The Russian Hero.

The Russian Hero. Among the officers of the Grand Duke's staff is a tall, handsome man with a lithe, slender, active figure, a clear blue eye, a large prominent, well-shaped nose, and a face young enough for a second Lieutenant. It is Skobeleff, the youngest General in the Russian army, the Conqueror of Khoktand. He has the reputation, eron among the Russians, of being a madman who would fling away his own life and those of his troops with-on the slightest regard for conse-quences. During the war which re-sulted in the conquest of Khoktand, a Russian detachment of 300 men, with 400 Cossacks, was compelled to retreat before a superior force of the enemy. General Trötsky decided inpon a night attack, and confided his plan to Col. Skobeleff, then his chief of staff. The latter entered into the age. At Etang du Nord, twenty fish- MR. J. H. RoBINSON.

The latter entered into the idea with great entbusiasm, and pro-posed to lead the attacking column himself, and to take only 150 Cossacks. Skobeleff, having reconnoitred the ground, perceived that the Khokland-iors have a negative at all hours and on all occasions of staff.
