CHAPTER XII

Captain Glynn's unhappy bride does not wait to hear any further details of the business like reasons which induced him to marry her. She shrinks away from the door with a chill sense of terror and dismay hounding her. Something dreadful has happened to her—that is all she feels or knows just now; for her brain is bewildered, and a heavy weight seems lying on her heart.

She goes up the staircase and through the corridor to her own room again, where she drops upon the nearest seat and stares vacantly at the door. Thus the maid finds her some time later when she comes in with the tea tray, all smiles and importance and deference to "young Mrs. Glynn," as the other maids are delightedly calling the bride among themselves, and heartily envying "Miss Pitts" her post.

"Law me, ma'am, it's time you had a cup of tea!" the girl exclaims, with concern and something like alarm in her eyes. "You're as white as your dress, ma'am! Let me take it off at once and put on your dressing gown for a minute. It's rather light-laced, ma'am, and it's such a weight of silk in the train! Oh, my goodness, you've sat on your veil and crushed it dreadful!"

"What matter?" Yolande says, smiling at the maid's anxiety. "I shall never wear it again, you know. Pull it off, and these orange ribbons, and shove them into the wardrobe drawer. I'm married now!"

"So you are, ma'am," agrees Pitts, with a respectful, envious, admiring smile, and to such unobtrusive, handsome, high-bred-looking gentleman, too, as Captain Glynn is!

"Pitts is quite sure, from previous experience, that her snobbery will be returned, to such blanches of pleasure and happiness, and she is simply dumfounded at the reception with which her words meet."

"Yes," the girl little says, in a cold, precise tone, and a hard, matter-of-face manner. "Captain Glynn is a handsome man and a well-bred man. If he weren't, I should not have married him, you know. It supposes I have pleased my eyes to please my heart, as the old saying has it."

"Goodness forbid, ma'am!" says Pitts, in a shocked tone, pausing in folding up the bridal dress, and unequally watching the pale face and glittering eyes and the cold, mechanical smile. "I wonder has anything gone wrong and vexed her?" Pitts muses. "She do look queer, and her voice doesn't sound like her own voice."

But in the greater interest of arraying the bride in her traveling costume of brown cashmere and broche velvet, with bonnet and gloves to match in shade, and a handsome fur shoulder cape and muff of rich brown skunk to finish off the toilet, Pitts forgets all lesser interests.

"But, low, ma'am; you are so dreadful pale," she says, in tones of dissatisfaction; "and you haven't hardly touched your tea."

"No, I can't drink it—I can't!" the young wife replies hoarsely and wildly. "I feel cold and faint; my very heart feels cold and feeble, Pitts, as if it were going to stop beating altogether!"

"A drop of brandy, Miss Yolande—I beg your pardon, ma'am," whispers Pitts coaxingly. "I know cook has a little in her room, so I can get it in a second. She was taken that bad last night with a pain in her chest that she had to have just a wee drop—"

"Get it for me! Get it at once!" Yolande interrupts, sharply; and Pitts rushes off, and in less than a minute returns with a flask half full of cognac and a wineglass.

She puts it down on the toilet table, and, as she turns round for the water carafe, Yolande pours out a sherry glass full, and, ere the horrified maid can prevent her, drinks off the fiery liquid "neat."

"Oh, good Heavens! Oh, law, miss! It'll get up to your head," gasps Pitts, nearly crying with fright. "Drink

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and for weak and dreary feelings caused by my condition. Sometimes I felt so bad that I couldn't do my housework. My neighbor told me of your medicine and I read about it in the 'Toronto Telegram' and thought I would take it. I got very good results. It built me up and I have held several friends what it has done for me. You may use this testimonial as it may be of help to some one who has suffered as I have."—Mrs. J. Lee, 25 Harvie Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Lee is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings, and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years letters like this have been received from thousands of women.

Want to Withdraw Wheat From Market.

Washington, July 27.—(By Canadian Press).—The American Farm Bureau Federation intends to press hard for the adoption of its plan to have 200,000,000 bushels of wheat withdrawn from the market this year and financed through the new intermediate credit banks, which were authorized in the last session of Congress. This is the plan which the Federation has recommended and which has been urged on the Secretary of Agriculture. It is contended that the 200,000,000 bushels will be the surplus this year and if it is not held of the market, wheat prices, already low, will be demoralized, with great loss to the farmers. On the other hand, it is denied the plan contemplates indirect government subsidizing of wheat or subsidy for the farmer at the expense of the consumer.

Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, holds that there is no other way to protect the interests of the wheat grower and that unless this method is followed, there will be almost irresistible demand for the fixing of the price of wheat by the government. Mr. Silver points out that the farmers will need no action by Congress, by President Harding 4415. This model reflects the most popular of this season's dresses for young girls. It has a comfortable raglan sleeve, which may be finished in wrist or elbow length, and a "faunty" collar. Dotted percale with facings of white linen is here illustrated.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 10 year size requires 2 1/2 yards of 32 inch material. Collar and sleeve facings of contrasting material require 1/2 yard.

or the Department of Agriculture to carry out the plan. He says the farmers are simply proposing to do what the law entitles them to do and to use the credit machinery which has already been provided for their benefit.

Under the law, he points out, the farmers can obtain credit up to 75 per cent of value, through the intermediate credit banks, on wheat and other agricultural products. As he views it, it is now up to the Government to go ahead and carry out the intent of Congress when it enacted last session the new credits legislation.

As Mr. Silver explains the Farm Bureau Federation proposal, the farmer would sell his grain to his cooperative marketing association, the association would take a receipt for the grain but it would be stored in the farmer's granary, the association would then take the receipts and borrow from the intermediate credits bank on the strength of them. The proceeds of the loan would be distributed to members of the co-operative association in proportion to wheat furnished. With this arrangement made, the wheat would be marketed gradually, when prices were favorable, and not dumped on the market at once.

A NEW VERSION OF ONE PIECE DRESS.

4412. Checked gingham and linen are combined in this style. It could be made up in cretonne or chints with crepe or saten or in jersey cloth with flannel or buds for trimming. Made in plaid and plain, or plain with white linen would also be attractive.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 10 year size requires 4 yards of 32 inch material. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Ireland Trying to Find Work for Unemployed.

Dublin, July 26.—There are more than 62,000 persons without work in the Irish Free State for whom the government is struggling to find employment. The unemployment difficulty, and the liberation of 12,000 political prisoners still intended, constitute Ireland's most formidable problem.

It is estimated that the Free State army now consists of 49,000 men, and before the end of the year the Minister of Defense hopes to bring this figure down to 35,000. The government is puzzled to know what to do with the 20,000 soldiers when they are demobilized. The problem is common to all Europe where, through a disturbance of markets, there are more men than can be absorbed in industry. Fortunately, the Irish Free State is in a better position to absorb these men than most other countries would be. It starts off with the important fact that it is a creditor nation, exporting each year a great deal more than it imports.

SUFFICE TO ENCIRCLE GLOBE.

LOBRON, July 25.—(A.P.)—Colonel Saccadura Cahral, one of the Portuguese aviators who flew from Lisbon to Rio de Janeiro, referring recently to his project of flying around the world, said his itinerary would be divided into three parts.

The first would be from Lisbon to Japan, 9,870 miles; second, Japan to Newfoundland, 7,580 miles; third, Newfoundland to Lisbon by way of Fayal and Ponta Delgada, 2,140 miles.

On the basis of an average speed of 70 miles an hour, the aviator would expect to spend 280 hours in the air.

Steel Works Closed.

Explosion of Bomb Cuts off Water Supply
President Harding's Condition Causes Anxiety—Sir Charles Hawtry Dead.

WATER MAINS IN BESCO PLANT DESTROYED BY DYNAMITERS.
SYDNEY, N.S., July 31. The Besco Steel Plant is completely closed down as the result of a series of explosions which blew up the lines which supply the plant with water. The damage, it is feared, is not so much by the explosion as damage caused inside by the sudden shutting off of water needed in various operations particularly in the coke ovens section. It is possible that Sydney may be able to furnish a quantity of water for vital purposes until repairs have been made. The only clue to the origin of the explosion is several men seen making a getaway in an auto.

MYSTERY STILL SURROUNDS THE BOMB OUTRAGES AT BESCO PLANT.
SYDNEY, N.S., July 31. Though the police were active all tracing down such meagre clues as developed, no arrests were made and complete mystery still surrounds the identity of the person or persons who, early this morning, exploded charges of dynamite, and wrecked the pipe lines supplying the British Empire Steel Corporation's plant with water. It is learned that the breaks have been repaired, and operations will be resumed as soon as the exact nature of the damage to the steel plant, if any, is located, although this will not be known for several days until a thorough survey is made.

$1,000 REWARD OFFERED FOR ARREST OF GUILTY ONES.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 30. Attorney General W. J. O'Hearn announced to-night that as a result of the bomb outrages in Sydney to-day, the Provincial Government has offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those guilty.

PRES. HARDING ILL OF PTOMAIN POISONING.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 31. President Harding was reported ill to-day on landing here from Seattle. He is suffering from complication following ptomaine poisoning, which attacked him at Vancouver after eating crabs that were "copper tainted."

PRES. HARDING IS TALKING TOO MUCH.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 31. President Harding spent a fairly comfortable night, according to a bulletin issued to-day by Brigadier-General E. Sawyer, his personal physician. "His condition is acute and he has temporarily overstrained his cardio vascular system by carrying of his speaking engagements while ill," the bulletin adds. It would be necessary for the President to have complete rest during the period of acute symptoms.

THE PRESIDENT'S CONDITION IS SERIOUS.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 31. President Harding's illness responded to-day to careful treatment and complete rest, but his physician's statement issued to-night, admitted for the first time that his condition was serious. The most encouraging feature was that he had taken some nourishment and had been fairly comfortable during the day. To-night's bulletin gave his temperature as 100.6, respiration forty-four and irregular, and some cough and evidence of congestion in lung.

THREE MORE YEARS OF RAILWAY BURDEN.
MONTREAL, July 30.

In about three years time the Canadian National Railways may be expected to have ceased to be a burden on the pockets of the tax payers, Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman of the Government's Railway, declared here this afternoon. He added however, the provision, that such would be the case if no unfortunate disaster struck Canada.

NOTHING BUT GUESSES.

EDMONTON, July 30. Official investigation into the cause of the wreck on the trans-Continental Line, near Picard, Quebec, Saturday morning, when four train employees were killed and one injured seriously, was opened this morning, and until it is completed no report is to be given out. One of the passengers, a woman, suffered injury. Her arm was bruised. "Nothing but guesses," authorities answered, when asked if the cause of the wreck was that the express was running ahead of schedule as rumoured.

