COUNTY NEWS-LETTERS

Received from Our Own Correspondents During the past week.
PHILLIPSVILLE.
NOVEMBER 28.—The work on the B. & W. R. R. is progressing finely. A large number of men are at work at the present time.
Delorma-Wood has his residence nearly ready for the plasterers.
Chester Haskins has been using, on trial, the new grinding machine manufactured by Patterson Bro. It will not grind as many bushels per hour as recommended.
Rain, snow, ice, bare ground and then snow, is the order of the day.

TEMPERANCE LAKE.
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Towriss have been visiting friends at Prescott this week.
We are sorry to say that Mr. W. J. Earl met with the loss of a valuable horse.
Mrs. Mahon and son, of Illinois, have been visiting friends in this vicinity.
Game is very plentiful at present around Temperance Lake.
Mr. Norman Taskberry, who has been making cheese at Rockport, has returned home.
Mr. and Mrs. Weaver have moved to the house lately occupied by Mr. McLaughlin.
(Received too late for last week.)

HARLEM.
NOVEMBER 22.—It looks this morning as if winter were about to commence.
C. J. Imerson is clearing out his entire stock of goods at cost.
Our cheesemakers, who have been absent during the summer, are straggling home.
Wm. Gorman is overhauling and repairing his house, and drilling a well.
What has become of the turkey shoots that used to be held in nearly all of our villages? If Farmersville, Delta, Frankville, or any of the other villages near by were to have one, we will guarantee them a goodly quota of marksmen from here.

FORFAR.
NOVEMBER 28.—A number of the farmers in this section have been working on the railway, earning good wages and getting their pay.
The work is about done along here with exception of some culverts and laying the track.
The new residence up in maple grove is nearly completed, and it makes a grand appearance.
There is a new boarder at Case Davison's, and it is a girl.
Abel Stafford's dwelling and store is nearly completed. It will be an ornament to the place when finished.
And when we get our new railway station down in the swamp, this will be a lively little village.

DELTA.
Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!
We'll hoist our flags and on to victory.
The right shall win the day.
NOVEMBER 28.—Well, we are looking forward to the time, when we think now is not far distant, when we can step on board of a hand car, if nothing else, and go out and take a bird's eye view of the celebrated village of Farmersville.
G. N. Young has purchased a four year old colt of the Lexington breed. The colt has every appearance of making something speedy. We understand the price paid was $100. George likes a good one.
We expect to soon hear the wedding bells chime out their sweet notes on the desert air again in this village.

ELBE MILLS.
Mr. John Ball is painting M. R. Bates' new house.
A new flume and bulk head is being built to the saw mill water wheel under supervision of Mr. Arza Sherman.
A gang of drillers are at work at the mills preparing the foundation for the railroad bridge. The carpenter work is at a standstill for want of timber.
Mr. A. A. Davis, of Brockville, who purchased the last three months' make of cheese of this factory has been advised from Liverpool that the Elbe cheese arrived in good condition and are an A 1 article, and although the price paid was rather high they would not grumble when they could get such goods.

M'INTOSH MILLS.
Messrs. Potter & Cowen had a large quantity of dry measures inspected last week.
Mr. John Shenick started for Gananoque on Saturday last.
Our young engineer has given up his job for a few days. No doubt but he will come back again.

One of our young men goes out driving occasionally after school hours.
Mr. D. C. McClary has purchased a very fine bred spaniel dog from parts unknown to me.
Mr. G. A. McIntosh has returned from the west. He says he left Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh well and doing well.
It is thought our school teacher, Miss O'Connor, will be re-engaged for 1888.
Our annual traveller, with his book under his arm, has been with us once more.

FRONT OF YONGE.
We see that O. L. Potter & Co. have received a large consignment of roller flour from the west, which will be given in exchange for wheat, or sold at a small profit.
Mr. James Tennant, of Caintown, obtained two first and two second class prizes this year on his young stallion.
A great hunt will be inaugurated as soon as the first snow falls, for the purpose of capturing a wolf, which has killed some 125 fine sheep during the fall and summer, in Escott and vicinity.
Mr. Birch, who purchased some fifty acres of land from R. K. Phillips, has erected thereon a splendid cottage of modern build. The style is Ionic, but the roof is of mansard pattern. Upon the whole it is a commodious dwelling.
It is said that Mrs. Samuel Huga-boom, of Caintown, will let her store and sell her stock in trade to a Brockville Jew. She will still control and manage the post office. The old Canada Methodist church will be purchased, moved to the corner and converted into a dwelling for her tenants. Success to the Caintown postmistress!

