DELIVERY OF Massey-Harris Machinery.

One Hundred and Nineteen Machines delivered at Athens on Saturday Last By Alex Taylor.

Saturday last was a busy day for the Massey-Harris agents in Athens, For two days Mr. Taylor, the local agent, hod been busy with a gang of nen unloading the machinery to be delivered to the farmers. The spring like weather and the busy time in the sugar bushes prevented a large number from coming for their machinery, and quite a few loaded up and started for home without coming down to add to the displey on the street and partake of the tables were cleared those who had their dinner at the Armstrong house went down to the Gamble House appointing Thos. Bradstreet's on Trade.

Business at Montreal has been fairly active this week. The orders from the travellers for spring and summer goods are numerous and call for liberal quantities of goods. At Quebec trade conditions are much about the same as the preceding week. The snow during the middle of the week had a desired effect in the country districts, in some quarters merchandise being at a standstill on account of the roads. There has been a fair roads. There has been a fair amount of activity in Toronto whole-sale trade circles this week. The roads. There has been a fair amount of activity in Torento wholes ale trade circles this week. The number of country buyers in the city like not been large as retaillers afre busy receiving spring stock and getting it in shape for an early spening. At Hamilton this week there has been a fair movement in wholesale trade. The wholesale trade, the wholesale trade centres of the country, and these shipments indicate houses are very bissy shipping goods to various trade centres of the country, and these shipments indicate how large the buying has been already, notwithstanding the tendency in recent years among the retailers to depend more on sorting orders than formerly. The values of domestic staples are firm. The factories and nills are busy on orders and it does not look as if they will have any surphus stock of any account to job the next few months. Trade at Winnipeg has been seriously interfered with the past week by the heavy showsterns. Trade at Pacific Coast cities has been rather quiet, but the general underlying conditions appear to be healthy and the prosnects for business the coming or the receives and assistaction of having done a great service to one in need. quiet, but the general underlying conditions appear to be healthy and the prospects for business the coming season are not at all unpromising. Trade at London has been moderately active the past week. At Ottawa this week there has been a good demand experienced from conntry retailers for the spring. Stock of whiter goods have been pratty well cleaned out and there appears to be very little heavy stuff left to carry over to next season.

The general underlying conditions as stated to a cure, Having nothing to sell, he asks for no money, the product set of heaving the product service to one in need, he rightly considers an ample reward for his trouble. Costly Trimmings.

Of great importance among the varied kinds of trimmings this year are the fancy braits and their vari-ous combinations with taffeta, grena-dine, mousseline de sole and Brussels net. Silk cords are in the same family, and these are sometimes feather-edged and used for the edge finish on a shaped band of net decorated in the centre with some design in silk braid, giving the appearance of

there are fancy open braids too, which in themselves have a very lacy appearance, the grenadine braids being especially pretty in combination with lace, or alone. Pretty flower designs with leaves are formed of braid, very narrow, of 62 to 68c. Potatoes out of store sell at 75 to 80c.

Poultry—Offerings are light, and the demand is strong. We quote: Fresh killed turkeys at 12 to 121-25, and chickens at 70 to 80c. Frozen turkeys are quoted at 10 to 11c, and chickens at 25 to 50c. Ducks are discussed in almost any form. moderately large. The waist happens to be an India lawn, and the needlework a hand embroidery, telling of hours of time and eyesight, so the saleswoman intimates.

Very justly have such waists taken their places along with the very fine things of dress. They are to be worn with white satin skirts this summer, for plazza and lawn occasions, and will occupy places of honor at high teas. They rank with the

The herringbone braids are very useful as well as effective; and all sorts of pretty designs are carried out by running narrow ribbon through them to form loop edges, and pretty bow knot

One very encouraging feature about the braid trimmings is that they are not all expensive. It is when they are applied to lace and chiffon that. of fabrics along with silk and satin.

The full blouse or the blouse that bags all the way over the belt is seen again. It calls for a great deal of beautifully trimmed material and it the price creeps up.

These squares can be arranged in so many ways that they are par-ticularly desirable.

For dressy mousseline, veiling and crepe de chine gowns there are levely lace bands decorated with tiny flowers of sequins, or tiny roses of chiffon. Narrow va finish for the edge. Narrow velvet ribbon is

The Shirt Walst Lives

In selecting the shirtwalst as her constant friend the woman of to-day has shown her good taste; she has forever freed herself from the charge of not knowing a good thing when she saw it.

Mrs. Langtry's Waist.