NEGROES WITH RAZORS SLASH INTO DANCERS.

CHICAGO, July 31. One negro is dead and two county policemen dying. Early yesterday morning, according to Chicago papers negroes entered a community dance hall armed with knives, razors and revolvers, and forced white girls to dance with them, taking wives from the arms of husbands in some cases, says the report.

BANDITS MAKE BIG HAUL.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 31. Three bandits held up the paymaster of the coal company on a Laurel Line train to-day, using revolvers freely, killing one man and wounding two, and made their escape with the pay roll, amounting to from eighty-five and ninety thousand dollars.

SERIOUS FIRE AT NEW GLASGOW.

NEW GLASGOW, July 31. The plant of McKay and Chambers at New Glasgow, a firm operating the salt mines at Malagaash, was destroyed by fire Saturday evening. The mine had been working to full capacity and the loss is a serious one.

List World War Dead in Allied Memorial Centre.

Oakland, Calif., July 28. (A.P.)—Names of 84,324 heroes who died in the World War to-day repose in a vault in the Allied Memorial Center here. The memorial, a majestic monument of steel and stone, was erected on the banks of Lake Merritt, in the heart of Oakland, for the purpose of housing the names of every Allied soldier, sailor, or nurse killed in the World War.

Dr. Leroy F. Herrick, of Oakland, who erected and maintains the memorial at his own expense, states that in time he hopes to have the names of every participant of the World War in the huge vault of the Allied Memorial Centre.

Dr. Herrick stated that the Canadian authorities have promised to have a complete list of the soldier and sailor dead of Canada in his hands on July 1, and he says, the names will be deposited on July 4 with proper patriotic services. This, the memorial founder stated, will be a departure from the usual method of depositing the names.

"I planned and since 1919 have carried out my plan of holding patriotic services for the depositing of names on each Memorial Day and each Armistice Day," said Dr. Herrick. "However, I do not want to keep the entire Canadian list out of the vault until next November 11, and I am going to break the rule of procedure this once.

"I do not know how long it is going to take me to get the names of the 1,500,000 soldier dead of France. The French war authorities have not finished compiling its list. I expect to have the Australian and New Zealand lists in time for next Armistice Day, but I do not know how long it will take to get complete lists from England, Belgium, Italy and other Allies.

"The names in the vault to-day are all American, with the exception of 145 of Brazil's war dead." The monument has the portraits of Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt, and Wilson carved on the four sides, and is topped by an eagle. Dr. Herrick, a local physician for the last 30 years, was born in Wellington, Maine, in 1861.

Timbering in Summer Under Modern Efficiency.

Montreal—A number of the largest lumber companies in the Riviere du Loup district are planning to carry on lumbering operations during the present summer on some of their timbering limits. This is a radical departure from the custom of cutting and hauling the logs during the winter. Heavy snows during the past winter impeded and greatly retarded cutting operations. In the past hot weather has been considered a handicap and summer hauling was supposed to be at a disadvantage as compared with the facilities offered by the snow. Modern equipment, however, has made the handling of logs in summer easier than the winter. A saving of timber also results, for stumps can be cut lower in summer.

"The Night Rose" a Masterful Production.

IS WITNESSED BY HUGE HOUSES AT THE NICKEL.

One of the most powerful screen dramas seen in a long while is "The Night Rose," the great LeRoy Scott story at the Nickel yesterday. Much abused as is the expression "all star cast" there has never been a more conspicuous example of it's deserved use than in "The Night Rose." The cast is headed by Lon Chaney, whose work in "The Penalty" played him at the very top of screen players. In this picture he has the role of a boss of the underworld, but one of an unusual type. Though living on the fringes of evil and enemy of the law, he hides behind the outward personality and garb of a gentleman. The remainder of the cast is excellent.

On Thursday the Nickel will screen Major Sidney F. Ootson's Aerial Survey of the Frozen North and the Labrador Gold Fields. This film is very interesting and will, no doubt, be witnessed by immense audiences.

REGATTA DANCE, C. C. C. HALL—Don't forget the big Dance in the C.C.C. Hall on to-morrow, Wednesday night, wet, shine or postponement, this Dance will go on, Prince's Orchestra. Also on Thursday should the Regatta be held on Thursday.

Here is a Question Worth Considering

Have you ever given a thought to the reason you see some women with red and roughened hands?

The explanation is simple: Something is wrong with the soap they use for household work.

Furthermore, have you ever given a thought to what a soap that reddens the hands will do to the clothes?

You do not need to be told that it will fade the colors and weaken the fabric.

It is unnecessary to use such a soap today when you can buy pure laundry soap that is absolutely free from any adulteration, and does not contain lye to harm the hands.

Made of the finest materials, blended together perfectly during the 20 days it is in the making, Kirkman's Soap is the absolutely "safe" soap to use for your household washing and cleaning.

Remember always, for the sake of your hands and clothes, to ask your grocer for Kirkman's Soap.

Acting on Impulse.

Having once upon a time been a schoolmaster, it is only in the nature of things that some of Mr. Jerome K. Jerome's funniest stories should concern themselves with schools and scholars.

One that he is fond of telling concerns a certain inspector who, visiting a provincial school, was much worried by the noise of the scholars in the next room. At last, unable to bear it any longer, he opened the door and burst upon the class. Seeing one boy taller than the others talking a great deal he caught him by the collar, carried him to his own room, and planted him in the saying: "Now sit there and be quiet."

Ten minutes later a small head appeared round the door, and a meek little voice said: "Please, sir, you've got our teacher."

Dr. Grenfell's Log.

ST. ANTHONY, July 1, 1923.
Dear Mr. Editor:—I can never again send you the Log of the S. S. Strathcona. For, since I left here last fall, she has found her last resting place under a fitting shroud of fifty fathoms of the polar current that she so long successfully resisted. Twenty-three years she bravely 'tid her bit'. During those years many and many of my Northern friends have sought and found help and relief aboard her. Scarcely a function of human life but her cabins have witnessed, for births, deaths, marriages, work, play, worship, have all been parts of the scenes that have made up her a drama of events. A people who 'go down to the sea in ships' for their business, can alone appreciate how a vessel assumes a personality—for who calls his ship anything but "her,"—and who, that has built and sailed his boat but loves her, as every "her" has to be loved.

As in the good ship Sagona we steamed North this week the magnificent coloration, the bracing air that tasted like sugar and sent the old feeling of youth coursing again through one's veins, did their best to cheer us up, but we could but sorrow, as for a friend 'gone on', as we passed the spit where the old Strathcona lay sleeping her last sleep, and peered down into those remorseless waters that overcame her at last. Surely, life for all of us is a tragedy indeed, if we have only made getting 'things' our end in it, and have known its true purpose, and indeed its only justification, is the serving of the world. Was it unnatural to feel comforted by the thought that whatever we have made of our few years, she at least made her's a field of honor?

North with us again are an increasing number of youthful visitors and helpers. All of them are keen with the enthusiasm of health and youth, and all accustomed to the appointments and the wealth of modern cities, and to the so-called advantages that civilization and ease from financial care afford. Only a few are veterans of former years, still free enough from the entanglements that the years bring to most of us and once again unable to resist the lure of this wonderful North.

If any Newfoundland, accustomed to life's setting here, were apt to be down-hearted as to the assets of his native land, he would be thrilled again could he but hear the comments of those unbiased and well qualified minds on the environment that nature offers to life in this North, and more especially on its developmental influence on human life and the quality of manhood it produces.

As we passed along the towering cliffs that lead to Cape St. Francis and watched the mountainous swell, left by the heavy northwest gale, fling foaming tons of water high up the perpendicular sides, and saw the little homes perched up, as if to tease them, just beyond their reach, it did seem a marvel that feeble man could wrest a living from so fierce and reluctant an element; yet, away outside our vessel, all along were little open boats, bobbing up and down, fishing as serenely as some of us sit in an arm chair in a study office juggling figures for our daily bread. The Vikings were not born in the South Sea Islands. Hardness produces the good soldier, and life is everywhere a resultant of compensations. New York, Boston, Toronto, London, do not produce trap boat crews or the jolly sailor men whom all the world loves,—loves, as we read of them through the ages following the Admirals like Anson and Drake "to sweep the Spanish Main," or as "Captains Courageous" to reap from the wild banks of the Atlantic or Labrador so unromantic a reward as a "fare" of codfish,—it loves the best of all,—and unquestionably it is the one thing in life permanent and worth while—then Jack's the King of all—for they all love Jack, and Newfoundland is a cradle made of God to breed him.

But, meanwhile, both at our home in Boston and here in the Old Colony, from the lips of many Newfoundlanders we have been learning of hundreds, nay thousands, who are being forced—forced bitterly against their will—to leave the homes that Islanders and Seamen cling to with perhaps more devotion than any other class of men. Here is suffering compared to which all the ills that doctors give their lives to assuage, are a bagatelle. Many of these separations are almost as bitter as death itself to the old folk whose companionship and presence is the one compensation of the evening of life. The medical mind is at once challenged by the problem. Is this migration incurable? What is its cause? Why are these homes empty?

It was fine at Twillingate, where we were inspecting Dr. Parsons' work on the new hospital to see the local copper mine, managed by Mr. Hodder, beginning to crush and concentrate ore, and promising to employ some fifty men. If successful, it should run to larger numbers later on. The great prospect of Gull Pond Copper deposit is especially helpful at this time of depression with all the subsidiary employment which it will undoubtedly afford. At Filer's Island, the caretaker, Mr. Scheering, assured us that the mine there will be sure to operate again, since the deposits of copper discovered by the borings made by Mr. John Lawton showed it could be a financial success from copper alone if not from sulphur. It is a fine thing to know that the Humber River scheme promises to employ as many as two to three thousand men. The Tilt Cove mine has ten thousand tons of ore ready for shipment. Nothing succeeds like success, and mining may temporarily at least spell prosperity to the Colony—God grant it may. But meanwhile large numbers of our fishermen are leaving the country—our young and strong, our best, and every hamlet and village almost is lamenting. One cannot help feeling that the fishery is the really great asset of this country, and is that which created our people and keeps their sons here. The fisherman's life has in this country so much to commend it that no other life to us seems to offer. Why then should our people be very literally forced out of it?

We have just noted in the colony's press, an effort by the senior medical practitioner in the capital to locate and check the cause of the defeat of the Prohibition Law of this country in its efforts. This bitterly criticized his efforts, because he referred in the public press to one of the undeniable causes, viz: the selling of scripts by members of his own profession.

