THE anniversary services were held in the Watford Congregational church on Sunday last. The Rev. A. Margrett, of Cobourg, a former esteemed pastor, preached morning and evening to large congregations. Mr. Margrett's many old friends were pleased to again have an op-portunity of hearing his earnest and prac-tical discourses. The collections for the day amounted to about one hundred dol-lars, highly creditable to the liberality of THANKSGIVING was very quietly ob-served in town. Many took advantage of the holiday rates to visit friends at a dis-tance, and a few spent the day in the woods. A heavy rain in the evening made it disagreeable out doors. CANADIANS are big men. Our Solid Banking System.

The taking over of the tottering Ontario Bank by the Bank of Montreal, sustained by a two million and a helf guarantee joined in by other banks, illustrates the solidity of our admirable banking system in this country. To the causal outsider, unacquainted with the situation cre atec by the banking act of our general financial situation, it might appear that the fall of of one bank would merely remove a rival from the path of the others. They might be expected to stand aside and prepare to pick up what they could of the wreck-But we have in a measure bound our various banking institutions to-gether in Canada, so that one cannot collapse without injury to the others. The note circulation of all the banks, is, for instance, guaranteed by all the banks ; and the day npon which a bank fails, its notes begin to bear interest, so that they positively become enhanced in value every day after the GEO. failure. In many ways, it is not to the interest of other banks to have a brother fall by the way ; and the consequence is that, when one is threaten-ed we see this willingness to come to its rescue on the part of its late rivals. One of the things which our American neighbors might well "annex" from us is our banking system -- Montreal Herald.

Perjury Prevalent.

While attention is being drawn to the prevalence of perjury in Canada Courts, which unfortunately is very apparent, the following deliverance of an English Judge is interesting as showing that Canada has not a monoliars on oath :-Judge Edge, poly of of the Metropolian County Court, in delivering a judgment yesterday, de-clared that the amount of perjury in English courts was one of the saddest features of English life to-day. Perury in the law courts, the judge declared, was growing more and more common. People went into the witness box and took the path knowing that they were going to make a state ment that was altogether the opposite of the truth. They did it knowing there was little chance of their being young men from here, were out hunting yesterday afternoon. How began shooting at a mark. Cummings was shocting, but the rifle he was using did not suit him, so he asked Bradshaw to hand him his own rifle, muzzle first. Bradshaw turned the other way and immediately heard the re-port of the rifle going off. He ran to Cum-mings and asked him if he were shot. Cummings said yes, and immediately ex-pired.

The bullet entered near the top of the left shoulder and took a downward course, entering the heart.

Kent Farmer Suicides.

Chatham, Oct. 19.-L. K. Silverthrone, at one time one of the most prosperous farmers in Kent County, ended his life some time Wednesday afternoon by hanging himself from a beam in his barn. He was last seen Wednesday at noon, when he seemed have a fit of melancholia caused by financial difficulties. He went out after the meal and did not return at

His wife went out to look for him and found him in the barn, suspended from a beam, dead.

The unfortunate man was 54 years of age, and lived on the 14th concession of Raleigh. Several financial reverses caused him to become despondent.

Signs of a Hard Winter. That the coming winter is going to be the hardest one for the rast twenty lears three is an abundance of signs to show, and among them it may be mentioned that --The corn husks are a foot and a half thick and all the stalks lean to the west.

The geese, ducks and chickens are grow-ing a coat of fur under their feathers, and are rubbing borax on their feet to harden

All the one-eyed owls are leaving the country a month earlier than usual, and the bob-tailed squirrels are laying in sweet potatoes, as well as nuts, for winter pro-visions. The farmer who takes the trouble to investigate has found that all the toad-stools on the old logs have wrinkles in them. The last time that this happened we had winter weather that froze the handles off plows. Rabbits are sitting around with a humped-up look on them, and field mice have wrink-les in their tails. Typhoid Prevalent.

The Provincial Board of Health are becoming alarmed through the spread of t, phoid fever, especially throughout the older parts of the province. They say it is far more prevalent than was anticipat. e1. In eleven cities and towns outside of Toronto, comprising a population of fifty thousand, reports indicate that within a short time there have been 163 cases of typhoid tever. The cause of such a large number of cases is contended by the board to be due to the neglect of physicians and householders to report the cases to the local health officer. Instances where an undesirable condition of affairs existed are known of in connection with boarding houses where the landlady had nursed the patient and at the same time attended to the cooking. The law says that a heavy fine shall be imposed upon physicians and householders who neglect to report such cases and word has been received to put the law in force.

