

BOLSHEVISM PREPARING TO SEIZE ITALY

Labor Intends to Set up Soviet Government in Near Future.

UNIONS AND FARMERS WORKING TOGETHER

When a Supply of Raw Materials Has Been Secured the Revolution Will be at Once Started.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Milan, Aug. 25.—Here is the "Bolshevik" program for Italy—backed by two and one-half million organized workers—as explained today in a conversation by Signor Bonai, secretary of "Camera de lavoro," which is the controlling organization of the industrial capital of Italy.

Forecast Government Change.

"Conditions in Italy compel a change in government. The proletariat are sure sooner or later of having a Soviet. We cannot have a revolution now because the workers realize we need larger state of coal, iron, and raw materials to run the mills; but we are going on as if the present government did not exist. We obey rational laws, and are orderly; but that is all. We are really are organizing every industry into workers' councils which even now can be controlled by the central labor body, a head which will be replaced by a Soviet when all organizing is completed."

All Workers in Accord.

Bonai says the workers in the city and the farmers are not divided in their Socialist aims as the groups are in other countries. The farmers have the same ideas regarding the future as the mechanics, and both have declared their intention to work together. There will be no more bosses, and public utilities will be run the same as any big American corporation, so far as efficiency is concerned.

TURGEON TALKS ON HIGH TARIFF AND FREE TRADE

Attorney General of Saskatchewan Says Western Canada is Not Asking for Free Trade.

OPPOSED TO HIGH PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Tells People of Regina That Agriculture Deserves and is Entitled to More Than Industries.

Regina, Sask., Aug. 25.—Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, in a speech last night, pointed out that the people of Western Canada were not asking for free trade, but they were opposed to a high protective tariff and asked that agriculture should be freed from the burden of paying taxes for the protection of other industries. The Saskatchewan Attorney General declared that the Tariff Commission had been appointed in a spirit of opposition to tariff reform. It was a Commission whose hands were tied. They were being sent out, to quote the words of Mr. Meighen himself, with the object of providing for the further expansion of the manufacturing industries. Mr. Turgeon stated that the future welfare of the country lay, not in bolstering up so-called infant industries, but in the development of the natural resources of the country and greater production of the basic industry, agriculture. A high protective tariff, he pointed out, served to impede this progress. The audience was warned that efforts were being made to terrify the people into the belief that all who opposed the maintenance of a high protective tariff were Bolsheviks and anarchists, and quoted references to Mr. Meighen's speeches to his opponents as "wreckers," "humbugs" and "destroyers."

"Today I received word from my government in Belgrade that there was absolutely no truth in the cable sent by Colonel Burnham has left Montenegro because he has done so on his own free will and desire, but the Serbian Government has exercised no authority over his movements, and it deprecates the situation, which has been created entirely without foundation and which, it fears, will be brought about to prejudice the good feeling between Canada and Serbia."

RUSSIAN TRIP HAS CURED THE SCANDINAVIANS

Labor Delegation Will Not Stand for Bolshevists in Their Country.

LENINE HAS MADE LIFE UNBEARABLE

Country Had Great Deal More Real Freedom Under the Czar—Old Court Ceremonial Kept up.

Copenhagen, August 25.—The Scandinavian Labor delegates who have returned from their visit to Soviet Russia as the guests of Lenin may be put down as completely cured of any Bolshevik leanings they may have had before their departure. The Swedish delegation has openly declared in the labor press, that should Sweden by any chance ever become Bolshevik, they would lose no time in getting out of the country. The writer adds: "While anyone might criticise the Czar during the reign of the late Nicholas II, without incurring any risk, to say a single word against Lenin in Russia today means signing your own death warrant. Secret voting does not exist, and anyone who votes against the Bolsheviks is immediately arrested. Lenin has organized a system of spies which is far greater than that of the old Czar, and as spies are well rewarded, the Russian people are rapidly becoming absolutely demoralized. Life is unbearable. Life has become absolutely unbearable to the working classes, and only the commissioners of the people are living well, and incidentally squandering money recklessly on their mistresses and creatures. They are evidently great lovers of the stage, and many an actress who has nothing to recommend her beyond her good looks and easy morals is making a quarter of a million roubles a month from the stage." A prominent Swedish civil engineer tells me that while the death penalty has ostensibly been abolished, executions are a daily occurrence, as many districts are declared to be in a state of siege or those condemned to die are simply brought into a military zone, thus becoming subject to martial law. In honor of the arrival of the labor delegations, all the Bolshevik papers published revolutionary articles and only the commissioners of the people are living well, and incidentally squandering money recklessly on their mistresses and creatures. ## Moosepath Race Meet Opens Today

Everything is in Readiness for Three Days of Excellent Racing—Good Field and Fast Heats Are Expected.

