow only individual residences which must be 16 feet apart;

MYSTERY GIRL HAILS FROM WEST TORONTO

New York Police Found Girl Smoking Cigarettes After Shooting.

Canadian Press Despatch.
New York, May 27.—The mysterious "Dorothy Brown," charged with the shooting of Samuel Brown in the Broadway Central Hotel early Sunday morning, was held by police today to be Dorothy Sautman, 21 years old, of West Toronto. Her father is said to be a Toronto cap maker. She was arrested today on charges of suspicion of homicide and was held until June 3.

Police found the young woman smoking cigarettes in a garage room, while Brown, a garage manager, and father of five children, lay dying on the floor. He died from a bullet wound in the abdomen.

BEAVERBROOK'S OFFER
TO AID WAS ACCEPTED

Associated Press Despatch.
London, May 27.—Correspondence between Lord Beaverbrook, owner of the London Daily Express, which opposed the Baldwin government in the general election of December last, and Lord Younger, former chairman of the Conservative party organization, has been made public. It reveals that Lord Beaverbrook was asked to subsidize the Conservative party funds for election purposes, but replied that he was unable to give anything direct thereto.
"Feeling that the election at that time is a mistake, and that the party's fiscal policy ought not to be truncated."

Lord Beaverbrook, however, offered to pay the entire expenses of two imperial preference "even though they cannot very well be put in their election addresses." This offer was accepted.

LIEUT. SOUTHAM WEAKER.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Oshawa, May 27.—Dr. H. M. Macdonald this morning stated that the condition of Lieut. William Southam was growing gradually worse. Although injured in the motor accident at Dunbar almost three weeks ago, Mr. Southam has not recovered consciousness. The physician states that he is becoming weaker from day to day.

BETTER INSPECTION METHODS URGED

Proposal Will Be Submitted by Robb to the Banking Committee.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, May 27.—The government has decided that there should be some system of inspection of banks under the finance department, and will shortly submit a proposal along these lines to the banking and commerce committee of the House of Commons.

This announcement was made today by Hon. James A. Robb, acting minister of finance, in answer to a question by W. F. MacLean, Conservative member for South York. Mr. Robb said that the question whether or not the services of the present shareholders' auditors could be utilized in a system of inspection was under consideration, and that the government was anxious to establish a system which would permit the inspection of a bank without disturbing the confidence of the public in that institution.

BOOTLEGGERS FILES PROTEST AGAINST PAYING INCOME TAX

Cecil R. Smith Maintains Levy
Cannot Be Made on Illegal Trade.

Court To Decide
Question Is Being Argued in Exchequer Court at Ottawa.

Associated Press Despatch.
Ottawa, May 27.—Are profits made in bootlegging liable to income tax?
This is the remarkable question on which argument is being heard by Judge Audette in the exchequer court here. Cecil R. Smith, a garage proprietor of Windsor, claims that such profits are not liable to income tax, inasmuch as the state cannot recognize an occupation that is illegal.

The statement of claim filed in court states that Smith had been convicted of bootlegging, and that he engaged, in addition to his occupation, in the business of trafficking in liquors in Ontario, and that he never had a license, that the appellant (Smith) therefore alleges "that profit made in his illicit trade in liquors is not taxable within the proper interpretation of the income tax law" and that "all the appellant's transactions in the liquor business have been carried on within the province of Ontario, and contrary to the provisions of the Ontario temperance act, and any profits alleged to have been made by him were earned in his illicit trade in liquor."

MARX MAY HOLD POWER WITH NEW MINISTRY

President Ebert Calls In Leaders of Germany's Political Parties.

POLICIES DIFFER

Hitlerites and the Chauvinists Promise To Make Government Step.

Associated Press Despatch.
Berlin, May 27.—Germany today was in the throes of another governmental crisis through the resignation last night of the Marx-Stresemann cabinet, and President Ebert was expected to consult the various party leaders as soon as the Reichstag reconvened, with a view to solution of difficulty.

Chancellor Marx is continuing to conduct business, at the president's request, and it is understood that the whole affair may result merely in a realigning of the ministry, with Marx still in power.

President Ebert, in pursuance of his constitutional task of finding a chancellor capable of forming a cabinet commanding support of the Reichstag in succession to the Marx-Stresemann cabinet, which resigned last night, today received Dr. Heugl, the Nationalist leader, and after him in the order of party strength in the Reichstag, the leaders of the other parties, both right and left, of the Communists and the extreme Nationalists.

Coalition Failed.
The government's resignation resulted from a breakdown of the long-drawn-out attempts to construct a straight bourgeois coalition, which could work with the Reichstag as composed on the basis of the recent elections. The Nationalists refused to meet the middle parties' conditions, calling for endorsement of the Marx government's policies as a prerequisite to the formation of such a bourgeois coalition. Instead, they renewed their demands on Von Thitze's behalf and stipulated that the question of foreign and internal politics should be decided by a secondary committee of the law for defense of the republic to a peremptory call that all Jews who entered Germany since 1914 be deported after the signature of their names.

Chauvinists' Demands.
The Chauvinists also proposed a demand anti-Semitic class legislation providing for re-establishment of the Ghetto and further ordaining that Semitic subjects adopt a uniform headgear and brazier ornaments.
The progressive Jew, who dared to change his family name of Edelstein

GIRL ON DEATHBED FORGIVES FIANCE

Mother of Miss Beatrice Fee Tells of Circumstances Preceding Shooting.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Lindsay, Ont., May 27.—A few hours before Miss Beatrice Fee died here in Ross Memorial Hospital last night as a result of four bullet wounds caused by her fiancé, Frederick W. McGaughey, she forgave the man that took her life, declaring he had acted in a drunken rage, and asked her mother to be equally as forgiving.

"Do not go to any trouble, mother, dear," were the dying girl's last words. "I know he loved me."

But for McGaughey's inebriated state on the night of the shooting, the family of the deceased girl believe a marriage would have been solemnized next month and happiness prevailed, for according to those who knew Beatrice Fee she had come from Toronto with the sole intention of giving her word to marry Mr.
McGaughey. Through his drunkenness on Saturday and Sunday evenings a quarrel arose and culminated in the shooting.

Members of the family state the couple had frequently quarreled over the date to be set for their marriage.

Proper Arching of Back Important Point In Diving

Adds Much To Beauty of Execution and Is Good For Health—Aids Mastery of Four New Dives Described in Today's Lessons.

EXPLAINS HOW TO MASTER MOVEMENTS

By MADELINE BERLO.
In the first article I tried to stress the importance of arching the back in diving. Aside from its health and beauty benefits, it is an important point in diving technique. Four of the dives I will write of today are dependent almost entirely upon this for beauty of execution. The first is the back handspring.

The Back Handspring.
Lie on your back and reach back, arms extended until your hands grasp the end of the board. Draw your body up into a vertical position. At first your weight will be on your neck and shoulders; keep elevating your body until you are standing on your hands. Hold your position with your back arched, as shown in the illustration. Cast off, feet first.

This is difficult, because your arms must be sufficiently strong to bear your weight. Fortunately for me I have unusually strong arms and shoulders. As a matter of fact, I have done every shoulder and arm exercise possible in order to strengthen these muscles. Praise and grace are not the only things one must possess for diving. It takes a great deal of brawn to properly achieve the rhythmic, birdlike lightness that characterizes good diving. A very excellent exercise for arm and shoulder development is walking by the hands on suspended rings. Chinning the bar is another. All gymnasts feature these.

The Hand Stand.
Take a position similar to that for the back handspring, except that you lie on your stomach, going through the same manoeuvres until you are standing on your hands at the edge of the board. This time instead of going off feet first, stand, back arched, and pitch off in a vertical position, head first.

The Hand Stand Walk.
This is a sister dive to the two foregoing. Drop into a hand stand position so that your arms reach about the middle of the board when your arms are extended. Upon you lie your body to position, standing on the hands, walk on your hands to the end of the board and cast off head first.

The Handspring.
Drop into a handspring position at the end of the board. Throw your body upward and out, and describe a half circle in the air, striking the water feet first.

In all somersaults where the body is whirled in the air, the perfect diver draws the knees up until they touch the chin and grasp the legs at the ankles. This is known as the "tuck in." In order to undo your position you must execute the "lay out" before striking the water. I described this in yesterday's lesson.

Next in order are two dives which combine the falling statue and the rocking dives, which I wrote about yesterday. I refer now to the standing sitting and the standing sitting standing dives.

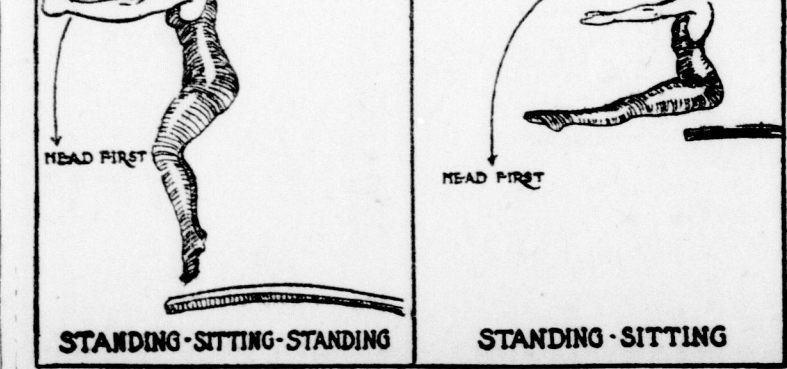

Standing-Sitting Dive.
Stand on the board, head erect, shoulders back, arms in graceful position. Cast the body upward, but not out, so that you will come down on the board in a sitting position, right at its edge. Do not use force, nor are you to spring up with any. Just give the impression of a slight spring, so as to come down on the board lightly. As soon as you are in a sitting position, do the rocking and dive, leaving the board in a vertical position, head first. After practice you will be able to combine these two perfectly, without a fraction of a second's hesitation between the sitting position and the casting off.

Standing-Sitting-Standing Dive.
Follow the same line of procedure up to the point of sitting on the board. As soon as you come down in the sitting position, bounce up (the springboard gives at the slight movement) into a vertical standing position. The minute you are on your feet, cast the body upward and out into the air, and come down in a vertical diving position.

This is not the standing-sitting-standing dive we Berlos demonstrate our act, but it is what I advise you to try at first. Our execution of this dive differs as follows: As we arrive in a standing position, after coming up from the sitting one, we whirl up and out into one complete circle and then enter the water in a vertical lay-out. This version of the dive requires the maximum number of changes in position. It is done at considerable height. In doing any of the somersault dives a diver must be sure to cast outward as well as upward so as to avoid striking the board in coming down into the water.

Aside from the benefits these dives will net you so far as your beauty and your muscles of the arms, shoulders, back and chest. That flabby fleshiness which is so detrimental to beauty of line is entirely done away with. A supple firmness takes its place. Arching the back constantly gives it the graceful lines beauty calls for and also tends to make the diver draw in her stomach. The result is a small waistline that symmetrically joins the limbs and torso.

Tomorrow's article will deal principally with the remainder of the dives not requiring somersaults and half circles.

SILVER STRIKE EXCITING MANY

Nothing So Spectacular Has Been Seen in North For Long Time.

SHOWS HIGH GRADE

Special to The Advertiser.

Cobalt, Ont., May 26.—A silver strike on Lorrain Consolidated, made Friday afternoon, has sensational aspects. The second round was taken out Sunday and it is richer than the first. The vein carries five to six-inch width of high grade, running better than 2,000 ounces and about a five-foot width of milling grade ore. For many months the company has been working in the vicinity of the contact, but without success. A few days ago L. L. Stendler, the president, and Horace Strong, mining engineer, examined the property with a view to changing mining policy. Strong is the man who put the mining corporation with such success into South Lorrain. He advised Stendler to work at a level about 85 feet higher. The shaft to open the new level was left. Silver was struck. The next round brought in high grade.

Nothing quite so suddenly spectacular has been seen in the north for a long time. Lorrain Consolidated joins the mining corporation to the east. Their high grade development is several hundred yards from Wood's vein. And therefore the enlargement of the camp's profitable zone is a very important development to South Lorrain. There is no geological reason why the new shoot should not grow to important size.

The north is greatly excited as it has been a very heavy speculator in the company's share.
Manager Thurston of Lorrain Consolidated gave the following statement at noon today:
"We have eight inches of high grade running from two to ten thousand ounces to the ton. We lugged along from part of the first round and gave a balance of that round and all of a second to sort. Today we started cutting into vein 30 feet below the high grade. The 175 foot level to cut an ore pass. If the high grade persists we will take a car of high grade out of this ore pass alone. Besides the high grade, we have four-foot width of rich milling rock."

CLOTHES IGNITED, WOMAN MAY DIE

Aged Resident of Ingersoll Burned While Destroying Old Papers.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ingersoll, May 26.—A woman, clothing ignited while burning old papers and other refuse in a summer kitchen at the rear of her home, King street west, Mrs. A. Dundas, an aged resident, was seriously, probably fatally burned today. She was alone in the house at the time, her daughter, Miss Agnes Dundas, being at Memorial school where she is a member of the teaching staff. Neighbors heard the cries of Mrs. Dundas, and when they hurried to render assistance she was found in the kitchen, where she fell. She was at once rolled in old carpets to smother the flames. Attending physicians are not hopeful of her recovery.

The rear portion of the house caught fire, but the blaze was checked before serious damage resulted.

TWO MINISTERS CELEBRATE THEIR DIAMOND JUBILEE

One of Most Unique Services in City's History Held in Centennial Church.

MET AT COLLEGE

Rev. L. W. Wicket and Rev. A. G. Harris Honored by London Congregation.

One of the most unique services ever held in any church in London was that held last evening at Centennial Methodist Church, when Rev. Lewis W. Wicket and Rev. Alexander G. Harris celebrated together their diamond jubilee. They first met each other at old Victoria College, Cobourg, in the year 1863, and have been bosom friends since. The pastor, Rev. A. E. M. Thomson was in charge of the service, and there were on the platform, together with Mr. Wicket and Mr. Harris, Rev. W. E. Millson, president of the London conference, and Rev. D. N. McCamus and Rev. George Jewitt, both past presidents of the conference.

Both of these past presidents gave a short account of their work in the ministry, and this was added to by Rev. Mr. Harris in a splendid address on "Sixty Years in the Methodist Ministry."

Mr. Harris was born in West Oxford Township in October, 1841. His parents were of U. E. Loyalist stock and he was reared on a farm. He was converted at a camp meeting in 1859, and joined the Wesleyan Church under the pastorate of the late Rev. Joseph Shepley, father of the noted lawyer, who was for many years in Toronto. He attended Victoria College for three years, and was recommended as a probationer for the ministry by the Ingersoll official board. This was then in the London district.

Stationed at Belmont.
He was stationed at Belmont under the superintendency of Rev. Samuel Tucker. Having spent four years on probation, he was ordained by Rev. W. Morley Funnish in the year 1868 at Kingston. There were twenty in this ordination class, of which four were from London.

In 1869, Mr. Harris was married to Miss S. Margaret Williams of Ingersoll. He preached on twenty different circuits in western Ontario for a second term. In 1871, he retired from the active work, having spent 55 years in the work of the ministry. Tells of Early Days.

Mr. Harris spoke to the Centennial congregation on the early days of the church, of the frame buildings used in those days, and the absence of the choir and the special music so greatly featured in modern services. A fiddle in the church in the early days, Mr. Harris said, was almost a disgrace. He spoke also of the kind of preachers, real giants, and of the congregations, men of great strength of character and purpose.

Mr. Wicket was born in the parish of Kilkhampton, Cornwall, England in 1848. The family emigrated to Prince Edward Island in 1851. In 1861, he was ordained and began to preach almost immediately. He was officially received as a probationer in 1864, and was sent to Ohio. There he studied and remained for four years. Then he returned to the London conference, within the boundaries of which he has remained ever since. On retiring from the ministry, Mr. Wicket connected himself with Centennial Methodist Church, where he is considered one of the most valued members.

Special music featured the service. A quartet was given by Mrs. Hay, Mrs. McLean, and Messrs. Hall and Mills. A solo was given by Rev. W. E. Millson.

THREE CARS CRASH, FOUR PEOPLE HURT

Tillsonburg Man Is Held Charged With Speeding On Highway.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Orillia, May 26.—An automobile mix-up occurred on the provincial highway Sunday afternoon, three persons being injured. A motor car driven by Robert Small of Tillsonburg was going west when it collided with a sedan driven by Mrs. Knapp of Toronto. The impact of the collision swerved Small's car, and it swung across the highway and struck a third automobile, in which was an Orillia woman and six children.