LYN.
A short time ago we paid a visit to the Belwood farm, managed and owned by Messrs. Weldon & Hawley Mott, who reside about one and a half miles north of Lyn. They are bound to be up to the times, and have torn down their old barns and built greater. One barn is 30 x 70 and has two drive floors. The other barn is 40x60, built especially for stock. Running through the centre are two rows of bails, for twenty-four cows. On the east side are four large box stalls for blood stock. One is occupied by their large Holstein bull, Lord Byron, for which they paid $140. On the west side are box stalls for horses or brood mares. The proprietors have taken great pains to procure a good breed of horses. They have two fine Legacy mares for driving and general purpose; also two brood mares—one a Rysdyk Hambletonian, from which they have raised some fine colts. Young Belwood, sired by Old Belvoir, which they sold when coming two years of age for $400, to a party in Napanee. This week they sold another colt, Young Doneybrook, coming one year old, for $100. They have now Young Lynwood, full brother to Belwood, for which they have refused large offers. He is a very fine colt, coming three years old, beautiful bay, black mane and tail, with splendid action. From his appearance, with good training he will make a fast trotter. They purpose making a track next spring on the farm for training their horses. When they carry out their arrangements we think they will be next to J. P. Wisler for a stock farm. We congratulate the Mott brothers on their great enterprise, and wish them success.

HAWKS' SCHOOL HOUSE.
NOVEMBER 22.—We are pleased to look upon the smiling face of our highly esteemed friend, Mr. Hough, once more. He is a jovial fellow, and everybody's friend.
This neighborhood can boast of a scientific boxer, whose name I will not mention. Lately he has been showing his neighbors what an expert gentleman he has been, and is yet. Let her go, Gallagher!
Mr. S. Hawks has made quite an improvement on his premises by adding a new barb wire fence. This should be a hint for some of our neighbors to follow this wise example.
Within the past few days we have seen tears dropped here and there by our neighbors, upon hearing of the removal of one of our most respected young men, in the person of Mr. M. Boulger. He has retired from farming and is going to Toledo to live the life of a gentleman. I will not take up too much space in describing Mike's good qualities, as they are too numerous to mention. Madame Rumor says he will soon have a better half to share his enjoyment. Success be to Mike.
Mr. George Cardiff and A. Church are doing a rushing business with their drilling machine. It is reported they are going to Australia to seek for gold. Success!
Neighbors say that wedding bells will soon ring their merriest peals in our neighborhood.

SLOCUS.
ADDISON.
NOVEMBER 21.—The villagers are looking forward at no distant date, for an act of incorporation, owing to the fact that Mr. C. Stowell is about to build a first class cheese factory on Mr. W. Lewis' land at the east end of the town, which will no doubt be well patronized, as Stowell's success and fair dealing merita a liberal support. Mr. P. W. Strong, the original architect of these factories in this part of Ontario will give plan of building.
Mr. S. Boyce, a well known and respected citizen, has removed to Farmersville, and Mr. John Edgers has moved into the house occupied by him. As John has a large trade established in machinery, in the surrounding townships we presume Addison is a more convenient place for him as he has the advantage of the post office and telegraph office at hand, and farmers calling upon him will no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity of calling and inspecting cheap and good qualities of goods at the old reliable stand, now owned by H. S. Moffatt.

