The financial statement of the road for the past year shows a favorable decrease in the deficit and with the vigorous and economical policy now in force a still greater decrease may be expected. It is nothing to cry over that the road does not make money or even that there is a small deficit. The people of the west who fancy they receive no benefit from the road, do most of the complaining while slutting their eyes to the fact that their canal system ran behind last year to the amount of $1.726.864.92, last year and this is the average yearly deficit. The balance between receipts and expenditure can still be more nearly equalized by a furtherance of the present policy and more accurate book keeping. WHY IS IT?

In the statistical year book of Canada for 1891, just issued, is given in tabulated form the revenues and expenditures of the different provinces of the Dominion from the years 1867 to 1890 inclusive. The only province whose statistics are not given is New Brunswick and on page 122 Mr. Roper. Assistant Statistician says: Roper, Assistant Statistician says: "The Treasurer of the Province of New Brunswick was applied to, but at present without success."

The reider of the Year Book will have the privilegs of drawing several conclusions as to why New Brunswick's figures were not given for the benefit of the public. They may infer that the finances of the province are in such a condition that the government in justice to their own security did not feel like making a full statement and presenting it in a concise form which would be readily understood by an ordinary reader, or it may be inferred that owing to Mr. Blair's absence in Europe a statement flavored to the public taste could not be given. Had Mr Blair been at home, doubtless he would have exercised his well known culinary ability and given Mr. Roper something for his bill of fare which might have been made to do which might have been made to do duty in the coming by elections. —As reporting the different villages at this season appears to be in order, we propose to say a few words regarding this locality. The farmers should be thankful to benificent Providence for giving a bountiful harvest and fair weather for gathering in the products of the field.

—There have been several visitors here from the States and, elsewhere. Among those we might mention, Mrs. Smith Orr, the well known and popular proprietess of the 'Albion House,' Mr. Richard Orr and family. Miss A. M. Chappeli. They appeared to enjoy their visit very much, Mr. Netis. McKay and wife having used their best efforts to make the visit enjoyable, and they left their friends well pleased and with the best wishes of all who had the pieasure of their company.

David all the voice saith "Come,"
Enter thine eternal home,
Asking not if we can spare
The dear soul it summons there.
Now the laborer's task is o'er;
Now the battle day is past;
Now upon the other shore
Lands the voyager at last,
Resting well for evermore.
On Friday evening last the mortal remains of the deceased were placed in the local cemetery. The large funeral procession of over three score carriages each one carrying those willing thus to fhow their deep regard for a dead brother, and his sorrowing family; showed the respect we had from the community. As the throng gathered round the grave each head bowed, each face was stricken with griff, the scene was a solemn one.

'Father in thy precious keeping Leave we now Thy servant sleeping.'

In passing I will say that while the judgement of the Supreme Court on the CERTIORARI may be correct I most unhesitatingly say that on the QU WARRANTO is erronious. The rate-payers of Westmorland know to their sorrow the consequences. The verdict the County which was able to pay the costs pay them, and relieved the party who could neither be injured not benefitted by the result.

costs pay them, and relieved the party who could neither be injured not benefited by the result.

In Justice to myself I will say that Judge Fraser did not "make the matter very plain" in some part of his judgment in the Gallagher suit when he attempted for reasons best known to himself to place blame on the head of a County of ficer, who without right or reason he dragged in and attacked well knowing that that offlicer was deprived of the right to defend himself. For some unexplained reason the Judgment of the Supreme Court in the Gallagher suit was not carried up on appeal as it should have been. Though I well know the reasons I will not here disclose them. Whether that Judgment is right or wrong will never be known, as no analogous case will never come before the courts. The Judgments of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick when carried up on appeal before higher tribunals have often come to grief. I have not gone into the Gallagher suit further than was necessary in order to show that it arose out of giving the Municipal Councils the right to appoint valuators, instead of making them elective by the ratepayers.

be made by a board of valuators chosen one from each parish, and I will now add that the members of that board should be elected by the ratepayers one from each parish, and one from each town or city in the county. The principal adopted by all properly constituted muncipalities and corporations is that officers should be elected and not appointed by other officers that have been elected. The Valuators and Assessors should represent these with whose property they are to deal, and until in our municipalities that is so there will be a constant repetition of the evil that must result from councils being made the machines of politicians.

LIFE AND DEATH. A sick girl lay on her couch of pain,
With closed white-lidded eyes,
While the sunset filled the azure mai
And crimsoned the western skies,
whilst over her head in silent strife
Strove the angel of death and the ange of life.

And in and out of the chamber crept
The watchers with noiseless tread.
They feared to disturb the one who sle
For they knew how frail the thread
That held her faint and wavering brea
And balanced her soul between life a death.

Then a gentle voice the stillness broke, And they gathered around the bed: n low, sweet accents the sick girl spok And these were the words she said:

And to end it I am fain.

And to end it I am fain.

So cease to struggle, oh death and life,
And I'll choose between ye twain."

Fhen turning to life she wearily sighed:

"Teli me, what hast though to give thy bride?"

Then eager and swift his answer came:
"Oh maiden! I'll give the health
And hope and joy and deathless fame,
And treasures of golden wealth."
And his voice grew soft as the note of the dove:
"But best of all I'll give thee love."

But she wearily turned her head aside As he named love's fatal name; "Thou dost mock my sorrow, oh life," she cried, "For what to me is fame? And health and wealth, prove worthless since hope is dead and my love untrue.

"Oh angel! I spurn thy gifts and thee."
And she turned to his rival, death:
"And thou! what hast thou in store for me!"
She whispered beneath her breath;
Acool, soft kiss on her brow he pressed,
And murmured: "Oblivion, peace and CURED BY Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It saved my life."

—Geo. B. Hunter, Goose River, N. S.

"About a year ago I took the worst cold that ever a man had, followed by a terrible cough. The best medical aid was of no avail. At last I began to spit blood, when it was supposed to be all over with me. Every remedy failed, till a neighbor recommended Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took half a teaspoonful of this medicine, three times a day, regularly, and very soon began to improve. My cough left me, my sleep was undisturbed, my appetite returned, my emaciated limbs gained flesh and strength, and to-day, thanks to the Pectoral, I am a well man."—H. A.
