Katharine's Sacrifice

Lady Blanche Bellair and Barbara were seated at breakfast the next morning, and enjoying a good feminine chat, while Mrs. Trevanion was engaged in performing commissions for her tyrannical mistress and niece, and Marian Adair was at her lessons, wondering sadly when her dear Craven would send her news from Australia, when the door opened and Lady Drummond came in with a rush.

"Now, what do you think?" she cried, before she had barely got through the formality of shaking hands with Lady Blanche, and bestowing a nod on Barbara. "I heard the news last night; mef Caruthers, who told me you were here, Barbara, and so up I rushed to tell you all about it, and vindicate my cause!"

"That sounds like Bedlam!" Barbara said, coldly. She had a presentiment something disagreeable was going to happen. Lady Drummond curled her lip, and nodded her head. "Wait a moment, my dear!" she observed, with annoying coolness. "First of all, I have found out Katharine and her husband."

"Husband!" broke in Barbara, sneeringly. "Yes, Barbara, husband! Ah! I knew I was right! If ever honesty, purity, and uprightness were written on a woman's face, that face was Katharine Breerton's. You would fall in love with her at once, I know, Lady Blanche—you could not help it."

"Lady Blanche, fortunately for herself, is gifted with more wisdom and common sense," was Barbara's rude reply, to which, however, her aunt made no direct response. "Yes, I have found Katharine, and found her, not an outcast or a disgraced woman, but one who will rank with you, Barbara. She has inherited all old Drystrippe's money, and her home henceforth will be at her own estate, Charlton Abbey."

Lady Blanche gave an exclamation, and Barbara was rendered speechless. Charlton Abbey, the one place above all others of which she had ever been jealous and envious! It was situated only eight miles from Brexley, and had always been a thorn in Miss Mostyn's side, rising as far above her own possession in antiquity, beauty and value as the diamond does above glass. And this had come to Katharine, the girl she had despised, hated, and detested! The thought was maddening.

"Pray, where did you get this fairy story from, Aunt Ellen?" she asked, with a very disagreeable laugh. "From Mr. Montrose, who happens to be one of Katharine Smythe's trustees."

"Katharine Smythe, indeed! On my word, Aunt Ellen, you are easily imposed upon. Pray, have you seen the lady's marriage certificate, and does she stoop to the pretence of wearing a ring?" "I have seen Katharine's eyes as she told me she was Gordon Smythe's lawful wife—a fact Mr. Smythe has taken great pains to impress on every one since that wife has inherited a fortune—and that is enough for me, Barbara."

Lady Drummond's voice was full of quiet contempt, and Lady Blanche's face wore a puzzled, pained expression. "Eyes! Poo! Bah! The woman is an arrant humbug! Aunt Ellen, I am sorry for you!" "And I for you, Barbara," rejoined that lady, who had a keen sense of humor, and was not slow to judge of her own sex. "Let our own faults," she said, turning to Lady Blanche. Lady Drummond continued: "Mr. and Mrs. Smythe go down to-day to Charlton Abbey; the doctors have given him permission, and he will be carried there by the easiest means possible. Katharine has asked me, and I shall pay her a visit as early as I can. Let all the world side against her, I will still believe and respect her—for her father's sake first, and now for her own!"

CHAPTER XXVII. The news of her strange inheritance seemed to Katharine like nothing but a wonderful dream. She could not believe her ears as she stood before Mr. Montrose, and learned that riches, and all that makes life luxurious, had come to her.

"I have had some difficulty in finding you, my dear," Mr. Montrose had said, as the girl still stood speechless and amazed before him. They were talking in a little room that led off the one where Gordon was lying. He could hear every word, and this sudden wealth was something more than marvellous and delightful to him. Katharine was quick to notice the almost pained hesitation with which her father's old friend addressed her. Mr. Montrose called her by no name, thus proving that he already judged her as a woman, and not as a child. She intended she should be judged, and she could do nothing but submit to this. When the question of immediate ways and means had been entered into, Mr. Montrose was about to take his departure, when he was stopped by Gordon's voice, weak and low, calling him from the next room.

"I have heard all you have been saying," he muttered, with a gleam of his old sneer in his eyes and lips. "So—I am married to a rich woman, it seems! Ay," as both Katharine and Mr. Montrose started involuntarily, "we are married, sure enough, aren't we, Katharine?" Katharine smiled for a moment. She found it difficult to stifle her contempt for this man who, now that she could give him riches, determined that she was worthy of the consideration which, as a woman, had been her due from the first; but the next moment a sense of great freedom came over her, and, lifting her eyes to Mr. Montrose, she said, very simply: "I am his wife. I have been his wife from the first."

And then Gordon talked on excitedly about Charlton Abbey, and declared they should go there at once, and he was eager to be at home with his dear wife—his wife, who had been like an angel; had nursed him back from the grave; and so on, till he grew exhausted. Mr. Montrose, watching Katharine, saw her shiver involuntarily. There was much to be questioned, there was much to be known; but a glance at her face determined him to question nothing yet. It was sufficient that he knew her to be Gordon Smythe's legal wife; in time he might find out the truth of this strange affair—the meaning of Katharine's face, but not yet. After that, it was all bustle and confusion to the girl. She seemed to live in a dream, out of which the meeting with Lady Drummond, and her warm, affectionate manner rose gratefully. She was claimed on every side by lawyers, by doctors, and chiefly by Gordon, who, with cunning dread, feared lest she should slip away from him now by some chance. It was not Katharine he doubted; he knew the power she had over her. But now that her position was changed, he feared that she might open her heart to her new friends and so escape him. His one desire, one idea, was to leave London and get away to Charlton Abbey, there to remain until his strength was fully returned. The day came at last that was fixed for the journey. Lucy Smythe, whom Gordon had at length permitted to be informed of all that had happened, was in an agony of fear. All astonishment at the news of Katharine's wealth and the strange marriage had been swallowed up in the natural anxiety her mother's heart had undergone from the first moment. She had rushed up to be with her darling. She had no time, no thought, to say any one but Gordon; and if she had noticed Katharine's pale, changed face, it would only have seemed to her right and natural under the circumstances. The presence of Lucy Smythe was a relief to poor Katharine, for apart from the terrible meal she had had she had been called upon to endure, she was nearly worn out with her constant work in the sick-room. "I think I must go with you and nurse you a little," said Sister Dora, gently, just as she was taking her departure. Katharine smiled faintly. "Come and stay with me, yes. But I need no nursing, dear; I am not ill."

WISE FROG.

Foils Snake Which Tries to Swallow Him.

The following snake story was told some years ago by a reputable citizen of Anson county, says the Charlotteville Observer. Driving along a public road one day he saw a frog crossing the road at top speed—hitting only the high places, and few of them. As the frog disappeared in the bushy underbrush on one side a black snake in hot pursuit made its appearance on the other.

The story teller followed the two into the bushes to see what the result would be. He had proceeded only a short distance when he found the frog at bay, facing the snake and with the latter circling about in the effort to make an attack from the rear. His froggy kept turning all the time, always facing the enemy.

The reason of this manoeuvre on the snake's part was that the frog had in its mouth, held crosswise, and about the middle, a stick about the size and length of a lead pencil. The frog knew the snake could not swallow him so long as he presented such a front. The man watched the performance for some time, and when he left the snake was still circling the frog, and the latter facing its enemy on every turn.

It is reported that $127,500 is the amount the Province will receive from insurance companies in connection with the Parliament buildings fire.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKETS. London—London cables for cattle are easy, at 12 to 13.3-4c per pound for Canadian steers, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 11.4-4 to 11.1-2c per pound.

COBALT STOCKS. The mining market in Toronto exhibited considerable activity yesterday, and a number of stocks made a substantial advance over the previous day's close. The brokers were highly gratified at the turn in the market, and expressed anticipations of a profitable fall business. The feeling that the Government would make a reduction in royalties was widespread, and probably was an active factor in enhancing the prices of a number of stocks that would be affected.

STORM SWEEPS TENNESSEE.

Fifteen Persons Killed in One Town by the Storm.

Another Town Almost Wiped Out by Fire Last Night.

The Damage Done at Key West—17 Lives Lost.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 15.—Three persons known to have been killed, others injured and missing and several towns and villages demolished, is the toll taken by a storm of tornado proportions which swept through Western Tennessee early last night, according to the meagre details possible to secure over crippled wires. Many points in the pathway of the tornado are yet to be heard from and that the total of dead and injured will be increased as telegraphic communication is restored, is believed certain. Coming from the south-east the wind wrecked many structures in its path and numberless buildings were unroofed.

From some points come reports of a heavy rainfall, accompanying the wind, while in other districts rain fell with violence.

Denmark, in Madison County, is practically demolished, the added horror of fire following quickly in the wake of the storm, and at midnight it seemed certain that by to-day the wrecked town would be in ashes. At this place 18 of the more modern buildings were torn from their foundations, while the smaller buildings were demolished. Denmark had a population of about 350 persons. Of the fatalities two occurred here. Albert Barnes and his child, an infant, were caught among the falling timbers of their home and crushed to death. Mr. Barnes was injured.

Near Mulberry in Lincoln county, Thomas Helm was killed and Homer Ashby and wife were injured.

Near Wartrace a negro settlement was blown away.

Dyersburg, Covington, Stanton and Burford Station are other towns reporting minor damage.

TOWN BURNED. Related despatches reaching Memphis early to-day confirm previous reports as to loss of life, personal injury and property damage from the storm which swept through north Alabama and Middle and West Tennessee last night. The casualties so far as known are three killed outright and approximately a score injured. As to the monetary loss an accurate estimate is as yet impossible. Later advices confirmed the report that Denmark, in Madison county, Tenn., had been practically wiped from the map, fire following the passage of the storm, continuing the work of destruction. To-day the town is nothing but a smouldering mass of debris, only a few buildings escaping the flames, and these are damaged by the wind to such an extent as to necessitate a complete rebuilding.

With the first gust of wind, besides numerous dwellings and more frail structures, eighteen substantial business houses were twisted into wreckage. Quickly following the passage of the storm came the fire, and for several hours, with the aid of primitive appliances, an effort was made to fight the flames, but to little avail.

The last despatches from Denmark told of the fire gradually burning itself out.

Near Nulberry the dwelling and farm houses on the plantation of Robert Mattow were demolished.

At Wartrace a negro settlement was leveled.

The storm played havoc with plantation property, the wind tearing the frail farm buildings to bits. Numberless trees were unroofed, and the hail and heavy downpour of rain levelled vegetation.

Telephone and telegraph companies suffered materially, long stretches of wire being torn from their fastenings.

FIFTEEN KILLED. Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 15.—A despatch from Acton, Tenn., early to-day says fifteen people were killed at Hamburg, Tenn., when the storm passed over that section last night. The property damage was heavy.

SITUATION AT KEY WEST. Key West, Fla., Oct. 15.—With generous contributions coming in from different sections of the country in response to Mayor Fogarty's appeal for aid, for the storm sufferers, the stricken city no longer under martial law, is busy with the work of clearing away the debris and preparing for the resumption of normal business conditions.

It is believed here that when all points are heard from the total death list will not be more than seventeen already reported in these despatches.

Reports of conflicts between soldiers and citizens are without foundation. Only reports of minor disturbances have been made.

NOT A SUCCESS. Doncaster, Eng., Oct. 15.—Great Britain's first aviation meeting advertised to open this morning gives little indication thus far of fulfilling the promises of its promoters. The conditions to-day are most depressing. A half dozen aeroplanes in various stages of completion occupy unfinished sheds at one side of the race course where the field has been converted into an aerodrome.

Angered because he had been reprimanded, and believing his cousin, Margaret Lang, aged 18, had complained to his mother, little George Augustian, aged 7, shot and instantly killed the young woman at Pittsburg yesterday.

LIVE WIRE.

Charles Allen, Workman in Plant at Falls, Shocked to Death.

Niagara Falls, Oct. 14.—Charles Allen, 45 years old, of La Salle, was shocked to death this morning at 8 o'clock at the plant of the Niagara Alkali Company in Buffalo avenue, a current of 400 volts' pressure coursing through his body for about two minutes.

Allen was at work in the evaporator room of the plant, where there was considerable moisture. Standing on a wet platform, he reached over a partition for something, and his hand came in contact with a live wire which furnished current to four lights in series. His feet were wet and the contact was almost perfect.

Just as he touched the wire he let out a cry, which was heard by two men working close by. They ran to him, but when they touched him they received the shock. Leaving him, they ran to Levi Schoen, the foreman, and he released Allen, receiving a shock in doing it. Dr. W. H. Potter was called and began artificial respiration, but had no response.

BANK ROBBER

Who Shot Himself May be From Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Will K. Harris admitted late last night that the man who killed himself on Wednesday night after robbing a bank in Highland Park, Ill., was in all probability her son, Lamar Harris, former attorney of this city.

Mrs. Harris based her conclusion on the description and certain marks on the dead robber telegraphed by the Chicago police.

Since the Chicago despatches carried the story that the robber was Lamar Harris, his mother, and young wife have been prostrated. The wife is said to be dangerously ill.

JAP MARINES,

Also Italians Help to Put Out Frisco Fire.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Bearing a quaint lantern at the end of a long pole a squad of Japanese marines from the cruiser Idzuma, landed here late last night and marched through the streets in double quick time to the scene of a serious fire in the factory district. They had seen the flames and had come to help the firemen. The marines were in command of Lieut. Yamanouchi.

Soon afterwards a landing party came from the Italian cruiser Calabria. Lieut. Beller, who was in command, explained that from the ship it looked as if the city might be in the grasp of another great conflagration.

The firemen found little use for the marines as the fire soon was under control. It spread through several furniture warehouses and did more than $100,000 damage.