GREENBUSH.
Mr. Arthur Tinkiss has got the measles, but is doing as well as can be expected.
Mr. Thomas Kerr has been offered a large sum for his farm by a Mr. Steacy, but he declined the offer.
[Did not appear last week on account of MS. being illaid.]
GREENBUSH, Nov. 20.—The cheese factory has closed with a season's record satisfactory to the patrons. Thomas has proved himself a good cheese maker.
Our local sports are again on the fox track. Returns as far as heard from: 16 wounded, 4 frightened and 2 killed.
Extensive improvements are to be made the coming spring. O. A. Willoghby will erect on Main street commodious buildings for the manufacture of carriages and the doing of general job work.
The potato pommer still succeeds in outpounding the fancy machine. It succeeded in extricating the aforesaid fancy machine from a well in which it lost its rods while drilling for water a short time ago, and received for its kindness slander from the hundred cents on the dollar concern.
NEWBORO.
NOVEMBER 28.—At our last writing we were unaware of any sickness in our village. Since then, however, we are sorry to chronicle two deaths: Elwood Sinker Lewis, only son of L. S. Lewis, who died on Monday, 21st inst., aged seven years and three months; also an infant daughter of James Hazelton, aged six months and two days.
Two more little folks have arrived in town. One, a girl, may be found at the house of Geo. Lyons, and the other, a boy, is making his home with F. C. Freeman.
Mr. Amos Rice and Miss Jane Palmer were married at the Methodist parsonage on Wednesday last by Rev. Mr. Tennant. Both parties are from Westport.
We were glad to see the pleasant faces of Dan Hanna and Tim Bowes here last Sunday. It is their first visit to Newboro since going to Farmersville. We fear they have found new attractions out that way.
The long looked for railroad engine has at last arrived. It is an old time No. 4, of the G. W. R. R. and does not look to fit well on the track of our flourishing new road. One platform car of the N. & T. road is also here. The engine is now undergoing repairs and in a few days will begin to haul ties or rails.
The squirrel hunt here last week (Thursday) caused quite a ripple of excitement among the sports. When the game was counted, it was found that Capt. Langley's men were victorious, having won by over one hundred points.
An oyster supper was partaken of at the Ontario House, the bill being paid by the victims.
Do not forget the concert on Dec. 2nd by the Presbyterian Church Society in the town hall.
A few days ago some boys were snowballing near the railroad, when one of them threw a stone, hitting one of the workmen on the temple, inflicting an ugly wound.
Raymond, the fire eater, exhibited here last Saturday evening. The audience was small, the boys noisy, and the show slim. A number of the boys stole in and were paid to go out. We are glad to say we have one Cole he could not masticate.

W. G. PARISH Building Lumber.

Our village on Thanksgiving evening exhibited a cheerful appearance, when the members of L. O. L. No. 692 and of the Y. M. P. B. A., Rocksport, made a visit, headed by a piccolo band from Brockville. They came for the purpose of waiting upon our popular pastor, Mr. Sanderson, to present him with a Persian lamb cap, valued at $10, and racoon gantlet mittens, valued at $5. A large number of our villagers and neighbors were present. After the company had congregated, Mr. W. A. Lewis, teacher of the public school here, was called to the chair; and after a few well chosen remarks, called upon Mr. H. S. Moffatt, merchant and postmaster, to read the address prepared by him for the occasion, while Mr. J. R. Quinn, District Master, and Secretary of above named Societies, made the presentation. It is needless to remark Mr. Sanderson replied very appropriately, although somewhat surprised at receiving such valuable presents at the hands of members of said Societies with whom he had only been recently acquainted. In conclusion he invited all to partake of a sumptuous repast provided for by the hostess, assisted by Mr. W. Lewis, Miss J. Lewis, Miss M. Lewis, Mr. Ed. Stowell and others. After justice had been done in this department, programmes consisting of music (vocal and instrumental) readings, speeches, etc., and the usual toasts were indulged in. At about 10.30 p.m. the programme ended with the singing of "Auld Lang Sygne," when all repaired to their respective homes, well pleased with the gathering.

