FIGHTING STORY WAR

Have Captured a With a Thousand Lost Two Thousand Killed and Wounded Other Engagement—Serians Surrender.

ADDE, July 2.—(Can. Press.) Headquarters report that the fighting has occurred at Ovl... where the Bulgarian losses enormous and 4000 Bulgarians entered. In this engagement 2000 men were killed and wounded. According to the best information to be obtained at the Serbian capital, the line extended from Kotchana, and thence to the Gulf of Orfani. The Bulgarians delivered their heaviest blows at Guevghell, where they severed the Greco-Serbian line, and at Istip. They still hold Guevghell, but were driven from Istip eventually with heavy losses towards Ovtchepolje, where the Serbian army was massed. The Serbian supporting forces, coming up in time, met the Bulgarians at Dermak and Petrishno, behind Kotchana, where a fierce fight ensued. The Bulgarians suffered heavily, the Serians capturing an important height near Osigovt, called Retkibukve.

Wounded Left Behind. Unconfirmed despatches tonight report further heavy fighting in the Istip district, in which the Serians were compelled to abandon their fortified positions at the town of Istip and leave behind their wounded.

Fifty-four officers, including four colonels, were among the killed, while the losses on both sides numbered several thousand.

Altho the war has now raged for 60 hours, the Bulgarian minister and his staff are still here. Telephonic communication between Belgrade and Sofia has ceased.

According to the latest advices from the front, the Bulgarians have been entirely driven off the territory which they occupied when they took the Serians unawares. The Bulgarian right wing has been completely routed. It is asserted that the fighting was the bloodiest in the history of the Balkan wars.

NO BIG VESSELS FOR FIVE YEARS

Will Be Able to Pass Thru Panama Canal on Account of Frequent Landslides.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World. LONDON, July 2.—Experts sent to Panama by a leading German steamship line which contemplated big developments when the canal is available, have reported, The World correspondent learns, that in their opinion large ocean-going liners will not be able to pass thru that waterway for another five years at least. They base this opinion on the frequency of landslides in the Culebra Cut, which have been on such a scale recently that the steam shovels are making no progress in that part of the work. It is probable, the experts admit, that next January, if not sooner, several torpedo boats will be sent thru by the United States Government. Indeed, it is said that the cutting is deep enough now to allow small vessels to go thru, but there apparently is no assurance of permanency. Moreover, the engineers are said to recognize that when the water is let in there will be some erosion, and that unless proper preparations are made it will cause the slides to block the canal. Another danger is said to arise in connection with earthquakes, which may endanger the stability of the lock gates. Generally speaking, the shipping people, as well as the underwriters on this side of the Atlantic, are not now quite sanguine about the Panama route as a permanent one. Some members of the trade have said that they will not cover the risk unless at premiums which probably will be considered prohibitive.

BABY WAS DROWNED IN TUB OF WATER

Reached For Floating Tin, Slipped and Fell in Head First. WINNIPEG, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—While reaching for a tin can which was floating in the tub of an icecream freezer today, two-year Gerlie Wolf, slipped and fell in, head first, and drowned in 18 inches of water.

THIS RESEMBLES HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Was Forced to Pay a Half a Pint for Baby. Two dollars a pint for milk would indicate that the cost of living is certainly "up." Yet at Long Branch on the holiday, when a woman tried to get half a pint of milk for a baby, the proprietor of the place to which she applied, advised her he would sell her half a pint for a dollar. As there was no other place to get any, she submitted and paid a dollar for a half pint.

NO CHANGE NOW OF STOPPING IT

Balkan War Will Be Continued and Official Notice of Resumption Will Be Given.

LONDON, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—Any remaining hope of averting a Balkan war is rapidly disappearing. Bulgaria has sent warning notes to Serbia and Greece, demanding a cessation of all aggressive movements within twenty-four hours. These notes are regarded as tantamount to an ultimatum. A Belgrade despatch, via Paris, tonight, announces that the King of Serbia is presiding at a council which is expected to decide to declare war on Bulgaria.

Greece in notes to Bulgaria and the powers, justifying her action, accuses Bulgaria of treacherously attacking the Greeks and Serians, in order to seize important territories and so place herself in an advantageous position in the coming negotiations for a settlement of the Balkan differences. In the meantime, fighting continues, according to Serbian advices, on a heavy scale, and the King of Greece with his staff has left Saloniki for the front, to direct the operations personally.

The representatives of the powers at all the Balkan capitals, are urgently pressing the respective governments not to allow unfavorable occurrences to drag them into war.

SERIOUS ISSUES BEFORE RULERS

King of Italy and German Emperor to Confer on the Balkan Crisis.

BERLIN, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—The King and Queen of Italy entered Germany today, on their way to Kiel, where they are to meet the German Emperor and Empress tomorrow. Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, and Foreign Minister Von Jagow, departed from Berlin this morning to participate in the royal and imperial meeting, which, according to an official announcement, is to have merely the character of a visit of courtesy and to carry no political significance with it beyond demonstrating the friendliness of the two monarchs and of the two nations. It is generally assumed, however, that the change in the European political and military situation caused by developments in the Balkans will be the subject of discussion between the monarchs and their ministers. Triple Alliance Alarmed. The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, in its official greeting to the King of Italy, admits the concern entertained by the members of the triple alliance over the changes in the Balkan situation, owing to the effects in the neighboring land of Austria-Hungary. The newspaper says the present crisis and the danger of a new Balkan war will force sovereigns and statesmen to give particularly earnest consideration to the situation with a view to agreeing with Austria and thereby facilitating the task of the great European powers in regard to the Balkans.

WAY CLEARED FOR NEW LONDON POSTOFFICE

Government Buys Carling Property at Hundred and Forty Thousand.

LONDON, Ont., July 2.—(Canadian Press.)—T. Harry Carling received word today from the postmaster-general's department, Ottawa, announcing the government had finally accepted the offer of the executors of the Carling estate to dispose of the block at the corner of Carling and Richmond streets. For some months negotiations have been under way, but not until today was the deal finally ratified. The price is $140,000. Possession of the three stores south of the postoffice will be given at once, and the whole block will be vacated by Jan. 1 next. Construction work on the new postoffice is expected to commence next spring.