THE FARM

DOUBLE THE INCOME PER COW.

Dominion Department of Agriculture, branch of the Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner.

Several instances are on record in Ontario and Quebec where members of cow testing associations, who are systematically weighing and sampling the milk from each individual cow in the herd, have been enabled to increase the yield of milk per cow tremendously. Mere weighing and sampling, of course, has not increased the yield, but it has been the most important factor in the general improvement; it has shown that lots of cows are not worth keeping; it has shown that others could profitably consume more good feed; it has shown the owners that they must study each cow to make her do her best; it has shown that most cows will respond readily to better care and attention, and will earn more money if given the opportunity. It means good money in any farmer's pocket if he will have a little patience and act on the information gained from the records. The man is now getting from his twenty cows an income of $480 per year more than he was three years ago. A smaller herd in 1904 brought in only $23.80 per cow, but last year the owner received nearly $58 per cow, in other words he is now getting more than double the previous income per cow.

CANARY BIRDS OF NORWICH.

Great Trade in Songsters in the Old English Cathedral Town.

There is no need to explain head, created or created bred—for there are few people in all the world who keep pets to whom, at some time or another, the Norfolk capital has not sent these little sweet voiced birds of its own breeding, but it is not generally known what an extent the business of canary breeding has grown, so that it has become one of the most important industries of a busy city boasting a large and increasing export trade. It is said that in the long ago a merchant-founder became the coast of Flanders and before he went down a number of singing canaries which the sailors were carrying as pets were released and flew to the island. There the peasants captured them and found them so charming that they fostered them in their own way. The result is that for nearly two centuries the City of Churches has also been a City of Canaries. It is to-day a colony of golden songsters, and people engaged in almost every trade are canary fanciers. There is a saying that canaries fly to freedom about the city of Norwich and it is sometimes literally true, for with so many thousands of the birds in the place that are bound to be frequent escapes. The fanciers are prepared for this. They have their large nets at hand and they go out to watch the movements of the canaries. When the latter congregate on an obvious expedition of "mobbing," the escaped canary is generally found in the midst.

HEARD MANY OBJECTIONS.

Annexation Committee Met Those Opposed Last Evening.

Demand For Terms as Favorable As In the Past.

Will Come Before Municipal Board on November 2.

The people east of Sherman avenue, who will be citizens of Hamilton as soon as the Railway and Municipal Board, on November 2, fixes the terms on which they are to be annexed, were given a chance last night to air their views before the civic annexation committee. Both those who objected and those who favored the scheme were there and the discussion in spots was lively.

W. M. McClelland, who appeared for the residents of School Section 8, objecting to annexation, argued strongly for a concession of a ten year township assessment at the township rate. These property owners, he pointed out, were the heaviest tax payers in the district. They had made many improvements at their own expense, not expecting annexation, and surely they were entitled to some consideration.

Mayor McLaren reported that these people would expect the city privileges. "Why should you expect some one else to pay for the privileges you get?" asked his worship.

Mr. McClelland declared that the property owners expected nothing they were not paying for. He thought these people had a very good argument, and should be treated fairly.

Major McBurn appeared on behalf of the Sanford estate, which has a thirty-two acre farm immediately west of Trout street. It was used solely as a fruit farm, he said, and wanted none of the privileges the city spoke of giving.

"We should have a township rate and assessment as long as it is used for present purposes," he said. "When it is cut up into building lots, I say, soak it."

J. J. Scott, K. C., who is interested in an 83 acre farm property owned by Messrs. Case and Gage, bounded by Sherman avenue, Trolley, King and Barton streets, handed out some hot shot.

Mr. Scott declared the city would be doing no more than it had done in four previous annexation deals to give the property a ten year township assessment, at the township rate. Every other city did it. The property wanted none of the privileges the other property would get. He was willing that any of the property, as soon as put on the market, should pay the city assessment and rate.

"I hope we won't have any more annexation deals like the last one or the city will be ruined," said his worship.

"Well, I would be willing to ruin the city every day that way," said Mr. Scott, "I encouraged the annexations, and they were the best things that ever happened for the city in getting new industries."

"I think it is positively pathetic, the way Hamilton has been going," said Mr. Scott. "We should be growing as no other city in Canada. Any one can answer the question, Are we? When I look at other places, Toronto for instance, where twenty factories are building, and see not one in Hamilton, which should have them all, I wonder what is the reason. I believe it is due to the piecemeal little annexations that Hamilton does not occupy the position it did a few years ago. We have to go to things in a different style. I want a square deal in this matter, and I am going to get it if I can."

Before Mr. Scott concluded he declared that the rest of the country was laughing at Hamilton.

Ald. Peregrine—I don't think so, Mr. Scott.

Mr. Scott—I know it. I have had them laugh at me.

Ald. Peregrine—I don't think any city in Canada has increased more per capita in manufacturing than Hamilton.

Mr. Scott—In what time?

Ald. Peregrine—In the last six years.

Mr. Scott—Go back three years and I don't know of one new American manufacturer that has come here.

Ald. Cooper—Are we discussing this or annexation?

The Mayor said the city had no intention of creating any hardship.

"I fancy, though, the rate will have to be universal," said His Worship.

"Why; it is not the case in the city," replied Mr. Scott.

Mr. Scott charged that the Township Council had played a game in "boosting" the rate away up this year, expecting that the district was going to be annexed. The assessment, he thought, should be based on the 1908 assessment, and he wanted the terms fixed in the proclamation, so there would be no mistake.

He had three or four experiences in which he was not given the benefit of the farm land assessment, as called for in the Act.

Replying to Mr. Scott, J. J. Horning, who spoke for residents of School Section 8, desired that the township rate was unusually high this year. The people he spoke for were willing to have the assessment fixed on the 1909 basis.

Mr. Horning spoke at length on the improvements already made in the district he represented. "We will be paying more in taxes, and needless improvements, and will get less in improvements than any other section," he said.

The argument used in the City Hall that the people he spoke for had gone east to escape heavy taxation, and were trying to get privileges for nothing, he considered was beneath the dignity of Hamilton's officials. Mr. Horning called attention to the fact that the township had given concessions to the city for any privileges it had in the way of sewer and water connections. The men who lead the people into the annexation deal, he contended, should, if they wanted to get a fair deal for them, should have held out for a ten-year exemption for the whole district to be annexed.

"I am afraid they would have been working a long time," observed the Mayor.

Here was the opinion of William John Henderson, a Crown Point workman: "When I got my first tax paper from the township it nearly knocked me cold, and I wished then I had built in the city. Everything down there is paying his share. We want sewers and water, and we will be willing to pay the city rate. We are sure the city will deal fairly with us. As far as the poor people are concerned, they are not complaining."

William Strong spoke at length. There was a funny little passage between him and the Mayor. Mr. Strong was enlarg-

WILL BE SENT TO PASTEUR.

Dundas Girl Who Was Bitten to Have Treatment.

Reception in Honor of Miss Baskerville, Last Night.

Little Children Before Mayor—Censure For Railway.

Dundas, Oct. 15.—The reception given to Miss Baskerville by the Baptist people in the school room last evening was one of great heartiness and enthusiasm. Twenty-one years ago Miss Baskerville, daughter of the late Thomas Baskerville, and a member of the public school teaching staff, left a comfortable, happy home here and went to India to join the Baptist Telugu mission. There she labored with much success for about thirteen years, then, owing to failing health, she returned to her Dundas home. During her absence her father and a sister had been removed by death. After remaining a few months, her health so far improved that she again returned to her missionary work, to which she devoted eight more years, and now once more visits her native town. During her last absence death claimed another sister, Mrs. McEwan, and her beloved mother. Other members of the family have gone elsewhere, so that no members of the family to which she belonged remain in Dundas. But she has here a goodly number of relatives and by the Baptists is idolized for the work in which she is engaged, as well as for numerous estimable qualities. The attendance at the reception given her last evening was quite large. Pastor Grant was the chief of ceremonies, and after refreshments had been partaken of the programme following was begun by singing in a hearty and inspiring manner, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." Mr. Grant then, in a short address, welcomed the guest of the evening among them again, and referred briefly to her great worth and the good she had accomplished in her chosen avocation. Other addresses followed from W. J. Kerr, C. A. Shaver, John Douglas and S. C. Patterson, all of whom spoke in very high praise of Miss Baskerville. In introducing these speakers the chairman's brief remarks were cheery and witty. Besides the addresses were a programme of good musical programmes, consisting of two piano duets by the talented Misses Durrant, a beautiful instrumental duet by the Misses Ralph, a solo, much appreciated, by Mrs. Jones, and a pleasing piano solo by Miss Douglass. The programme over, Miss Baskerville, who had called upon, and was received with great heartiness. She referred briefly to her mission work, for which she still possessed a growing love. Her benevolences were mentioned briefly, but the greater part of her twenty minutes' address was devoted to the great importance of mission work, and closed by asking that no friends of any one desiring to engage therein should put any barriers in the way, as the importance of the work justified all sacrifices that could be made. Singing the doxology brought a happy and delightful reunion to a close, after which the guest of the evening had a hearty handshake with nearly all present.

A meeting of the Finance Committee of the Council was held last evening, when the mad dog case and the Mayor's proclamation were discussed. The result was that the committee decided that the little girl, in the west end, who, a few days ago, was bitten by a dog, which it was found showed symptoms of rabies, should be sent to the Pasteur Institute in New York.

Word has been received that Alex. Goodbrand, who, with his family, went to Alberta last spring, has been a sufferer from prairie fire. The raging fire reached his place and consumed his hay stack and other property, but through the efforts of neighbors the house was saved. Mr. Goodbrand was from home at the time.

Edmund Zass, of Greenville, had a damaging runaway on Wednesday morning. His team was at Buldler's store, and becoming frightened dashed up King street, carrying the hind portion of the wagon opposite the Bowman Gray planing mills. When the runaway was reached the water-fountain there was struck and damaged to such an extent that it is out of business for a time. The only injury to the horses was a cut on the hind leg of one of them just near the fetlock joint. The wagon was demolished beyond repair.

One day last week two lads, more children, loosened the brake on a T. H. & B. car standing on Bond street. The result was that it started down town with ever increasing velocity, and was going at a terrific speed when it reached the Hat street station. It happened that a locomotive and two cars were standing on the Bertram switch, and taking in the situation they were started down the track and the runaway car was allowed to make a rear-end collision, and was in this way brought to a standstill. The boys were brought before Mayor Lawson yesterday for the offence, but were allowed to go on account of their youth. The Mayor censured the company for not having a sound stop-block.

A child named Boyle, in the west end, was sent to the isolation hospital, suffering with scarlet fever.

Joseph and George Taylor were up on remand again yesterday before Mayor Lawson. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the Crown Attorney in Toronto the cast was postponed for a week. The only witness examined was Stratford, the husband of the woman in the case. He testified that Joseph Taylor had told him that Mrs. Stratford was in Toronto with man named Owens; also that George Taylor had told him that he had had a post card from Owens, saying she was there.

Farmer Must Pay for Jilting His Sweetheart, Miss Wright.

Braesbride, Oct. 14.—Before Justice MacMahon at the Assizes, Miss Elizabeth Wright, of Braesbride, was awarded $1,000, against Frederick Bastedo. Bastedo is a prominent farmer in McLean township. The wedding was to have taken place last September, and was postponed three or four times to definite dates, on one occasion the bride-to-be having guests invited, bridesmaid engaged, and feast spread, when the defendant failed to appear.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

The Jubilee Singers, who are giving concerts in the different churches in connection with the A. M. E. Church, gave a pleasing entertainment last evening in the auditorium of St. Andrew's Church school, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Considering that it was their second appearance at St. Andrew's, an exceptionally large crowd was in attendance, and although the programme was lengthy one, the crowd seemed to greatly enjoy it. The programme was a varied one, composed of selections that appeal to both old and young, and introducing some real clever novelties. While a few of the numbers were of a difficult kind, the choristers acquitted themselves creditably. Their singing was the feature and it won much applause. They sang many popular songs, and as Mr. Hendon, their pastor, said in a little speech: "One thing about our voices is that nature has blessed us with scientific training that white people lack." A few of their numbers were old Southern melodies, which sent a quiver through many a heart. The feature, however, was a sketch, entitled "Old Uncle Ben from Alabama," in which Mr. Wesley Day, who has spent much of his time south, with his Southern style, he made an impression and was loudly applauded. All the numbers received encores. The programme included the following:

Good News ..... Jubilee
Zion's Children, How Do You Do ..... Jubilee
Solo ..... N. O. Patterson, Baritone
Instrumental Selection ..... Kathleen Holland
Reading ..... Bessie Peters
Roll, Jordan, Roll ..... Jubilee
Duet—Isn't Love a Grand Old Thing? ..... Hiram Berry and Mabel Berry
What Kind of Shoes Are You Going to Wear? ..... Jubilee
Sketch—Old Uncle Ben from Alabama ..... Wesley Day and others
Duet—Business is Business ..... Hiram and Mabel Berry
Do You Think I'll Make a Soldier? ..... Jubilee
Solo ..... Hiram Berry
Hold the Light ..... Jubilee
Duet ..... Wesley Day and N. Jones
Reading—A Sermon ..... N. Patterson
Swing Low, Sweet Chariot ..... Jubilee
I'm Rolling ..... Jubilee
Rev. J. A. Wilson, the chairman, was in a jocular mood and continually kept the audience in laughter with his funny sayings. After the concert those who helped to make the evening enjoyable sat down to a table well laden with good things.

BENNETT'S THEATRE.

