Preparations for the Burial of Princess Bismarck.

Message of Sympathy to the Ex-Chancellor from Queen Victoria.

Winding Up the Beaver Steamship Company's Affairs-Unconfirmed Report that the Czarewitch is Dead-Popularity of the New Czar.

Benefits the Poor. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 28 .- It is estimated that the Czar's manifesto remits about 50,000,000 roubles in taxes to the

Invited to England. LONDON, Nov. 27 .- Truth says that Queen Victoria has invited Emperor Nicholas and his bride to visit England, and they will probably pay the visit next

A Democratic Czar. Sr. Petersburg, Nov. 28.—It is stated that the Czir intends to introduce a number of reforms, the principal one of which contemplates the establishment of parliamentary representatives. What's the Matter? London, Nov. 28.-The marriage of Prince Adolphus of Teck and Lady Margaret Grosvenor, daughter of the Duke of Westminster, which it was recently announced would take place today, has been postponed until Dec. 12. Coming Back. LONDON, Nov. 28.-Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador to the United States, has had numerous interviews in the last few days with Lord Kimberley, Secretary of Foreign Adairs. He will sail for America on Saturday.

William Has a Bad Cold. BERLIN, Nov. 28 .- The Emperor is suffering from a severe cold, which will prevent him from being present at the funeral of the hereditary Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar, and he will be obliged to abandon his proposed shooting expedition to Kuchelna.

No Butter? ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 28.—The municipal council of St. Petersburg have unanimously resolved to present bread and salt to Count Lannes de Montebello, the French ambassador to Russia. The ceremony is equivalent to a presentation of the freedom Rubinstein's Funeral. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 28. - The funeral of Antoin Gregor Rubinstein took place in the Alexander Newski Church at noon today. Delegates from many musical societies followed the coffin of the great pianist and composer from Peterhoff to St. Petersburg, when it was brought to the city yesterday.

Fear the Fenians. LONDON, Nov. 28 .- The police, and post officials of London and Liverpool are closely watching the development of a revival of Tenian activity in both cities. The movement is attributed to the American section of the Irish party. The police are constantly shadowing Mr. John Morley, Mr. Balfour and others who are interested in Irish affairs, to shield them from danger.

The Fated Romanoffs. LONDON, Nov. 28 .- The Times correspondent in Odessa says it is reported that the Czarewitch, who has lung disease, has become suddenly worse. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Central News mentions a rumor that the Czarewitch is dead, and the fact has been suppressed on account of the wedding. There is no confirmation of these reports.

The Beaver Line's Troubles. LIVERPOOL, Nov. 28 .- A meeting of the Beaver Steamship Company's creditors was held here today. It was stated that if a certain Liverpool bank was entitled under the debentures to a charge on the company's assets there would be nothing left. The courts could not decide whether or not the debenture holders were entitled to the first charge until after the arrival of the vicepresident with the trust deed and the appointment of an official liquidator. Proposals for a compromise have been made.

Russian Methods. BERLIN, Nov. 28 .- The correspondent of the United Press, returning from St. Petersburg, telegraphs from Eydikuhnen, on the frontier of Russia and Prussia, as follows: "Although berths had been engaged in St. Petersburg a week in advance, all the passengers in the sleeping car were turned out just before the train left St. Petersburg last evening in order that the car might be occupied by a Russian grand duke who was on his way to Warsaw.

Popularity of the Czar. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 28 .- The popularity of the Czar increases daily. He is dispensing with the military police body guard of the palace. His order withdrawing the troops from the line of route upon his wedding day has produced a good effect. The crowd were unable to believe that they would be allowed to stand and witness the procession without the invariable hedge of soldiers, and when they saw that this was a fact the populace were frantic with delight and expressed their satisfaction in a thousand wavs. There is no doubt that a marked change has taken place everywhere in St. Petersburg life in consequence of the Czar's admirable policy.

Johanna Bismarck's Burial. LONDON, Nov. 28 .- The Herald says that Princess Bismarck will be quietly buried et Varzin, but that the date of interment telegrams of sympathy and condolence are being received by the ex-Chancellor. The Emperor intended to go to Princess Bismarck's funeral, but his physicians dissuaded him owing to his cold. The Emperor has ordered his adjutant, Major Von Moltke, to attend the funeral. Prince Shockingly Barbarous Features of Leopold of Prussia has been designated by the Emperor to represent his Majesty at the funeral of Princess Bismarck, Prince Bismarck is greatly prostrated. Dr. Chrysander showed the ex-Chancellor a few hundred telegrams of sympathy and condolence received from relatives and exalted personages throughout Europe, including Queen

To Wind Up the War.

A Washington dispatch says: United States Ministers Denby and Dun at Pekin and Tokio, it is definitely stated here, are actively engaged in conduct of negotiations for peace between China and Japan. The State Department and Japanese legation here have confidential information that the American Ministers have already presented China's plea to Japan, and that details are rapidly being made, definite and satisfactory. The information has reached Washington officially that terms may be agreed upon at any moment, and that unless some entirely unforeseen event should occur the announcement of the result of the negotiations may be expected in a few

The Times' correspondent in Chee Foo, says Admiral Freemantle and 50 British officers landed at Port Arthur on the 25th. Kung, taotai of Port Arthur, a brother of the Chinese minister to England, has gone to Tien Tein. The reports of atrocities on both sides are confirmed. The Japanese, after finding the mutilated bodies of several comrades, gave no quarter, there being an indiscriminate massacre. Several Chinese soldiers and some tradesmen who tried to escape by sea were followed by torpedo boats and shot. A Shanghai dispatch says that the Japanese torpedo boats sunk more than twenty junks loaded with fugitives from Port Arthur. LONDON, Nov. 28 .- The Tokio correspondent of the Central News telegraphs: The Japanese have found at Port Arthur a chart which has enabled them to locate harbor. On Nov. 20, previous to the storming of the forts, the Japanese placed 100 ships and field guns in well chosen positions, and rained shot and shell upon the Chinese entrenchments. This bombardment made possible the rapid success of the assault.