Alexander McFadden, of Oil Springs, came to Sarnia Friday evening and Sun-day morning was tound dead in a bed-room at the Hotel Northern. McFadden left his home in Oil Springs to spend Thanksgiving day with relatives in Guelph. He spent the holiday there and arrived in Sarnia Friday evening too late to make train connections for Oil Springs. He engaged a room at the Hotel Northern, and after having supper retired about eleven o'clock. Saturday morning he did not make an appearance, but it was supposed he did not desire to be disturbed and no more attention was paid to the circumstance. Saturday be disturbed and no more attention was paid to the circumstance. Saturday passed and still McFadden did not appear. Sunday morning the door of the room was still locked and suspicions were aroused. The proprietor of the hotel was notified and the bedroom door was forced open. When the door was open-ed the man was found dead in bed while the room was filed with more Examin the room was filled with gas. Examin-ation showed that the gas jet was turned full on. The unfortunate man had been dead some time before being found. Mr. McFadden was aged 48 years and leaves a wife and six children to mourn his untimely demise. He was employed as foreman for the Fairbank company at Oil Springs, and was an expert in his line.

A sad circumstance in connection with Mr. McFadden's death was the fact that Mrs. McFadden was at the Hotel North-ern for dinner on Saturday, while her husband lay dead in one of the hotel bednussand lay dead in one of the hotel bed-rooms. Mrs. McFadden did not know that her husband had left Guelph and came to Sarnia Saturday morning, going from there to Port Huron to spend the day with her sister in that place.

A Credit To Canada.

A Credit To Canada. Newspapers in the United States with a circulation of fifty to a hundred thousand copies make a great deal of noise about it ; but when one considers that right here in Canada we have a weekly paper with over 150,000 per week, representing perhaps 750,000 readers, Canadians have good reason to boast of it. The paper referred to is the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, and it deserves its success, for it is the greatest dollar's worth in America. Every enterprising farmer in Canada reads it and few homes will be found without it. Their premium picture entitled "A tug of War" which is given free to every subscriber is so vastly super-ior to the ordinary newspaper premiums, that one wonders how it can be included with such a paper at so small a figure. No wonder the Family Herald and Weekly Star is ganing in circulation.

May Modity Plans.

In connection with the tenders for the new Normal Schools at North Bay, Strat-ford and Peterboro, it develops that there were only half a dozen tenders. None of them was for less than $75,000, although the Government proposes to expend only $50,000 on each school and several were for more than $75,000. It was officially stated at the Education Department yesterday morning that there was no in-tention of expending more than $60,000 tention of expending more than $50,000 on each building, and that, if necessary, the plans would be modified so as to admit of each one being erected for that amount before new tenders are called for.

"Oriented" Orientals. Knowledge of direction seems to be Instinctive with the Burmans, says the author of "A People at School." They always reckon by the needle, not by relative position. They do not say the right," but "Turn to the "Turn to west." If a table in a room has two tumblers on it, one of them will be the east tumbler; the other the west, and the table itself will be not the "table near the window," but the "table in the east of the room." So they speak of the north or south side of a street or of a tree, not the shady or sunny side. Even in rain or mist they know the direction at once. An English traveler. walking in the Burman forest on a foggy morning to find all trace of the road wiped out by rain and every apparent means of ascertaining direction gone, was at a loss what to do, but his Burman servants knew at once. "That is north," they said, pointing, "and that is east. Our course lies between," and straight to the northeast they marched unerringly.

Beggars Who Take the "Cure." Begging seems to be a lucrative call-ing in Vienna. In one of the district police courts a man and his wife were summoned to appear on a charge of begging in the streets. Only the wo man appeared, and in answer to the magistrate's questions stated that her husband had gone to Baden to take a cure! The prosecuting attorney remarked that the Viennese beggars earned such good incomes and lived so well that they were forced to go to some bath resort to recover from their high living. Only a few days ago, he said, a beggar well known in the Vienna police courts had returned from Carlsbad after taking the cure there and had resumed his begging with renewed vigor .- Pall Mall Gazette.

A FAMOUS OLD HYMN.

Pathetic Origin of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." A pathetic and yet charming story is told of the origin of the well known hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," which was written by Rev. John Faw-cett, an English Baptist, who died in 1817, having spent nearly sixty years in the ministry.

