Millions Being Expended in Permanent Industries.

Mr. George M. Reid Talks About the Excursion of the Federation of Liberal Clubs.

Mr. George M. Reid, president of the Federation of Liberal Clubs of Ontario, and Col. Leys, M.P.P., have returned from the Liberal excursion to Sault Ste. Marie, and other places in New Ontario. Both gentlemen speak in the most enthusiastic terms about the great work of development that is going on | nickel enough to supply the world there, and of the wonderful future that | for 100,000 years. He devised a means the northern country has. It is not possible, they say, for anyone to realize the magnitude of the work going on sulphite pulp mill. One of the by-there without seeing it. To The Adver- products was an alloy of nickel and there without seeing it. To The Advertiser Mr. Reid said that what struck him most forcibly, next to its magnitude, was its permanency. Everything tude, was its permanency. Everything utilize it in the production of armorwas being done in the most substantial plate and rails. The Sudbury ore was way-buildings all made of stone, rail- 1 roads of the best materials, everything solid. Everything with which Mr. Clergue was connected was done as though to last forever, thus proving that he was in no transient business, but engaged in a work that is justified by the limitless resources of the district. To use Mr. Reid's words, "No one who once visited that country saw what was going on, and realized how vast and rich the country was, would question the wisdom of the government's action in granting concessions by means of which it is being changed om a barren country into one that is a very hive of industry."

"We went first to Michipicoten," Mr. Reid said, "where quite a fine town has sprung up. A large commercial dock has been built there, with wharves for merchant vessels. It has water works and electric light and telephone systems. We went from there to the Helen mine, about eleven miles out. The railway is of the most substantial Everything is thoroughly up-to-date-85-pound rails, steel cars of 50-ton capacity, and the finest Baldwin locomotives. At the mine the ore is shoveled into great pans, and is crushed by an automatic process. After being transferred to the cars it is run down to the ore dock at the harbor, the bottoms of the cars are opened, and the ore drops into the ships without having been handled, except by machinery, from the time it came from the mine. The output is 2.500 tons a day, and 600 men are employed. They have quarters on a table-land near the mine, and the dining-room there seats the whole 600 at a time. All their cook ing and washing is done by steam. The men's board costs $4 a week on the grounds, and they get $2 a day. The company wants more men all the time. They are draining a lake near the mine. and had the water 29 feet lower when we were there. It covers a large deposit

Besides the immense establishments that had previously been erected there. the party found at the Soo a sulphide mill of solid stone just completed, a chemical plant nearly finished, and a steel plant that now has a capacity of 900 tons per day, and is contemplated to have soon a capacity of 2,000 tons per day. Before the year is up the company expects to produce steel rails. At the present time the expenditure amounts to $350,000 a week, and Clergue has $40,000,000 still to draw on. plant alone is estimated to cost

The story of the Soo and the great Algoma district is a good illustration of the marvelous results that may be obtained when great natural advantages, unlimited wealth and trained brains are brought together. The first white men to visit the connecting link tween the two upper lakes saw that it possessed valuable latent powers, but for long,long years after that few people believed that the country roundabout had advantages sufficient to warrant in developing that power. After the C. P. R. built along the north shore the possibilities of the district were re-cognized, and canals were constructed on both sides of the river. The one on the American side, upon which half a million dollars had been spent, proved a failure, and the people of the Canadian See who had dropped $265,000 into big ditch, dreaded that their money also had been fruitlessly invested But then Clergue came, and paid the town all that had been spent for the came, and from that day to this he has therefore, began a careful examina-tion of the country, and of this he has said: "There is opportunity for a population in Northern Ontario equal to that of Southern Ontario, equal in number, equal in prosperity." The vastness and variety of his enterprises are the natural results of six years' period of evo-ion. A writer recently said Clergue; "His horizon is > difficulty which he overcomes, and with the discovery of new resources in the old barren Algoma, which he now backs against the world." He has surrounded himself with a staff of young scientists, by whose aid he has discovered that the country possesses possibilities that are truly remarkable, and he has proceeded to utilize each new discovery. He first engaged in the manufacture of wood pulp, and when the values of Canadian pulp were marked down he designed new machinery to convert the moist into dry product, and to do this built a foundry and machine shop at a cost of $125,000. Chemical pulp was even more valuable, so he looked about for the sulphur necessary to manufacture it, and found it at Sudbury. In that hunt he found of taking sulphur from the ore, something that had never been done before, and then erected an immense steel superior to any that has been known, and a great reduction plant and ferro-nickel works was built to too rich in nickel content, so he prospected for iron and found it near at hand. He then erected blast furnaces and works for the manufacture of Bessemer steel. So he went on from one vast undertaking to another, and the end is not yet, each byproduct found being the cause of further researches and more immens buildings. Necessarily, also, with the success of these enterprises came the

As has been said, all things that Clergue has done are of permanent value. He has changed a dead village into a rich town and made a barren country smile with prosperity. At the Soo is found the best illustration of the beneficial effects of the Ross Government's policy of progress in New Ontario. Millions upon millions of dollars have been there, and the crop as seen already is a country of happy homes and rapidly developing resources.

Irwin, C.M.G., president of the club, presided at luncheon, and the duke occupied the chair to his right. About 80 clubmen sat down to the table. Only one toast, "the King," was drunk, and afterwards all those present were presented to the duke. The duke had the reputation of being a good fellow, and at the club he fully sustained the reputation. He was most genial. Outside the club, the military escort and a large crowd waited until the duke left to go to Rideau Hall. As usual, he was cheered. On Saturday night the duke came up to town to see the illuminations. He was accompanied by an escort and was given a great reception by the people. LORD MINTO SELECTED THE CARRIE HAS GONE. Ottawa, Sept. 20.-Mrs. Carrie Natrain today. She told a reporter that she came here on a guarantee of $100 for the lecture, and did not even get the $50 offered her as a commission owing to the financial failure realized. She sent word that she would take it, but that a man who came to her room, ostensibly for the purpose of paying her, made himself obnoxious by sit-ting on her bed and smoking a cigarette. Mrs. Nation said she was going home on money belonging to other people, and strongly resents the treatment accorded her in Ottawa.

the following: Political moralists, while exasperated by the series of defeats in South Africa, fine grounds for optimism respecting England's relations with the world. There have been signal proofs this week of the cohesive clannishness of the Anglo-Saxon race. The spontaneous manifestations of homage for the martyred president throughout the Englishspeaking world have offered convincing evidence of the impact of race sympathy. "Lest we forget" was not the refrain of the Recessional from Westminster Abbey, as the strains of Reethoven's epical march for the death of a hero rang out in triumph. That service was a sign of the essenworld, and so long as the Anglo-Saxon race stands together, the burdens and responsibilities of the future may be

The diplomatic view of the Anglo-American relations is that the canal treaty will be sent by President Roosevelt to the senate in December and ratified with little delay, and that it will be accompanied by a convention for the purchase of the Danish West Indies. What is considered of vital importance is that the canal question should be adjusted so scientifically that England will never be called upon to enforce any provisions against the United States on representations from Berlin, and, norcover, the chance of any conflict over the Monroe doctrine may be removed by the timely acquisition of the Danish West Indies before Germany finds herself strong enough at

The organization is to be called the American Patriotic Educational League. Jackson Mich. Sept. 23.-The jury in the case of Frank R. Biery, after consideration of 24 hours, placed itself on record as justifying homicide as a result of charivari proceedings by a verdict of not guilty.