Rain Checks Bush Fires.

COBALT, July 2.—(Special.)—Danger from bush fires has practically come to an end as a result of rains, which have fallen over the entire flame-swept belt. Reports from all points are that the fires have been effectively checked.

DUFRESNE GIVEN DISCHARGE AT SHERBROOKE

Owing, It Was Explained, to Absence of Important Witness, Case Against Man Accused of Sending Fatal Bomb Was Greatly Weakened—Typewriter No Clue.

SHERBROOKE, Que., July 2.—(Can. Press.)—L. A. Dufresne, the civil engineer, arrested on a charge of sending thru the mails an infernal machine which killed Mrs. Boldeau, was discharged by Judge Mulvena this afternoon. Crown Prosecutor Nichol said he could strengthen his case if he could find Solomon Ouellette, a witness who had mysteriously disappeared. Judge Mulvena decided to hear all the crown's case and asked Mr. Nichol to explain what evidence he had produced which was strong enough to justify a committal. Testimony was submitted going to show that the typewriting on pieces of a letter found in the Boldeau house after the explosion was similar in some respects to the work done by a machine found in the home of Dufresne. Two witnesses who gave this evidence would not swear that Dufresne's machine had written the portion of the letter found in the Boldeau house and acknowledged that there were ten thousand similar machines in Canada.

JOHNSON MAY FORFEIT BOND

District Attorney Hopes to Enrich State Coffers by Thirty Thousand Dollars.

CHICAGO, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—United States District Attorney Wilkerson entered a motion in the federal court today asking that the personal bond for $30,000 given by Jack Johnson, negro prize fighter, on eleven indictments under the Mann White Slave Act for which he has not yet been tried, be forfeited. Arguments on the motion will be heard tomorrow afternoon. Bonds for $15,000 are also pending against Johnson. These were signed by Matthew Baldwin, a real estate dealer, when the negro was granted permission to carry his case to the United States circuit court of appeals. In the bonds given in the untried indictments, there is a provision that the negro must not leave the jurisdiction of the district court of northern Illinois. It is because of this provision that Mr. Wilkerson has asked that the bonds be forfeited. These indictments charge that Johnson paid for the transportation of Belle Schreiber between Milwaukee and Chicago Christmas week, 1910. Johnson now is on a ship bound for Europe.

FELL ON CURBING AND MAY NOT LIVE

Patrick Britt Struck His Head and Has Concussion of the Brain. Found lying on West Queen street, near Fenning street, late yesterday afternoon, Patrick Britt, 132 Galloway avenue, was removed to the Western Hospital in a critical condition. He was suffering from concussion of the brain and scalp injuries. It is supposed that Britt fell and struck his head on the curbing. Constable Finch (87) happened along and rendered first aid. Dr. Higgins, 106 Dovercourt road, was passing and removed Britt to the Western Hospital in his motor car. He may not recover.

WEALTHY WIDOW WEDS A PRINCE

Mrs. Joseph Stickney and Ten Millions Married to Prince With Unpronounceable Name.

LONDON, July 2.—Mrs. Joseph Stickney of New York and Prince Aymon de Faucigny-Lucigne were married quite privately today in Lady Chapel at the Catholic Cathedral in Westminster. The World correspondent was the only person present outside the very small and select party invited. The bride is the widow of Jos. Stickney, who at the time of his death in New York, ten years ago, was one of the wealthiest men in the coal trade of America. The bulk of his $10,000,000 he left to his widow, who was Miss Carolyn Foster of Waltham, Mass., and many years his junior. After his death she came to Europe, where she has spent most of her time since, being a prominent figure in the social life of London. The bridegroom, a cousin of the present head of the historic house of Faucigny-Lucigne and Count of Savoy (which dates its ennoblement from the tenth century), is also a familiar figure in society in Paris, New York and London. He is 51 years old and long considered the handsomest man in Paris.

DUKE EAGER TO RECEIVE PRINCE

Hence Accepts Extension of Term, Says London Gossip—Big Dominion Day Reception.

LONDON, July 2.—(C. A. P.)—The Duke of Connaught, Prince Arthur and Princess Patricia, attended the Dominion Day reception held tonight, following the banquet, in order to save Lord Strathcona undue fatigue. The brilliant company numbered nearly a thousand. The Duchess of Connaught, altho undertaking no public engagements, is driving in Hyde Park almost daily. The latest gossip is that the duke has accepted another year in order to be in Canada when the Prince of Wales makes a visit next summer.

FREIGHT AGENT WAS PROMOTED

C. E. Dewey Goes From Winnipeg to Higher Post at Montreal.

WINNIPEG, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—C. E. Dewey, general freight agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Winnipeg, has been appointed freight traffic manager of the Grand Trunk, with headquarters at Montreal. A. E. Rosevear succeeds him at Winnipeg. This official announcement was made at the local offices this morning. Mr. Dewey has had a distinguished career in the service of the Grand Trunk Pacific, which he entered in 1888. He came to Winnipeg in 1911 as general freight agent to the Grand Trunk Pacific from Vermont, where he held a similar position.

GLENCEO MAN DIED

GLENCOE, Ont., July 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Philip B. McRae, a farmer living one mile east of Glencoe, dropped dead this afternoon from heart failure brought on from extreme heat.

DUTCH NAVY OF NINE DREADNOUGHTS FOR PROTECTION IN EAST INDIES

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—The commission appointed to inquire into the defenses of the Dutch East Indies has reported in favor of establishing a Dutch navy, comprising nine Dreadnoughts of 21,000 tons each, five of which shall be constantly stationed in the Indies, the construction of a naval base and three forts at Janjengprie and the organization of a naval militia. A period of thirty-five years is fixed for the completion of the scheme and the annual expenditure at 45,000,000 florins (approximately $18,000,000).

DYING PRISONER PROTESTS HIS INNOCENCE OF A CRIME

Toronto Man, Sentenced to Ten Years For Shooting at a Brakesman, Says Tramp Who Did the Deed Swore Falsely at Trial.