There was an engagement near Mo Tien Ling on the 25th. The Kirin troops tried to come home. She had to wait twenty to break the Japanese right flank, but minutes or so. Frank came home and were repulsed. The Japanese loss was 48 went into the house. From her place of killed and wounded.

A Big Bicycle Factory Burned-Loss $.00,000 and 5.000 Men Out of Work.

Toledo, O., Nov. 28.—Fire tonight destroyed the Lozier Manufacturing Company's bicycle plant on Central avenue, said to be the second largest factory of the kind in the United States. The flames originated from the explosion of a tank of enameling fluid and in less than threequarters of an hour the building was destroyed. The loss will be not less than $500,000 and insurance $400,000. Five thousand men are thrown out of employ-

DETECTIVE REYBURN'S EVIDENCE. TORONTO, Nov. 28 .- It was late in the afternoon when the evidence of the detective was reached. Detective Slemin's evidence related only to the arrest.

Detective Reyburn had more interesting matter to tell. It was to him that the confession had been made. When the prisoner was brought to the station she was received by Reyburn, and after numerous protestations had at length broken down and said: "Well, I don't care, I'LL DESERVE WHAT I'LL GET. If you had a sister treated like that you would do the same." Detective Reburn said: "I don't understand-what do you mean?" Then prisoner said: "Well, I shot Frank Westwood.

THE MOTIVE. She then proceeded to state that back at the end of July or beginning of August last the deceased had met her at the foot of Jameson avenue in Parkdale, caught hold of her and tried to take improper liberties with her. She promised to get even with him.

Clara Ford added: "The boys had been teasing me; you know the way they tease colored people." She then detailed to Inspector Reburn the way she had gone to work to shoot Westwood.

THE AWFUL DEED. Leaving the house of Mrs. Orozier on the night of Oct. 6 at 9 p.m., where it will be remembered her revolver had been observed, she proceeded to Parkdale. Under the woman's dress was the clothing of a man, and coming to a dark and lonely spot exactly and control all the mines in the on her way to the Westwoods' she slipped out of her skirts and secreted them till her return. Then in man's attire she went to a snot near the Westwood house. Crawling through a hole in the picket fence, on one side of the house, she got in on the lawn, and standing under a tree, loaded the revolver and

THE FATAL MOMENT. Shortly before 11 they broke up and went to bed. Then she rang the bell, and on Frank Westwood opening the door and leaning out she shot him. Then turning she went through the hole in the fence, retraced her steps to the spot where she had secreted her clothes, and having donned her skirts proceeded to her lodging.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL. This evidence concluded the case, and the prisoner was committed for trial. She was totally unaffected during the afternoon by the evidence offered, and smiled occasionally when anything of a ludicrous nature occurred.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

James Sutherland Renominated in North Oxford.

Deminion Cabinet Ministers Billed to Stump Western Ontario Towns.

Woodsrock, Nov. 28 .- At the meeting of the North Oxford Reform Association, held here today, Mr. Jas. Sutherland, M.P., was the unanimous choice of the convention as their candidate for the Dominion House. Mr. Wm. Stewart was elected president, and Mr. Malcolm Douglass secretary of the association. Mr. Jas. Anderson and A. S. Ball, late president and secretary, voluntarily resigned. ST. THOMAS, Nov. 28.—Conservative meetings are to be addressed by Hon. John Haggart, Hon. J. C. Patterson, Dr. Montague, M.P., and Senator Ferguson at St. Thomas on Wednesday, Dec. 5, at Tilsonburg on the 6th and Niagara Falls on the 7th. Three of the four speakers will speak at each meeting. The meetings for the week following will be at Wiarton, Wingham, St. Marys, Galt and probably Listowel. Mr. Foster may speak at some of the meetings, which are all to be held in the evening except the one at St. Marys.

EAST LAMBTON CONSERVATIVES.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.) WATFORD, Nov. 28. - The Conservatives of the east riding of Lambton met in convention here today. There was a good attendance of delegates and the proceedings were harmonious. The P. P. A. element in the party held aloof, and made no attempt to influence the choice of the convention. George Monorieff, the present member, was unanimously elected, no other nominee being brought forward. The folowing officers were elected: President, Dr. Gibson, Watford; vice-president, J. M. Courtright, Inwood; secretary, Thomas Harris, Watford; recording secretary, W. J. Fitzgerald, Watford. Mr. Moncrieff made a strong N. P. speech in accepting the nomination. The usual resolutions were passed.

MORE PETITIONS WITHDRAWN. TORONTO, Nov. 28. -Orders were made at Osgoode Hall yesterday allowing the Provincial election petitions in the cases of North Toronto, East Toronto, South Norfolk and West Huron to be withdrawn. In the North Wentworth case notice was filed of an application to withdraw.

THE DEEP WATERWAY SCHEME Discussed by the Executive in Secret Conclave.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 .- A circle of secrecy surrounds the proceedings of the executive committee of the Deep Waterway Convention today. All the morning the question of whether the United States shall be at liberty to use Canada's ship canals was discussed behind locked doors. There were present two high public officials-one representing the United States and one Canada-whose names were not given out. The most important thing done by the convention was the adoption of a draft of a bill to be presented to Congress for prompt action. The bill embodies all of the concessions and privileges for which the convention has been fighting since its foundation. This morning's meeting completed the present session of the executive com-

September next. The essential features of the bill adopted are as follows: "That the United States shall enter into negotiations with Canada with a view to obtaining free use of the large canals of the latter country, for which privilege the United States is to agree to keep them in mittee, which adjourned to meet in Nashville, Tenn., subject to call by the chair-

WOMAN'S ART CLUB.