The array of talent booked for Bennett's next week looks like an ideal vaudeville combination, embracing nearly everything that goes to make up a capital bill. The management was fortunate in securing as the headliner the great dramatic sketch, "The Vital Question," which has been scoring such a big success this week in Montreal. Around a story of political corruption in the west the author has written an intensely interesting sketch, bristling with dramatic action and a powerful climax that is said to thrill the audience. The cast is exceptionally good and the American press notices say that there is more clever acting to the minute in this little playlet than one is apt to see in many months in the ordinary run of vaudeville offerings. With such a strong feature attraction, supported by performers of such merit as Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barry, the Sisters Gasch, in their sensational gymnastic offering, and Happy Jack Gardner, of minstrel fame, the bill next week should satisfy the most fastidious.

IRISH NIGHT AT THE GRAND.

Bernard Daly sings "The Wearing of the Green" in his new romantic play "Sweet Innisfallen," besides five other songs, "The Rose of Killarney," "Hide and Seek," "Sweet Innisfallen," "The Call of the Wind," and "Sweet Eyes of Irish Blue." Mr. Daly comes to the Grand next Thursday night with this new romance, which is said to be the best play he has ever had. He is surrounded by a very capable company, and very picturesque stage settings. Seats go on sale Tuesday morning.

DAVID COPPERFIELD.

Lovers of Dickens are promised quite a treat at the Grand next Tuesday evening, when David Copperfield will be presented by an excellent company, and with a perfect stage setting. Speaking of the performance the Buffalo Express says: "David Copperfield, Dickens' immortal story, was presented last night at the Lyric to a capacity house. Difficult as it is to succeed in dramatizing this novel, the production gives a coherent following of the story and lifelike portraits of many quaint characters in the book. The scenic effects were excellent, the interior of Daniel Peggotty's ark and the churchyard of Canterbury Cathedral being particularly realistic. As David Copperfield, Franklin Pangborn gives a careful interpretation of the part, and Dorothy Lee as Agnes Wickfield and Edna Bothner as Little Emily, won several rounds of applause. The make-up and acting of Wild Scott as Uriah Heep, deserves special mention, and Dan Peggotty was well portrayed by Claude Gourdau. Harry W. Collins, as Wilkins Micawber, did some clever work, and William Clifford as James Steerforth, the school boy friend of David, read his lines well. Dickens lovers cannot afford to miss this production of David Copperfield, the inevitable sayings and actions of his people are to be heard and seen once more and for two hours and a half last night the audience enjoyed a trip to Dickensland."

TENNYSON-STRAUSS.

The blending of genius ever a delight. Last night the genius of Richard Strauss was blended with that of Tennyson, when Mr. Walter Booth, of Montreal, gave an excellent recitation of the play of Enoch Arden, while Miss Mabel Green played Strauss' accompaniment to it, in the Central Methodist Church school room.

The recital was given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the church. The audience was a large and appreciative one, and both artists deserve unstinted praise for the talent they exhibited.

The musical accompaniment was appropriate to the poem. Miss Green also played two piano selections during the evening, which were much enjoyed. Rev. Isaac Couch was chairman and conveyed the thanks of the audience to the entertainers in a few nice words.

Quaint Ideas for the Hostess

★ To Use at the Hallow'een Party ★

If one is giving a Hallow'een party and desires something new in the way of invitation, cut from yellow cardboard tiny pumpkins, and with water color paints, indicate their stripes and stems. On one side let the invitation and on the other a grinning jack-o'-lantern face.

Another quaint idea is to use cards of the usual size, with a little black witch flying through the air on a broomstick stenciled in one corner, while in the lower opposite corner the witch's black cat arches his back and waves his tail. These little figures should be in solid black.

One clever hostess sent out little booklets, on the cover of which stood a gayly painted witch. Above her was written: "Wouldst know thy future?" and beneath her were the words: "Look within."

And inside was found a little invitation, which certainly might be construed as a part of future good times.

For a Hallow'een card party the tables and scores should be decorated with little pictures of witches and witch cats. The first prize might be a pack of fortune telling cards, and the consolation a little brooch in silver gilt of a witch riding a broomstick. There are numbers of little silver novelties made with the witch for motif, so the hostess who wishes to give prizes has her way smoothed for her.

DECORATIONS FOR THE DINNER.

For a Hallow'een dinner the centerpiece should be of brilliant autumn leaves, with here and there among them perched a little owl made of grey tissue paper and stuffed with a little cotton.

With two shoe buttons set on small circles of yellow cardboard for eyes.

At each place there should be a hobgoblin filled with candy, which may be bought at almost any candy shop. The candle shades should be of yellow tissue paper, shaped to resemble jack-o'-lanterns, and a grinning jack-o'-lantern head, cut from a real pumpkin, with a candle to light it, should be set upon the mantelpiece and banked with autumn leaves.

The place cards should be in the shape of little brooms cut out of cardboard, and if the names are written backward will add to the fun.

With the salad serve fateful cheese straws. To make them, cut long strips of cream colored paper about eight inches long by one-half inch wide. On each strip write a funny fortune—some verse of poetry taken from a book of quotations if you have not the ability to write amusing jingles. Roll up the strips of paper into round spikes, and sprinkle each with a few dots of red water color paint to simulate red pepper. Lay them on plates and serve as if they were real cheese straws.

Instead of having small cakes with the ices, bring in a big cake and let each cut a slice. There should be baked in it a silver coin for wealth, a silver thimble for the spinster or bachelor, and a tin for the teatime one to wed. The ices should be served in ice cups made of transparent red apples.

TO ENTERTAIN LESS FORMALLY.

Those who do not wish to entertain so formally may give a Hallow'een party devoted to the games and charms of long ago. If there is no fear of the spoiling

The Right House

"HAMILTON'S FAVORITE SHOPPING PLACE"

Reorganization

A re-organization of this old-established business is going on. We have just become another link in the chain of great stores which is known as the strongest organization of merchandising associations in the world, and through which THE RIGHT HOUSE becomes immediately identified with the famous James McCreery & Co. stores in New York and the Wm. Henger Co. store in Buffalo.

This is a great thing for the shopping public of Hamilton and vicinity. It means greater purchasing power to THE RIGHT HOUSE. The organization's foreign buying offices in Paris, London and other European cities, and in New York, will secure for Hamiltonians the very latest novelties in approved styles and exclusive merchandise, and all purchased direct from the great manufacturers of the world at lowest cost. Direct to the fountain head of production we can now go, which in many cases would have been heretofore impossible for one store alone.

The policy of THE RIGHT HOUSE in handling only reliable goods and the giving of individual care to the purchasing of merchandise shall, as in the past, be carefully safeguarded. The personal tastes and wants of our customers, so well known to us, will, as in the past, receive the same individual attention.

The advantages of our new close connection with the best organization of dry goods stores will soon become apparent to all—a bigger, better RIGHT HOUSE is our aim.

Meanwhile we ask the public to be patient with any little inconveniences they may possibly be put to during our stock-taking, which is now rapidly nearing completion.

THOMAS C. WATKINS

of clothes, let bobbing for apples be the game for the men, while for the girls try this: Hide a ring in a six-inch heap of flour on the pastry board. The girl who can bring out the ring in her lips is the next one to be married.

If this seems too undignified a sport for modern days, tie apples by long strings to the portiere pole and let each man and girl try to eat an apple thus suspended. Be sure that the apples are big ones and brightly polished, as this makes them much harder to bite.

While this is going on arrange a bean race in another room. Give each pair of players a dozen small beans to be carried on the blade of an ordinary table knife from one side of the room to the other and dropped into a slender, long necked vase. Time each couple, and to the shortest time give a prize—perhaps a box of candy beans.

"Fishing for Fortunes" is another good game. To prepare for this you should have a number of tiny souvenirs, with a line of rhyme if possible, and each sewed in a little cheese cloth bag, more or less fish shaped according to your skill and with a little brass ring sewed to the back of each fish. Many little favors will be found in toy shops and among doll trinkets. There should be one colored fish for the girls and another for the men. Let the guests fish with long lines to prolong the fun. Here are some suggestions for the favor:

For the men:
A doll's mitten, with the lines:
Alas, poor chap, as harmless as a kitten,
What did you ever do to always get the mitten?

With a button, needle and thread:
I'm afraid you are too fussy, you will never find a wife—
But you are now prepared to sew your buttons on for life.

With a wee automobile:
Here's a man who owns a car;
The maidens all adore him,
It's only the chap with the flying machine
Who can get there before him.

For the girls:
With a couple of bright new pennies:
I know that you hanker
To marry a banker.

With a toy soldier:
Here's a dashing son of Mars,
Hero of some twenty wars—
He'll be crazy over you.

With a tiny teapot:
And I know you'll love him true.
With a tiny teapot:
You'll never marry, but don't you care:
You'll have a good time, and some to spare.

So put your pussy cat and drink your cup of tea.

As comfortable a spinster as one would care to see.

NEW BETTER THAN THE OLD.

A game of this sort takes the place of the older pouring of melted lead into water, or walking blindfold to choose among the three saucers. The first of these was always difficult to prepare and dangerous, too, for someone was sure to be burnt, but the latter may still be played if desired.

To choose partners for supper, drape a thick curtain between the doorway of two rooms, and let the girls in turn each extend her left hand through the door, first taking off her rings. The men choose the hand they like best. Or the game may be reversed and the girls select their escorts to supper by choosing hands.

For the supper, if the guests are not too many in number, a chafing dish feast is delightful. Have two chafing dishes at least, and prepare chicken, creamed with Waldorf salad, olives, and sandwiches of different sorts—making sure that there are plenty of plain bread and butter ones. After this, ices, cake, and bonbons may be served. Chocolate or coffee will be acceptable with this menu.

CHASED BY WOLVES.

Bailiff Has an Adventure Near Shawville, Que.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Farmers' flocks in the back townships of Pontiac county are suffering very heavily this year from wolves, which seem to have been driven from their haunts in the woods because of lack of game.

Joseph Gilpin, bailiff of Otter Lake, near Shawville, was coming along one of the bush roads in Huddersfield in his buggy a few nights ago when a pack of wolves took up the trail and soon dashed out of the woods into the road. The brutes snapped at the horse several times and once caught the animal by the knee, and almost caused it to fall. It was only by driving furiously that he escaped.

SCRAP BOOK

POETRY

AUTHOR OF "FACE ON FLOOR."
His Poem Has Been Recited In Every Corner of the Globe—A New Composition.

The author of "The Face on the Floor," better known probably by its unauthorized, but common title, "The Face on the Bathroom Floor"—the most widely recited composition that has been put forth since "The Light Brigade," "Casablanca" and "Father, Come Home," Mr. H. A. D'Arcy.

If the popularity of a man's work meant money in his purse Mr. D'Arcy would never need to work any more, but probably 50 per cent. of those who have recited or applauded the stirring verses aforementioned never even knew the name of the author and never read one cent for the pleasure he afforded them.

So Mr. D'Arcy is piling up an excellent living by press-agenting for Charles Cherry, Incidentally he still puts to account his gift for verbiage. A recent effort, in the true Bret Hartigan vein, is much better poetry than the "Face on the Floor" and should enjoy almost as universal an appeal. Like "The Face" it has a distinct moral intention stowed beneath its vivid story, and perhaps it will do something to allay the racial hatred that is too common in the West. It is called "Charlie Wenz" and is as follows:

The west was pretty wild when Bill Durant and I went out.
"Two of us were a somewhat thin about, Bill took his pretty wife along (they'd been wed about a year).
A buzzon king, and I she war, that never thought o' fear.

And I don't know that she needed to, for the miners, one and all,
Would have fought for her like devils if she ever raised a hand.
And her of a fairly built a hut to keep her from the dump
A little baby was born—the first 'un in our camp.

And didn't the boys keep Christmas? Well, I'm shouting now they did.
Why, they all got roarin' till that night, just in honor of the day,
And the "Charlie Wenz" baby were a little tot o' three years old.
She had a big tomato can just filled with virgin rolls.

I built a cabin 'bout a quarter mile away from the mine,
So we both had kind er cosy homes protected by the hills;
And I offered her the Chinaman, had opened bandy by
The laundry o' the canyon, and he washed for Bill and me.

Now, Chinamen ain't liked too well, and one Charlie got pretty badly used, I remember now
Just when the trouble were about, but Bill were in the fray,
And he helped to beat the Chinaman in a rather brutal way.

Durant weren't bad at heart, ye know, but he didn't love Mongolians, nor own 'um men and brothers;
And I offered her and say that if the Chinamen were near He'd cut the leper's pigtail off and stick it through his ear.

One evening Lizzie (Durant's wife) and little Wenz comin' home toward the hills when all at once a wild heard behind—two wolves war on their track;
Liz says she stopped and grabbed the child and threw it on her back.

Then shrieking aloud for help, she ran all the hills and Toward the Chinese laundry but the wolves came fast behind;
Nearer and nearer they came; then she saw "Charlie Wenz" door,
The mother, with her precious load, fell prone upon the floor.

Bill and I were talkin' when we heard the fearful cries,
And runnin' to the laundry the sight that met our eyes
Was far too terrible to tell, for there was Dead, and a blood-stained knife in hand full fifteen inches long.

He's fought a fearful battle; one brute war by his side
With the child hanging out, and blood stains on its side;
But 'tater had got its work in afore Bill and I could get to the scene,
And wer gnawin' Charlie's throat and face till the bones were layin' bare.

Wal, we made quick work o' Mr. Wenz, we filled 'um full o' lead,
Then gathered child and mother up and took 'um home to bed.
Next day when Lizzie told her tale, Bill's eyes were full o' tears,
He didn't wear much sentiment, and hadn't went for years.

Poor "Washie" when we packed him up the camp boys stood around,
Each one with hat in hand and tearful eyes
We shipped the corpse to Erico, with a bag o' yellow dust
To carry the trash to Pekin—to "Rest in Peace," I trust.