KINGSTON, July 2.—(Special.)—Anthony Hewlo, an Italian, aged 24, a prisoner serving ten years in Portsmouth penitentiary for a crime of which he claimed to be innocent, died in Hotel Dieu of tuberculosis. Hewlo was released from prison two weeks ago and removed to the city hospital. Of the ten-year sentence he has about completed three years. He was sentenced in Toronto for shooting at a brakesman on a train on which he had been stealing a ride. When dying he said that he did not shoot at the man, but that he had been riding the bumpers, and while there fell in with a tramp who was beating his way. When the brakesman ordered the two off his train the tramp shot in the air. Both men were arrested, and when the trial took place the tramp swore it was the Italian who did the shooting, and for that reason he was sentenced to prison. Hewlo claimed that while in penitentiary he had been kept such confinement that the disease developed which caused his death. The remains were interred in St. Mary's Cemetery.

RAILWAY DEFIES COURT DECISION

Chicago and Great Western Refuses to Refund Excess Charges to Shippers.

ST. PAUL, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—The Chicago Great Western Railway refused to comply with the decision of the United States supreme court, involving the Great Northern and Northern Pacific and will not pay refunds on excess charges during the period of rate litigation. The amount involved is approximately $300,000. The announcement of the intention of the company was made today, by A. G. Briggs, attorney for the company, who declared the belief that as the supreme court had termed the rates confiscatory in regard to the Minneapolis and St. Paul, the same should apply to the Chicago Great Western.

ANGRY CROWD ATTACKS POLICE

Three Hamilton Officers Have Lively Time Getting Man—One Constable a Badly Battered.

HAMILTON, July 2.—(Staff Correspondent.)—Agatha Lisonnie, a Roumanian, 178 North Sherman street, and Walter Hulsmann, 35 Earl street, were arrested on serious charges about 7 o'clock tonight. M. Hayes, proprietor of the International Hotel, appealed to the police to arrest a foreigner by name Lisonnie, who was causing a disturbance in his hotel. P. C. Renard and Gravelle went with him to the corner of Baron and James streets. When the attempted to arrest the man it is said that he put up a strenuous fight. P. C. Gravelle grappled with him, and after some time got the best of him, not without injury to himself and to the prisoner, however. The policeman was forced to grab him by the throat and shut off his wind before he would stop kicking, and as a result the prisoner had first to be taken to the city hospital for repairs, and thence to the police station. While Gravelle was handling Lisonnie, P.C.'s McNair and Venard had their hands full keeping off the crowd, some of whom were very hostile in their attitude towards the police. McNair was pretty badly battered up before he succeeded in arresting Walter Hulsmann, someone in the crowd striking him over the head and neck while he was wrestling with his man. When the men were finally taken to the station, the foreigner was charged by P.C. Gravelle with resisting arrest, while Hulsmann will face a charge of interference with and assaulting the police in the discharge of their duty. It is reported that one man in the crowd tried to incite the spectators to attack the police. The police know his name and address, and it is possible that a warrant will be sworn out for his arrest. This same man said that he intended circulating a petition to have P. C. Gravelle dismissed from the force. It seemed, however, to be the prevalent opinion among the spectators that not only Gravelle, but McNair and Venard, are deserving of credit for the patience which they displayed under abuse.

GREEK ATTACK WAS REPULSED

Large Forces in Engagement at Vardar River in Which Bulgarians Had the Advantage.

LONDON, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—An Athens despatch to The Daily Mail says that the Greeks yesterday attacked the Bulgarians on the River Vardar. Large forces were engaged. The Greeks at first were victorious, but later the Bulgarians were apparently gaining the advantage. A Vienna despatch to The Express says it is learned that Austria is trying to arrange an understanding between Roumania and Bulgaria, on the basis of further cessation of Bulgarian territory as the price of Roumania's non-interference in the Bulgarian operations against Serbia and Greece.

INCREASE SHOWN IN COAL OUTPUT

Nova Scotia Collieries Surpass Previous Records—Shipping Figures Are Expected to Be Large.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 2.—(Can. Press.)—Both the Dominion Iron & Steel Co. and the Dominion Coal Company broke several records in June. For the coal company the month's output was 294,386 tons, 3000 tons better than the output of June, 1912. The output for the last six days broke all previous records by 2000 tons, and on the 27th the daily record was broken with a hoist of 18,120 tons. The steel company broke records at the open hearth and rail mill. All other departments are well up, and shipping figures may show a new record. For the first six months of 1913 the output of the coal company was 2,294,069, an increase of about 170,000 tons over the corresponding period of 1912.

HAD MANY ROLES IN DECEIVING FINANCIERS

David Lamar, New York, Stock Speculator, Impersonated Various Public Men and Others in Playing Shrewd Game in Wall Street.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—A story of misrepresentation, impersonation of public men, and organized effort to influence Wall street financiers, probably without parallel in the history of congressional investigation, was unfolded today before the senate lobby committee. A prosperous looking, self-possessed individual, calling himself David Lamar of New York, self-described as an "operator in stocks," and admittedly the bearer of several assumed names, was the principal in the remarkable session. With an entire abandon, arousing the committee to laughter at times by his naive admissions, he told of his impersonations, his participation in attempts to influence Wall street operations, and his association with Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer, in efforts to have Lauterbach retained by the Morgan firm, the Union Pacific and other great interests to head off congressional activity in Washington. Assumed Many Guises. He telephoned to financial men and lawyers in the names of Representative Palmer and Representative Rorand. He assumed the guise of Chairman McCombs, of the Democratic national committee to telephone to Chairman Hill of the Republican national committee. Lewis Cass Lydard of New York, counsel for the Morgan firm, was one of his attempted victims. Mr. Lydard came to the witness stand today armed with almost a verbatim account of all the conversations held with Lamar, who had represented himself as Congressman Palmer. As he read the record of conversations, unusual in their tone, Lamar sitting nearby laughed and nodded, saying, "That's right," and slapping his legs with apparent enjoyment. The purpose of his impersonations, Lamar contended, was to secure reinstatement for his friend, Edward Lauterbach, in the good graces of the Morgan firm. Members of the committee tonight demanded that Lamar remain in Washington for reappearance tomorrow. Edward Lauterbach, who recently testified before the committee, was recalled from New York by telegraph tonight, and Henry B. Martin, a local man who has figured as head of the "anti-trust league," was also subpoenaed to appear. A Hot Denial. Paul D. Cravath, one of the attorneys for the Union Pacific, and Maxwell Everts, counsel for the Southern Pacific, testified briefly as to their experiences with the telephone impersonator. During his testimony early in the day Lamar interjected an attack upon the Union Pacific, claiming there had been a falsification in the books of the company in 1909 by which nearly $80,000,000 had disappeared from its surplus. Mr. Cravath immediately denied this, (terming Lamar a "liar," a characterization which the committee insisted should be attacked.) Cravath declared the attack had been expected for several days, as a part of a bear raid to depress the value of the stock for speculative purposes. While Lamar was on the stand Chairman Overman endeavored to make him give his real name, but the witness refused. He admitted under Overman's questioning that he had used the name of Simon Wolfe. He said Lamar was not his name, but declined to give the committee further information.