The finishing touches will be put on Moosepath track and buildings this morning for the opening of the Maritime and Maine Circuit's ninth meeting this afternoon.
Yesterday afternoon a dozen or more horses were worked at the track, and there were more "railbirds" checking the quarters than were seen at most tracks on the circuit, according to followers of the sport, which were missed a meeting from Houlton, Me., to Springhill, N. S.

All of this shows the interest in harness racing, which has been re-awakened in St. John. That the horsemen all over the country want to come here to race and see the races is evidenced by the large number who arrived yesterday afternoon and last evening, which made it evident that the Maritime Racing Association will have one of the biggest meetings of the season, if they are favored with good weather.
One of the last horses to arrive was Sacka, 2:15 1/4, the St. Stephen trotter, which came in last evening via the Shore Line and will make two starts here, in the 2.21 trot and pace today and the 2.18 trot and pace tomorrow. Considering the long and tough campaign the horses have had there have been few withdrawals, and J. D. Black, manager of the Maritime Racing Association, said last night that all the classes on the programme were sure to be raced.
Sacka is the only strong favorite in the three races on the programme for the opening today, and she was named in many of the auction pools on the 2.21 class, but there was some lively buying on the place position in this race, while the 2.20 trot in which Forefather, 2:24 1/4, the local trotter, and Mayor Todd, 2:15 1/4, are the most favored, the Island trotter carrying most of the "wise money."
The Manor, a Frederick trotter, is expected to win the 2.30 trot, but if Native Worthy, the St. John colt, keeps trotting, he will make things interesting, and so will the Finisher, Native Worthy was traded this week by S. E. Rice, the Mill street merchant, to J. E. Boyce, also of St. John, who gave up black race, the Parker, and some cash for the trotter.
The sure starters in today's races are:

2.30 Trot—Purse $400
The Manor, b s, by The Exponent—H. G. Kitchen, Frederick, N. B.
Native Worthy, b s, by The Native—E. E. Rice, St. John, N. B.

Myrtle Rysdyk, 2:22 1/4, blk m, by Royal Rysdyk—J. W. Gallagher, Woodstock, N. B.

The second day's programme includes the 2.14 trot and pace and the 2.18 trot and pace, and Saturday's racing will be featured by the Royal Hotel $500 Purse Free for all, the 2.24 trot and the 2.27 pace rounding out a well balanced programme.
Providing means of transportation to get the people to and from Moosepath has been one of the problems connected with putting on a race meeting here. Arrangements have been made to have a fleet of street cars leave Kings square every half hour from 1 p.m. to 2.30 p.m., in addition to the usual service on the Glenn Felix lines. There will also be half a dozen or more large motor busses as well as numerous jitneys running from King square, Haymarket square and other points to the track.
On Friday and Saturday, C. N. R. through train, leaving Union Station at 2.15 p.m., will stop at Coldbrook Station while on those days No. 13 train will stop at Coldbrook station, coming into the city at 6.10 p.m., being due at Union Station at 6.20 p.m., while going to the races on Saturday the C. N. R. local, leaving at 1.20 p.m., will make Coldbrook stop and the same train, leaving at 12.30 on Thursday and Friday, will also be available for horsemen. Parking space for about three hundred or more automobiles will be arranged on the grounds. Gambling devices of all kinds have been barred from the grounds, and only the legitimate betting on the races will be allowed by the management.

GRANVILLE McCAVOUR, FOURTEEN YEAR OLD SINGLE SCULLER

The above picture of Granville McCavour was taken on Saturday last, when he was receiving great applause when it was announced that the fourteen-year-old sculler from St. John was open to row any sculler under sixteen years of age in the Maritime Provinces.
The modest little rower then gave an exhibition three-quarters of a mile and rowed up the course making an excellent showing with the finishers who were in competition at the time.
There was considerable disappointment that there was no competitor for the St. John boy but most likely the showing that the youngster made may result in some of the boys in Halifax taking up the game.