But ever after that, if any man had got the face
To say "Chinamen wer yellow dogs, he'd better quit the mine;
For that ain't a name more holy held by any nation left—
The "Charlie Wenz" and the Chinaman, that saved Bill's wife and child, was

Crowded to the Doors Saturday

A great demonstration of the proof of that extraordinary Overcoat and Suit value-giving and that better quality of clothing and lesser quantity of price that prevail here was our crowded store on Saturday. The Overcoat trade started off with a big whirl of selling. That superior fitting of our garments talk stronger than any newspaper advertising. We're sweeping the last vestige of old-time merchant tailor prejudice away like a mist on June morning with the superb fitting C. N. & R. brand fine Overcoats and Suits. The brightest brains of the cutters and the best trained artists among the coat builders on the continent are assembled in their large, well-lighted tailor shops turning out men's and young men's clothes that are as much ahead, in comparison with the average merchant tailor's work as the handsome touring car is of the democrat wagon. Throw your prejudice to the winds and compare. It's money in your pocket. Whether your requirements call for a $5 or a $25 outfit.

COMMENT AND GOSSIP

Well, the Pirates and Tigers are tie for the world's series, and to-morrow's game in Detroit will settle the championship. Whichever wins the series has proved to be the most interesting and desperately fought of any recent years. The baseball itself has been spectacular, but the majority of the spectators were interested in the great pair of players, Wagner and Cobb, the best in either league, and they have not been unrewarded.

Mr. Miles Townsend, formerly a school master at Highfield, has been playing great cricket in England this summer. He has scored over 1,900, with an average of 60 runs. Mr. Townsend played with the Hamilton Club during May and June of last year.

Cut out and save the predictions of the fight experts on the Ketchel-Johnson fight; they'll make funny reading next week.

The Hamilton Bowling & Athletic Association has a block of seats for the Pittsburgh-Detroit game on Saturday. Any person wishing same can secure them at the club.

That cocking main has been tipped off to the police. Fight has been postponed until night of the Tiger-Ottawa game. Double attraction should draw a big crowd of dead game sports to town.

Mooney Gibson's work is shown in vivid contrast to the catching department of the Tigers. Stange caught well one game, but both he and Shmidt are much behind the form of the London boy.

THE FRIENDS' PROGRESS.
While waiting for the cavalcade to resume, we as chairman of the committee appointed to investigate and report on "The Downward Progress of the Cigarette Addict," shall make our report to Lucy Page Gaston.

The same attends:
Dear Lucy: We selected a likely specimen and trailed him for a week, with the following result:

Saturday (pay day)—Sandringham, Yildiz (the kind the king smokes), ten for 50 cents.

Sunday—Egyptian Satanities, ten for a quarter.

Monday—Turkish Animosities, ten for 15 cents.

Tuesday—Casket Screws, fifteen for 13 cents, with two coupons.

Wednesday—Nearer to These, ten for 10 cents, with three coupons.

Thursday—Three Baggers, twenty for a nickel.

Friday—A sack of sawdust, lagniappe papers, a nickel.

Saturday (morning)—Butts.

The Cook-Peary conflict is easy—

We know who was first at the pole.

The Wright brothers flights in the breezy

Outclass all aviates d'ecole.

We can pick a lightweight politician

To fool the plain common folk,

And any old arithmetician

Can prove Jeff will clean up the smoke.

But this problem's past all solution—

It's barrowing the mind of the mob;

Without any circumlocution.

Is Hans Wagner better than Cobb?

Skeptical.
"Darling," he said, "you are the only woman I ever loved. I swear it!"
"George," she rejoined, "you talk like an Arctic explorer."

THE TIGER LINE-UP FOR SATURDAY'S GAME.

Advance Sale of Reserved Seats Has Been Large—Frank Harvey Will Play on Half Line and George Smith Will be Full Back.

The Tigers held their final practice yesterday in preparation for the game here to-morrow with the Argonauts. The whole team was out and after a couple of hours hard work the team for to-morrow's game was selected. Art Turner will be given another chance at outside wing, and all the players expect him to make good. He has been working hard for the past week, and is sure to put up a much better game than he did in Ottawa. Tony Loftus has a bad knee and will not be able to play on the other end. In his place, either Glassford or Vickley will be put on. Either of these intermediates can make good. Harvey will be tried out on the half line as "Dutch" Burton has been sick and will not be able to play to-morrow. Jack Gray will not be used until his back becomes real strong, and Brammer will fill his place on the wing line. Bethune will fill in the scrimmage. "Kid" Smith's leg is still a trifle shaky, and George Smith will hold down the full back position. The line up will be:

Full-back—George Smith.
Half-backs—Moore, Simpson and Harvey.

Quarter—George Awrey.

Scrimmage—Bethune, Pfeiffer and Craig.

Wings—Turner, Isbester, Barron, Brammer, Wigle and Glassford or Vickley.

The Argonaut line up has not been given out yet, and as usual the Toronto bunch will not know who will compose their team until the last minute.

The Tigers should win this game easily, but as the Argos have been strengthening up they will put up a much stronger game against the yellow and black than they did against the Winged Wheel team last Saturday. Two or three of the old men will be on the team and the back division has been given lots of practice at catching punts under difficulties. The advance sale of tickets promises a big attendance, and about five thousand persons are expected at the game.

The weather smacks much more of football than it did last Saturday in Ottawa, and a much faster game should be played in consequence. The frost has not entered the ground yet and running conditions should be just about right. Little if any money will be wagered on the result.

The Intermediates do no play to-morrow and will watch the big game from the sidelines.

Rain and cool weather prevented the final practice of the Ottawa football team, which was to have been held yesterday in preparation for Saturday's big game against the M. A. A. A. fourteen at Montreal. When the players turned out at Varsity oval rain commenced to fall, so Coach Clancy called the work-out off and the players contented themselves with a brisk run and rub-down. They are all in the pink of condition. Bert Stronach was not at Montreal, as reported, but turned out and did a fast mile, beating the other players home in the stretch by over 25 yards. Stronach states that he feels fit for the game of his life on the Montreal field. Stronach seems to feel keenly the allegations that he roughed it in last Saturday's match. He states that he tackled hard every time, but that he did not commit a foul.

Clancy expects one of the hardest games of the season at Montreal. He thinks that the Montreal team will be right in the running this season, and believes that they may beat both the Ottawa and Tiger teams on their own field.

Clancy has warned the Ottawa players against over-confidence. The committee met last night and selected the following fourteen: Full-back, Johnstone; halves, McCann, Gerard, Williams; quarter, Kilt; scrimmage, Ferguson, McCarry, Kennedy; wings, Phillips, Church, Disney, Vaughan, Stronach, and Christie; Convey, Kilmartin and Wilkinson will be spares.

Montreal seniors and intermediates went through a fast work-out at the grounds yesterday morning in final preparation for the match with Ottawa on Saturday. McNamara was the only absentee from the senior list. Tommy Stinson and George Duckett were at the grounds, but did not take part in the practice. They are both in good form and Chaucer Elliott decided to give them a chance to rest up. Belknap, an old McGill player, took McNamara's place.

in the scrimmage, and will be played there if McNamara is unable to get into the game. He is still under the doctor's care, but it was reported to-day that his leg was in better shape. One change was made on the senior line, Pat Reiffenstein playing in the left middle position, which has been held down by Ward. It is likely that Reiffenstein will line out in that position on Saturday. Craig and Scott were both played on the senior half line to-day, and it is a toss-up as to who will catch the left position. The Montreal team is light, but Chaucer Elliott says he never handled a squad that played with more snap and dash. They are up in the game all the time and never let up.

Dr. Hendry and Harry Griffith, of Toronto, who were to have refereed the Montreal-Ottawa game at Montreal Saturday, sent word to the Ottawas last evening that they would not be able to act. The Ottawas have suggested Messrs. Robbins and Hayes, of Hamilton; Pud Kent, Dr. Wright, and Russell Britton instead.

The Montreal reply has not been received, but it is not likely that the clubs will have any difficulty in agreeing on officials.

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The football season at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute was brought to a sudden close yesterday, when President Palmer C. Ricketts forbade students to take part in any inter-collegiate contest under penalty of expulsion. Not only are they forbidden to take part in inter-collegiate sports, but are also excluded from the alumni athletic field, which was recently completed at great cost.

This action was taken as the result of the painting of some of the new institute buildings, which have been given by Andrew Carnegie and Mrs. Russell Sage. The painting was done at the celebration of the victory of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute football team over St. Stephen's College, which was beaten on Saturday here by the score of 80 to 0.

In the senior City League two games will be played on Saturday, one at the Cricket Grounds, starting at 1:30, between Dundas II. and the Y. M. C. A.; the other between Tigers III. and the Alerts at the Britannia Park at 3 o'clock. The small admission of fifteen cents will be charged at the Britannia Park to defray the expenses of the grounds and officials. All the teams have been practising very hard, and as they are all evenly matched there is no doubt the spectators will be treated to good football.

In the junior Church League the Y. M. C. A. will play Knox Mission at the north end park at 3 o'clock. Sheridan and Little will be the officials. The St. Andrew's will play the Eskines at Victoria Park. Thornton and Hamburg will be the officials. The two teams are trying to start the game at 2 o'clock, so as to get through in time to see the big game at the Cricket Grounds. At the executive meeting last evening it was unanimously decided that no team could use any players of another team senior to their own. This is a very wise move and should be productive of developing lots of new material.

McCann, right half of the Rough Riders, hurt his knee in practice some weeks ago. It was given another wrench in the game with Montreal, and on Saturday against the Tigers it was badly twisted again. McCann may not be able to play against Montreal to-morrow.

The Argos will bring a strong team with them to Hamilton to-morrow. The second team will accompany the seniors as far as Hamilton, where they will take the cars to Dundas to play an intermediate League game there.

Eddie Phillips, who will play outside wing for the Ottawa team to-morrow, was on the all-Canadian team which toured England.

"IT IS LUCK THAT WINS THE SERIES"

Says the Mighty Honus Wagner—Everybody Does His Best, But Luck Decides It.

"It's heads I win, tails you lose in this game of baseball," says Honus Wagner, the noblest Roman of them all.

The mighty German is naturally a taciturn fellow when somebody starts the talk on the subject of the great American game. Not that he is not talkative when you once gain his confidence and he feels free to loosen his tongue, but he carries the subject to everything else except the diamond with special reference to automobiles, for motoring is Wagner's hobby.

Yesterday Wagner was in a happy frame of mind, and he unbosomed himself to the extent of making a prediction as to the outcome of the championship struggle, says a writer in the Detroit News.

"The team that has the luck is the team that wins the series," said Wagner. "The average fan who sits in the grandstand does not realize what a big difference luck, or good breaks, as the players call it, makes, but every player who ever broke into the major league game knows that it is half the battle. With everything else equal, luck decides every ball game. If you stop to consider that you will agree with me that it is true. Take, for instance, two teams that are evenly matched. If they both play perfect ball, and the element of luck does not favor either side, those two teams will play forever and the score will remain a tie. No one needs to be a ball player to understand that. Common, everyday reasoning proves it to be true."

"All of which goes to show that Wagner is as good at philosophy as he is at baseball," he said, "is a business with me, and I attend to it with all the ability I have, the same as every man attends to his business. If I win, all right, that is what I am trying to do, and if I lose I am sorry, but it can't be helped, for I have done the best I can. That is the way every ball player looks at it. They are trying to win all the time, and if they don't, why, it is not their fault. Both teams can't win. There has to be a loser, and I repeat, in the long run, it is the team that has the bad breaks that loses the game."

Here Wagner, with a solemn, Tautonic wink, said: "Forgetting everything else, and leaving out all the dope, I think we will put it on Detroit in this series."

TOMMY BURNS ONCE PUT NEAT ONE ON JOHNSON.

Tommy Burns once whipped over a neat one on Johnson. This was shortly after the 20-round draw with Jack O'Brien, and the men met in McCarey's office at Los Angeles to talk over the business arrangements for the second fight. Jack Johnson, on his way to Australia, dropped off the trains to see old friends and incidentally try to talk McCarey into giving him a pork and bean match. Los Angeles has been closed to Johnson for some years, he was persona non grata with the fight fans. (Hey? Oh, that's Latin for "in Dutch.")

In the private office were McCarey, O'Brien and Burns, and they were talking money and gold belts and other nonsense. In the outer office was Mistek Johnson, sitting on a sofa and looking at his feet. He was a very humble Senegambian. Anybody could walk right up and talk to him.

Tommy Burns, always foxy in a certain slow-witted way, wished to make a ash before the newspaper men present, so he went to McCarey.

"You wouldn't give Johnson another fight in this town, would you, Tom?"

"No, indeed!" said McCarey.

"Never?" asked Burns.

"I should say not!" said McCarey. "That's ab-so-lute!"

"All right," said Burns. "Remember that." As soon as O'Brien and Burns came out of the inner room, Johnson pounced on them. He was going to make them declare themselves, he said.

"I want to fight the winner of this battle," said Johnson. "ow 'bout you, Mist' O'Brien?"

O'Brien ducked and sidestepped. He didn't think the fight would draw any money, etc.

"And you, Mist' Burns?" asked Johnson.

"If I win I'll fight you," said Burns. Johnson leaped over and offered his hand.

"You heard him say it, gentlemen!" said he, delightedly. "Mist' Burns, I al-his knew you was game. Why can't we make some arrangements now?"

"I don't want any arrangements," said Tommy, slowly. "The only thing I ask is that Tom McCarey shall have the match."

Johnson's jaw fell, and he looked over at the fight promoter. McCarey shook his head.

Is it any wonder that Johnson should enjoy his season as dictator?

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY IN THE WORLD OF SPORT.