Mrs. Small sustained a broken collarbone and her mother, Mrs. Wilcox, was badly bruised. Both were taken to the hospital. Two of the children were cut by flying glass.

Settlement was made by Mr. Small, but he was charged by the police with exceeding the speed limit, released on $1,500 bail, and will appear in the police court here next Monday.

BRITISH AVIATOR WIRES FOR HIS SPARE PLANE

Asks That Machine Waiting At Tokio Be Sent To Him.

Associated Press Despatch.

Akyab, Burma, May 26.—The hydro aerobline, in which Major A. Stuart MacLaren, the British aviator, was attempting a round-the-world flight, was completely wrecked when it crashed in the harbor last week. MacLaren's plans are uncertain, but he has cabled to England asking that the spare machine which is waiting for him in Tokio be sent here so that he can continue his flight.

MEASURE PLANNED FOR TRANSFER VOTE

Change in Dominion Elections Act Proposed in New Measure.

FIRST READING

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, May 26.—A bill to introduce the principle of the transferable vote into the Dominion elections act was given a first reading in the House of Commons this afternoon, on the motion of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice.

He explained that the new principle would apply to single member constituencies and when there were more than two candidates.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, said the speech from the throne had spoken of "the alternative vote." Mr. Lapointe replied that the bill now before the house had the same purpose as the announcement from the speech from the throne.

MAN, FOUR CHILDREN DIE AS HOUSE BURNS

Mother Is Only Member of Family To Escape Death.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Medicine Hat, Alta., May 26.—Four children and their father perished in a fire at a homestead's home near Alderson, Alberta, Sunday morning. The homestead's name is Guest, according to meagre reports received here. Mrs. Guest was in the barn milking cows and escaped.

The fire followed an explosion of gasoline, which the man was using to light the kitchen stove.

Crossen Facing Murder Charge

Charge Against Gamekeeper Changed As A. McCrodan Dies From Wounds.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Cobourg, May 26.—William J. Crossen, gamekeeper on the Crossen estate at Baltimore, Ont., appeared before Magistrate Floyd here this afternoon and was charged with murder in connection with the death of Byron A. McCrodan, who died in Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, this morning from wounds received when he was shot in the thigh a week ago by Crossen, who was patrolling a fishing preserve. He was remanded for eight days, no evidence being taken.

Crossen has been held on a charge of attempted murder, and this was changed this morning on instructions from the attorney-general's department.

McCrodan was shot in the thigh, and at first his recovery was looked for. Gas gangrene set in early last week, however, and although a blood transfusion was made, his condition gradually grew worse.

The body was removed to the city morgue at the order of Chief Coroner Dr. George W. Graham, and an inquest will be opened some time this week by the chief coroner. Although the shooting took place in another county, the inquest must be held where death occurred. This morning Dr. W. L. Robinson conducted the post-mortem examination.

Hebrideans Make A Quaint Picture
Arrive With Fishing Baskets at Toronto Station.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, May 26.—Clad in their national costume, with the women members of the party carrying fishing baskets and tackle under their arms, 250 Hebrideans, said to be the largest party of Scotch people to come to Ontario to make their homes in the province, arrived here this morning. The entire party will remain in Ontario farm communities. Thirty-nine of the highest and most venerable clans are represented by the newcomers and the quota of "Mac" receives a boost of 179, no less than this number falling into this category.

Committee Considers Property Rights of Non-Concurring Congregations

PROPERTY RIGHTS ARE CONSIDERED

Presbyterian Church Association Ask Adequate Compensation Be Promoted.

SOME CLAUSES PASS

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 27.—Discussion over the church union bill crystallized in the Commons private bills committee this morning down to the problem of non-concurring congregations and their property rights. The two sections dealing with these provisions and the federal commission to decide as to equities in denominational property were allowed to stand over after a number of amendments had been put forward from both advocates and opponents of the bill. In the meantime, counsel for the opposing sides are to get together, with a view to seeing how far they are in accord on the proposed amendments.

The amendments suggested for the bill this morning were generally in line with those published a few days ago under the name of Deputy Speaker Gordon, but there were some changes made in them. From the side of the Presbyterian Church Association came a half dozen amendments dealing with outstanding features being a proposal to provide compensation for "non-concurring members." From the same side also came a proposal that the vote should be by a circulated ballot or with proxies at a congregational meeting.

With the exception of these two main issues, the sections of the bill, except such as are affected by the controversial clauses, were passed, and tomorrow the committee will come to the center of the issue over which the two, unionists and their opponents, have divided.

DETAILS FOR PICNIC ALMOST COMPLETE

Annual School Children's Frolic Will Be Held in Springbank June 6.

Further detail of plans for the big picnic of London's school pupils has been worked out and arrangements are now practically complete. Pupils will meet at their own schools at the usual hour on the morning of Friday, June 6, but there will be no classes during the day.

Pupils from each school will form separate contingents and each will be transported from points near the schools to Springbank Park in some instances the sport program will run off on the school grounds before departure for the park, but it is assumed that the children will be at Springbank in time for lunch. Pupils will bring lunches and these will be sent from each school via pack to the picnic grounds. Program of events are now being printed and will be distributed early next week.

FOUR BICYCLE THEFTS REPORTED TO POLICE

One Is Recovered With Only the Seat Missing

Bicycle thieves were busy in the city last night, no less than four bicycles being reported to the police station as stolen. The wheel owned by B. Doucette, 200 Hymen street, was recovered in the grounds of the East End College this morning by Detective George E. Walsh. The seat was all that was missing. The bike was stolen from in front of the public library between 8:30 and 8:45 p.m.

G. P. Abrah, 43 Wilson avenue, reported his wheel taken from the rear of his Royal Bank building between 2 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was a Red Bird, No. 21263.

George Cruikshanks, Egerton street, and William Wright, 159 Giles street, had their bicycles stolen from in front of the Allen Theatre between 9 and 11 o'clock. One bicycle was a Cleveland and the other a Paige.

PRIEST WINS CASE

Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, May 27.—A consent judgment was given in the case of Rev. G. Georgian, the Rumanian priest, who sued his congregation for $175 salary and $300 breach of contract. The judgment was given for the amount of salary and costs.

"Exhausted Nerves and Palpitating Heart"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes: "I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I tried several doctors, but it seemed nothing they gave me helped. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I tried it, and can say it certainly has done wonders for me. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes."

ITALIAN MONARCH VISITS BRITISH ZOO

King Victor Emmanuel Being Lavishly Entertained in England.

Associated Press Despatch. London, May 27.—After a state banquet at the palace last evening the King and Queen of Italy, the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York and many other distinguished persons attended a given in the residence of the Hon. Mrs. Greville, in aid of the Italian hospital in London. The dancing continued until a very late hour.

Few people knew that within two hours of their arrival in London King Victor Emmanuel, the crown prince and five members of their suite made a private and unannounced visit to the Zoological Gardens, which they entered as ordinary members of the public.

King Victor Emmanuel, who is well versed in natural history, acted as cicerone to his companions, describing several of the exhibits and recalling some of his hunting exploits.

VETERANS SEEK SOLUTION FOR CANADIAN EXODUS

With a view toward finding a solution of the present emigration and immigration problems in Canada, the Canadian War Veterans Association has sent out circulars to all district commands, asking for suggestions from the many thousands of veterans as to the best method of meeting these two particular questions.

It is pointed out that about 125,000 Canadian have left this country for the United States within the last year or two.

It is the intention of the Dominion command of the G. W. V. A. to find some method of keeping workers in Canada to counteract this gradual depopulation.

Bill Will Be Brought Up For Second Reading in Fall

W. E. KELLY RETURNS

Children's Aid Inspectors Conclude Interesting Sessions At Toronto.

Among the interesting business transacted at last week's convention of the Children's Aid Society of Ontario in Toronto was discussion of a bill to provide for an act for better protection of immigrant children. The bill comes up for its second reading before the Provincial Legislature at the fall sessions and should it become law, the work of County Children's Aid Society inspectors will be redoubled, and they will have increased powers.

Complete inspection. According to the inspector for the Middlesex County C. A. S., Walter E. Kelly, who was back on duty yesterday, after attending the annual convention of his organization in Toronto, complete inspection of prospective homes for immigrant children may be necessitated. Before children are brought from the old country, application is made by would-be foster parents, their homes are to be investigated by county C. A. S. inspectors, and then, if these homes are found suitable, children are to be sent for. This is considered a big forward step in precautionary legislation.

Discussion of this bill and other legislation formed a helpful part of the convention, Mr. Kelly told the Advertiser. Efforts are being made to have children's welfare work bring under central control in the province, with a deputy minister under the department of labor as the official head.

Generally indorsed. The plan is generally indorsed by Children's Aid workers in the province. It is aimed to bring the society as well as other efforts bringing under central control in the province, with a deputy minister under the department of labor as the official head.

At one of the sessions of the convention, Mr. Kelly led a round-table conference on "How To Organize and Sustain Interest in Children's Aid Work." He was able to cite cases where support had been needed in various parts of the province, and how it had been enlisted by the work of society workers.

MAYOR WOULD GUARANTEE GATE RECEIPTS FOR FAIR

Mayor Wenige will ask number two committee of the city council this afternoon to allow the grant of $1000 to the Western Fair Association as a guarantee for gate receipts to this extent to provide for a 25-cent admission to the fair. He is strongly in favor of the lower rate for admission, and believes that a higher admission will be detrimental to the attendance at Western Ontario's greatest show.

UNKNOWN MEN FIRE ON BRANTFORD POLICE

Constable's Gun Jams When He Endeavors To Return Volley.

Canadian Press Despatch. Brantford, May 27.—Constables Gage and Ward were fired on by two men with revolvers at an early hour this morning, as the men disappeared over the fence behind the property of C. G. Ellis, at 50 Chestnut avenue.

Constable Gage's gun jammed when he attempted to reply, and the men made their getaway through the swing gate in the hollow behind the house. The district was combed thoroughly, but the two men were not again seen.

Ancient Fire Alarm Unit Attacked By Spring Fever

The ponderous fire alarm system at the central station is still in the throes of a very aggravated species of spring fever, and though Chief Atken's fiery men have been nursing the ill-used one for the last three days, it shows no signs of responding to orthodox treatment.

The present method of recording fires in congested districts or business centers is very, very old, so the legend goes, and the pioneer members of the force have but scant memories of when it was first inaugurated.

The antique alarm "does its duty" for the most part, but every now and then the proverbial wrench

CITY DRUGGISTS WILL ENTERTAIN DELEGATES

Party Will Pass Through London June 8 to Windsor Convention.

Druggists of London, at a meeting in the Tecumseh House last night, made arrangements to entertain brethren from Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford and other eastern cities who will pass through London June 8 en route to the annual druggists' convention in Windsor.

The members from the east will drive to the border and will reach this city on the afternoon of June 8. They will be met by a band and will remain here overnight, leaving for Windsor the morning of June 9.

The following reception committee was appointed to attend to details in connection with entertaining the visitors: Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. R. Kitchen, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bignell, E. R. Will and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mitchell.

Mr. Armstrong was appointed general chairman and N. F. Lee secretary for the day. The convention in Windsor will be a three-day affair, and it is expected that a large delegation from London will attend.

Constable's Gun Jams When He Endeavors To Return Volley.

Canadian Press Despatch. Brantford, May 27.—Constables Gage and Ward were fired on by two men with revolvers at an early hour this morning, as the men disappeared over the fence behind the property of C. G. Ellis, at 50 Chestnut avenue.

Constable Gage's gun jammed when he attempted to reply, and the men made their getaway through the swing gate in the hollow behind the house. The district was combed thoroughly, but the two men were not again seen.

Y.M.C.A. MEN GATHER FOR BIG CONFERENCE

Four Londoners Attend 42nd Meeting at Blue Ridge, Carolina.

The employed officers of the Y. M. C. A. met at Blue Ridge, Carolina, today. The meeting calls together the heads of departments of the association from all over North America for the 42nd conference. London is represented by George R. Sinclair, Earl Cadwallader, Archie Ramer and Harold Partridge.

Among the subjects for discussion at the conference will be the report of a committee appointed three years ago to study the scope, aims and responsibility of the physical department. A report will be given by a commission appointed to work out a "Y" program for young men 18-24 years of age.

A national Commission will present his triennial survey of the organization. Butler.

SCHOOL CADETS ARE INSPECTED

Parades Will Be Held in Additional London Schools Next Week.

GIVE ITINERARY

Inspection of cadet corps in London public schools was commenced yesterday by Lieut.-Col. G. H. Gillespie, inspector for the military district, and will be continued next week. On Monday five schools were inspected, each unit parading on the grounds of its own school. Ryerson, St. George's and Lord Roberts schools each went through an hour's drill in the morning, while an hour each was set aside for Boyle Memorial and Rectory street public schools in the afternoon.

Lord Roberts school was reported to be particularly efficient, and its commanders were warmly commended for good work. The youthful cadets of the other schools visited also showed good progress.

Lieut.-Col. Gillespie's itinerary for inspection of the corps of thirteen schools includes five schools on Thursday of next week, June 5. Aberdeen, Alexandra and Simcoe street schools will be inspected in the morning, and Lorne avenue and Chesley Avenue Cadet Corps will parade in the afternoon.

On June 9, Riverview, Empress Avenue and Talbot street schools have the morning assignment for inspection, and Victoria and Wortley schools will be reviewed after lunch.

On June 16, Ealing and Trafalgar cadets will be inspected during the morning and in the afternoon Lieut.-Col. Gillespie goes to Highland and Manor Park school.

BROTHERS BIT HEATED OVER LITTLE DISPUTE

Two Tickets in "Graydon's Grandstand" Come Little Expensive.

An argument early this morning over a ball game last week between Grand Rapids and London brought two fans into police court this morning and earned for them fines of $10 and costs each.

Sergeant Last stated from information received, he and Constable Aitkens had hustled over to the house, where the two noisy ones were creating a disturbance in the house, he thought the verbal battle was on the point of developing into a fist fight when he walked in and called it off.

The men, who are brothers, admitted that there might have been a little harsh language, but declared there was no fight. The hour was about 3:30 this morning when the argument was at its height.

"A poor time to argue over a ball game," commented the court, who wanted to know where a bottle of gin picked up on the floor came from.

"A brother-in-law from Windsor brought it to me," replied the owner of the house.

"He had better be careful," warned the court, "or he will get into trouble."

Brother number two declared the language had been a little "heavy."

"Pretty heavy," commented the court, "if this thing goes on the fine will be $50 instead of $10."

MRS. KATE REID DIES AT HER HOME IN CITY

Widow of the Late W. J. Reid Succumbs at "Carisbrook" Last Night.

Mrs. Kate Reid, widow of W. J. Reid, died at her residence, Carisbrook, last night. At her bedside were her son, Col. Frank Reid, C.M.G., and her sister, Mrs. Hawley of Detroit, and Mrs. Annie Reid of London. The family have been residing in England for some years, but fortunately arrived at his mother's home some two weeks ago, and was with her at the last. Her younger son, Major Walter Reid, O.B.E., is with his regiment, the 22nd Lancers, in present quarters in Upper Burma.

Mrs. Reid's death causes the deepest sorrow to her hosts of friends. Her genuine kindness and brightness of disposition endeared her to all who had the privilege of knowing her. She had been a beloved and consistent member of St. Paul's Cathedral for many years, and her generosity and good works have been widely appreciated throughout the community.

The Reid family is one of the oldest in London. The late Nathaniel Reid, who was the father of Mrs. Reid's husband, was one of London's leading and earliest citizens, and three generations have been born here. W. J. Reid died eight years ago.

Private funeral will be held tomorrow and the services will be conducted by Dean Tucker. Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

BANQUET WILL FINISH "Y" BOYS' SPRING SEASON

A banquet marking the close of the boys' activities of the Y. M. C. A. spring season will be held at the "Y" Thursday night at 6:30. There will be a special table for each section of the membership and a prize will be given to every boy present at the table having the highest percentage of attendance. The speaker of the evening will be Rev. F. W. K. Harris.

Prizes in connection with the March membership campaign will also be awarded. The Hexathalon national Commission will present his triennial survey of the organization. Butler.

Seeding In West Nears Finish

Canadian Press Despatch. Winnipeg, May 27.—With the exception of a few scattered points, wheat seeding was practically finished last Saturday, and the sowing of coarse grains about 75 per cent completed in the three Prairie Provinces, according to a crop report issued by the Manitoba Free Press.