BLOODY FIGHT LASTS ALL DAY

Bulgarians and Servians Both Lost Heavily in Hand-to-Hand Fighting.

BELGRADE, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—Since early morning there has been a bloody fight along the entire front, which includes Retkibukve, Zletovo, Kotchana and Istip. The Bulgarians opened the attack, and many hand-to-hand bayonet encounters took place. Both sides lost heavily. One Serbian division captured an entire detachment of Bulgarian infantry of over 1000 men and 150 officers with ten guns.

THE INSULATORS AGAIN

Strange Breaks Baffle Officials—Both Sides of Line Affected.

That mysterious defect in the insulators caused another break in the hydro-electric service yesterday morning. For six hours the power was off, but the interruption occurred at a rather fortunate time of the day—3 a.m. to 9.50 a.m.

Officials Are Baffled.

"We are absolutely baffled," said W. W. Pope of the hydro-electric. "This trouble is again caused by insulators, but the nature of these breakdowns is unknown to us.

"The strangest part of the entire trouble is that the insulators on both lines go together. We have all our main lines duplicated to avoid trouble of this nature, but the last three times the power has been off the insulators have gone on both sides."

"It just shows the necessity of coupling up with the T. E. L." was Mayor Hocken's comment. "Had this break occurred at 9 instead of 3 o'clock, we would have been in a bad position. I certainly could not stand for that."

Steamship Outlook Bright. J. I. Hobson of Montreal, comptroller and treasurer of the Richelleu & Ontario Navigation Company, who was in Toronto yesterday, informed "The World" that the arrangements were under way and that every-thing now pointed to an early amalgamation of the interlake line, package freight steamers, the Quebec Steamship Company and the Ontario and Quebec Navigation Company with the Richelleu & Ontario lines.

RASPBERRIES WILL COME ON IN A RUSH

Made First Appearance Yesterday—Strawberries About Over—Cherries Overripe.

Raspberries made their first appearance on the Toronto fruit market yesterday morning and were gobbled up in short order by the retail men. McWilliam & Everist, who had ten crates, sold their whole supply before noon. The berries were soft owing to the rapidity with which they have ripened. The present suitly weather continues there is little prospect of an even crop. The fruit will come in all in a rush and sell low, but none of it will be of the finest and best quality. Strawberries—the eating kind—brought from 11c to 15c the box. Poorer stuff for preserving sold at 8c and 10c. The best of the season is now over and it is now certain that there will be no cheap berries. The extreme heat is rushing the cherry crop and unless the women of Toronto get to work preserving very soon they will have to be content with over-ripe fruit. Thirty cents was the center price for the season yesterday, while large baskets of the fanciest cherries went at $1.50 and even $1.65. The red currants on sale were rather small. They brought 50c to 60c the basket. Beets, carrots and cabbage went at easy prices as compared with those of a few days ago. There is no sale for parsley, and the supply on the platforms has mostly gone to seed. There are some green peas from Burlington and the market garden district, selling at 60c and 75c the basket. California fruit remains scarce and the price still soars.

Yesterday's fruit and vegetable quotations are: Strawberries, 9c to 15c; raspberries, 25c to 25c; gooseberries, 10c to 15c; currants, 50c to 60c; Canadian cherries, small basket, 30c to 75c; large basket, 65c to $1.65; red American small basket, 50c to 60c; Canadian beans, per hamper, $2.50; Canadian peas, 60c to 75c the basket; French peas, per dozen, 35c per dozen; cabbage (plentiful), $2.25 to 18c pound; American potatoes, $3.25 a barrel; Florida pineapples (fine quality), $4 to $4.25 a case; California native hot house tomatoes, $2.25 to $2.50; plums, $2.50 to $3; apricots, $2.50; cherries, 2.25 to $2.75; green peaches per four basket crate (large specimens averaging fifty to the crate) $2.50.

Dr. and Mrs. Yates and their children have passed the night at their trip round the world, and have come to their summer house at Cacouna.

IN READINESS FOR SUMMER TRAINING

Teachers' Program of Instruction Being Sent to Every Part of Training.

THE TORONTO COURSES

Summer Instruction at University and Toronto College of Art.

All things are now ready for the summer training of teachers and the department of education has spread forth their programs of instruction for every part of the province. The professional and academic courses are arranged on a most extensive scale and will be launched today to continue throughout the month until August 5. The chief purpose of the courses of learning will be to familiarize the great bulk of provincial teachers with certain branches of science with which they should be acquainted and which they can forward in preparatory stages among their pupils. Physical culture, manual training, vocal music, art of different kinds, preliminary agriculture and like studies will be indulged in. The department is looking for strong support, especially in the line of agricultural work.

English-French Courses. There will be model school courses at Bracebridge, Gore Bay, Port Arthur and Sharbot Lake, to provide teachers for the district schools. Courses leading to district and third-class certificates for teachers of English-French schools, will be held at Sturgeon Falls and Ottawa. To encourage attendance at these courses, the department, on certain conditions, provides free tuition with traveling expenses and an allowance for board.

