

GOVERNMENT REFUSES TO CALL OFF INJUNCTION WRIT AND THUS END COAL STRIKE

Gompers Made An Eleventh Hour Attempt to Settle Strike But Was Informed Proceedings Would Go On.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IN STATEMENT Says Injunction Proceedings Will Cease the Minute Coal Strike is Called Off and Not Before.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Eleventh-hour efforts by Samuel Gompers to settle the coal strike were met tonight by emphatic declarations from the Government that injunction proceedings would be dismissed the instant the strike order was withdrawn—and not before.

The final decision was given to Mr. Gompers, heading a delegation of high labor officials, at the close of the third conference of the day with Attorney General Palmer, and after Mr. Gompers had talked over the telephone with John L. Lewis, acting head of the United Mine Workers of America, at Indianapolis.

The aged president of the American Federation of Labor, fighting hard to have the Government drop its injunction suit set for a hearing tomorrow, plainly showed that he was under a severe strain as he left the Department of Justice, fatigued and bluntly refusing on his way out to say one word about the trio of conferences, or hope of ending the strike of more than 400,000 miners before the United States could press its suit against officers of the miners' organization. Attorney General Palmer, to whom Mr. Gompers referred all requests for information, refused to see newspaper men. "Mr. Palmer wishes me to say that he will have no statement to-night other than that he made as he left the cabinet meeting," his secretary announced.

There were only eighteen words in the statement Mr. Palmer dictated to the newspaper men as he left the White House after the cabinet meeting and an earlier brief conference with President Wilson.

The injunction proceedings against the coal miners leaders will be dismissed the instant the strike order is recalled," the Attorney General said, and his utterance was interpreted as the final word from the government on the eve of what may prove the beginning tomorrow of the greatest labor litigation in the history of the country.

Through the day, although it was on the lips of all official Washington, that the government and the miners were considering new plans for ending the strike without further resort to law, the feeling grew that fear of the restraining order, set for tomorrow morning in the Federal Court before Judge Anderson at Indianapolis, would be proposed, "without prejudice to either side."

The Department of Justice will not ask for a postponement, but whether it might oppose the request if the miners asked for more time, not an unusual proceeding, officials declined to say.

The only thing that can stop the proceeding started by the United States is for the miners to call off the strike, the Attorney General reiterated time and again.

REV. KENNEDY PALMER DISSATISFIED WITH GUELPH NOVITIATE REPORT

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 6.—Rev. Kennedy Palmer, Guelph, tonight addressed the members of the Orange Order in Trinity Church Sunday School here on the subject of the raid on the Jesuit Novitiate last June at Guelph, dealt with by a Royal Commission.

Rev. Mr. Palmer reviewed in detail the events from the time of the raid to the bringing in of the report of the Royal Commission recently presented to the House of Commons. He pointed out that the judges constituting the commissioners were responsible to the Minister of Justice, on whose actions they were to report. The commissioners had sidestepped the issue at every point, he asserted, and had used whitewash. He announced his intention of commenting in detail on the report of the commission at a meeting in London.

FIRST VOTE CAST BY U. F. O. MEMBER IN PARLIAMENT WAS THROWN WITH MINISTRY

Yesterday's Proceedings in the House Showed the Unpopularity of Mackenzie King—Changes Whole Situation When He Injected His Personality Into Debate, His Own Followers Quitting Him—House Prorogues Today.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 7.—The best political asset of Union Government in the character and leadership of the present opposition. No matter how unpopular the ministry may be with some sections of its followers, no matter how distasteful some of its policies may be, it is an all-sufficient cohesive for maintenance of union is invariably found in detestation of the opposition rooted in memories of 1917.

This was strikingly illustrated in the House yesterday. The report of the committee on Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, which the government made its own, was unquestionably unpopular with a large section of the House. On Thursday a small-sized insurrection developed against it, Unionist after Unionist rising in opposition; and when the House resumed today it seemed as though the life of the Government, staked by Mr. Calder on the policy of no gratuities, was in some jeopardy. As the day wore on, demand that the matter be referred back to the committee for further consideration became insistent. Mr. Hochen, of Toronto, Major Andrews, of Winnipeg, and others advocated such a course, and late in the afternoon, after Mr. Fielding had made one of his characteristically convincing speeches in support of the proposal, it looked as if the House was overwhelmingly inclined that way.

King Disfaced. Then Mackenzie King projected his personality into the debate—and everything was changed. The opposition leader, apparently in a mood to mobilize the House's discontent into a vote against the Government, moved that the report be sent back to the committee for further consideration. The effect was amazing. Mr. King offered what many Unionists wanted—but not from Mr. King. They desired to see the report returned, but if getting what they wanted involved having to take their leadership from Mackenzie King, they preferred to let the whole thing go. And so when the report was returned, it was with a seething discontent and threatened breaches of solidarity, there was a closing of the ranks to form a solid phalanx against the ancient foe. Even Major Andrews, whose own amendment gave rise to much trouble, arose and withdrew it.

The result was the most decisive defeat the opposition has sustained in the House in the lifetime of the present Parliament. Mr. King not only failed to make a breach in the Unionist ranks, he failed to hold the support of some of his strongest followers. Mr. Pardee, Mr. Kennedy, Major Power and Mr. Copp—all four opposition members who signed the committee's report—refused to remain in the House, and they were joined by Mr. Kay. The Government, on the other hand, were able to mass a tremendous vote, all the erstwhile insurgents lining up solidly behind it, and only two others, Colonel Currie and William Smith, remained in the opposition. The vote stood 55 for the amendment, 100 against—a Government majority of 65.

U. F. O. With Ministry. But that was not all. The division marked the first vote to be cast by the U. F. O. in Parliament, and it went for the Government. Mr. Kennedy, who, it is interesting to note, was formerly a Liberal, stood up with his cross-bench colleagues for the Ministry, and the Unionists gave him a tremendous hand.

Apart from being a decisive victory for the Government, the division was, without a doubt, a personal defeat for Mr. King. The truth is that the new opposition leader is amazing, if unpopular with the House. Mr. Fielding, who, in his speech, advocated practically what Mr. King would do, and he was applauded by both sides of the House. Had Mr. King kept in the background and left Mr. Fielding to move the amendment, his stand, there is no question but that the division would have been entirely different story to tell.

The result of the vote, from a legislative and administrative standpoint, is that there are to be no gratuities, and the Government is given a free hand to carry out the proposals which the report of the committee embodied. The session is near its end. The Senate, after a very brief but able consideration of the Grand Trunk bill, has given it third reading; the prohibitions bill comes up tomorrow and will not take long, and only the estimates remain.

The House expects to prorogue tomorrow night, having practically cleared up its legislative slate this evening.

FORMER CLERK IN ST. JOHN BANK UNDER ARREST

Charged, at Moncton, With Attempt to Obtain Money Under False Pretenses.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 7.—John P. O'Neill, son of Philip O'Neill, a former liquor merchant in St. John, later of Montreal, was arrested here this afternoon on a charge of attempting to obtain money under false pretenses from the Canadian Bank of Commerce in this city.

O'Neill visited the Bank of Commerce about noon and asked the bank of cash checks for $12,500 which he professed to have on deposit in the Provincial Bank, Charlotte street, St. John.

He told the manager here that he wished the $12,500 as he was en route to Halifax to make a deal. Two of the checks were for $4,000 each, and the third for $4,500 all stamped "certified" with the Provincial Bank's stamp.

The suspicions of W. T. White, manager of the Bank of Commerce, were aroused when the sum was so large and he asked young O'Neill to leave the checks and come over with him to the bank Mr. White got in touch with St. John and when O'Neill returned Chief Riddout was on hand and placed him under arrest.

O'Neill was dismissed from the Provincial Bank at St. John, October 30, and when leaving carried away the "certified" stamp.

TRETY NIGHT IN SENATE STILL WAGS ON

Administration Senators Re-affirm Their Intention to Vote Against Ratification if Reservations Are Adopted.

REPUBLICANS SOLID FOR RESERVATIONS

Three Prominent Senators of Democratic Group Swing Into Line With Majority Senators in Fight.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The first affirmative step toward qualification of the Peace Treaty was taken, today, by the Senate after administration leaders, with the backing of President Wilson, had reaffirmed their intention of voting against ratification if the reservations drawn in the Senate majority are adopted.

The initial test of strength on the reservation programme of the Foreign Relations committee found the Republicans almost solidly behind it, the group of mild reservationists who helped kill the committee's amendments, and the irreconcilable group of treaty foes standing together for the first time since the long treaty fight began.

By a vote of 48 to 40 the Senate approved, after all efforts to amend it failed, the committee's preamble to the reservation group, requiring that to make the treaty binding at least three of the four great powers must accept the Senate qualifications.

The only Republican who did not swing into line for the proposal was Senator McComber, of North Dakota, while three Democrats, Senators Reed, Missouri; Gore, Oklahoma, and Walsh, Massachusetts, voted with the majority.

When adjournment was reached, the first of the fourteen reservations was read, the committee's preamble under debate, and Republican leaders were claiming they had safe majorities pledged for the entire group. The mild reservationists, it was declared, had turned down a new Democratic offer of compromise while the irreconcilable wing was developing a plan of action by which they hoped to defeat the treaty's ratification.

The plan to vote against the Treaty and thus declare the ratification fight was declared to have President Wilson's support. Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, the Democratic leader, saw the President during the day for the first time since leaving town and went over with him the entire situation surrounding the treaty fight in the Senate. Afterward, Mr. Hitchcock said the executive regarded the committee reservations as "destructive" and the preamble as "very embarrassing" and advised the administration senators to stand by the guns.

The president was said to have asserted an aggressive opposition to acceptance of reservations which would impair the treaty, but to have shown a willingness to leave the matter of a compromise in the hands of the administration Senators to be worked out after the deadlock stage had been reached. Mr. Wilson explained, Senator Hitchcock said, that he had sent for the administration leader to give assurance of his support in the contemplated programme and of his gratitude over the successful fight against amendments.

MILD SENSATION CAUSED BY MAYOR OF QUEBEC

Buys Block of City Property in Order to Stall a Project for Street Extension.

Quebec, Nov. 7.—Mayor Lavigneau caused a mild sensation at the meeting of the city council tonight when he announced that a block of city property sold by auction today for $2,611 a foot had been purchased for him. He said his sole object in purchasing the property was to block a project for the extension of Despartrics street which would cost the city $200,000. He said that even though he lost on the transaction he would be satisfied feeling that he had acted in the best interests of the city.

Later he sucked up toward the roof. By the time the firemen arrived scores of men and women were hanging out of windows screaming for help. One woman leaped to her death but the others who escaped the flames were brought down on fire ladders. None of the guests were able to save more than a few personal belongings hastily grabbed up and most of them wore only their night clothes. The injured were rushed to the city hospital, where it was said two or three might die.

Three Lose Lives, Several Injured in Hotel Fire.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 7.—At least three persons lost their lives and nearly a score injured, several seriously, in a fire at the Wilson Hotel here early this morning. Damage to the building at Peach Tree and Walton streets in the downtown section was confined to the interior. Scores of men and women were rescued by firemen.

Canadians In London To Give Prince Formal Welcome Home

London, Nov. 7.—(G. A. P.)—The proposal is under consideration among the Canadian community here to give the Prince of Wales a formal welcome home in recognition of his remarkable tour of the Dominion. The English newspapers give the Prince's speech at Toronto considerable prominence.