The First Annual Exhibit Opened-Some Meritorious Exhibits.

The first annual exhibition of the Woman's Art Club of this city opened at the rooms, 4361 Richmond street, this morning, and it the attendance keeps up as it has so far the club will be well rewarded for their efforts. The room in which the exhibit is being held is well laid out, and the many beautiful specimens of art shown are displayed on tables extending from end to end on both sides and down the center. They are covered with linen cloth, and the exhibits of the different artists are seperarated by ribbons. The exhibits number about 50, and include about 1,000 pieces of almost everything in the shape of china ware. There are jardinieres, plaques, afternoon tea trays, cups and saucers, tapestry, bon-bons, dessert plates, pin trays, vases, and a hundred and one other articles useful and ornamental. To mention the many displays worthy of notice would be impossible, but a few of them are the tapestry work of Misses Owrey, Cowan, Adams, Paul, Gunn, and the ladies of Hellmuth College, which, hanging around the walls, add very much to the artistic effect of the room. The work of Miss Galbraith, of Hamilton, is admired by all visitors. It includes a scene entitled "Physche at Nature's Mirror" and and elegant vase and jar. Miss Hessen, of Stratford, with a vase and many most dainty trifles, makes a splendid exhibit. A tray of white grapes and fruit by Miss Burnett, city, and a snowball tray by Miss Judd, of Hamilton, are exquisitely finished, and attract the eye of the visitors. The miniature paintings and medallions by Miss Proctor and Miss Bertram, of Parke.

Toronto, are gems. Among the exhibitors are the following from the city: Mrs. Fenwick, Miss Gussie Jarvis, Mrs. A. C. Johnston, Miss Gunn, Miss Clara Owrey, Miss Flo White, Miss Wright, Mrs. Mortimer, Mrs. Hume Cronyn, Mrs. Seavey, Miss Morphy, Miss Paul, Miss Butett, Mrs. Screaton, Miss Belton, Mrs. John Hunt, Miss Buckle, Miss Ager, Miss Kains, Miss Gibson, Mrs. (Hon.) David Mills, Miss Priddis, Mrs. C. W. Leonard, Mrs. Davis, Miss Brown and four pupils of Hellmuth College-Misses Raht, Albers, Broasted and Zekind. Mrs.

Leipsic has some very fine wood carving. The outsiders who have went to considerable expense to aid in making the exhibit a success are: Miss Galbraith, Hamilton; Mrs. (Dr.) Aikens, Miss Knapp, Miss Hannaford, Miss M. Thompson, Miss Bertran and Miss Proctor, Toronto; Mrs. Hesson and Miss Clark, Stratford; Mrs. W. A. Wilkes and Miss Spence, Brantford; Mrs. Dr. Fulton, St. Thomas, and Miss Judd, Hamilton.

The exhibition will be open every afternoon and evening, closing on Saturday night at 10 o'clock. The admission-10 cents-is within the reach of every citizen.

HORSEFLESH FOR FOOD.

The Taste for It Spreading in Europe-Sentiment and Science Against It. Hippophagy, or to speak less euphemistically, the habit of eating horseflesh, is spreading in Europe. While savage man is known to have sated his ravenous hunger on horseflesh or any other variety of flesh he could find, the modern origin of this peculiar taste dates from the siege of Paris, during the Franco-Prussian war, when the populace were compelled from dire necessity to sacrifice this noble quadruped to sustain life. Many acquired a taste for the meat and the demand for it did not cease with the capitulation of the

"It was to be seen on sale at many of the butchers' stalls, and has been ever since a staple article of diet for thousands of the poor of the French capital. For horseflesh is much cheaper than beef. Beef in Paris is worth 20 cents a pound, while horseflesh can be had for 8 cents a pound, which affords a reason why the barbarous custom should take such a firm hold upon these people when once neces-

Friday, Prince Bismarck being unable to sity gave it root. Once planted in Paris the practice spread to other Continental cities, especially Berlin, where horseflesh is now consumed in considerable quantities by the poorer classes, and the medical authorities and humanitarians are raising their voices against what they justly consider a barbarous and dangerous custom. The medical men warn the eaters of horseflesh that the horse is particularly liable to the disease known as trichinosis, also found in hogs, and while cooking generally destroys the germs of this disease, it cannot always be depended upon to do so. The disease is frightfully fatal in its effects and baffles medical skill. The humanitarians take the ground of sentiment, urging the almost human affection of the horse and the close companionship he has shared with man since the dawn of the human race. A base return, they deem it, to slaughter and eat this noble ereature. In spite of these warnings and protests hippophagy is on the increase in Europe. It has not yet reached Eugland, nor is it likely to as long as the roast beef and mutton of Australia and New Zealand last. Still, if the sentimental Britishers are too squeamish to eat their horses, they are not too squeamish to sell them to the Continent to be eaten. Quite a number of superannuated equines are exported for that purpose.

Train Robbers Foiled. SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 29.—The Southern Pacific passenger train, west bound, was held up at Elka at 12:30 o'clock this morning by two masked men. They fled before securing anything, however.

Blood hounds will soon be on their track. A Source of Dyspepsia.

A fruitful source of dyspepsia is the habit of eating too rapidly and washing the food down with drink, instead of chewing it thoroughly so as to moisten every article of food with the saliva of the mouth. When serious complications do result calomel and other poisonous drugs should not be resorted to. Eseljay's Liver Lozenges will positively care these troubles without injury to the system. They are 25 cents a box, or five boxes for a dollar.