Biery was remarried at Minard's,ten miles northwest of here, last spring, and as it was a second venture of both parties, the event occasioned excitenent in the quiet village. On the night following the wedding a crowd of neighbors originated an old-fashioned charivari party, with the usual accompaniments of horse-play and unearthly racket. Biery ordered them to desist, and upon their failure to do so opened a promiscuous fire with his artillery a horse-pistol about two feet Archie Whitehouse, a charivarist, was struck and killed by one of the bullets

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 21.-Mrs. Mc-Kinley was one of the first at the house on Market street to arise today. She said she had enjoyed a good sleep, and that she felt better than at any time since the fateful night in Buffalo when her husband was shot. To Dr. Rixey she expressed a wish to take another drive today. On their return from the drive, Dr. Rixey said:

"I do not feel so confident as earlier this week. Mrs. McKinley's grief is crushing her, though she is bearing up bravely and doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. However, too much encouragement should not be taken at this early date. When Mrs. McKinley first looked out of her window today she saw the guards on patrol in front of her house. Directing a maid to call Dr. Rixey, she asked him to have the guards re-"I do not need them," she said.

Indeed British pessimism goes to the very verge of injustice to the army in an hour of self-abasement. It does not take account of the extraordinary difficulty presented by a war with the bravest and most dogged guerillas history has even known, and by the vast extent of the territories which must be occupied and protected.

THE BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

The proceedings of the British Association has escaped observation outside of Glasgow, owing to the pressure of great events. It has been an unusually busy and practical session. The new educational section has quickly established its utility as a forum for radical attacks upon the conservatism of the existing methods of Oxford and Cambridge. The Bishop of Hereford, strangely enough, has led the attack, and advocated reform in the entrance examinations and redistribution of the prizes at the great universities. The British Association justifies its existence when it opens a field of discussion for candid thinkers, who are convinced that the English servatism and lack of flexibility. Major Ronald Ross made the principal hit at the Glasgow session by a remarkable paper on "The Mosquito Theory of Malaria," containing a full digest of the researches of Pasteur, Koch and

Virchow, and a new view of the practicability of stamping out the disease. THE CORONATION. The facility with which Westminster Abbey was filled at short notice for the memorial service on Thursday indi-cates the difficulty experienced by court officials in providing accomodation for the privileged classes for the coronation. The space has been measured and remeasured, and every available seat has been accounted for, but the officials are puzzled over what they describe as an impossible problem. Those who ought to be there by virtue the official station or social pretensions cannot be got in. One diplomatist has described the coronation as contest for everybody's best girl, with all men, except the high officials left out. The King's arrangements for his visit to Scotland are still in doubt, but as landaus and horses have gone to Ballater, it is evident that the plan will be carried out. The landaus and outriders are for the Queen. The King does not go anywhere without a motor car, which he considers the most convenient and comfortable vehicle for daily exercise. The force of the royal example is felt at every country house. Automobiles are coming into fashionable use throughout the kingdom, and the masters of country houses affect to believe that these vehicles are more economical than the ordinary stable A DOCTOR'S VIEW. With regard to the controversy which it is reported here is likely to take place as to the cause of Mr. Mc-Kinley's death, and with regard to the treatment of the patient, English doctors, at present, at any rate, are unwilling to say anything or express any opinion, on account of professional etiquette, but I understand that the belief here among distin-guished physicians is that had the president's case been in the hands of London surgeons America might not now be mourning Mr. McKinley's loss. One English doctor, I am told, was amazed at the idea of the physicians administering solid food. "He ought to have been soaked with brandy," he said. "His heart ought to have been fed, not whipped. like a tired horse, with strychnine." If that were merely the opinion of a layman, nobody would dream of paying the slightest attention to it, but it is not.

President Roosevelt's announcement that he will retain the cabinet of Pre-sident McKinley has done much to stimulate the buying of American se-curities in London. The settlement of the steel strike has also acted in a similar direction, and the financial writers take a most hopeful view of the American outlook. The news from South Africa had a depressing effect upon securities in the South African section, but the decline in that quar ter has not been as serious as might have been expected. Consols fell on the South African reverses, and a fear that a continuance of the war would mean more gold borrowing. English railway securities have been a trifle firmer but mining shares continue sluggish. Money is in large supply, and un-less the American demand for gold exceeds present expectations, rates are not likely to become firmer.

The Royal Visit.

The Duke and Duchess, it is now ascertained, will remain in London a little longer than at first was expected, which is just so much the better. we have no doubt will be the case, an opportunity to see their Royal Highnesses will be afforded to tens of thousands. For the mass of the people their opportunities will be practically as good as those of the masses in other cities: for, after all, it is only a few who can dine and wine in the presence of royalty, even in Montreal or Toronto. The opportunity at Victoria Park and along the route of procession is the reception, loyal and hearty, we do not believe any place will excel London.

The 7th Band.

There is an energetic movement on foot in the city to increase the efficithe 7th Regiment Band; and taking into the account the fact that most significant proof of this is the citizens of high standing have identi- attempt which is being made by the fied themselves with the endeavor, it Opposition to claim a share in the is fair to expect that desirable results promotion of the developments which will be attained. But the matter should not be left in the hands of the few. It is arranged with the Whitney syndicate something in which each citizen should take an interest, and an opportunity is to be given for each to contribute whatever he feels disposed to give. London, topographically, is the capital and central city of Western Ontario; it is justly accorded a very high place as regards education and industry. Why should it also not lead in music?

A promenade concert is to be held in the Princess Rink next Friday evening, Sept. 27, when the citizens of London will be given an opportunity occasion, it should be remembered, will not attain its best results without the most liberal support that can be accorded. The owners of the rink have done their part by very generously placing it at the disposal of the committee. Keep the date in mind.

Its Effect on Canada.

Theodore Roosevelt is now President of the United States, and announces his intention to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor.

President McKinley's last speech was full of the spirit of "peace on earth, good-will towards men." It was apparent that he thought the overproduction of the country in manufactures must find a market in other countries. That over-production is largely due to the fact that the protective system of the United States, instead of only securing a home market, has stimulated their industries to such an extent that they are able to supply much more than their own country can consume.

Canada has been regarded as somewhat slow. It is still a poor man's country, and we are glad of it. We believe, however, that the changes taking place in the United States may be full of meaning to Canada.

What is more natural than that the capital of the United States will look to Canada for investments, particularly if the tariff walls are taken down to any extent? If they are taken down for any length of time, it is not likely that either country would ever want them up again. The United States have been a great benefit and blessing to the world, and Canada may be to them what they have been to the world, and a great help in solving the difficult problems before them. Canada has still undeveloped enormous resources, and room for many millions of additional population.

The sentiment still of Canada, we believe, was well expressed in the official record read by the Hon. George Brown in the speech delivered by him in the Senate of 1875, after he had been in Washington in 1874, on the reciprocity negotiations.

He said: "On the 28th of March the negotiation was formally opened, and I will now read from the official record an extract showing the position held

"When Her Majesty's advisers in-States to reconsider the whole commercial relations of the Republic and the Dominion, with a view to place them on a friendly and durable basis of reciprocal advantage, the question naturally presents itself, how it comes that, having prospered so well since the repeal of the reciprocity treaty of 1854, Canada new seeks for its restoraquestion. The population of the Unit-States is forty millions, while that of the Dominion is but four millions. The boundary between them is for the most part but a surveyor's line, often unknown even to those who live beside it; and it is of the utmest importance to Canada that common interests conducive to this end as commercial intercourse, generously carried on and mutually profitable? The people of Canada are not ignorant that a market near at hand is better than a distant one; and good as their present markets are, they would gladly have the old one in addition. They comprehend the barrier that custom house restrictions throw in the way even of the existing traffic; and they seek to have these withdrawn. They are proud of their own St. Lawrence route, and intend to improve it to the uttermost for the benefit of the great west and Canadian traffic, but would gladly use the ocean ports and other channels of of the republic, when freights and fares and friendly reciprocity draw them in that direction. And very great as have always been the advantages accruing to the United States from reciprocity, the Canadians can find only cause of rejoicing at that so long as they themselves continue tion approaches, and the benefits deto enjoy that moderate degree of pros-perity with which Providence has blessed them. There is no mystery in tions of the Republic and the Dominion should be placed on the most kindly and unfettered and mutually advantageous basis consistent with their respective existing obligations, If the arrangements are well made, as Britain which the Dominion so happily main thing. For a good democratic Crawling Out of Holes in Two Provinces.