All doctors know, however, that bringing out dangerous diseases into the sunlight is the surest way to remedy them, and, at least down here in the outports, realize that we have no other way but through the press of the country, to get the facts essential to work on before the voters, who can control or remedy the troubles.

No one for a moment can suspect in reality that Dr. Fraser found pleasure or profit in his effort. Nor was it a pleasure or profit that took our boys "over the top" to break targets far masked guns. How sincerely we down here—who love this North and are absolutely sure that it is producing a race which the world never needed more than it does to-day, a race which everyone knows cannot be replaced from the softness or hustle of drawing rooms or stock markets,—long for this exodus of our people to stop. If ever an ostrich hid its head in the sand in order not to see danger, did it ever gain anything by it. Doctors are poor politicians, as I read history, while—then Jack's the King of all—to find ways to bring this real state of things into the sunlight,—to discuss publicly its causes, having recognized instead of camouflaged its existence, as some will the cancer that is eating out their own vitals. Is it not for the press to educate its clientele and to discuss remedies, as seriously as doctors do for the causes of disease which are threatening our existence?

It is not only our young men, but many of our best and tried men, who are leaving, and I, who see so many in the States and Canada as I travel about, know very well that large numbers are not coming back, except perhaps for a short visit. Every patriot in Newfoundland knows that though our pulp and minerals may help the Colony, our real peculiar asset that no one else has is our marvellous cold water fish in a comparative southern latitude. With a collapse of our fisheries, Newfoundland would cease to be Newfoundland. I lean to those who believe that in Newfoundland every effort possible, and our first and chief effort, should be to back up our wonderful fisheries on which the Colony has thrived so well for over four hundred years.

The increasing business in chilled or frozen salmon is very encouraging. Here, in Green Bay and the North it is making salmon worth catching. Salt salmon after these years, has failed to commend itself as an article of diet. Cannot more cold storage be successfully introduced, and a food product more acceptable to the rich than salt cod be marketed in Europe as well as America?

The prejudice against frozen fish is really a prejudice—exactly as the prejudice against frozen New Zealand mutton. It can be overcome. A gentleman now in St. John's met the objection "Oh, we cannot eat frozen fish" by a characteristic experiment. He sent from Scotland to Boston for some frozen cod; they came to London and were sent by rail to Scotland. When his Scotch cook started to cook one, the real siren of the fish was so well preserved that she exclaimed, "My, but 'tis fresh from the Firth they are!" or at dinner everyone commented on the way the flakes melted in their mouths. This is a true story. If cold storage were available, we in the North could fish another month at least. We could always have fresh food, and frozen bait when fish were hungry, instead of only when they are glutted, as they are now. It seems that all depends on the fish going into the freezer immediately it leaves the water.

The same is certainly true of cod liver oil. The vitamine value is much higher if the fish is given a chance with the most modern treatment. It is most disheartening to hear—"Oh, our markets are for poor people and so our customers can't afford not to pay the price of production," or "We couldn't get any repeat orders in Spain because Iceland's fish is so much better made than ours." We have really an unrivalled asset in our cold water cod and salmon, and there is always plenty of demand in the world for the best. We have always deeply lamented the closing of the fish hatcheries, lobster nurseries, and the scientific study of our fisheries that was so splendidly carried on by Mr. Adolph Nielsen thirty years ago. Many are saying to-day that experience makes them believe that the money spent on branch railways would have brought far better returns if used in experimental development and educational work in our great fishing industry. It is good to know that large orders are being given for tinned codfish and to be able to tell all our people of a cash market here in St. Anthony for our innumerable berries.

Cuticura Quickly Relieves Irritated Skins

Bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water to free the pores of impurities. Dry lightly, and apply Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal. Cuticura Tablets are ideal for powdering and perfuming.

We have always felt that one of the outstanding characteristics of our friends in the North have been their unconquerable optimism. But the many closed houses, even if the owners are hoping to return, affords a comment that impresses upon everyone the great need for every possible prophylactic effort.

It is pathetic, too, returning from a land of such abundant plenty, to find so many nutrition deficiencies, in other words, so many results of not enough or proper food to eat. We admitted three such to the hospital only yesterday,—two being little children with tubercular knees. Another fisherman to-day came in with a starvation disease leaving a family without one cent or one ounce of food, having lost one child from starvation this last spring.

Of our own efforts this year, we are hoping most from the industrial work. Several of our northern students, trained in industrial work, will be starting fresh centers for wearing, mat making, basket and other work, while the trained nutritional and child welfare workers are trying not only to introduce new methods of getting more value out of foods already within reach, but also of bringing other sources of the greatly needed nutritional factors above the horizon. Our new highly bred goats, that give almost as much milk as our cows in the North, should certainly be a real asset in the better physical development of our children. They are far safer also, being immune to tuberculosis—an important fact when we realize that some eighty per cent. of all tuberculosis in children under five years is known to be derived from the bacillus of cows. One man in our harbor alone has lost four children from tuberculosis, and our homes and hospitals are filled with the results of its terrible works.

This year a new executive officer of very large and varied experience, Col. Arthur Cosby, is helping us with his most valuable advice, and a new director, Miss Catherine Cleveland, to collaborate with Mrs. Blackburn in all the industrial work, including sales and purchases, and attempt to unify and extend materially the scope of its department.

In Bavaria last fall, while visiting the Oberammergau play, we couldn't help realizing in how many parts of the world the people live on a very close margin. There, as in Switzerland, Norway, and elsewhere, the small arts and crafts furnish a very serious part of the earnings of the people.

Our industrial sales showed how much our women can add to the general income of the family by such homely arts as knitting, which they do exceptionally well, and old-fashioned mat making, and embroidery. The Labrador winter costumes, worn by some of our returned workers at such winter health resorts as Lake Placid Club and Saranac Lake, brought us lots of orders for "dickies" or "Kossaks," and the accompanying simple buy gay and attractive trousers, boots, and gloves, for both men and women. The clothing is made of water-tight canvas,—clean, light, cheap and with splendid wear in it,—brilliantly trimmed with bands of embroidery or braid, and the winter garments with an edging of fur. These are really unequalled for wear in snow and even "midges" and thaws in winter. We are hoping for more orders from

St. John's as they become better known. At Tilt Cove we learned of the sad news of the loss of a schooner on Cape John. She proved to be the only schooner so far fitted for the fishery this year from Twillingate. We saw her leaving, and it is hard to hear of her loss after only crossing Green Bay, in fog and sea on the south bill of Cape John. Also, a little while ago this very Twillingate fitted 150 schooners for the fishery. Meanwhile, excellent news of fish and salmon on the French shore so early in the year is a real encouragement, for though the prices are so low it does little more than to keep body and soul together to catch it. Yet, if the men get plenty, they may tide over these hard times and not have to leave the country, as hundreds are being forced to do further south.

From the North reports of the fur-trapping are excellent so far. The trappers of Northern Labrador have been enjoying far better times than has

Stop the Speed Mania.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I beg to offer you my sincere thanks on the firm stand you are taking against excessive speed of motor cars and motor cycles within the city limits. It is high time we were fully protected—especially little children—from these maniacs, as, without exception, those who appear before court for speeding come under that category.

The callousness exhibited by these speed devils has been greatly in evidence since July 11th, as I note by your paper that no less than seven have had to appear before the Magistrate since that date for speeding. Listen to their speed song! On with the dance, let joy be unconfined.

As editor of one of the most influential newspapers in our Dominion, you are in a position to earn the undying gratitude of the fathers and mothers of this city by arousing public opinion and demanding on their behalf that the authorities move in the matter without delay and provide greater safeguards and more effective punishment than at present exists. By all means accord decent motorists—thank God they are far in the majority—their just rights and privileges, but we must put out of action those fiends who, in a great many instances, are not particular whether they run over a child or a dog—in my own case I can prove this statement.

When deaths or permanent injuries occur through these so-called accidents, one side of the picture represents "heartbroken parents or children," the other "sport spoiled for a day or two."

Fathers and mothers of St. John's, are you satisfied with the violation of the law regarding speed of motors and motor cycles as at present constituted, or shall the unwritten law be administered to stop these hell inspired fools?

Trusting this will not take up too much of your valuable space, and with thanks in advance, Yours truly,

Harbor Grace Notes.

The death of Mr. Kenneth Taylor, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor, occurred at his home here on Wednesday morning last. The deceased was 33 years of age, and had been fishing with his father at Quirpon. He had been in ailing health for the past couple of years. His father and brothers are at Quirpon at present. He leaves to mourn his passing, besides his father and mother, two sisters, Mrs. (Capt.) John Tucker, of New York and Violet at home; and three brothers, Lemuel, Maxwell, and Clarence. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon, and was attended by the Sons of England Society, of which deceased was a member. Interment was made in the Methodist Cemetery. To the sorrowing family we extend sympathy.

The Spaniard's Bay Garden Party, which was to have been held on Wednesday, was postponed and went off Friday.

The Strawberry Festival, held by the congregation of St. Peter's Church, South Side, on Wednesday, proved successful in spite of the unpromising weather which prevented many from attending, who would otherwise have done so. Teas, strawberries, ice cream and candy were on sale, and an enjoyable evening spent by those present.

The news reached town last week of the marriage of Miss Gertrude Hippenley, daughter of the late Judge Hippenley, of Carbonear, to Mr. J. A. Whitman of this town. The ceremony took place on Thursday, the 19th inst., at Toronto. Mr. Whitman intends coming here next month for a brief visit and will then return to Auburn, N.Y., where Mrs. Whitman is visiting her brother. We join with their many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Whitman every happiness.

Mr. Albert Heath, of Messrs. G. Knowling's employ, spent a week here visiting his brother, A. W. Heath, and returned to St. John's again on Friday last.

Mrs. George Gordon and four children, arrived from Boston recently, and will spend several months here with her mother, Mrs. J. B. Ash, at the Old Custom House.

The marriage of Miss Lynn Butt, of this town, and Mr. A. E. Bishop, of Western Bay, was solemnized at St. John's recently. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop arrived from the city by Saturday night's train. We join with their host of friends in wishing the young couple many years of happiness.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, Bear's Cove, on Friday week, 29th inst.

Miss Minnie Noseworthy, who is working in the city, is at present spending a holiday with her parents and friends here.

Mrs. Robert Davis and daughter Marjorie, who were on a two weeks' visit to her sister, Mrs. John LeDrew, at Wabana, and friends, returned home again on Saturday afternoon.

Cod Liver Oil.

(Trade Review.)
The total returns for the catch of fish and yield of oil in Norway, including Lofoden and Finmarken has now come to land. It is interesting to give a comparison of the past five years, which gives us a good idea of competition we have from that source.

