Parnell made a happy reply, referring to Earl Spencer as the herald of Mr. Gladstone's policy of conciliation, whose opinion was worth more than the judgment of a hundred mushrooms like Balfour. Mr. Parnell said that the only way to govern Ireland within the constitution is to allow her to govern herself in all matters that do not interfere with the rest of the Empire, with which she is indissolubly linked.

ONTARIO AGITATED

The anti-Jesuit agitation is going on in Ontario in some quarters fiercely, while Protestant Quebec still continues cold and undemonstrative. In the former province the Jesuits are denounced in the press and from the pulpit and platform, and those who do not take part in the agitation or who deprecate it are reproached as lukewarm Protestants. The political parties still hold themselves aloof, and they are both bitterly condemned by the agitators. Sir John Mad donald is censured for not disallowing the Act of the Quebec Legislature granting the Jesuits $400,000; and the Liberals are blamed for not joining the agitators in their condemnation of the Government. Many clergymen are prominent in the No Popery movement, but there are some who cannot see their way to give it their countenance. Among these are the Anglican clergymen of Toronto. Some time ago they met to discuss the subject and the conclusion they came to was that they did not know enough about it to form ulate a policy regarding it. They how that the agitation has extended to the Maritime Provinces, or west to Manitohe or the Northwest Territories. Here, in British Columbia, we hear the din of the battle afar off, but we regard it with a mild interest. British Columbians do not appear to think that the Protestant religion is in danger because the Legisla ture of Quebec has given $400,000 of the money of the province to the Jesuits as a compensation for property appropriated by the Government.

A SILLY MOTION.

"Silly" is, we find, an unparliamentary word but it is nevertheless at times an exceedingly useful one. No other word in the dictionary so well characterizes the act of a Nova Scotia member of Par liament in placing on the notice paper motion to annex the New England States to Canada. Such a motion is silly in the extreme. No one in either the Atlantic States or Canada dreams that such a thing is even remotely possible. The member who would seriously submit such by sensible men on both sides of the polite to tell the honorable member what they thought of him in plain terms, but they would take some way of letting him the Americans, and of all Americans the people of the New England States are the most patriotic. Have they not given their distinctive name to all Americans? States are known as "Yankees." And is not the national air a New England tune set to New England words? The strains of "Yankee Doodle," stir the spirit of the loyal American citizen as no other music, however fine it may be, can do. Is not a long, lank, uncultured New Englander? "Uncle Sam" is a Yankee from the crown of his head to the soles of his boots. And the traditious of the American nation lux- and the defence of the colonies and India, uriantly cluster, are ready to declare that the strongest fleet in the world and when their allegiance to the Queen of Great crews, loose in his mental mechanism His friends should look after him. It is not long since these same New Englanders shed their blood like water and spent their money lavishly to preserve the Union, and they would, no doubt, be ready to do it again to-morrow, if the scrifice was required by their country.

It would be well for Canadians if they ossessed as much pride in their country and as firm a loyalty to their institutions as do these these same New Englanders who are represented in the Nova Scotia nember's resolution as pining to become nited to the Dominion of Canada. There is one thing that distinguishes the American citizen from the average Canadian. The American, as Sir Charles Dilke ex-Canada would be regarded as a lunatic. The idea would be too absurd to be enertained by sensible men for a single oment. Mr. Mills of Nova Scotia must ertainly have been ambitious for notoriety when he placed on the order paper of the House of Commons a resolution which will be pronounced by every man to cease their deliveries of copper for four months. of sense in Canada and the United States as the very acme of silliness.

A SOCIAL CONVULSION.

Ottawa has been convulsed. Society there has had a dreadful shock. Something has occurred that will be a topic of lively conversation for more than nine days. The agitation is all about the State ball. Many who consider that they ought to have been invited did not get a bid. The slighted men and women are angry. But their indignation is not too eep for utterance. On the contrary it is very noisy and exceedingly demonstrative. It was at first said that the uninvited ones were slighted from a political motive. But a little inquiry showed that this was a mistaken surmise. The list of guests from a political point of view had een impartially purged. Tories as well as Grits were excluded. It was suspected hat some of the civil service snobs had issuing of invitations had been entrusted, for while influential members of Parliament and high civic officials were passed over there was a full representation of officedom to even the third and fourth degree. It is said that as many as seventy members of the House of Commons failed to get invitations. Among these were many prominent supporters of the Government as well as active members of the Opposition. The men who were overlooked are sulky enough, but it is the ladies who are loudest in the expression of their indignation. A State ball is one into a now another open and the present of the flowe of committee to enquire into the matter and the committee to the effect that they had not been able to collect sufficient information to warrant them in taking the responsibility of prominent supporters of the Government as well as active members of the flower of the flower of the flower of the content of the co public affairs to which persons of a certain position in society have a right to go.