The Manchester Guardian editorially says:—"The habit is growing for members of the British Royal House to reflect accurately and dispassionately the great tendencies, ideals and ambitions of the British peoples. It is a useful function and seldom more aptly exercised than in the address of the Prince of Wales at Toronto. The war has changed the whole relationship of the British Dominion to Britain and the whole world. The magnitude of the change has been better realized overseas than here. The Canadian Prime Minister has successfully asserted the right of his Parliament to debate the Peace Treaty. The Australian Premier asserts that the developments to which the war has led spell the doom of all plans of imperial federation. If, as is possible, he is rejected by his country at the general election in December, he will be succeeded by a government of yet more independent mind for there is a plank in the official Australian labor platform to reject the mandate of the Pacific Islands, and another rejects the naval programme laid down by Lord Jellicoe."

DISCUSSION OF 48 HOUR WEEK OCCUPIED ATTENTION OF LABOR CONGRESS DURING FRIDAY

French Workers' Delegate Enters Protest Against Liberties Taken by the Press—Mr. Rowell of Canada Defends the Press and Thinks They Should Have Full Reports.

Washington, Nov. 6.—(By the Canadian Press)—General discussion of the proposed 48-hour week convention proceeded at this afternoon's sitting of the International Labor Conference and will be continued tomorrow. The proceedings opened with a protest from Mr. Jouxhaux, French workers' delegate, at reports published in American papers that during the events of yesterday the labor group suffered a setback on the eight-hour day.

Baron Mayor des Planches, Italian government delegate, followed with a motion that an official communique be issued at the end of each sitting. There was the implied suggestion, although Baron des Planches did not so state specifically, that the press be excluded from plenary sessions of the conference. The chairman observed that "newspaper owners and editors are at liberty to draw any conclusions from the press, either from the 48 hours week continued."

Mr. Rowell, Canadian government delegate, warmly opposed exclusion of the press. The standing orders, he said, provided that sessions of the conference should be open to the press. Therefore unless the standing orders were changed which, he thought would be most inadvisable, the conference had no right to exclude the press nor did Mr. Rowell think that an official communique could add to the ability of the press representatives to furnish a report.

Baron des Planches eventually withdrew his motion and discussion of the press, either from the 48 hours week continued.

REFUSAL TO BUNKER FOREIGN FLAG SHIPS CAUSES CONCERN AMONG SHIPPING INTERESTS

Owners and Managers of More Than 200 Foreign Vessels in New York Say if Order is Enforced it Will Mean Delay in Sailings—Thousands of Passengers Booked to Sail Next Week.

New York, Nov. 7.—The decision of the Railroad Administration Coal Committee to discontinue furnishing bunkers to foreign flag ships, while not officially transmitted to coal officials here, caused considerable apprehension among steamship interests today. Owners and managers of more than 200 foreign vessels in port, included among which are 36 passenger vessels, said that if the order was enforced it would mean delays in sailings. Pending receipt of the order by the local office or committee, bunkering permits are being issued as usual.

Passengers booked for the ships due to sail this week and early next week are estimated in thousands, and it was pointed out that foreign flag passenger liners are now the only vessels by which travellers can move between the United States and European ports. The American line ships of the International Mercantile Marine fleet are either yet engaged in government service, or are being reconditioned for commercial business at shipyards. Meetings of executive officials of the International Mercantile Marine Company and the Cunard Line were held today to discuss the situation.

There are now in port, or due to arrive this week, eleven British passenger liners for which between 5,000 and 8,000 passengers are booked. The Holland-American line has three ships in port for which 4,000 passengers are booked, and there are two Italian liners that will take between 6,000 and 8,000 passengers.

While Halifax can be counted upon to furnish coal for many of the ships, it was said that because of the recent heavy demands on the bunker facilities there, as a result of the New York longshoremen's strike, delays could be expected. American exports would feel seriously a delay in transmitting the cargoes with which most of the foreign freighters are loaded.

At the office of the Tidewater Coal Exchange, it was said that bunkering permits were being issued and would be until orders to the contrary had been received from Washington.

Dublin, Nov. 7.—A proclamation has been issued by the Commander-in-Chief of the forces forbidding the owning or keeping of an automobile or motor cycle in Ireland except by special permit. The order will become operative November 15.

UNITED STATES BETRAYED CODE OF THE GERMANS

Investigation of the Berlin National Assembly Into the War Brings Out Interesting Evidence.

BRITISH INGENUITY KILLED THE "SUBS"

Hollweg Thinks Germany Could Have Had Its Own Peace Terms in 1917 When U-Boats Were Most Effective.

Berlin, Thursday, Nov. 6.—(By The Associated Press)—Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, secretary for foreign affairs during the war, caused a mild sensation during today's session of the National Assembly committee investigating the war, when he admitted the German authorities had been suspicious that their code, which was known by an American, was betrayed by the United States government.

Count Bernstorff, asked regarding the code, at first said he could not swear that wireless messages received in America had been kept from the Entente. Later he said under oath that he never knew of such treason. He declared Germany had a difficult and dangerous cable route through neutral countries but that messages had been concealed as commercial despatches. The submarine warfare came into the investigation again to day, Vice-Admiral Eduard von Capelle, in the address of the submarine campaign, said the U-boats had not been able to get at American transports because such submarine covered a narrow circle around England, and the whole ocean could not be patrolled.

Various British and American inventions like the "listening post" Admiral Capelle declared, were other things which prevented attacks on transports. He did not mention mines or depth charges against his recollection.

Dr. von Bismarck-Holweg, chancellor, during the greater part of the war, declared he was of the impression in June and July, 1917, that the submarine warfare was so destructive that Great Britain was weakening. He said Premier Lloyd George's speech when he asked for "ships, ships," was probably not recognized as a peace opportunity, and he asserted, the same could be said of the speech of Mr. Lloyd George at Glasgow, demanding "silver and bullets."

Gen. Ludendorff has been summoned to appear before the commission tomorrow.

STORM AND TIDES HAVE CAUSED MUCH DAMAGE ALONG CAPE COD COAST

Highland Light, Mass., Nov. 7.—Storm and tides have caused much damage along the Cape Cod coast. Not since the November storm of 1898 have wind and seas reached such heights as those which have prevailed since Tuesday. High tides, pushed up by gales which have ranged from 40 to 70 miles an hour, have swept the coast for some distance inland. Watch houses of the coast guards have been washed away. The seas have gouged the cliffs for a depth of forty feet. New lines of breakers have been formed off shore by the workings of tide and storm. At Ballston and other points cottages are almost on the brink of the receding cliffs, in danger of being washed out.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL MEETING RATHER BREEZY SESSION

The Destruction of the City Court House Was the Important Subject Under Discussion Yesterday — Commissioner Thornton Outlined Scheme for New Building on the Site—Important Resolution Passed.

The storm drum must have been ordered up when the special meeting of the Local Council of Women held yesterday to discuss the matter of the tearing down of the Court House was called, for lively breezes of discussion and clouds of questions were noticeable at the session.

Mrs. Richard Hooper, First Vice President, presided in the absence of the President, Mrs. E. Albertson Smith. Mrs. Hooper stated that Mrs. Smith had received several letters and telegrams from St. John citizens, asking that the Local Council should take up the matter and protest against the destruction of the City Court House. At the invitation of the Council, Commissioner Thornton was present, and at great length outlined the scheme for a new building on the site of the Court House which would embrace civic, county and municipal needs at a cost of $534,000.

Another plan brought forth by the Commissioner took in the whole block from King Street East to Carriarthens Street, doing away with the city stables. This scheme would cost one million dollars. The building would be set back from the street and would have lawns and gardens surrounding it.

Questioned as to how the money would be raised Commissioner Thornton said that bonds at 8 per cent would be issued. It was thought that the Provincial Government would share the cost as they would have offices in the building. A certain revenue might be added to the city's funds by the rental of the large auditorium which was part of the proposed plan. The commissioner told of the need for such a meeting place for conventions and other gatherings. He said that a city's greatest credit is its fine buildings.

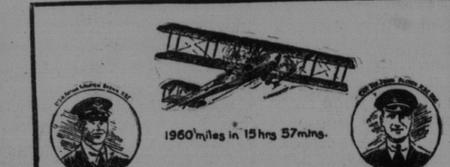

Mrs. Alfred Morrissey, convenor of the committee on the Women's Canadian Club who are protesting against the destruction of the building, spoke on its historic value, its architectural features. Those who have studied architecture say that the lines are classic and that the very simplicity of outline is its chief claim to beauty. The walls had been inspected recently by an engineer who stated that they would last for years. As a Loyalist descendant she felt that the Court House should be preserved.

Mrs. H. A. Powell argued for its preservation and restoration on the same grounds as the last speaker and Mrs. Willard Smith referred to the history connected with the building and the fact that sentiment plays a great part in the lives of all and is not to be despised.

Miss Amelia Haley took the economic side of the subject and felt sure that it would be a matter of great regret if this building were destroyed. She questioned the Commissioner very closely as to the cost of new buildings and where the money would come from to erect new edifices. Mr. Thornton at one time made the statement that he did not know that the court house was the architecture and the question was asked where he had studied art.

Another pertinent inquiry made was to the effect that had the citizens any guarantee that a new building would be erected shortly and the answer was that there was no time set, whereupon the statement was made that it might be ten years before the vacant lot was ready. Another member present asked the Commissioner if the new building involved the spending of one million would not such an expenditure have to be settled by the citizens. The answer to this question was "Yes."

Mrs. E. A. Young stated that in her opinion we had altogether too many old landmarks, that it was not to the credit of a nation or city to cling to the ritual of the past but that we should

Wonderful Example of the Value of OXO

Interesting letter from Captain Sir J. Alcock, K.B.E., D.S.C.

"You will be interested to learn that OXO was a great help to us during our Trans-Atlantic Flight; it sustained us wonderfully during our 16 hours' journey."

"We had found out what a good thing it is when flying in France, and so decided to carry it with us on this occasion, and we can assure you that hot OXO is most acceptable under such cold and arduous conditions. OXO was the only article of its kind which we carried."

J. ALCOCK, Capt., D.S.C.

OXO steadies the nerves—keeps the brain alert—gives extra warmth to resist cold and exposure—extra strength to fortify against fatigue, and yields an abundance of energy out of all proportion to the amount taken.

Harry Howarth, Native of England, Died Last Night in General Public Hospital as Result of Injuries Received in Elevator.

As the result of a thirty-foot fall sustained Monday afternoon while employed by the C. P. R. as weigh master at the grain elevators, Harry Howarth, aged 27, a native of England, died in the General Public Hospital at eleven o'clock last night.

For the past few days the injured man, who had been unconscious earlier in the week, showed signs of rallying, and it was hoped yesterday morning that he would recover, but he took a turn for the worse in the afternoon.

He is survived by a widowed mother and one sister, both in Manchester, to whom sympathy of his friends here goes forth.

A particularly sad feature of the accident is the fact that the injured man was engaged to Miss Margaret Anderson, West St. John, and the wedding was to have taken place within a few weeks.

THE SENSATION OF MOTORDOM

The New Velie

Hundreds have seen the new Velie—and have taken their first ride in it. They pronounce it far and away the leader of all light-six models for 1920.