There will be a Sabbath School entertainment here on Christmas Eve. A good programme is being prepared. Fine music may be looked for, as George is always at the helm in such good works.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.
Quite a number of strangers were present at the meeting of the Literary Society on Friday evening. An essay on Longfellow, by Geo. T. Rogers, was followed by selections, read or recited, from Kevangeline, Hiawatha and Miles Standish. Those contributing to the programme showed that they had taken some pains with the preparation of their parts, and all acquitted themselves creditably. But the piece of the evening was a reading by Mr. Gibbard, the modern language master, who gave a selection from the Courtship of Miles Standish. He exhibited a delicate appreciation of that diffidence which caused Miles to send his friend to propose to Priscilla for him.
These entertainments are given by the H. S. L. Society in the assembly room, every fortnight.
The olde folks concert which the pupils are busy preparing for will be given about the 20th of December.
Mr. J. Clarke, who went to U. C. College at the beginning of the term, is back attending school here. This speaks well for the Farmersville High School. Young men, take a roto of this.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.
Editor of Reporter.
I was glad to notice from the letter of "Reader" in last week's issue, that there is at least one besides yourself who believes that it is desirable to have a Mechanics' Institute. Let me also add my testimony in favor of it. I should like to see, at least, a public library in the place, where we had the other accessories or not. The reading circle proposed might very well be carried on by private persons, if desirable. I believe that it should not form any part of a Mechanics' Institute.
It seems to me that the quickest way to get the opinion of the community in the matter is to call a public meeting of all persons interested in the establishing of a Mechanics' Institute. Many people would like some information in the matter—as how to go about it, the probable cost, upon whom the expense falls, and many other things. I venture to suggest, then, that you, Mr. Editor, since you were the first to take up this matter, call such a meeting at an early day, and request a large attendance. Wishing this movement much success,
Yours,
W. G. P.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.
Sunday was mild and spring like, and the temperature was nearly 50 degrees at noon.
Wiltse has a No. 40 Sulamita, and a good sized Alaska coal stove, as good as new, for further notice. They will be sold at a bargain.
The Westport turkey fair will be held on the 13th and 14th of December. Messrs. R. Stanton and A. H. Martin, the well known poultry dealers, announce that they will be on the buyers.
A tea meeting will be held in the Salem Methodist Church on the evening of December 21st. Several good speakers will be present. The musical portion of the programme will be excellent.
The Rev. R. N. Hill is visiting old friends in this county, and last week paid a visit to Farmersville acquaintances. Mr. Hill has for a number of years been carrying on very successful farming operations in Muskoka, in which District he occupies a prominent place in religious, social and political affairs.

IMPORTANT.—We have just printed and will hereafter keep in stock a full line of magistrates blanks, such as warrants, summonses, subpoenas, etc. These will be found a great convenience to county magistrates, and will be put up in lots and sold at Toronto prices. Magistrates sending us $1. will be furnished with a supply of all the blanks usually required in proportionate quantities. 463

The Farmer's Seventy Years.

As there he is, lad, at the plough;
And what's the task might be
And he can laugh, too, till the eyes
Run o'er with mirthful tears.

SIR HUGH'S LOVES.

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE MANSE AT ROWAN-GLLEN.

Dear are the clouds you giant bens
Fold o'er the rugged breasts,
Greatly their strength and light up
Over the snow-flecked mountains.

It was towards evening, at the close of a lovely September day, that a rough equip-page came rattling down the hill, with a retriever gambolling joyously beside it.

By and by came a few low cottages built of grey stone, and thatched with heather fastened down with a rough network of grey stone.

"No, no, wait a moment," replied Fay, hurriedly. "I must see if Mrs. Duncan be at home. Will you help me out?"

"Gracious heavens!" exclaimed the startled woman; then, as her basket and scissors rolled to the ground, "Jean, lass, where are you? here are two babies, and one of them looks fit to faint—why, it is never our dear little Miss Mordant? Why, my bairn—" has no other friend. I am married, and this is my baby, and my husband does not want me, and in fact it would have killed me to stop with him, and I have come to you, and he must not find me, and you must take care of me, and here he tears burst out, and she clung round the old lady's neck, "I have money, and I can pay the minister; and I am so fond of you both

—I do not stay."

"Whish, whish, my dearie," returned Mrs. Duncan, wiping her own eyes and Fay's. "Of course you shall abide with me; would either Donald or I turn the other to the lamb to face the tempest? Married, my bairn; why you look only fit for a cot-yow, and with a bairn of your own, too.
And to think that any man could ill-use a creature like this! No, no, no, no, no, no, Fay dropped her head as she heard her.
Mrs. Duncan thought Hugh was cruel to her, and that she had fled from his ill-treatment, and she dare not contradict this notion."

"You must never speak to me of my husband," continued Fay, with an agitation that still further roused Mrs. Duncan. "I would never before have spoken with him;
I ran away, and I knew he would never find me here. I have money enough—all, plenty—so you will not be put to expense. You may take care of my purse, and I may take care of your great lady, and Fay held out to the dazzled eyes of the old lady a purse full of bank notes and glittering gold pieces, which seemed riches itself to her Highland simplicity."

