The Hamilton Agents he gathering of the 22nd was one that we should all respect and honor, and it is to be hoped it will prove a powerful factor in disorganizing processions which are a cause of social enmity and political strife and weakness in the country. Labor is a rinciple that is common to orangeman and Catholic, and on Saturday both sects walked side by side with the utmost good feeling. Let there be a day set in the Canadian ROBINSON BROS. alendar sacred to Labor. REMARKABLE DEVELOPMENTS IN OIL

SELF-PROTECTION FOR LABOR. The freight carriers strike is a typical case of the efforts of labor to protect itself by strikes. Like all strikes it will fail to benefit the strikers, they will loose berrels) 30 cents per barrel, or a total heavily, and suffer more by the loss than the public and the railways. But this strike, while most others has inflicted a severe and telling blow on the tyranny of capital. The business public has suffered from the refusal of the rail. ways to come to terms with the strikers in their demand of a rise of wages from $17\frac{1}{2}$ cents to 22, that the general feeling of the community is, for once, with the laborers and against capital. But a strike is like a war, it is the legiti-mate right of resistance to tyranny, which it may check for a time. But the downward pressure of capital against labor never relaxes, while the resistance to it of the strikers is but temporary and spasmodic. It is by organizing labor under conditions that may supply permanent resistance to permanent pressure that any real balance of forces can be effected. The remedy is in the peaceful combination of workingmen for the protection of their own interests, as in the unions of last Saturday's procession. Sir Charles Gavin Duffy wrote well, in 1848, "Ye who despised the sons of toil, syw ye the long array. The sons of trade in strenghth arrayed, wind through our in strenghth arrayed, wind through our streets to day ?" As one of the speakers on Saturday said, if they would realize their Saturday said, if they would realize their streets to day ?" As one of the speakers on the "Mystery" had exerted an influence on the "Mystery" had exerted an influence on the market, 10,000,000 barrels had been Saturday said, if they would realize then own political strength they would get out of the hands of harsh politicians. The most intelligent part of the laboring community have a right to seek the voting power, already granted for a purpose to the less eight feet the oil was flowing from the top

NORTEWEST LAND SPECULATION-ITS INve, antagonistic and JURY TO THE NORTHWEST AND TO the demonstration of Saturday ! OURSELVES. BY R. W. PHIPPS.

In their management of our Northw lands our rulers are committing much injury -injury the more injurious that it couche under the appearance of present benefit. Canada is heedlessly repeating the bargain of Esau ; but the pottage of Beer-shebah, at all events, was not poisoned, while, I fear, the future of Canada is destined to yield bitter proof of the deadly nature of its sucesor at Winnipeg.

It will be accepted as a co I believe, by those who approve or object. that our government are accepting, from For many years back the general public uarters, money and promises to pay in both in Canada and in the States, have been eturn for our prairie lands under the impression that great oil dishose who have no intention of settling on overies were things of other days in this quarter of the globe, to be remembered them, and who are, in many instances, among historical things of the past. On the 1st of April last crude oil was selling a 80 cents per barrel. The producers had good grounds for encouragement in the general situation. Consumption was in-creasing, and one of the old producing re-gions (Brad'ord) was rapidly declining. Its young rival (Richbarg, N. Y.) had reached its highest point, and everything in reason pointed to "dollar oil." Meanwhile a patient driller was nearing the end of his cable and his credit, in the dense hemlock forests of Cherry Grove township, Warren Co., six niles from any oil well, four miles from a "dry hole." At 1612 feet the sand pump brought up that which threw the owners of the well into a fever of ex-citement. They suspended all operations, west. The rapid-and one necessity more -the prosperous settlement. These two items would have secured us against panics, gluts, over-productions, idle workmen, an all those prophesied concomitants of protection for which our revenue tariff friends in vain as yet stretch forth their hands at mid-day, in vain search the horizon at evening, and still fondly yet more faintly hope to see arise with each to-morrow's sun. They are likely, in some measure, to obtain the fulfilment of part of their patriotic desires, but only in part, for, illogical as citement. They suspended all operations, hoarded up and locked the derrick, and Canadian elective bodies sometimes appear, they are not quite so illogical as to be im amployed a patrol of armed men to keep out every intruder. Every available acre of land in the vicinity was quitely bought up by the few favored ones, and on May 18 pelled by hard times to put gentlemen in power who have a well-earned reputation for making them harder. That will not the owners were ready to start the drill in-to the oil rock. In the interval, the fame of the "Mystery, No. 646" had traveled follow. But nevertheless, the fact remains, that that main stay-that settlement beam -that which was to uphold our N.P. platthroughout the region. Producers in gen-eral regarded the whole affair as a deep form-we are, most unfortunately, putting in of rotten timber. It is common to blame the government. THE BITTER SECRET. Never had the bright blossoms of hope en showered around a betrothal of more promise than that of Maude Livingston.