The uninvited have our leepest sympathy. We trust that there was nothing sectional in the slight put upon members of the Legislature and others. If there was, and if British Columbia was not fairly represented among the invited guests, we would not nswer for what action this province might take to resent the indignity. But

The statement that the New Westmin-ster Southern Railway Co. had disposed of their line to the Northern Pacific Railway Co. is pronounced a tissue of false-hood by the high officiols of the latter road. President B. Douglas, of the New Vestminster Southern, also states that here is no foundation whatever for the report, which rumor says is simply an at-tempt to rouse the Canadian Pacific into activity in meeting the growing demands of the province of British Columbia for Texada News.

These gentlemen, not seeing anything in sight began prospecting on one of the hills which abound on Texeda, and after going down about three feet uncovered a ledge about six feet in width. The prospectors therefore feel jubilant over the new find.

Hon. Mr. Humphreys approved of the member for the accounts up to date. The hon, finance minister would soon be coming down with his budget speech, and it would be well if the committee could then be able to pronounce all the accounts correct. He was sure that they would be found so. CONDITIONAL SALES BILL. 174 68 17 35 Mr. Bole moved the second reading of 26 00 the "Conditional Sales Bill." He was

RE THE GRANVILLE TOWNSITE. Mr. Higgins did not approve of the amendment to the resolution moved by the hon. member for Victoria City. The matter might very properly be left to a select committee of the House. He thought if there was anything left to the provincial secretary, that there was no necessity for the appointment of a committee. If what had been said by the hon. provincial secretary was taken from his actual knowledge, there was no need for the committee.

Hop. Mr. Robson said that the government had no objection to making a thorough investigation in the matter, or the appointment of a committee so to do, if desired. He thought that the government could do more than a committee but that there was no need of any investigation by either. The government had nothing to conceal, and no interests to further, except those of the people. If the House wished to have a committee appointed, no objection would be offered by the government. The matter was as he said however. The lots were under the sea, and ships sailed over them. He

A very neat and substantial Episcopal church has been erected at the Vesuvius settlement, Salt Spring Island. The contract was carried out by Mr. Karl Walker from plans which were prepared and presented by Mr. Wilson (Fisher & Wilson) of Victoria. The church, which is built of pine wood, provides sitting accommodation for about one hundred people. It has been erected almost entirely by the efforts of the settlers themselves, each one contributing according to his ability; those who were unable to contribute money showed their sympathy in the work by clearing the site, halling the lumber, etc. The site was given by Mr. Wm. Walker of Bristol, England. The church warden (Mr. Purdy), has won the admiration of all by his untiring energy on behalf of the cause.

An effort is now being made to raise the necessary funds for providing furniture for the church. That the services are appreciated may be seen from the fact that the majority of the settlers are present whenever divine service is held; some of the most regular attendants coming a distance of eight miles.

The writer describes how trusts have been developed, and he offers suggestions as to how they should be regarded by the public and treated by the governby the public and treated by the government. He gives the history of competition in trade. He traces the process by which competition has become so keen that the profits of producers have been whittled down to a very narrow margin or have disappeared altogether. When at last the producers found that they were ruining each other by this fierce competition, they began to combine. Trusts were to be the cure for over-pro-

Smallpex at Cape Mudge.

Mr. R. Hall, of Lasqueti Island, who recently arrived at Nanaimo from that place, states that there are about forty cases of small-pox among the Indians of Cape Mudge. The Catholic priest of the mission is devoting himself to the care and nursing of those afflicted with the loathsome disease. It is said that very few have died, and it is thought that the epidemic will soon be under control.—Courier. Smallpex at Cape Mudge.

Workmen are busily engaged in preparing the old supreme court building in the government grounds for the uses of the provincial museum. When completed the new quarters will be pleasant and commodious and admirably suited for the purpose. For some days past Curator Fannin, assisted by Mr. A. H. Maynard, has been preserving and mounting a monster cariboo. The horns and skin are well preserved, and the animal is a magnificent specimen of its species, being as large as a horse. It has been most naturally preserved, and will be one of the chief features of the museum.

The gift was made known to Mr. Tilley by Mayor Oppenheimer in a nicelyworded letter, containing the list of subscribers to the fund, and was feelingly and suitably acknowledged by the grateful recipient.