It was in 1772, after a few years spent in pastoral work, that he was called to London to succeed the Rev. Dr. Gill. His farewell sermon had been preached near Moinsgate, in Yorkshire. Six or seven wagons stood loaded with his furniture and books and all was ready for departure.

But his loving people were heart-broken. Men, women and children broken. gathered and clung about him and his family with sad and tearful faces Finally, overwhelmed with the sorrow of those they were leaving, Dr. Fawcett and his wife sat down on one of the packing cases and gave way to grief

"Oh, John," cried Mrs. Fawcett at last, "I cannot bear this! I know not how to go."

"Nor I either," returned her husband, "and we will not go. The wag-ons shall be unloaded and everything put in its old place."

His people were filled with intense joy and gratitude at this determination. Dr. Fawcett at once sent a letter to London explaining the case and then resolutely returned to his work on a salary of less than $200 a year. This hymn was written by Dr. Faw cett to commemorate the event.

FASTING BADS. They Should Find No Favor With Nervous, Anaemic People.

It is said by some physicians that a good deal of the insomnia, extreme thinness and general debility from which Americans suffer is due to the various fasting fads. Here a man goes without breakfast, there a wo man makes a point of going hungry to bed. Another systematically omits meal at noonday, and so it goes Where people are constitutionally be low par and in a position where they can only hope to maintain a fair de-gree of efficiency by keeping up their vitality such "stunts" are of ques-tionable virtue. Sturdy, full blooded people, with iron nerves and digestions that can negotiate nails, may try stary ing themselves with impunity perhaps Thin, anaemic, nervous people, on the other hand, generally need all the food they can eat and all the blood they can make. If such people would eat before going to bed they would gener-ally see an increase in vigor, for the reason that while the wear and tear of the body were suspended digestion and assimilation would still be going on. In other words, the body would be making more tissue than it destroyed, hence an increase in blood, in weight and in health. At least that's the way one physician explained things to a woman of the pale, thin type who ap

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose their mother, combined forces to restore maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and good for the women of the whole world. e known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days i was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent case By tradition and experience many o them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their char-acteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and

The Pinkhams had no money, and The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn. Shoo Bring

Helgoland Soup

What do the Helgolanders do with their birds? Some are sent away to the Hamburg market and the rest kept for home consumption. Roasting be-fore a slow fire, with the tail on, over toast, is practically an unknown art or at least one rarely practiced. Every-thing goes into the pot for soup. "Trosselsoup" is an institution much lauded. Mr. Gatke tells us how it should be prepared. Take care to commit forty, or fifty thrushes, according to the requirements of the family, to the soup pot, and do not have the fattest birds drawn, and if the cook is a true artist no one will fail to ask a second helping. A favorite Helgoland dish is kittiwake

"that you can get any real bargains at a pawnshop sale. The pawnbroker knows just what people think about his stock, many of them having learned from experience that he will pay next to nothing on the best quality of jewelry and silverware, watches, etc., and they thus get it into their heads that all the articles sold at auction are genuine goods. But there's where they make a big mistake. The pawnbroker seldom sells any pledged articles at these auction sales. He uses them sim-ply for a 'blind.' Articles taken in pawn are invariably sold at private sale."

A Humming Bird's Umbrella. In front of a window where I work ed one summer was a butternut tree A humming bird built her nest on a limb that grew near the window, and we had an opportunity to watch her closely—in fact, we could look right into the nest. One day when there was a heavy shower coming up we thought we would see if she covered her young during the rain. Well, when the first drops fell, she came and took in her bill one of two or three large leaves growing close by and laid this leaf over the nest so as to completely cover it. Then she flew away. On examining the leaf we found a hole in it, and in the side of the nest was a small stick that the leaf was fastened to or hooked upon. After the storm was over the old bird came back and unhooked the leaf, and the nest was perfectly dry.-Exchange.

The Lost Golf Ball.

"Once in Scotland," said a profes sional golf player, "I saw a lost ball cause a great commotion. Over there, you know, a lost ball means a lost hole Two professionals were playing, and one of them lost a ball in the tall grass. He searched for it a long time. Nearly half an hour passed. His opponent kept urging him to admit that the ball was lost and to forego a hole, but this the other refused to do. And finally, with a triumphant laugh, he pounc-ed down, fumbled in the weeds and rose with a ball in his hand.