TIGERS AND PIRATES TIE IN WORLD'S SERIES.

Detroit Won Upphill Game, Mullin Holding Pittsburg to Two Hits and No Runs From First to Ninth—Deciding Game To-morrow at Detroit.

DETROIT, OCT. 15.—The Tigers and Pirates tied in the ninth inning of the world's baseball championship by defeating Pittsburg 5 to 4 yesterday.

Tom Jones, the Detroit first baseman, was the most seriously hurt. His back and spine were injured in a collision with Wilson at first base.

Charles Schmidt, the catcher, had his right leg badly gashed in blocking Abstein of the plate.

George Moriarity, Detroit's third baseman, suffered a badly injured knee, when he caught Wilson trying to steal on Abbatichio's strike out.

Tom Jones was so badly hurt that he was carried from the field unconscious. Later he regained his senses and was taken home in an ambulance.

The Pittsburg team got away in the lead in the first by making three runs on four successive hits off Mullin, but after this inning Mullin was invincible until the ninth, when he weakened enough to get into a dangerous situation, only to extricate himself by another marvelous exhibition of pitching.

Detroit put up another of its wonderful uphill games. The American League champions scored one run in the first inning and batted Willis off the slab by scoring two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth.

The ninth inning rally of Pittsburg teemed with dramatic incidents. At one time a single would have tied the score and a two-bagger perhaps have given Pittsburg the world's championship.

The total attendance for the series is 127,882, and the total receipts $168,625.00.

Yesterday's game was played with the thermometer hovering about 40 degrees above zero, and with a chilling south-west wind sweeping across the field.

Wilson, Schmidt, Crawford and Bush were the bright shining stars for Detroit. Mullin's wonderful pitching after he had been unmercifully hammered in the first inning was a revelation. Four hits were made off his delivery in rapid succession at the opening of the game, but between the first and ninth innings he allowed only two same hits.

The ninth opened with three safe hits in succession by Pittsburg, but again Mullin skillfully stopped his hard hitting opponent before they could reap any substantial advantage.

It appeared dark for Mullin and Detroit in the first inning. Byrne singled to left as a starter, and went to third on a bad bounding hit along the first base line by Leach. Clarke singled to left, scoring Byrne, and sending Leach to third, while Wagner doubled to left field and Leach and Clarke scored easily.

Cubs Defeat White Sox in Pitchers' Battle.

Chicago Nationals Have a Good Lead Over the White Sox.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The Cubs won the fourth game of the series with the White Sox yesterday afternoon for the championship of Chicago by a 2 to 1 score. This gives the Cubs three victories to one for the South Side team.

Yesterday's game was another pitchers' battle between Overall for the Cubs and Walsh for the Sox. Overall fanned 9, while Walsh did 6. Both pitchers allowed five hits. The crowd was 9,197, with the receipts $5,312. To-day's game was the last in which the players share. The total of the players' pool for the four games is $23,910.65.

DETROIT TIED THE SCORE IN THE FOURTH INNING. Crawford drew a base on balls and went to third on Delehanty's single.

MORIARITY, DETROIT'S THIRD BASEMAN, suffered a badly injured knee, when he caught Wilson trying to steal on Abbatichio's strike out.

DETROIT PUT UP ANOTHER OF ITS WONDERFUL UPHILL GAMES. The American League champions scored one run in the first inning and batted Willis off the slab by scoring two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth.

THE NINTH INNING RALLY OF PITTSBURG teemed with dramatic incidents. At one time a single would have tied the score and a two-bagger perhaps have given Pittsburg the world's championship.

FAVORITES HAD BAD DAY AT WINDSOR.

Edgely Was the Only Successful Choice—Jockey Musgrave Sent Down—The General Armstrong Was Cut Down.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 15.—Despite the counter attraction of a championship baseball game a good crowd turned out at Windsor yesterday afternoon to witness the racing.

The fields averaged small, still they were evenly matched, and a majority of the events furnished interesting contests.

Favorites fared none too well, however, edgely being the only successful choice. Some of the winners came from most unexpected quarters and the defeat of the favorites enabled many of the layers to recoup their losses of the past few days.

JOCKEY MUSGRAVE WAS VERY MUCH IN the limelight during the afternoon. Musgrave, probably because he is riding for a big stable, began to have the notion that he could do pretty much as he pleased, but the judges brought him to with a sharp turn by ordering that his mounts for the remainder of the meeting be confined to his contract employer.

MUSGRAVE HAD THE MOUNT ON DON DIAZ, a heavily-played favorite in the opener, a five and a half furlong dash for two-year-olds.

UNDER HIS HANDLING THE COIT PERFORMED poorly and failed to finish among the placed horses.

IN THE SECOND RACE MUSGRAVE rode the 1 to 2 favorite, The General Armstrong, and the latter also failed to finish one, two, three. In this particular case it was no fault of the rider that he did not win.

IN THE RUNNING OF THE RACE The General Armstrong was jumped on and so badly cut down that it is feared that his usefulness as a racer has been destroyed.

THE MISHAP OCCURRED AT THE turn into the home stretch. At this stage The General Armstrong was running head and head with Louis Reil and looked a certain winner.

WHEN HE PULLED UP, MUSGRAVE DISMOUNTED and the colt was with great difficulty gotten off the track.

IT WAS MUSGRAVE'S WORK IN THE third race that brought about his undoing. He had the mount on Sewell in this event and when the break came he cut across in front of his field, causing a jam, in which the favorite, Jack Parker, was all but thrown. Parker was forced to pull his mount up, which meant that he was practically left at the post.

THE STARTER REPORTED TO THE JUDGES THAT IT looked as if Musgrave's action was deliberate and the officials were not slow in punishing the boy. It looked as if they were only awaiting an opportunity to make a ruling against him, as his riding of late has been far from satisfactory.

EDGELY'S VICTORY WAS A COSTLY ONE for his owner. After the horse won he was boosted $405 over his entered price, and, as his share of the purse was only $300, it meant that his owner was out just $105.

EARL ROGERS GOT THE BETTER OF HIS exercise lad yesterday morning and ran away two miles. This was responsible for his being scratched out of the fifth event.

FIRST RACE—2-year-olds; 5 1/2 furlongs—G. M. Miller, 100 (Davenport), 3 to 1, 7 to 5 and 1 to 2; Starover, 105 (Ganz), 7 to 1, 2 to 1, 4 to 5, 2; Dorondo D., 100 (Wilson), 8 to 1, 2 to 1, 4 to 5, 3, Time, 1:09 1/5. Acolin, Don Diaz, Amanda Lee, Sweet Basil also ran.

DETROIT PUT UP ANOTHER OF ITS WONDERFUL UPHILL GAMES. The American League champions scored one run in the first inning and batted Willis off the slab by scoring two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth.

CHARGES OF EYE OPENER.

Emphatic Denial of All Charges by Sir F. Borden.

Had No Interest in Miss Chalefour—Gave Her No Money.

Woman Says She Was Put Up to It by Her Mother.

Kentville, N. S., Oct. 14.—The feature of the Carruthers libel case today was the evidence of Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, who took the stand this afternoon and gave a complete denial of the story told by Mrs. Allison and her daughter, Hester Chalefour.

The sensational incident of the trial was the statement by Miss Chalefour that her mother had urged her through blackmail, to extort money from Sir Frederick. She said that she wrote letters to her mother, knowing the contents were false, so as to accomplish the purpose desired.

Mrs. McParland's Denial. Mrs. Kathleen McParland, of Ottawa, another witness who "The Eye Opener" declared had been in intimate terms with Sir Frederick, took the stand and denied all accusations. She did not know Sir Frederick, and saw him only once in her life. There was nothing improper between them.

WANTED MONEY FROM MOTHER. Mr. Ritchie asked the witness to write two words, which she did. He then passed to her several letters which she admitted were hers. One was to her cousin, and concluded as follows: "Au revoir, old boy, one hundred kisses."

Mr. Ritchie then read extracts from the letters, in which the name of Sir Frederick and witness appeared. "Are the contents of this letter correct?" he asked.

"No," said witness. Continuing she said that these letters were written by her at the instigation of her mother. "My mother put me up to write the contents of these letters," she declared. "I was not in any way connected with them."

Mr. Ritchie then read extracts from the letters, in which the name of Sir Frederick and witness appeared. "Are the contents of this letter correct?" he asked.

"No," said witness. Continuing she said that these letters were written by her at the instigation of her mother. "My mother put me up to write the contents of these letters," she declared. "I was not in any way connected with them."

A declaration before Mr. Greenfield of a Montreal lawyer that she had not been on intimate terms with Sir Frederick. "I was not in any way connected with them," she declared.

Witness identified the affidavit she had made in the law office of Greenfield, of Montreal, saying that her relations with Sir Frederick Borden had always been quite proper.

to St. John. He knew a lady named Alice Brown. She resided in Percuss and died some years ago. He thought there was some insurance paid on her life. He had nothing to do with the proofs of death. It was a long time ago. Some of the money was paid to him. He was the manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at the time.

Witness said he remembered the Fisher banquet at the Aberdeen Hotel in 1908. Asked if he was under the influence of intoxicants at that time, the witness said he was not.

THE JUDGE INTERVENES. Asked if during the past fifteen years he had visited and discussed with her in Halifax, he said that he had not. Neither was he intoxicated at the Halifax Hotel in Halifax. The Judge declined to allow such questions, as they were irrelevant.

Mr. Ritchie fixed the date as July 19th. "I was not there at that time," said the witness. "While I was at Mrs. Allison's house, a telegram was missing." He believed the secretary had left it, and informed him that it was there. He very seldom visited Montreal. There was an occasion, he said, that Mrs. Allison had stated to him that she believed he was assisting her daughter in Montreal, and threatened to sue him if he did not leave her house, and did so. He said Miss Chalefour had visited his office and had complained to him of the treatment she was receiving at the hands of her mother. Her visits were in the daytime and there was nothing improper about them.

Mr. Ritchie then asked Mrs. Allison if she had not paid any money through Major Steven or Stephenson to Hester Chalefour. Mrs. Allison was then recalled by Mr. Ritchie, and she reiterated statements given in the direct examination. Both sides then stated that all the evidence they had to offer was in, and the court adjourned until tomorrow morning, when counsel and Judge will address the jury.

TO STOP JOY RIDING. Ontario Motor League Appeals to Premier Whitney.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—The Ontario Motor League is making application to Sir James Whitney for the passing by the Ontario Legislature of what their requisition terms "an anti-joy-riding law," by which is meant a statute declaring the unauthorized use of motor vehicles to be criminal.

It is complained that much of the break-neck speed and law-breaking is caused by irresponsible chauffeurs who appropriated the use of their employers' cars, and the experiences which befell Mr. D. D. Mann's car is cited.

The clause the league asks for is modelled upon that of New York State and reads: "Any chauffeur or other person who, without the consent of the owner, shall take or cause to be taken from a garage, stable or other building or place an automobile or motor vehicle and operate or drive or cause the same to be operated or driven for his own profit, use or other purpose, shall be deemed to be guilty of larceny, and shall be punished accordingly."

SHOT HIMSELF. Commercial Traveler Attempts Suicide in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 14.—A McGregor, of this city, a commercial traveler for a Montreal firm, attempted suicide this morning at the Hotel Cecil by shooting himself in the head. The bullet entered at a point between the eyes, and is now embedded in the back of the head, but apparently did not penetrate the skull, as he is conscious, and able to converse rationally. Dependency over continued ill-health is the cause assigned by his friends for his attempt at suicide.

New British Island. Of the northwest coast of Australia there is an island which till recently belonged to no one. It is not a very large island. It measures only 365 yards by 30 yards. It has, however, a good anchorage, and for that reason its possession may at some time be valuable. The British Government has therefore annexed the island, and an official notification of the fact recently reached the Commonwealth Minister for External Affairs. The new British possession is known as Cartier Island, and is almost surrounded by coral reefs.—Westminster Gazette.

GOOD SHORT STORIES

MAKES THE DIMES COUNT.

THE BUNCOED U. S. CONSUMER

Such a strong persistent rumor reached the Ultimate Consumer that the tariff would be lessened when revised.

That he chortled in his glee when he thought of duty free.

On the many luxuries of life he prized.

But his gleefulness gave way to a dark and cold dismay.

When he read the way the tariff was "reduced."

For the things the tariff freed were the things he didn't need.

Or were articles which no one else produced.

They let in oils and hides and some chemicals besides.

While clothing was increased to twice its cost.

He sneered with cold disdain at the duty on champagne.

But when he looked at shirts his sneer was lost.

He didn't give a d—n for the increase put on camphor.

What he'd have liked to see was none on Wheat.

What cared he for cheaper wine, argente and aniline.

When the price of hose might leave him with cold feet.

He never bought uranium or English grown geranium.

What use to him to let such thing in free?

But they stung him good and proper one day, when sending his motor car slowly along a shady English road, he met one of this guild, who accosted him with the preliminary touch of his cap.

Mr. Hissey anticipated him by exclaiming:

"I'm mortal thirsty. Have you good sir, the price of a glass of ale about you? I've driven nearly fifty miles to-day, and since the morning not a bite of food has passed my lips."

The look of astonishment that tramp gave me was a delight to observe.

But this tramp was a man of ready resource, and seeing I was a hopeless case, he rose to the occasion and promptly exclaimed with what dignity he could command and with a comically serious expression:

"If there were a policeman in sight I would give you in charge for begging, that I would."

"Hands up!"

The passengers on the Pullman car took in the situation at a glance and did exactly what the train robber told them to.

At the points of his guns he relieved them of their valuables. But at the sight of one woman he paused with a start.

"Who are you?" he demanded.

"I, she quavered, "I am Miss Fay de Fluffie, the well-known actress. Here are my jewels—take them all!"