In the general election contest in Nova Scotia, now in progress, the fact is made evident that the Murray Government, now on its trial, has done its duty in the public interest. The adians that when Hon. Mr. Fielding. then Prime Minister of Nova Scotia. to take up the development of the coal lands of the Province, the Conservative leaders of Nova Scotia at once ranged themselves against the consummation of the agreement. They berated the Nova Scotia Government as a most unpatriotic body of men for consenting to the enlistment of United States capitalists for the development of the Province, ignoring altogether the fact that with Mr. Whitney were associated leading Canadian capitalists. Nor were these Opposition politicians satisfied with appealing to their fellow-electors in the Province of Nova Scotia to aid in bringing the bargain to nought. They sent a deputation to Ottawa to petition the Government of the day to disallow the bargain with Mr. Whitney, and when Sir John Thompson, sound constitutional lawyer as he was, told them that he could not interfere to aid his party friends in the Province, they journeyed to Government House, and sought an interview with the Governer-General, bewailing before him the perversity of their political opponents in insisting on procuring the aid of United States capital to promote the coal mining industry of the Province. "Why," they said, "these unpatriotic men are giving away the coal lands of Canada to a set of men who will shut up the mines, throw many hundreds of workers out of employment. and while compelling the people of Canada to be dependent entirely upon United States mines for their supply. will prevent the British Government in time of international trouble from

of the Atlantic." It was indeed a terrible story of unpatriotic perversity which Messrs. Weldon & Co., the professional politicians, poured into the ears of the Governor-General in that memorable interview at Rideau Hall. But his excellency politely showed them to the side door, informing them that he could only hear complaints regarding provincial legislation through his constitutional advisers. And as Sir John Thompson had already turned a deaf ear to the representatives of the disgruntled ones, the bargain became an accomplished fact. The Whitney syndicate was formed. The new capital, amounting to millions of dollars was procured. The mines have been developed, as they were never before. Thousands of additional hands have been employed. The town of Sydney, from being a small hamlet, has been trebled in size, and is now a city. All other parts of Nova Scotia have shared in the benefits arising from the development. And in place of shutting up the mines, for the benefit of the United States, the Whitney syndicate has sent far more coal into that country than was ever before shipped.

Now for the sequel. In the provinin the matter by the Canadian Gov- cial campaign at present in progress in Nova Scotia, do they hear any complaints of the Government selling out vite the Government of the United the province to the Whitney syndicate? The answer is as natural as the has been brought to light at their very doors. This cannot but be flattering to Mr. Murray and his colleagues, who stood by Hon. Mr. Fielding at the time when he and they were assailed as traitors to their country for arranging for the present progressive policy. But nd mutual good will should exist be- what an unenviable position the Oppe-

This experience in Nova Scotia has lawyer, who has been chosen as Mr. Meredith's successor on the Legislature Opposition leadership, praising the Ontario Agricultural College, and saying that there should be five such other colleges, though it is but a short time since he and his colleagues could say nothing too bad about the college at Guelph. Then we had Mr. Whitney expressing, one brief year ago, the strongest possible condemnation of the bargain by which the Clergue syndicate was enlisted to aid in the development of New Ontario. Now, when an elec-luncheon, after the review of the 140,-000 troops on the Plains of Betheny, which was witnessed by the czar and czarina, President Loubet spoke in part as follows:

"Sire, in thanking your majesty and her majesty, the empress, in the name of the French Republic for having been so good as to attend the cheering spectacles of the last few days, my thought goes back to the great political act which preceded them, and which lends them their whole signil-cance. Prepared and concluded by your august father, Emperor Alexander III., and President Carnot, and proclaimed on board the Admiral Pothnau by your majesty and President Faure, the alliance of Russia and France has had time to affirm its character and bear fruit.

"If none may doubt the essentially pacific idea from which it arose, no more can anyone fail to perceive that it has contributed powerfully to the maintenance of the balance between the forces of Europe, a necessary condition of peace, which, to be fruitful, could not remain precarious. It has developed with the years, and the questions which have arisen have found it watchful and resolute, reconciling its own interests with the general interest of the world. It is moderate because it is strong, and is won over in advance of settlements which are inspired by justice and humanity. The good which it has done is a pledge that it will do still more.

THE CZAR'S REPLY. The Rusian anthem was then played and the czar, in a clear and distinct voice, read his reply. It was in part as follows: "The ties which unite our countries have just been again confirmed, and have received fresh confirmation in the manifestations of mutual sympathy which have been so eloquently made here and have found so warm an echo in Russia. The intimate union of the two great powers, animated by the most pacific intentions, and who, while able to make their rights respected, do not seek to injure in any way the rights of others, is a precious element of appeasement for the whole of humanity.

"I drink to the prosperity of France, the prosperity of a friendly and allied nation, and to the gallant army and splendid fleet of France." The czar and czarina and President and Mme. Loubet left Compeigne at 8 o'clock this morning and arrived at Betheny at 10 o'clock. The czar, on leaving the station, mounted a splendid bay charger, handsomely caparisoned, which a Russian soldier was holding for him. The other members of the party entered carriages, each drawn by four artillery horses. Waiting at the station were thirty Arab sheiks, who had obtained special permission to leave Algeria and Tunis to attend the review. They gathered around the imperial procession as an escort to the review ground. Before going on board the train at station here, the czar requested M. Waldeck-Rosseau, the premier, to contribute on his behalf 100,000 francs to Paris charities. He ordered the dis-tribution of 5,000 francs to the charities in each of the towns of Dunkirk, Compeigne and Rheims, and asked the prime minister on his behalf to liberal donations to the suffer ers from the recent powder explosion

CZAR'S FINAL MESSAGE. The czar and czarina crossed the frontier at Pagny-sur-Moselle and it is expected that they will reach Kiel Sunday evening. As they were en-tering the train at Rheims, the czar and czarina again shook hands with the members of the cabinet of Presi-

ABOUT CZAR'S VISIT TO FRANCE. Berlin, Sept. 22.-While the papers have devoted much space the past in France on the czar's visit to that country, the discussions on the subject were few and showed that Germany is little concerned thereby. Contions is so strong here that the French reception excites no jealousy. The newspapers, however, take delight in pointing out that the czar used the most measured language in replying to President Loubet, whose utterances are here regarded as an ill-disguised intimation of France's thirst for revenge on Germany. Al the czar's utterances in France are here understood as meaning no interference on the part of Russia in the affairs of other nations, respect of the existing frontiers, and abandon-ment of all plans of warlike adventure on behalf of France.

The German papers reproduce with satisfaction the utterances of M. De Cassagnac and other French Chau-vinsts to the effect that the Franco-Russian alliance is devoid of any practical advantage for France and means her final renunciation of the lest provinces. The czar's words "reasonable principles" are here under-stood to be a gentle hint for France not to misinterpret the alliance in the direction of the recovery of Alsace and Lorraine. Hence the German press concludes that the czar's visit does not change the status quo, and that France must be contented with the bloodless victories over Germany in winning the czar's favor.