Its distinctive style is the first attraction—the symmetrical, harmonious combination of planes that sets a new standard in body art—the new dress that satisfies your idea of what today's car should be. But its style is matched by its comfort—its longer body—really broad doors—more room in its deep tilted seats and soft plaited upholstery.

And that new motor! Here is the net result of all that engineering science has gained in the last four years—an amazing power plant—silent—supple—a perfect performer on low grade fuel—the greatest money saver under any hood. Come and see it. Take your ride in it and let us have your verdict.

If a Disaster Should Strike St. John

Suppose some great disaster—a cyclone or a fire—had struck St. John.

If it had left death—suffering—loss of property in its wake.

Would you afterwards say "Well, it's over. Thank Goodness I'm safe"—and look calmly on the efforts of others to put things in order?

Would that be your attitude?

Not much!

You would work day and night—give your time—lend your assistance and give your money to put things as they were before.

The war was the greatest disaster that ever affected Canada. It's over—the fire is out. November 11th, 1918, ended it. But since then much work has been done—much expense has been necessary. We have had to pay, feed and clothe our army and bring them home—provide work for them—succour their widows and orphans. And now the business and prosperity of Canada must be maintained.

OVERLAND 4 has been tested as no car has ever been tested before. 250,000 miles of mountain trails, desert sand, heat, cold, mud and dust, demonstrated the quality of every part of the car long before we began manufacturing.
This remarkable test showed conclusively that Three-Point Suspension Springs, exclusive with Overland, are the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.
They protect the car from road shocks and prolong the life of every part.
They enable the wheels to hold better to the road. They give greater comfort under all road conditions.
They do away almost entirely with side-sway and rebound which twist and rack the car.
Diagonal attachment of the Three-Point Springs at both ends of a 130-inch Springbase gives the steadiness and smooth riding of the heavy car of long wheelbase.

PROVISION BEING MADE FOR WAR MEMORIALS

Imperial War Graves Commission Will Erect Permanent Memorials on the Graves in All Theatres of War.

Provision is now being made by the Imperial War Graves Commission for permanent Memorials to be erected on the graves in all theatres of war. These memorials will bear the Regimental Badge, Number, Rank, Name and Initials or Christian Names of the soldier, date of death, and the name of the unit. The appropriate religious emblem will also be carved on the memorial, and a space has been provided for a text of inscription chosen by the next of kin which will be engraved at his or her own cost.

Cemetery Register.

Experience has proved that the next of kin are in many cases anxious that there should be some fuller information as to the fallen soldiers than it is possible to inscribe on the memorial. To provide for this, the Imperial War Graves Commission have decided to place in each cemetery a complete register of the names of the soldiers buried there.

This register will contain the information submitted by the next of kin in regard to parentage and birth place of the soldier, and any further particulars of his military and civilian career that may be desired.

When a cemetery is finally closed and ready for construction to commence forms are sent to the next of kin asking for the text of inscription chosen for the memorial, and for the particulars required for the cemetery register.

The next of kin are asked to return these forms to the Imperial War Graves Commission in London. There are instances continually arising where the next of kin in replying to the forms sent to them and giving the information they desire recorded, ask permanently the grave of another member of the family who is buried elsewhere.

Work of Verification.

Unfortunately owing to the vastness of the work of verification, it is impossible to send forms in respect of all such graves to the next of kin at one and the same time. Although it might appear that the grave has been overlooked, this is not the case, as another form will be sent at a later date when the cemetery where the grave in question lies is being dealt with. Nevertheless, when information is supplied by the next of kin in reference to a grave in a cemetery for which construction has not yet been commenced, the particulars are acknowledged and carefully noted for future use. It must be recognized that a work of this nature cannot be hurriedly carried out if it is to satisfy the sentiments of the next of kin.

Each grave already recorded must be carefully maintained, and search must be made to locate as many as possible of the graves of those whose last resting place is still unrecorded. From day to day, in all theatres, new graves and small groups are gradually being concentrated in the nearest main cemetery with all due care and reverence.

Completion of the Work.

The completion of the work undertaken by the Commission will be greatly facilitated if the next of kin will co-operate in the task of verification by returning the forms with as little delay as possible, remembering that delay in information regarding one grave, may seriously impede the construction and completion of a cemetery.

Gagetown

Gagetown, Nov. 5.—Canon G. A. Kahring, when here last week, was the guest of Rev. H. T. and Mrs. Buckland, at the Friday to take part in the Victory Loan campaign.

Sergeant Major Frank L. Mayes, who has been spending some weeks in Gagetown with Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Quenestown, has left for Vancouver, B. C., from which he enlisted in August, 1914, and where he will make his home.

S. H. Crawford of Upper Hampstead is moving into William Cooper's house for the winter; his sister Mrs. Thomas Williams and Mr. Williams, late of Worcester, Mass., will spend the winter with him.

William Duchars, who was in St. Andrews' last month, returned to Gagetown this week.

On Wednesday evening last, the friends of Mr. and Mrs. David Moore met at their home to celebrate the thirty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day. The affair was kept as a surprise, and upon returning from church, Mr. and Mrs. Moore were much surprised to see their house so brightly illuminated, and still more so, when on entering the house, they were surrounded by a group of friends, extending their hearty good wishes for many happy returns of the anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Moore's children present were, Mrs. Harry Wasson, of Lakeville and her children, Julia and Barton; Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Moore and little sons, Donald and Lloyd; Miss Laura Moore, also Mrs. J. A. Moore's sister, Miss Jean Mayes. It was greatly regretted that their two sons, George N. Moore, and Fred A. Moore, of St. John, could not be present to complete the family circle; but all united and presented their parents with a handsome walnut table, and a large mission chair upholstered in leather. The evening passed pleasantly with music and merry conversation, and the guests enjoyed themselves thoroughly. During the evening dainty refreshments were served in the dining room, after which all repaired to the living room, forming a happy circle around the cheerful fire. The pastor, Rev. L. H. Jewett, then gave an interesting address, which was greatly enjoyed; followed by the reading of a portion of scripture and a prayer. Shortly before midnight, the happy gathering dispersed, after a very enjoyable evening.

William Cook, of the inspection staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia, was here for some days last week, leaving on Monday's train.

Miss Polly Scott, of Quenestown was here for a short visit last week with Miss Molly O'By.

Miss Edith Deberry, of St. John, is spending the week with her cousins the Misses Dickie.

Mrs. J. Weston, of Upper Gagetown, is spending a few days with the Misses Simpson.

Harry Warwick and B. V. Weston, who were on Sunday for the funeral of Mrs. Dickie, returned to St. John on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reid, have returned from Chipman where they were attending the funeral of Mrs. Reid's father, the late Andrew Barrah.

The wild pigeon, for many years practically extinct in this region is perhaps coming into its own again. A short time ago, William F. Brooks saw a wild pigeon in a grain field near his house, where it was taking a noonday lunch before continuing its lonely flight. This is the first will pigeon seen here for years; although old people remember when they came in swarms over the fields in autumn.

Last Friday's snowfall, which was about two inches in all, lasted well into the next day.

Mrs. H. B. Bridges returned on Tuesday from St. John, where she has been attending the annual Convention of Women's Institutes, as delegate from the Gagetown branch.

H. G. Clowes, of Marguerville was here last week for a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Otty.

Gagetown, Nov. 1.—At simple but impressive service in St. John's Church on Friday evening, a handsome brass and oak table, commemorating the death at Passchendaele of Lieut. Allan Otty, was dedicated and unveiled, in the presence of immediate relatives and a large congregation.

The service was conducted by Rev. G. A. Kahring, rector of St. John's (Stone) Church, St. John, formerly chaplain of the 6th C.M.R.'s, assisted by Rev. H. T. Buckland, rector of the parish.

The Gagetown veterans were present in a body, and entered the church led by Major M. A. Scott, late of the 4th C.M.R.'s, who were followed by the members of Court Aloha, I.O.F., in regalia.

The triumphant words of "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand" opened the service, followed by the first part of the Evening Prayer, with chants and very appropriate lessons from Old and New Testament.

Leaving the chancel and approaching the veiled tablet, which was placed upon the West wall, back of the font, near the church door, Mr. Kahring and Mr. Buckland stood in front of the tablet, and opened the service of dedication with the sentence "Greater Love Hath No Man Than This; That a Man Lay Down His Life For His Friends," after which four beautiful prayers were said, commemorating the heroes who have fallen in the War, and the homes by whom they are held in memory.

Mr. Kahring then read the formal dedication and afterwards the inscription on the tablet, which bears these words: "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the World."

In Proud and Loving Memory of

LIEUT. ALLEN OTTY,

5th Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Only son of Norval H. and Charlotte F. Otty. Mentioned in despatches by Sir Douglas Haig, for gallant and distinguished service in the field. Killed in action at the taking of Passchendaele Ridge, October 30, 1917. Aged 23 years.

"That there might be preserved at any cost, the right of honest folk to labor in their fields, to love, to pray, and at last to sleep in the peace of God."

Lieut. Otty's mother then drew aside the Canadian flag which covered the tablet, and Mr. Kahring continued: "May it speak to future generations of the life which was not given in vain."

A very moving address was then given by Mr. Kahring, from the wonderful words of David's lament for Saul and Jonathan, the mighty men of valour fallen in the midst of the battle: "Ye mountains of Gilead, let there be no dew, neither let there be rain upon you, nor fields of offerings, for there the shield of the mighty is valiantly cast away. From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan turned not back, and the sword of Saul returned not empty. Saul and Jonathan were lovely and pleasant in their lives, and in their death they were not divided. They were swifter than eagles, they were stronger than lions. How are the mighty fallen in the midst of battle! O Jonathan, thou wast slain in thy high places! How are the mighty fallen, and the weapon of war perished!"

From this tale of ancient valor, Mr. Kahring recalled to the minds of his hearers, the heroism which our own boys displayed amid the unbelievable conditions of the war just past. He related how Lieut. Otty on his last day at Passchendaele led D Company across a bullet swept stretch of mud to clear a German machine gun nest on the hill at Soireux Farm; only ten men being left when at last the objective was gained; and how with this ten reduced to five, Lieut. Otty, who was wounded in the arm and side, sustained the counter attack which followed, and just as his day's work was done, fell on the field which he and the "brave little remnant of the 6th C.M.R." had won. The golden evening was brightening in the West; soon that faithful warrior came his rest; "Sweet is the calm of Paradise the best," concluded Mr. Kahring, who also spoke of the character of the young officer—his whole-hearted devotion to duty, his love of home, his affection for the church, on the walls of which his memorial tablet is now placed.

Question Asked by Wharf Status, the Status Existing

Office of the Deputy Minister, Ottawa, Nov. 4.

Dear Sir:—Replying to your letter of the 3rd instant, I beg to advise the transfer of the New Brunswick wharves has not yet been completed by the Dominion Government. Apparently the question has not been definitely settled by the Federal Government as to the liability of maintaining the wharves.

Yours very truly,

3. If so, when will the said wharves be repaired?

Dear Sir—Replying to yours of the 3rd instant, I beg to advise you that the transfer of the New Brunswick Wharves has not yet been completed by the Dominion Government.

Shediac

Shediac, N. B., Nov. 7.—The past week might appropriately be termed "All Halloween Week" at the seaside town, for a number of functions were given with ideas and decorations suitable to the date of October 31.