THE KIDNAPPING CASE

Enlarged For a Week to Find Three Witnesses.

A Crowded Court Room - Interesting Array of Legal Talent-Prelimnary Crossfiring.

Today was the date set for the hearing of the Morkin kidnapping case at the police court. Before the magistrate arrived the court was crowded both inside and outside the railing. The five defendants-Messrs. Boyd, Logan (two), Kingsmill and Donaldson-sat behind their lawyers on the bench usually occupied by witnesses. In front of the cage sat Mr. Edwin Morkin, the prosecutor, and his son, John Morkin, who is alleged to have been spirited away the night before the election. At the right sat Mr. P. H. Bartlett and Mr. I. F. Hellmuth; facing the magistrate were Messrs. Hume Elliot, Emanuel T. Essery and Mr. R. M. C. Toothe. Mr. J. B. McKillop represented the crown.

When the case was called Mr. McKillop announced that the crown was prepared to proceed, but would not be able to complete today. There were three witnesses who had not been served.

The magistrate asked if it was desirable to both parties to hear part of the case and postpone it. Mr. Hellmuth stated that he appeared for Mr. Kingsmill, and it was not reasonable after the lapse of so many days that the crown should not have all its witnesses

"Who are the witnesses?" asked Mr. "George Cicely, Thomas Webb and George McDonald," answered Mr. Mc-Killop.

"Do they live out of town?" "No," answered Mr. McKillop. "One lives in London West, another in the city. and the other in Pottersburg."

"Why were they not served?" asked the magis: rate. "Well," explained Mr. McKillop, "this young man Morkin only came out of the City Hospital after noon yesterday-Mayor Essery-That statement is not correct. He was begging whisky the day after election and we can prove it. Mr. McKillop (continuing)-The day after election he was confined to his father's house and escaped from it. He went into the hospital on Thursday of last week and was in until yesterday. In consequence we did not know of these witnesses until yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hellmuth-But why could not the man have been seen at the hospital? The Magistrate-Excuse me. Let me say something. Do I understand that because this young man was confined to the hospital the crown did not hear of these witnesses? Mr. McKillop-Yes, your Worship. And we had subpænas out within two hours afterwards.

Mr. Parke-Then I will allow further time for the summoning of witnesses. The magistrate asked whether the defense would care to proceed and hear the case in part or enlarge it in toto for a week. Mr. Essery, for Messrs. Logan and Boyd, replied that he did not want to go on with the case piecemeal, and Mr. Elliot expressed a similar feeling on behalf of Mr. Donaldson. The case was then enlarged for a week.

A Long Talk. BERLIN, Nov. 29 .- A number of journalists of Berlin and Vienna today made a trial of the telephone between the two cities and a conversation was successfully maintained. The line will be formally opened for use on Dec. 1. An Important Election. LONDON, Nov. 29 .- A very interesting bye-election is impending, interesting chiefly because it follows so close upon the recent Government defeat in Forfarshire, Scotland. The contest, which will come off early in December, is in the Brigg division of Lincolnshire. Mr. Reckitt is the Liberal candidate, and J. M. Richardson, who ran at the last two general elections, is the Conservativ standard bearer. The election is due to the retirement of S. D. Waddy, who has been appointed re-corder of Sheffield, from Parliament. The Liberal majority in July, 1892, was 427, and at the previous general election in 1886 it was 165.

Jealousy D.d It. WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 29 .- At 5 clock this morning Miss Kate Quirk, a domestic employed in the Kendall House, and Charles N. Richards, a saloon-keeper, were found in the Quirk woman's rooms with their throats cut. Miss Quirk was dead and Richards cannot recover. The latter is 38 years of age and has a family. It is said that he and Miss Quirk have been intimate for some time and that jealousy prompted Richards to commit the deed.

Manslaughter in Guelph. GUELPH, Ont., Nov. 29.-The coroner's jury, who have been sitting in the Johnson alleged murder case every night since Saturday last, have brought in a verdict of manslaughter against Cass, and Reating is held as an accessory. It will be remembered that Johnson, who was under the influence of liquor, struck Cass twice in the face at Borsch's Hotel, when the latter clinched with him and they fell heavily to the floor-Cass on top. In the evidence it was shown that Cass struck the deceased several times while the latter was down, and that some onlookers who tried to pull Cass off were stopped by Keating. The affray lasted only about half a minute, but Johnson was dying when picked up. HOUSE'S EVIDENCE

Important Testimony About an Abso. lute Cure for Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 29 .- There are hundreds of citizens in this place who today cheerfully and gratefully join with your Pennsylvania correspondent in giving testimony to the full success of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the treatment of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Anyone writing Mr. J. M. House can easily verify my statement. As you value your health, as you desire long life, free from sickness and suffering, give the kidneys attention. Keep them in good condition by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and thus prevent the insidious Bright's disease from gaining a oothold.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM. Mr. Lawry and the Stuffed Hog.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER. Messrs. Lawry & Son, pork packers, Hamilton, say in Toronto Globe, Nov. 21: "The fact of farmers and drovers over feeding hogs to such an extent before selling or shipping is getting beyond all endurance, as it is simply knocking the Canadian export trade to pieces in favor of other countries."