A BRITISH OPINION OF ROOSE-London, Sept. 23.-Interest here President Roosevelt's personality is The magazines advertise articles about him and everything he has said of Great Britain has been dug out of his books. Many picturesque stories of the president's hunting and ranching life continue to fill columns of the papers. T. P. O'Connor, in M. A. P. (Mainly About People), in its issue of Wednesday next, concluding a page and a half analysis of President Roosevelt, will say: "Renan, when close to his last hour, wrote that he would like to survive to the middle of this century so as to know the ultimate fate of the young emperor of Germany whose tumult was then filling and alarming the ear of all Europe. If the great philoso-pher had survived he would probably have found a subject of equal curiosity and uncertainty in the accession to the presidency of this restless, short, muscular man, as ready with his fists as with his pen; soldier and litterateur, realist and dreamer, who occupies the bleak white palace at Washington, from which are ruled eighty of the most active, energetic, vital millions of the human race.

This knowledge should sound a note of warning not only to the consumptive but warning not only to the consumptive but those surrounding him. Every precaution should be taken to prevent the spread of the "White Plague." Persons coming into contact with consumptives should not fail to inhale Catarrhozone several times each day, as it is a powerful destroyer of disease germs, and renders them perfectly inocuous. It is a most efficient preventive, and may be thoroughly relied upon. To the consumptive it is a boon, for it promotes expectoration, soothes the cough and benefits in ways too numerous to mention. Both from a medical and scientific point of view, Catarrhozone is a most valuable addition to the armament against consumption. Its merits cannot be to warmly applauded.

RETURN OF PREMIER ROSS

Great Demonstration to Welcome Home Ontario's Favorite Son-Glad To Be Back Again.

Toronto, Sept. 23 .- Hon. George W. Ross, premier of Ontario, was welcomed back from the old land with an unexampled demonstration of personal and political devotion. A thousand people, men from every walk of life, and many women, crossed the lake from Toronto to Niagara to escort him from the frontier to his home. These were joined by half their number from the Niagara district, and from the combined assemblage the premier received a greeting that must have warmed his When he alighted from the Michigan Central train opposite the park, which is one of the many beauties of Niag-ara-on-the-Lake, the strains of "The Conquering Hero" were almost drown-ed by the cheers of his friends. His colleagues were the first to greet him, but the crowd pressed closely around them, and a hundred hands were thrust forward to grasp his.

The procession which had marched from the landing stage to the rark quickly reformed and escorted Mr. Ross to the large pavilion, where a formal welcome was extended by Mr. H. M. Mowat, K. C., president of the Toronto Reform Association.

Most men, if called upon the moment they concluded an exhausting ocean and land journey to address an open air meeting of welcome, would acknowledge the compliment in a very general way and plead fatigue. That is a word that has no pleas in the s a word that has no place in the premier's vocabulary, and in a voice vibrant and full of power he delivered an address eloquent, broad-minded, imperialistic and practical, that will stir the loyalty and stimulate the thought of every Canadian. It was the speech of a leader of men, a leader in thought and in action. The reception was essentially informal. The Liberal clubs of the city had which crowned it. The Chippewa, which left Toronto at 2 o'clock, was comfortably filled, and arrived at Niag-art, after a delightful sail, in good time to meet the train from the Falls. The reception committee crossed the lake on the early boat and journeyed up to Niagara Falls. There they were joined by leading Liberals from the Niagara Peninsula in giving to the Premier and Mrs. Ross a most cordial and enthusiastic welcome back to Cantion of East Yo ada.

At a luncheon at the Windsor House the premier sat on the right and Mrs. Ross on the left of Lieut.-Col. Cruikshanks, president of the Welland County Liberal Association.

He expressed his delight at what he had seen during his trip and while sojourning in England, where he had been received both in public and in private in a most cordial manner. He was especially pleased to see the attention which people in England are now giving to Canada, and he expressed the belief that the fault lay considerably with ourselves that the English people are not better posted than they are regarding Canada and her resources and capabilities. object of his life would be, he declared. to fully impress Great Britain with the wealth and resources of Canada. Mr. John F. Gross, M.P.P., Mr. Wm. Gibson, ex-M.P., and Mr. Geo. Anderson also spoke briefly, voicing the welcome which the Liberals of the province desired to convey to the premier and Mrs. Ross upon their return. Rev. Ross, and recited "John Anderson, My

After luncheon the premier, Mrs. Ross and party were the guests of the local Reform Association, and paid a visit to Niagara Falls Park by car. Shortly after three o'clock the party left Niagara Falls by special rolley for Niagara-on-the-Lake, where they were greeted by the delegation from Toronto and Lincoln county.

Y., Sept. 22 .- The most important development in the Czolgosz case yesterday was the announcement that no These Prices Are for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Only. poison had been found on the bullets or the revolver with which the anarchist shot President McKinley. Chemical and bacteriological examinations were made, and both revealed the fact that no poison had been used by the murderer.

Immediately after the death of the president, one of the staff of physicians in attendance upon the president expressed the opinion that the bullets may have been poisoned. District Attorney Penney, who had possession of the assassin's revolver, ordered careful and thorough examinations made. Dr. Hill was directed to make a chemical examination of the bullets and chambers and barrel of the revolver, and Dr. Herman G. Matzinger, one of the surgeons who performed the autopsy upon the president's body was ordered to make a bacteriological examination of the same.

Dr. Hill reported to the district attorney that his work showed that no poison had been used.

Proposes To Be President of the Whole Country, South as Well as North

Washington, Sept. 23.-President Roosevelt, who was early at the White House Saturday, was called on by a number of well-known public men. To the southern senators and congressmen the president said among other things: "I am going to be president of the United States and not of any section. I don't care for sections or sectional lines. When I was governor of New York I was told I could make four appointments in the army. When I sent in the names, three were in the south and the other from New York. They were brave men who deserved recognition for services in the Spanish war and it did not matter what states they were from.'

Mr. Alexander Woonton, London cor-espondent of the Labor Gazette, writes: There has been an unprecedented ac tivity among the workers in this city dur-ing the month of August, and men with-out work have been difficult to find. In every trade represented here business has been either fair or extra good. The rail-roads and building trades have been exceptionally busy.

Brass Workers are busy, and all hands are working.
Some trouble occurred on Aug. 19 between bricklayers and contractors for a new church in this city. The contractor wished the men to lay the stone (of which the church is being built) and himself and his sons do the pointing (which the men generally do as they go along) after the men quit in the evening and before they commenced in the morning. The men quit work, and their executive met the contractor that day. It was decided that men go on with their work as formerly, and they returned to work next

After the men were out for about twelve days, their employer gave in, and they returned to work. The London Cigar Factory, from which the cigarmakers went on strike early in the year, and which has been closed to union men ever since, has discharged its non-union employes and has entered into an agreement with the Cigarmakers' Union to start a union label factory again on Sept. 1. Amusements.

ONE OF THE CLASSICS. Richard Golden's characterization of "Old Jed Prouty," which will be seen at the New Grand tomorrow (Tues-Writes the Local Correspondent day) evening, is one of the classics of the rural drama. Summed up briefly, Golden's "Old Jed Prouty" is probably the best enactment of the ruralite that the public has been treated to. It is a character study never over-done, and it afforded refreshing, delightful enter-tainment to those who attended the play when given here before. This will be Mr. Golden's last appearance her in "Old Jed Prouty," as he has a new play in preparation.

> WHOLESOME AND SPARKLING. Toronto Saturday Night, an authority on dramatic anairs more wholesome, bright and sparkling comedy ever was written than "A Brace of Partridges," in which Mr. Reeves-Smith made his reappearance here this week at the Princess. play is one in which there is little else than humor, but it is, throughout, refined humor that appeals to the cultivated taste. Although the fabric o the plot, that of two men being alike as to be constantly mistaken for each other, is as old as Shakespeare (and older), it has been handled in fresh, original way by Mr. Robert Ganthony, and the full strength of the playwright's work is brought out by the delightful English comedian, who heads the clever company. Miss Margaret Robinson, the Canadian girl, who supports Mr. Reeves-Smith, is very winsome, and indeed the whole company furnish excellent entertainment." "A Brace of Partridges" plays at the New Grand here on Thursday night.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT DUNDAS CENTER

Eloquent Sermon on the Late President Mc-Kinley by Rev. E. B. Lanceley.