The report shows a decided decrease in wheat acreage in Manitoba, probably 25 per cent, a slight decrease in Saskatchewan, with Alberta about unchanged from last year. The decreased acreage in wheat is being substituted by increased acreage in coarse grains, flax, sweet clover, corn and fodder crops, there being a marked trend toward more mixed farming, especially in Manitoba and parts of Saskatchewan.

ENGLISHMAN SEEKS BROTHER, SISTER

Ernest Bateman Writes Chief Birrell From Nechells, Birmingham.

LAST LETTER IN '88

Chief of Police Robert Birrell has received a letter from Ernest Bateman, 18 Mount street, Nechells, Birmingham, England, asking the chief's help in the location of his brother and sister, who left England before he was born and probably do not know that they have a brother across the seas.

According to the letter, the brother and sister, Thomas and Louisa Bateman, were sent to Canada when they were 10 and 12 years of age, on April 27, 1888, from the Middlemarches Homes, Thomas worked at Chatham for two years, and then entered the employ of W. C. Dundas, North Dorchester, whose postoffice address was London.

Louisa entered the service of Mrs. Margaret Bryans, Strathroy, and Ernest Bateman has a letter from his sister and Mrs. Bryans dated November 20, 1888.

"When they left, my sister and myself, were not born," writes Mr. Bateman, "so they couldn't know about us. Their ages now would be 48 and 46."

"I should have tried to trace them before, but had no means of doing so. I was looking through a list of an aunt that died and came across the letter written by my sister. My mother died when I was five and I have no other relatives except my cousin, Lizzie Grainger, who remembered them going away but could not give an address or date."

Chief Birrell would be glad to hear from any person who may know anything of the whereabouts of the Batemans.

C. N. R. CLAIMS AGENT RECEIVES PROMOTION

Ambrose Birmingham, Well-Known Official Here, To Leave For Toronto.

Ambrose Birmingham of this city, for many years district claims agent for the C. N. R., with headquarters in London, has received notification from the general superintendent in Toronto that he has been promoted to the post of claims agent under the general superintendent, with headquarters in Toronto. Mr. Birmingham will leave this week to assume his new duties.

He is widely known throughout all parts of Eastern Canada, as during his year as claims agent out of London he has had occasion to visit every city and town on the C. N. R. in this region, and the Canadian Line from St. Thomas to Windsor.

DEADLOCK OF MINERS REMAINS UNBROKEN

Canadian Press Despatch. Calgary, May 27.—There was no indication here last night of any immediate possibility of shattering the deadlock now existing between District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America and the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association. Miners in this district have been on strike since April 1 and neither side in the controversy is inclined to make any move in the direction of conciliation.

Some days of negotiations at the present time, officials declared last night.

OTTAWA MAY GET ENGLISH ROMAN CATHOLIC COLLEGE

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 27.—Definite action has been taken to get an English Roman Catholic college in Ottawa. An organization with this end as its primary object was formed yesterday and will be known as the Catholic University Club. Many of the most prominent priests and Roman Catholic laymen in Ottawa and district are behind the movement.

STRATHROY WOMAN DIES

Strathroy, May 27.—The death occurred this morning at her home of Mrs. Theresa O'Dwyer McCabe, wife of Dr. W. R. McCabe. Mrs. McCabe was the only daughter of the late Patrick O'Dwyer, who was for many years a grocery merchant in this town. She is survived by her husband and six children, Mrs. Theresa and Patrick, daughters, and Dr. Allan McCabe, Leo and Frank, sons, and two brothers, William O'Dwyer of Vancouver, and Frank O'Dwyer of California.

Tenders for the proposed printing plant at the London Technical School, 15 in number, have been received. These will be opened at the meeting of the advisory technical education committee at its meeting on Monday.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK IS ENCOURAGING

Opening of Navigation Expected To Greatly Stimulate Canadian Trade.

MONEY FAIRLY EASY

Business conditions, as reviewed by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada in its latest monthly bulletin, are reported to be only fair throughout the Dominion. Unbusiness in manufacturing circles is suggested as being due to unsettled tariff conditions, but the report goes on to tell of building activity in Ontario and other encouraging processes in the commercial life of the country.

From an index of general business conditions in the Dominion the bulletin quotes authoritative sources for opinion that while there was a marked downward trend in the market during March and April, the broad outlook seems encouraging.

"Money in Canada is reasonably easy, and with the early opening of navigation, business on the whole should improve," one authority is quoted as saying. It is pointed out that every available foot of docking space in Montreal harbor has been leased for the present season, and applications have been made for more sheds than the harbor commission possesses.

The labor situation is summed up as follows: "In spite of the fact that some manufacturing plants are running on part time and lay-off help, the labor situation is generally reported as satisfactory, the excess labor being absorbed by the building trade, which on the whole is active. The only districts reporting large unemployment are Quebec, where from 2,000 to 3,000 union men are out of work, and St. Catharines, where the increase in unemployment is attributed to an influx of labor seeking work on the canal."

TWO ARE REMAINED IN IMMORALITY CASE

Counsel For Mrs. Mamie Rae and Harry Bruner Asks Suspended Sentence.

Pleading guilty through their counsel, Howard Cluff, on charges of immorality, Mrs. Mamie Rae and Harry Bruner were remanded to jail for a week for sentence by Magistrate Graydon this morning.

"Mr. Cluff asked for suspended sentence, pointing out that the young man, 21 years of age, was the son of a support of his mother and six brothers and sisters."

The husband trusted Mr. Bruner fully, Mr. Cluff said, and that nothing wrong had been going on. "Misplaced confidence," commented Mr. Graydon.

Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd would not consent to suspended sentence. "This thing is becoming too prevalent a decision in this community. There have been three cases along these lines within the last ten days."

Owing to the fact that Mrs. Rae was nursing a small baby, she was allowed out on bail later on in the morning, through the efforts of the crown attorney.

AUTO DAMAGE ACTION STILL OCCUPIES COURT

Mr. Justice Kelly, presiding over the non-jury supreme court sittings at the old court house today, was occupied with the automobile damage action brought by J. G. Stephenson against H. R. Griffiths. The plaintiff seeks $1000 in damages from the defendant, alleging the latter was to blame for a smash-up at Piccadilly and Mainland streets on Oct. 6 last. The defendant denies the charge and claims damages for repairs to his motor car.

The case started yesterday afternoon and should be concluded late this afternoon. J. M. McEvoy, K.C., and W. B. Henderson are appearing for the plaintiff and W. E. Menzies for the defendant.

SCHOOLS WILL NOT CLOSE ON KING'S BIRTHDAY

The King's birthday, June 3, will not be observed as a special holiday in London's public schools. So far no move has been made in educational circles to close the schools in honor of the monarch, as the children now have Empire Day and Victoria Day coming shortly before their sovereign's anniversary.

It has not been the custom in London schools to prepare any special celebration, though the day is usually remembered in class work.

ENTIRE CORPS IN LONDON TO TAKE PART IN SERVICES

All city corps, bands and songster brigades will take part in the special lighting services of the Salvation Army, to be held on June 5. The program will be divided into an afternoon council and an evening service. Divisional officers of London will preside over the afternoon council, when they will receive the totals of all self-denial efforts of the district from the various officers. The territorial division totals will then be announced.

The evening service will take the form of a songster's service, and songsters, coupled with addresses by the officers.

AUTO IS SMASHED. Midway, May 26.—While H. Ballagh, principal of the public school, was driving his car to the intersection of Main and Absolon streets in his car was run into by a larger car, owner unknown. Mr. Ballagh's car was badly damaged. The owner of the larger car quickly disappeared before his number could be taken.

A Mid-Ocean Postoffice.

The strangest postoffice in the world is a barrel on a post out in the sea near the Galapagos Islands, off the coast of Ecuador. The mail deliveries and collection from this station are not very regular, but mariners make use of it.

Huron College Grounds
Gay for "U" Garden Party

Graduates and Guests Spend a Happy Afternoon Chatting Together.

ORCHESTRA PRESENT

Prettily Frocked Co-eds and Somberly Clad Men Present Interesting Scene.

The spacious grounds at Huron College were en fête this afternoon for the garden party given by the Women's Faculty Club and the Alumnae of the University of Western Ontario. Velvety lawns and tall stately trees, with fruit trees in the background, bursting into snowy blossoms, made a picturesque setting for this happy affair. Groups of guests, including the members of the faculties, the fair young co-eds in their prettiest frocks and the men students chatting over the tea cups, and delightful music was provided by the Little Theatre Orchestra which was stationed on the wide veranda.

The tea table arranged on the lawn was adorned with mauve tulips and apple blossoms, and tea was poured out by Mrs. Sherwood Fox, Miss Grace Hill, Mrs. J. D. Detweiler, the new president of the Faculty Club, and Miss Marion Wright, the new Alumnae president. Mrs. A. D. Robertson and Miss Liddicoat, past presidents of the organizations, welcomed the guests.

British M. P. who told Conservatives in debate that "only lunatics in an asylum" would expect a government to revolutionize the unemployment situation in a four months' tenure of office.

Inhabitants have scanty means of paying for warm clothing.

An invitation to the tea and bala display at 3:30 o'clock is being extended by Mrs. Arthur Little, the president, and the members of the mission, to those who may be interested in the work which they are carrying on.

Grenfell Mission Would Like
Full Bale For Display
On Thursday.

In connection with the Grenfell Mission bala display and tea in Cronin Hall on Thursday afternoon, the local branch of the mission is making an appeal to the citizens of London for warm, second-hand clothing for the fishermen and their families of the Labrador coast. But so that all the clothing may be ready for inspection on that occasion, the members of the executive are asking that all donations shall reach the hall by noon on Thursday. The need on the Labrador coast, where cold weather prevails for a large portion of the year, is very great, and the

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter how they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dirt and dust and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Adv.

An enjoyable banquet was held last evening at Wong's Cafe, when Orphan Chapter, O. E. S., entertained in honor of its guest Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Preston, past grand matron of the O. E. S. Sarnia Collegiate Principal Favors Vocational Work.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, May 26.—Speaking before the Chamber of Commerce at noon today, D. A. Campbell, principal of the Sarnia Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, explained how the joint institution works there. He strongly supported the idea of having two types of training under one head, and said that he doubted if the building of a separate vocational school here would relieve the congestion in the collegiate institute. He said that in Sarnia the technical side has increased, but figures to show that the enrollment of collegiate pupils had also greatly increased.

Union Mothers' Club Executive Considers Question of Officers.

NAMES COMMITTEE

Will Determine Whether One Woman Can Hold Office in Two Clubs.

The executive of the Union Mothers' Club enjoyed a delightful supper last evening, and at the same time were given a lesson in domestic economy, when prior to their regular meeting the girls of the domestic science class of the Technical School served them with supper.

The tables were artistically arranged with large bowls of apple blossoms, violets and buttercups, and tall orange candles shaded with yellow and green shades. The girls themselves, wearing crisp white aprons, served the supper. The menu which was figured on the cost for six persons, was as follows: Scalloped potatoes, 15c; cold sliced veal, 45c; cabbage and beef salad, 15c; cabbage 11c; beef 6c; salad dressing, 6c; rolls, 10c; butter, 13c; lemon snow, 15c; custard sauce, 20c; date oatmeal cookies, 11c; coffee, 9c, and sugar 5c. Total cost for six, $1.62, with a cost of 27c per person.

Following the supper a vote of thanks was given to the domestic science teacher, Miss E. G. Loeggett, Principal Beal and the girls of the class. The vote of thanks was tendered by Mrs. Robson, and seconded by Mrs. Carson, who stated that it was the first time she had had the pleasure of enjoying a meal cooked by a domestic science class, and it was a revelation to her.

Following supper the meeting was held and a committee was appointed to consider the changing of the constitution in regard to a number of two primary clubs holding office in both clubs. The committee who included Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Cress, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. W. A. Tanner, Mrs. Maine, Mrs. Barnard and Mrs. Turner, will consider this question, and bring their decision before the club at the next meeting. In the meantime the president, Mrs. Tanner, asked the clubs to govern their elections according, as it did not seem to her that a number should hold office in two clubs.

Mrs. Tanner gave a short address on the work of the Lord's Day Alliance, and asked the officers to take back the message to their clubs asking them to give financial help to this great cause.

The next meeting, which will be the annual meeting of the club, will be held June 2nd, in the Technical School. Following the meeting the mothers in record the exhibit of sewing done by the classes.

WEDDINGS

LITTLE—HANDFORD.

An interesting wedding took place on Empire Day, in the afternoon, at the Grand Bend Methodist Church. The bride was Miss Irene May Handford, and the groom was Mr. James George Little, both of Ingersoll. The bride's parents were married in the same quiet little church, Mr. Wilfred J. Waite was groomsmen and Miss Elizabeth Isabel Little was bridesmaid, both of Ingersoll.

Friends of the bride's family in Grand Bend had decorated the church beautifully with flowers. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreens and white blossoms, in the presence of a church full of interested friends from Ingersoll, London, Exeter and Grand Bend. Rev. L. W. Hill, assisted by Rev. W. J. Mairnes, performed the ceremony. After signing the register, the guests adjourned to Mr. Follick's cottage at Grand Bend, where a delightful buffet luncheon was served. After an interesting automobile trip, Mr. and Mrs. Little will reside in Ingersoll.

FLYNN—DALY.
St. Mary's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding this morning at 9 o'clock, when Marjorie Irene Daly, daughter of Mrs. J. E. Daly and the late J. E. Daly, was married to Joseph R. Flynn, son of Mrs. R. J. Flynn and the late R. J. Flynn, Rev. Monsignor Brady performed the ceremony.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. S. Daly, wore a graceful gown of white tulle, with a tulle veil, becomingly arranged with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Dora Dwyer acted as bridesmaid, and was crowned in white blue georgette, trimmed with silver lace. Her hat was of silver, and she carried a bouquet of Sunset roses. Mr. Walter Flynn was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother in Princess avenue. The guests numbered twenty. Mr. and Mrs. Flynn left later on a honeymoon, the bride travelling in a smart suit of navy blue, with a becoming purple hat. Upon their return, they will reside in London.

SPIDER WEB STOCKINGS.

Associated Press Dispatch.
Berlin, May 27.—Spider web stockings form one of the novelties of the season on display here. So delicate and extensive as to be intended more for show than anything else, they are made of thread so fine that 273 miles would be required to make a pound of silk.

As for the wearing quality of this hosiery, the dealers admit that after one dance to modern jazz music the toes and heels would be all out.

The Ways of a Man With a Maid—Can a Good Girl Be Tempted?—Having Divorced Three Wives, How Can He Keep His Fourth From Divorcing Him?—The "Perfect Lady."

Dear Miss Dix—We are four motherless girls, and we look to you for a lot of our information on things that puzzle us, so will you please answer these questions?

First. Can men help being jealous? Should they be forgiven for this fault, or is it just unreasonable?

Second. Are men by nature pursuers of women? If men have respect only for good girls, why do they make us fight to keep good and so spoil the pleasure we might otherwise have in their company?

Third. Is there any way to tell what kind of a man a man is before you accept an invitation to go out with him?

Fourth. What chance has a girl for a happy marriage with a man who is ten years her senior, but who thinks as she does in almost everything and who simply adores her?

Fifth. If a long-time friend who has always been perfectly gentlemanly to you once does something that you think isn't decent and he afterward apologizes, should he be forgiven and given a second chance or should the friendship end right there?

Sixth. How can people say that a girl who is absolutely pure and good is tempted?

Answer: First. Most people who love are jealous because they are selfish and self-centered, and wish to monopolize the individual for whom they care. A jealous love is a poor love, however, because it considers itself instead of the object of its affection. A jealous man, for instance, would deny a woman any pleasure rather than let her go alone or with others to some place of amusement.

Jealousy is always an insult because it is founded on suspicion. It means that the jealous one has no faith in the honor and loyalty of another. A little jealousy is to be forgiven, but a woman can have no worse fate than to be married to a very jealous man.

Second. There are few Sir Galahads, men who honor and revere womanhood and who would die defending its purity. To the great majority of men, women are fair game, to be stalked and captured if they can.

You will find as you go through life that nearly every man, either openly or subtly, will test you in some way to find out how far as he can go, and it will be up to you to draw the line. But, curiously enough, when the average man finds out that a girl is straight and good he respects her for it and is more apt to try to help her keep up her barriers than to try to break them down.

Third. You can generally find out all about a man's character if you take the trouble to inquire.

Fourth. Ten years is just about the proper difference between a man's and a woman's age. It is no bar to marriage.

Fifth. When a man has once shown you that he is a rotter, you have only yourself to blame if you receive further insults from him, as you will if you continue your acquaintance with him. If you continue to be friends with him, he will rightly conclude that you have condoned his conduct and were not really shocked, after all.