"For the kind, white-headed minister, who has just remembered was lying now in his last illness; and he had had two strokes of paralysis, and the third would carry him off, the doctor said."

"One blessing is, my Donald does not suffer," continued Mrs. Duncan, with a proud air, and cannot stir himself, and Jean lifts him up as though he were a baby; but he sleeps most of his time, and when he is awake he never troubles—he just talks to me the old time when he brought me first to the manse; and sometimes he fancies Robbie and Elsie are pulling flowers in the garden—and no doubt they are doing so; but it is in the garden of Paradise, and maybe there are plenty of roses and lilies there, such as Solomon talked about in the Canticles."

"And who takes the duty for Mr. Duncan?" asked Fay, who was much distressed to hear this account of her kind old friend.
"Mr. Ferguson, my nephew, rides over from Glasgow to take the service for the Sabbath. He is to be wedded to Lillian Graham, down at the farm yonder, and sometimes he puts up at the manse and sometimes at the farm; and the day after tomorrow he is to go to the land of the leal, that Ferguson will come to the manse; for though he is young, he is a powerful preacher, and even St. Paul bids us to have a young man as a minister."

charged his wife to show every hospitality in the Bible; he continued "English or American; old, ugly, or handsome; they are all the same to you; and of course, by the natural laws of contradiction, the absurd creatures are all bent on making whether the results be permanently beneficial, but it diminishes the expectation, which also loses its purulent character."

"I do not care for good-looking men," said Fay, with a smile. "I expect you are romantic, Crystal, and have an ideal of your own."

"I have no other reason, except your love for him," observed the elder woman, stroking
her hand gently. "I have long suspected
that, my dear."

"I did not dare to leave my place of concealment until she had passed. I saw Miss

"I was at the station, as we planned, and saw them arrive; so for once the information was correct. Crystal got out first, and went in search of the luggage; I concealed myself behind a bale of goods—wool-packs, I believe—and she passed me quite close; I could have touched her with my hand, and she would not have seen me."

"I have no other reason, except your love for him," observed the elder woman, stroking
her hand gently. "I have long suspected
that, my dear."

THE REPORTER.
Editor and Proprietor.
Guaranteed Circulation, 750.
FARMERSVILLE, NOV. 20, 1887.
LOCAL AND OTHER NOTES,
From the Pencil of our Own Nephew-Catherer.

Glenn Buell correspondence is unavoidably crowded out of this issue.
Owing to a change in the G. T. R. time-table which went into effect yesterday the stage for Mallorytown, Nov. 20, leaves at 11 a.m., and reaches here on the return trip at 3.30 p.m.

Farmersville turkey fair will be held on the 14th of December, when a large number of the best known buyers will be present. By posters issued from the office, Messrs. H. Arnold and T. Berner announce that they will pay the highest market price for poultry offered at the fair.

A few of the railway boys had a scrimmage here on Saturday night, and at least one got a bloody head. The good sense of the majority of the crowd of spectators prevented a general and sanguinary assault, or what would have been a very serious case of belligerents had meant anything more than mere boasting.

The Rev. Mr. McRitchie, Superintendent of the Brockville District, preached missionary sermons in the Methodist Church last Sunday morning evening. Both discourses were exceedingly practical, and forcibly presented the mission cause to public notice. We shall refer to the interesting meeting, held last night, in our next issue.

The congregation of St. Paul's Church have been the recipients of a very valuable and appropriate gift, in the shape of a magnificent pulpit bible, which was used in the sacred desk on Sunday last. The edition of the scriptures selected is admirably adapted for the purpose, the letter-press being beautifully clear and distinct, the binding is elegant and durable. We understand that the generous donor is John Kappel, Esq., of this place, to whom the credits of this kind of liberality and people are due.

We question if there is another chess-factory in Eastern Ontario which has made so good a showing during the past season as the Plum Hollow factory. We have been allowed to make the following extracts from the books of the factory:—Number of boxes of chess made, 1,700; average price per board, 25 cents; amount of cash and to patrons, $42.47; number of patrons during the season, 156. The proprietor, Mr. Kappel, has to be commended for the fact that although the highest market price was received not a single chess was damaged by the buyers. The very best of water or hot alkali being delivered at the factory. The patrons feel highly gratified at Mr. Kappel's skill in manufacturing and his good management in selling.