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season was the party of Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Test threw open their beautiful home, "Brookside," at a Halloween party to a large number of the young people of the town.

For some years previous to the war, Mr. and Mrs. Test annually entertained at Halloween parties, which were looked forward to with pleasure, and the young ladies and gentlemen present on Friday evening, thoroughly enjoyed the event, which in every detail was carried right to the letter, as a Halloween party.

With its fantastic and weird decorations, sources of amusement, old-time customs, and informally sitting around the festive board, which teemed with good things of the season.

Another pleasant function to take place on Halloween was the bridge A. Flowers entertained lady and gentlemen friends on Friday evening. At serving time the hostess had as aides: Mrs. M. A. Oulton and Mrs. Belliveau.

At her residence, Main street, East, on Thursday evening Mrs. A. J. Webster gave a delightful party at three tables. The decorations were in keeping with the approach of Halloween and the parlors were most attractive under their adornment.

In serving her friends Mrs. Webster had as aides Mrs. Belliveau and Miss Bray.

close of the game Mrs. Weldon, the guest of honor, was the recipient of a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. A pretty souvenir of Halloween fell to Miss Evans, while the prize was won by Miss Lena Bray.

much enjoyed by those to attend, took place from 4 to 7 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, when at her residence on Riverside Drive, Mrs. J. C. Webster was hostess for a bridge of three tables in Miss Weldon's honor.

At the tea Miss Jardine and Miss G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Macdonald are leaving town this week to reside in Amherst, N. S.

On Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Macdonald, a very enjoyable bridge had for its hostess Mrs. E. B. Macdonald, who at her residence, Main street, East, entertained lady friends at cards, when the game was played at four tables; pretty prizes being won by Mrs. Geo. A. White and Miss E. Melanson.

At serving time the aides were Mrs. Belliveau, Oloons and Miss McGrath, Miss B. Harper collected the con-cards.

Mrs. J. D. Weldon and Miss Mary Weldon left town on Wednesday for Montreal.

Rev. Mr. Tomalin, rector of St. Andrews Church, Shediac Cape, officiated at an interesting event in the Church, Tuesday evening, when he officiated at the marriage of Mr. G. Hamilton to Mrs. Reginald Wedding, the bride was unattended. She was becomingly gowned in a costume of dark blue cloth. The choir was presided at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will take up their residence at the Cape.

Mrs. D. S. Harper and Miss Mary Harper will leave town this week to Sewell street, St. John.

Mrs. R. G. Test arrived home from Toronto, Saturday. She was accompanied from Quebec by Mr. and Mrs. Street. Those who with their baby daughter, spent the week-end in town. After the summer and fall months spent at the Cape, Mrs. Lionel Hamilton and her brother, Mr. Sidney Willett have returned to Moncton.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist Church will meet this week with Mrs. W. R. Weddall at the residence.

Miss Edna Cormier has returned from a visit to friends in the North of the Province.

Mrs. H. S. Bell, Moncton, spent part of the week in town with her sister, Mrs. D. S. Harper.

Mr. Robert Dyrant of Boston, is spending a short time at his old home in Cocagne.

The many friends of Rev. and Mr. Tomalin are glad to know he is home again from Toronto, where he recently underwent a serious operation.

The sympathy of their many friends is being extended to members of the family of the late Mrs. Jacob Hebert, who died suddenly at her home in the East End, at an early hour Thursday morning. The funeral took place at St. Joseph's cemetery on Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. Mrs. Hebert is survived by four sons: Messrs. John, Abbie, Charles and Gordon Hebert, late of overseas, and three daughters, Mrs. Mahanson, residing on the Dorchester Road; Miss Gussie at home; and Miss Annie, engaged in professional nursing in the United States and who came home for her mother's funeral.

That will, late of overseas, and three daughters, Mrs. Mahanson, residing on the Dorchester Road; Miss Gussie at home; and Miss Annie, engaged in professional nursing in the United States and who came home for her mother's funeral.

That will be an exchange of pulpits at the Sunday evening service between Rev. Mr. Lewis of Knox Church and Rev. Dr. Weddall of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. A. J. Webster is in St. John this week.

Rev. Dr. Weddall was among Shediac people this week in Moncton.

Another Epidemic OF THE SPANISH INFLUENZA

A great many authorities have predicted a return of that terrible plague which swept Canada from one end to the other not long ago and left so many deaths in its wake, and those who did survive were left in a great many cases with some serious after effect such as weak heart, shattered nerves, impoverished blood and a general weakened and exhausted condition of the system.

If you are run down, heart not just right, nerves a little shaky, take a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and fortify your system against this terrible plague.

If you had the "flu" before and it left you with any bad after effect Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring you back to health and strength.

Mrs. C. C. Palmer, Keppel, Sask., writes:—"I wish to inform you of the great good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. After a bad attack of the Spanish influenza, my heart and nerves were left in a very bad condition. I got two boxes of your pills and must say they are the best I ever used, and I have taken a great many different kinds. I will always keep Heart and Nerve Pills in the house."

The Boy Went Whistling Down the Street...

The other day a woman came from her kitchen to answer a knock at the front door. A boy gave her a telegram. The telegram told her, her son was dead. He died as a result of wounds received more than two years ago.

The boy went whistling down the street.

The woman went back to her work and—grief.

This incident is told to remind you that, for many people, the war is not yet ended. Don't you go whistling down the street. The war is not ended for you, until war incurred costs are paid. It is your duty to buy Victory Bonds to the limit of your resources.

OPPOSITION PLATFORM.

Although the Opposition Convention tackled the business of formulating a platform with energy and an evident determination to make the party programme broad and progressive the time available did not permit of consideration being given to all the planks proposed by the delegates. About forty resolutions embodying suggestions for the platform were handed in to the Resolutions Committee, of which Mr. J. L. Stewart was chairman, and of these, twelve, dealing with the more important matters of public interest, were, after consideration and in some cases amendments, adopted as planks in the platform. A few resolutions were turned down by the delegates; others were not dealt with, owing to the pressure of other business, but it does not follow that they will not be incorporated in the party programme.

The Convention decided to form a Provincial Party Association, and elected executive officers who will set with a committee composed of duly elected representatives from each county organization, and the organizations of the cities of St. John and Moncton. Through this association provision will be made whereby the district organizations which will shortly call meetings may submit resolutions which may become the basis of additional planks in the platform.

As it stands the foundation platform is broad, fairly comprehensive, and sufficiently definitive, without unduly hampering the government that may be called upon to carry it into effect. It deals with a number of problems that are currently pressing for solution, and it commits the party to the vigorous prosecution of policies which are of first importance for the development and prosperity of the province. A resolution dealing with our forest resources was not brought before the convention, but on this question the party has long had a strong policy—a policy which produced a considerable increase in the revenues from the Crown Lands, and was designed to promote the development of pulp and paper making industries, though the latter feature having been abrogated by the present government for reasons that seemed good to it, the expected results have not materialized.

On the question of the development of water powers the plank adopted by the Convention is not new, as it formed a feature of the last election manifesto of Mr. Murray. The subject was debated with great vigor by the delegates, and the interest shown is warrant that when the party is returned to power it will take effective measures to promote the utilization of our water powers. The convention was a unit as to the great need of water power development, and its importance not only for the industrial development but for the rural communities which in some other countries find it greatly to their advantage to make an extensive use of electric power. There was, however, some division of opinion as to the methods which should be adopted to assure the necessary development. Some of the St. John delegates were keen for a straight programme of government ownership and operations, while those from some of the smaller towns felt the fullest encouragement should be offered to private enterprise. As finally adopted the plank is a very definite instruction to any government the party may form to proceed forthwith with the development of water power, and at the same time leaves it for the government to decide whether to apply the principle of public enterprise or encourage private enterprise in any particular water power project which may come under its purview.

Premier Foster brought in a bill on this matter at the last session of the Legislature, but when members examined it they discovered that it was an impossible measure, the provisions of which were totally at variance with its professed purpose, and it was allowed to die a natural death. Mr. Foster is now talking of submitting a new bill, and it is to be hoped that his new measure will be of a practical character. He should at any rate be provoked to attempt some sort of solution of the water power problem by the strength of the interest the Opposition has shown in the matter. And if the government proves its incapacity in this connection, as it has in so many others, the Opposition will be ready to assume the responsibility of providing a solution.

On the question of technical education the stand taken by the party was progressive, and the animated discussion showed that the delegates want vigorous action. The former government initiated technical education for the agricultural communities in this province, and the present government has undertaken to devise some sort of technical education for cities, but so far has only played with the question. New Brunswick unfortunately has been slow to realize the importance of technical education and industrial training of the kind required by workers in cities and towns. In this respect it is ten years behind the sister province of Nova Scotia, and twenty-five years behind Quebec or Ontario, and it is time there was a change. A proper system of technical education costs money to inaugurate, but the general experience is that it is a good investment, and it is a patent fact that there is an intimate relation between the progress of an industrial community and its system of education.

In pronouncing condemnation upon any efforts to exploit the language question the Convention has served a notice on some thoughtless persons which may or may not have been needed. The only thing that may be said about these would-be trouble-makers is that they have been generally harmless because their efforts have not been taken seriously by anybody; but circumstance might arise in which they might do incalculable mischief, and the adoption of Mr. Potts' may do good service. The Opposition has affirmed its adherence to the policy of freedom of speech, freedom of language, and mutual respect, in words used by the Prince of Wales at a civic luncheon in Montreal the other day—words that, as the young Prince declared, formed the basis of the policy which has united the English and the Scotch, and also of the policy which has presided over the development of the Empire.

The recommendations of the Convention that farmers and labor be represented on the Opposition tickets, wherever possible, are interesting suggestions that the delegates merely had in mind the putting forward of vote catching devices were not born out by the discussions to which they gave rise. Some delegates strongly opposed the adoption of these recommendations, pointing out that it was quite practicable for farmers in many constituencies, and labor in others, to attend nominating conventions in sufficient numbers to assure the choice of any candidate they wanted. But the general views of the delegates seemed to be that the farmers and labor men had not been adequately represented in the Legislature in the past, and that the presence of more farmers' and labor representatives would be to the advantage of the Province, and secure more consideration of problems that directly affect these two important classes, as well as provide a vent for some of the discontent arising from the conditions which have grown out of the war. A practical farmer as Minister of Agriculture and a Minister of Labor who will look after the interests of the workers are obvious requirements of up-to-date policy.

The Convention had no difficulty in deciding on a road policy, for there were a large number of representatives of the farming communities present who had very definite ideas as to what was required. Hon. Mr. Veniot's so-called permanent road policy has resulted in the expenditure of a good deal of money to little purpose on trunk roads, while the back roads which make all the difference to the farmers have been sadly neglected. The Hearst Government in Ontario, which had been spending much money on trunk roads and neglecting the by-roads, went down to defeat before an uprising of indignant farmers. Mr. Veniot's policy has aroused similar indignation among the farmers of New Brunswick, and the convention roundly condemned his policy of discrimination and adopted a plank declaring that the by-roads should be maintained in due proportion to the trunk road system.

Among the other matters to which the Convention pledged the Opposition party were: The revision of the mining laws with a view to securing needed and much greater development of the mineral resources of the Province; preference in provincial appointments to men who have served overseas in the theatre of war; holding of by-elections within sixty days of a vacancy; free school books to all public school pupils; and the holding of general elections on Monday to permit fishermen and commercial travellers to vote without unduly interfering with their business.