Plain white taffeta gowns are still popular and the black ones are more so than ever, especially in the short coat and skirt form. For separate coats, such as were worn last year, taffeta is the thing, yet it has to share the honors with moire this season. skirt, which is caught down with the corset hook or other contrivance, thus making the waist seem longer. Girls of great slenderness are wickedly wearing the very short waisted shirt waist. They know that they can do it, but that it will look funny on the fat sister.

It would be positively cruel to hint at the extravagance to which the summer shirt-waist is being carried. It is now classed with the summer luxuries and ranks with the frills season.

Entire suits are made of moire which is good style if you fancy it, but this sort of silk always suggests an old lady's gown much more than the plain taffeta. It shows up in the children's department this weason, so

It is a mass of lace and insertion, the finer and the more delicate the better. Often it is so delicate a thing that another underwalst is required to wear be-neath it, and all these waists are a part of the plan of the summer shirt-

Sleeves, while mightily fancy, are sleeves, while mightly lancy, are also mightly plain. You can be in style with a full sleeve that is simply brought in to the cuff, gathered in such a way that most of the fulness is at the back of the sleeve to make a little bag. Of course there are sleeves that show more varieties, but there are more for the fluffy summer girl than the summer shirtwaist girl.

Pins for the Stock.

To be very much in the fad the summer girl can select her birthstone and have three pins, one for the front of her stock, and one for the back of her stock, and one for the back of her hair. It will hold up the little short hairs and look very nice, besides catering to a faney.

Freak Fashions.

London papers are commenting on the oatlandish headgear and freakish jeweiry which are now being af-fected by women there. One writer says that "the monstrosities now seen on the heads of young girls and even of middle-aged women, who ought to know better, are a dis-grace to any civilized country. The headgear of savages is artistic by comparison. Feathers, flowers, furs and lace, all jumbled into one shape-less and bewildering mass, sometimes almost the size of a bushel basket, are stuck on the head and turned up at the side so as to make the wearer appear a veritable scarecrow. Occasionally the massive topping is tilted forward, projecting far over the face, hiding all but the chin. This is the spectacle seen on the streets and in the churches and theaters at the present time. Some of

The tan waist will be so thoroughly in fashion that it will be difficult to entirely remove it from the domain of style, no matter how it is treated, but it may be made prettler by one treatment than by another.

The Beit Line.

None of the new models shows the very long point, though all are longer in the front than in the back. They are pulled down a little, that is all, and fastened low. This is accomplished by means of the dress of the thumb nail. Which is worn clasped over the lobe of the ear, giving the waist seem longer. Girls of great slenderness are wicked when the waist. INTERNATIONAL LESSON NO. XIII MARCH 30, 1902.

Review .- Acis 1: 6-11: 2: 1-1.

Summary.—Lesson I. Topic: The coming kingdom. Places: Mount Olivet and Jerusalem. Luke, the author of the Acts; Jesus about to leave of the Acts; Jesus about to leave the disciples; they were command-ed to return to Jerusalem and wait for the promise of the Father; they ask Jesus if He will restore again the kingdom to Israel; He promises the Holy Spirit to them; they are to be witnesses in all lands; Jesus ascends to heaven; an-gels appear to the disciples; they return to Jerusalem and continue return to Jerusalem and continue

XII. Tonic: "The godly walk of the Christian. Place: Rome. Christians should walk in love, avoid all uncleanness, covetness, foolish jesting and idolatry: have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness; reprove sin; walk in the light; awake from spiritual lethargy; be not drunk with wine; be filled with the Spirit; give thanks to God; submit to one another.

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

The supreme promise of prophecy and the climax of gospel fulfilment is the bestowment of spiritual power. This is the central thought of the lessons of the quarter. About this thought they may be grouped as follows: Power promised lesson 1. Power sessed, lessons 2, 3. Power exercised, (a) in blessing, lesson 4; (b) in punishment, lesson 6. Power opposed, lessons 5, 7, 10. Power prevailing, lesson 11. Power practised, lesson 12. Power promised. Of this Joel prophesid nearly eight hundred years before. That the prophecy might be fulfilled was the "expediency" of Christ's departure. "If I go not away, the comforter will not come away, the comforter will not away, the comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart I will send him unto you." A renewal of this promise was the last utterance of the ascending Son of God.

Peter and John going into the temple see a lame man; he asks an alms; they ask him to look on them they do not give him money, but command him to rise up and walk; the man was healed and went leaping and praising God.