An unusually large congregation listened to the eloquent sermon delivered in Dundas Center Methodist Church last evening by Rev. E. B. Lanceley, of Port Hope, on the life of the late President McKinley. The reverend gentleman, who took for his text II. Samuel, iii., 32, 33, 34, briefly traced the career of the dead statesman from his youth, in Niles, Ohio, to the tragic incident at Buffalo, which resulted in his death. Like most of the other presidents of the United States, his youth was humble enough; born of the common stock, he fought his way upward through years of steady labor. Always, however, he had the advantage which is enjoyed only by the man who leads an honest God-fearing life, and who brings to the daily occurrences of life sincerity of purpose and faith in his fellow men. McKinley at the outset had no greater opportunities than legions of young men of today, and the splendid lesson of his life will remain for all time. Rev. Mr. Lanceley's remarks were listened to with great at-

The musical services of the evening were particularly impressive, the quartet, "We Shall Cross the Mystic River," by the Misses Wilson being beautifully rendered. Miss Roblyn sang "Crossing the Bar," and the choir gave the chorus and quartet. "Blest Are the Departed." At the request of Rev. Mr. Lanceley, the choir also sang, "Hark, Hark, My Soul," a composition of which he is very fond. The musical services were under the direction of Mr. W. H. Hewlett, organist and choirmaster of

CZOLGOSZ'S TRIAL NOW IN PROGRESS

Prisoner Pleaded "Guilty," But the Flea Could Not Be Accepted Under the Law-Four Jurors in Less Than an Hour.

Buffalo, Court House, Sept. 23. Czolgosz, the prisoner, was attired in a new suit of dark gray, a white shirt and a collar, and a light blue bow tie. His face was cleanly shaven and his hair combed. Though the prisoner pleaded guilty, this plea could not be made under the law, and a plea of not guilty was or-dered by the court. Former Justice Titus, counsel for the defense, then arose and stated to the court the facts already known as to his connection with the case. He explained that the position of himself and his associates, Judge Lewis and Mr. Ladd, was a peculiar one, and consisted mainly in making sure that all forms of law and justice were observed in the prosecution.

Justice White, in reply, paid a tribute to the counsel for the defense, and said that the prisoner could have no better counsel, and that whatever the cuttorna it would reflect only credit outcome it would reflect only credit and honor to themselves. The examination and swearing in of the jurors then began, the prisoner standing as each was sworn. The fourth juror was sworn in at 11:04 a.m., less than an hour after the court opened. Judge Lewis addressed the court, and stated that inasmuch as both he and his principal associates were aged men, and owing to the suddenness of sat until about 11. Nearly all the ministers were present.

Czolgosz was handcuffed to the deputies and hurried from the court-room back to the jail. For the first time since he had come into the court room today he spoke to one of his guards. Get my hat," and the officer placed it upon his head as he walked out.

The Lovers of Cleanliness.

Now is the time, when fall and winter are approaching, that all should look well into where they are getting their milk supply. There is no food about which we should be so particular, and what do we know about it? We grow Hutton, Sept. 23.-Hyde Park and | wonderfully careless about our milk. We all know that milk which leaves a sediment in the pitcher or bottle is not clean milk, and yet how many housekeepers have gone from one milkman to another-and then settled helplessly into a state of apathy with regards to those dregs. As a matter of fact, milk should have no dregs. That any woman should be content to have milk poured out of an open can and carried covered into her house, is surprising these days. It is something we need to think about these days. It is altogether likely that our milk has brought us many a disease, and we have wondered how our children caught diphtheria or scarlet fever, or some other virulent disease. It is brought to you by your milkman. Milk is a sponge; it absorbs everything; and milk carted around in cans on the open street is drinking in all the impurities of the air, and then is dealt out to you by the pint or quart, as the case may be, and we wonder that baby does not thrive. No wonder Mr. R. H. Welburn, mechanical sup-erintendent of the street railway, left constitution is perhaps battling to ward off disease fed to him in his milk. There are no dregs in clarified milk. It is the most wholesome milk sold. All impurities are removed, and you receive the pure food. We invite the citizens of London to visit the Sanitary Dairy premises. LOSS OF THE JUPITER!

Capt. Hansen, Wife and Child, Reach Alpena, Mich.

Serious Charge Made Against the Master of the Steamer Buell.

Alpena, Mich., Sept. 23,-Capt. Hansen, of the lost barge Jupiter, with his wife and child, and a sailor of the name of Oben, arrived here yesterday from Tobermoray on the tug Owen.

SERIOUS CHARGE. Capt. Hansen declared himself indig-nant at the conduct of the master of the steamer F. R. Buell, who, he said, left the crew of the Jupiter while they were making preparations to abandon their waterlogged boat on Lake Huron. The master on the Buell reported at Port Huron that the crew of the Jupiter refused to leave their vessel. Capt. Hansen said the Buell came within fifteen feet of the barge, and

The latter refused to take any chances in the yawl, it is said, and declared their intention of making a raft of the lumber. They were drowned. Madigan and Smith lived in Al-

BUFFALO RAILROADS BEING ROBBED

Three Conductors in the Penitentiary and Others Being Prosecuted.

Buffalo, Sept. 23.-Railway conductors who have been profiting by the enormous traffic on the lines of the Buffalo Railway Company, due to the Pan-American, are now being prosecuted, and many men who had fears of arrest have left town. On Friday three were sent to the penitentiary for short terms after being convicted in the police court late in the afternoon. They were Arthur C. Bailey and two brothers, John and Alexander Golding. The railway company admits it has been robbed of large sums of money, and cites as an instance that one conductor on an Elmwood car, the most crowded line in the city, turned in only 65 cents as the result of his entire day's trip. He was dis-charged and no questions were asked. The conductors' system is to get possession of unused transfers from conductors on other lines and ring up transfers instead of the cash fares they had collected, turning in the transfers, properly punched, for the cash fares they had appropriated.

The Royal Party at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 23. The six cribs were in readiness for the royal party and suite. The cribs square pine timber, 20 feet by 30 feet. In the middle of each a square platform was erected, with two seats of deal timber across it. Of course, the seats were handsomely furnished with rugs. B. R. Booth, Canada's lumber king, was in charge of the royal crib.

The royal party went down the slide on the third crib. Alongside of the slides there were large crowds at every point of vantage, to cheer the future king as he dashed down through the rushing waters. At the foot of the slides the royal party boarded the bark war canoes, and were paddled down the Ottawa River to Rockcliffe Park, a distance of about three miles. Indians and old river men made the canoes.

At Rockeliffe a special detachment the Governor-General's Foot Guards and the 43rd Regiment were drawn up to receive the duke. There were 100 men in each detachment. Capt McLean was in command of the guard and Capt. Delaronde, of the 43rd. At Rockeliffe the royal party visited a model shanty, built there specially for the occasion, just as the old-time shanties were, not a nail being used in its construction.