But Englishman Who Got Left There Didn't Worry About Price of Special.

(Bangor News.)
A little trip around Bangor in the way of sightseeing is generally regarded as a profitable undertaking on the part of the tourist, but an Englishman who incautiously stepped his foot on Bangor soil one day this week may not have felt that he really got his money's worth, as his little expedition about the business section of the city cost a roll of about $50, which sum was added to the contents of the strong box of the Maine Central Railroad.

The Englishman was a passenger on a through train to St. John and when a stop was made at the station in Bangor he understood the porter to state that there would be a wait here of 45 minutes. Of course, he had heard about Bangor as an attractive city, so he strolled up the street for a time. Upon his return the train had departed and he immediately sought out the railroad officials, with "Oh, my man, what the blasted blazes do I do about the 45 minute?" The railroad man advised the stranger that another train went sometime. This wouldn't do,

"So you are engaged?"
"Yes."
"How romantic, is he your ideal?"
"No," said the girl candidly, "merely the best offer I could get."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Many ailments which are a menace to health begin with eye strain. Sight requires that the muscles which control the eyeball and its parts should work constantly. MILITARY STORES FOR SOLDIERS
 Former Soldiers and Soldiers' Dependents to be Given Chance to Purchase at Advantageous Prices.

Under arrangements made through the Dominion Command of the Great War Veterans' Association a proportion of the surplus Military Stores held by the Government is being reserved for a short time for the benefit of returned soldiers and sailors and widows and dependents of soldiers killed in the war. They are to have the privilege of purchasing articles from the stores at very advantageous prices. These Military Stores comprise a varied assortment of goods, including bedding, hardware, blankets, leather goods, wearing apparel, dry goods, furniture, etc. It is the intention to sell a large percentage of the stores by tender to the highest bidder, but the Dominion Command of the G. W. V. A. has arranged that individual returned soldiers or sailors or dependents of soldiers or sailors killed in the war can make whatever purchases they wish through any branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, whether they are members of the G. W. V. A. or not. Orders so placed will be combined, say weekly, and sent to the office of the Dominion Command in Ottawa, where payment will be made to the Government when the order is placed. There are some bargains to be had from these surplus stores.

For example some are used, cleaned army blankets in good condition at $2.00 each and $3.00 each for new ones; Khaki flannel for shirts at 55c per yard, etc. The list of articles obtainable and the prices can be seen at any branch of the G. W. V. A. by any member or ex-member of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

RETURNS FROM THE SCOUT CONVENTION

H. O. Eaman, maritime secretary of the Boy Scout Association, arrived in the city yesterday. He was in Winnipeg attending a four days conference on Boy Scout work, following the great international convention. The Boy Scout secretaries from all the provinces were there, and Dr. James W. Robertson, Dominion Commissioner, who presided. The conference was called at the request of John A. Stiles, B. A. Sc., assistant Dominion Commissioner, who has lately taken over the work at Ottawa headquarters. Every phase of the work was discussed.

The great need of text-books and printed matter was urged and it was decided to issue individual badge pamphlets for all boys. The Canadian Boy Scout magazine for Canada and will be pushed through all troops.

The Wolf Club branch of the work for boys nine to twelve years, received a good deal of attention and 350 Wolf Cubs in Winnipeg gave a very interesting demonstration.

One result of the conference will be a closer co-ordination of Boy Scout work in all the provinces and the development of greater efficiency. Mr. Stiles announced an increase of nearly 4,000 scouts in Canada in the last year. There are 25,000 Mr. Stiles will visit St. John and other points in the province early in December.

WEDDINGS.

Collette-Comfort.
 Newcastle, Nov. 7.—The marriage of Miss Gertrude Comfort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Comfort, of Newcastle, to Mr. One Collette, of Adamsville, was solemnized at eight o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Mary's church, by Rev. P. W. Dixon, who acted as officiant. The bride, Mrs. Alice Higgins, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, while Mr. Michael Aharon, was best man. The bride was becomingly gowned in blue crepe de chene with picture hat, while the bridesmaid wore black with black and white hat. After the ceremony dinner was served at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Collette left on the Ocean Limited for a short honeymoon trip to the Upper Provinces, and on their return will reside in Newcastle.

On Wednesday afternoon, October 22nd, a quiet but interesting wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Palmer, East Florenceville, when Mrs. Palmer's sister, Miss Marion Kelly, became the bride of Charles T. Miller, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Miller, of Connell. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. E. Bishop in the presence of immediate families and a few intimate friends. The bride, who was unattended, wore a becoming travelling suit of navy blue serge with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses, she also wore grey fox furs. Immediately after the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served and the happy couple left by auto for the G. P. R. station where they boarded the train for a brief honeymoon trip. The bride is a popular young lady of Kingsclear, N. B., while the groom is a young returned soldier, who went overseas with the 140th Battalion, but was later transferred to the famous "Fighting 20th." He has the proud distinction of being one of the conquering heroes who was continuously in line from the beginning of the German drive in March, until the final triumphs of the war. He returned to his native land in July, having belonged to the army of occupation since the beginning of the armistice.

Police Court Cases Yesterday

Samuel McBeth Tried on Charge of Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses—Charge of Cruelty Preferred Against Frank Murray.

"You'll be killed if you follow me," was one of the statements alleged to have been used by Samuel McBeth, when he tried to dissuade G. F. Hennessey from following him. The latter is the informant in a case against McBeth, given its first hearing yesterday at the police court, when the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses was entered against the prisoner.

McBeth was in the store of W. J. Higgins, North End, collecting money for an alleged returned soldier, when Mr. Hennessey who is a returned soldier, entered the store, and seeing that there was something wrong in the way the man made his statements, regarding the experience of the alleged soldier, and his claims for charity, he asked the defendant to go with him to the G. W. V. A. headquarters, where they could take up the matter.

The two men started up the street and proceeded towards the G. W. V. A. home on Wellington Row, the defendant in the meantime trying to get clear of his companion. McBeth approached German street, McBeth asked Hennessey if he were going to follow him around, and the witness said, "Sure, I'm going with you." At that point the defendant is alleged to have said, "You'll be killed if you follow me," to which the witness remarked that he had gone through against the damage McBeth could do.

Seeing the man was going to prove troublesome, Hennessey signalled for Constable McAfee and as they proceeded McBeth took out a paper from his pocket, threw it on the street and tried to shove it into a sewer opening, but the officer picked it up. It proved to be a list of contributions for the alleged returned soldier, amounting in all to over $70. Hennessey was the only witness in the case which was heard yesterday and adjourned. The prisoner was remanded.

The case against Frank Murray, charged by W. F. Kirvan with whipping and injuring a horse on September 26, was brought up but was postponed until the appearance of an important witness.

One man charged with drunkenness was sent to jail for three months. He had been let out of jail only the previous day.

King's Daughters' Regular Meeting

Excellent Reports Received Yesterday and Arrangements Made for the Semi-Annual Meeting.

There was an exceptionally large attendance at yesterday's meeting of the King's Daughters held in the Guild, Chippman Hill. Mrs. Crockett presided and excellent reports were received from all committees.

Mrs. R. A. Corbett gave the report of the spiritual committee, stating that the services to be held the second Sunday in November will be in charge of the Opportunity Circle. It has been decided by this committee to have a program of services to be held, these programmes to be distributed to the different circles.

For the hospital committee, Mrs. R. A. McLaughlin reported that the General Public Hospital had been visited by the Ministering Circle.

A full house and a balance on the right side of the treasury was reported for the House Committee by Mrs. Foster.

A letter was received by the secretary Mrs. H. H. H. from Mrs. Crossley, of the Canadian Emigration committee asking that seven ladies coming from England on the S.S. Metagama should be met by members of the King's Daughters.

A committee was formed in connection with the semi-annual meeting of the City Union which is to take place November 24. The programme was left in the hands of the officers. Mrs. H. W. Robertson and Gertrude Campbell were appointed on the refreshment committee.

The total receipts from the Tag Day were $1,791, and it was decided to tithe the gross receipts. The Tithe Fund is kept as a fund, from which special donations may be made.

HOSPITAL MATTER UNDER DISCUSSION

A suggestion by the General Hospital Commissioners that a modern kitchen equipment, in keeping with development of dietetics, be installed in hospital, was discussed at an informal meeting held in the Mayor's office yesterday. The Mayor, city commissioners and J. King Kelley, K. C., county secretary, were present. After the meeting, it was said that a meeting of the finance committee of the Municipal Council may be called to consider the proposition.

It has been pointed out that the kitchen equipment at present in use at the General Hospital, is totally inadequate for the proper storing, preparation and cooking of foods in accordance with the latest requirements of expert dieticians.

In the Lancaster Hospital and in the hospitals in large centres outside of St. John, the kitchen equipment and methods have been revolutionized through expert dieticians and splendid results have been attained. The department of dietics at the Lancaster Hospital is considered one of its features and excellent reports of its good results have come from both physicians and patients.

HAD ECZEMA For Over 28 Years

Eczema or Salt Rheum manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat is almost unbearable. The success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in skin diseases of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties, and we know of no other remedy that has done or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Mr. James Walker, 152 Niagara St., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—I have been using Burdock Blood Bitters for some months past, and find it an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. I have suffered with eczema for over 28 years, and have tried almost everything you could think of. I was recommended to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am now clear of my skin trouble. It is certainly a good remedy and I shall recommend it to all my friends.

MILLION DOLLARS SUBSCRIBED LAST NIGHT IN 2 1/2 HOURS

Enthusiasm and Confidence Were the Features of the Special Meeting of Business Men Last Night in the Union Club When the Progress of the Victory Loan Was Discussed—22 Subscriptions Total $1,025,000—Special Drive for Armistice Day—Chairmen Appointed

If the city and county of St. John can catch the spirit which infected the meeting of local business men at the Union Club last night, the 1919 Victory Bond campaign should prove a rousing success in this district.

It took only a few minutes past the hour period for twenty-two men to individually pledge subscriptions amounting to the excellent total of $1,025,000.

T. H. Estabrooke, chairman of the provincial committee, occupied the chair and briefly outlined the success of the campaign to the present time. He was followed by Premier Foster, who reviewed the success of previous victory loan campaigns and urged strong support to the present drive.

Dr. J. B. M. Baxter said that he did not have much faith in conferences as a means to raise capital for such a loan and suggested that the two-minute rest on Armistice Day should be used for the purpose of making a whirlwind canvass all over the city.

The Americans would quite willingly step in and take up the balance of this loan that the Canadians left unsubscribed for. It was something better in both interest and exchange than they usually were of.

M. E. Agar was of opinion that there should be no difficulty in making arrangements with the banks whereby the merchants could increase their subscriptions. It would not be necessary for the borrower to put up a large amount of cash to secure the loan. He suggested that slips of paper be passed around to the men present which they could use as a note of the amounts they were willing to subscribe. This plan was later followed.

T. P. Regan supported Dr. Baxter's suggestion and said that a canvassing team should be organized to carry out the plan of proper utilizing the halt in activities during Armistice Day.

The chairman then announced that though the members of the firm of Manchester Robertson Allison Ltd., intended to subscribe individually, he could say that the firm would be responsible for the subscription. He would contribute a like sum, as would his own firm.