Sixth. A good girl can be tempted just as easily as a bad one because she is human. We are always warning girls against men. We should warn them against their own impulses. The danger is always from within, not without. A man tempts a girl in vain unless she wishes to yield.

DOROTHY DIX.

My Dear Miss Dix—I have been married four times, divorced from three wives and a fourth divorce is pending. I am well fixed financially, and made liberal settlements with my first three wives. But this last wife, influenced by her parents, who are financial crooks, is trying to hold me up and ruin me. However, I am not bothering about the money. I love this woman so much that I want to get her back. Do you think I can do it by paying her people what they ask, or do you think I should settle with her and go on the matrimonial list again? I would rather die than live a single life.

A. B. H.

Answer: I admire your courage and optimism, Mr. A. B. H., as much as I deplore your judgment in wives. You surely must be a poor picker or else be a regular Bluebeard that no woman can stand. Divorces are an expensive luxury, and before you try matrimony again I should certainly advise you to have a heart-to-heart session with yourself and find out why it is that you cannot keep a wife. Evidently you are not stingy. Are you grouchy? Are you ill-tempered and surly? Or are you a petulant chaser, and lose interest in a woman as soon as she is safely your wife? Find your fault and correct it, and perhaps your fifth wife will not have to sue you for alimony.

It would seem from what you say that your No. 4 wife has an itching palm. In that case, it should be easy enough to buy her back. All that you will have to do will be to come across with the price that she and her greedy parents demand.

Dr. Johnson said that a second marriage is the final triumph of hope over experience. I wonder what he would have said of a fourth? He certainly would have considered you an incurable optimist.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: First. What is your definition of a perfect lady?

Second. Does a perfect lady attract the attention of the modern young man more or less than the flapper who uses rouge and powder in public?

Answer: A perfect lady is a woman who never forgets others and always remembers herself. She is courteous, and kind, and considerate alike to the humblest and the highest, a little more respectful of those below her than of those above her. She never does anything rude, or vulgar, or conspicuous. She is clean inside and out.

Her clothes are immaculate and her conversation above reproach. She is refined in manner and speech. She never tells smutty stories. She never dances in a suggestive way. She doesn't kiss boys or let them paw her; but she isn't a prude, or dowdy, or old-fashioned. She is just a woman who is sweet, and a dear, and the sort that every man hopes he will marry and every mother prays that her son will get for a wife.

Second. I am afraid that the modern young man prefers a painted flapper to a perfect lady. There are lots of people who like chromos better than they do old masters, and who would rather listen to jazz than grand opera.

The House of Five Swords

A Romance of Old Virginia.

By TRISTRAM TUPPER.

INSTALLMENT II.

WHO'S WHO

CRYSTAL MACLAURIN, 7 years old, child from her red hair. "The Robin" carries the boots John MacLaurin made to Colonial House. She persuades the butler to let her in, and there observes the portraits of the five ladies who reigned, one after another, in the aristocratic mansion.

COL. CARTWRIGHT, master of Colonial House, sends word he will see her in the library. She awaits him there, on the way remembering the old legend that no woman should pass up the main staircase until a new bride comes.

EDMUND CARTWRIGHT, West Point cadet, and the colonel's son, enters the library with him. The colonel points out five swords hanging on the wall, and to a nail awaiting his son's, a sixth. Edmund thinks there will be no more wars, and his father is disputing this when they discover "The Robin." She tells them that her mother left her to go on the stage as a dancer. Pleased with her and noting her red hair, the colonel offers to have her driven home.

CHAPTER III.

Ann Theobald.

As Colonel Cartwright closed the door something intangible and cunning entered the high windows. It came in the form of a sunbeam, nothing more, but must have been the spirit of Crystal MacLaurin's mother.

The mother, an exquisitely formed butterfly, had been chained to a cobbler's bench. She had flown away, laughing, sobbing, to dance to music upon the stage.

And now, as the child of this mother threw herself into a leather chair to revel in dreams, her eyes rested upon the sword beneath the gallery—grim emblems of death and ugliness. She lifted the last sword from its nail, unsheathed it and laid the naked blade upon the rug.

From the corner where Edmund had tossed it, she took the slender foil. It was light and willowy. Edmund had made it sing. The Robin was singing—a wordless tune—with no memory of ever having heard it before. But the rhythm of it was irresistible.

Slowly, her best slippers began to move. Faster now, more exultant, above the Cartwright blades she was dancing the sword dance of Scotland. Unnumbered moments passed before, suddenly, her flying feet became weighted. Her body lost its suppleness. Colonel Cartwright was standing in the doorway. His lips were a penciled line.

The Robin backed to the fireplace. Slowly, she drew a word, the cold, replaced the sword in its scabbard and silently fingered the foil. Then she pulled the bell cord and almost immediately a man opened the door. The colonel's face was placid now but gray as a death mask. "Dismiss the carriage."

"Yes, sir."

"And show this child out of the house. She is not to come on the grounds, again."

"Yes, sir; thank you, sir."

The butler at Colonial House was a large, heavy-jowled man and his words, "Thank you, sir," conveyed but one meaning to the Robin. He was thanking the colonel for turning her over to him.

As he approached, a scream escaped the child. She rushed at him like a frightened little animal. A soft impact, an audible grunt, and Crystal gained the hallway.

Wildly she ran to the end of the hall and back past the library door before discovering the narrow stairway. Plunging down, she was saved at the bottom by some one swinging her into the air. She had been trapped, but the arms that enveloped her were not to be overpowered.

"Robin! What have they done to you?" It was Edmund.

They crossed the immaculate lawn and reached the hedge before the child could control her convulsive sobs.

"In here," said Edmund. "They won't find us in here."

The Robin uttered a small opening in the impenetrable hedge of lilacs and rose vines. Edmund followed. For a long, long way they crawled, concealed from road by a thicket of brown and green.

When they emerged, a terrace of emerald cut them off from Colonial House, while far below, where the roofs of Riverport were visible, they stood.

"Now tell me all that happened," he said.

When she reached the part about the sword he reassured her. "Robert wouldn't under any condition have eaten you. Never be afraid of people, or things either. But perhaps you better not come to Colonial House again."

"Daddy?"

She nodded her head affirmatively. "Your hair . . ."

The Robin glanced up at him tremulously.

"Nicest I've seen," he assured her quickly. "It is like the hair of a traditional girl, one who lived a long while ago and is still remembered by the Cartwrights. Somehow they can't forget her. Her hair was the same color, like copper. Her name was Ann Theobald."

And Edmund told her that strange story of revolution, of times. How a ball had been given at Colonial House to a general, how Ann Theobald had come from Philadelphia and worn her hair without powder and with pearls entwined, and how after the minute she had taken the sword.

Major Josiah Cartwright, one of the great warriors of his day, and then looking around her had called for another sword.

An arsenal of blades had sprung from their scabbards, glinting in the candle light, and from these Ann had selected the sword of the general in whose honor the ball was being given.

Then she had crossed the two swords upon the floor and shocked a goody number and delighted many more by dancing over the crossed blades.

"Her hair was like yours, and she danced over crossed swords as you have done today," said Edmund. "Is not the strangest part?"

Despite his swordsmanship, Josiah Cartwright had in that very month been killed in a duel, while all the world knows what chance that September at the hands of the other, over whose sword Ann Theobald danced.

"A courageous soldier. Wounded twice. And yet, in that September, he turned traitor and later became a general on the British side. His name," said Edmund, "was Benedict Arnold."

The Robin was wide-eyed and thoughtful. She had heard of Benedict Arnold. "Did he turn traitor because Ann danced over his sword?"

"It really had nothing to do with it."

And Maj. Cartwright, she pursued, "was he killed in a duel just because she danced?"

"You mustn't worry about it at all," laughed Edmund. "People merely made a story of it. Which sword did you take from the wall?"

"The one nearest the chimney?"

"That was my father's," said Edmund. "And the other?"

"I found it on the floor in the corner near the door."

"That was my foil . . . But you cannot own it, neither of us will ever be a traitor. And as for duels," said Edmund, "they are certainly out of date."

But something in Edmund's voice caused the Robin to glance at him thoughtfully. "Why does it make your eyes seem smiling sometimes, and your lips seem hesitating?" sometimes quiver like they are now?"

"What if I do you mean?" laughed Edmund.

She laid a finger on the mole above his eyebrow. And as they made their way down the hill toward the town of Riverport she confided: "We are alike in two things. We both haven't any mother and we both have a mole."

"You have a mole?" said he with exaggerated surprise.

She paused to roll down her plaid stocking. "No one knows about it except like yours," she added tactfully.

He walked with her all the way to her father's shop. There she stood motionless, listening. "Do you know what it is saying?" she asked solemnly, looking up at the black boot creaking in the wind over the door.

"It tells me that I told you I was going inside Colonial House."

"And you always understand?"

"Always," replied the Robin.

Both listened. "What is it saying now?" asked Edmund Cartwright.

"It is saying something," Crystal MacLaurin was sure of this.

"Something," agreed Edmund. "But what is it, Robin?"

Disaster.

Those whose memories of public events reach back to the November of that year will recall an incident that held a place on the front page of the daily papers for nearly a fortnight. They will recall something about the expulsion of six cadets from Riverport. Fractious plevs had been dosed with tobacco sauce and made to count countless numbers of red ants.

To Riverport the matter was personal. Wherever the citizens foregathered in town, three and larger groups—the question became twofold: "What will become of Edmund?" and "What will the colonel do?"

Edmund had been expelled from West Point. From infancy he had been reared for the army—nothing else. Edmund had been the apple of his father's eye. Also, there was the motif of the Cartwright line—Patriotism. And there was the pride of the Cartwrights, which like a cathedral had required generations in the building.

Col. Cartwright was seated in the library when Robert, the heavy-jowled butler, brought a telegram. The colonel read the message. He read it but once. There was no change in his expression. He was a Cartwright. Without haste, without hesitancy, he took a sheet of finely engraved paper from the desk and wrote:

"I can suggest no mode of life for one who has brought upon his line inevitable disgrace. It will be useless, therefore, for you to return to Colonial House, which, however, you will inherit upon my death."

He addressed an envelope. "You will mail this yourself, Robert. Also, you will lock Mr. Edmund's room and hang the key on the nail beyond the last door. Mr. Edmund will not return to Colonial House."

"Very good, sir." The old servant turned slowly, and softly closed the door.

But Edmund did return to Colonial House. Before the colonel's laconic note had been received, four young men with white scarves tied about their mouths detained at Riverport and drove in the ancient station hack up Golden Hill.

"We are here, sir," said Edmund. "We came to talk things over. We've thought of a way we can serve. We have entered into an agreement . . ."

As Smooth as a Table Top

Over fifty thousand homes are served by Moffat Ranges because of their wonderful cooking abilities, their surety of service and perfection even to the smaller details.

For example, the range top on a Moffat Electric is made in one piece, electric porcelain enameled, of course, and as smooth and clean as a table top. That smooth, one-piece top, free of screws, bolts or cracks, can be wiped clean in a jiffy.

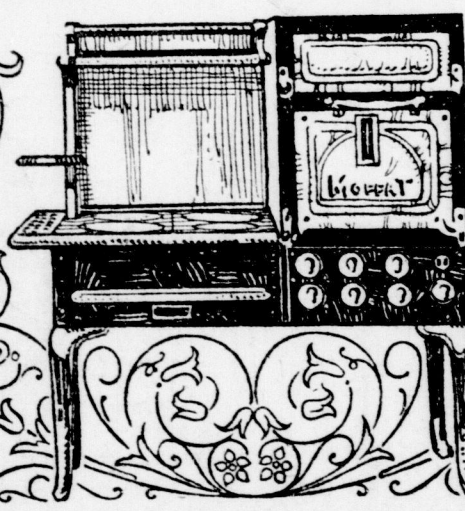

Then, it is exactly at the right height for comfort, not too low, nor too high. It saves a woman from backstrain or tiredness.

Easily cleaned? Decidedly so. In fact, you can clean the whole range in the length of time it takes to clean the oven in an ordinary range.

Note: Be sure to see the new Moffat one-piece oven. It gives you better cooking with less shrinkage or wastage of food. It is the most scientifically accurate oven on the market.

Buy a Moffat Electric Range and you get, admittedly, the best electric range manufactured at a very moderate price. Any Moffat dealer will gladly demonstrate Moffat Electric Ranges to you. Write for free booklet, and full details to Moffats, Limited, Weston, Ontario.

CANADA WITHOUT VOICE IN TREATY OF LAUSANNE

Correspondence Tabled in House Shows Why Government Did Not Act

TOOK NO EXCEPTION

But Claimed Parliament Should Decide Extent Dominions May Be Bound.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 26.—"The government of Canada, not having been invited to send a representative to the Lausanne conference, and not having participated in the proceedings of the conference either directly or indirectly, and not being for this reason a signatory to the treaty on behalf of Canada, my ministers do not feel that they are in a position to recommend to parliament the approval of the peace treaty with Turkey and the conventions thereto."

In these words the governor-general of state for the colonies on March 14, 1924, defined the attitude of the King government towards the Lausanne treaty. The telegram is the last of a series between the British and Canadian governments going back to October 27, 1922, and tabled in the House by Premier King today. The telegram adds: "Without the approval of parliament they feel they are not warranted in signifying concurrence in ratification of the treaty and the conventions. With respect to ratification, however, they will not take exception to such course as his majesty's government may deem it advisable to recommend."

When the papers were tabled, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, asked whether the correspondence was complete, and if it was not complete, which government took responsibility for the omissions.

British Object. Premier King replied that the Canadian government had asked that the correspondence should be made public. The British government had objected to some of its being brought down. What had been tabled was all that the two governments had agreed upon.

The correspondence opens with a message from the Duke of Devonshire, at the time secretary for colonies, dated October 27, 1922, and indicating that invitations had been sent by the governments of Great Britain, France and Italy to the Japanese, Roumanian, Jugo Slav and Turkish governments to send representatives to Lausanne for the conference; that the Russian Soviet government and the Bulgarian government were being invited to send representatives to discuss the question of the straits and that inquiry was being addressed to the United States expressing the hope that United States representatives would be present. The telegram added that the secretary of state for foreign affairs would personally act as chief British plenipotentiary, and the dominion governments would be kept informed from time to time on the general lines on which British plenipotentiaries proposed to proceed.

In reply, the governor-general, on behalf of the Dominion government, acknowledged receipt of the telegram "informing our government of the invitations to the Lausanne conference which have been sent to the governments of other countries."

Took No Exceptions. The Dominion government had no exception to the conclusion of a treaty to be signed at Lausanne, but "we deem it advisable to avail ourselves of the earliest opportunity to inform his majesty's government that in our opinion the extent to which Canada may be held to be bound by the proceedings of the conference, or by the provisions of

She Found Them Very Satisfactory

Saskatchewan Lady Used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Dropsy and Diabetes.

Mrs. P. Shaw Says Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Certainly Doing Her Good. Weyburn, Sask., May 26.—(Special.)—"That Dropsy and Diabetes are caused by weak kidneys and that the right way to treat them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, is again shown by the experience of Mrs. P. Shaw, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place.

"I suffered from Dropsy and Diabetes. My back and head used to ache, and I always felt tired and nervous. My limbs swelled and I was depressed and low spirited. I have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills during the winter. Twenty boxes in all, and they are doing me a lot of good. I have found them very satisfactory."

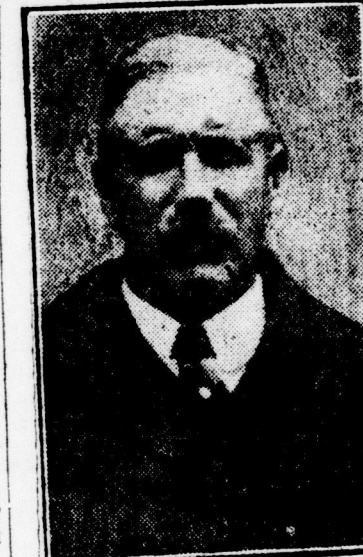

Mrs. Shaw's ailments were caused by weak kidneys failing to do their work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen weak kidneys.—Adv.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants.

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have a disinclination to discontinue diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomachics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two of pure Bismarck Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bismarck Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time, because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bismarck Magnesia, especially prepared for stomach use.—Adv.

ROBERT FORKE, leader of the Progressive party in the House of Commons, who last night was the subject of a bitter attack by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

any treaty or other instrument arising out of the same, is necessarily a matter for the parliament of Canada to decide, and that the rights and interests of our parliament in these particulars must not be held to be affected by implication or otherwise in virtue of the information with which our government may be supplied.