There will be summer courses at the University of Toronto, leading to entrance to the faculties of education, to entrance to the normal schools (middle school examination) to commercial specialists' certificates, and to certificates in elementary physical culture, elementary vocal music, elementary household science, elementary manual training.

The department is also arranging studies at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, leading to certificates in elementary agriculture and horticulture, and at the Ontario College of Art, Toronto, leading to certificates in elementary art, and as art supervisors in public schools and art specialists in high schools. These will be supervised by Principal Reid, R.C.A. A course is planned at the University of Toronto,

This Hair Remover Works Like Magic

(Toilet Talk) A paste made with water and powdered celatone and applied to the skin will banish hair or fuzz. The paste should be left on two or three minutes, then removed and the surface washed. This leaves the skin hairless, firm and white. If the growth is thick or stubborn it may require a second application. You can get a small, original package of delatone from your druggist, and to those afflicted with superfluous growths this will prove a boon. Thin eyebrows can be made to grow thick and lustrous by rubbing pyroxin on with finger-end, and short, straight eyelashes will come in long and curly if pyroxin be applied at lash roots with thumb and forefinger. OUT CAMPING

WHERE will you spend your vacation? It is just a year since we asked that question. The months that have intervened have been long enough to make you forget the inconveniences and disappointments of your last pleasure quest, but far too short to make you forget its delights. So you answer again, "Our camping," and follow your answer with a host of queries about equipment and locations. Some campers claim the tent is the most important article, but having my experience that a stove is the one important article of camp life. For, well fed, one can sleep under any shelter, but if hungry, the most elaborate shelter has no charm.

There are splendid sheet iron stoves made now for campers, but one of the most practical articles for this use is the top of a coal stove with a pipe to fit it. This is not difficult to pack and can be had from a junk man when making ready for the return trip.

The stove top is managed in this way: Dig out a hole in the bank of the stream, or against a hill, the size and shape that the body of the stove was. Line this hole with flat stones with the exception of the front. Leave this open so you will get a draught and in order to rake out the oven and also to admit food, for this is where you will roast fish, corn on the cob and potatoes. Fit your stove top over this stone-lined hole and attach the front for a blower; a sheet of tin will do or another flat stone. No gasoline or oil camp stove ever built will equal the usefulness of this simple arrangement.

Many campers claim that they find a fireless, and successful, and useful camp life, this article is in the way. You will find that the stone-lined oven of the stove I have just built for you will hold heat many hours. Anything that you would cook in the fireless cooker can be packed in here in hot ashes and be cooked in the same way. Tomorrow I will give some tried and true recipes for preparing game and country vegetables in this manner.

As to utensils, you must have a frying pan, and select one with a long handle, for there may be times when you must cook over an open fire. In choosing a coffee and tea pot, get those that have the spouts riveted on, not soldered. Do not forget a stout pail, either granite or copper, that will hold at least three quarts and has a snug cover. This is better for heating water for cooking than an ordinary water boiler and easy to carry. Also wooden handles, but are of one piece of metal, and see that they do not have cups, plates and towels are better than any other materials, for they can be burned when you have finished using them, are light to carry and save that trial of camp life, dishwashing.

ton attended his brother as best man. The bride's gown was of ivory satin, the court train trimmed with pearls and Brussels lace, and the tulle veil was hemmed with pearls and caught with lilies of the valley and orange blossoms; her bouquet was of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor was in white satin, point lace and French lace, with a pink sweet pea. The bridesmaids wore a Greenway frock of blue veiled with white lace. The bride's mother was in white satin and shadow lace, and the mother of the groom was in a gown of green satin. At the apartment where the reception was held following the ceremony, pink roses and smilax were used for decoration. The honeymoon will be spent on the lakes and a trip abroad in the autumn. Mr. and Mrs. Cluxton expect to return in about a year's time.

THE GARDEN SERIAL STORY

The Good Old Days of Merrie England

BY RAGGS

No. II.

In times of political turmoil in old nineteenth-century England, according to the criminal code, such men as spoke out boldly with regard to political reform were promptly transported.

Had these reformers lived nowadays they would in all probability have become great labor leaders and ultimately members of parliament!

Now, while many convicts who sailed in the notorious felon fleet to Botany Bay were naturally the off-scourings of English jails, many more were men of superior birth, education and refinement—revolutionary writers, Irish patriots, advanced preachers, and even among their number was a de-throned monarch of literary leanings.

The ex-king of Iceland, who left England supposedly "for England's good" on the ship Success, that no more books such as his pamphlet of unconventional thought, "The Reign of Christ, the Religion of Nature," might retard (?) England's civilization!

Charles Reade, Dickens and Kingsley have all described the horrors of these floating jails, but however thrilling their realism, the descriptions cannot compare in horror with the actual records of the Success and her sister ships, as disclosed by state papers and evidence laid before the houses of parliament in 1857, when the first steps were taken toward abolishing transportation.

No Mistake. "1857?" You are thinking in horror. "Twenty years after Victoria the Good" came to the throne? There is no mistake in the date, my friends!

Under the barbarous laws of the times women and girls of gentle and honest lives were often found on the convict ships. Can anything be more horrible than the following quotation from Capt. Bertram, who, writing of these torture ships in 1856, said this: "The captain and each officer enjoy the right of selection. Thus the captain the habit of concubinage until the convicts arrive at Sydney town. Each sailor or soldier is permitted to attach himself to a convict."

The records show that the rarely sober skippers tortured their victims for petty spite and brutality. The captain of the Hercules fired volleys into the hold of his ship where the convicts were confined like rats in a trap, and the sailors tried for murder, found guilty, and hanged!

In these black holes, to quote an authority: "Naked women fought like fiends, and men festered in their filth."

It was considered a treat by the sailors to be permitted the privilege of flogging the men (chained to an iron triangle), with a cat-o-nine-tails, woven of rope and wire; and to fog a woman was to taste utter bewilderment and refinement of pleasure. Prisoners were sometimes forced to fog each other. To save their own skins they had to carry out instructions to "beat the head" where their sentry boxes still stand. They were empowered to shoot any prisoner attempting to escape under a clause of the regulations which were pasted to the mainmast that all might fearfully read.