Others of the larger firms in the city would also be represented in this drive and he thought that if the smaller merchants and business men were approached singly and urged to give proportion, there should be no difficulty in raising the sum desired. Personally he did not want to ask a man to do a thing unless he had done so himself and he could now go to the smaller concerns with the assurance that his company had taken its part.

He extended on the idea, however, by advocating that a special drive be made by a special committee to get 100,000 more subscriptions, making a million dollars.

Dr. Baxter, it was said by one of the speakers, had advised a similar figure as his subscription to the present loan. A short time later, thinking the matter over, he had quadrupled this amount and when he had been present at the meeting but a few moments last night, he doubled the last figure. In other words, his subscription then turned in was eight times the amount he had previously set upon.

The chairman then announced that he had received a subscription for $100,000. This was immediately followed by a $50,000 subscription, then by another $100,000. He said that the subscriptions then totalled $750,000 and aggressive meetings the steady rooms urged the men to make it a million of the club have seen for a long while.

FEELING OF CONFIDENCE DOMINATED CONVENTION

Delegates Convinced Foster Government Has Lost Ground—Attitude of Convention on Question of Leadership—Would Not Turn Down Able Leader Because of a Mistake Perhaps Due to Circumstances Out of His Control.

Most of the delegates to the opposition convention left for their homes yesterday, feeling that they had accomplished a good day's work for the party, and that with the question of leadership settled satisfactorily the foundation of progressive platform and a Provincial Organization provided for, there would be general preparation for the elections whether they come sooner or later.

"What do you think of the convention?" a delegate from Queens county was asked.

"It was much larger than I expected, and it was certainly interesting from first to last," was the answer.

"The confidence of everybody was inspiring and the enthusiasm contagious. It was a reflection of the feeling in the country, the present government is done for. Talks with men from all over the province were encouraging. Everybody seemed satisfied that the government has lost a great deal of ground, and that the Opposition party is polling itself together and bonding, harring the unexpected, to win out at the next elections. My own view is that the government is doomed; its policy is wholly unworkable. The unfortunate road experiments have shown a great deal of dissatisfaction in the rural districts. Maybe the farmers will turn out to interest themselves. I don't see much signs of that in my district, but I think it is a possibility. However, the Opposition platform ought to interest them. They want to turn out the government, and as they can hardly expect to develop strength of their own to do the trick at the next elections, their chances are that the farmers will support the Opposition candidates. Any way they will be given a fair representation on our tickets.

"The attitude of the convention to the question of leadership was interesting. It was expected that Mr. Murray, not having been appointed leader at a regular party convention, would offer his resignation, but his speech during the afternoon caused some surprise, everybody thinking that he would take the occasion to make a detailed answer to all his opponents' slanders. Before he spoke you could notice a strong pull for Murray among the delegates, and after he dismissed the slanders with a wave of his hand, so to speak, and left everything to the judgment of the delegates, you could feel that he was going to have the leadership if he would continue to act.

"When you talked with the delegates you found a general feeling that the government's efforts to drive their ablest opponents out of political had overshot the mark. Nobody believes that the men involved in the patriotic potato transaction made any money out of it. The affair was an unfortunate one. Mr. Murray manfully admitted that he might have made errors and mistakes, but you could not persuade anybody that knew him that he ever defrauded the province of a cent. The delegates looked at the matter this way:—Admitting that Mr. Murray made a mistake, that he would have involved the province in loss if his friends had not come to his rescue and fixed up matters by methods that looked peculiar. But he resulted in loss to them; admitting all this are we going to turn him down to please his political opponents. Because a man who has proved a good party leader and given the province an energetic and progressive government has made a mistake, are we going to deprive the party and the province of his services?"

Labor Council Had Active Night

Considerable Important Business Transacted Last Night—Local Matters Attended to—Help Promised to American Associates—Public Welfare Work.

Considerable important business was transacted last night at the regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, with President Fred A. Campbell in the chair.

A committee from the council which was appointed to act jointly with one chosen from the Board of Trade and the City Council with regard to street paving matter, reported that the joint committee was in favor of the apportioning of the cost of the paving. The council instructed the committee to support the plan of paying for the paving by general assessment.

Delegates from the board appointed a representative of the board upon the juvenile court committee.

W. H. Coates, of the Typographical Union, was selected by the board to be its representative upon the Board of Film Censors appointed by the Provincial Government.

Invitations to address meetings in the interest of the labor movement were sent to Mrs. Rose Henderson and to Tom Moore.

The steel strike in the United States was fully discussed and the support of the council was offered in any way.

A communication was received from Mayor Hayes to the effect that Mr. O'Connor will be in the city shortly to take up his investigation regarding the high cost of living. Most present prices, when any protest will be considered.

A recent lock-out of musicians was discussed and it was decided to appoint a committee from the council which will assist the musicians in every way possible. A resolution was also adopted and forwarded to the Department of Immigration protesting against the appointment of alien musicians to fill the positions made vacant by the lock-out.

With reference to the number of school-children employed in various factories and other places of business in the Province, a committee was named to appeal to Premier Foster to have the Provincial Factory Law thoroughly enforced.

During the meeting, Mr. Blackstock gave the members a very interesting account of the famous Tom Mooney case and urged the meeting to assist in the work of freeing this man from his life sentence in the penitentiary.

THE BOSTON BOAT DELAYED. The S.S. Governor Dingley which left here on Wednesday evening for Boston was still at Eastport Thursday evening, having been delayed there by the heavy easterly gale. On this account there will be no sailing from St. John this Saturday.

Inc of his services? There was the further consideration, that if the bottom had not fallen out of the potato market at an inopportune time the transaction for which Mr. Murray was responsible would not have been a mistake in fact it might have resulted in a profit for the province.

"Some delegates doubtless came to the convention with the idea that, as Mr. Murray had been so strongly assailed by the government press, another leader might be desirable on the principle that, however, strong the belief in a man's personal integrity may be, you can not put him with political and without besmirching him in the eyes of a lot of people. But Mr. Murray's speech in which he announced his resignation—a vigorous fighting speech for the party and not for himself—created the feeling that we should not let him lay down the leadership, and Mr. Baxter's speech in the evening settled any lingering doubts there may have been as to the wisdom of keeping Mr. Murray on the job. And the wild outburst of enthusiasm which followed Mr. Murray's announcement that he would take up the leadership again, showed that the convention was more than glad that it had not condemned a good man in haste because of a mistake, if it were his fault, and his ability and his character still fit him to render good service to the province."

The necessity of a conference with the French police had brought Valentin West to Paris. The information had been able to give had proven more valuable than he had expected, and a problem which had failed to monopolize the clever brains of the authorities for some considerable period had suddenly become a most trivial in its solution.

West took no credit for this—his duty on his part, not modesty. He had supplied just one piece of the puzzle which had proved to be the key piece. It was chance, and since chance had created him so well he determined to remain for a few days on holiday. There was a singer at the Opera House he wanted to hear, and play the Gymnase and Port St. Martin theatres he wanted to see.

He went to the Hotel de l'Orleans, favorite with those travelers who most mind paying well but object to needless and lavish extravagance. In a day or two had made one or two acquaintances who appeared to have spent their life traveling the world and gathering information wherever he went. His knowledge was solid, not merely gleaned from the surface; the result of experience not of wide reading, as his views and criticisms of men and manners were his own and often startling. He was a stimulating companion.

"Do you write, monsieur?" West asked. They were dining together at a small table and had arranged to meet in the opera afterward. "No." "You should. The world loses a valuable historian by your not putting your experiences on paper." "Historian? Why historian?" "His own history, man. You are the growth of men, of their manners and customs," said West.

"I lack politics," Hostin answered, "and most histories are merely records of politics. I never talk politics, never think them even. If I can't do it, I don't do it." "But if everyone were honest if everyone were bent on acting for the good of mankind all large, there would be no more wars, no more revolutions, as we know them. The first politician was the man who originally conceived a scheme for claiming the crown. He had no right and defying his fellows to prove he was in the wrong." He laughed at his own conceited digression, the subject as unworthy of serious discussion.

The chill fall winds accompanied by sleet and rain this week, were unpleasant reminders of winter, and made anything but a fitting setting for the large number of entertainments given by hostesses, both in the older, and younger social sets.

The stores are beginning to show signs of Christmas, and many interested buyers are already taking advantage of the early showing of novelties to live up to the Christmas slogan: "Shop Early."

Mrs. Joseph Coy received for the first time since her marriage at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Tennant, Orange street, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. General Debility Following Influenza
Strength Can Only be Regained by Enriching the Blood.
Following a wide spread epidemic of influenza, general debility is on the increase, and its effects may be noticed in the worn stiffness appearance of so many of the men and women who meet. Influenza always leaves behind it impaired vitality, and with the modern conditions of life that use up nerve force so rapidly, general debility becomes one of the most common maladies. The symptoms of debility vary, but weakness is always present. There is poor digestion, languor, weak aching back, wakefulness at night, often distressing headaches and a feeling of fatigue. These symptoms indicate impure and impoverished blood. It is significant of nearly every attack of influenza that it is followed by anemia and debility. For all such run-down conditions, no blood is the most reliable cure. Sufferers should at once begin to make this blood rich and red with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Under a fair treatment with this medicine they will realize more and more the health-restoring influence of good rich blood, and how this new blood brings a feeling of new strength and increased vitality. Proof is given in the case of Mrs. G. Robertson, Wingham, Ont., who says: "When the Spanish influenza spread over our town I happened to be one of the first attacked, and the attack was a very severe one, and worse still the after-effects of the trouble left me in continuous misery. I had severe pains in my side, felt low-spirited, and with no ambition whatever. My head ached almost continually, my eyes felt heavy, and pimples broke out on my face. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking them for a time I felt like my old self able to do my housework, and feeling well and strong. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the serious after-effects of influenza as I am sure they will restore all sufferers to good health." You can get these Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Apohaqui

Apohaqui, Nov. 7.—The service in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, was of special interest, as in conjunction with the regular services, a memorial tablet to the memory of the late Herbert Walter Wright, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wright, was unveiled. After the opening hymn and devotion, the unveiling was announced and as a fitting initiative to the ceremony, Miss Marjorie Jones, sweetly sang a solo, "Jesus Lover of My Soul." After which the pastor, Rev. L. Johnson Leard descended from the chancel and delivered the eulogy, briefly, yet in well-chosen words, heartily extolling the bravery and heroism of the young man who had sacrificed his life which surely should be a lasting monument to their memory and which doubtless would be to the present generation, though continuing the pastor expressed his strong conviction that some form of a lasting memorial should be placed where the generations which follow may read and know to whom they owe so much. At the conclusion of the address, Miss Ethel Wright, sister of the departed hero, came forward and drew aside the flag which concealed the tablet from which the pastor read the inscription as follows:

"In loving memory of Signaller Herbert Walter Wright, 3rd Machine Gun Battalion. Killed in Action Sept. 14th, 1918, age 23 years, 11 months. Interred in Dury Cemetery, near Arras, France.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that man lay down his life for his friends."

The pastor then made a short prayer, after which a solo: "Thy Will Be Done" was rendered by Miss Greta Connelly in a sweet contralto voice.