On November 16, 1922 the Duke of Devonshire wired that it was the most earnest desire that "you should make it clear that the provisions of the treaty and the conventions, and we shall endeavor to send you full details."

Nine days later the Duke of Devonshire wired that the purpose of his previous message (of October 31) had not been correctly interpreted or understood.

Make No Request. "Our government," he added, "has expressed a desire to have any treaty with Turkey, which may result from the conference, submitted to the Canadian parliament for approval before it is signed. It is our desire to ratify it, nor do we wish to be understood as preferring any such request. My message was intended to make clear that we had no exception to take to Canada not being invited to be represented at the conference, but, inasmuch as we had been informed that we would be invited to sign a new treaty and any separate instrument regulating the status of the straits, we wished to make it perfectly clear that in our opinion the extent to which Canada may be held to be bound by the proceedings of any treaty or other instrument arising out of the same, was necessarily a matter for the parliament of Canada to decide."

"We deem it of the utmost importance that there should be no misunderstanding as to our position with respect to Canada's obligations in this and kindred matters. In our opinion parliament will not ratify the treaty with Turkey, and respect to any other instruments arising out of the Lausanne conference, to reserve to itself the right to decide upon the merits of the case what action on the part of the people of Canada is right and proper. In this connection we shall be pleased to inform all the information with which we may from time to time be supplied."

In his reply the Duke of Devonshire remarked that it was important that there should be no misunderstanding on so important a question. Any treaty resulting from the conference would, of course, replace the treaty of Sevres and "until it comes into force a state of war between the British Empire and Turkey will technically continue. The treaty must, therefore be binding on the whole empire when ratified. It remains to be seen whether the provisions of the treaty will be binding on the dominions."

Procedure Differs. To this the Dominion government, through Baron Byng, replied that the procedure at Lausanne was different from that adopted at Paris in that Canada had not been invited to send representatives to the proceedings of the conference either directly or indirectly. "Under the circumstances we do not see how, as respects signing on behalf of Canada, we can be expected in the case of a new treaty or if any separate instrument regarding the straits, is adopted in the case of the treaty with Germany, Austria and Bulgaria."

On Feb. 2, 1924, Hon. J. H. Thomas, wired secretary for the colonies, expressing the hope that the Dominion government would be in a position at an early date to signify its concurrence in ratification of the treaty. This was followed by another message on March 21, stating that it was important that ratification should take place at an early date.

To this the governor-general replied with the last message of the correspondence, already quoted.

DEBATE IS WARM

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 26.—Discussion of sales proposals in the budget brought lively cross-firing in the House tonight. "Instead of looking across with his eyes fixed on the leader of the government," exclaimed Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, in reference to Robert Forke, Progressive leader, "claiming that there is no bargaining when bargaining is written across the face of everything done in this House, let him go over as a straight supporter of the government, and take all he can with him. Let us have two parties and fight the issue in this country, and let the will of the majority rule."

"I think the language used by the leader of the opposition, the respected Mr. Forke, 'is not language that is fitting for the leader of a great party.' And Hon. H. H. Stevens referred to the 'bargaining' as part of the picture the government are paying for support. 'It is part of the blood money of the party,' he said, 'and Mr. Stevens charged. He spoke of Mr. Forke as 'pussyfooting' across the House, and speaking from his place with the ease and self-righteousness of a Pharisee."

Many Amendments. There was keen, and at times, acid discussion. Amendment followed amendment, a few accepted, others falling by the way. Within a few minutes the House in committee divided twice.

Stevens moved that "salmon and other fish, prepared or preserved, including oysters" be subject to sales tax at two and a half instead of five per cent. It was observed that under the terms of the Stevens amendment, canned lobster would be included.

Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, declined to accept the amendment. "I think it is a pretty fair tax on the boys who put out at night and buy lobsters and sardines," urged Mr. Robb. "They should pay something towards the administration of this country."

Additions made to the list of goods exempt from sales tax, namely, calf, cattle and hog feed; windmills and complete portable engines; traction engines with boilers in combination, horsepower and traction engines for farm purposes and complete parts; gas engines used by fishermen in their own boats.

Sir Henry Drayton moved that lumber should be subject to sales tax at the 1921 rate, but his motion was lost. When the House rose, sales tax was still under discussion.

Firms in Arrears. The resolution providing for a measure to amend the special law revenue act by reducing the sales tax from 6 to 5 per cent was considered by the House of Commons in committee this afternoon.

Drayton criticized the government for the present situation in regard to the sales tax. Four hundred and thirty-one firms were in arrears in payment of the sales tax, he said. Sir Henry asked for complete information regarding the situation up to date.

A. E. Maclean (Liberal) hoped the government would see fit to administer strictly the reduced sales tax. He said some companies were refusing to reduce their prices in spite of the lowering of the tax. Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, said that in regard to the latter case he felt that competition would adjust that matter.

Mr. Robb said that it had been estimated that the reduction of the general rate of the sales tax from 6 to 5% would involve a remission of $18,000,000; the reductions on boots and shoes and other exemptions in the original budget would amount to $8,000,000 more; while exemptions granted three, the budget was first brought down would add $845,000 to this. As for the customs it was estimated that the original changes would amount to a remission of $750,000, while reductions made since that time would add $473,000 or a total of $1,223,000 from customs.

Revenue Less. Mr. Robb stated that it was estimated that the sales tax this year would yield a slightly smaller revenue than last year.

The resolution carried, and the House, in committee, then took up resolution number two which covers exemptions from the operation of the sales tax. A long list of articles is enumerated as coming under this resolution.

A. W. Nell (Independent, Comox-Alberni) moved an amendment to the resolution providing for the including of further articles in the sales tax exemptions. The list includes poultry feed, Mr. Nell moved that calf, cattle and hog feed be added to the list of exempted articles. This would only make the exemptions consistent throughout. The minister accepted Mr. Nell's amendment, and it was adopted by the committee.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, then moved an amendment which would add to the list of articles exempt from the sales tax, wind mills, portable engines, horsepower and traction engines for farm purposes.

Mr. Forke's amendment was accepted by the acting minister of finance at the evening sitting. Mr. Robb then moved to exempt gas engines for use by fishermen in their own boats from the operation of the sales tax.

Mr. Meighen asked the acting minister of finance when the government was going to stop hacking and patching and trimming and changing the budget.

LITTLE OF STOLEN MONEY RECOVERED

Only $32,000 of $142,288 Taken From Montreal Bank Collection Car.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, May 26.—Only $32,000 of the $142,288 stolen when the collection car of the Hochelaga Bank was held up here on April 1, has so far been recovered. R. L. Calder, K.C., crown prosecutor, told the jury in the court of king's bench here late this afternoon, when Giuseppe Serafini was placed on trial of charges of murder and receiving stolen money.

During the hold-up the bank chauffeur, Henry Cleroux, and one of the bandits, Harry Stone, were shot dead. It was not until after four this afternoon that the jury in the case had been finally selected, and there was barely time for the crown prosecutor to lay before the jury the main points of his reconstruction of the case. The evidence will begin tomorrow.

A new and hitherto unpublished photograph of the King of Rumania, who, with Queen Marie, has been visiting King George and Queen Mary.

Said to be the highest salaried chef in the world, Albert Moyer, gained his fame while in the employ of the ex-kaiser of Germany. He is now on the Leviathan.

At the age of 13 years, Master J. N. Tidwell of Niles, Texas, has the name of being the youngest licensed preacher in the world.

Europe's most beautiful queen is Queen Marie of Rumania, who has been visiting the British Royal family at Buckingham Palace.

A double golden wedding was recently celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bauer and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hoppensath of Mitchell, Ont.

Paris is gay with flowered and bright colored costumes. This dress of figured silk topped off by a streamer hat appeared at the Longchamp races.

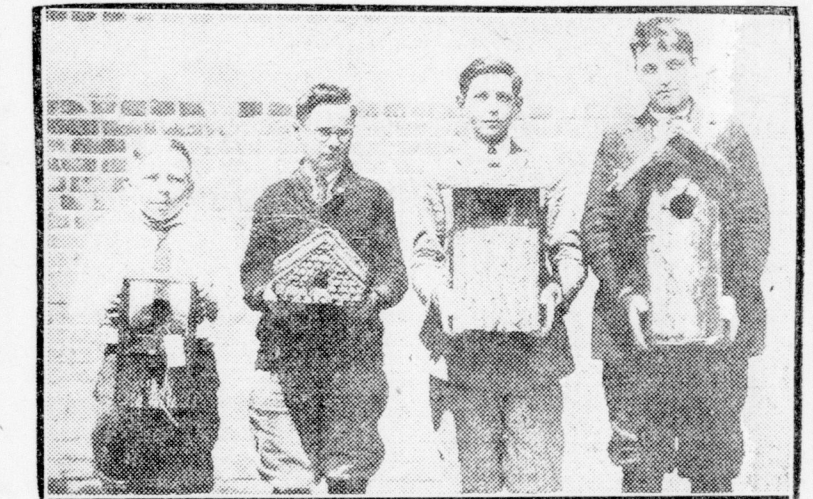

Love me, love my mistress—who wouldn't? The picture was snapped at the Olympia Championship Terrier Show.

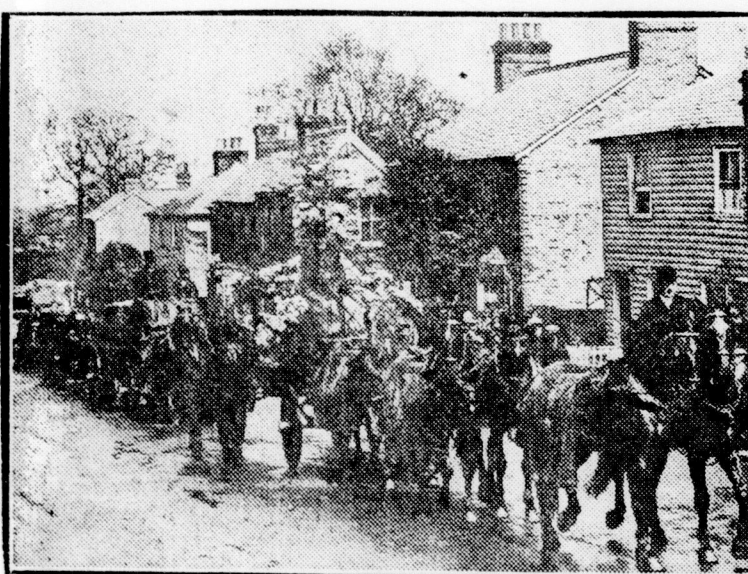

Miss Beatrice Roberts is attired in a sports dress of ciel blue golflex roden silk crepe, with summer collar of ermine. The costume featured a recent fashion show.

"Yaffa", a real Saluki champion, captured three blue ribbons at the Ladies' Kennel Association Show at Olympia.

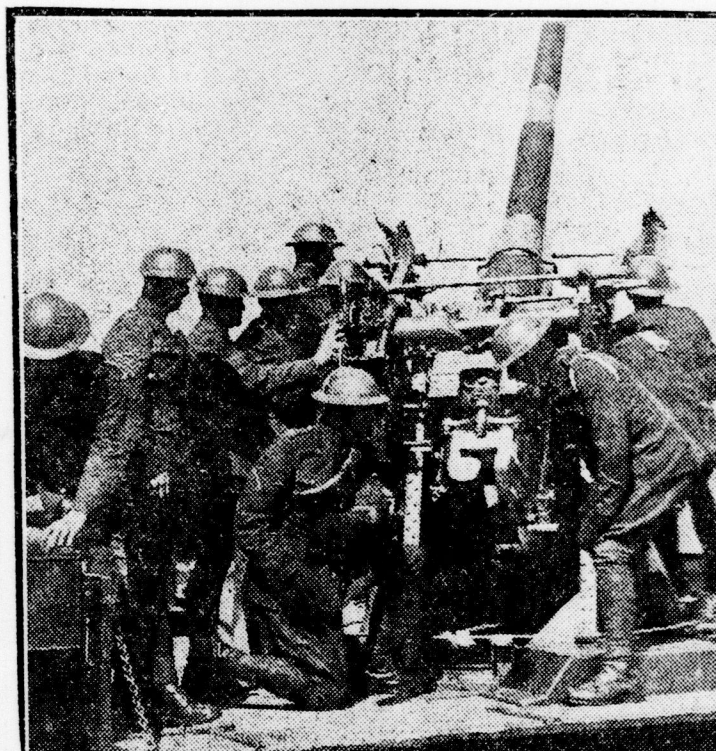

Housing conditions for birds are looking up. Four Canadian school boys proudly display the results of many hours of hard work.

The first splice in the new cable which is being laid between Alaska and Seattle, a distance of 955 miles.

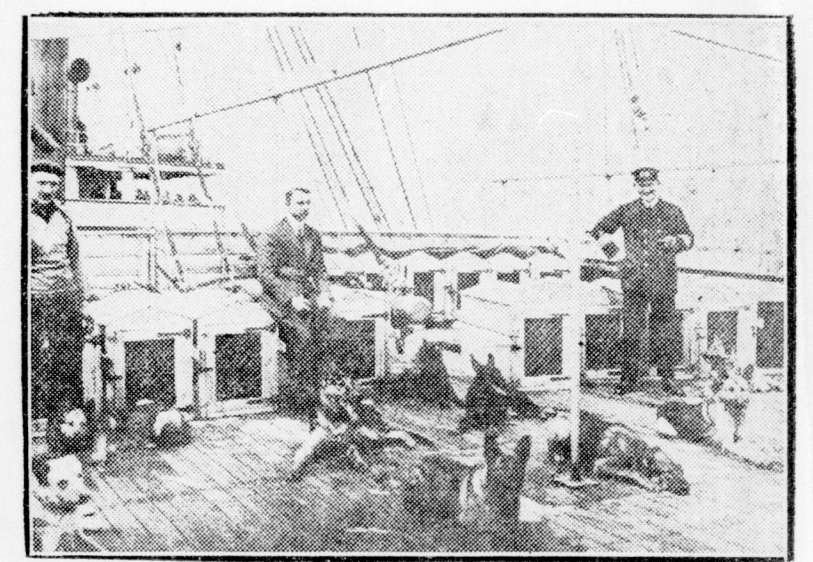

'Ware airplanes—the 1st anti-craft brigade, R.Y.A., is caught rehearsing its section for participation in the Royal Tournament at Blackdown.

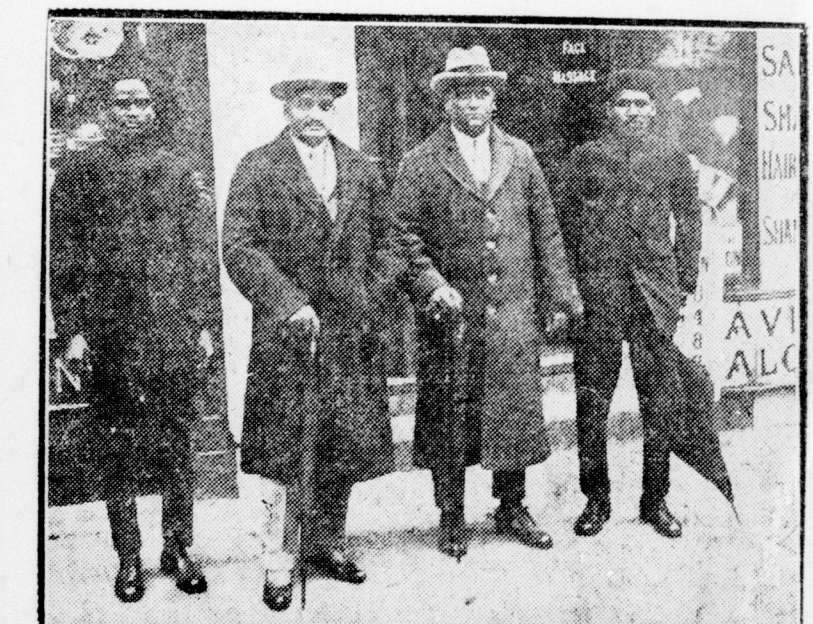

Baseball can hardly be called a popular sport in Great Britain yet, but this is not an unusual sight in Regent's Park. The boys are interested in the new chest protector.

Russia's red army is supposed to be one of the best drilled military units in Europe. On May Day the troops passed in review before Trotsky in Red Square. The building in the background is the Kremlin.

Fifty thousand dollars worth of German police dogs are pictured en route to America on the S.S. Bremen.