The entertainment held on Tuesday 1st, under the auspices of the choir of the Methodist Church, was a great success, both as to the enjoyment experienced by the audience and as to the financial result. The opening chorus by the choir was rendered with commendable precision and a proper regard to expression. Then came a vocal solo by Mr. Corwell, who is a popular player. Mr. Corwell, who has already been mentioned as a very popular with Farmersville audiences, then gave a reading of which he did full justice. Mrs. Corwell and Mrs. Owen then gave a very pretty duet, "The Fair Maid." The voices blended perfectly. The delicate humor of the piece was brought out in a way which captivated the audience and won hearty applause. Miss Kerr then played a piano solo in good style and with research, with an air of ease and confidence. The first part of the programme closed with "The Tempest," by Miss Stone, which was rendered most admirably, and received a hearty and well earned encore, to which, however, the singer then responded by a short intermission, the second part opened with a piano solo, the overture to "Lancelotti," which Mrs. W. G. Parish and Mr. Denovan rendered with such spirit and ability as to bring down the house. The beautiful solo by Mrs. Twain's "Habits," and did it in the style which the selection demanded. Mr. Porter's rich bass voice was heard to great advantage in the next number, "Committed to the Deep," which was followed by an effective piano solo from Miss Robinson, of Brockville, whose playing exhibited talent. The treat of the evening was a song by Jamieson, "The Old Maid," which was sung beautifully, surmounting without apparent effort the executive difficulties of the composition, and delightfully expressing the sentiment of the song. To long continued applause and demands for another appearance, Mrs. Corwell did not respond. The cities of chairman, were ably performed by Mr. H. H. Arnold. The excellent piano used was kindly lent by Mr. Seymour Moore.

BEES.
Mr. Errol: Mr. Wm. Lee began beekeeping last spring with four colonies. They were very much reduced, the cellar they had wintered in having been too warm, causing them to rapidly consume their stores, and so shorten their lives. A little spring feeding and careful attention produced the following good result. Five number one swarmed five times after the transfer; number two and number three, swarmed three times each; and number four swarmed four times. This last on the 15th of May had less than a square of bees.

My improved hive and improved system of transferring differs from others; and the result generally, among the smaller bee keepers, where I can do the work as I wish, proves their superiority beyond central claim. Here is an increase of 15 swarms from four old colonies which had spring dwindled to the lowest degree, so that the four were only equal to two average colonies. Such results are attained by intelligent attention. We weighed them on the 22nd of this month, when they ranged from 33 to 38 pounds of bees and stores per colony, which is above the standard. They were then put in a tight room in the cellar, four feet above the floor, into which a constant stream of fresh air passes from a long deep covered drain. Temperature, 50 degrees, which is a little too warm. The colony that swarmed five times paid about 360 per cent.
Messrs. McNish & McKenzie, of Algonquin, furnish my hive for 40 cents (70 or 80 pieces) in the flat, or ready for the bees for 75 cents. In no country in the world was there ever offered a story and a half live complete at such a low price. Hough's Langstrath improved hive is the simplest and cheapest and the best adapted to competition, because it is one-sixth lower than others, except the inventive reversible hive, which is a good hive, but costs about three times the price of mine. For many years I have been trying to get bees made the way I wished, and as cheap as they now are. In the different apertures I have assisted in, I have worked with over twenty of the principal hives. There are 240 patents on hives in this country and the United States. Every flow of the hammer, every cut of the saw and every inch of lumber that can be saved, is saved in my hive. The above-mentioned firm, seeing this, more with the object of encouraging beginners in bee culture than to profit themselves, have consented to manufacture at the price quoted. I have at last achieved what I have so long wished for—the offering to the people a live so cheap, so simple, and yet so comprehensive, as to tempt all to invest the half-ton of honey that annually falls to the ground on every one hundred acres in Ontario.
But, "grumbles that anomaly in nature— that exception to things in the heavens above and the earth beneath—with the honey flowing to the earth from God's free flowers all around him—"But that will ruin the business!" But while such grumblers sink in oblivion the great world rolls on, rejoicing in the fact that whatever enriches, comforts and pleases a community must be in the end just to the moment that form that community.