This simply means Canadian farmers and packers are scoundrels beyond comparison with any other country. In fact the whole article shows a great want of modesty. He also assumes a threatening attitude, and invites others to come and jump upon the Canadian farmer. Will Mr. Lawry be kind enough to look at this question from a farmer's standpoint. London is our perk delivery. There the pork dealers dock two pounds on each dressed carcass. I find on inquiry that they are docking us for a gullet and tail gut. Now, I do not believe either of these | the building to the ground. The firemen let are present in one dressed hog in 50. But the farmer is docked all the same. It other buildings near. The two massive appears the only way to get even is to leave those in. That practice is giving a premium for dirty, untidy dressing. When the farmer delivers live hogs he is docked 25 cents per 100 pounds under shipper's rates for stuffing. This, when they have not tasted food for eighteen hours and ridden fifteen miles in a crowded wagon, and pronounced by the weigh clerk to be in proper condition for weighing. If hogs are to be starved much longer than that, they certainly have greater reason to squeal than Mr. Lawry. The American packer is the great by a severe attack of inflammatory rheumacompetitor in the British market that is to "knock Mr. Lawry out." A comparison of the prices paid by each: Mr. Lawry says he is paying in Hamilton, Nov. 21, $4 25; In Toronto at same date, $4 25 to $4 30; in Buffalo Nov. 21, $4 80 to $4 90, or 60 cents per cwt. Will Mr. Lawry please explain this 60 cents the American farmer has over the Canadian farmer? The figures appear to indicate that it is the Canadian farmer that is to be "knocked out." Protection promised the Canadian farmer $2 per cwt over the American farmer. A continued comparison of the Toronto and the Buffalo markets will give a conclusive answer to this. The farmer has a good many parasites preying apon him. He is forced to buy spray pumps and paris green to keep himsel from being devoured. Now, I presume we will need to get a larger spray pump to save ourselves from the new 60-cent parasite who threatens to jump upon us. THOS. B. SCOTT, Vanneck.

Mr. Moses Hunsperger, a respected farmer, living a mile west of Arthur, met a sudden death Monday. Just as he was driving down the steep Warrow hill the front axle of the buggy broke, percipitating the occupant, who fell with his head fore-most, striking the hard gravel. He lived only two hours. He leaves a wife and several children.

On Saturday night last three more threatening notices of firebugs were posted in Chatham township. They were discovered the following morning on the resi-dence of Messrs. Wm. Abram, Slater and Weaver, on con. 2, and were yesterday hander over to the crown attorney, Wm. Douglas, Q.C. The notices contained threats of fire to the houses and barns of the residents, and advised them to keep their horses out of the stable unless they wished them burned. The constabulary are at work on the case.

A sad affair occurred in Arthur Sunday morning, when Moses Hembling, who arrived there about two weeks ago from Dakota, committed suicide. Another Change in London West's Municipal Management.

And Another One is Chesen - " Gross Rascality" in Village Affairs Charged

One of the Newly-Appointed Auditors Refuses to Act,

-Where is That $10 Interest on the Street Railway Deposit?

The turmoil in London West's affairs, which has existed throughout the present year, has not yet abated, and the prospects are that it will be continued till the end of the present term. Every efficial in the village employed last year, with the exception of the constable, has been dismissed, the last to lose their heads being Auditors Wm. Gibson and W. T. Duff. In the place of these Maxwell Armstrong and R. Johnston were appointed, but the former did not want the position, which is only worth $30 a year. Mr. Armstrong did not send in his resignation, but communicated with the newspapers to that effect. A special meeting of the council was called last night to make a new appointment. The session was not stormy but a great amount of cross-firing was done, and mary old sores were reopened. Proceedings began with explanations by the reeve, who said that when he entered the council he suspected crooked work was being done, but never dreamed that such rascality existed among the officials.

An application for the position of auditor was read from Mr. F. J. Johnson, who resides in the city, but is a village ratepayer, Councilor Moore expressed surprise at the refusal of Mr. Armstrong to act. He then moved that Mr. Johnson be appointed, and the motion carried without discussion. Deputy Reeve Scarrow wondered what the necessity was for appointing new audi-

The Reeve-To audit the accounts of Mr. Scarrow-There is no use in incurring any further expenditure in that direction. It had already cost the village $130 to audit these accounts, and nearly every schoolboy was familiar with the statement.

"But there has never been a proper audit made. What was done was fraudulent, and any school boy who would put his name to the auditors' statement should be flogged," said the reeve. "I came here merely to straighten out village aflairs-not to injure anyone, and I have done this to the utmost of my ability." Mr. Macdonald then gave a review of the replevin proceedings against Mr. Bartram and Mr. Nicholls, and said there were many books which could not be tound.

Mr. Moore (to the deputy reeve)-Yes, last year it was stated by you on the platform that the indebtedness of the village was $39,000, but it has since been found to be $41,370, and the council last year knew but made extensive many the was forced to mortgage his farm. The he was forced to mortgage his crops, and he finally lost all his property. He returned to Arthur, but was unable to find employ-to Arthur, but was unable to Arthur, but was unable to find employ-to Arthur, but was unable to Arthur, but was unable to Arthur, b the former figures were about $500 out. you will find that in one year he was $700

Mr. Scarrow could not see any necessity of raking these things up again. For the last few years every cent could be accounted for. Good auditors were appointed, and their statements were accepted. But what did the present council do? They got a special audit. There was no reason for it, and it was only spending the people's money for GAS BRACKETS and HALL LAMPS, nothing. This was the reave's rejoinder: "Well,

If you took as good care of the people's money as we do the village would be all right. No matter what the cost, we want to know how the corporation stands." "Well," said the deputy, as he heaved a long sigh, "I hope the appointment of this auditor will be a finality. You have succeeded in bouncing every official except the constable. Mr. Moore tried to fire him. but it did not succeed. Mr. Stanley, of Lucan, one of the best auditors in the county, presented a statement on Mr. Nicholls' books, and you would not accept it. He did not suit your finance minister. By the way, Councilor Moore is the chairman of finance. He objected to any personal remarks. "We might as well clean out the whole nest," he said. The bylaw for the new appointment was read twice and on the third reading Mr. Hamilton and Deputy Scarrow moved that instead of finally passing it, the old auditors be requested to make any statements the reeve desired in regard to their audit. The amendment was lost, and the deputy reeve followed with another motion that Finance Minister Moore pay the expense of the new audit.