The hold-up held up his head proudly.

"No," he replied. "I may be a robber, but I am not a press agent. Keep your wealth!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PLEASURES OF SOLITUDE.

Last year there was called to the pulpit of a church in a certain New England town an elderly clergyman, whose dry and unengaging method appealed so little to his congregation that in due time many transferred their allegiance to another church where a more entertaining preacher held forth.

Among those remaining true to the old church was a Mill Hill, an elderly spinster, who had once coyly confessed that never had she had a love affair.

One Sunday, upon Miss Hill's return to her home, the house of her married brother, she was asked whether attendance had been large at church that morning.

Miss Hill blushed. "Dear me, no," replied she. "Brother, there were so few in the congregation this morning that every time the minister said 'dearly beloved' I was as embarrassed as though I was receiving a proposal."

"Harper's Weekly."

"The porter returned the ticket dubiously. "But what I was going to say, sir—"

"Oh, I know what you were going to say!" the passenger assured him wistfully. "That I've only paid for a second-class ticket, and that there will be a relief train in five minutes, or that another coach is going to be put on this one. I know the things you say; but it won't do. I don't move from here!"

"But there's room enough," the porter persisted, "in the—"

him busy with pencil and paper. She asked him what he was doing. "Oim makin' a list av the min in this town who Oi kin lick."

"Murphy heads me list." Home flew Mrs. Murphy and broke the news to her man. He was in the tailor's shop in a jiffy.

"Me woman tells me that ye're after making a memorial tablet av the min that yez can lick, and that ye've got me at the head of it. Is that true?"

"Shure and it's true. What of it?" said the good-for-nothin' little grasshopper, I could commit suicide on yez with me little finger. I could wipe up the flure wid yez me hands tied behind me."

"Are ye shure of that?" asked the tailor.

"Shure? I'm shure about it."

"Well, then," said the tailor, "if ye're shure of it I'll scratch ye off the list."

"Now, look here, my man," the passenger spoke with exasperating impatience—"I've had enough of this. There's no room except here, and you know it as well as I do. I'm not going to travel like a herring to please any railway company in existence. Get and tell the stationmaster that, if you like; or go and count the people in the carriages—if you can count up to ten. Only go!"

The porter hovered uncertainly; he seemed incapable of feeling annoyance. "Yes, sir; only what I was mentioning."

"Mentioning?" gibed the passenger. "Is that who you call mentioning?"

We Have Never Been Able to sell our Hygienic Milk at less than its present price, because it costs us almost all of that to get good milk—properly taken care of by the farmer—and then taken care of properly after it reaches us.

Even these cold mornings all our milk has to be thoroughly aerated by the farmer—that is, put through a cooler made especially for getting rid of the animal heat in milk, so as to get the temperature of the milk down immediately after milking.

When the milk reaches us it is again aerated (in the summer time we cooled this milk down to 38 degrees), and is immediately put into bottles and sealed, packed in the refrigerator, ready for delivery in the morning.

Of course our business is not as large as some others (we have two wagons, one east, the other west), and for that reason we can load after each can of milk that comes into us and make sure that it is O. K. The specific gravity of all milk is taken when received—using the lactometer—this checks the quality of the milk.

All milk is said to be good, only some has more of that quality known as goodness than others. Now, without our saying anything about the other fellow's milk, we want to say that our Hygienic Milk (the natural milk neither pasteurized or sterilized) contains a whole lot of that quality known as "goodness" and when you pay

Seven Cents Per Quart

For it, you are sure of getting 7 cents' worth of that quality.

Whatever you do, don't pay 7 cents for your milk when it only contains 6 cents' worth of quality, and should be selling at 6 cents, which is its true value.

BANANA PARFAIT.

Peel three bananas, scrape off the coarse threads, and press the pulp through a sieve. There should be one cup and a fourth of the pulp. To the pulp add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and the juice of half a lemon; cook the mixture over hot water until thoroughly scalded, then set aside to become cold. Beat one cup and a half of double cream till firm. Cut fine citron, candied apricots or pineapple, and Maraschino cherries to fill a cup; pour over these three tablespoonfuls of Jamaica rum and let it stand an hour, or convenient, over night. Have a quart mould lined with paper and thoroughly chilled. Stir the fruit into the batter, add one saltspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of baking powder; then gradually add two well beaten eggs and one pint of milk. Stir in one pint of blackberries which have been thoroughly dredged with flour. Pour at once into a greased mould, cover with a greased paper, and steam steadily for two hours. Serve with hard sauce.

SPONGE PUDDING.

Two heaping tablespoonfuls of flour, two even tablespoonfuls of sugar, one pint of milk, one tablespoonful of baking powder, one cup of boiling water. ### Accident to a Toronto Motoring Party.

Melbourne, Ont., Oct. 14.—In their 45-horse power touring car, running at the rate of thirty miles an hour, a Toronto party, consisting of Mrs. S. Gallagher, her two daughters and her sister, who were returning from Detroit, narrowly escaped death to-night when the chauffeur was forced to take a 40-foot embankment when he struck a piece of bad road a few miles from this village. Mrs. Gallagher and the chauffeur, Arthur Hastings, were thrown heavily against a fence, a picket of which tore the young man's side. Mrs. Gallagher had only a few bruises, and the other ladies landed on a pile of sand. The car was put out of business and it required a traction car to haul it back on the road.

Large drooping hats are always in good style for dressy wear. This one is made of heavy silk. Beneath the brim on one side is placed a cluster of tiny silk roses and foliage, which is a most artistic touch. Beautifully shaded willow plumes add to the charm of this hat, and supply the only trimming necessary about the crown.

MRS. PANKHURST.

BRITISH SUFFRAGETTE COMING TO AMERICA TO LECTURE.

With an Idea of Garnering Dollars to Help "Votes for Women" in England—October 13 Her Notable Date.

(N. Y. Sun.)

Mrs. Emmeline Goulden Pankhurst's important day is October 13. It was on that date six years ago that her daughter Christabel went to prison for asking Sir Edward Grey at a Manchester political meeting what the Liberal party intended to do about woman suffrage. Mrs. Pankhurst herself was arrested on October 13 last year in her office at the organization headquarters, 4 Clements Inn, on a warrant which charged her with inciting to riot. Her offense had been the issuing of the famous handbill summoning her followers to rush the House of Commons.

This is a third October 13 which when Mrs. Pankhurst remembers it in the years to come may make the two others seem mere ordinary days. This 13th was the day on which she planned to embark for America. The English leader comes to seek new recruits, but gold. Of the former she has apparently no need. There are in England to-day thousands and thousands of women who are ready to go to prison, and some say even to lay down their lives at her mere nod; but armies must be fed and equipped and causes must be advertised, and travelling orators need railroad tickets. Mrs. Pankhurst is a thorough believer in the importation of foreign capital.

Of course she isn't going to beg us to give her our surplus wealth, but she has hit upon a good way of annexing it—the lecture path. She is going to make a tour of the country after her debut in Carnegie Hall on Oct. 25 under the auspices of the Equality League for Self-Supporting Women, of which Mrs. Harriett Stanton Blatch is president, and her managers are confident that the citizens of every town she visits will turn out to see what manner of person she is, even if some of them are not very much interested in the subject she talks about.

Mere curiosity seekers who invest their two dollar bills in checks for from the row seats may possibly wish that they had their money back, for Mrs. Pankhurst is not in any way spectacular. It cannot even be said that the casual observer her personality is especially striking.

She was born in Manchester on the anniversary of the storming of the Bastille, and was brought up in the atmosphere of intense radicalism. She was

"But she isn't a bit emotional," exclaimed the puzzled interrogator. "Of course she isn't," responded the devotee. "It isn't the business of a great political leader to be emotional. The thing is to make the most of 'em feel what you want 'em to, and she usually does it."

And it is true that when Mrs. Pankhurst is talking either indoors or out those who listen to her are sure that women really have wrongs and that the ballot will right them. Four hundred women in regalia pertaining to their various trades and professions have promised to sit on the platform when Mrs. Pankhurst makes her maiden speech here. Society has taken boxes for the same performance. Suffrage has done likewise. There is also to be a woman's orchestra robed in white and gold. The club women are looking for a new sensation, and so are the up-State suffragists and the members of the old time Brooklyn equal rights leagues. They will get it or will the commander of the only truly military organization of women in the world seem to them, after all, not so very different from other suffrage orators?

TWO DRYDOCKS.

The Belfast Firm Favors Levis and St. John.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Although no formal proposition has yet been laid before the Government by Harland & Wolff, the world famous Belfast shipbuilding Company, relative to the location of their proposed Canadian plants, it is understood that the company, in conjunction with the C. P. R. interests, is planning to establish a drydock and shipbuilding and repair plant at Levis to handle the St. Lawrence trade, and also intend to establish a similar drydock and plant at St. John to handle the Maritime Province business, and to enable the company to have a winter port business. It is expected that 1,000 men will be employed at each yard if the arrangements now pending can be carried through. The drydocks and ship yards will be of a size able to handle the largest warships or ocean-going vessels. It is expected that the Government will be shortly asked to agree to the proposed locations and grant the subsidy provided for in the act passed in 1908. This subsidy provides for an annual grant of three per cent. of the whole cost of the drydock for twenty years, up to $45,000 per annum. The Government retains the right to control the fees and to endorse the location and plans of the dock. A company of Canadian and British capitalists are also negotiating for a similar plant at Montreal, and other British companies, including Vickers Sons & Maxim, are contemplating Canadian branches, with St. John, Halifax, Quebec, Montreal and Vancouver as possible sites.

YIELD IN THE WEST

Running Far Beyond All Early Estimates. Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—Grain Agent Acheson, of the C. P. R., returned Tuesday, after a complete tour of the west. He was studying the grain situation, and reports himself delighted with the yield, which, he says, is running far beyond all early estimates. He is convinced that the total wheat crop will run close to 122,000,000 bushels, which, at current prices, would mean a cash return to farmers of nearly as many million dollars. "We estimated the yield of wheat in Manitoba at fifteen bushels to the acre," he said; "Saskatchewan at seventeen, and Alberta at twenty bushels to the acre. Actual reports show that in Manitoba wheat is running from seven to twenty-five bushels to the acre on an average; in the vicinity of Moose Jaw, twenty-five to thirty bushels to the acre; around Swift Current, the same; out through Alberta, from twenty-seven to thirty-five bushels to the acre. In one place, Pincher Creek, wheat is running forty-five bushels to the acre." He had not received a single complaint of a car shortage this fall. There had not been a hint of a block-ade anywhere.

The one-piece gown, whether on the Empire, Directoire or Princess order, has been rather relegated to the background of late, but none the less it is considered essential at this time of year to have a gown with skirt and waist to match in preference to the fancy silk lace or chiffon blouse, with a skirt of different material if of the same color.

These between season gowns are always attractive and most practical, it is contended by the women who makes dress a study—practically because they can be worn for so many different occasions and also prevent the wearing of the street gown in the house, a most extravagant and foolish act, which was once considered economical and practical. There are many different models for this style of gown, some much more elaborate than others, but each with a distinct charm and individuality. No one material is obligatory, but the lighter fabrics, such as silk, satin, crepe de chine, chiffon, voile and lightweight cloth, are, as a rule, chosen in preference to the heavier materials. There is an excellent reason for this, that the gowns are intended to be worn only in the house and should not be made too warm or heavy, and the models chosen are invariably such as are adapted to the more graceful draped or simpler styles.

The new skirts are most marked in these simple gowns, the round, full skirt being at the moment most popular. It cannot truthfully be stated that these new skirts are either beautiful or becoming, for there is little grace or becoming in a skirt that just comes or just touches the floor evenly all around. And yet this is the model which is most in evidence among the newest French house gowns, and it remains to be seen just how long the fashion will continue to enjoy its present vogue.

But, of course, any model can be always modified, and often only a slight elongation of the skirt, or a slight change in the back of the skirt, will render the gown at once becoming and of graceful line. It is this knowing how to adapt the exaggerated fads and fashions of the moment to give best effect for the individual without at the same time interfering in any way with the original design of the costume which makes up the art of dress.

The new skirts are indeed curiously different from any skirt described, and down to the minute detail are unlike the same style of dress of a year ago. Where the material was scant before it is now employed in extravagant fulness, and where it was formerly the greatest possible height and slenderness, to-day broad bands about the center of the skirt shorten the figure. Once more soft, dainty folds and flounces have taken the place of long, clinging draperies, and the statuesque type of beauty has been replaced by a vogue for the petite.

Fortunately the waist line is once more to be seen in its natural position, for it is a well nigh impossible task for a short skirt that is ridden on Empire lines to be graceful. Soft ribbon girdles or draped light belts of the material itself give a pretty finish to the simply draped waists, while below this belt the skirt itself is frequently laid about the hips in plaits, or even shirring, in order to have all the material possible from below the knees, where every skirt must now be decidedly full once more.

After all, there is something peculiarly attractive in light silk or chiffon texture which is left sufficiently full to fall naturally into soft folds of its own. And this is the effect sought in all grades of house gowns at present. Light but not too thin silks are selected which, if made up in just the right way, will drape themselves gracefully over some plain undergarment and require little, if any outside adornment. While some of these skirts are very much trimmed, others again depend solely upon the draping of the texture itself and upon the line thus given for effect. Just at present there is to be seen on practically every model a band of satin, of lace, of ribbon, of folded chiffon or perhaps of cloth, which, laid about the center of the skirt over the knees, just breaks the line, and, unless done with infinite care in the placing, this band effect will tend to make the most charming gown unbecoming to the figure.