V. Topic: Josus Christ, the command power operating beneficently in another channel, and overcoming physical disease and infirmity. This lesson records the first miracle of healing under the dispensation of the Spirit. Better than silver and gold was the bestowment received by the waiting and expectant mendicant. Poor in purse, the apostles were rich in the possession

PROTRUDING BLEEDING

Two Letters from Mr. Walker Explaining the Severity of His Case and the Permanency of His Cure by Using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Some people seem to think that it is too much to claim that Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure every form of piles, but facts go to prove the truth of this claim. These are interesting letters from one who has suffered much and been cured.

In November, 1961. Mr. Sherwood Walker, a fireman on the Canada Atlantic Railway. Indig at Midawaska, Ont., writes: "I am a great sufferer from bleeding piles. Sometimes the protruding piles come down, causing much misery and uneasiness, and at other times I am subject to bleeding piles, and they bleed to such an extent as to make me quite weak. If Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure this awful ailment you will have my everlasting gratitude."

On March 1, 1902, we received the following letter from Mr. Walker, which speaks volumes for Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles of the most distressing form. He writes: "According to my promise, I now take pleasure in writing to you. If you remember, you's sent me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for bleeding piles some three months ago. I used it faithfully, and can say that it proved a godsend, for it has entirely cured me of bleeding piles.

"I would have written sooner, but I wanted to be able to tell you that it was a permanent cure. This you can use for the benefit of other suffering people. There are several people here who have been cured of very severe cases of protruding piles by using this great ointment."

So far as we know there is no other preparation extant which is so successful in curing piles of the most aggravated kind as Dr. Chase's Ointment. Its soothing, healing powers are marvellous, and its cures thorough and permanent. Sxty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

PROHIBITION.

ILLUSTRATIONS. Here is a gleam of light growing out of actual - xperience. When wing examined by the Royal Commission, Dr. W. A. McKay of Woodstone, President Ontario Pro vincial Amance, said in response to the question, · How much public sentiment would be necessary for the enforcement of a Prohibitory law?" "Public sentiment has little to do laws well enforced in this county (Oxford) that are very unpopular, and laws ill-enforced heartily backed by the people."

"What is your popular law that is ill-enforced ?" "Those sections of the license act that forbid sale to minors, drunkards and on Sunday. A plebiscite of the voters of Oxford would tremendously sustain such legislation and yet there is nothing on the statue books worse enforced.

This was unanswerable, but the questioner pushed the enquiry further with :-- "What is the law that is well enforced?" "The customs duties" (a " Any general laugh followed.) Government that would submit them to a vote of the people would be left without a revenue, forthwith, yet no legislation is more rigidly adhered to. It is not sentiment, but the officers of the law that enforce respect for the law. During Scot Act times the worst enforcement was sometimes to be found in sections where the 00 majorities had been the greatest. A perjured official and not lack of sentiment was the cause."

Prohibitory law is in itself an educator, turns light upon evil practices,

DEEP ENTIRE REALITY.

The fascinations and falsehoods of the wine cup, that lure the victim on step by step, upon his self control, his strong will that can free itself from the habit at any time, are too well known to need comment. It is also true that a deceptive mental and physical strength and a surface brilliancy can, for a tin be secured by the use of alcohol: but the man who trusts to such a prop is burning up his real mental and physical Danie! Webster built his repu tation on this sandy foundation : he became the victim of his apetites and died broken hearted over the loss of his countrymen's trust and respect.

Sometimes silence is golden; sometimes it is criminal. threatens the property, lives, or sonls of our fellows, and we may mitigate or avert it by speech, then silence is criminal. The word of God is our warrant for reproving the unfruitful works of darkness, notorious amonist seek to "convict" all those who, for the the sake of selfish indulge, countenance a practice that ruins countless multitudes Convict those who from pure seltishness say "The liquor traffic has not hurt me, nor mine, and therefore it is none of my business" Talk, yes talk-it is thus public sentiment is formed. But remember that every man of legal age is accountable for the power to reprove, or convict not by the tongue alone, but by the ballo.

ANNUAL SUGAR PARTY

AT RAS'.