The cooks, choppers, etc., were at work, just as if in the forest. The royal party were also given ar opportunity to take a meal such as the shanty men live on-baked beans, etc. Later on there was an exhibition of log-rolling and river sports, and a war canoe race for the championship of Canada, the competing crews being Ottawa, Britannia, Carleton Place, Brockville, Brockville Y. Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—Eight masked men early today entered the car barn of the Holmesburg, Tacony and Frank-ford Railway, in the extreme northeastern section of the city, and after binding and gagging two watchmen, proceeded to the office, where they blew open two safes and robbed them of the day's receipts, amounting to about $1,-200. SWORDFISH. New Bedford, Sept. 23.-When the bark Morning Star was hauled out on a marine railway here a few days ago the workmen found the sword of a swordfish piercing the eighteen-inch solid oak keel. Fishermen who saw it could hardly believe their eyes, for, although many instances have been recorded where a swordfish blade has pierced the bottom of a craft, never before had they seen such an evidence of the power of this fish. The sword was not a large one, about the size that would be found on a 300-pound fish, the 'longshoremen say. The small end of the sword, which protruded about six inches through the keel, was sawed off and saved as a souvenir, while the remainder will remain imbedded in the keel of the whaler.

Lord Hammond was as vicious as a kicking horse or an ill-natured parrot, whose object in life seems to be to wound the fingers of his friends; only Lord Hammond was not by any means always in this ugly frame of mind.

Elsie felt the pain and the digust that the young lord meant that she should feel; he followed up his advantage.

"Such an ignorant girl she was, she called oil 'hile,' she did, upon my word of hone."

called oil 'hile,' she did, upon my word of honor."

"And he loved her?" faltered Elsie.

"Tried to drown himself when she threw him up," returned Lord Hammond. The cold, sad pain of a great disenchantment fell upon Elsie's heart like ice. It would not take her many hours, she thought, "to get over" any romantic admiration for Owen Hammond, any delight in the belief of the reality of his attachment to herself, which had sprung up like a graceless weed in her too affectionate heart. A barmaid who called fectionate heart. A barmaid who called oil "hile," a barmaid whose home and employment lay in a mean inn, in a mean street, in the paltry town of Farley—what a rival! But then another thought struck Elsie—this girl might have been vulgar, her hands unwashed, and yet—yet she might have had the royal gift of a rich and sparkling heauty might have had the royal gift of a rich and sparkling beauty. Somewhere she had read that in her own land—in her own beautiful green island—there were mountain cabins, miles Island—there were mountain cabins, filles from civilized life, within whose walls were to be found maidens whose supreme loveliness would set the West End on fire with envy, wonder and admiration, could one of these said maidens be draped by M. Worth. Perhaps this vulgar young barmaid was of a regal beauty? Elsie asked the questhe barmaid's charms. Lord Hammond flicked his whip in the air,

"Who?" repeated Lord Hammond,
"Well, she's awfully handsome, of course,

"Well, she's awfully handsome, of course, and could marry a Russian prince to-morrow, but she will stick to Shake-speare, she says."

"The barmaid?" inquired Elsie, "is she a student of Shakespeare, too?"

"The barmaid? Oh! confound it! I beg your parcon. I was thinking of another person." Lord Hammond laughed a rather forced laugh. "Of course," he said, you mean that creature for whose sake my wise cousin tried to drown himself?"

"Yes; was she very beautiful, Lord

"I have read of her," said Elsie, imatiently; "then I can't believe it's true."
"Can't believe that what is true?" ask-d his young lordship, flickering his whip again in the air.
"I can't believe that Mr. Owen Hammond ever tried to drown himself for the sake of a person like that!"

"Oh, but by Ceorge he did though!" said the young lord, eagerly. "He was awful spoons on her. She sent him back his letters, and some paltry things he had given her, and told him she was engaged to some London fellow—a rich old stockbroker, a widower—and she did marry the man too, and lives in some big house in a square in Bioomsbury, and drives a pair of black ponies, and goes in for dash and show! Oh, he did try to drown himself right enough. His brother the lawstudent sprang into the river after him. student sprang into the river after him, and dragged him to shore."
"What a strange thing!" said Elsie,

"What a strange thing?" said Elsle, gloomily.
"Don't you believe him it he tries to flatter you," said Lord Hammond. "He is false and insolent."
"Why do you dislike him so much?" asked Elsie, bluntly.
"Lord Hammond laughed harshly.
"It began when we were boys." he said, "quite little fellows. It would take a long time to tell it all, but we seem to have been rivals always. My mother wanted us to be friends; she would want me to offer my right hand in friendship to a man who had cut off my left hand while I was askeep."

to a man who had cut off my left hand while I was asleep."

"She is divine!" said Elsie.

Lord Hammond laughed again.

"Awfully kind, but not divine; she is not always wise about things. You must know—everyone in the county knows—that my father the earl and his brother Richard have been at loggerheads for upwards of twenty years. It all began about money for a mortgage. And then, you know, they went to law—"

"Yes," said Elsie.

"And my father beat my uncle in the lawsuit. And my uncle used to keep fox—

Lord Hammond told the little story in Jerks, as if he did not like telling it, or did not know how to tell it. Elsie began to think that the rich earl might have been hard on his poorer brother.

"Once, fifteen years ago, the Hon. Richard Hammond contested this county and got returned; but the expenses of that election so begared him that he has never been able to hold his head up since; and then his wife died."

"Poor man!" said Elsie, compassionate. 'Poor man!" said Elsie, compassionate-Owen was always a lazy hound, and somehow we used to meet in cricket fields, and in the hunting field, and—and in other places. He, the old man, always taught his sons to hate me and be jealous of me, because I shall have lots of tin and land if the 'Rads' don't take it all away before the pater dies. Well, they hate me, you see, and this Owen has always taken every omportunity of insult-Ways taken every opportunity of insult-ing me. Once he contradicted me to my face in a public meeting at Farley!" "Very rude!" said Elsie.

"He insults me on every occasion! If he looks at me he curls his lip as one would at a convicted thief," would at a convicted thief,"
"I should not curl my lip at a convicted thief," said Elsie.
"Well, anyhow, he makes awful grimaces at me!" said Lord Hammond, hotly, "and I hate him! Don't let us talk any more about him, please. I suppose he will marry that beautiful Rosa Stanley; she has fifteen thousand a year. That will set him on his pins; then he'll lose it all on horses within two years, unless it's tied on herself—and he won't marry her utless he has the run of the lot!"

we less he has the run of the lot!"
What a mean, pitiful figure Owen Hammond cut portrayed by his certainly unfriendly, even spiteful nobleman cousin! Something of dissent and disbellef struggled to assert itself in Elsie's heart. Still one fact was palpable—this very handsome, self-willed, spoiled, possibly selfish young lord, believed every word that he was saying against his cousin. He hated him, but he did not mean to speak falsely of him.

'So possibly most of it is true." "So possibly most of it is true," said Elsie to herself, "and this fascinating Owen Hammond is not worth a thought. He talks so to every girl he meets. When he seeks me again—if he does ever seek me—I shall treat him with cool civility. I will not believe one word he says." Elsie sighed, and felt as if she had parted from a dear friend, or had lost something very precious and costly.

All the congratulations, and all the questions, and the exclamations, and the surprise were over. Elsie had parted from Lord Hammond in the entrance hall. He had found her quieter and tamer and less amusing than he had anticipated. That chance meeting with his detested cousin seemed to have put him what is familiarly styled "out of sorts."

He had gone to seek Elsie in a great hurry the moment he had found that she was missed, and that it was supposed she was really left behind locked up in the Gower House.

Miss Bracegirle had gone to her own room on her return to Charteris the moment that inquiries began to be made about the young visitor; and when; after a cup of tea and some muffins, served to her at her request before the fire in her own apartment, she had attired herself in dinner costume and emerged, expecting to find Lord Hammond in the amber drawing-room, she was astounded to learn that he had ordered his groom to harness two of his fleetest horses to his own trap, and had set off quite alone in search of "that Irish girl."

"Ugly little wretch!" Pauline had sald to herself.