Grand Circuit Races Yesterday

Pittman, With Northern Pilot, Won Great Four-Heat Victory at Poughkeepsie Yesterday—Other Fine Events

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Pittman, With Northern Pilot, won a stirring four heat victory in The Venus 2.12 class pacing, the feature of the grand circuit meeting. Placing second to Symbol S. Forest and Harvest, the Northern Man took the third and the fourth and deciding miles with beautiful bursts of speed down the home stretch. Darvester was second in the money.
Bonny Bell outclassed the field in the 2.09 trot, winning all three heats without being seriously extended. Moko Axworthy was second in all three heats, with Laboridel for third. In the summary, Rosie Toise and Selka had a tight duel in the 2.09 trot, but the former had the edge and won all three heats. Ima Jay, Ernest Old Campaigner, made her first appearance here since her big year, 1917, but found the going not so hot liking and was drawn before the third heat, after having rated third in the first two.
H. Fleming, with Nedda, was the class of the 2.05 trot, defeating Don de Louis, Ercia Coganito, Charlie Rex and Peter L. Charlie Rex made a fine bid in each of the first two heats, after breaks, but did not have enough to win.

Your physician knows that Castoria is purely a child's remedy. It was sought for and discovered as a substitute for Castor Oil in the ailments of Infants and Children.

Your physician will tell you this for he knows that preparations put on the market for adults are not adaptable for the very young and he is particularly interested in your baby.

Interest In Child Welfare Exhibit

Preparations for This New Department Going Forward Enthusiastically—Will Attract a Large Number of People.

This year's exhibition at St. John will be notable for many features, and one which a great deal of interest is being taken in is the Child Welfare Exhibit.

Preparations for this new department are going forward enthusiastically. It will be a predominant feature and one which will, no doubt, attract and delight large numbers of people by its unique and unusual character. It will have a wonderful educational value, lessons in matters of health being set forth in a way which will interest and teach the spectators.

The Exhibit of Babies

The exhibit of babies, which was advertised as a "Baby Show," has been taken over by this section and announcements in regard to entries and hours are now appearing in the press. Everyone will want to see the babies who will gather at a set hour each day. Excellent arrangements are being made to allow for this in the Red Cross Hospital Hall.

This is but one of the eighteen booths, each of which is in charge of a society interested in health measures or public welfare work. Members of these societies are taking up the educational work with enthusiasm and expect to make the success of this department as great as that of the many undertakings which they have carried through so splendidly.

The St. John Ambulance Association are outfitting a most attractive booth and a large committee under Dr. Murray MacLaren, C.M.G., will carry out a fine programme during the days of the exhibition. Special features will be First Aid Demonstrations of Boy Scouts and others which have certificates for training in the classes of the society.

Descriptive charts and apparatus will be in the booth, and all visitors will be greeted by members of the executive committee and others who will be always on hand for this purpose.

The Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis will have an exhibit in line with its unceasing efforts to cast out this menace to the public health of the community. A fine counter has been arranged so that literature will be easily displayed and a large array of booklets are to be here for distribution. Dr. Farris is directing this booth's activities. A specialist in the disease in all its forms will be present for consultation every afternoon, and the nurses of the association and members of the society will take turns in being present to inform and assist those who seek to help in fighting against this preventable disease.

All parts of the province are looking forward to the exhibit being arranged by the Canadian Red Cross Society—the honorable and popular society with its proud war record. It is to set forth its peace-time activities at the exhibition.

Visitors will be delighted, as well as the community, at the art settings designed for the work of the various committees, who will demonstrate the sphere the Red Cross is filling and seeks to extend in this province. Workers of these committees are being drawn from expert and veterans of the society, who can best set forth the work of the Red Cross.

It is expected that among the throngs who will visit this centre many will be members of the society from outside points who will be warmly greeted in the booth in the main building annex and also in the Emergency Hospital and educational department in white with Dutch bonnets. The work was kindly loaned to the Red Cross for this work and is situated opposite the Armory entrance to the grounds.

The personnel engaged in the work of the Public Health Department is being called into service from all organizations concerned with the mitigation of suffering and the prevention of disease.

As will be noted the names of several prominent physicians are connected with the organization and among the workers are included the women who have been outstanding in societies formed to help and assist in welfare work of all kinds.

FRANCIS WEIRATH, foreman at Goodrich Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who declares he has improved so since taking Tanlac that no one would ever take him to be the same man. Says he gained fourteen pounds.

"To look at me today no one would ever take me to be the same person I was before I began to take Tanlac. It has simply done wonders for me and I want everybody to know about this medicine," said Francis Weirath, foreman of a large department of the Goodrich Rubber Company plant at Akron, Ohio. Mr. Weirath resides at 210 West State Street, that city.