Year	Codfish	Cod Liver Oil
1919	30,200,000	37,612
1920	38,000,000	58,951
1921	38,000,000	57,318
1922	47,900,000	78,313
1923	51,800,000	85,073

It will be seen that the catch of codfish has been increasing annually since the war, but that the yield of oil is more than double what it was.

The quality of oil manufactured in Norway this year is the highest on record, there has been larger quantities of fish caught occasionally in former years, but there has never been so much refined medicinal oil made before.

Notwithstanding this large production of oil the market continues very firm, and it is reported that considerable quantities of this oil have been made for industrial and edible purposes.

Good enquiries have been received from sources for our finest Non-freezing Cod Liver Oil, and all buyers are undoubtedly interested in Dr. Zilvia's favourable report for Newfoundland Cod Liver Oil, but many of the druggists are more interested in the profit they can make when handling this oil, and until the scientists and doctors insist on a special article we cannot expect to see any marked improvement.

We would strongly recommend all the refiners who can manufacture oil in an economical way to make what they can for the rest of the season.

There is more chance of making a turn of the Refined Oil than there is to-day on Common Cod Oil.

We must also support Dr. Zilvia when he is advertising our product and unless we have sufficient oil to show buyers what we can do, they will think we take very little interest in the products of our country.

The findings of the American chemists who recently visited here will also be of much advantage to the Newfoundland industry. All of these gentlemen are agreed that our oil is of extra-superior quality, and when their various reports are made, they will increase the interest in our oils already evinced by customers both in Europe and America. At the present time of writing the market for any kind of oil, fish or vegetable is very dull and contracts which had been made for July have been rescinded. Fortunately all or nearly all we had has been marketed, and there is very little left to export, the output in the main, having been sold to advantage.

STOWE-ROWSSELL.
A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Congregational Church on Monday afternoon, when the Rev. T. B. Holden united in matrimony Miss Beatrice Stowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stowe, of Mr. Max Rowsell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Rowsell. The bride was attended by Miss Pearl Williams while the duties of best man were performed by Mr. James Stowe. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of blue crepe de chene and hat of grey and carried a bouquet of carnations, sweet peas and maidenhair fern. The bridesmaid also looked pretty in a dress of shot silk with hat to match, with a bouquet of sweet peas and maidenhair fern. After the ceremony the party motored to the West End Restaurant where a reception was held, after which the happy couple motored to Kelligrews where the honeymoon will be spent.

America Heads List

OF INTERNATIONAL MULTI-MILLIONAIRES.

LONDON, July 27 (A.P.)—Who are the ten richest men in the world? asks the Sunday Express. It answers the query itself by giving a list at the head of which is Henry Ford, whose fortune it estimates at $500,000,000. John D. Rockefeller comes next with $450,000,000; Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, is third with $150,000,000, and then follows the Duke of Westminster, Sir Basil Zaharoff, Hugo Stinnes, Percy Rockefeller, Baron H. Mitsui, Baron H. Iwasaki and the Gaekwar of Baroda, each with $100,000,000.

James B. Duke, the tobacco king; George F. Baker, of the First National Bank of New York, and T. B. Walker, the Minneapolis timber landowner, the Express says, might be added to the list since they all have Indian fortunes whose fortunes probably exceed this amount.

The Rothschilds, Guggenheims, Vanderbilts, Weyerhaeusers, and the Astors, says the writer, do not appear because they are family fortunes. The Rothschild wealth has been estimated at from $350,000,000 to $500,000,000 and that of the Astors at from $100,000,000 to $500,000,000.

Henry Ford is possibly the richest man in all history, the paper declares. He has a net business income of more than $100,000,000 a year. He earns $250 every minute. Croesus may have been richer, since his famous gift to Delphi cost $10,000,000, and that, reduced to to-day's terms, might mean $200,000,000.

John D. Rockefeller gave away $500,000,000 to charity and to foundations before 1921. He is the head, however, of the biggest group of wealthy men ever produced by a single industry, and his private fortune must still rank him second.

Sir Basil Zaharoff is Europe's mystery man, but it is no mystery that he is one of Europe's wealthiest men. He owns more than half of Monte Carlo, and his holding in armament firms are even larger. He is in oil, finance, shipping; in fact, it is difficult to say what he is not interested in.

The Mitsuis and the Iwasakis are financiers, traders, and shippers. The Gaekwar of Baroda's wealth is almost impossible to estimate, but his diamonds alone are valued at $1,250,000 and he has a jewelled tapestry worth $1,500,000. Guns of gold weighing 400 pounds stand at his palace gate.

The performing brown bear had escaped from the menagerie, and he roamed eagerly around the countryside in search of prey.

Suddenly he espied a sweet maiden standing beside a tree, waiting for her sweetheart. Stealthily creeping up behind her, the bear seized her in his tremendous paws and pressed her to him in a mighty hug.

For five minutes he held her thus, and was just about to drop her lifeless body to the ground when he heard her murmur:

"I don't think you are quite so strong as you used to be, Harry."

"That night a miserable bear crept back into his cage. The modern girl had broken his spirit."

Storyettes.
"There is something I must tell you, dear," she said, looking up from the shoulder where her curly head was resting.
"What is it, my precious?"

"I'm afraid you won't want to marry me when I tell you."
His eyes widened, but he drew her a little closer. "Don't believe that, he said.
"But, John, dear, I'm—I'm a somnambulist."
There was a puzzled little pause, and then he said, "It's all right, darling; if there isn't a church of that kind in the village we can be married before a registrar."

Mike—"Tis a fine kid ye have here. A magnificent head and noble features. Say, could you lend me a couple of dollars?"
Pat—"I could not. 'Tis me wife's child by her first husband."—Milwaukee Journal.

A sudden sound of whistling disturbed the slumberous air of the classroom, and the strains of "Tippy Canoe" floated over forty small heads bent over forty small slates.
"Who's that whistling?" screamed the teacher, as soon as she recovered her surprise.
"It's just mase!" answered Sandy Macpherson, with true Scottish imperturbability. "Did ye no ken ah could whistle!"

THE EVENING TELEGRAM

THE EVENING TELEGRAM, LIMITED, PROPRIETORS. All communications should be addressed to The Evening Telegram, Ltd., and not to individuals.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Tuesday, July 31, 1923.

A Highroad to Pleasure and Profit.

We cannot altogether be accused of being dilatory in turning to account the many sources of wealth by which we are surrounded, but there is either a lack of confidence in them, or a failure fully to grasp their latent possibilities.

To take a case in point. From early summer until late in the autumn, the boats arriving from foreign ports are filled to their utmost capacity with passengers, in search of pleasure.

There is no occasion for this when within reach of the city we have attractions which if properly advertised, and properly exploited, would return us a rich harvest and at the same time prove a source of entertainment for our guests.

In another column of this issue will be found a complete guide to alternate motor car routes from St. John's to Placentia. We can vouch for the accuracy of the details and the description of the roads, as they come to us from a motorist who, at considerable trouble and with a view to their publication in the interest of the public, gathered the data recently.

In the past it was seldom that a citizen of St. John's found it necessary to go far afield to find fishing and shooting par excellence. To-day it is different. Many of the famous fishing resorts are now famous only in name.

A choice of routes is given, and the mecca of each is the historic old capital which never ceases to awaken our interest. The one runs to Placentia via Salmonier and Colinet, the other via Brigus, Whitbourne and Colinet. It is impossible in a short space to attempt a description of the attractions which these roads afford to the sportsman, to the motorist, to the lover of scenic beauty, to him who finds in the bosom of Nature a palliative for all the ills.

For natural beauty there are few places that can rival the Falls of Rocky River. The Government Engineer, in choosing the site for, and in the construction of the bridge has erected a monument, not only to his skill as a craftsman, but to his sense of the artistic and picturesque as well.

Sagona Arrives From Labrador.

FISHERY REPORTS VERY DISCOURAGING.

S. S. Sagona, Capt. Burgess, arrived from the Labrador at 10.30 this morning after an exceptionally good run of 15 days. The captain reports that he met no ice from here to Indian Harbor, but north of there the ice extends a considerable distance.

A Film of Local Interest.

A film taken from the air during Major Cotton's recent flight to Labrador will be shown in the Nickel on Thursday and Friday and Saturday of this week. In addition to the country over which the flight took place, the landing at Botwood and at Hawke's Bay will be shown. A picture of such an unusual type, and illustrating as it does our natural scenery, will undoubtedly be viewed with interest by the patrons of the pictures.

A Guide to Our Motorists

PLACENTIA WITHIN DRIVING DISTANCE.

The following table of distances, together with information on the condition of the roads, will undoubtedly prove of interest and value to our motorists:

Table with 2 columns: Route and Distance. Includes Topseal, Seal Cove Bridge, Salmonier Line, Halfway House, Pleasant Falls Path, Hicks, Haricot Road, Haricot Bridge, Colinet, North Br., From Colinet Bridge to Sir Robt. Bond's House, Brigus Station, Holyrood Station, Topseal, St. John's P. O.

DESCRIPTION OF ROADS.

From St. John's to Colinet via Salmonier.—The road to Salmonier Line is in good condition. The Salmonier Line is only fair, while the stretch from Salmonier to Haricot is poor and in need of repair.

From St. John's to Colinet via Whitbourne.—This route is 81.3 miles in extent as compared with 63.3 miles by the route previously described. It has the advantage however of possessing a splendid surface, and with certain improvements effected to the approaches to the some fifteen or twenty bridges by which it is crossed, will leave little to be desired.

BRIGUS MAN BRINGS UP GOLD SAMPLES.

Capt. Burgess of S. S. Sagona, who returned from Labrador to-day, speaking to the Telegram, says that on the 24th inst. he was talking to Capt. S. Butler of St. John's. He had made two trips up Big Brook River but owing to wretched weather conditions was unable to do much prospecting.

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT! AT 8.15, C.L.B. Band Concert, at Lake Side, weather permitting.

Magistrates Court.

A case of assault between two fair damsels, residing on Bannerman St., occupied the attention of the court for a very lengthy period. The defendant, who used tend and abusive language towards her assailant, was bound over to keep the peace in the sum of $100.00.

Coalition is Compromise.

The Hon. Mr. Warren, Leader of the Government party, and Mr. W. J. Higgins, House Leader of the Opposition, appear to have discussed informally certain suggestions by the former as to the feasibility of constituting a Coalition cabinet, and to have failed to reach an acceptable basis. It is all to the good of the country that they failed.

Coalition means compromise, and in this case, the Colony would have paid a price, in offices and salaries, for an unnatural union, which could not possibly have been for the public good. Two sharply defined parties appealed to the electors in May last, and the resignation of Sir Richard Squires, for personal reasons, did not obliterate party differences, or justify the union of members returned on different sides.