She sat before the fire, reading a French novel, one of Zola's masterpieces; her blue eyes were fastened en the page; she had not stirred or spoken since she had heard the news. What did Arthuf mean by this young lord was.

Ninety thousand a year, three great country houses, plate, jewels, diamonds, horses, carriages, liveried servants, footmen in big powdered wigs standing behind her carriage on a drawing-room day and then the balls at which she would condescend to the wives of the simple baronets! assert her equality with duchesses! and snub the young daughters of mere country squires!"

"Shakespeare" said a voice in Pauline's ear; "always studying! You will kill yourself, Miss Bracegirdle."

CRESCEUS WON GREAT RACE. Readville, Mass., Sept. 23 .- The great stallion Cresceus obtained a firmer grasp on his crown as king of trotters on the Readville track Saturday, in three out of four heats. The two fastest trotters in the world raced for a $20,000 purse offered by Thomas W. Lawson, and the money which the 12.000 people paid to see the race all went to a well-known local charity. 'She was exquisitely lovely, I suppose?" The weather was perfect, but the Pearce, and Durnan last, just about track was very heavy, although it three-quarters of a length behind Lord Hammond had been thinking of something else for the last five minutes, while Elsie had been pondering over the lovely peasant maids of the Galway mountains, and the possible splendor of the harmond his horse was being led back to the his horse was being led back to the stable, Mr. Scannell, owner of The Abbot, said that the best horse won, but that the track was wretched. He took the defeat, however, in good nature. The third interested party in the day's events, Thomas W. Lawson, smiled cynically and said it looked like "busted horses." He race between also pointed out that the time was slower than in Friday's race between Lord Derby and Boralma. Summary: Cresceus (Ketcham) 2 1

OPENING DAY AT WOODBINE. Toronto, Sept. 21.—The Country and Hunt Club's fall meeting opened at the Voodbine Saturday afternoon with beautiful weather and the track in splendid shape. THE OAR. SULLIVAN FIRST, DURNAN LAST. Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 23 .- The scullng race for $500, rowed here Saturday evening, was won by Sullivan by half

I could not rise to my feet without fainting.

"I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods," writes Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C. "It seemed as though I would die with pains in my back and stomach. I could not rise to my feet at all without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better, had better appetite and slept better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Golden Medical Discovery,' and am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months' time when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets a pleasant and ef-nan was fourth, half a length behind Towns. Time, 9:41. The weather was chilly and cloudy, with a raw east wind, but notwithstanding this many people lined the river bank and crowded into the rowing club inclesure to see what promised to be one of the best races ever rowed here. The result was a complete surprise, Sullivan, who had been considered a rank outsider, finishing first, half a length ahead of Pearce, with Towns a length behind three-quarters of a length behind Towns. Time, 9:41. The east wind wind gave Durnan the shelter of the St. Bonface shore—a fact of which he took full advantage. Durnan caught a little of the breeze, while Pearce and Sullivan got the benefit of it, which made the result all the more surprising. The men were heartily applauded as they got into the boats, and pulled over to the starting stakes. There was a little difficulty in starting, two false starts being made. When the gun was fired, Durnan and Pearce caught the water together, but Sullivan was backing down to his stake, and the others got clear three lengths on him. He and Towns started about on the same terms, but Towns got up to the bunch before they had gone a hundred yards and he and Durnan stayed with each other all the way through. Pearce, however started to slash them in when Towns got up and pulled away about afternoon, the bay stallion John A. two lengths. At the turn around the McKerron, driven by his owner, H. K. three-quarters buoy Pearce and Durnan Devereaux, trotted a mile to a wagon turned first, but Towns made a bad in 2:0634, establishing a new world's reguess at his buoy, and had to make a detour to get around his stake. Sullivan turned about ten strokes behind. They all crowded into the St. Boniface bank on the way home, Pearce pulling into Durnan's water, about two lengths ahead of him, Durnan getting the full effects of his back-wash. Towns was taking it apparently very comfortably a quarter of a length ahead of Durough water, started to hit up about nalf-way home and pulled up on even terms with Pearce. When about a hundred yards from the finish, he managed to get his boat just about half a length ahead of Pearce, which gap was ssened to a quarter of a length, just before they crossed the line. There is no doubt in anybody's mind that Towns have won out, with even than the three seconds' hanplaced on him, if he had himself, but he was apparently too intent on watching Durnan to take heed of the lead the others had. Pearce finished quite fresh, but Sullivan had got about all he could When Durnan got up to the dressing room, it was very evident he was not in the best of condition. His stomach had gone back on him, and he was very sick for a little while. He had put up a game race throughout, and got quite an ovation when he reached the float. Sullivan was apparently as much surprised as anyon at the result, but accounted for it by the fact that he was the best in rough water. Each of the trio have now won a length over Pearce. Towns came third, a length behind Pearce, and Dura race and can go home satisfied. YACHTING. New York, Sept 23 .- Next Thursday is the date set for the final race of the 1901 series for the America's cup, and after two postponements it seems that this will probably be final. There is one satisfaction: they cannot postpone them much longer without changing the model to a ninetyfoot ice boat, and that would require time and thought. Today the Columbia will go into drydock for the final rub-down, and she will probably not come out of dock until Wednesday night. By the sudden change in the programme necessitated by the death of the president, the American boat managed to get in several more days of sailing than the English yacht. The Shamrock was all ready for docking when the races were suddenly postponed, and so it was deemed advisable to put her in anyway. Several alterations have been made upon her in various parts of the hull and rigging which probably would not have been attempted had the time shorter. Amony other things, her hull plates have been strengthened. eral of them were found to be slightly strained after the trip across the ocean, and the many spins she has had on this side of the water, and these have been re-riveted, and one or two pieces of fine maganese bronze have been added to strengthen the construction. GOLF.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP. Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 23. - Walter J. Travis, of New York City, champion amateur golfer of the United States, again won the national championship by defeating Walter E. Egan, of Chicago, Saturday, on the links of the Atlantic City golf club, at Northfield. Egan played good golf except toward the end of the first nine oles in the morning, when he became a little unsteady. Travis' play was also faulty. There were several periods during the match when he played far below his usual form, but being a veteran of many a golf battle he recov ered more quickly than did his young opponent. The champion's strongest point was his long game, and it was through his good strong drives that he was enabled to win. He outdis-tanced Egan on every drive except in wo or three instances.

ATHLETICS. YANKEE TEAM CHOSEN. New York, Sept. 23 .- The Harvard Gordon.

"Ugly little wretch!" Pauline had said to herself.

She sat before the fire, reading a French novel, one of Zola's masterpieces; her blue eyes were fastened on the page; she had not stirred or spoken since she had not stirred or spoken since she had heard the news. What did Arthur mean by this conduct—anything? No. nething; team was selected for all the events, with the exception of the hammer throw, as follows:

100 yards—N. H. Hargrave, Yale, J. E.

Haigh, Harvard. 440 yards—Dixon Boardman, Yale; E. Rust, Harvard. Half-mile-D. W. Franchet, Yale; E. B. Boynton, Harvard. One mile—H. B. Clark and H. S. Knowles, Harvard, and W. D. Wald-

Two miles—E. W. Mills and J. C. Swan, Harvard; B. G. Teel, Yale. 120 yards hurdle—E. J. Clapp, Yale; J. H. Converse, Harvard. Running high jump—J. S. Spraker, Yale; R. A. Kernan, Harvard. Running broad jump—J. S. Spraker, Yale; A. W. Ristine, Harvard.