The annual sugar party, which has secome an event that is looked forward to with the keen anticipation of big slices of ham toasted in the blazing wood fire fastened to long forked sticks; the big pan full of fresh laid eggs; the bread cut in stepmother's slices and the great gobs of wax on ice or snow, took place yesterday, (Tuesday). This year was an innovation on the old bachelor style of previous years Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets is a safe as the ladies were invited to accompany "Policy" to carry. well filled but there was room to spare and all seemed to be enjoying them-selves. The big slices of ham were shoved on the ends of the forked sticks and held in the roaring blaze of the fire under the sap pan. Often there a half dozen pieces of ham sizzling and sputtering in the fire at once. Ten or welve dozen eggs were dumped into a big kettle on a cooking stove in another part of the building and a man with a big ladle dished them out to all omers. Then with bread and butter, pickles, cheese and other "fixins" each and every one was supposed to fall to and help themselves. It was surprising how some of the dyspeptic visitors forgot their indigestion and eat, eat, eat until scarcely a vestige of the big stock of provisions was left. While the party were partaking of their dessert, Rastus swung a big pan of thick syrup over the fire and then the gobs of wax that were stowed away was "a

Wet Wedding Days Preferred. The adage "Happy is the bride that' the sun shines on" is one that is unknown in many lands. A Breton bride takes it unhappily when the day of her wedding dawns bright and sunny. Rain on her marriage morn is held to signify that all her tears are shed and that will therefore have a happy married life. It is said that the Erza of Simbrisk call the day before the wedding the weeping day, and the bride and her girl friends weep as much as possible with the idea of getting the mourning of life over, so that only what is joyful may remain. In some countries this result is attained by sousing the bride with water. The Greeks think that a thorough drenching of the bride will bring her lasting good fortune.

HARDON THE NERVES

RUNNING TRAINS OVER MOUNTAIN ROADS IS RISKY WORK.

It Takes Youth and Strength and Courage to Hold an Engineer's Job on One of These Brain Whirling, Nerve Racking Runs.

"One of the greatest difficulties of the real mountain roads, like the Colerado Midland, the Rio Grande Western and the Denver and Rio Grande, is in getting engineers," said the city pas-senger agent of the Rio Grande West-ern road. This gentleman is familiar with all the intermountain roads, where the trains have to all but fly to reach some of their destinations. "One might suppose that all roads would look alike to the experienced engineer, but they don't. Along some of the prairie roads an engineer can take a run on any new track almost as well as on one he has traveled for years and knows with his eyes shut. But he the west it is different. Down in Colorado, where are some of the greatest monuments to the railroad builder that have ever been erected, an engineer has to travel over the roads sometimes for weeks with old, experienced engineers who know the track before he will be trusted with a train. It isn't a question of engineering ability; merely one of experience. "It is enough to take a fellow's nerve to sweep around some of those mo tain curves and passes for the first time. Some good men never take more than their first ride. I have seen engineers come from the east, men of gilt edge character and ability, who lost their nerve with the first trip and took the first train for a flatter country. Dizzy reverse curves, trestles that seem to totter in the wind, precipices that seem to yawn for a fellow's life and grades that are a revelation of horror to the newcomer crowd in be wildering confusion on the view, and unless a fellow is as stolid as an ox of nervy as the mischief he is apt to lose

"You would be surprised at the number of young engineers who are on the mountain roads. For one thing, a man. does not last there as he does on a less picturesque, more prosaic run. It takes youth and strength and courage of a rare order to stand it all. The companies are the most appreciative in the world, for they realize how hard it is to get a good man, and they treat a good man right royally. But even this does not attract a surplus of the right sort.

"The principal dangers are in the heavy grades and in the sharp curves, though landslides are far from unknown. One must know his train and his road like a book to get through with his life on the Marshall pass, for instance, where you seem to headlong down the mighty hill. A rock on the track, a broken wheel, a runaway car or a failure of the brakes to work would end in a smash up that would startle the whole Country. The hill might be a glare of ice or frost, it might be wet or snowy, and if you set the airbrake too hard so as to start the wheels to sliding down the hill you go like a gigantic toboggan, with death and destruction at the end of the ride. The management of the airbrake and knowing where the curves and dangerous places are is the greatest part of an engineer's education in the mountains.

"For my own part, knowing the dangers as I do, I feel nervous after riding 100 miles over the wildest parts of the roads even as a passenger. I rode through the Royal gorge on the engine a few weeks ago and was glad when the ride was over. It makes a fellow feel trembly like to think what might be, though the worst rarely happens. Such is the care taken in equipment Slack second and Mrs. Donovan third. and in getting the best men that the mountain roads have as small a proporsil erware as a slight token of good- to pilot a train through some of the

"A freight train is the worst, in that it is much heavier than a passenger and is expected to make almost the same time. All the heavy stock trains going east, 25 to 30 cars, make passenger schedule. A freight is so loosely coupled as to be very unmanageable at critical points. The stock trains are the terror of the engine drivers and all the

"A fellow isn't necessarily a coward when he throws up his job as engineer over the mountain roads, after seeing what the dangers are. Not one passenger in 10,000 would assume the same danger. The position calls for absolute. ly steady nerve, and one who feels that he is likely to get raifled is dangerous to himself, to the company and to all who ride behind him A man must think and act like lightning in the face of so many dangers that he must be sure of his ability to stand the strain. No one stays any great number of years. It is beyond one's power to do so and be safe. A man may be hrave and willing and all that, but these are not enough. He must be sure and proof against stampede. Such a man is worth everything to the companies, and they treat him like a prince."