One favorite style of skirt consists of an underskirt plain and close fitting, over which are draped two pieces of soft satin or chiffon. One piece starting in the center front and falling just below the knees, is caught up loosely at the center back; the other piece, crossing this in back and front, is looped up on the side in the same way as the first. A draped waist carrying out the same lines, with V shaped yoke back and front of sheer lace, the sleeves also showing the looped up effect over tight fitting lace underleaves, and the gown finished with a tight girdle of the same soft satin, the whole carried out in an exquisite shade of golden yellow, makes a most simple yet an exceptionally effective gown.

Changeable silks and all queer, unusual shades are much in demand for all styles of house dress this winter. Dark colors predominate, and strange bluish greens, with a suggestion of purple in their composition, seem to be most popular. Dull reds and pinks and some few shades of yellow, gold and brown are to be worn in cloth, as well as silk and chiffon, but blue is unquestionably the prevailing tone of the winter. And, as usual when any one color is especially fashionable, new shades of it appear that were hitherto unknown or forgotten, and new combinations are attempted which would at another time have been thought quite too conspicuous, but are now looked upon from a different standpoint and acknowledged to harmonize well.

Strange to say, however, black is seen more than anything else in combination—or is it contrast?—with the new brilliant and deep blue tones, whose numbers are constantly increasing. In fact, very deep blue trimmed exclusively with black bids fair to take the place of the all black gown which only a year ago was considered an essential component of every winter outfit, even of the debutante's trousseau. Electric blue, sapphire blue, Japanese blue and a score of other tones—all, in fact, except the too ordinary "navy" blue—are now popular, and in this range of color it is surely possible for every one to find some becoming tone, be she blonde or brunette, and no matter what her type. With the absolute change in line and style of dress naturally materials have undergone a change since last year and in place of the too clinging sheer textures there are silks with some natural thickness and body to them and a return to the old silk poplins, grenadines and heavier crepes. The lightest weight cloths will still be used this year, but for house gowns and elaborate reception costumes only, since street suits this year are of heavy serge or homespun, while velvet, corduroy, chiffon, velvet and velveteen are all smart for afternoon.

Cloth house gowns, it is true, show but little of the cloth itself, for the waist is composed almost entirely of embroidery, lace and chiffon, while the skirt itself is frequently hidden by an overskirt of draped or looped up chiffon. Many cloth skirts are actually shirred about the waist and hips—a change indeed from the gowns of twelve months back.

Velvet, like cloth, is not a sensible or practical texture for house wear, but with a waist composed to a large extent of chiffon and the velvet or velveteen itself of but very light weight, the new velvet house gown need not be really uncomfortable. Satin charmeuse and heavy qualities of crepe de Chine, and also the new, somewhat heavy silks in dark shades are the favorite textures for elaborate afternoon house dresses.

Naturally not every mortal can have her skirts full at the waist line and hips, and the deep yoke skirts with material flaring from below the band about the knees is every bit as up to date as the full skirt model, and sure to be more becoming. Full rather than flaring, these new skirts give no effect of the flaring skirt of about five years back, but, cut to just clear the ground or just touch all around, they give to the figure a singularly straight up and down, rather unattractive, round look that is fortunately being rapidly modified and improved upon as each new model is studied and adapted.

SKIRT STYLE FOR AUTUMN WEAR.

Skirts will be full at the bottom, but pulled back by overskirts in a manner which threatens a return to the veritable pullback and the Grecian bend. But the tunic gown is the thing; that is, there is a full skirt made with a sort of over tunic, which forms the bodice and overskirt, which falls over the full skirt. These tunics are made scant, and are drawn back tight and in straight lines over the hips. The back falls in perfectly straight lines, and all is done to suppress the hips and even the bust, and to give to the figure a straight effect.

For the tunic gown the sleeves are long and small, although some of the smartest ones have a little fullness at the elbow. The most startling thing is that many are made of a combination of chiffon or gauze, and are semi-transparent, coming well down to the wrist. There is enough of galloon and braid and solid material added to give them countenance, but the chiffon sleeve is the thing, even in plain street costume.

And one says after thinking it over, why not? They are certainly most becoming, and then it is easy to put the coat sleeve over them. For the description of the tunic dress is not complete until we have added to it the long, straight, tailor-made coat. This complements the costume.

The pullback overskirt, which is often of a thinner material than the gown proper, and even of a contrasting color, is hidden by the long coat. This treatment outlines sharply the hips and bust, and there is a tendency to draw in the drapery closely under the knees at the back, and often the gathers are hidden by a huge bow of black ribbon. This tunic gown has the effect of a wide scarf tied about the loins after the fashion of that name.

BARBARIC NECKLACES.

Every one seems anxious to acquire these, whether of gold with baroque pearls suspended on a large matrix turquoise in the center. Egyptian designs and Japanese both have their following—enameled Iris, Egyptian figures and animals being much prized. Silver plate united by jade is another notion. Chains for the waist as well as the neck are not to be despised. Some of these take the form of gold or silver girdles, with jewels introduced, and pendants of lapis lazuli.

SOME NEW MATERIALS.

There has been a curious revival this season on various fabrics, woven with a moire finish, prominent among which is that more antique silk which in another and much harsher form was the delight of our great grandmothers, at a time when the silk gown that would "stand alone" was looked upon as a specially desirable garment. We have changed all that, however, now, and the new moire silks are of the softest and most supple kind, falling of themselves into the loveliest folds imaginable. They have been dyed, too, in some exceptionally beautiful colorings both for day and evening wear, and they will be largely used not only for dinner gowns and evening cloaks, but also for smart afternoon frocks and in dark colors, for tailor-made coats and skirts.

The Fads of Fashion.

Old red is a prime favorite with black. Never has lace been so universally used. Yellow is more to be seen than for years. Grays are to be fashionable. Small buttons are more used than large ones. Fall tones generally are soft, dull, and faded. Pockets in motoring coats and ulsters are huge. Green belts are stylish. Close fitting styles will continue through the winter. Long coats of the most elaborate nature are seen. Colored embroidery enters into much of the latest in undergarments.

Hips are slightly more emphasized than in the summer styles. Wraps are growing more decorative. The new cavalier hat is coming out in large and medium sizes. Coque feathers will be popular on the early fall millinery. Striped suits are in favor, but the effects are indefinite. The pink and blue gowns of the Louis periods are due for a revival. The separate coat is to be far more important than for several years. The latest in undergarments is of Messaline silk in dainty Dresden patterns. Girdles and dog collars made of cut jet nail heads are exceedingly smart.

FIRST ENGLISH WOMAN SMOKER

Was An Expert Swordsman and Something of a Highway Robber. Mary Frith, better known as Moll Cutpurse, was a notable figure in a little London life. She had the reputation of being the first woman to smoke tobacco in England.

The length of her days is a disputed point, but it seems certain that she attained the age of over three-score years and ten. It is asserted that constant smoking prolonged her life. A portrait representing her in the act of smoking forms the frontispiece of Middleton's comedy of the "Roaring Girl." She also figures in other plays of the period.

Mary was the daughter of a shoemaker living in the Barbican, and Matons gives 1584 as the date of her birth. She early took to wicked ways and became a noted "highwayman." Among her familiar friends were the notorious Captain Hind and Richard Hannam. She was an expert swordsman. Single handed she robbed on Hounslow Heath Gen. Fairfax of 200 gold Jacobuses, shooting him through the arm and killing two of his horses on which his servants were riding. For the offence she was committed to Newgate, but on paying the General £2,000 she obtained her liberty.

At one time Mary had £3,000 of her own, but by giving money to distressed cavaliers she died comparatively poor. Her death took place in July, 1659, and she was laid to rest in St. Bridget's. From the Millgate Monthly.

Enlargement of Victoria Avenue School at Once.
Accommodation For Art Work In Technical School.
Medals Presented to Winners In School Sports.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night the question as to whether it would be advisable to build a ten-roomed addition to Victoria avenue school this year or leave it over until next year was discussed, but after it had been explained by some of the members who had looked into the matter that the schools in that section are badly congested, it was unanimously decided that the work be gone on with this year.

The matter was brought up by George Allan, chairman of the Building Committee, who stated that his idea in bringing the matter up was so that if the board decided to have the work done it could be gone on with this fall. At the last meeting the resolution carried that it would be advisable to build at once. The price asked for the property adjoining the school were as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth Osborne $2,500, John B. Morton $2,400, Charles E. Bates $3,100, Ira Green $2,500, making a total of $10,500. The cost of the property, together with the total amount of the tenders, would be $44,526. The cost of the seating would be $2,000. The total cost, counting the architect's fees and additional charges would be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

He explained that one reason for going on with the work this year was that the tenders were low, in most instances being lower than for the eight-room addition to Barton street school. The tender for plastering was $500 cheaper than that for the Barton street school addition. Debentures could not be issued without the consent of the council.

The report of Mr. W. H. Ballard showed the schools to be very badly congested, and if school section No. 8, Barton, was to be annexed, the matter of looking after the scholars of the two schools of that district would be another problem for the consideration of the board. The Wellington street school was in very poor condition to handle the large number of scholars who attend there. Over 400 pupils living east of Ferguson avenue are compelled to attend schools west of there.

S. F. Lazier, K. C., thought the matter was somewhat irregular. It should be brought up and the plans considered at the same time.

Mr. Allan explained that the matter had been discussed at a former meeting of the Board.

Trustee Booker said he thought it would be advisable to delay action, as it was hard to say what would be needed.

Dr. Carr said he did not think the matter had been treated fairly. The ventilation in the Victoria avenue school was poor, and the result was that the children were unhealthy. He had sent his children to the school until they were compelled to stop on account of illness. In one of the rooms there were seating for 48 and 84 scholars were crowded into it. Afterward ten of them were transferred to other schools. With such congestion all through that district it would be necessary to take extra precaution against fire. The ex-Mayor and the present Mayor had stated that the Board of Education was extravagant, but they were wrong. The present was the most favorable time to approach the Finance Committee on such a question, as they would be afraid of getting the people of that section sore if they refused.

Chairman Hobson said that in a quiet chat with the ex-Mayor he had stated that the newspapers had printed statements which he had not uttered. He had meant that if the water rates were reduced and the School Board continued as they did last year, a higher rate of taxes would be necessary.

The motion carried was to the effect that the matter be left to the Building Committee, with the recommendation that the lowest tenders in each case be accepted, if satisfactory. The committee was also authorized to arrange for the purchase of the necessary land.

It was decided that information be sought from the Minister of Education as to how straggling children might be educated, as at present they are refused admittance to the Public Schools, the result being that they are allowed to grow up uneducated. Dr. Carr said there were about 150 such children in the city and some of them were bright and intelligent, although frequently unable to talk properly, which barred them from the Public Schools.

Trustee Booker made a motion to the effect that steps be taken to form a teachers' old age pension fund. The fund should be formed by means of contributions from the teachers. The Chairman ruled the motion out of order, explaining that it would be necessary for the teachers to start the fund, and the Board could then assist them. However, he promised to look the matter up with Mr. Booker.

F. J. Howell thought the upper rooms in the Technical School should be fixed, so that they would be in condition for the Art School classes. The cost of completing the work would be reasonable, about $5,000, and as money had been obtained still remained, he thought it advisable to have the work done. It was decided to do so.

The Board decided that a teacher be appointed provisionally to take Mr. Patterson's place until he has recovered his health.

Miss Biech requested that the matter of raising her salary be reconsidered and it was referred to the Internal Management Committee.

The question as to what the scholars attending school in the city who reside at the Beach should pay was again discussed, but no action was taken in the matter, and they will be charged the $1 a month non-resident rate.

Arthur W. Beall asked to be allowed to address the senior scholars on personal purity, but the Board did not discuss the matter.

Applications were received from Eva S. Madden and Mary Burgess for positions as assistant kindergarten teachers, and a request from Miss N. Saunders for an increase in salary. They were referred to committee.

The report of Sergt. Syme showed the result of the Hamilton team, which competed at the meet at Toronto. He expressed the need of increased accommodation to carry on the work.

The schools' saving system showed that at the end of September, $10,463.30 was on deposit.

The meeting adjourned and a special meeting was at once held for the purpose of discussing the question of debentures for the new school. It was decided that they arrange for a special meeting of the City Council and that a request be made for $60,000.

MEDALS PRESENTED.

At the opening of the meeting a number of school children occupied the seats along one side of the committee room. Chairman Hobson explained that they were the medal winners in the recent public school games, and were present for the purpose of receiving their awards.

Trustee Wodell presented the trophy to Principal Manning of the Strathcona School, and Mr. Manning said the trophy would be prized highly as the contest had been so keen.

Mr. S. F. Lazier, K. C., presented the gold medal to James Harrison and the silver medal to Carl Farmer.

Trustee Holden said he was glad to see Ward No. 7 so well represented among the winners. He presented medals to Henry Smith, E. Hill and J. Ewing, who tied for third place.

J. Orr Callaghan said the result of the games clearly demonstrated the lack of proper places for the children to exercise. In the west the Victoria Park was available. He presented the prizes to the girls, the gold medal to Mary McIntosh, silver medal to Clara Feast and the bronze medal to Mamie Salisbury.

BARRILL'S STORY.

He Says Cook Never Reached Top of Mount McKinley.

New York, Oct. 14.—The Globe this afternoon prints a copy of the affidavit made by Edwin N. Barrill, who accompanied Dr. Frederick A. Cook at the time he announced his reaching the summit of Mount McKinley.

The affidavit was made before a notary public at Tacoma, Wash., on October 4th, and has just been received in New York. Barrill's affidavit states, in effect, that he was the only person present with Dr. Cook on the date when he claims to have reached the summit of Mount McKinley, that he did not, in fact, reach the summit, and the nearest point to the summit reached was at least fourteen miles distant from the summit of the mountain, the elevation at no time exceeding ten thousand feet. Barrill's affidavit also brings into question a number of the photographs which Dr. Cook has given as representing the summit and other high altitudes of Mount McKinley.