"I was in an awfully bad state of health for fourteen years, and during the past ten years I set to the point where life was a burden. I suffered terribly with indigestion and dyspepsia. I never had any appetite, and all I could eat for breakfast was a soft boiled egg and a little milk. I would get so nervous and miserable that many a night I never slept a wink, and when nothing would bring me any relief I had just come to the conclusion my case was hopeless.

"I haven't taken but three bottles of Tanlac, but I feel better than I have felt for twelve years. I've gained fourteen pounds in weight, and am getting heavier and stronger every day. I never have indigestion any more, my appetite is splendid, and I eat just anything and everything I want. I sleep sound every night, and all that tired, worn-out feeling is gone. In fact, I am a well man in every way.

"The men at the plant all tell me I am looking fine these days and getting fat. They all want to know what I am doing to myself, and it's always a pleasure for me to tell them about Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co. and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Advt.

WEDDINGS.

Ocean-King.

Hillsboro, Aug. 23.—A wedding of much interest throughout the maritime provinces took place in the Episcopal church, Hillsboro, at high noon on Monday, when Miss Gladys Marie King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. King, was united in marriage to Mr. Oscar Osman, son of Hon. C. J. and Mrs. Osman. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the ceremony, which was a double ring one, was very beautiful throughout. The bride wore a becoming gown in white duchesse satin with a wedding veil and orange blossoms and carried a handsome bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern. As the bride approached the altar, a pathway was strewn with roses by three flower girls, Miss Peggy and Nancy Friel, and Muriel Thompson. These young ladies looked very dainty in white with Dutch bonnets. The wedding march was played by Miss Sara Steeves, and Miss Kathryn Thompson sang very sweetly "The Voice that Breathed over Eden."

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Andrews, assisted by the Rev. J. A. Langlois. The bride was attended by Mrs. MacLae, of Halifax, as matron of honor, and was given away by her mother, Mrs. F. J. King. The groom was supported by Mr. Gordon T. Steeves. After the ceremony the party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous repast was spread.

Lawson-Peters

On August 8th an interesting wedding took place at St. John between Harry Irving, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lawson and Lillian Genevieve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Peters. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry B. Clark of Portland Methodist Church. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Montreal where they intend to take up their residence.

TAXI

By GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN

Synopsis.
Robert Hervey Randolph is thrown over by Miss Van Teller, who is adorable but wants the things that money can buy and professes not to be too particular how the money comes. She hints at a position as private secretary at her own price. Bobby Thorton is the fiercest man in the city. Bobby Thorton is the fiercest man in the city. Bobby Thorton is the fiercest man in the city.

It had taken Genie's great-uncle, Asa Thornton, six months to get a parcel of sixteen years' standing with his nephew, and by that time child and nurse had been seeped into that lower world which can't afford morning and afternoon teas and is too busy praying for daily bread to look for a rain of manna in the daily bread.

In short, Maggie and her charge, traced down the ladder of respectability, disreputable and impossible lodgings had slipped ultimately from sight and the king of people with addresses, and, as a result, Mr. Robert Hervey Randolph, whose relationship to Mr. Asa Thornton is of no import whatever to this tale of cause and effect, came into ten thousand a year and a string—the string being the possible reappearance of Miss Imogene Pamela.

"Bob," had said old Asa, on the verge of a tardy demise, "I'm not introducing you to a war between consciences and self-interest. There's no silly story-book test about my money; you are under no obligation to look for Imogene or to shout if you step on top of any twist of chance. My law is to have all the instructions necessary along those lines, they make every reasonable effort, and if they succeed, why, you're man enough to look out for yourself. It isn't for you to make a devil of a lot of difference to me where the cash goes as long as it does with—die with the credit."

With that last sentence, his mind had steepled and wandered off to memories of his nephew Bobby. Looking back from the vantage of twenty-six years, Randolph caught, for the first time, the full import of Asa Thornton's farewell words to him and to life. "Die with the credit," he thought the kernel of the old man's carefully measured amendment.

"Great top!" murmured Mr. Randolph aloud, and half unconsciously turned to the left. At forty-second Street, five minutes later he was caught in the maelstrom of the Thanksgiving crowd milling round Times Square.

Presently he found himself on the edge of a human sea, backed up to give passage to a honking empty taxi. Here was another question for his suddenly inquiring mind. When the taxi-cab, empty ones, go to in such a hurry? The door of this one was swinging open, and the proof of how intense the crowd was on its myriad individual goals is evidenced by the fact that a dozen voices did inform the driver that the season was off for fans on wheels.