This was ruled out of order, as was a counter motion by Mr. Moore that Mr. Scarrow pay up the $3,000 deficiency in WHERE IS THE INTEREST? The question of refunding to the street railway company the interest on their $1,000 deposit was brought up, and Mr. Simpson said he had gone to the late treasurer and mentioned the matter to him. Mr. Nicholls reiterated the statement that the sum was still laying in the bank. Mr. Scarrow-How did you get the document-by mail, or was it handed to you?

The Clerk-It was handed to me. Mr. Scarrow-I thought so. I didn't believe the manager of the railway would do any such picayune business unless prompted to it.

To this remark the reeve objected. It was a mean insinuation, and wasn't the first that had been made by the deputy. Mr. Scarrow then stated his conviction that anything belonging to the street railway which the village held should not be handed over until the railway agreement was carried out. The road had been left in a very poor state. The question was further referred and the council adjourned.

STATE CONTROL AND STATE RASCALITY.

At a recent gathering of workingmen in Kingston, Principal Grant pointed out that the State, as represented by the Dominion Government, had proved a very bad manager of enterprises. The Intercolonial Railroad was the only railroad owned by the Government, and it had run half or three quarters of a million a year behind. It had to be carried on by the Government. It was the same with the Galops Canal, Curran bridge, and everything else the Government had a finger in. There was a lack of system and general waste in the management of the business of the Canadian people. Principal Grant is an earnest and intelligent student of public affairs, and weight

should be given to his views with regard to maladministration at Ottawa. It does not necessarily follow, however, because State management has proved a failure at Ottawa, that the principle is wrong. There are two sides to the question, and the experience of honestly-governed countries certainly favors State or municipal control of such monopolies as can, with upright management, be run in the interest of the whole people. For many years, Great Britain has had a national monopoly of the telegraph business within her borders, but no one makes the complaint against her Government that Principal Grant lays to the charge of the men at Ottawa. Great Britain, by her admirable system of parcel post, has also ness and general public, but no one ever even hints that jobbery has characterized its management. Germany, too, has her State railways, and so has France. What has been the experience with regard to the taxes are collected in the first instance solely because they are needed for the or to equander on unnecessary and unproductive works, which are undertaken as a bribe to certain localities, we will begin to reach that ideal system of government which will give every man what he earns. Then the crop of self-seeking venal politicians will be vastly decreased, and the temptation to manage State-controlled monopolies so as to have them "milked" for the benefit of the men in power and their friends will be removed. The change will not come if electors prefer to regard wrong doing on the part of public men as "smart," or condone rascality of the worst stamp because the proceeds go to an election fund.

-Mr. Patterson was able to defeat Mr. M. C. Cameron in West Huron in the byethe general election now approaching. Hence the anxiety of the Essex man to get of a respectable, enterprising, churchoust Dr. King, the Conservative candidate for South Essex, and give the nomination to Mr. Patterson. To accomplish this another convention has been called for tomorrow. Dr. King declines to be super- pany, which seems to have been Mr. Patterson and his wirepullers, and ling anyone that could be duped. says he will fight it out to the "bitter end." | The concern was made up of "Dr." Holmes, He will never resign, he says, for Mr. Patterson or anyone else. Poor Mr. Patterson, will no constituency take pity on him?

ADOPT THE BRITISH MODEL. It is not a very comfortable thing to be a member of the Russian royal family. The late Czar is said to have had his death hastened by long years of fear that his subjects would dispose of him at any moment, as they disposed of his father, who was assassinated like a dog. The new Czar has and dismay by appearing on the street unattended and mingling freely with the populace. That should not be a difficult thing for a popular sovereign to do, but Russian methods of government have caused millions of the Czar's subjects to regard the Czar as the embodiment of the cruel and autotiberties, and are undoubtedly responsible of his adventures he has said that Annie Scribbling and Exercise Books for the outbreaks of the past. #### DOES AUDITING AUDIT?

London West Council is still engaged in trying to solve the municipal puzzle of whether or not their books have been properly audited. The directors of the Shoe and Leather Bank of New York City are no longer in doubt as to where they stand with regard to their auditors. A clerk in their employ, who received $1,800 a year, abstracted $354,000 out of the bank before anybody discovered the leak, though his operations were continued over eight years. Once more the gravest fears are suggested that auditing does not always COMPOSITION FROM MODELS." This is the title of a valuable work by Mr. W. J. Alexander, Ph.D., Professor of English in University College, Toronto, and Mr. M. F. Libby, B.A., English Master in the Parkdale Collegiate Institute, Toronto. It is published in excellent style by The Copp Clark Company, Toronto. No one can doubt the need of a work such as this; nor can any deny the general importance of skill in composition. Everybody has to "compose," in prose, to some extent. It is asserted that everybody writes poetry, or what passes for such, in the earlier years of life, but the poetical the teens. Not so with prose composition, which has to do with everybody and at every turn of lite. The boy or girl who has been trained in the slightest degree to write clearly, tersely, vigorously, rather than mistily, diffusely and feebly, will later on show it, whether in business letters or in private communications, in reports of committees, or in the very writing of advertisements. Marvelous is the power of combined words. Even great ideas need to be presented in the garb of appropriate language if they are to have their full effect. In the higher reaches of composition you find consummate artists like Tennyson, Macaulay, Shakespeare or Milton, who demonstrate how words can be made to harmonize and stir like the chords of an organ, or glow like the colors of a painting by Titian.