When the Success became a stationary prison ship anchored off the southern coast of Australia, a cordon of buoys was moored around the yellow-painted hulk at a distance of seventy-five yards. Any person entering the circle without proper authority rendered himself liable to be shot at sight.

The Black Hole. Only notably well-behaved prisoners were confined in the "tween deck cells. On the lower deck are cells like animals' dens, where the desperate characters were confined. These men practically never saw the light of day. Sometimes they were blinded by being brought into the light for exercise after weeks of the black hole. Relics of a barbarous condition offensive to all Australians, the prison ships in Sydney harbor were, six or seven years ago, ordered to be sold and destroyed. Owing to a clerical error the destruction of the Success was not stipulated in her bill of sale. The only remaining convict ship in existence, her owners placed her on exhibition at Sydney for a time. However, so strong was the feeling against what was, to Australians, a blot upon her picturesque harbor, that after several vain attempts by unknown persons, probably descendants of her victims, she was stealthily boarded one dark night and scuttled!

Five years beneath the waters of Sydney harbor the hulk was raised. Covered with barnacles and seaweed, she was a grotesque and interesting sight to any but an Australian. Repaired for the Voyage. The Success once more sailed the seas to "Merrie England," 1912, where, in Glasgow dock, she was thoroughly overhauled, and prepared for a trip across the Atlantic. She made the voyage without mishap, and—strolling on the Riverside Drive one day in May, I caught sight of the quaint old-world craft riding at anchor in the Hudson River. I noted first at her prow (or "fo'c's'le head") a beautiful figure-head, a woman's face of rare carving and astonishing sweetness—a strangely inappropriate emblem. I thought, "In the days when her crime-stained convicts and brutalized officers put to flight all thought of innocent womanhood?"

Keenly interested in the Success, of which I had been told harrowing tales, I climbed aboard and chatted with the skipper. He strolled up with the skipper, and he strolled with the skipper, told me the story of her turbulent and stormy career, and the horrible conditions in old England in the early nineteenth century, which led up to her building.

Rare Workmanship. Costly designs were worked out originally ornamented every niche and corner of the vessel. Remnants of these designs have been brought to light by careful scraping away of paint and varnish. Constructed entirely of Indian teak, more than one hundred years ago, the vessel has shown an unparalleled resistance to decay. Her tonnage is 580 tons. She is 135 feet in length, about 29 feet beam, copper-plated and tre-nailed through her breast-hooks, beams, and ponderous knees show that lumber and ship-craft were not made in the equally cheap and plentiful in India in 1790. Her sails, I counted twelve of them, are covered with dozens of large, black arrows, ever the badge of the convict.

Clark Russell, in his book, "The Convict Ship," gives an almost exact description of the Success, as she appears today, but no fiction could be so convincingly horrible as the tales told me by her modern skipper: stories of the craft which I have read from government records. The work of transporting convicts was entrusted to contractors (under governmental military protection) who received sixpence per day for the food of each convict. The longer the voyage and the more deaths among the prisoners, the greater pecuniary gain to the inhuman brutes between whom there was evidently a businesslike understanding, that they should die off like rotten sheep.

To quote from the report in 1802 of Dr. White, the colonial surgeon: "Of 839 males sent out in the ships Success, Scarborough, and Neptune, 261 died on board, and 50 have died since landing. The number of sick this day is 450."

PARENTS OPPOSE SHIFTING OF PUPILS

Trouble Brewing Over Scattering of Classes From Borden School.

Trouble is brewing in four corners of the board of education. Parents of the 500 school children who were on the Borden Street School register are up in arms over their children being cast adrift. Their school building, just vacated, is now being torn down to clear the site for a portion of the new two million dollar central technical institute.

The parents want a new school erected in the vicinity. A special committee has discovered that it is impossible to secure a site in the locality owing to the phenomenal rise in land values. Even by expropriation the price would be prohibitive.

The committee has decided on scattering the ex-Borden Street School pupils among the Clinton, King Edward and Lansdowne classes.

The decision has given great dissatisfaction. The parents say the distances are long, and the danger great to the younger children thru having to cross car tracks.

Trustee Smith is putting up a vigorous fight for some arrangement to be made for classes in the former Borden street locality.

A suggested compromise is for some building to be purchased or rented for the former Borden street junior classes.

NEEDN'T BUY DISCHARGE FROM NAVY. OTTAWA, July 2.—(Can. Press.)—The navy department has issued an order that men in training on the cruisers Niebu and Rainbow can secure their discharge. If desired, without paying for it. A number of the men have deserted. Facilities will also be granted any who desire to recruit with the imperial navy.

THE TRIPLE TIE

BY A. H. C. MITCHELL

"This reminds me of the old days in the National League, Barney," observed the President of the Brooklyn Club. "Remember how we used to gumshoe around when we held our meetings in order to throw the reporters off our trail."

"I should say I did, Charlie," replied Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh, "but I will say we were never able to fool the reporters. They always had all the news, tho I never could understand where they got it."

"What's your dope on this fellow Gordon Kelly, Barney? You always know all about these young players."

"There isn't any dope on him," said Dreyfuss. "All I know is what I read in the papers and what I hear from the scouts. I think they have all gone crazy. I'll tell you the truth, Charlie, I won't offer a cent for him until I've seen him play."

"That's my idea," too, returned Epstein. "I think we are all on a wild goose chase, 'but now that I'm started I'm going to see this thing thru.' President Hemphill of the New York Giants and President Miller of the Washington Club were the other two baseball magnates in the party. Hemphill spoke up:

"McGraw tells me that from private sources of information he is convinced that this Kelly is an experienced player. A lot of stuff has been printed about him in the newspapers."

"I should say there has," exclaimed Dreyfuss. They were in the observation car. Dreyfuss reached behind him for a button and when the porter appeared he said:

"Get my grip in lower 7." The Pittsburgh Club's president was known to be a great collector of newspaper clippings relating to ball players. He opened his valise and pulled out a bundle of folders containing the size of three bricks. They all related to Gordon Kelly.