Fame and fortune await the ingenlous horticulturist who can suceed in producing a flower that is entirely black, a problem that has hitherto defied the efforts that have been made in that direction for more than three centuries past, for, notwithstanding the sensational novel of Alexandre Dumas, entitled "The Black Tulip." there is ne such thing as a really black flower in existence, although almost every co and shade of the rainbow is present in flowers and blossoms.

CANADA TO GIVE HORSES.

Permanent Arrangement to be Made -In 30 Months Army in Africa Has Received 550,000 Animais-Increased Pay for Tommy Atkins - The Task in Africa.

London, March 21 .- Mr. Brodrick, in introducing the army estimates in the House of Commons, mentioned circumstances showing how immense has been the task of providing for the campaign in South Africa.

But the most important feature is the increased pay of the soldier. The recruit joining after the beginning of next month will receive 1s. a day in stead of 9d. as at present. If, after two years' service, he elects to stay for eight years longer, he gets, being an efficient shot, 6.1. a day more, or, if an inefficient shot, he gets 4d. white he is improving.

During the last six years recruiting had gone up from 26,000 to 45,-

000 per annum, but that had been attained by a lowering of the standard, which had the effect of increasing the waste from 3,480 in 1899 to 8,822 in 1901. Mr. Brodrick believes believes we have reached the limit of real recruiting, and we can-not look forward to any reduction in not look forward to any reduction in our army.

To keep the army at its present level 50,000 recruits would be re-quired annually under the new sys-tem, and then they would be able to keep a reserve of 150,000 or 170,-000 men. The cost of this proposal would be £1,048,000 to Great Bri-tain and £756,000 to India, per an-num.

In the concentration camps there is a population or 150,000 human beings, whom we house, shelter, clothe

There was no justification for Lord

The Duke of Wellington had never more than 60,000 or 70,000 men, and in the Crimea there were never more than 52,000 men, whereas from the time the first great body of rein-forcements was sent to South Africa ander Lord Roberts we had never less then 150 to 1 merchant coursely than 150,000 regular troops there, ex-clusive of colonials, militia, Yeomanry and volunteers, and in less than a year and a half we have landed there 290,000 horses, 126,000 mules, purchasing in addition 126,000 horses in South Africa. Thus in thirty months we supplied the army in South Africa with 550,000 animals, which is at the rate of 600 a day.

The United League an Intolerable Tyranny.

THE SUSPENSION OF DILLON. London, March 24.-In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. John

Redmond raised the question of Mr. Dillon's suspension yesterday. He pointed out that the regulations covering the suspension of disorderly members are at present abrogated preparatory to the adoption of the new regulations covering the business of the House. Hence Mr. Dillon's suspension in the absence of any existing rule appeared to be for an indefinite period.

Mr. Balfour, Government leader of the House, promised to propose a motion dealing with the matter next Wednesday.

motion dealing with the matter next Wednesday.
Under the rules existing until this year the suspension of a member on talled absence from the precincts of the House for a week. These rules were formerly adopted annually, but were omitted at the commencement of the present session, as a Government measure was introduced creating a sliding scale of punishments for disorderliness. If it were now law the suspension would be for now law the suspension would be for forty sittings, and an apology would have to be sent to the Speaker before the offending member could return.

REDMOND'S TONGUE.

He Lets it Run a Little in Chicago.

Chicago, March 24,-"Chamberlain is the most polished villain in Europe. He is very clever, but the time will come when he will be execrated by the English people." These are the sentiments of William Redmond, the Irish member of Parliament. who with his wife and James Devlin, elected to Parliament since he landed in America, is at the Palmer House.

Said Mr. Redmond: "Ireland would rise in arms now if she had any arms. She would fight England as the Boers are fighting, if she could. Fifty years of treating the English considerately in parliament have not restored our parliament; now we tell the English what we think of them, of their rule in Ireland and their nefarious war in Africa.