This volume strikes us as the best practical book for use in schools and colleges that we have yet seen; nor do we remember a book with a more admirable series of extracts from writers worthy of being

Much money thus came to him easily, but like ill-gotten gains generally it went as fast as it came. He married him another wife without troubling himself about the deserted Mrs. Mudgett in New Hampshire, and finally, three years ago, landed in Chicago as greedy and uncupulous and daring a wreten as ever hired him a roost in that city of speculation. There he established himself in two enterprises-one as a druggist, dealing largely in unlawful goods, and the other as the Campbell-Yates Comseded. He opposes the intermeddling of formed purely for the purpose of swinda certain Pitezel, who had been Holmes' assistant in many a little crooked deal in the west and was now masquerading as Mr. Campbell, the rich capitalist: Miss Minnie Williams, of Fort Worth, who was acting as "Dr." Holmes' typewriter, and lastly, a certain colored man named Diamond. The Campbell-Yates Company, thus officered, swindled several hundred Chicago people out of accounts ranging from $10 to $10,000 and coming in the total to near $100,000. Miss Williams and her sister came from Fort Worth, where they were of good family. They were orphans, with about $100,000 from their father between them. begun bravely. He has created excitement They went about the country trying theatricals and various other little matters that ate up their for une. They had it pretty well mortgaged when they fell in with "Dr." Holmes, who speedily devoured the rest. Holmes is understood to have gone through a form of marriage with Miss Minnie Williams, and her sister Annie lived with them. It is now believed that eratic system of repression of popular he murdered both these girls. In talking vide for a gradual approach towards the weighted by stones. If this statement is correct, where is Annie Holmes?

Even so adroit a swindler as Holmes could not forever keep out of the meshes of the law. To hold the title of the Williams property in Fort Worth he had to raise money quickly. A Philadelphia insurance company was applied to for a $10,000 policy for himself. Then he introduced the man Pitezel as a rich business man, who would take a $10,000 policy also. Pitezel's wife and children were sent to St. Louis, and Pitezel went to Philadelphia under the name Perry and became a real estate dealer. Holmes next proceeded to New York, where he bought a corpse and had it shipped to Philadelphia. Pitezel, alias Perry, burnt the corpse's face a bit, fixed it out in the sleeping-room over the shop and made things look as if a fire had started from a pipe and had caught the clothing of the corpse and had burned it to death. Then he disappeared. The coroner sat on the body, it was buried as B. F. Perry, and the story was widely circulated. Mrs. Pitezel wrote from St. Louis, saying that she believed the man was her husband. Perr body was dug up, and witnesses sent by Mrs. Pitezel identified the remains as that of her husband. The insurance company paid the money on Sept. 25, and the spoils were divided. It is said that Pitezel got his share and went into hiding in New York city. His wife, however, was disconsolate and besieged Holmes, imploring him to give her back her husband, whom she alleged the swindler had made away with. Pinkerton detectives had meanwhile been on the trail of Holmes, who had been on a visit to the first Mrs. Holmes, or, rather, the original and only Mrs. Mudgett, cacoethes scribendi usually passes off with and he was arrested and put in jail, where he now lies, while the world is being scoured for the missing Pitezel.

We have given a brief summary of the doings of this notorious scoundrel not because we delight in the details of criminal performances, but to show how even the most adroit law-breaker finally rounds up in disgrace. Sometimes we see the career of swindlers served up in such a form as to cast a glamor over the young and unthinking, thus tending to make them believe that there is, after all, something attractive in crime. Never was there a more false doctrine promulgated. "There is no rest for the wicked." Even while the so-called successful criminal is in the height of his supposed enjoyments, he is in constant dread that justice will overtake him. His ill-gotten gains are soon squandered, and he goes from bad to worse, until finally he is sent to the penitentiary for a long term or ends his ignominious coreer on the scaffold. This is the fate of ninety-nine out of every hundred criminals, and the fact cannot be too strongly impressed upon the rising generation,

USE AND ABUSE OF TOOTHPICKS.

[From the Lancet.] The toothpick, judiciously used, is of undoubted value. Of the materials used as toothpicks the best is the quill, with the sharp point removed, but with this, as with all other forms, care must be observed. By indiscriminate application the gums may be so irritated and injured as to cause recession and thus increase the existing trouble, or inflammation of the tooth membrane may be caused, a most annoying condition, and one in which the still more vigorous use of the toothpick gives temporary relief, only in reality to add fuel to the fire. Metal toothpicks are good because blunt-pointed, but are too thick to pass between teeth at all close together. Wood need only be mentioned to be condemned, for it is a by no means uncommon occurrence for small fibers to become detached and jamined between the socket and tooth, leading to chronic periostitis and even loss under the name of Holmes took a of the tooth if the condition is not recog-

AN IMPORTANT RESULT.

(Toronto correspondent Montreal Witness,) The Liberal success in London has some mportance from another point of view. It discounts the Patrons by throwing the control of the Legislative Assembly into the hands of Sir Oliver Mowat. He has now an actual majority of the seats and his chances of winning a few more at bye-elections, if any of the members should be unseated, is greatly improved. Nothing succeeds like success. The mere fact that the Government is sure to remain in power for another term will win for it the support of many who would otherwise have been found hostile or indifferent. All hope of a coalition between the Conservatives and the Patrons is cut off by the fact that such a coalition would be powerless to defeat the Government. It is not likely that it would have been regarded with favor by the Patrons in any event, for eleven out of their seventeen are old Liberais, who would probably see that their former leader gets fair play in developing his policy. That some concessions will be made to Patron demands seems to be the general expectation

Second Day of the International Bicycle Contest at New York.

THE WHEEL.