If the discussions had proceeded further, difficulties would have developed. Opposition members in the Assembly are a minority of the candidates voted for by those who were in sympathy with the Opposition. Those in the Assembly could not loyally have coalesced with the Government party, or any other section of it, without the consent of their colleagues outside, and this consent would not have been given, apparently. The electors want issues to be loyally maintained, and the Opposition should not accept office and power except upon a clear mandate by the people.

BIOZONE.

A scientific discovery of the combined contributions of Nature's dominant chemists—the Sun and the Sea—as compounded in Nature's Laboratory.

Whilst it is not by any means claimed that Biozone is an infallible cure for all the ills that the human body is subject to, the achievements so far manifested are particularly comprehensive and encourage even greater expectations.

Among the various disorders that Biozone has apparently either entirely cured, or after a short course, considerably alleviated, and which are in the main traceable to impure or impoverished blood, or impaired nerves, are Rheumatoid, Arthritis, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuritis, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Eczema, Psoriasis, Malaria, Influenza, Catarrh, Insomnia, Neurasthenia, Anaemia.

We have a small supply of Biozone Natural Salts at $1.35 a Bottle.

Fishery Reports.

FAMILIES WITHOUT FLOUR IN BURIN DISTRICT.

The following fishery reports have been received by the Board of Trade: Frigate—From Hawk's Br. to Galvago: Total landed to date, 250 qts. The official sending the report says, it has the appearance of being the worst voyage in the history of the place.

Bay de Verde—From Break Heart Point to Mead's Brook: Total landed, 360 qts. There are 32 traps operating. Dogfish have put in an appearance and in some sections are very numerous.

Port de Grate—From South Point to Bay Roberts Point: 134 qts. landed to date. Twenty motor boats and punts are operating. "The outlook is not bright," says the report.

Carbonara—Up to July 28th the total landed is 235 qts. for ten traps. The area embraced is between Carbonara and Crocker's Cove.

Burn—From Beau Bois to Jean de Bay: Prospects poor, the total landed being 4,130 qts. There are 16 traps in this section; 45 boats and 20 dorles fishing. The fishery on the whole, the report says, is far below the average and shows little or no improvement.

Burn—From Low Point to Sandy Cove: The total landed to date is 3,890 qts. for 13 traps. The official making the report says: "With good weather there is every sign of a fair voyage but salt and provisions are very scarce and some families have no flour at all."

AT THE BALSAM.—The following are guests at Balsam Place:—A. and Mrs. Maddock, Carbonara; Miss E. Maddock, Carbonara; Dr. Baggs, Millertown; Dr. S. M. Wagh, New York City; Dr. H. C. Bennett, New York City; Dr. F. O. Offord, Musgrave; Mrs. A. C. Jardine, Cambridge.

A Complete Investigation

Mr. Warren has promised that a complete investigation will be held into the events leading up to the resignation of Sir Richard Squires. How he fulfills this promise will be a preliminary and significant test of the character of himself and his cabinet. He and they will begin well if they keep the word of promise, not to the letter alone, but in the spirit.

An investigation worth while should be drastic, though fair; comprehensive, though sharply defined; prompt in commencement, but brief in duration; and above all things it should be held in public, and all its proceedings be broadcasted.

An initial difficulty will be the choice of commissioners to hold an inquiry; and yet this is not so hard a task as many suppose, if the matter be approached in the right light. Because it has been the practice to hold enquiries in private, and to rely upon the reports of commissioners, instead of upon published evidence, the political partisanship of this man or that has been considered a reason for the selection of colorless and sometimes incompetent commissioners.

The Menace of Coakerism.

The Hon. Mr. Warren promised to form "an administration of strength and stability which will possess the confidence of the country at large." He has failed. He added, that unless he could do this, he would confess his failure, and return his commission. He has neither confessed nor made restitution. He has substituted Downey for Campbell, and Hawco for Bond, and put Sir William Coaker into the cabinet in the seat occupied by Sir Richard Squires. From none of these changes can substantial good to the country be expected.

The new cabinet is essentially Coakeresque. Sir Richard Squires was the Master Mind in the late administration. Mr. Warren being a negligible quantity, and Mr. Coaker being forced "to the post." Now, Coaker returns to a position which only a few weeks ago he said he could not hold to public advantage, and the presumption is that he comes back because he expects to dominate. In a few weeks the Hon. Mr. Warren will depart for England, and it would not be surprising if he were to remain there as High Commissioner, and be succeeded as Premier by Sir William Coaker. In any case, the new cabinet is not entitled to the confidence of anybody who is not prepared to trust Coaker. It may, however, win that confidence in the face of disaster, if its conduct be courageous, and if in addition he develop initiative and industry, he will be given all due credit. "Wait and see" is the proper attitude.

A Splendid Suggestion.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—I note your desire, and public appeal for support to send a representative Newfoundland team to Halifax to compete in the Canadian championships in September. This being so, how about the following suggestion:—

In view of O'Toole's smashing victory last night Bell's record, how about arranging a challenge 5 mile race between them to be run on St. Bon's campus some evening after the Regatta is over and Bell gets a chance to get conditioned?

Let it be conducted by the Amateur Athletic officials or whoever is undertaking to finance the proposed Halifax trip. Nobody would object to paying a shilling to see them run some evening after tea, and let the proceeds be subscribed to the fund.

One thing is evident and that is (as is always done in the "Old Country") that we should have two representatives in the long distance race at Halifax if we have any at all. I take it that both Bell and O'Toole would be the two men to go of ours, as none others appear to be any way near their class. I appeal to our "five wire" in sport, Mr. Higgins, to get wet under the proposition if he thinks well of my suggestion.

Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor and hoping that I have shown a way to spend the necessary finances to send a squad to Canada, I am, Yours truly, A NEWFOUNDLANDER BY ADOPTION. St. John's, July 30th.

Ring 1346 for Neary's Dry Kindling Wood.—July 31, 1923

A Distinguished Visitor.

EUROPEAN DIRECTOR OF BESCO HERE.

General Sir Newton Moore, K.C.M.G., a distinguished visitor who has been in the city since Sunday, left today by express enroute to Port au Port. He is accompanied by Mr. H. B. Gillis, the general manager of Bell Island Mines. Sir Newton Moore, who is one of the European directors of the Besco Co., arrived at Wabana Friday by S. S. Hangerland. After an inspection of the mines and plant he crossed to the mainland arriving Sunday afternoon. Since his arrival in the city he has met many of our leading citizens, and enjoyed a number of drives in the suburbs. Yesterday he lunched with Sir Michael Cashin at his residence, Cambrol, and last night he was entertained at Government House. Seen by a Telegram representative at his hotel, Sir Newton Moore expressed himself as highly pleased with the hospitality shown him during his stay. He was particularly pleased with the delightful drive countrywards and regretted his time did not permit him to visit more of our beauty spots. Taking a keen interest in sport he regretted also that he could not stop over for the Annual Races which takes place to-morrow. Speaking on the Bell Island Industry, Sir Newton Moore stated that the whole question was to obtain new markets for the output. Owing to the complications in the Ruhr District, Germany is not in a position to take the quantity of ore this season as last. Most of the blast furnaces in Germany, he said, are now idle and only individual cargoes are being received. Even with this curtailed shipment great difficulties are met and considerable additional expense is entailed as these have to be discharged into lighters. Last year over 900,000 tons of ore were delivered and contracts were entered into this year for upwards of 600,000 tons but owing to regulations enforced by the French only a small portion can be received. A big effort is being made to develop a market in England for our ore, Sir Newton says and the Baldwin works have contracted for some 60,000 tons. Orders for some cargoes have also been placed in Philadelphia, U.S.A. in strike at Sydney, he says, considerably curtailed the supply needed there yet he says more ore will be required this year than last. Sir Newton Moore, who is a member of the British House of Commons and Chairman of the Standing Orders Committee, speaking of conditions in the old land, says that latest information leads him to conclude that conditions there are not improving and that greater unemployment will obtain during the coming winter than there was last season. Sir Newton Moore is an Australian by birth. For 5 years he was Prime Minister of South Australia. In 1911 he took up residence in England as Agent General for the Southern Dominion. During the war, he was General Officer, commanding the combined Australian forces. After a visit to the lime quarries at Port au Port, Sir Newton Moore will leave for Sydney by S. S. Hangerland, subsequently going to Montreal.

The Telegram extends a hearty welcome to such a distinguished visitor, hoping that he will return to our shores in the not distant future for a more prolonged stay.

Rev. Dr. Whelan Dies.

AT NORTH WEST RIVER, LABRADOR.

The passing of Rev. Dr. S. J. Whelan, P.P., North River, will be learned with regret by a large circle of his friends in the city. Dr. Whelan was engaged in his annual mission to the Indians on Labrador when the call came. The first information of his death was contained in a brief message received last evening by Sir Michael Cashin from Grady. According to the message the Rev. gentleman passed away at North West River, Hamilton Inlet, and the body was being brought home for burial. The deceased missioner's boat arrived at Grady yesterday. On board are three men of the crew and Major Cabot, an American and a personal friend of the deceased. Rev. Dr. Whelan was a native of Carbonara, where he was educated at the old Carbonara Academy under the late Mr. Mackey, and from there having heard the call for service in the Master's vineyard, he left for All Hallows' College, Dublin, where he pursued his ecclesiastical studies and had a most distinguished career, obtaining the degree B.D. From All Hallows' he went to Laval University, Quebec, where he completed his studies and obtained his Doctor of Divinity Degree. He was ordained to the Priesthood over 20 years ago, and returning to his native land his first parish was at Whitbourne, and later at Gamba. From there his next charge was at North River, which at that time was included in the Parish of Briggs. Here the deceased priest has labored necessarily on behalf of his flock, and the new Parish gave him full scope for his unbounded energy and zeal, and to-day throughout the parish, churches, halls and schools have sprung up and will remain as lasting monuments to his ability and foresight. Three years ago he volunteered his services on behalf of the Indians at North West River, who were far removed from civilization and in his little motor boat, accompanied by his faithful companions, he has braved the storms that beset our bleak coast, and has brought to them that spiritual comfort that only one as holy can give. It was in the performance of this holy duty that the end has come, and throughout his parish and, in fact, throughout the whole of Conception Bay, there will be general sorrow, not alone among his own flock, but amongst all classes and creeds, who recognized in the deceased priest a big man and one who has done honor to his native land. It will be some time before the boat with the remains reaches her destination.

MARRIED.