Rajah Ramakrishna Rangaras Bohodur of Bobbili is particular about the appearance of his servants. He is shown taking two of them for a haircut at Wembley.

What Can British Liberals Do?

Leaders of the Liberal party in Britain face a peculiar situation. In many respects it is baffling and annoying, especially from the standpoint of practical politics.

The Labor government is in power because it has the support of the Liberals. Were this support withdrawn the first division called would put an end to the MacDonald government.

And yet the government pays little heed to the Liberals; it does not even recognize the party as an ally, or as having anything to do with the carrying on of the work of government on the framing of policies. On many occasions the attitude is carried farther, and Labor men openly denounce the Liberals and their leaders.

It is a hard situation to meet. It bothers a man of the Lloyd George type to be a party to keeping in office a government that scarcely recognizes that he or the group he leads is around the building at all.

The Manchester Guardian admits that the natural thing to do in such a situation is to practice a policy of retaliation, yet in the next sentence it asks what there is to retaliate against. The Labor government goes ahead and puts into effect good Liberal policy. "So far," states the Guardian, "we are bound to support it, and when, as has occasionally happened, we have disagreed, we have not hesitated to part company."

Yet such a policy is leading nowhere, as far as the Liberals as a party are concerned. When it comes to by-elections, they have the opposition of the Labor candidates just as vigorously as they have the onslaughts of the Conservatives. And yet when they get back to the business of legislation again they find the Labor party in the main doing the very things the Liberals urged should be done.

Would it be possible or desirable to force a split? The longer Labor stays in power, and the more it follows Liberal practice, the more will the impression be created that it is the more forceful and virile party of the two, and the greater will be its inroads on the public confidence.

Were the Liberals to withdraw their support from the Labor government, would their position be strengthened, or the cause of good government benefited? There is nothing to show that either of these ends would be served. Were they to force the government to appeal to the country, it would leave them open to the charge of manipulating an election, not on a great national issue, but purely for the purpose of clearly defining their own party lines, and their position might be worse than it is today.

From the standpoint of practical politics, and the British are not amateurs in this school, it is a baffling situation for British Liberals. The deadness of the last years of the Coalition government had much to do with taking from them the militant note to which their whole history had been tuned. The Labor party has gone ahead and done the things that the Liberals agree should be done, and all the Liberals have been able to do is to vote accordingly and give their sanction. It is of small purpose that they can cry out, "that is our thunder," when the Labor party advances Liberal doctrine to the stage of actual practice.

British Liberal leaders are puzzled. A new family has come to dwell in their house. They observe the rules of the premises and show no intention of wrecking the place, but they are persistently and deliberately unconscious of the old tenants of the place, and it hurts to be snubbed.

A Coincidence Becomes a Race.

It is feared that MacLaren, the leader of the British round-the-world flight, has had his machine so thoroughly smashed that he will not be able to continue.

United States flyers express regret, stating that they "looked forward to competing with MacLaren throughout the entire flight."

The sympathy of this message is tempered by the fact that prior to the flight, the U. S. airmen insisted that it was not an international competition at all. It was, by their version, the merest coincidence that they were planning a globe-circling flight at the same time as the British.

Now that MacLaren, the leader of the British, has been disabled, possibly permanently, it becomes a race in which the U. S. flyers "looked forward to competing."

Delay Will Not Help Matters.

The turn of events in connection with the church union bill at Ottawa has introduced an element of delay in the operation of the measure that can hardly be welcomed by either side to the discussion.

Regardless of the merits of the necessity which produced the amendment, the effect will be to prolong a situation that has its best hopes in some decisive action in the immediate future.

Until some basis is reached that has the virtue of finality, neither the unionists nor the anti-unionists will be able to go ahead with their plans or devote their entire energies to the work they have in hand.

It is difficult to see how a delay of two years, and perhaps more, is going to help the situation.

What a Dairyman Found Out.

A dairyman in United States has been busy on figures, and he finds that each woman in that country spends a total of $15 on cold cream, lip stick, rouge and powder. Another set of figures show that in the same period these same people spent an average of $9 on creamery butter. So he sees that cold cream is winning in the race against cow cream.

The thing worried this dairyman, and he seeks to point out the error of the situation. He reasons, and with considerable force, that real beauty is the result of proper living, proper diet, and that good creamery butter is an article of diet that cannot be ignored. His conclusion is that it is more in the interests of permanent beauty that will stand the sunshine and the rain, to put the cream on the inside, rather than on the outside.

But the figures are against him, and they show that the women are not following his ideas, so he proceeds farther, and concludes that the cold cream is showing its heels to the cow cream because better merchandising plans are followed.

The manufacturers of cosmetics, powders, rouge, lip sticks and all the rest of that class of business know how to merchandise. They actually keep on creating a market for their goods. They picture beautiful women, ascribe their beauty to the use of certain skin lotions or methods of treatment. The advertising creates a desire to go and do likewise. It is rich in the power of suggestion, and makes an appeal to women that is hard to resist.

This dairyman is convinced that it is time all those interested in selling their produce in a better way started in by copying a few pages from the firms that have popularized cold cream at the expense of cow cream. He holds that in this way, by persistently advancing the health-giving, and therefore beauty-producing, qualities of high-class dairy products, a greater demand and a wider market would be theirs. He goes farther and shows that if on the basis of production, one cent per pound were put into a fund for such a campaign, there would be $17,000,000 to carry on a great publicity drive that would do away with such a thing as a surplus of stock in the dairy market.

This man is not a theorist or a dreamer. He is practical in his outlook when he seeks to follow a lead that has produced such a phenomenal demand for the well-advertised article. The dairy produce field in Canada, as well as in United States, is an attractive field for some energetic specialist to sell in a big, definite way to the people of these countries on the basis of utility, health and beauty combined.

Moving In the Wrong Direction.

The week-end, included in which was the 24th of May, produced more motor mishaps than any of its predecessors this year.

It is necessary to only scan some of the front pages to see what happened:

"Holiday Marked By Car Mishaps."
"Auto Hurdled 76 Feet By Night Car."
"Auto Driver Now Facing Charge of Manslaughter."

"Bad Day for Autos on Kingston Road."
The nature of the accidents did not differ much from others that have happened previously. The only noticeable thing is that there were more of them.

There should be fewer rather than more auto smashes. Drivers should be more adept, and even new ones have had the results of accidents brought to their attention for years now, so they must be aware of the dangers that are to be encountered when they sit in behind the wheel.

Cars are better equipped for emergencies than they have been before. The braking facilities are greater, and the motive power is being perfected so that it is more responsive to the driver. All these agencies should decrease, rather than increase, accidents.

The seasoned driver learns from experience that common sense is the greatest factor in safety. He gets past the stage where he worries a great deal about the right-of-way; he learns that it is something hardly worth bothering about, let alone insisting upon.

The man who observes the speed limits, plays safe all the time, is likely to get a long way from home in a few hours, and he fairly certain that the return trip will be easy and pleasant.

The saddest part of this smashing of cars and people is that nearly all of it is unnecessary.

Note and Comment.

It takes the small boy almost a week to become reconciled to the fact that the 24th came on a Saturday.

It is now reported that swordfish are found in the river near Detroit. This is certainly no time to loosen up on the liquor laws.

Liquor shipped to London was marked "Overalls." So they took the stuff by the seat of the pants and lugged it to police court.

It cost a Bothwell man $228 for making moonshine. If he'd turn in and make some sunshine we'd pass the hat to pay the fine.

The industrial area of London has no factories, but a fine quality of sand, small doses of which might be taken by those charged with its development.

Diners in a New York restaurant being robbed were ordered to keep on eating as though nothing was happening. Most of them had a big meal swallowing the lumps in their throats.

A London, Eng., doctor says the healthiest children are now found in the cities, and not in the country. This knocks into a cocked hat Dad's story of how he used to split rails and milk ten cows when he was nine years old.

MORPHINE

The hold that morphine has upon its victims is that it is a means of escape.

Morphine is a pacifier, not of the noble type that refuses war because of intelligent devotion to an ideal, but of the ignoble type, which runs away because it is afraid.

The world is full of slackers in the war of life. These include the wastrels, the lazy, the selfish, criminal and cowardly.

Some escape is necessary for everybody. That is, even the strongest and bravest need moments of relaxation, the diversions of play and the excursions of the imagination.

But it is one thing to take these pleasures with intelligence and self-mastery, to be willing to forego them at the call of duty—in other words, to be above one's pleasure—and it is another thing to have that soft and flabby spirit that seeks nothing but amusement and whines in self-pity whenever it is forced to meet stern foes of life.

Morphine is the drug that not only appeals to moral cowardice but that creates it and increases it.

There is a point of view from which we may say with truth that illusion is the chief charm of life. For it is certain that a life that is all hard and commonplace, and that is gilded by no glory of dreams, is hardly worth while.

Morphine, however, and all other drugs, including alcohol, are lying and treacherous prophets.

What we need is illusion, not Delusion. Illusion gives us that clear vision that keeps us from the tragic errors of life. It lifts us above the pitfalls of pettiness and gives a sort of divinity to our steps.

Delusion, on the contrary, is a temporary and dangerous counterfeit that gives us a little respite from the commonplace only to plunge us further into the bog of misery.

Morphine, whiskey and all other drug stimulants show their fangs in the fact that the dose must be constantly increased until finally the organism collapses.

The end thereof is invariably insanity, disease and death. All we get from such things is a delusion, and in the end we are astray forever from the paths of beauty and truth.

The morphine victim escapes from the irritation of life just as a man who jumps from a high building and who thinks that he will rise to heaven and see God.

He falls to earth and sees only destruction.

Speakin' of Corns

I've just done readin' of a cure that's splashed across each daily sheet, what tells of how the crippled folks can pick the corns from off their feet.

But some is sure to rise and say "the thing is bunk, a fraud, a cheat, for I've been waddlin' thirty years a-wearin' corns upon my feet."

And then they'll start to tell of how they've battled long but all in vain, and how their bunions and their corns has caused them sixteen kinds of pain.

The story's sure to come to light of how some corn-hoofed sort of jade had carved his corns most every week, a-workin' with a razor blade, and how he'd dull that rusty tool until its edge had shed a flaw, a-makin' it a painful thing to mow the shavin's from his jaw.

And still another man stands up to say the new cure ain't worth hoots, for he has tried ten kinds of things to ease the pressure from his boots.

He's put a plaster on his feet, he's doused 'em with the garden hose, he's tried a block and tackle, too, to raise the corns from off his toes.

And in this testifying class the chap is sure to speak out loud on how he gets his corns abused each time he mingles with a crowd.

Why don't they go and try these things, not namin' them a fraud or cheat, because some new fandangled thing can shoo the blisters from their feet?

Some folks is awful stubborn, though, about these things what's brought out now, they look at every new-born thought as just a chance to pick a row.

They know their corns gives them a chance to raise their voice in mournful shout, they're scared that if they lost the things they'd have no ill to grouch about.—ARK.

Confidence First

(From the London Telegraph.)

The Soviet government is understood to desire the extension of credit facilities by this country. Credit means confidence, and confidence in Russia will be restored when foreign property-owners have received fair treatment, and when the sanctity of private contracts has been firmly established, when private property is guaranteed immunity from the danger of confiscation, and when economic operations can be conducted in Russia without interference by government authorities.

If British credit is wanted by Russia, it can be had on those terms, although the process of creating the necessary relations of confidence can hardly be a rapid one. "Credit and confidence can be destroyed at a blow; they take years to restore."

PORT CREDIT BOY

Townfolk Search For Aime Bosely, Fearing Abduction by Stranger.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Port Credit, May 26.—Thirteen-year-old Aime Bosely, who came to Port Credit with his mother about two weeks ago from Port McNicoll, has been missing since 11:30 Sunday morning, and it is believed he was lured away by a drunken stranger. A general alarm has been spread over the countryside. Since Sunday morning, when the lad was seen walking along the highway with the stranger, neither boy nor man has been seen.

The stranger made his first appearance at a garage in the east end of the town early Sunday morning with the tale that his car, heavily laden with liquor, had gone into the ditch on the Dundas highway, near Erin-dale. He wanted the garage men to send out a wrecking car, promising them liquid reward. The man was evidently worse for liquor, and his tale was dismissed as the imaginings of a fuddled mind.

Officers have learned that he then accosted the Bosely boy and asked to be directed to another garage. The two started west along the highway and some time later they were seen at the west end of the town. No further trace of them has been discovered.

CHATHAM MAN INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, May 26.—Paul Thibeault, 187 Queen street, was struck by a motor car in front of his home and was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital with a badly fractured limb late yesterday afternoon.

Thibeault, it appears, had been driven home in a wagon. As he was thanking the driver of the team, a motorist, apparently puzzled by the movements of a car ahead of him, steered his car to the side of the road. Thibeault was crushed between the car and the wagon.

Work of Physical Department Forcefully Exemplified in Presentation.

Two thousand people witnessed the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium pageant held in the arena last night. All were delighted with the entertainment, and enthused over the work which the physical department of the Y. W. C. A. is accomplishing.

Physical drills given with precision even by the smallest tots, illustrated the way in which the Y. W. C. A. classes are working toward better bodily development, while the aesthetic dance numbers showed the progress which is being made toward a more beautiful and graceful womanhood. The event was put on under the personal direction of Miss Edith Wynne-Pryce, and under the auspices of the physical education committee of the Y. W. C. A., of which Mrs. Gordon-Phillips is the convener.

River Moos Typified.
The loveliest number of all was the closing one on program. In this animated and gay dance, "The Blue Danube Waltz," the mood of the beautiful river, its movement and sparkle, is typified. The costumes in this great interpretative ballet, which often forms part of the most ambitious of professional programs, is difficult to achieve. Yet the most exquisite color effect was gained in the simplest of materials by Miss Pryce, who also was responsible for the working out of many of the intricate movements of the dance. The unusually lovely shades of pale rose, blue, orchid, yellow and green were obtained by clever dress and intelligent use of these colors. Spot lights on top of the stage an altogether fairy-like appearance to the dancers who played the scarfs and tambourines and skipping hoops as they executed the loy and simple steps of the waltz.

As a grand climax the evening, and altogether unexpected, came a Chopin waltz number. Miss Pryce herself, dressed in rus brown costume, before the Magic tableau, which brings the greatest Danube

The body of the boy was removed from the river later in the evening.

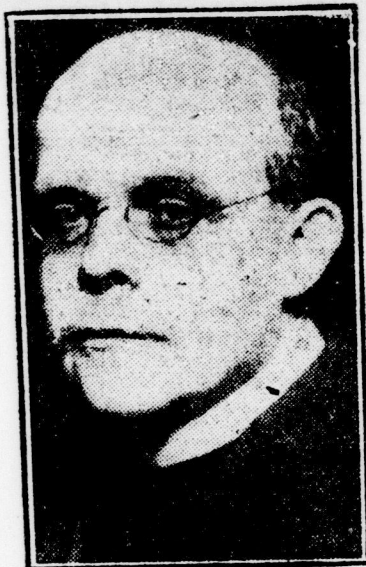

Waltz to a close. As a tribute the classes presented her with a basket of roses, which she received from the hands of little Miss Helen Wilkie.

Solo Dancers.
Little Helen Wilkie was a solo dancer also last night, appearing in quaint old-fashioned rose costume as she danced the Chalf number "Just Being Happy." Miss Barbara Dickinson likewise appeared alone on the great floor of the arena in "Katinka," a coquettish and sprightly Russian dance. Both numbers were attractively given.

Among the other dances, perhaps "The Rose of Old Madrid" (Veronine Vestoff) was the most effective. The dancers, who appeared in startlingly beautiful Spanish costumes of black and orange with wide black hats, stepped easily to the music of the dance, and seemed to float into it a spangle, which elevated it from the plane of anything amateur.

A Wee Comedian.
Other dance numbers were "Little Gossips" and "The Song of the Robin," which were so charmingly given, by the very little tots of all, in quaint wee frocks of many colors, that the audience stormed them with applause, shouted "more" and made them return—such tiny mites in such a great arena. In the latter dance, one small child, who so utterly delighted at her audience and so altogether happy in the execution of her dance, that she provided amusement for the whole assembly. She was the graceful wee comedian of the evening.

Even then the program was not complete. There was "Tulip Time in Holland" by the juniors, "Ojra," a Russian dance, by the senior teen age girls; "Woodsprites" by the juniors; "Playtime" and "Rustic Courtship" by the junior dancing class; "Autumn," a beautiful number in which effective costuming was the keynote, and the "technique" and "masque," which form the foundation of all dances.