POINTS OF IMPORTANCE IN BUTTER MAKING

In several of your recent issues I noticed that butter-making has been discussed and in many instances not along my line, and I ion't womer at some people get con't womeer at some people geting muddled, as one has called it, if some of these rules are adhered to that we notice in the different papers from time to time. Now, if you will allow me, I wil try to discuss a few of the many points in cognection with butter-making, which experience has taught, and you can compute my established facts with others which I will be alled to discuss in order that we glad to discuss in order that we may further develop this prom-ing industry—Butter-making.

ing industry—Butter-making.
To prepare cream for butter-making is the first! point I want to discuss. If you have cream in the vat just after separating that tests 35 per cent. of fat, which is the first thing to do? Take the temperature, and if it is to be chucued on the following morning at this time of year or during the period from November 1st to April 1st. have November 1st to April 1st, have your temperature about 70 F. and ripen at that temperature. As soon as you have tempered your cream at 70 F, add 10 per cent. of good pure-flavored culture starter and stir well to evenly mix it, but not enough to injure the fat glob-ules. Let it stand at this temperature, stirring occasionally until four-tenths acidity appears when tested with alkaline solution. This is the proper acidity to start to is the proper acidity to start to cool your cream. Now, 10 per cent. of a good starter should give you this test in eight hours. Say you add starter at eleven a. m., and at seven p. m., your cream will be ready for cooling. I would cool the cream to 54 and leave the water around it all night, providing you do not use ice; but if the water water account of the cool of the to were so cold that by ieaving it for were so cold that by leaving i ter were so cold that by ieaving it around your cream all might it would cool to below 50 F., I would let it run off and place water around the vat at a temperature of 48 F., this will not cool the cream below the churning temperature, which should be 50 to 53 in winter. m winter.

A great many butter makers make a mistake right here; for instance, the churning temperature is 52, and they cool the cream to 46 and raise it to 52 just before churning, and then churn and churn and wonders the church and chur raise it to 52 just before churning, and then churn and churn and wonder why they are not getting butter. What is the difficulty? It is just this: They are practically churning at 46, or at too low a temperature. Why, you will say, I heated the cream to 52, but heating to 52 and having the cream that temperature for several hours before does not give the same results. Cream consists of small particles of fat, and to hold theselittle globules are thoroughly chilled through, and it takes considerable time for a higher temperature to take effect on these so they will be in the same condition as if tempered at 52 for several hours. The same applies to cream at too high a temperature of 60 must at least be kept 3 hours at 52 in order to have the same results as far as churning goes, as previous churnings where it was held sevfar as churning goes, as previous churnings where it was held several hours at 52 before churning. Cream raised from a temperature of 46 to 52 and churned in a few. of 46 to 52 and churred in a town minutes afterwards, will generally give one some trouble to get the granulars large enough and occasionally will become round and contain a lot of moisture. Then, again, tile higher temperature and cooling to 52 will cause the cream to churn quickly and contain a lot of moist-ure and buttermilk that will be difire and buttermilk that will be dif-ficult to separate.

The best system that I can find to ripen cream, as far as temperature goes, is to ripen at 70 and cool so as to have a temperature of 52 Ft when ready for churning. Ripening cream consists in the development of lactic acid and the development of flavor to get the best results and flavor. To get the best results and have uniform butter, one must have flavor. To get the best results and have uniform butter, one must have a certain rule and follow it. One cannot have uniformity and have a high temperature one day and a low one the next. If you start to cool your cream when four-tenths acidity appears, cool to a certain degree and you will have about the same amount of acidity and flavor providing your starter is the same from day to day. Ripening facilitates churning, produces more butter as a rule, improves the keeping qualities of the butter, and gives a better flavor. To secure these results changes in the proves the keeping quantics of the butter, and gives a better flavor. To secure these results changes in the temperature of cream should be effected gradually. See that your starter is of good flavor. Always ripen at a standard temperature and cool so as to have a temperature of 52 for several hours before churning. The lower the temperature that butter can be churned in a reasonable tength of time, the better will be the butter and the better the quality, but from 50 to 53 in winter I think will give the best results.