At Greenwood Baptist Church, Brooklyn, New York, Miss Susie Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rogers, of Lower Island Cove, to Mr. Wm. Robert Hamilton, of Staten Island, N.Y. On July 28th, by Adjutant Stickleland, S.A., Martha Thornhill, of Fortuna Bay, to Edward Ash, of this city.

Hail to The Chief

Hail, Warren of the "Fighting I haste to greet your leader (since those brave nights when the floor)

You spit the dirt And made all districts quail (St. Jones within.) I've had a liking for your name (The "then" is true your name)

But now we know the years have come Some wisdom brought And made you hale and broad (Of ball.) In wholesome thought

Your party seems a "water bear" (To you this day, a "water bear") A further cure is yet in store (As well it may.) Now that you've got the upper

And potent powers at your command (Now take the keep your deeds in hand) And show you are a MAN!

We wait with awe this great man (When Warren's arm at crime) (Say will they hand our crown?) To sample Sandy's prime hand (With Rogues in brown.)

You'll give them up ten years (You'll spin with scorn their years) And we will keep your deeds in hand (And be a MAN!) You would not touch their talents (No sir, siree.)

There's many another thing to do (And many another that we do) And Willie boys we look to you (And we will keep your deeds in hand) The while we wait.

Oh, try to pare the taxes down (The unemployed of every town) Demand release with gathering force (From this excess.) Come! be our champion—now (Your name we'll blast.)

And whisper Willie, hark a bit (Please take the tip of Willie's bit) Anent the Bond Store Law, too (The weekly bottle.) Or other scheme that's wise and true (The "scrip" to trot.)

And you shall earn upon my tongue (The love of you, my friend, is strong) And long you'll live to steer the boat (Of state alone.) And when you die the same (In deathless song.)

TO-DAY'S MESSAGE

BRITAIN RECEIVES BELGIAN FRENCH REPLIES. LONDON, July 30.—The French and Belgian ambassadors last evening handed to Lord Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, replies of the governments regarding negotiations with Germany to the problem of the Ruhr and greater problem of German reparations. Premier Baldwin and Lord Curzon respectively yesterday not voice any hope that Great Britain and France had drawn closer together.

The premier, speaking at a luncheon for the Foreign Secretary's ambassadors, told the Commons was doubtful whether anything would be received which could be published in Thursday's debate. "I am sure," he said, "it will only be a continuation of the negotiations." Lord Curzon informed the lords with an early resignation he would continue to give them a statement Thursday were within his power to do so. His manner clearly indicated that he did not think it would. No hints were across the Channel that Premier Poincare has abandoned or even softened the views which his government has previously held tenaciously.

S. S. Otto Sverdrup 2,282 tons, has arrived at Springdale to load pulp wood. S. S. Bjornford sailed on Sunday for Quebec with 3,038 cords pulp wood loaded at Port Blandford.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S CONDITION GRAVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—After the third consultation since this morning by physicians attending President Harding it was announced last night that the patient's condition had become grave. Physicians declared in a statement that definite central patches of pneumonia had developed in the right lung as indicated clinically by the x-ray. The development of pneumonia was the one thing which Brigadier General Sawyer, the President's personal physician had less than two hours before, he felt above all else as a complication.

TURKEY AND U.S.A. NOT TO COME TO AN AGREEMENT.

LAUSANNE, July 30.—Turkish-United States negotiations are in an unfavorable position. It is doubtful whether a convention will be signed here.

NOTICE.

Cheques drawn on bank side St. John's must be certified by the Banks on which they are drawn before being sent to Department, and made payable from this date none but certified cheques will be accepted. (Sgd.) F. F. BERTALDO Acting Controller July 30, 11

Tag Day.

AD OF NEW MATERNITY HOSPITAL.

A tag day will be held to-morrow, Wednesday, in aid of the new Maternity Hospital. Commandant Ward, who has charge of all arrangements in connection with the same, has succeeded in enlisting the services of a number of ladies, representing the various religious denominations to captain the different teams. It is no doubt there will be a healthy rivalry as to which team will go highest. The results will be made known the following day. It is hoped the public will generously patronize the willing workers who have given up their holiday to help on this most worthy object.

REGATTA DANCE. C. C. C. HALL.—End "The Day" well by joining the happy throng in the C. C. C. Hall on to-morrow, Wednesday night, and enjoy a really good Dance in a splendid hall, with splendid music; the Prince's orchestra.

The Lobster Fishery.

(Trade Review.)
We learn from dealers this week of the condition of the lobster market that it is extremely bad and this is the apparent reason. It is extremely difficult for interested people to make even though quotations are lower than when there was a very active demand.

This year the pack in Newfoundland will be only one-third or so of what it was last year and it is evident that what we have stated regarding the abuses which have gone into the industry, such as fall fishing, etc., have had a markedly effect on the industry. This profitable department of the fisheries is being quickly destroyed for reasons which time and again have been set forth in the columns of the Trade Review.

Today the local quotations on lobsters are $24.00 in the outports and $20.00 in St. John's. This disparity in price as between the city and exterior is caused by reason of people in these latter places who pack their catch to the city having to pay the cost of getting them to their destination.

The consumers prefer our lobsters to those of other countries, but they complain that the pack as a rule is inferior in uniformity. Our lobsters are by far a better flavor than those of competing countries. This, it has been established, is caused by the superior feeding grounds which the Newfoundland lobster frequents; where the food assimilated is free from any impurities and the crust of the carapace is clean and firm. It is only by a continuous and one not generally known, that the lobster is brought to the outside and rougher waters are far better in quality and quantity than those taken in more circumscribed marine areas where the water is stagnant and comparatively shallow.

Generally speaking the greater number of our lobsters are taken on the outer shores and consequently their flavor and quality generally are better than those of Nova Scotia, for instance, where they are taken in Bedford and kindred localities, the waters of which generally are as smooth as a mill pond. Our fish are more healthy and get better food.

The necessity of strict regulations in this fishery becomes more and more apparent as the years go by. As matters are at present the laws are looked upon as a dead letter. The lobster season is disregarded. Spawning lobsters are packed and there is a general disregard of the regulations. The necessity of inspectors is becoming more and more apparent. It is employed on the West Coast, but he is set an impossible task. He is supposed to visit 2,000 lobster factories in eight weeks and to cover 12,000 miles of coast line in the performance of his duty, a task which is physically impossible to accomplish.

It is not wanting to show that the interests of people will engage this autumn in catching and packing lobsters but such action should not be tolerated for an instant and the authorities should deal in a drastic manner with all who engage in this illicit fishing. The practice of hooking lobsters which is too generally indulged in should be stopped at once by this method the lobsters are often quickly killed and are thus of no use and are thrown away and wasted as dead lobsters cannot be bottled.

It is evident that to enforce the regulations made for the protection of this branch of the fishery. Dealers assure us if something is not done there will soon be no industry to apply their method to.

- Tyler's Toast—Prop. Bro. F. E. Ireland.

The toast list was interspersed with songs by Bros. E. Powley, A. J. Martin, H. Baird and H. Fletcher as well as a number of choruses by the entire gathering. Mr. Ron. Southcott presided at the piano and the pleasing evening terminated with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.—H.G.

Obituary.

MRS. JOSEPH HAMILTON.

News has just been received in town of the death at Springfield, Mass., of Mrs. Joseph Hamilton (nee Miss Alice Colbert), formerly of Carboneau, and sister of the late Philip Colbert, so well known at Harbor Grace and Carboneau. Her death took place on July 15th. Mrs. Hamilton was the widow of the late Joseph Hamilton, who predeceased her some years ago. The deceased, who had reached the good old age of 86 years, was of a beautiful character. Kind, charitable, admired for her disposition by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, and despite her great age she had all her faculties to the end. A great lover of her native Newfoundland, she always took a keen interest in the affairs of the old homeland. She leaves one son, Joseph, of the Springfield and Boston Home City Electrotype Works. Her remains were brought on to Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, Mass., for interment. The funeral was very largely attended. Revs. Fr. James Walsh and Fr. Levi Walsh, of Holyrood, Nfld., recited the last prayers at the grave. May the soul of this good old Christian lady rest in peace.

Serious Operation to a Movie Official Urgent.

Mr. Peter Whitten, one of the proprietors of the Majestic Theatre, who met with a rather unfortunate accident at the theatre about two months ago, as the result of a piece of steel entering his right eye, is, we are sorry to state, compelled to undergo an operation to have the optic removed. The sight of the eye is hopelessly gone. Fearing that inflammation might set in and affect the left eye, which fortunately has been saved, Doctors Scently and Murphy who held a consultation yesterday, deemed it advisable to have the orb removed. Mr. Whitten's many friends in the city will regret to hear of the seriousness of his accident, and hope that the operation about to be performed will be successful. Mr. Whitten has been confined to his home ever since the accident, some eight weeks ago.

WHY NOT BE MODERATE?

"Every one of his opinions appears to himself to be written with sunbeams."—Watts.

A friend of mine who has recently been abroad says that one of the things she liked about Englishmen was that they were much less positive in their way of talking than Americans.

When they stated an opinion, they generally ended their remarks with "Isn't it?" or "I think," or "Don't you think so?" she declared.

Whether that is typically English or whether she happened to meet some individual whose manner she accepted as a national characteristic—a thing we are all apt to do—I don't know.

Sure to Please.

But this I do know. That the habit of thus qualifying one's statements is a very gracious habit.

And a habit that anyone who wanted to be liked could easily acquire to recommend himself by.

It isn't much bother to add a word or two of gracious interrogation at the end of a statement.

It doesn't cost anything to say "I have heard" or "I have read" or "I have it on good authority that such and such a thing is so," instead of saying emphatically "Such a thing is so" in a manner that drives anyone to disagree with you.

And it recommends both you and your opinions to express yourself in this more gracious manner.

Listen to two people arguing.

With Which is Your Sympathy?

One is all emphasis and positiveness. He raises his voice. He makes all his statements with the manner of a judge from whose court there is no appeal and who will fine you for contempt of court if you disagree with him. And you know very well that's just what he would like to do. Whenever he appears to be losing his argument, he raises his voice and makes his statements more emphatic. One of his favorite stunts is to say very emphatically, "I'll wager so and so," about something that cannot very well be proved one way or the other.

The other one speaks with moderation both in tone and manner and statement.

With which is your sympathy? Which do you enjoy seeing proved wrong?

It Keeps Bad Company. "Positiveness," says Sterne, "is a most absurd folly. If you are in the right, it lessens your triumph; if you are in the wrong, it adds shame to your defeat."

I fancy he must have listened to such an argument.

If you are wrong you cannot afford to be positive—if you are right you don't need to be.