"'Here's my ball. I've found my ball,' he shouted. "'Yer a liar,' said the other profes-

All this so far was done freely, without of love. But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too of love.

surface being dotted with elevations of curious shapes and of extraordinary height. We say "its whole visible surface" and hasten to explain that we make this statement simply because the eye of man has never seen but one side of the surface of the moon. What we see convinces us that the little planet is extremely mountainous, for on the "end" exposed to our view there are no less than 30,000 peaks, varying in height from 2,000 feet to four miles. When we consider the fact that this lunarian world is only one thirty-second part as large as the earth we can easily see why it de-serves the title of the "planet of great mountains." There is a peculiar thing about these 30,000 moon peaks. Each and every one of them has a ringlike form, the open end of the conical point being of greater or lesser diameter, according to the height of the mountain. In a low grade telescope these peaks resemble true volcanoes, but when viewed through a high grade glass it is seen that the depression in the center of the queer "ring mountain" is often so great as to be below the general level of the surrounding country. The depth of these depressions is calculated in a curious manner, by figuring on the relative shadows they cast when the sun is shining full upon them. The diameter of these "ring mountains" varies greatly, some of the larger ones being 50, 100 or even 150 miles, while the smaller look like post

Odd Devices Used by Which to Easily Identify Baggage.

holes when viewed through a good tel-

A curious fashion of marking trunks by some individual and odd device has come into practice. It is a trick that helps to identify one's baggage instantly, even at a distance, in a crowded railway station, and thus facilitates travel, especially abroad, where so much red tape entangles baggage transportation.

Some of the devices used are queer, to say the least. A lover of dogs had big brindle's heads in brown and white painted at intervals on all her trunks and suit cases before sailing for Germany. She felt sure, she said, that she would be able to identify her baggage anywhere by these signs.

Another curious design is that of skull and crossbones, done in black, white and red, on top, sides and ends of trunk and on the bottom of every bag of one traveler.

Dumbbell designs in red, white and blue identify another lot of baggage. One society woman has her trunks all marked with a design of a pair of gloves, painted red, black and gold. and appearing as if just taken off the

LACK OF ENERGY.

A Common Trouble Among Growing Boys-A New Blood Supply 18 Needed-Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make New Blood.

There are thousands of young men just approaching manhood who have no energy, who tire out at the least exertion. and who feel by the time they have done their day's work as though the day was a week long. In some of these cases there is a further sign of warning in the pim-ples and disfiguring eruptions which break out on the face. These are certain signs that the blood is out of order, and unless it is promutly enriched, a comunless it is promptly enriched, a com-plete breakdown, or perhaps consump-tion may be the result. All these young men should take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make rich, red blood clear the skin of pimples and eruptions, and bring health, strength and energy. Here is a bit of proof. Adolphe Roland, St. Jerome, Que., is a young man of 19 years, who says: "For more than a year I suffered from general weakness, and I gradually grew so weak that I was forced to abandon my work as a clerk. My ap-petite failed me, I had occasional violem headaches, and I began to suffer from in-digestion. I was failing so rapidly that I

In 1894 the plaintiff went to live with the defendant, who was an hotelkeeper, un-der a verbal agreement that the latter was to keep him for the rest of his days, and on the plaintiff's death was to have his property. The arrangement contin-ued until May, 1905, when the the de-fendant leased his hotel. The plaintiff had in 1895 made a will in the defend-ant's favor. In 1898 the plaintiff had given the defendant contended that it was in pursuance of the agreement. Then the defendant put in a claim for board, clothes and other things supplied during the eleven years. The plaintiff claimed against this for his work garden-ing, attending bar and other services ; and admitted that he had received the claimed against this for his work garden-ing, attending bar and other services; and admitted that he had received $140 to go to the old country, $100 paid to one of his sons, and $20.00 paid last fall. Sunday Car Case Did Not Come Up For Trial.

The fall assizes for the county of Lamb-ton concluded on Wednesday at the court-house, Sir John Alexander Boyd, the Chancellor, presiding. There was a long list of cases on the docket, but a good number of them had been settled before the court opened, some of them a consid-erable time before. Only four civil cases were tried. The Chancellor took occas-ion in his charge to the grand jury, to compliment the county of Lambton on its comparative freedom from crime and to point out to the magistrates that com-mittals for trial on minor charges, should not be made to the high court but to the general sessions of the peace, where they The fall assizes for the county of Lamb general sessions of the peace, where they could be disposed of by the county judge at much less expense than in high court.