The point I have tried to make clear by raising and lowering the cream to a certain temperature you will find will be the correct answer for the question asked at one of the institute meetings. The question was sellegared.

for the question asked at one of the institute meetings. The question was as follows: "What can I do with hard-churning cream? Sometimes I cannot get the butter at all; then, again, it breaks, but is in such fine particles I cannot gather it together." It is true that when cows are long in lactation it is harder to contract whether and if you have not as get butter, and if you have not at thermometer you may be churning at too low a temperature, but providing you have, you will have no trouble if you carry out the system I refer to. But as far as trying I refer to. But as far as trying such a remedy as churning at a temperature of 80 or 100 I don't wonder at anyone seeing a butter "puddin" when you looked in your churn. Oh! dear me, how some of us dairy-school. dear me, now some of us dairy-school fellows get raked over the coals, but I am glad off it. If you do not understand our methods of work we are here to teach you and to prove whereof we speak. It is hard, I know, cometimes to swallow all we preach, and a good raking over is not a bad

"Oh, by the bye, here is your purse!" ne says, hastily thrusting it into her hand. "Joe Roche has had his designs nipped in the bud for the second time—poor young man! Success does not seem to reward his strenuous efforts. And, ah, you had better come downstairs now, and and a measured tramp goes past the door of the dressing-room. Presently the measured tramp of the heavy footsteps return, and a slow, shuffling tread accompanies them; doors are opened and shut loudly downstairs, and sometimes loudly as gusts of wind from through halls and passages.

"I cannot stay here!" Gillian trembling. "I cannot stay here!" reiterates, trembling. "I cannot stay here, helpless, and useless! I do not know what may be happening. I gnight at least go down and sit with poor Uncle Harry, though he said I must not go downstairs." What he said, however, keeps her waiting minute after minute, obediently, shut up there in utter loneliness and darkness, as the faint glow of the fire alone illumines the dressing-room, waiting in an agony of suspense, trying to guess at the causes of the noise she hears, trying to imagine the probable course events are taking down-stairs. There are two men with him—Lacy and Dick Mallon, the bail II and understeward, so he is not left alone, and -he has forbidden her to interfere in any way.

She must obey him. Perhaps he will be pleased a fittle at her obedi-

"The menace—the bugbear—the sword of Damocles—whatever it is, is going to be revealed and fall on me. Well, let it fall!"

For, as she pauses in the doorway, and looks in at the disordered room, at her husband's prostrate figure on the couch with Gillian sitting beside him, she sees that her nephew's newly-wedded wife, Anne Lacy, is sitting by the table, and that the person standing by the bookcase talking to her nephew in a low tone, ls—her husband's son.

"I am to be brought to trial!" she thinks, with concentrated scorn. "Idiots! to dare to imagine they can overwhelm me!"

BLOOD TROUBLES

Manifest Themselves in Many Disagreeable Ways

Such as Scrofula, Eczema, Boils and Pimples-The Blood Should be Purified During the Spring

The spring season is the time for blood cleansing and blood renewing. Blood troubles are many and dangerous-and manifest themselves in score of painful and offensive ways, such as scrofula, eczema, boils ways, such as scroula, eczema, doins and pimples. The impurities that get into the blood pursue their posonous way all over the body and are responsible for a large proportion of all diseases, various in their are responsible for a large proportion of all diseases, various in their nature, but dangerous in the extreme. To have pure blood and plenty of it, you need a tonic and blood builder, and for this purpose there is nothing can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. These pills cure all diseases due to impurities of the blood by promptly cleansing and freeing the blood from all poisonous and offensive matter. If your blood is thin or insufficient, if you suifer from exhaustion at the least exertion; if you are pale, easily get out of breath, and feel constantly languid and fagged out. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure you by filling your veins with new, rich, red blood. Mr. Robt. Lee, New Westminster, B. C., says: "Before I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills my blood was in a very impure state, and as a result, pimples, which were very itchy, broke out all over my body. My appetite was fickle, and I was easily tired, I tried several medicines, but they did not help me. Then my wife urged not help me. Then my wife urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pilis. I got a half dozen boxes, and by the time I had used them I was completely restored to health, and my skin was smooth and clear. I shall always speak a good word for these pills when opportunity offers."

It is because these pills make rich, red blood that they cure such trou-bles as anaemia, shortness of breath, headache, palpitation of the heart, rheumatism, crysipelas. St. Vitus' dance, and the functional st. Vitus' dance, and the functional ailments that make the lives of so many women a source of constant-misery. The genuine pills always bear the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper on every box. ## POINTS OF IMPORTANCE IN BUTTER MAKING