Having a mind to use a synonym for "positive," I looked it up in my thesaurus. And here are some of the words which I found allied to it—narrow-minded, obstinate, dogmatic, bigoted, intolerant, arbitrary. If a word, like a man, is known by the company it keeps, surely that is a better indictment of "positiveness," a better warning not to have anything to do with it lest you find yourself associating with its associates, than any I could give.

Defence of Empire Outstanding Problem Coming up in London.

SPOKESMEN OF ROYAL NAVY EXPECT OVERSEAS DOMINIANS WILL CONTRIBUTE TOWARD NAVAL DEFENCE — FORTIFICATION OF SINGAPORE DOCKYARD.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

Ottawa, Ont., July 30.—Defence of the Empire will be discussed by the Imperial Conference in an atmosphere of uncertainties and in a period of shifting ground. The conference of 1911 met with the shadow of the German menace looming in the distance. When the Imperial War Conference met in 1917 and in 1919 the nations of the Empire were straining every effort to emerge victorious. Germany had been defeated when the Premiers gathered in conference in 1921. The stage of the world drama, to use the picturesque phrase of Mr. Hughes, of Australia, had shifted to the Pacific. Deliberations of the Premiers' Conference paved the way to the Washington conference on disarmament and the four-power treaty to preserve peace on the Pacific. And, the Washington conference in view, the Premiers deferred consideration of defence but recognized "the necessity of co-operation among the various portions of the Empire to provide such naval defence as may prove to be essential for security" with the one-power standard as a minimum.

The Washington conference came and went but postponements in ratification of the so-called Disarmament Treaty by all the Powers concerned have led to consequent delays in reduction of the world's navies. The United States and Japan have suspended the scrapping of capital ships. It was announced recently that the United States would maintain its suspended naval construction programme until the status of the Washington agreement is definitely settled. Great Britain, claiming that she had already gone far beyond the requirements of the Washington treaty (so far as the protection of her tin supply. And while Canada may not be so vitally interested as Australia, New Zealand and India, the Singapore scheme, as involving the question of contribution, will be of special interest at the conference.

What will be the attitude of the Canadian delegates when defence comes before the conference? It is a thorny question. The way is strewn with political pitfalls and Premier King is unlikely to define his position until some concrete proposal is submitted. But the Liberal party of which he is leader has gone on record against the principle of direct contributions and Mr. King may be expected to emphasize the view that decision as to measures of defence and participation in war lies primarily with Parliament. And piquancy will be added to the discussion by the fact that the Singapore scheme has met with considerable opposition in the Mother Country itself. Both Liberals and Labor criticized it, some on the ground that it was an evasion of the Washington agreement.

RUDENESS.

My cousin's son, whose name is Frank, was in a bitter mood; they just had fired him from the bank, accused of being rude. "My nerves," he said, "were all on edge, from working day and night, and up there stopped old Wilhelm Wedge, a most long-winded wight. He blocked the window, telling yarns that failed to make a hit, and I, with sundry hecks and darns, requested him to fit. He told the president, methinks, who fired me out with zest; I am the victim of a flax that never takes a rest." "You are the victim of your tongue," I cried, "you sippant knave, and you should strive, while you are young, to make that tongue behave. No youth should talk about his nerves or frame a cheap excuse, when he has shown some boorish curves and thereby cooked his goose. Your rudeness makes you seem a dunce, you'll never cut much ice; the village grocer fired you once, the baker fired you twice. Your busy tongue you'll have to school and make it keep its place; politeness is the golden rule that helps man win his race."

Fads and Fashions.

Over a rose-color taffeta slip is worn a frock of hand-embroidered white organdie girdle with taffeta roses.

A wide belt of red leather is used on a cape costume of gray and red English plaid collared in white organdie.

Many of the delicately colored georgette evening gowns have only a girdle of scintillating embroidery as trimming.

Many of the evening wraps to be worn at the summer and autumn resorts are brilliantly colored and often reversible.

Elaborate silk embroidery in brilliant colors is used on the full skirt of a sleeveless black crepe de chine gown.

Woolen material with a colored selvedge is used for semi-sports frocks and the selvedge is used as trimming at the edges.

The autumn frock cannot err in choosing a flat back, a draped or tiered front, long, tight sleeves and bateau neckline.

With a draped frock of putty gray moire is worn a straight coat of beige-gray duvetyh trimmed with dark brown fur.

scrapping of capital ships is concerned), decided to build two vessels of the Post-Jutland type. The United States, it was argued, had five such ships, and Japan two. In addition Great Britain has decided to spend ten million pounds in the development of Singapore as a new naval base on the Pacific.

Almost two years had followed the Washington Conference before the French Parliament approved the Disarmament Treaty and the Quadruple Treaty. And the day has still to come for the Disarmament Treaty to be given full effect. Only lately indeed the United States announced its intention during the next fiscal year to keep in fighting trim and at sea the full naval strength allotted under the treaty.

And following on the heels of naval rivalries of the past come ominous rumors of air rivalries in the future. Great Britain adds 34 squadrons to her air defences at home. The French Chamber of Deputies approves an appropriation of 311 million francs for aeronautic establishments and material. An international conference on the limitation of air armaments is discussed in the House of Lords. But on behalf of the British Government the view is expressed that such a conference would be fruitless at the present time with "so strained" a situation in Europe.

So it is in the midst of uncertainties, with the world in a sense feeling the way, that the Imperial Conference will once again discuss defence. Evidently the British authorities are anxious for frank discussion of the whole situation. When the appropriation for Singapore was before the British House, Commander Eyres Monsell, Parliamentary Secretary of the Admiralty, expressed his "great confidence that the Dominions, which have a very direct interest in this work (the Singapore naval base), will see their way to co-operate with us."

"The defence of the Empire," Col. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty, said significantly in a recent speech, "depends on the co-operation of all partner states of our economic commonwealth. It is to the younger navies of the Empire, based upon the strong and vigorous national life of great and growing communities, that we must look in the future, as well as to the parent navy."

Under the Washington treaty Great Britain is precluded from the further development of Hong Kong and claims that at the present time she has not a dock in the Far East on British territory capable of taking care of a bulging capital battleship. Hence, according to the view of the British Admiralty, need for the development of Singapore.

"The strategic importance of Singapore," further observes Col. Amery, "was fully recognized by the Imperial Defence Conference of 1911 and it was considered that the future composite Pacific fleet of the Empire, as it was then spoken of, should look to Singapore as its main rallying point, and regular conferences took place between the Commanders-in-Chief of the China, Australian and India stations at intervals on what was considered as the strategic centre of the Empire east of the Suez Canal." He goes on: "These proposals (development of Singapore) were before the Imperial Conference of 1921 and met with approval."

Australia, New Zealand and India will have a more immediate interest in Singapore than will Canada. New Zealand, it is reported, proposes to contribute £100,000 towards the new base. The Straits Settlements propose to give the site. Canada, according to Capt. Hoeg, director of the Canadian Naval Service, is interested for

Produce and Provisions.

(Trade Review.)
Codfish—The foreign market in fish shows no change since our report of last week. There is nothing to record as to prices, and the demand for our staple in Europe is still sluggish with no immediate promise of activity. Through the export market is heavily overstocked, shipments from St. John's and the outports continue, though this week exports have been comparatively slight by rail and steam. Prices are still as low as ever, and the considerable quantity of Labrador held in cold storage abroad has not yet been touched and no business is expected in this until September. The report now being broadcast as to this week's catch in the year's fishery all seem to point to a small voyage, a fact which, we think, should tend to enhance prices for the 1923 catch, both shore and Labrador, though, as we observed last week, fears are entertained for considerable losses on the old Labrador fish landed to the quotation, 25 shillings for shore, still prevail in the European markets, and nothing definite is known as to the probable price that may be offered for the first new fish. It is generally believed that anything less than $8.00 per quintal will not pay the fisherman this year, and if this is not realized many, it is said, will drop out of the business altogether and emigrate to Canada and the States. The following exports were noted this week—Schr. Lady St. John, from Gaslines for Oporto with 2,800 qtls., shipped by T. Garland; schr. Gertrude from Rose Blanche, 2,675 qtls. cod and 86 qtls. haddock, for Oporto, shipped by Luke Chafe; and 2,420 qtls. by the Silvia for New York, for transshipment to the British West Indies. In addition the schr. A. B. Francis is loading at Rose Blanche, and the Lilly B. at Grand Bank for Halifax, while the Gordon T. Tibbo is also loading at the latter port for Oporto. The consumption of our fish at Oporto is holding to the average and during the week the market report from there was: Stocks, Newfoundland, 61,115 qtls.; consumption, 6,915. The Norwegian stocks were 13,843 and consumption 4,800 qtls.

Cod Oil—The market in this article is also dead and no transactions in cod oil of any volume that we are aware of have occurred in the past week, or for that matter for some time past. The ratio of depression in price the past two or three weeks has been very marked, and in the beginning of that period offerings made upon enquiries from New York and elsewhere dropped from $140 per ton in successive retrograde steps to $110, but proved to be unattractive to prospective purchasers, and the rock-bottom price of $109 for this season has been reached, but with little business resulting therefrom. On a quotation of $120 c.i.f. Boston or New York recently made, no business resulted, the possible purchase after considering the offer replying that, if an acceptance were made he might break even on the deal, though the odds were that he would meet, as the market now stands, with a small loss on the transaction. There were no shipments of this article during the week, except three-fourths of a car by the Rosalind to New York, and by the same conveyance 73 tons seal oil were also shipped to New York.

Flour—It is now generally accepted that a large world crop of wheat will be harvested this year, and that the United States and Canada particularly will measure up to some of the best averages for both these countries. A few days ago the public despatch apprised the world that the great prairie provinces of Canada would harvest this season the enormous crop of 800,000,000 bushels of wheat, and that an army of 60,000 men would be required to handle the great Canadian wheat crop. The United States, it is estimated, will have a splendid showing of wheat also, while a considerable quantity will be carried over from last season's milling, and as far as can be gleaned, Russia, the Argentine, and other wheat-raising countries will make as good a showing proportionately as the new world, so that everything points to lower prices for flour in the future. Reports coming in the past week or so indicate a rather nervous condition of the wheat markets, due to the rumour that the plague known as "black rust" had attacked the wheat plant. Specialists in the wheat market say that it is reported to have made its appearance both in Canada and the United States, that it causes a serious damage about once in every five years, and that the danger is greatest when the wheat is late, as it is this year, so that it will be a race between the reaper and the rust, with the odds in favour of the latter. Farmers declare that wheat will entail heavy losses on them, and keenly observant dealers in flour believe that it is not likely prices will be much lower than they are at present. Prices wholesale this week vary from $8.00 to $8.25. The imports of flour this week were by the S. S. Canadian Sapper, 1,067 bbls.; S. S. Silvia, 280 bbls., and S. S. Manos, 3,560 bbls., a total of 4,897 bbls.