The ceremony was then concluded by the hymn:

"How bright these glorious spirits shine, Whence all their bright array, How came they to these blissful seats, Of everlasting day."

"Let these are they from sufferings great, Who came to realms of light, And in the blood of Jesus washed, Their robes which shine so bright."

The entire family of the young hero was present at the ceremony including the parents, three brothers and one sister, and grandmother. The elder brother, Mr. Harley L. Wright, having also been a comrade in arms, being one of the original 25th, who has known warfare with all its horrors and sufferings, yet even after spending upwards of a year as patient in hospital, returned comparatively well, and which is some compensation to the bereaved home.

The church was taken to accommodate comfortably the very large congregation present, which was representative of all the outlying communities, as well as the immediate vicinity—showing evidence of respect and love for the departed soldier and pride in the thought of the noble and courageous young man who has left home and friends to face death for their country. Beautiful pink and white chrysanthemums adorned the altar and the entire service was touching—many in the large congregation were visibly moved, particularly during the rendering of the solos, both of the soloists having been schoolmates and friends from childhood, of the one to whom the tablet had been placed in memorial.

The re-dedication of the United Baptist Church at Mountmaine took place on Sunday last. The pastor, Rev. C. S. Young was assisted by Rev. W. J. Hurlow of Tracy's Mills, who was the preacher of the day.

Large congregations were present at the three services, who listened with interest to the forceful sermons from the eminent Baptist Divine.

The music was particularly good, the choir being ably assisted by a number of visiting talented singers, including Mrs. Greig, Mr. John Patterson and Mr. T. S. McAuley, who contributed solos at the various services throughout the day.

The edifice presents a neat and attractive appearance, the furnishings of the chancel have been replenished by a handsome pulpit and three massive chairs, all of which were a gift from Mrs. G. W. Gannon of St. Stephen, whose husband, the late G. W. Gannon, was deeply interested in the welfare of the Mountmaine Church and community, it being the place where many of his boyhood days were spent, and where still remain a number of his kith and kin.

Miss Blanche Peterson of Sackville, spent the week-end at the Baptist Parsonage.

Miss Ethel Wright and Mr. Harley L. Wright of the Military Offices, Fredericton, spent the week-end here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wright, and incidentally was present at the unveiling of a tablet to the memory of their brother, the late Herbert Walter Wright.

Miss Ethel Jones is enjoying a week's visit in Moncton and Sackville. Miss Florence Elison of Richshaw is a guest of Mrs. George B. Jones. Mrs. Paul Gilchrist and little son, Raymond of Great Salmon River, are guests of Mrs. Gilchrist's mother, Mrs. Parlee.

Messrs. Roy and Harry Parlee left on Saturday to accept positions in Boston, and will be guests of their sister, Mrs. Wendall Colman at Haverhill for a short time.

Halloween, the eve when "ghosts and goblins walk abroad"—was fittingly celebrated and the traditional customs duly observed. Several ho-ho-tees entertained on that evening, particularly for the younger set.

Upwards of seventy guests accepted an invitation to the home of Mrs.

A. Bell, Sr., who was assisted in receiving and entertaining by her daughters and Mrs. R. B. Reid. As the guests approached the residence of their hostess the weird and subdued lights within suggested feelings of awe and thoughts of spooks.

On being admitted, they were at once confronted by a ghostly form, standing at the foot of the staircase, dressed in robes of white crepe paper and wearing a pumpkin head, illuminated by a candle. The appearance of each room was a marvel, so fairy like and seasonably adorned, while over all the mellow light from many yellow shaded candles, shed a soft radiance. The window hangings and portiers were all of yellow and white with profuse decorations of pumpkins, cats and witches. In the drawing room, a huge black cat fashioned from an open umbrella peered from behind the piano, and streamers of pumpkins, cats and witches, were draped from the centre to each corner of the room—while here and there a guiding hand pointed to this or that "No Spooking" which warning perhaps, was strictly observed. The tables on which cards were played were all covered in yellow and black cats were hanging from window shades and in every conceivable place. The elaborate decorations were the source of much favorable comment, and caused great admiration of the taste and ability of Mrs. Reid and Miss Bell, who arranged the delightful function.

Various amusements were enjoyed in the early hours of the evening. Halloween games and tricks were tried out, while some enjoyed dancing and others a table of bridge. Luncheon was served at a late hour after which the guests reluctantly gave up the enjoyment of a truly novel function.

Major and Mrs. Jones entertained on Halloween for their young sons, the guests who were composed of the very young men of the village, enjoying themselves exceedingly with the various forms of amusements provided by their host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Little, also entertained on Halloween when the guests included the young friends of their daughter, Marjorie and Master Walter Little.

The Path to Health

For many thousands of women the Path to Health has certainly been through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When this great remedy was first introduced, and for many years after, skeptics frowned upon its curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by it has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands—doubt and skepticism have been swept away as by a mighty tidal wave, until today this purely vegetable medicine is recognized as the greatest remedy for woman's special ills in the world. This is because it is a wonderful tonic and reconstructor which acts directly and favorably upon the feminine organization and is a specific for that purpose.

Simple Letters of A Simple Fellow

Dere Mable.—
I havnt wrote you lately cause I had an ear acke. I was scared I might give you one to. I think Angus hurt one of my ear drums. He sleeps louder than an old tractor. He wont leave that of course. Says he laid in bed listin many a night an never heard a sound. There are two things nobdy wont believe about themselves. That they havnt got no sense of humor an that they snore.

Ears, Mable, is a rich mans pleasure. A fello could get married cheaper than have an ear acke. When Uncle Charlie heard about mine he made me go an see his family doctor. I told him I didnt have no family. He said Id better go anyway. Uncle Charlie is one of these fellas that all for preparedness. The doctor looked at my ears. He acted kind of surprised to find em there. Then he sat me if I ever had any trouble with my eardrums I say no an my test was in good shape too. I was sorry to disappoint him but there was nothin the matter with me but my ear. Then he decided Id have to go to an ear specialist. He had a friend that was a dandy. He only charged me $5 for his opinion.

The ear fello must have thought my head was bit like an old corn cob. He a fello's ears could run up to. We figged youd have to be a bank president to have a stummick acke. If a fello ever got ackin all over his bank account would look something like Germany. Angus sez he guessed the best way to get on in this world was to keep well I sez. "Yes, keep well away from the doctors." Eh, Mable, Angus thought if a fello could dress three meals a day he didnt have much to worry about. Thats right of course. All you got to worry about is getting the three meals to digest.

I could see Angus's mind was workin in tho. He aint himself when he's like that. One night he came home with a pair of those rubber ropes that you tie to the wall an pull. He sez if a fello pulled those for five minutes every day hed be able to lift a man. That didnt seem like much of an ambition for a young fello just startin out. I never arcu with Angus tho. As I tell him its no use. Hes all ways wrong.

He screwed a big hook in the wall an fastened the ropes to it. Every time hed pull the ropes the hook would fly out. So would a piece of the wall. He had that wall lookin like somebody turned a machine gun on it. At last the hook came out with an awful walop an caught Angus in the eye. He got sore an sez the fello that bit the wall wasnt a plasterer. He was plastered. That struck him like such a good joke he forgot his eye. Then he hit the thing up to the washstand. He sez he was goin to show me the first exercise. He was right there. The first since he joined the army anyhow.

He grabbed hold of the ropes an jumped out in the middle of the room like a panther. I landed on his face an Angus sez how it came of course the pitcher broke. All the water ran thru the floor into the room underhand.

We got a landlady named Mrs. Bodger. She sort of looks that way to. She gets sore at the least little thing. Youd think shed sit us here for a house party the way she acts. Shed have made a good wife for the top sergeant who sez it we was goin to run a rough house we could pay for a new seel. Wed spoiled one of her best babies. Angus sez that ought to cost very much. He told her if she was goin to keep wild washstands shed have to pay the damages on his face an Angus sez how it came in out. Probably out of Angus ten a week. I guess it costs less to have an ear acke than to have a clean shirt. I guess it costs less to have an ear acke. Angus sez whod want to lift a mule any way.

I wouldnt like to get kicked out of here. We got a windo that looks like the back yard. There's a tree in it an the cats use it for a kind of a club house. Its nicer than havin a windo over the street cause its handy to throw things out. A fello needs a place like that for the pins an buttons in your clean shirts. Those laundry fellows dont seem to want you to use a shirt agon after its washed. I dont see why they dont glue them together. I have to get up half an hour earlier when I want to put on a clean shirt. Then I always forget one pin till I sit down somewhere.

I guess I better quit now. Uncle Charlie wanted me to call up a fello for him before 3 o'clock. Its almost 5 now. I dont pay to keep fello waitin in blis. It might be import ant.

Yours till I write agon.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Really prepared and sweet about 25¢.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. Its cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, fool-children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

like me than your father does. They didnt look like anybody. Just a bloo. I told him he ought to call it a foggy night in the woods. He couldnt see a joke tho if you hit him in the back of the head with it. I sez if he thought I was goin to order any of those he had an other goes comin. He sez I didnt need to. It was the ear doctor that wanted one. I couldnt figger why he wanted one. Hed never seen me but once. I told him the he send him stuff to paper his office for all I cared.

I got so mad I just walked out. I spent most of the day an all my money an my ear hurt worse than ever. They were all so keen to get their friends in on a good thing theyd forgot all about my ear. The xray fello says that will be $5 dollars please. Its lucky he was an old man. I didnt say nothin. Just ast him if I looked like I come from a small town or something. Then I got in the elevator an went away. I could hear him say something down the elevator shaft at it. I guess he was apologetic. He saw hed tackled the wrong fello.

I know right away, Mable, that I couldnt afford to have an ear acke. So I painted it with iodine an went to bed. I was tellin Angus how much

Are You Superstitious?

By IMOGENE BURCH

MONEY SUPERSTITIONS.

How can I get rich?
This is one of the most puzzling questions of today. Even the Sphinx cannot answer it. Each individual must solve that problem for himself.

Here is what a number-king says about it:
"I have a number of superstitions about money. Of course I don't suppose that they have anything to do with my success in the number business, but I adhere to them nevertheless."
"My most rigid superstition is with regard to bills. I believe that the only way to hang on to bills is to fold them lengthwise. If folded the short way, they are sure to remain long in the possession of the owner."
"To find money and keep it means a great deal to me. I remember how one summer when on my vacation I found a silver dollar up in the northern woods near a cave that I was exploring. I kept it all through the year, and it happened that my income was larger that year than ever before. I could not help feeling that the dollar had something to do with it."
"If your initials spell a word it means you will be rich."
"If, on the other hand, you mend a garment while wearing it, you will always be poor."
"If your right hand itches it is a sign that you will receive money. If your left hand itches you will spend it. This is because right begins with R and stands for receive, which L stands for let go."
"When you see a shooting star you should say 'Money.' As many times as you are able to say the word during the fall of the star, so many extra dollars will you have in your pocket as a result."
"A mass of bubbles floating on a cup of coffee signifies that money is coming to one. If he can taste up the bubbles on his spoon it indicates that he will get the money, but if they escape he will not. J. Pierpont Morgan was said to have observed this superstition."

LIFE'S SALESMANSHIP.

The world is but one mighty store
Where all that men are looking for
Is store upon its range of shelves,
And we are salesmen of ourselves.
Each of us, as he walks along,
Would win the favor of the throng.
And each of us, in various ways,
Strives to deserve another's praise.