In several of your recent issues I cral hours at 52 before churning, noticed that butter-making has been discussed and in many inbeen discussed and in many instances not along my line, and I stances not along my line, and I don't wonater at some people getting inducted, as one has called the if some of these rules are adhered to that we notice in the different papers from time to time. Now, if you will allow me, I wil try to discuss a few of the many points in cognection with butter-making, which experience has taught, and you can compare my established facts with others which I will be glad to discuss in order that we glad to discuss in order that we may further develop this prom-ing liciustry—Butter-making. To prepare cream for butter-mak-ing is the first point I want to dising is the first potent I want to dis-cuss. If you have cream in the vat-just after separating that tests 35 per cent. of fat, which is the first thing to do? Take the tempera-ture, and if it is to be churned on the following morning at this time of year or during the period from November 1st to April 1st. have November 1st to April 1st, have your temperature about 70 F. and ripca at that temperature. As soon as you have tempered your cream at 70 F, add 10 per cent of good pure-flavored culture starter and stir well to evenly mix it, but not enough to injure the fat glob ules. Let it stand at this temper-ature, stirring occasionally until ules. Let it stand at this temperature, stirring occasionally until four-tenths acklity appears when tested with alkaline solution. This is the proper acklity to start to cool your cream. Now, 10 percent of a good starter should give you this test in eight hours. Sayou add starter at eleven a.m., and at seven p. m., your cream will be ready for cooling. I would cool the cream to 54 and leave the water around it all night, providing you do not use ice; but if the water were so cold that by leaving it ter were so cold that by leaving it ter were so cold that by leaving the around your 'cream all right it would cool to below in F., I would let it run off and place water around the vat at a temperature of 48 F., this will not cool the cream below the churning temperature, which should be 50 to 53 in winter. in winter.

A great many butter makers make a mistake right here; for instance, the churning temperature is 52, and they cool the cream to 46 and raise it to 52 just before churning. and then churn and churn and won der why they are not getting but-ter. What is the difficulty? It is just this: They are practically churning at 46, or at too low a temperature. Why, you will say, I heated the cream to 52, but heatheated the cream to 52, but heating to 52 and having the cream that temperature for several hours before does not give the same results. Cream consists of small particles of fat, and to hold these little particles for considerable time at a low temperature these little globules are thoroughly chilled through; and it takes considerable time for a higher temperature to time for a higher temperature to take effect on these so they will be in the same condition as if tempered at 52 for several hours. The same applies to cream at too high at a temperature for churning. Cream at a temperature of 60 must at least be kept 3 hours at 52 in or-der to have the same results as far as churning goes, as previous churnings where it was held sev-minutes afterwards, will generally give one some trouble to get the granulars large enough and occasionally will become round and con-tain a lot of moisture. Then, again, the higher temperature and cooling to 52 will cause the cream to churn quickly and contain a lot of moist-ure and buttermik that will be difficult to separate.

The best system that I can find to The best system that I can find to ripen cream, as far as temperature goes, is to ripen at 70 and cool so as to have a temperature of 52 Ft when ready for churning. Ripening cream consists in the development of lactic acid and the development of flavor to get the best results and flavor. To get the best results and have uniform butter, one must have a certain rule and follow it. One cannot have uniformity and have a high temperature one day and a low one the next. If you start to cool your cream when four-tenths acidity, appears, cool to a certain degree and one the next. If you start to cool your cream when four-tenths acidity, appears, cool to a certain degree and you will have about the same amount of acidity and flavor providing your starter is the same from day, to day. Ripening facilitates churning, produces more butter as a rule, improves the keeping qualities of the butter, and gives a better flavor. To secure these results changes in the temperature of cream should be effected gradually. See that your starter is of good flavor. Always ripen at a standard temperature and cool so as to have a temperature of 52 for several hours before churning. The lower the temperature that butter can be churned in a reasonable length of time, the better will be the butter and the better the quality, but from 50 to 53 in winter I think will give the best results.

The point I have tried to make clear by raising and lowering the cream to a certain temperature you will find will be the correct answer for the question asked at one of the institute meetings. The question was as follows: "What can I do with hard-churning cream? Sometimes I cannot get the butter at all; then, again, it breaks, that is in such fine cannot get the butter at all; then, again, it breaks, but is in such fine particles I cannot gather it together." It is true that when cows are long in lactation it is harder to get butter, and if you have not at thermometer you may be churning at too low a temperature, but providing you have, you will have no trouble if you carry out the system I refer to. But as far as trying such a remedy as churning at a temperature of 80 or 100 I don't wonder at anyone seeing a butter "puddin'" when you looked in your churn. Oh I dear me, how some of us dary-school dear me, how some of us dary-school. dear me, how some of us dairy-school fellows get raked over the coals, but I am glad of it. If you do not understand our methods of work we are here to teach you and to prove whereof we speak. It is hard, I know, sometimes to swallow all we preach, and a good raking over is not a bad