As an exhibit Barrill presents a pocket diary which he says was kept by him during all the time that Dr. Cook and he were together near Mount McKinley.

The diary referred to by Barrill as attached to the affidavit is now in possession of The New York Globe.

RECORDS TO PROVE IT.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 14.—Expressing astonishment at the statement of Edward Barrill, Dr. Cook to-day maintained that he had ascended to the summit of Mount McKinley, and said further that if an expedition will follow the route he took they will find the records deposited by him at the summit of the mount.

Among the Jews

There are almost no Jews prominent in railway matters, especially in connection with the great systems. Jacob H. Schiff, who succeeds E. H. Harriman in The Union Pacific directory, is one of the few exceptions. Mr. Kruttschnitt, of the Southern Pacific, is of Jewish descent on his mother's side. She was a sister of the late Judah P. Benjamin, of Southern Confederacy fame.

A large hospital and institution for medical research is to be erected in Chicago by Mrs. Nelson Morris, widow of Nelson Morris, the packer, which is to be known as the Nelson Morris Memorial Institute of Medical Research. The sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which is needed for the erection and complete furnishing of the hospital, has been given by Mrs. Morris as a memorial to her husband, who died two years ago.

Mr. Israel Alexander Symmons, a barrister, has been adopted as the prospective Liberal candidate in opposition to the Right Hon. Col. Lockwood, the sitting member for the Epping Division of Essex. He goes on the Middlesex Circuit, and also practices at the Middlesex Sessions and the Central Criminal Court. Born in 1863, Mr. Symmons was educated at University School and College, graduating in law with honors in 1885, in which year he was called to the bar. He is also LL.D. of London; while, so far as political training goes, he has for twenty years been a popular member of the Eighty Club, under whose auspices he has spoken upon numerous subjects and platforms.

The Government of Finland has resolved on the wholesale expulsion of Jews from Finland. The "Helsingin-Sanomien," the leading organ of the Finnish party, in two leading articles, has urged the police to carry out the existing laws with the utmost rigor. The paper also violently attacks the foreign press for its expressions of sympathy with the Jews. The Senate is entirely composed of Old Finns, whose creed is antisemitism. Any relief from the supreme authority is not, therefore, to be expected.

The last annual report of the Jewish Agricultural Aid Society contains the information that at the close of its fiscal year there were 2,409 Jewish farmers, occupying 2,164 farms, in the United States, which is believed to be about one-half of the actual number. These farms are scattered from Maine to California and from Florida to Montana.

Plans for the Maimonides Kasher hospital, the only institution of its kind in Chicago, adhering strictly to the Orthodox dietary laws, are completed and work on the building will be started Nov. 1. The new hospital will accommodate a hundred and thirty patients and will be six stories high, a hundred and ninety feet long and a hundred and thirty feet deep, and will be surrounded by a lawn. The cost of the structure, including the lot, will be approximately a hundred thousand dollars.

South African Meteorite. A South African correspondent tells the story of a large meteorite, weighing more than half a ton, which had been sent by Dr. Rogers to the Geological Survey from the territory of Cape Colony, to the South African Museum, at Cape Town. The meteorite was found at Ratseldraai, and it looks like a mass of molten metal, with a number of cavities or pockets in it, and where not earth soiled is of a dark bluish leaden color. In parts it has been chipped with a chisel or pick-axe and in such cuts it shows small shiny specks. It is described as a dull, warped mass of nickeliferous iron, and Dr. Peringuey, the director of the museum, ascribes its advent as due to the disintegration of some cometary body—London Standard.

Special values at $8.50, $10 and $12

The Men's Suits we sell at $8.50 to $12.00 are in many cases made from the same class of materials that the "cheap made-to-order man" charges $15 for "No more, no less," and then makes you feel how thankful you should be to meet him.

The materials we select to sell at $8.50 to $12 must be good or we would not sell so many of them. We have about 300 suits here ready to show you at these prices now, in all sizes from the smallest men's to the largest.

Overcoats $15.00

Lightweight coats for fall wear are here now—some of the lines are already broken in sizes, but we are getting in new coats to fill up the ranks every day. Oxford grey chevots are the favorites, and many a man has been fitted up here this past week. Your size is here, and if you paid $20 you would just be paying the price these goods are usually retailed for.

Overcoats $10.00

Lightweight and heavyweight coats are in abundance at this price. Light colors and dark colors, plain Oxford greys and plain blacks; some are for early fall wear and some for winter wear. Every garment fresh from the Sanford Company's tailor shop. The modest price for such good coats creates a tremendous outgo. They are undoubtedly the best ten dollar proposition you'll see this season.

Fancy "Wescuts"

A bright colored waistcoat will brighten up your fall suit. It's the only bright garment a man can wear with good taste. We have just stocked a choice lot of new patterns in light and medium weight materials, silk and wool. We know the high-class tailor's price for these would be nearly double our price, and the low-price tailor does not have a demand for such nice vests. Our prices are $1.50 to $5.00.

Greater Values for Boys

The parents who will bring their boys here to get fitted out for Winter will find our exhibit of styles will provide them with complete and definite knowledge of what is correct in juvenile attire for this season.

Our boys' clothing has won its popularity through sheer force of merit, each season's models having something new and something better than before, and we have gone on crowding more value into our product until to-day our greater value-giving is unquestioned in the matter of boys' clothes.

Boys' Reefers and Overcoats

Nearly 300 new Coats for small boys are ready for you to choose from. The materials and colors are the most suitable our buyers could procure in the markets of the world, English Nap Cloths, Chevots, Friezes, Beavers, Tweeds and Vicunas, Canadian Friezes, Chevots and Mackinaw Cloths, and the colors are from sombre grey and blacks to the bright red and Royal blue shades. These little coats are made to fit ages 3 to 10 years and are priced at $2.95 to $12.00.

Boys' School Clothes

There are times when this store finds it difficult to keep the supply up to the demands in the Boys' Department. So many other retail stores in Canada handle our make that our wholesale finds it difficult to serve us all as fast as the orders come in.

This week we are in pretty good shape to supply all requirements either in Overcoats or Suits, but must emphasize three special lines of Suits for the larger boys.

Suits for Ages 11 to 16, $8.50

Specially selected tweeds, chevots and serges, mostly imported cloths, in grey and brown mixtures; some very rich looking materials in the worsteds and good range of brownish chevots. The models are the very newest, in double-breasted sack styles, with bloomers or plain knickers. Price $8.50.

Suits for Ages 11 to 15, $6.50

These suits are specially suitable for school wear, and are chosen for their very suitable colors as well as for qualities of materials. The models are double-breasted sacks, and also Norfolk coats, with bloomers or plain knickers; any size up to 33, for $6.50.

Boys' Norfolk Suits $4.95

Here's a bargain lot of odd sizes, mostly to fit ages 12 to 17 years. The models are all belted Norfolk and mostly plain knickers. Now, you big boys, here's a chance to get a $6.50 or $7.50 suit for $4.95.

OAK HALL

10 and 12 James Street North

South African Meteorite. A South African correspondent tells the story of a large meteorite, weighing more than half a ton, which had been sent by Dr. Rogers to the Geological Survey from the territory of Cape Colony, to the South African Museum, at Cape Town. The meteorite was found at Ratseldraai, and it looks like a mass of molten metal, with a number of cavities or pockets in it, and where not earth soiled is of a dark bluish leaden color. In parts it has been chipped with a chisel or pick-axe and in such cuts it shows small shiny specks. It is described as a dull, warped mass of nickeliferous iron, and Dr. Peringuey, the director of the museum, ascribes its advent as due to the disintegration of some cometary body—London Standard. Many a man suspects his neighbor as he suspects himself.

GOOD LAND.

Millions of Acres Along Transcontinental Railway. Much Fit for Settlement Between Moncton and Winnipeg.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Ottawa, Oct. 15.—The indications are there will be a good deal of settlement along the National Transcontinental between Moncton and Winnipeg, in spite of the fact that opponents of the line contend that the country was all rock and swamp and unfit for farming. In fact, immigration authorities state that they are having applications for locations on the complete section just west of Winnipeg, extending to Superior Junction, and that settlers are locating there in considerable numbers. The annual report of the National Transcontinental Commission show that a preliminary examination has been made of the country along the whole route, from Moncton to Winnipeg, and the result is that a good many million acres of first class agricultural land has been disclosed, particularly in Quebec and Ontario.

Mr. Hugh Lumsden states: "From time to time I have received reports from the district, as to the nature of the country along the line, particularly in Western Quebec and Eastern Ontario. The land fit for cultivation in district 'D' in Western Quebec commences at the Bell River, and extends west to the Ontario boundary. Most of this land will be fit for cultivation, being good clay soil, easily drained. No doubt the arable land extends a good deal further to the north than we show on the map, but we only reported on the country so far explored by our engineers. On this section there are 5,800 square miles, of which 5,000,000 acres will make good farming land, and another million acres can probably be drained afterwards. In district 'D,' extending west from the Ontario boundary, he reports that the engineers have found about ten million acres of good farming land immediately along the route of the road.

APPEAL CASE.

Hamilton Woman Suing Insurance Company.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Toronto, Oct. 15.—The Divisional Court is hearing the appeal of Mrs. Harry Whitehorn, whose husband, a Hamilton man, was killed by the fall of a tree. He was by certain behind in his dues to the Canadian Guardian Assurance Co., and Judge Snider found in favor of the company. Mrs. Whitehorn claims that the agent had been in the habit of calling for the money, but had not done so in this case. She says she offered the money, but the agent refused to take it.

GOT OFF.

Smithville Man, Charged With a Serious Offence, Discharged.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 15.—Charles Howard, of Smithville, charged with incest, was brought before Judge Carman again to-day, having expressed a desire to change his election and to be tried summarily. Crown Attorney Bowman stated to his Honor that he was unable to proceed under the charge, as the girl interested was not closely enough related to the prisoner, nor could he proceed under the Chariton Act, owing to the time that had elapsed since the offence was committed. Howard was given a severe lecture by the Judge and discharged.

$10,000 FIRE.

Toronto Restaurant Burned While Occupants Were Out.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—While Matthew Simmons with his wife and child were enjoying a moving picture show and his daughter and servant were out for a walk last night, a fire started on the second floor of his restaurant at 606 Yonge street. Damage to the extent of $10,000 had been done to the building and contents before the fire was extinguished. How the fire started is a mystery. The place was locked up and there was no fire in it.

NOT A KICK.

The man who deals with Messrs. Begg & Shannon never has a kick coming over the values he gets, as is suggested in a timely advertisement in this issue. For $10, $15 and $20 you can get an elegant winter overcoat, one that has some character about it. Coats are made of stylish, substantial fabrics with new rich weaves, which have stability and beauty, and make a shapely overcoat stay shapely. If you are slender, wide shoulders make you look broad, and to the stout man straight lines and conservative shoulders make you appear less stout. Begg & Shannon can fit all classes, and as these overcoats are tailored with the utmost skill, the young man makes no mistake by investing in one. The address is 40-44 James street north.

Last Chance.

To-morrow evening at 8 o'clock the Newcomb piano contest closes, and someone will get a piano at its own price. Messrs. Mrs. Ella Lee, of New York, is waiting her mother, 74 Jackson street west. Inspector Berlinghoff, of the S. P. C. A., ordered John Sullivan, jun., John street north, to take his horse to the barn this morning, and there keep it for eight days. It had sore shoulders.

While unloading paper at Wood-Vallance's warehouse this morning Jos. Raynor, 319 Catharine street north, was badly hurt about the face. He was taken to the City Hospital, where Dr. Rennie attended his injuries. FORCED FIRE SALE.

No New Shoes Permitted Alongside Any Smoke-Perfumed Shoes.

"We had cleaned up all the fire damaged shoes, as we thought, and we wanted a new stock of Slater shoes for the winter," said the manager of the Slater shoe store. But the Slater Company are exceedingly careful about their reputation, and they will not put new guaranteed Slater shoes into this store while there is a single pair of water soiled shoes still in the store. "It is up to us to sell every pair of shoes and in making a quick and sweeping clearance we are fixing prices that we never otherwise could think of. It's a forced sale of water soiled shoes at 26 King street, in the Slater shoe store. At the end of the sale every pair left will be boxed and shipped away far away!"

STRUCK WRECK.

Empress of Ireland Has Hole Punched in Bow.

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Information was received here late this afternoon at the C. P. R. office that the Empress of Ireland had struck a submerged wreck at a point between Cape Chatte and Matane, and had a hole punched in her bow. The steamer reached Rimouski at 4.45 this afternoon, and proceeded for Quebec under her own steam, from which fact it is supposed she is not badly damaged, as otherwise her 1,100 passengers would have been landed at that point had the ship been in danger.

GONE CRAZY.

Swedish Scientist Driven Insane by Bomb Outrages. London, Oct. 15.—As an extraordinary sequel to bomb outrages in Sweden, Professor Martin Ekberg, Doctor of Philosophy, and a well-known Swedish scientist, has lost his reason, and to-day was removed to an asylum. The professor's mental condition can be directly attributed to the knowledge that he was suspected of complicity in, if not with being the author of, the crimes. It is even stated that a warrant for Ekberg's arrest had actually been issued at Gothenburg, Sweden, despite the fact that he frantically protested his innocence.

Alarmed by the tragedy, he fled.

Chinese Girls Sold Into Slavery. At Chaoting, a city of some forty thousand souls, it was told that one of the briskest directions of local trade was the selling of female children into slavery, and at the time I passed through prices were fairly high; a girl who could boast of good looks reaching the alarming figure of 300 taels—this was the highest figure reached—while a small child could be had for anything up to 20.