BASEBALL. THE EASTERN LEAGUE FINISH. Rochester, Sept. 23. — The Eastern League pennant is in the grasp of Rochester for the second time in the history of the league. Since 1892 this organization has been in existence under the title Eastern League, and in that time Providence is the only team that has went the flag more than once. Prohas won the flag more than once. Pro-vidence won in 1894, 1896 and 1900; Binghamton in 1892, Erie in 1893, Spring-field in 1895, Syracuse in 1897, Montreal in 1898 and Rochester in 1899.

SIEVER'S GREAT WORK. Boston, Mass., Sept. 23.-Siever won fect support Boston would not have scored off him. Winters pitched good ball, but went up in the air in the first inning sufficiently to enable the visitors to score three runs. After that but one man got as far as third. The weather was superb and there was a fine attendance, especially when it is considered that The Abbot-Cresceus race was the sporting event of the day

A SPLENDID GAME. The greatest game of baseball played in many years was that between Chicago and Boston of the National League on Saturday, when the former defeated the Beaneaters 1 to 0 in a 17-inning contest. Dineen and Hughes figured in the wonderful pitchers' battle, which was converted in a defeat for Boston by Long's error.

FINISH IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE. Detroit, Sept. 23.—This is the final week for baseball in the American league, and the most successful season in the history of the organization will be brought to a close on Saturday. The baseball war has been a rather mild affair, notwithstanding the great war talk which has been carried on through the season. Next year may develop a more serious con-flict, provided the nation League reorganizes on a sound basis and tries to win back its lost laurels. The American, this season, however, has been very prosperous, and there is not a club which has actually lost money. Boston will probably be the biggest winner of the season, notwithstanding that Somers' team is the most expensive in the league. It is estimated that the young Cleveland magnate will win back $50,000 of his original investment, which was reported to be $150,000. At this rate it will not take many years for Somers to get back all he put in the club. Comiskey will probably clean up close to $40,000, while Burns & Stallings will have $25,000 in the velvet. Washington will net its stockholders close to $10,000, and Philadelphia almost the same figure. McGraw several weeks ago that his club would show a good balance, but $5,000 would be a very fair estimate. Cleveland and Milwaukee are probably the only teams which failed to make money, but neither lost very much, if any. Chicago has the pennant safe, while Boston will surely finish second and Detroit third. In fact, it is not at all probable that there will be any changes in the position of any of the clubs from now on NATIONAL LEAGUE. Saturday's Games. Batteries-Dineen and Ryan; Hughes At Pittsburg—

The True Relief.

Radway's Ready Relief

In using medicines to stop pain, we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losis; the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice; it masks the symptoms, shuts up, and, instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these dangerous and uncertain agents when a positive remedy like RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger in either infant or adult.

It instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays inflammation and cures congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels er other glands or mucous membranes. For Internal and External Use,

No matter how violent or excruciating the pains the Rheumatic, Bed-ridden, In-firm, Crippled, Nervous, Neuralgic or Radway's Ready Relief WILL AFFORD INSTANT EASE

A CURE FOR Summer Complaints, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Cholera Morbus.

A half to a teaspoonful of Ready Relief in a half tumbler of water, repeated as often as the discharges continue, and a flannel saturated with Ready Relief placed over the stomach and bowels will arford immediate relief and soon effect a cure.

No bad after-effects (which are invariably the sequel of dosing with opium, etc.), will follow the use of Radway's Ready Relief, but the bowels will be left in a healthy, normal condition.

A half to a teaspoonful in a half tumbler of water will, in a few minutes, cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Sick Headache, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Colic, Flatulency and all internal pains.

MALARIA, OHILLS AND FEVER FEVER AND AGUE CONQUERED. Radway's Ready Relief Not only cures the patient seized with this terrible foe to settlers in newly-settled districts, where the Malaria or Ague exists, but if people exposed to it will, every morning on getting out of bed, take twenty or thirty drops of the Ready Relief in a glass of water, and eat, say a cracker, they will escape attacks. This must be done before going out.

There is not a remedial agent in the world that will cure Fever and Ague and all other malarial, bilious and ether fevers, aided by Radway's Fills, as quickly as Radway's Ready Relief.

Interesting Insurance Case.

Toronto, Sept. 23 .- The court of appeal on Saturday gave judgment in the case of the North American Life Insur-ance Company vs. Father Brophy, in which insurance men all over Canada are deeply interested.

Father Brophy, a Catholic priest of the Belleville district, had some money to invest, and by arrangement with Alex. Cromar, an insurance agent of Parkdale, used it in paying policies of $80,000 on Cromar's life in a number of companies.

Cromar was a young man, and died quite soon after the insurance was ta-ken out. Father Brophy claimed the insurance, but Cromar's wife sought to prevent him from getting it, on the ground that he should only be paid what he put in, with interest, she being the natural inheritor of her husband's insurance. One branch of the case was settled, and the companies holding about $70,000 paid up to Father Bro-

The North American Life, with $6,000 to pay, and the Royal Victoria, with a like sum, decided to fight, and now the court of appeal has ordered that the policies be canceled, on the companies returning to Brophy the premiums paid by him. This decision is in conformity with the law that forbids one man from insuring the life of another, and thus having an interest in his death.

PHYSICIANS AGREED

Statement Issued by Men Who Attended the President.

Washington, Sept. 23.-Five of the physicians who attended President Mc Kinley met in Buffalo and issued the following statement: The undersigned surgeons and physicians, who were in attendance on the late President McKinley, have had their attention called to certain sensational statements recently published in the daily papers, and particularly in one New York paper, indicating dissension and mutual recrimination among them. "We desire to say to the press and the public, once for all, that every such publication and alleged interview with any of use containing criticism of one another or of any of our associates, is false and is nothing but scandalmongering. We say again that there was never a serious disagreement among the professional attendants as to any of the symptoms or as to treatment of the case, or as to the bulletins which were issued. A very unusual narmony of opinion and of action prevailed all through the case. The unfortunate result could not have been foreseen be-fore the unfavorable symptoms declar-and could not have been presented by any human agency. "Pending the completion and publi-cation of the official reports of the postmortem examiners and of the attending staff we shall refuse to make any further statements for publication, and alleged interviews with any of us may be known to be fictitious.

"TRUE GREATNESS"

Mrs. Baker Eddy's Tribute to the Late President McKinley.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 23.-In connection with the memorial meeting for President McKinley held here, Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy has made public the following:
"Imperative, accumulative, holy demands rested on the life and labors of our late loved president, William McKinley. Presiding over the destinles of a nation meant more to him than a mere rehearsal of aphorisms, a uniting of hereches soon. meant more to him than a mere rehearsal of aphorisms, a uniting of breaches soon to widen, a quiet assent or dissent. It began with heavy strokes, measured movements reaching from the infinitesimal to the infinite. What To Do With

Our Young Men.

The choice of a profession for the boy is a perplexing question in many a family. There is one opening in Canada at present that a great many people entirely overlook, but one that is becoming more important every day.

THAT IS LIFE INSURANCE. We learn from good authority that a representative of the Imperial Life Insurance Company recently sold one gentleman in Ontario a policy for which he paid the sum of one hundred thousand dollars cash.

No doubt the remuneration in connection with that transaction would be very substantial, and there are few profession that offer the same bright future to an energetic, intelligen young man as is open today in the business of life insurance That the Imperial Life, a purely Canadian company, should have the confidence of our own Canadian people to such a large extent that a man will make an investment of such mag nitude with them speaks volumes in favor of the security offered by that institution, and goes to show that the people of Canada have no necessity to seek beyond our own Canadian companies for means of investment. The Imperial, we learn, has wisely selected young men to fill most of the positions of importance, so that their connection tertained by the directors and officers of the company, and afterwards given a trip to Buffalo as a reward for their

This sort of thing should be an encouragement to our young men who are unable to decide what to do, and if they have the ability to succeed in life insurance there is no field today which offers more encouragement to