Pork—The imports of pork this week aggregate 651 barrels, 65 coming by the S. S. Silvia from New York and 585 bbls. by the S. S. Manos from Montreal. The market has a somewhat firmer aspect, but generally at this season of the year there is no exceptional demand and quotations this week varied from $23.50 for spare ribs to $27.50 for ham butt.

Beef—No increased demand has been observed in this market for some time past, and business is in no wise brisk. No advance is looked for before the fall season. The market is well stocked and the following figures obtain: Box Beef (medium), $24.50; box beef (heavy), $25.50; family special, $19.50; bonafide (New York), $18.50; bonafide (light), $19.00. The consignments received during the week were 200 bbls. by the Silvia, 1 and 477 by the Silvia; a total of 677 barrels.

Melasses—One more cargo of Melasses arrived here during the week, the schooner Little Prince entering for 488 puncheons at the Custom House. This is pretty well the last, if not the last of the Barbados crop, and our stocks are now up to the average in this article, so that we have an assured supply for all demands of the market to early and until demands are made on the 1924 production. The figures for the goods in the local market are 90 cents per puncheon for fancy, and 80 cents for choice, with an additional 2 cents per gallon for tiorces and 5 cents for barrels.

Sugar—The sugar market has been much firmer than heretofore of late, and raws are selling at 8 1/2 c.i.f. at New York. The heavy demand in the United States and elsewhere on the Cuban crop is telling, stocks are being steadily depleted, and further advances are expected to occur in the near future. Only 59 barrels of sugar were landed here during the week and came forward on the Silvia from New York.

Hay—Farmers report that the hay crop will be a pretty good one this year. The cold weather of early and mid-June, it was feared, would have a stultifying effect on the seed, but the fine warm weather which succeeded, and the absence of any kind of pest has been very beneficial and some people began mowing during the week. Canadian hay is now quoted in the local market at $35.00 the ton, but of course the demand is very limited. Notwithstanding this the S. S. Manos landed here during the week 3,297 bales, and the Canadian Sapper 5,774 bales; a total of 9,074 bales.

THE SHOE MEN

eight arms above the water and wrapped it around the boat, breaking the craft in two. Mr. Florence and Professor Harold Heath, department of zoology, Stanford University, California, state that this is physically impossible. Professor Heath describes the octopus as being "of a shy and retiring disposition."

"The devilfish has no bones or structure of any kind," says Mr. Florence. "It cannot swim, but can only float on the water, or propel itself on the floor of the ocean, by means of fastening its suckers on a rock and pulling itself along. Each of the eight tentacles are covered with cup shaped suckers, and these form a vacuum when fastened on an object. Fishermen haul them out of the traps with their bare hands and throw them in boxes in a manner that is extremely undignified to a fish that has an age-old reputation of being a man-killer and boat-smasher."

In the picturesque food shops that line the narrow streets of San Francisco's colorful Chinatown, the tentacles of the devilfish may be seen hanging from the hooks alongside many other oddities that are strange to the native American. On the floors of the wholesale fish houses here the devilfish may be seen stacked in jelly-like heaps, with tentacles, in some cases, extending ten feet across, five feet from each side of the small, egg-shaped head.

The traps at Santa Cruz, where the majority of the devilfish are caught on the Pacific Coast, are built like fly traps, only much larger. The traps are made of wire, with a cone-shaped entrance for the octopus to squeeze through in order to reach the bait fixed for him. He has no trouble in entering the ever-narrowing funnel, but finds it impossible to leave. Usually, fishermen state, two or more are caught in the same trap.

Instead of being a giant, the devilfish protects itself from attack by changing its color and hiding from its enemy, according to Professor Heath. He says:

"To agility and naturally acute senses should be added their surprising ability to change their color to harmonize with that of their surroundings, so that prey and enemies alike are usually unaware of their proximity. This color change is based upon minute elastic sacs filled with pigment and supplied with muscles for causing their expansion. "As a devilfish crawls about on the sea bottom its color can be seen to change in a twinkling from deep chocolate through dull red and to gray. If sand or rock is encountered on the journey the skin is usually thrown into lumps and ridges, so that under all conditions the body is practically invisible."

However, if Professor Heath's opinion of the devilfish as a food is heeded, the fish will continue to be eaten by its celestial admirers and by a limited few who crave the unusual. Properly placed before the American epicurean a dish of tender octopus, Professor Heath says, something must be done "to destroy its rubber-like consistency."

AT HIGH ALTITUDE.

LONDON, July 27 (A.P.)—Last year's dream of aerial flivvers has come true. An experimental glider fitted with twin engines of five horsepower and two tiny propellers has in its first test flight, hit up a speed of 65 miles an hour and attained a height of 2,000 feet. The flight was made from the airframe at Lympne, within two hours after the little plane had been unpacked from a motor lorry.

It seemed easy to assemble the many parts and not at all difficult, from a financial standpoint, to keep it in the air, the gasoline consumption being much less than for a small automobile.

The propellers, each a yard in length, are at the back of the front plane, where a chain connects them with the engine. The pilot sits in front. The span of the front wings measure only 23 feet, and the length from head to tail is 13 feet. There is hardly any undercarriage, the landing wheels being attached to the body itself.

This new glider will be entered in the various European gliding contests this summer. These are sure to produce even greater sensations than those of a year ago, since in the interim the use of small powered engines in airplanes has made distinct progress.

MARKET REPORTS

indicate that there is no surplus of Anthracite Coal in the U.S. The shortage caused by the strike of Anthracite Miners last year has not been made up, and American hard coal will, in all probability, be hard to get and high priced. Coke is an excellent substitute for hard coal, and we have on hand a stock of same that will soon be disposed of, because a shortage of hard coal invariably creates an increased demand for our product.

We advise our customers
to book their requirements
as soon as possible.

Annual Derby To-Morrow.

ARRANGEMENTS FINALIZED.

The final meeting of the Regatta Committee was held last night in the T. A. Armoury, when all matters in connection with to-morrow's big event were finalized. President Hiscock announced that His Excellency the Governor had signified his intention of attending the course during the forenoon as a member of the committee assisting in any capacity.
After luncheon with the committee,
he will go to Government House, returning to the course in the afternoon in his official capacity. Lady Allarddyce and Miss Allarddyce will accompany him in the afternoon.

Rev. Joseph Pippy, P.P., St. Jeseph requested the use of the flag, buoys, etc., and other Regatta equipment for the St. Joseph's Regatta.
The request was granted on the understanding that the property be returned intact.

Several changes in the coxswains were allowed and crews were entered following which the drawing of stakes and buoys took place.

Treasurer Jas. Magill and Vice-President Healey on behalf of the L.
S.P.U. presented a cheque for $20 to go towards the general fund. President Hiscock on behalf of the committee expressed appreciation of the generous donation. Should the weather look doubtful the committee will meet at 8:30 and decide if the event is to be postponed. At 9 o'- clock they will assemble on the course to prepare for the first dash which starts at 9:30 sharp. The programme is as follows:—

quintals of codfish. The Russel is owned by Jerry Felte.

S.S. Babo I was due at St. Pierre yesterday where she discharged 7-000 cases of whiskey after which she leaves for here, being due this evening.

Schr. General Smuts sailed from Lamaline yesterday for Oporto with 4,488 quintals of codfish, shipped by
S. Harris, Ltd. The ship loaded 2,388 quintals at Grand Bank. This clears up the last of the old fish that was at Lamaline.

Just Folks.

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE PASSING OF A TREE.
A fine old tree, now in the way,
is being taken down to-day.
A gang of men attacks its crest,
Where once the robin built its nest.
And those great priestly arms which blest
The worshippers who came to rest,
Now fall and lie beside the road.
To make a common truckman's load.

For years that friendly tree has stood
The glory of the neighborhood.
And it has heard the traffic's roar
Each day grow nearer than before,
And seen its brother trees go down
Before the builders of the town.
Surely that fine old elm has known
It must make room for steel and stone!

And now the axe is at its trunk.
Its leafy arms in sorrow sunk,
Its roots, which long have loved the earth,
Are marked by grim destruction's
girth.
The builders wait. Nearby is seen
A greedy, pitiless machine, Ready to chew great holes where a friendly tree, so brave, so good,
I know not what these men shall build,
What room with joy and laughter
filled,
What towers of beauty shall arise
Beneath this space of sunny skies:
Perhaps a temple shall be reared
Where God is loved and God is feared
But nothing man can build shall be
So lovely as this fine old tree.

A Luxury in Summer.

What greater luxury imaginable than lovely fragrant perfumes. Think of the association of nature's grandest flowers—the woodland violet—the delicate Lily of the valley; you will be surprised with this fragrant odor of Three Flowers combining all the most beautiful natural scents. In talcum, face powder, vanishing cream and compact powder you will find the THREE FLOWERS ODER. No toilet requisites will please you better than Three Flowers which is now obtainable at all drug and department stores.

He—"My views of bringing up a family are—"
She—"Never mind your views, I'll bring up the family. You go and bring up the coal."

Tommy (saying his prayers sleepily)—"Now I lay me down to sleep; I pray the Lord my soul to keep."
Mother (prompting)—"If—" Tommy (almost asleep)—"If he hollers let him go, eeny, meeny, miny, mo!"

Pat had lost his job, and was despointed.
"How are ye?" asked his friend.

Ask the Way

To those prettier teeth
which millions now enjoy

You see prettier teeth now wherever you look. A few years ago they were seen less often than now.

You cannot but realize that a change has come in methods of teeth cleaning. Won't you ask for a test and learn what brings those whiter, cleaner,
safer teeth?

Their fight film
Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

Film absorbs stains, then forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.
That's why teeth lose lustre.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Two new ways now
No old-time tooth paste could effectively fight film. So dental science sought new methods, and two ways were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

That's why tooth troubles are so common—why so few escape.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film.
See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Watch the change
Watch the results for a few days. Then decide what this new method means to you and yours. Cut out the coupon now.

"Oh, you don't see! The thing isn't worth ten shillings, and it turns up just when the railway company was about to allow me ten pounds for it It's just my luck."

The small boy's head bobbed up over the garden wall and a meek, little voice asked: "Please, Mrs. Briggs, may I have my arrow?"
"Yes, lass, certainly," she answer-

Where is it?"
"I-fnk," was the hesitating reply,