Smartness and skilful execution marked the exercises and drills which made up the rest of the exhibition. Even some of the very small children showed that they could handle dumbbells, as well as the older ones. Altogether it was a most successful display of work. The Salvation Army band and an orchestra provided excellent music.

Annihilation of Turkey Prophesied By Professor

States That There Will Be Yet Another Great War.

BIBLICAL ADDRESS

Declares Royal Israelite Tree
Runs Back From King George.

A prophecy that there would yet be another great war and that it would result in the absolute annihilation of Turkey by the descendants of Israel, was uttered by Professor Edward Odum of Vancouver in his address at the Cronyn Hall last night.

"We hear a great deal of the probability of no more war," said the professor, "but there is every indication in many passages of the Scriptures that such there will be and in it, the British people—the present Israelites—will take the lead to exterminate the power of Edom, or in other words, Turkey."

"The Lord gave Abraham all the land of Canaan to be the home of his seed forever," said Professor Odum, "Isaac inherited it from his father, and in turn Isaac's son Jacob came into the rulership after having traded his elder brother Esau some food for the latter's birthright. Esau later repented his action and sought to again secure his birthright, and Jacob was forced to flee his native land to save his life, due to the determination of Esau."

Jacob Returns.

"Many years later Jacob returned to Canaan. However, before he crossed the border he was informed that Esau with armed men was waiting to exterminate him and his people. But Jacob communed with God and was given strength from on high to face Esau. During Jacob's hours of prayer he became a changed man, and it was in this period that God saw fit to change him from Jacob the uncertain to Israel the mighty, the founder of the Jewish people."

"Later, Israel as a nation in Egypt became, from a small nucleus, one of the greatest nations of the time."

Mighty Nation.

"We know they were a mighty nation because on leaving Egypt their army comprised no less than 640,000 armed men, which means that the total number must have been between three and four million persons."

Prof. Odum then stated that proof that the British were the seed of Israel is found in the fact that the British hollow square battle formation is derived from the position in which the Israelite tribes located themselves after they reached the Promised Land. The various tribes were placed north, east, south and west, with the tabernacle in the center.

"However," said Prof. Odum, "before Moses and his people reached the promised land they were turned back by the descendants of Esau, who still retained the original hatred of their ancestor for his brother Jacob. The Turks today are the progeny of the people of Esau, who were descended from Esau, and in the veins of the Turks still runs that hatred of Esau for Jacob. Today that hatred is directed toward the children of Israel, who are the Anglo-Saxons, because the Saxons came from Isaac."

Chosen People.

"The Lord made the Israelites His chosen people and promised the king, David, that his children would always rule over the House of Israel. Later, however, the ravages of the Assyrians, the Babylonians and the Romans reduced the chosen people to a race of serfs, but in the end they emerged from this state when they overcame the might of Assyria and again established a kingdom of their own northeast of Media. The Lord had said that in the end Israel would conquer Assyria and when in 619 B.C. the descendants of Jacob moved westward and destroyed Nineveh, this prophecy was fulfilled."

"The Lord promised that Edom, which is now Turkey, would be destroyed by the people of Israel. Today we see this prophecy reaching fruition. It was the British alone who humbled the Turks in Mesopotamia; it was the British, the children of Israel, who finally elected the sultan's followers from Jerusalem in 1918, and mark my words, it will in the end be the British who will finally exterminate the last vestige of the sway of Turkey."

Pasha Triumphant.

"Kemal Pasha swept all before him in his march on the Dardanelles. The Greeks fled in disorder, the French went elsewhere, and the Italians withdrew, but the British stayed on, and the reason was that God saw fit to allow the descendants of the children of Israel to remain in a position where they could humble the progeny of Esau."

"Britain is Israel, and when the war with the Turks comes, the British will lead the battle against the remaining spirit of Edom as shown in the Turks."

"Material proof that Britain is Israel is found in a genealogical record kept in Old London, and which shows the royal Israelite tree running back directly from our King George to King David."

DENTAL COLLEGE GETS MEMORIALS

Are Unveiled by Surgeons.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, May 26.—Two ceremonies were conducted this evening in the lecture hall of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons before the delegates who are here to attend the annual convention of the Ontario Dental Association. These were the unveiling of a bronze memorial tablet to the sixteen graduates and nine undergraduates of the college who fell in the great war and the unveiling of an oil portrait of the late Dean Willmott, unveiled by Dr. C. N. Johnston.

Hon. Justice Logie referred to the part played by the dental corps in the European war.

Dr. Forbes Gledhill, Ontario minister of health, who addressed the morning session, said it was his intention to add a "dental annex" to his department some day, under the direction of a well-qualified man.

The work of this department would be spread over the entire province, with particular attention paid to those districts in the hinterland where the services of dentists could not be so easily obtained.

50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES.
That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100.

Did you ever hear of anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98

THE LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO.,
Cobourg, Ont. and Lynn, Mass.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.

It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure all—one that is made by the most scientific process; not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 50 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it.

plants, such as tobacco, tomatoes, etc. Orchard bloom does not appear to have been so seriously affected. In Kent County particularly, considerable damage was done to early tomatoes, as well as cherries and other orchard fruit. Frequent rains have much delayed spring sowing, and the cool weather has also helped to make the growth of the grain crops tardy, says the report. Most of the fields are about two weeks behind in appearance. Pasturing of livestock has been made difficult by the inclement weather, and many fields have been nearly ruined by the trampling of cattle. Fall wheat and clover have a more or less promising appearance, except where drowned out in low-lying places by the frequent rains. Though the cold has somewhat delayed the growth, these crops are likely to be among the best of the year, according to the report.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, May 26.—The bonds of affection that have always existed between St. Thomas and London where inter-city games were concerned, were not strengthened today when 2,500 fans saw the London Orients come from behind the one-run lead that the Saints had boasted of throughout the game, and in the last inning on a sharp attack ferry over two runs and win.

Harold Monk, Manager Nethercott's choice for mound duties, was good, claiming eight strikeouts, but "Hank" Down was better with eleven strike-outs. Each allowed but four hits. St. Thomas started out strong with Rieborough singling out to Southcott and stealing second. Lindsay fouled to Southcott and Arlen was safe on a fly to Doherty. Doherty and McWaine became tangled with each other while running after it, so that both players missed the ball. The error was called on Doherty. Binns scored Rieborough on a scratch hit to Doherty, and Barclay scored Arlen on a single to left field. Greenaway fanned and Evans walked, filling the bases. And just here came the spot for the Saints. Down failed to make the timely base hit.

An error by Rieborough in the fourth gave Armstrong his base. Riley grounded out to Arlen and Fitchett singled out to right field, scoring Armstrong. Things looked bright for the visitors with two men on bases, but Southcott made a third out when he fanned.

In the sixth inning Billings batted for Down with two men on bases. Twice he fouled over the grandstand, and then "Hank" Down whiffed Big Bill.

In the seventh inning Fitchett scored for the visitors and Rieborough scored for the locals. Then came the terrible ninth, when Doherty and Down scored, bringing the Orients their second victory over the Saints.

Doherty had made first on a low ball down the base line. Down's choice went into Monk's hands, who made a wild throw over Arlen's head trying to catch Doherty at second. Doherty went to third on the error and Down scored on a single to left field. Both Down and Doherty scored on Fitchett's single to center. Although Fitchett and Southcott were on bases, they did not have an opportunity to score.

Monk made two of the three errors chalked against the locals, Rieborough being the one offender, while Doherty and Southcott were responsible for the visitors' errors.

MAY PREVENT PADDOCK FROM ENTERING OLYMPIC

Associated Press Despatch.
Los Angeles, May 26.—Charlie Paddock, champion sprinter, announced here today that he would not be a member of the United States Olympic at the Paris games unless his injured leg showed a "very decided improvement."

The only difference between Jack Beatty and other citizens is that he sees nightmares in the daytime.

"Sandy" Sandquist is in a fielding slump which the fans his teammates and boss are pulling for him to climb out of. The London third sacker, after going in such a way as to attract comment, both at bat and in the field, suddenly slumped on the last road trip. Since the old mental hazard of peering to first base or handling anything that comes his way has assumed terrible proportions, it's easy to read the youngster's mental processes as he accepts his chances during the game. Meantime, he hasn't any mental hazards while at bat, which helps some, although by a queer stroke of fate his triples happen at the wrong time.

Beatty's pitching has come through. Now it's hitting he's got to get and get soon, and nobody realizes that fact more square than the London leader.

The single umpiring system disclosed some defects yesterday again, but no glaring ones. There were no errors in the game, except through lack of the follow-up punch that there were through miscalled strikes.

The system might work out all right if a little take and give were forthcoming. That's one factor that doesn't enter into baseball, except probably the "take" part.

Meantime, it's another day, and it's to be expected, another story.

L.E.A.C. AND GRAYS WIN JUNIOR LOOP OPENERS

The Junior City League opened with a bang last night, the London East Athletic Club running all over the Orioles to the tune of 11 to 2, and the London West Greys stunting the Hawks for a 10 to 3 count.

Harry Coursey did all the shining in the L. E. A. C.-Orioles mix, mowing down the only five hitters and allowing them only five swats. While he was doing the holding down, he was also knocking twelve binges off the offerings of the Orioles hurlers. The teams:

Gibbons Works As Carp Loafs

Heavyweight Bout Is Just Five Days Away.

Associated Press Despatch.
Michigan City, Ind., May 26.—With his international contest with Georges Carpentier, French light heavyweight, just five days away, Tommy Gibbons, 35, Paul engaged in the stiffest workout of his three years training program, while his opponent in next Saturday's match loafed because Descamps believes his charge is too near the proper edge.

COSTELLO WINS WORLD'S SINGLE SCULLS TITLE

Philadelphia, May 26.—After a lapse of two years, Paul Costello, Olympic double champion with Jack Kelly, today regained the Philadelphia gold challenge cup, emblematic of the world's amateur sculling championship, when he defeated W. E. Garrett Gilmore, titleholder, by two and one half lengths of open water, on the Schuylkill River. More than 10,000 persons, the biggest crowd that has seen a sculling race in Philadelphia in years, saw the Pennsylvania A. C. sculler overcome a lead of his three rivals, training quarters of a mile from the finish, then pull away from Gilmore and win comparatively fresh.

Costello covered the mile and a quarter in 7 minutes, 36 seconds, while Gilmore's time was 7:43 2-5.

STONE TOWN WINS, 5-3

Stratford, May 26.—In an exhibition game of lacrosse here tonight St. Mary's defeated Stratford by a score of 5 to 3. It was the first lacrosse match played here in three years and attracted considerable crowd. St. Mary's brought six juniors with them, and both teams subbed frequently, using 15 in each. For early season lacrosse the teams showed good form. A return game will be played probably next week.

SPALLA ARRIVES

New York, May 26.—Erminio Spalla, Italian heavyweight pugilist, arrived here today from South America. He said he hoped to meet the best United States heavyweights preparatory to a title match with Jack Dempsey.

Fonseca Suffers Injury Sliding Into Bag in the Seventh.

Associated Press Despatch.
St. Louis, May 26.—The Cardinals bunched hits off Luque in the first and second innings today, and defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 3. In the first game of a scheduled double-header. The second game was called off because of rain. Luis Fonseca, Cincinnati second baseman, broke his left arm in sliding to second in the seventh.

ST. THOMAS JUNIORS OPEN UP CAMPAIGNS

Intermediates Won At Shedden—West Beat East End Juniors.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, May 26.—The St. Thomas opened the intermediate and junior O. R. A. series at home and in the former St. Thomas won a 6-5 victory from the Shedden intermediates at Shedden, and in the latter the West Ends won from the East Ends by a score of 11-7.

The intermediate team opened the scoring in the first inning, striking freely off McComb and counting four runs, and McComb out. The locals completed their scoring in the second and third innings, getting a run in each. Oliver and McComb scored for Shedden in the third inning, the former on Cabot's error. Oliver and Cox scored in the seventh inning, and the final point for the Shedden team was taken in the eighth inning.

Cy Cook, who made the outfield, slugged out the fence into the field at the second inning for a two-bagger.

The lineups:
St. Thomas—Clarke, 1b.; Hogan, 2b.; Kenney, 3b.; Cabot, s.s.; Dodson, c.; Cook, cf.; Meredith, lf.; Arlen, rf.; Kew and J. Kenny, p.
Shedden—Sells, c.; McComb and Cox, 1b.; Sells, 2b.; E. White, 3b.; Tier, s.s.; Oliver, lf.; C. White, cf.; McCarthy, rf.

Open Junior Loop.
The junior baseball season opened at Athletic Park this morning, quite a large juvenile audience being on hand to witness the opening fixture. The West Ends took the lead through out, featuring McFarlane and Lang. Prevel pitching an excellent game during his brief period he was on the mound.

The batting order was: West Ends—Taylor, Lang, Davies, Billingshurst, Sutherland, Haynes, Clemens, McFarlane, Prevel, Payson and Palmer.
East Ends—Irwin, Gardner, West, Merritt, Lawson, Whitcroft, Perry, Ferris. The batteries were Prevel, Payson, Palmer and G. Sutherland, Haynes, for the West Ends; Ferris and Sutherland for the East Ends; referee, Cabot; umpire, Macklem.

Aaron Ward.

HIS LONG PLAYING STREAK BLASTED.
New York, May 26.—The second longest consecutive playing streak in the major leagues terminated when Aaron Ward, second baseman of the New York Yankees, was prevented from playing today by injuries received yesterday, after taking part in 552 straight games, beginning July 11, 1920. Ward's record has been exceeded only by his team mate, Shortstop Everett Scott, who played his 1,163rd consecutive contest today. Ward took part in 64 games in 1920, 153 in 1921, 154 in 1922, 152 in 1923 and 23 in 1924.

Scott-McHale Nine Hold Lead

Four Runs Gathered Early Staves Off Defeat.

The four-run lead obtained by the Scott-McHale nine in their game with the C. N. A. A. last night at Queen's Park was sufficient to withstand the eleven-hour rally by the Canadian National players, which fell short by one tally. The shoe-men made hits count. Baker, for the carmen, was good, striking out six in five innings and only allowing three hits.

Messenger Boys Hurl Bike Defi

The Canadian Pacific Telegraph messengers have formally declared war on messengers of the Canadian National Telegraph by challenging them to a two-mile relay race tomorrow. Although it is still indefinite, it is thought that Chick Faulkner, Ernest Hobbs, R. Turnbull and Maurice Turnbull will uphold the honor of the Canadian National, and Ted Payne, A. Calhoun, Albert Brennan and Jack (Speed) Hawthorne the C. P. B.

This speed test should serve to vindicate a much-maligned portion of those who earn their bread by toil.

BEATTYMEN PRESENT FIRST TO KAZOOS WITH MISPLAY

Six Heaves and Leaks in Infield Tell Tale of Locals' Explosion.

NEAR TRIPLE PLAY

The local Minters and the Kazoos will resume their subterranean cellar bickering this afternoon, the first of which yesterday showed the Tecu into the deeper gloom via a 4-1 count.

Yesterday the sun shone down on the proceedings and on everyone, except the London infield, which performed in a dark haze fog all afternoon, as six misplays during the fracas amply attested. The four of the Kazoo runs were either heaved at them or in the case of two of them simply leaked through a woody infield. Errors were counted in hits or hits were counted in on errors, unseemly as it sounds and looked.

Until the fifth Delman looked due to pitch a shutout, and he hadn't allowed a hit. A punt by Buffington broke up the calm orderly progress of the game, and from then on it was turmoil. Buffington, in attempting to steal, and by making a great play on the base, threw the Kazoo into the hands of the pitcher, who threw for a loss of yards and the ball, continuing to third from where he scored on a single after two outs. Sandquist, started the seventh off with his second error, and a moment after redeemed himself as he did several times during some hectic plays by figured in the play of the season by a choice and rifling a low throw to second, where Naleway restored the polish of the killing. With runners on third and second, Buffington again figured in the run presentations, missing Pierce's bouncing grounder cleanly, the two runners scoring.

In the eighth, Sandquist missed his throw, the ball was wrenched from overdrive of quick thinking, as, with the bases full, he made a leaping catch of Buffington's liner, quickly tagging third, and then looking wildly tagged third, and stood nonplussed as Willis reached second, the third sack-er, left, but fell rounding home, and had to pull up at second. Sandquist bunted safely. Parker flied out to left. Tice walked, filling the bases. Buehler struck out. The bases were leaving three men stranded.

NO RUNS, 2 HITS, 1 ERROR.