Since what is false men will not buy,
No man should ever tell a lie;
Men scorn the cunning of the cheat
And spurn the practice of deceit.

In life today it is well known
That he who sins must live alone,
While in its markets honor brings
Reward above all other things.

FREE VERSE.

The Free Verse writer is not obliged to consult anything but a spelling book and the fortune of the public. Free Verse is not measured by meters.

Free Verse is an effort to write poetry without using any of the ingredients. It is called free because under our laws anybody can write it and escape going to jail. This is one of the law's overights which cause confusion to the courts.

Free Verse is produced by taking a number of well-known English words and lining them up against the wall without rhyme or reason. This results in a high grade of poetry which is about as durable as a cream puff but which can be readily understood by anybody who has nothing else on his mind or stomach.

The object of Free Verse is to wear the affections of the public away from the constraining influences of the classics. As a cure for the reading of poetry in any form it is almost as efficacious as marrying into a family of seven small children and hand-pumped washing machines.

Free Verse and blank verse is that the former is about thirty-five degrees blander than the latter and is written by the linear mile without a mental struggle.

It must be admitted, however, that Free Verse is a great improvement over much of the original poetry which ever and anon lifts sad eyes above the horizon. It is painful to note the frantic efforts of the original poet to find two words which will lie down in the same stall, but

CROWNED WITH RED AND GOLD

"O Canada, Our Father's land of old,
Thy brow is crowned with leaves of red and gold."
Those lines of one of our national songs speak so vividly of Canada in the glory of autumn days. But they have another suggestion. "Thy brow is crowned with red and gold." Yes, the red of the blood shed by the men in France, for your honor; and the gold—the wealth in money which those left to "carry on" will give—for your honor.

The men who fought upheld Canada's honor in war. We must uphold that honor in peace. We must help our land to meet her obligations, so that in peace as in war, her name may be glorious through the loyalty of her people.

Every woman in Canada is a citizen with the same responsibility as every man. Every woman must realize that she very definitely has a duty

The Handley-Page Machine
Was in Difficulties for a Time With Collector of Customs at New York.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 6.—All hindrances to the non-stop flight from Mincola to Chicago of Vice-Admiral Mark Kerr's Handley-Page bombing plane were today removed by Byron R. Newton, collector of the port here, upon payment of customs duty on it. The big aircraft was to have started this morning, but customs officials insisted it, stating that Admiral Kerr

DECLARES BRITISH PACT WITH PERSIA "WORLD MILESTONE"

Sir Valentine Chirol, Eastern Expert, Backs Treaty Extending England's Aid.

London, Oct. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sir Valentine Chirol, the well-known authority on India and Persia, who accompanied Viscount Curzon when he was Viceroy of India in his tour of Persia, is out in an article strongly upholding the Anglo-Persian treaty recently negotiated. He declares that it will be submitted to the council of the League of Nations, where he confidently believes it will be approved as "the first milestone in international relationship based not upon might but upon right." Sir Valentine says importantly:—"The first question to be asked by those who study the terms of the new Anglo-Persian agreement must necessarily be whether the spirit and substance of the compact is in harmony with the new dispensation foreshadowed by the League of Nations. It is my confident belief that it is, and have given the strongest proof possible of their sincerity by undertaking to submit it to the council of the League of Nations and to defend it jointly before that body as soon as the council comes into being."

Referring to Persia's attitude in the recent war, he says:—"There were moments when the Persian court and government, convinced that Germany must win, nearly succumbed to hostile solicitations. But at that stage the propinquity of Russian armies and the capture of Bagdad by the British were powerful correctives to the sale of Germanic victories on the more distant battlefields of Europe. When the Russian debacle released Persia from the old nightmare of Russian domination, and the British troops and British supplies alone stood between the people of Western Persia and the depredation of Turkish invaders, Persia, having learned the bitter lessons of her own utter helplessness, realized once more that her salvation lay in British hands."

"So when the great war came to an end and Turkey as well as her European allies had to sue for peace in Persia, while the old dread of autocratic Russia had made room for the new terror of Russian Bolshevism, Britain was in a position to dictate practically any terms she liked at Teheran. She could have imposed a protectorate, velleo or unveiled."

"She could certainly have made out a strong case in Paris for the exercise of a benevolent tutelage over Persia under a mandate from the League of Nations. She wisely refrained from doing any of these things. In Lord Curzon's words, 'she dealt with Persia as an equal partner possessing and more closely they are scrutinized, the more they will be seen to bear out the assurance given by Lord Curzon that the British have no intention to settle down in Persia to Anglo-Sax or Indian or Europeanize the people, but that, on the contrary, all they want to do is to give Persia the expert assistance and the financial aid which will enable her to carve out her own fortunes as an independent and still living nation."

GRAHAM BELL PERFECTS NEW HYDRO-PLANE BOAT THAT HAS SPEED OF 71 MILES AN HOUR

Proves Itself Capable of Carrying Heavy Load in Any Kind of Sea—Tests Reveal it to be the Acme of Perfection in Hydro-Plane Development.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 6.—Alexander Graham Bell and F. W. Baldwin have been actively engaged for some time in Cape Breton on the development of a hydroplane boat which has given a speed of 71 miles an hour. The boat is called the H. D. 4. Mr. Bell is about making known to the world the results of his experiments. The whole boat is carried clear out of the water, he hull being supported on a series of submerged knife blades which act as hydroplanes, thus leaving a clear space of about three feet between the bottom of the hull and the surface of the sea when she is going at full speed. The experiments have been carried on at "Belmont's Breeze," Mr. Bell's residence, near Baddeck, N. S. He has recently had a visit from two experts interested in torpedo work for the United States navy. They were specially anxious to know what extra weight the H. D. 4 could carry, as at their request Mr. Bell loaded

BELGIANS MAKING RAPID RECOVERY FROM SUFFERING

Have Returned Again to Ancient and Reliable Prescription, "Hard Work."

Brussels, Nov. 2.—Belgium has suffered terribly, but her people, who have undergone so many wars and oppressions and survived them by virtue of hard work, have returned once more to that ancient prescription, and are finding again that it answers. Since the armistice the country has been governed by a national coalition ministry. The cabinet is based on a very complicated balance of forces, for not only are all three parties—Catholics, Liberals and Socialists—represented in it, but there also has to be a balance between the Walloons and Flemings, and another between the statesmen who served their country in exile under the Government at Havre and those who served it at home under the rigors and horrors of the German occupation. An administration so formed must have obvious defects; yet on the whole it has justified itself. Three Socialist ministers—Vandervelde, Anseels and Wauters—have played an essential part in discouraging strike tendencies among the workers, and keeping constructive ideas before their eyes, while the country has had the services of first-rate administrators like M. Renkin, Minister of Railways, and M. Jaspas, Minister of Economic Affairs.

Renkin's work has in some ways been the most indispensable of all, for in Belgium, as in other civilized countries, railways are arteries of economic life and without the restoration of these few industries can revive. The activity of her railways today is one of the definite economic advantages which Belgium has at the moment over both Germany and France.

"Sticking To It"
"When I asked Renkin how it was done," he replied: "By sticking to it." The difficulties were enormous. At the time of the armistice the Belgian state railways had only five hundred locomotives, many of them needing repairs. At the beginning of October Renkin was every day running 2,000 passenger trains and moving 175,000 tons of freight. On main lines like that between Brussels and Antwerp, the passenger service reached about three-quarters of the pre-war number of trains; elsewhere three-fifths or one-half. The moving of freight requires a good organization, for there are only 74,000 cars, of which no less than one-sixth are undergoing repairs. Today the war has left 95,000 cars and only five per cent. ordinarily under repair, the Belgian state railways moved from 250,000 to 260,000 tons.

These results are the more remarkable when it is realized that the whole railway system west and south of a line drawn through Alost to the German frontier was completely wrecked by the retreating enemy. Every station and every bridge was blown up, even bridges on unfinished lines that had never been used. Huge craters were made in the embankments and at level crossings and in particular every smallest detail of the signalling system was destroyed. Yet today the Belgian railway system is working, except some fifty unimportant kilometers. Temporary bridges and wooden stations are in general use, although the re-building of permanent structures may be seen everywhere it progresses.

I have referred thus particularly to the recovery of the railways because it is so essential to the recovery of other things and because it has been effected in the face of such extraordinary obstacles with so little outside assistance. But the same story meets one on all side. For instance, the railways themselves could not run without coal and one of the cardinal facts in Belgium is that coal mines are not merely working and working without strikes but producing a larger proportion of their pre-war output than those of any country in Europe—perhaps in the world.

I visited one of the largest collieries in a district employing some 10,000 hands. One of the directors who took me over the surface installations showed me that the output was 90 per cent. of that of pre-war. This, or but little less, is about the national percentage. At the colliery in question the waste is removed by machinery into briquettes, which are burned by locomotives. Belgium is able to export coal today because her partially re-equipped factories are producing more than they consume.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble. The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system. When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night, when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act free. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in uric acid, to break up and wash out uric acid, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

Among the arrivals in the city yesterday was Nursing Sister Frances Hanington, member of No. 17 Evacuation Hospital Unit, Vladivostok, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. H. Hanington. Nursing Sister Hanington, who is a graduate of the Canadian Hospital, joined the Siberian Evacuation Force at New York in November, 1918, and proceeded to Vladivostok as a member of No. 17 Evacuation Hospital Unit. Miss Minnie McGuire, Peteraville, and Miss McVeigh, Ottawa, were two of the Canadians who came with her.

Among the Canadians whom Sister Hanington met in Siberia were Lt. Col. A. H. Powell, at present adjutant M. D. No. 7, and Lt.-Colonel Wood, Baywater.

Miss Hanington left Vladivostok on August 2 last, bound for New York, and had an eventful passage of 60 days, during which there was a period of quarantine in Japan, on account of cholera among the crew, and a thrilling period in the trans-Pacific passage while the transport fought her way through two typhoons.

OFFICIALS ON INSPECTION TOUR

A party of seven immigration officials from Ottawa, arrived yesterday to inspect the area on which it is proposed to erect the new baggage shed at West St. John. The party with the chief immigration agent, J. V. Lantieri, visited the site during the afternoon and in the evening. The officials inspected the city in regard to the lease of the site, which is the area on which the old castle sheds were located. Plans for the building have been completed.

The structure is to be one story high, 475 feet in length and 100 feet wide. To secure adequate foundation 1,100 piling will be driven. The shed is to be equipped on either side throughout its length with a platform 12 feet in width, so that two trains each of 8 cars can take on passengers at one time. The building is intended, probably 3 months from the time the contract is let, the West End terminals will for the first time be equipped to handle passenger and baggage under cover and away from muddy and slushy roads.

Coach Directs Crews From An Airplane

Newest Use of Aircraft—Yale Varsity Coach Leads Way to a Better Coaching System.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—Coaching a crew by airplane is not yet practical, although tried on Monday by George Van Santvoord, who has been assisting in coaching the Yale varsity crew. The first crew was on the harbor for practice when Mr. Van Santvoord in an airplane with a professional pilot flew over it. He attempted by megaphone and signals to direct the oarsmen. As an experiment, Mr. Van Santvoord said today, it was novel to him, but aerial coaching is hardly likely to rival the present system.