"Mind you," he said, "this fellow never was heard of before March 1, a little over six weeks ago. He is the most extraordinary thing that has ever happened in baseball in all the years I have been connected with the game. Another extraordinary thing, and don't you forget it, is the fact that we four club presidents are on our way to Atlanta, each with the purpose of buying the release of this one ball player. I have known of one club ever going out and signing a ball player, but never before in the history of the game have four of them taken a trip to land the same man."

Little else was talked of but Gordon Kelly and the various business connected with the American League. B. B. Johnson, president of that organization and known as the "Crazy one Baseball," was seated in the office of President Farrell of the New York American League Club, when the latter opened and read a telegram. He passed the despatch to Johnson and told a clerk to look up trains for Atlanta. The telegram was from the New York Club's chief scout.

Must Be a Wonder. "Yes, this Gordon Kelly must be a wonder," said Johnson, handing back the message. "Comes and goes like me just before I left Chicago that he had heard about him and was going to send a man down there to get him. Evidently the scouts have all failed. Are you looking out at Atlanta?"

"I've simply got to," replied Farrell. "Chance got a telegram from Long Tom Morrissey saying that Kelly had Cobb and Seaver and all the other big ones. I rushed a man down to get him, but you see he's up against it. Chance says we've got to get him. I'm going down to get him, that's all. Say, he exclaimed suddenly, 'What's the matter with you? You're going down there with me? You could help a lot. Maybe I'd better go with you. The American League must have the fellow.' replied Johnson, after a thoughtful pause. "What time can we get a train?"

Johnson and Farrell boarded the Pennsylvania Terminal at half after midnight and the first persons they bumped into were President James R. McAllester and Vice-President John I. Taylor of the Boston American League Club, owners of the Red Sox, champions of the world. Taylor broke into a hearty laugh.

"Lemme see your ticket," he said to Farrell and Johnson.

"Lemme see yours," replied Farrell.

"They produced long strips of green paper for mutual inspection and all around for another hearty laugh all around.

"You must mean business, Frank, to take 'em along with you."

"Oh, I don't know, John. I see you're going along with Mac, so I'm going to follow him. Kelly," retorted the New Yorker.

"I received a telegram a yard long from Patsy Donovan this noon," said McAllester, "and I decided that if we wanted this fellow, we'd better make the bull by the horns, so I phoned John and asked him to go to Atlanta with me, and here we are. Say, we're going to be some fun down there, by the looks of things."

Whole City Excited. When the party reached Atlanta they found the city in the greatest state of excitement over the impending baseball deal which involved Gordon Kelly. The newspapers were full of news concerning the magnates. There were long interviews with the big club owners from the north. The magnates would say little in regard to Kelly, beyond the statement that they had heard he was a fine ball player, and they would not acknowledge they were in Atlanta for the purpose of buying his release from the Atlanta Club. They were willing to talk on general baseball topics, however. The gathering of the magnates took on the aspect of a great political convention and the newspapers handled it that way. Columns and columns of space were devoted to it.

By noon that day fifteen out of the sixteen big league clubs were represented in the persons of their president and vice-president. Atlanta became, politically, the baseball centre of the world.

As yet no definite move had been made by any of the club owners to bring the Gordon Kelly matter to a show down with the officials of the Atlanta Club. The affair had assumed such an importance that each visiting magnate hesitated about making a move. It was President Johnson of the American League, then whom no more clever baseball diplomat had ever been seen, who correctly before he had been in Atlanta three hours. He thought it all out in his street locality, and then brought his fist down on the table with a bang.

"The American League positively must have the fellow," he said. "I don't care if no one was with him in his room. 'It's got to be done and I'm going to do it.'"

A FASHIONABLE GOWN OF STRIPED SILK

MANY of the smartest costumes of the season are made of black and white with a touch of bright color found in the trimming. This one shows form in the collar and sash. Bulgarian effect and is exceedingly attractive and exceedingly useful. Such a gown can be worn upon the street and within doors with equal propriety. It is not too dressy to be worn in the early hours of the day and it is quite elaborate enough for the bridge luncheon or any similar occasion.

If preferred, the pleum can be cut away in place of being straight. Open necks are being much worn and are one of the best. Women who do not find it becoming will add one of the transparent chemises that are such trusty friends and do such valuable service. Gowns of this kind are being much used and are in great demand. The model would be pretty copied in black and white cotton, wool or silk. If preferred, the place of the silk or it could be used for crepe de chine or for a light weight sponge or for a great many different materials. Such models become simple when simply treated and adapted to afternoon wear and the like when made of handsome materials. Dove gray silk crepe would be beautiful made in this way with trimmings of amber if that color is becoming, or of one of the lovely new reds that are so fashionable this summer. The skirt is four gored. The edges are lapped to form inverted wedges at the front and there is a panel back. The blouse is a simple one with cowl sleeves and the pleum is separate. Quite a different effect can be obtained by making the blouse and pleum of one material and the skirt of another, as flowered silk over plain or plain over striped.

THE GARDEN CONDUCTED BY RACHEL R. TODD M.D.

Some More Hints For Today. Have you staked your gladioli up properly? If not, do so at once. Even if the long, flower spikes have not yet reached very high, stake them. Do not wait until those flower stalks have been begging for help and support for so many days, that despairing of ever getting it, they have become twisted and distorted with their weight of hidden buds.

Cultivate around their roots, and pour in water by the painful every other night. Watch your verbena plants. After the first central bloom has brightened the bed for a day or two, cut it off. This will throw more strength into the young shoots, appearing in the axils of the leaves. Do not forget to stake down a number of the long, straggling branches in a circular fashion. This will spread the plant out, expose it to more sun and light, more bloom will appear, and, best of all, the staked down branches will take root of themselves, and thus aid the main roots in no small way to bring food to the great spreading mass of bloom. Watch for slugs and little grubs in the leaves.

I hope you have placed some brilliant nasturtiums in your rockery, or rock beds. Nothing will brighten a dull spot like these remarkable bloomers. Do not spare the blossoms.

The more picked, the more you will enjoy. Should the leaves become faded in any way at all, pull them, or rather clip them off. There is one rather picky point about these gay children of the garden, you may transplant them here and there and everywhere with safety, before they have reached too great a size. Spray the leaves for those green slugs so hideous, so destructive. Flick many of the leaves for the table decorations. These leaves are quite decorative. Ask our efficient housekeeper how to make salad out of the leaves of nasturtiums.