Her "accepted" was both a man and a centleman in the strictest meaning of the term. Beauty, too, had dowered both ; she with rippling tresses of the deepest auburn ; eyes so very blue that a shadow changed them almost to hazel, and puzzled the beholder ; a complexion of the purest white, through which the tell-tale blood curled in roseate bushes ; nose as daintily carved as ever sculptor dreamed ; and a small mouth whose coral cleft lips revealed a line of regular and dazzling white pearls

For him, if he was the opposite in his strongly sinewed form, in his eagle eye, in his black and straight hair, and somewhat strongly marked features, he was still gift-ed far more than is usually the case with manly beauties—was just such a one as a true-hearted woman would look up to sind lean uppn—just the human oak around which the more tender human ivy would clasp its tendrils lovingly and cling to, even though want or sh me should come to the bitter end. Albert's son was standing by, and was sent back by his father for something, Witness went a little way down the hill, and waited till he saw the boy returning with what he thought were handcuffs. He then went down the hill with Albert, and rowed out in his boat 200 feet, when he heard the plstol go off. He could see Al-bert shooting evidenbly in the air. Albert had called to the boys to come in, as he wanted to arrest them. The boys paddled away rapidly in the direction of the ice-house, and Albert ran round to the railway track and seemed to beckon to some one. Witness heard a whistle two or three times. Witness heard a whistle two or three times. He thought the shot was fired to signal Witness rowed over and landed his friends, and while rowing back heard the friends, and while rowing back heard the pistol shot. The boys had got near the ice-house. He saw Hutchison getting the boat ashore, and then running round the empty ice-house. A few moments after he heard the second shot fired, and the term round the ice house and called Albert came round the ice-house and called to witness "My God, I've shot him dead." Witness then rowed to his own place, not thinking he was dead, in order to tell his own people Albert called him a econd time, when he rowed back and found deceased lying in the ice-house groan-ing and bleeding. The wound was under the left eye. Several persons were there. Bridgford, who saw the shooting, went for a doctor, and the coroner's name was men-tioned. He saw Albert, who told him he would deliver himself up wat inter a cart would deliver himself up, get into a cart. Albert was cool and collected at first, but after shooting the boy he became very excited. The boys were paddling away, while Albert wanted them to come ashore. He thought Albert must have shot Young, as he got out of the boat and went through e ice-house. Joseph Hutchison testified that he article of . Tnesday on my letters of the previous day, which you were kind enough t) publish notwithstanding its length, your correspondent, "Saxon," has taken courage on the supposition that I was perfectly extinguished by your very temperate editorial, and that there was no longer any. danger of him being exposed no matter how danger of him being exposed no matter how wild his assertions and how glaring the falsehood of the statements he might make. But seeing that he has not profited by your example of prudence in keeping within the bounds of moderation, I feel it my duty to call the attention of your readers to a few of his brilliant periods, netwithstanding my previous resolve to take no notice of any champions of Professor Smith and the Irish landlord's laws, who had not the courage of their convictions. For it does seem strange to see men writing so much about the morality and justice of these laws under the guise of a nom-de-plume savoring so much of the cunning, deceit and cowardliness of an informer, which was, however, in his case somewhat appropriate and thoroughly descriptive of the actual state; of his mind on Irish affairs. As it is a well-known and historical fact that even the most intelligent of the Saxons are perfectly ignorant of the sort of government they maintain in Ireland and the miseries that flow from it. If your "Saxon " correspondent is so familiarized with history as he pretends to by his letter. he will, I think be forced to admit, that I have not overstated the case, nor done very much injustice to Dr. Smith; and should he not do so, I would refer him to a most instructive article on Ireland in the June number of the Fortnightry Review, where Mr. Henry George, after enumerating some of the various grievances that the people have to complain in vain of, concludes by saying, " in fact nothing better shows why one people should never attempt to govern another people than the utter ignorance of Ireland that prevails in England." If that be the condition of Englishmen, who are within ten hours' sail of Ireland, it is not unnatural to find Saxons on this side of the