SIXTH INNING.
KALAMAZOO—Buffington safe on a bunt. Buser popped to Naleway. Pierce struck out. Buffington went to second and continued on to third. The ball was wrenched from Barbelon's hands on the attempted tag-out. Bartlett singled to right, running Buffington. Hipp popped to Naleway.

1 RUN, 2 HITS, 1 ERROR.
LONDON—Beatty lined an actual triple, left, but fell rounding home, and had to pull up at second. Beatty bunted safely. Parker flied out to left. Tice walked, filling the bases. Buehler struck out. The bases were leaving three men stranded.

Smoky Joe Allan Blanks Strathroy as Team-Mates Get Six Runs on Errors

FOUR BLOWS ALL STRATHROY BATTERS COUNT OFF ALLEN

Had Bases Crowded in Sixth, But Timely Hit Was Missing.

JOE WHIFFS TEN

Special to The Advertiser.

Strathroy, May 26.—Over 1,000 turned out in the evening to witness the game between the Southern League baseball fixture here today by 6 to 0. The game was a real exhibition, in which the Strathroy team showed a much better organization than the locals. None of the Strathroy runs were earned, but were batted upon them by costly errors, especially by Conkey and E. McCandless.

The feature of the game was the three put-outs by "Lefty" Borchert, who went into left field in place of R. Plimcoe in the fifth. Strathroy with only four hits off "Smoky" Joe Allen, only three times, and that in the sixth when with the sacks growing and only one out. Even McCandless sent an infield fly to Jennings at second, and B. McCandless was caught off the bag by Schaffer.

Allen pitched a fine game, striking out ten, and making two hits. McCandless, for the home team, had everything to win with by support, although charged with the hits, only three were clean, the others being scratch hits which should have been fielded further. Wilkie who replaced McCandless at center, made two good catches and got one of Strathroy's four hits in his only time to bat.

PRTEST DISALLOWING OF GOAL ON FREE KICK

Special to The Advertiser.

Kitchener, May 26.—Secretary James H. of the Western Football Association has received a protest from the Kitchener Victoria Soccer Club in the Intermediate W. F. A. game, played in Ayr Saturday, which the A3 club won 1 to 0. When the referee did not turn up, a special referee was appointed as an official, and he disallowed a goal kicked by the Kitchener club on a free kick. He was apparently given the right of the rules, as such goals are now allowed.

CLIPPERS HAMMER FORMER CLUBMATE

Drive Andy Miller To Showers—Beat Anglers 7-3.

Special to The Advertiser.

Hamilton, May 26.—Hamilton continued its winning streak here this afternoon by handing the Muskegon Anglers a 7 to 3 defeat. They hammered Andy Miller for all their runs in the first two innings, driving him to the showers. Piccotts, who relieved Miller, was unhittable and held the locals down for the balance of the game without a hit.

Grimm, who pitched for the locals, was never in danger, two home runs and a little loose play in the ninth putting the score against him.

YOUNG GIRL KILLED IN AUTO SHOOTING

Fred McGaughey Is Held by Police On Attempted Murder Charge.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Lindsay, Ont., May 26.—Miss Beatrice Fee, the Toronto girl, who was shot in the breast on Sunday evening by a young man, Fred McGaughey, farmer, of Onemee, to whom she was engaged, died in Lindsay Hospital last night. McGaughey, aged 23, is under arrest on a charge of attempted murder, but a serious charge will probably be laid in consequence of the girl's death.

Four bullet wounds were found in Miss Fee's body, all in the region of the heart.

McGaughey and the girl are said to have been engaged about two years, but it is reported that Miss Fee had recently shown signs of disposition to break the engagement, owing to her objection to living on a farm. This attitude, however, had been given up on the 24th of May. She had decided to refuse the offer of marriage and did so. Then, according to her statement, McGaughey said: "Well, in that case, you will not live long, and with that he whipped out a large revolver and shot her four times, through the chest and back, and distance to his home and carried the young girl indoors, the family being absent. When he telephoned Dr. W. T. Rich of Lindsay, who arrived shortly afterwards and had Miss Fee removed to a hospital.

The police state that McGaughey first claimed that they had been held up on the highway and shot by gunmen, but under questioning he finally admitted that he had shot her.

As yet McGaughey has not been admitted with the fact that the girl has died. He has been very melancholy and morose all day, refusing to talk even to his brother, Lawrence McGaughey, who visited him in the hospital and brought him a change of clothes. Lawrence had known that his brother carried a revolver, as he had secured it in Detroit, but he had never realized that he was a dangerous man.

Provincial Officer Storey, after being informed of the shooting, visited McGaughey home, but Fred McGaughey, in the interval, it is alleged, had attempted to end his life with a revolver, and was only prevented from doing so by his brother, Lawrence McGaughey.

ST. PAUL RAILWAY ISSUES DECLINE

Unfavorable April Earnings Report Has Detrimental Effect On Stock.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, May 27.—Prices decreased throughout the morning with the flow of professional trading active, major operations being confined principally to the inactive shares. Increased offerings of Baldwin, American and the leading steel shares, which influenced renewed selling in other sections of the list. Reaction of St. Paul Railway issued to the unfavorable April earnings brought a further decline of more than a point in the common to the year's lowest level at 22 1/2. The stock, however, developed independent strength, and American Telephone rebounded to 127. Call money opened at 4 per cent.

RETAIL SALES SHOW SPLENDID INCREASE

J. N. Willys Makes Coast-to-Coast Tour—Company Announces Earnings.

Willys-Overland retail sales for the first quarter of 1924 exceeded those for the same period of last year, according to J. N. Willys, president of the company. Willys told stockholders at the annual meeting held in Toledo during the past week.

In addition sales for the second quarter are running at a rate in excess of those of last year, which was a record one for the company. Mr. Willys dwelt at some length on his recent 15,000 mile trip from coast to coast, taken for the express purpose of learning the conditions of the first hand. He emphatically declared that the soundness of business conditions, coupled with the prevailing optimism, and added that he is confident of the continuance of a very active demand for automobiles during the summer season.

Net earnings for Willys-Overland for the first quarter of 1924, as compared with the same period of last year, being $2,163,519.74, after all interest and depreciation charges and before federal taxes were deducted.

CAN'T BEAT "TIZ" WHEN FEET HURT

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

State Banquet Tendered King and Queen of Italy

Associated Press Despatch. London, May 26.—King George and Queen Mary tonight gave a state banquet in Buckingham Palace in honor of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy. Covers were laid for 150 guests in addition to the members of the two royal families.

Among those who sat down to dinner were the Italian crown prince and Princess Mafalda; the staff of the Italian embassy, the United States, Spanish and Brazilian ambassadors with their wives, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Duke of York, Lord Chancellor Viscount Haldane, Premier MacDonald and his daughter, Miss Ishbel, the cabinet ministers and their wives, numerous peers, former premiers Lloyd George and Baldwin and other prominent personages.

The Prince of Wales sat next to Queen Helena with Princess Mafalda between him and the Duke of York.

King George proposed a toast to King Victor Emmanuel. In his speech, King George, recalling previous visits to England by the Italian monarchs, emphasized the unbroken bonds of friendship between Great Britain and Italy, and their work in concert with other allies for peace and progress.

Alluding to his pleasure over the magnificent welcome he and Queen Mary received in Italy last year, King George proposed a toast to the prosperity and happiness of Italy, worthy of that country's glorious part.

King Victor Emmanuel, in replying, expressed for himself and his consort a deep feeling of gratitude at the cordial welcome. He especially extended thanks to King George and Queen Mary for having included in their invitation to visit England, "our dear children, the Prince of Piedmont and Princess Mafalda."

King Victor Emmanuel said he warmly reciprocated, and expressed his thanks of his government and country for King George's allusion to the unbroken bonds of friendship.

In closing his address he proposed a toast to the health of his royal host and for the prosperity and happiness of the British nation.

SPECIAL TOUR TO PACIFIC COAST.

Ontario Public School Federations (men's and women's sections) have made arrangements with the Canadian National Railways for a special tour to Victoria, B.C., to attend the Dominion Educational Association Convention to be held in that city August 12 to 16, 1924.

This tour presents the finest possible opportunity for members of the teaching fraternity of Ontario to "see Canada" from Toronto to the Pacific Coast under most favorable circumstances and delightful conditions.

The special train on the westbound trip will leave Toronto at 1 p.m. standard time, on Saturday, July 26, and numerous optional routes are provided for the return journey.

Full information in connection with the trip, also railroad and sleeping car tickets may be obtained on application to any of the following officers of the Ontario Public School Federation:

PORT STANLEY READY FOR THE SUMMER

CHANGES AT PORT PROMISE SURPRISE

Visitors Are Pleased With Improvements On Beach and Ground.

Those who have visited Port Stanley this season are well pleased with the many excellent improvements that have been made for the convenience and entertainment of the visitors to the lakeside. All the concessions have been redecorated and freshened up. The picnic grounds have been newly sodded and improved so that they are now in fine condition for the rush that will shortly be in evidence at this popular resort.

On the board walk promenade there is further evidence that much time and money has been expended on renovating and improving the booths and the grounds along the beach. Here everything has been cleaned up. Old buildings that have outlived their usefulness have been torn down. Those who have not visited the Port this season will indeed be pleasantly surprised when they see what has been accomplished here.

Along the beach there are all sorts of slides, swings, etc., for the entertainment of the children, while older people will find that their amusement has been amply provided for in the many excellent concessions along the lake front.

Already many picnics have been booked for the coming season, and it is predicted that 1924 will see this famous resort more heavily patronized than ever before.

Senior Medical Students To Become Doctors Friday

Arrangements Will Be Carried Out Unless Oral Examinations Interfere.

PLANT CLASS TREE

Dr. Alexander Primrose of Toronto University Will Address Graduates.

Unless present arrangements are interfered with by oral examinations to be conducted by the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, members of the graduation class of the University of Western Ontario Medical School will hold their final exercises Friday morning. The ceremonies include planting of a class tree on the school lawn, administration of the Hippocratic oath to the graduates, and an address to be delivered by Dr. Alexander Primrose, dean of the faculty of medicine of Toronto University.

The final class exercises, to which invitations are being sent out today, are scheduled to commence at 10 a.m. Friday, when the 24 members of the class will gather on the school lawn, each taking part in the planting of the class tree, a custom inaugurated by the graduates in May, 1922.

Pay Tribute.

Following this ceremony the class will then pay tribute to the memory of John D. McLean, formerly of Strathroy, one of their number whose medical course was interrupted by a fatal illness two years ago, by unveiling a tablet bearing his name near the main entrance of the school.

The class exercises will then be concluded in the school auditorium, where Dr. S. Sanborn, president of the Hippocratic Society of the University of Western Ontario, will deliver the valedictory address. The oath of Hippocrates will be administered to every member of the class by Dr. Robert Ferguson of this city, after which Dean Primrose of Toronto University medical school will address the recruits to Western Ontario's medical ranks. The finale of the exercises will be a few selections by the quartet of men, 24, which has provided harmony during the five years of undergraduate training.

Numerous Guests.

Relatives and friends of the graduating class will be present at the final exercises, which are to be a prelude to the University convocation exercises to be held in the Majestic Theatre Friday night, when the degree of doctor of medicine will be conferred on the 24 graduates of the medical school.

Indigestion, Gas on Stomach, Pains After Meals

Many people suffer terribly from gas and pains in the stomach after every meal, and are kept in constant misery.

For the past 44 years Burdock Blood Bitters has been bringing hope and joy to thousands suffering from various forms of stomach trouble, helping them to eat three square meals a day—helping them to eat anything they wish without having to suffer for it after.

Mr. Fred Nielson, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "All last summer I was troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion, and also gas on the stomach. I could not eat anything except some light food, and even then I would be bothered with pains after each meal. I could not work a whole day without being done out. I had tried everything—doctors, medicines and pills—until I read about Burdock Blood Bitters. I have taken four bottles, and it has nearly, if not completely, restored me to health again."

TWO CHURCH FACTIONS IN U. S. MAY REUNITE

Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in South To Visit Assembly.

Associated Press Despatch. Grand Rapids, Mich., May 26.—Definite indications of the possibility of a reunion of the two groups of Presbyterians in this country was seen today in an announcement that Thornton Whelan, moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States South, will pay a friendly visit tomorrow to the 136th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, now in annual session here.

ONTARIO EMPLOYMENT IS FAR FROM HOPEFUL

Government Service Reports No Improvement in Majority of Centers.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, May 26.—According to the weekly survey of employment conditions in Ontario issued today by the government service, the situation at present is far from hopeful.

In the majority of centres no improvement seems to have been made, while in other districts there is a downward tendency. An order for 50 men for railroad construction work was received at the Toronto office today and was quickly filled, but apart from the demand for farm workers, which still keeps up, this was the only activity recorded.

FOUR WORKMEN KILLED IN NEW YORK EXPLOSION

Associated Press Despatch. New York, May 26.—Four workmen were killed and ten others injured Saturday when they were trapped beneath falling timbers and debris, following a dynamite blast in a building excavation in Forty-sixth street, near Broadway.

HULL TO FIGHT ACTION OF PROVINCIAL HEALTH BOARD

Canadian Press Despatch. Hull, May 26.—The city of Hull will fight the action by the Quebec provincial board of health in the Hull superior court to penalize the city to the extent of $22,755 for non-compliance of its order issued in 1914, to install a mechanical filtration plant for the treating of the city's water supply, and will carry the case to the privy council if necessary.

COOLIDGE SIGNS MIGRATION BILL

Decides To Approve Measure Despite Jap Exclusion Provision.

Associated Press Despatch. Washington, May 26.—The immigration bill was signed today by President Coolidge. Despite the provision making Japanese exclusion effective next July 1, put into the measure over his vigorous opposition, the president decided because of other considerations to give the executive approval necessary to spread the legislation on the statute books.

U. S. TAX BILL NOW PASSES IN THE HANDS OF COOLIDGE

Associated Press Despatch. Washington, May 26.—The conference tax bill, already passed by the Senate, was approved today by the House. Providing reduction of taxes for almost every federal taxpayer, the measure now goes to President Coolidge.

It carries a 25 per cent reduction on income taxes payable this year, permanent revision downward of the income rates, repealing or lowering of most of the miscellaneous and excise taxes, and a 25 per cent reduction on unearned incomes of $10,000 and under.

COMMONS WILL ADJOURN TO KEEP ASCENSION DAY

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, May 26.—The House of Commons will adjourn over Thursday (Ascension Day), and on Tuesday next (the King's birthday) it will not sit until 8 p.m. Resolutions covering these decisions were passed in the House of Commons this afternoon on motion of the premier.

LONDON DEVELOPMENT
SURPRISES "OLD BOY"

James Dale Returns to the City After Twenty-Eight Years Absence.

James Dale, a native of Westminster Township, has returned to London on a visit after an absence of 28 years. Naturally, he notes many changes in London and the surrounding country, but expressed himself as being more than delighted with the progress noted in London.

"I knew London had grown, but I had no idea it had developed into such a splendid city," said Mr. Dale. "You certainly have a city to be proud of. Splendid stores, splendid homes, and fine factories. It is one of the ideal spots of Canada."

Mr. Dale, who has also visited his brother, W. B. Dale of Dorchester, took a prominent part in the birthday celebration of his father, John Dale of Westminster Township, last Friday. Mr. Dale is hale and hearty despite his 53 years, and enjoyed the party, attended by 16.

James Dale, who owns a string of cafeterias in San Francisco, will return to California in six weeks time.

Most of the day was taken up by the House of Commons in committee debating budget resolutions regarding the sales tax. Some additions were made to articles exempted from the tax and several amendments moved by Conservatives were defeated. The greater part of the resolutions were passed, but some clauses remained for further consideration.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, May 27.—Today—in the House of Commons the budget questions dealing with income tax will be considered. Civil service superannuation, estimates for the department of national defence and the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment will be on the order paper.

The senate resumes its sittings. The deputy governor-general will give royal assent to bills.

Yesterday—A bill to provide for the use of the single transferable vote in single-member constituencies when more than two candidates are running, was introduced by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice.

China and Glassware of Novel Design

A gleam of vivid china against the dark wood of the mantel; a handful of sweet peas or a bowl of ripe cherries accented by the satiny luster of black enamelled glassware; comports and candlesticks and candy jars in the clear blue of a June sky or the delicate green of new grass. The colorful charm of your summer home, and the summertime beauty of an all-the-year-round home depends on just such important trifles as these.

English Mantel Ornaments

They are reminiscent of the popular character dolls—these little figurines with their quaint costumes and whimsical expressions.