The cab was moving more slowly than Mr. Randolph's anticipation. His mind, which led him to step into it and quietly close the inviting door. Upon seating himself, he tried to analyze the impulse that had lifted him from the fact that he had decided it was not so much the curiosity as to the destination of empty cabs as a natural and ancient dislike for being pushed and elbowed by people.

It was not long before the cab unwittingly loaded for bear, drew up with a final honk at the stage-door of the Grand Hotel. Immediately came a rasping voice that was vaguely familiar to Mr. Randolph.

"Well," it said, "you sure took your own time getting here." The driver, expert in aggravating remarks without words, pressed the bulb of his attention horn three times. "Get it out," said the rasping voice. "There isn't any hurry now."

"You—would you trust me?" Immediately the girl was on her guard. She looked into his face and read his mind.

"I would never have thought of not trusting you if you hadn't asked that old, old trap question," she said gravely.

"Forget that I asked it," said Mr. Randolph promptly, and leaned out to give the driver his address. A thin-lipped and weary scorn was still on that individual's face when he drew up before Mr. Randolph's abode and heaved, three times derisively to the world in general as seen from the front of a taxi.

"Wait!" said Mr. Randolph to the Jehu, as he handed out the girl. She peered with one foot half-way to the curb, but that single word directing anything as expeditious as a taxi to stand by reassured her. Even so, she did not refrain from casting one look over her shoulder at the cabman as though, drowning, she took comfort in the nearness of a straw.

"Randolph preceded her to show the way and turn on lights. He never looked back to see if she followed, and this implied trust in herself seemed to drag her after him up the single flight of stairs that led to his room. "Old-fashioned but cozy," he said, as he applied a latch-key and opened a door that gave directly on a large square sitting-room. "I hate elevators in a place you call home."

In an open grate was a dying wood fire. He proceeded to poke and feed it at once, saying over his shoulder: "Sit down anywhere, will you?" Facing the fire was a deep and much worn leather couch, with a polo-dug at each end carrying shaded lamps. They were the only ones he had lighted, and their glow was so subdued that it blended with that of the fire without fighting it. The girl chose to seat herself stiffly in a corner of this couch.

"You don't seem to be at ease here," he said presently. "If you think you're in more comfortable, we can go down and sit in the cab. I want to talk to you."

The girl considered gravely for a moment; then her face broke into a smiling smile that swept up and settled in her eyes. She reached for a cushion, put it at her back, tucked one foot under herself, and waved the other in the same fashion as had Miss Van Teller earlier in the evening.

They made a very domestic picture as they sat half facing each other in the dimly lit room, except that there was lacking the element of accustomed stolidness, hushed by the presence of a third party—youth, by name. They were more like two children, playing breathlessly at keeping house, than like a settled couple keeping a number of morose intimacies and quarrels of a domestic nature.

"Do you like me?" asked Mr. Randolph presently, much to his own surprise. She nodded her head. "You're not afraid to be here?" she asked demurely.

"Have you ever been in a man's room before?" She looked him straight in the eyes and made no other sign. (Continued tomorrow.)

Police Court Cases Yesterday

Matter Regarding Diamond Pin Was Heard—Two Liquor Cases Dealt With—Prisoner Charged With Accosting Girls.

In the police court yesterday a case against Isaac Williams, a second hand dealer, Pond street, on the charge of unlawfully detaining and refusing to deliver to William Wright a diamond and pearl stick pin, valued at $1,000, left in his shop when money and interest had been tendered.

Mr. Wright testified that he had procured several loans on the pin, the last one on January 13, when he tried to get the pin Max Williams said that it had been lost.

Max Williams swore that he worked for his father who ran a second hand store, not a pawn shop. He had not loaned money on the pin but had bought it on the understanding that he would sell it back. He had lost it, however, at Bow Bay.

The case was postponed until September 11. Star Tait appeared for the prosecution and Dr. J. B. M. Keegan for the defence.

FAREWELL LUNCHEON TO S. D. GRANVILLE

Popular Member of the Standard Business Office Staff Leaves to Take Control of St. Croix Courier in St. Stephen.

Members of The Standard staff met at the Sign of the Lantern yesterday at a luncheon given in honor of Stanley D. Granville, previous to his departure to St. Stephen to take control of the St. Croix Courier. Mr. Granville, who has been with The Standard for a number of years and was a very popular member of the office staff, was the recipient of a cheque and a very appreciative letter from The Standard Company. The young ladies in the business office presented him with a set of gold cuff links.

Many friends in St. John will regret the departure from the city of Mr. and Mrs. Granville, and they will be followed by many good wishes.