Peonies: Pull off after painful of water on the roots; or remove the nozzle of the hose, and, inserting the end of the hose among the great forest of stems, allow the water to run slowly into the earth, for half an hour at least. If your buds were blighted in any way whatever, no spraying this season will bring them back; but try earlier next season. Note: Layer some of the outer branches for new stock next year.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer (From The Guide to Beauty.) These days the face and neck need special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercurized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Tan, freckles, blotches and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain overnight, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve one ounce powdered salicylic acid in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theatre or social affairs. It is a remarkable skin-tightener and wrinkle eraser.

PATTERN SERVICE NEWS FOR WOMEN

NO OTHER WAY

By GORION HOLMES

"I cannot fight against the detective bureau," she said sadly, and with due pretence of calm despair. "Those wretched men have ferreted out everything. We thought this morning that our mistake lay in being seen together in New York, but there is more to it than that. They put me on the witness stand, and made me tell everything. Luckily, I was wise enough to see that the position was desperate, and called for a transparent honesty and truthfulness. Oh, Jack, if I had tried to humbug the horrid lawyer who was sent here by the bureau to conduct the case for the district, I do believe they would have arrested me!"

"What charge?" "They actually seemed to suspect me of poisoning Herbert."

"Oh, did they?" "Yes, but don't you be beastly, too, and speak in that unsympathetic way; for my nerves are all on edge, and I shall scream in a minute."

"I don't see what good screaming will do. As I understand that you are identified as Josephine Delamar?" "Worse, far worse! They made me tell about you."

"That you and I are friends of long standing, that I wrote to you at Narragansett Pier?" "Tearle sprang up from his chair into which his bulk had subsided. His red face was blazing with wrath, and his long upper lip was raised like a snarling dog's. 'What in hades has my friendship and letters and whereabouts got to do with an enquiry into Kyrle's death? he demanded fiercely. 'I don't behave myself, it seems. And I had innocently obtained crystals of nicotine for him from a druggist at Palm Beach—long ago. They brought me here, and he proved it. Don't glare at me in that fashion. If you could behave yourself, go away—you will find a very full report waiting for me. I am sure. Before you go, kindly ring for a waiter. I want a cup of tea.'"

He rang, ordered the tea and a highball, and managed to smile so pleasantly that Mrs. Delamar was secretly afraid, and longed to be rid of him.

"You must not excite my curiosity and then tell me to run away and buy a newspaper, Peena," he said, ominously calm; for he was one whose habit lay rather with splutterings of rage when angered. "Even the newspaper cannot vie with you in account inverted terms, and I am important, in clearness of explanation. Thus far, your story has been incoherent. Now, gather your wits, and tell me all about it."

Mrs. Delamar scented danger as a horse will scent a lion from afar. If Tearle was to be got rid of, she must use all her arts and wiles, and every art to begin, here must be no apparent concealment. So she slipped the facts, never with the clause, Now, I don't often prophesy, as Stainhall here will tell you, nor am I a betting man; but I predict now that within a week from today Claude Waverton will either confess that he is Charles Stoll, or bolt. If you disagree with me, I'll bet a new hat on it, and you yourself shall judge whether I have won or lost.

"What sort of hat?" enquired Forbes. "Oh, as the weather is hot, shall we say a $20 Panama?" and Clancy manacled a wink at Stainhall unseen by the other.

HYDRO.

Hydro-electric is having its trials. Other lines have had them, and its friends have the consolation of knowing that the trouble is not one that any human skill, governed by previous experience, could avert.

As fast as new insulators can be got from Ohio the defective ones are being replaced, but the manufacturers are unable to turn them out fast enough to please the engineers.

A new testing method has been devised by the hydro-electric engineers which greatly facilitates the work, and as soon as the trunk line can be placed in normal security, which will be in a day or two, the Toronto and western lines will be overhauled, and the service restored to the reliable condition of the past two years.

hall, he was employed to corrupt labor leaders and members of congress. When a big strike was on, Mulhall appeared on the scene, and through his spies in the labor unions, and by a lavish use of money, disorganized the strikers and induced their leaders to betray them.

Strikes usually occur in the summer, and thus Mr. Mulhall was able to spend his time in Washington during the sessions of congress.

The Manufacturers' Association, according to Mulhall, had many devoted allies among the members, including Speaker Cannon and the late Mr. Sherman, who subsequently became vice-president.

But the officers of the association say that they had to contend against a powerful labor lobby clamoring for flagrant class legislation, such as statutes exempting labor unions from the operation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

A Cool Room

Illustration of a room with a large window and curtains. Text: SPEAKING of a "Midsummer Night's Dream." How's this? An airy, clean room, plenty of windows, every one of them open, and the cool evening breeze gently stirring the curtains. A room that you can go to in the evenings and forget that the mercury in the thermometer is trying for an altitude record. If you have a room like this, make your landlady give you a ninety-nine year lease on it if you can. If you haven't a room like this, get one. No one should live in a hot, close room during the summer. It isn't healthy, and it certainly isn't comfortable. And, furthermore, you don't have to. There are plenty of cool rooms to rent in this city. And you can find these rooms by reading the Rooms to Rent Ads in this paper—today and every day. Turn to these Ads now. Look for the Ads of the cool rooms. Answer some of them. Reading and answering these Room Ads is the cool way to find a cool room. It is certainly much easier to choose a room this way than to walk over hot pavements with the temperature about 96 in the shade, and the shade all shrunk to nothing. If personal comfort and health mean anything to you, start today to read and answer these Ads, and you will soon be fixed for a comfortable summer. And every time you answer an Ad, please mention this paper.

IRREGULAR TONE IN TORONTO MARKET

Triple Holiday Didn't Seem to Have Helped Stock List at All.

BRAZILIAN DOWN AGAIN

Clouds on European Financial Horizon—July Dividends Turned Back Into Market.

The triple holiday which had taken did not seem to have done the Toronto Stock Exchange very much good, for the action of the Canadian securities on the resumption of business yesterday was, to say the least, not inspiring.