INTERNATIONAL CONTESTS. NEW YORK, Nov. 28 .- The second day of the great international bicycle tournament at Madison Square Garden brought better racing and fewer accidents than the first. The attendance was larger than yesterday, and the excitement was sustained throughout. By all odds the finest race of the day was the mile professional event, in which Verheyen, the German champion, overcame Harry Wheeler's long lead on the last two laps and tied him at the pole, amid wild excitement, both riders making a world's indoor record. Verheyen is the prettiest rider in the tournament, and has established himself as a popular favorite. The professional ten-mile event brought together Zimmerman, Wheeler, Verheyen, Edwards, Berlo and Martin. It was a race for any or all until close upon the finish, when Zimmerman lost his pedal and dropped out. Martin, seeing this, sprang away and won in a rush followed by Wheeler and Verheven. The Mosquito Matter Creates Some Little Stir.

Uncle Sam Counting Up the Warships Available for Service on the South American Coast.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 .- The President has received from Secretary Gresham an official Navy Department memorandum, showing how completely the navy is in condition to meet an emergency on either the Atlantic or Pacific coast of South Amer.s. While it is explained that the memo was prepared for the use of the President in his annual message, without particular reference to the Mosquito matter, it is learned upon unquestionable authority that it relates really to the announced determination of Great Britaincommunicated yesterday to Ambassador AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 28 .- The Werner Bayard in London-to frown upon the in-Company, the publishing concern with terference of Nicaragua in the local, municipal and domestic affairs of the inhabitants Akron, announces that the wages of its of the Mosquito Territory, though fully employes, 1,000 in number, will be re- recognizing the sovereignty of Nicaragua stored to the standard of a year ago when | in control of the international matters of the Mosquito coast.

The explanation offered at the State Department was that the President was given the information for use in connection with strong recommendations he intended to make regarding American control of any ship canal that may be built across Central America, without any special reference to Nicaragua, and a prominent naval officer, who helped to prepare the memorandum, said he understood the information was to be used in connection with a section of the message treating of the continual state of unrest in Central America, as evidenced in the Salvadorian embroglio, the menacing attitude of Mexico and Guatemala over the boundary question, as well as the Nicaraguan disturbance and the resulting necessity of maintaining a strong fleet constantly in the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean Sea.

While it is considered doubtful that the attitude of Great Britain will continue unvielding in face of the earnest representations made by Secretary Gresham, it is uncontrovertible that the United States is fully prepared to insist upon a full recognition of rights upon the American continent which it has unequivocally claimed and uninterruptedly maintained for the past 70 years.

The most important development in the attitude of the United States to-day was the action of the President in communicating to Rear Admiral Walker an intimation that in case of necessity for mobilizing an American fleet on the Central American coast, he should hold Admiral Walker in readiness to assume command. The ships that could be assembled withn ten days under Admiral Walker in the West Indies are the New York, Columbia, Son Francisco, Marblehead, Castine and Montgomery, leaving the Minneapolis, Mantonomah, Raleigh, Atlanta, Cincinnati with the Texas and Maine monitors and torpedo boats.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 28. - The Mosquito incident and the rumor that obtained currency here a month ago that Great Britain demand substantial damage from Nicaragua for the violation of the treaty of 1869 has taken on new importance. H. M. S. Mohawk, stationed at Port Limen, the Hovas to resist the French, has been Costa Rica, 120 miles from Greytown and 240 from Bluefields, has been fully provisioned from this naval station, stores and supplies having been specially sent to her by an English steamer.

Chief or Prince Clarence is here as a guest and protege of Great Britain. On nis arrival he was a guest on H. M. S. Urgent, the guardship at the dockyard. Recently he has moved up to the residence of Mr. Edwin S. Hatch. Mr. Hatch was H. M. S. consul at Bluefields up to the time of his arrest and expulsion from Nicaragua. The distinguished attention paid Prince Clarence has a signifi-

Prince Clarence left Bluefields on British man-of-war at the time when his life was threatened. Mrs. Hatch and family were taken to Port Limon on the Mohawk. Mr. Hatch, while the recognized agent of her Britannic Majesty's Government, was arrested and, with many others, British and American, taken to Managua, there imprisoned, and without trial were expelled from the country. Great Britain's claim for this outrage adds to the many millions of dollars claimed by her subjects for previous outrages. The total is said to exceed $40,000,000. Germany has a large claim. The Americans' claims are said to amount to fally $10,000,000. For over two centures Great Britain claimed sovereignty over that part of the coast of Central America. The Mosquitos ever since have been a free and unconquered race, and an active ally of Great Britain.

About a century ago a Mosquito contingent arrived in this island and assisted England in restoring peace. The many vexatious questions between the Government of the Mosquito nation and the Government of Nicaragua led to a long and tedious arbitration. The arbitrator named by Great Britain was his Majesty Emperor Joseph of Austria. The decision was in favor of the Mosquitos. On all questions concerning their independence and territory they were free factors under the sovereignty of Nicaragua.

Two direct ineults have been offered Great Britain. Her Majesty's consul at Greytown, Mr. Herbert Bingham, for nearly sixteen years consul there, has his exequatur withdrawn, and Mr. Hatch was arrested. Nicaragua will be disciplined for it as Guatemala was by the English and Nicaragua by the Germans. Many believe that Chief Clarence will be reinstated by England in rights that are clearly his. Owing to the present distribution of the West Indian fleet, a number of powerful vessels can be concentrated at Bluefields at short notice.

The belief obtains that Great Britain has had ample time to study the claims of her subjects, and that Nicaragua must make the amende honorable.

IN THE PRISONERS' FAVOR.

Alleged Battle Creek Train Wreckers Likely to Get Off.

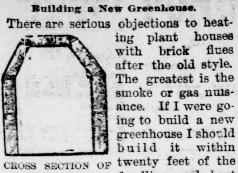

BATTLE CREEK, Nov. 28 .- The attorneys for the prisoners awaiting trial for wrecking the G. T. R. train in July have secured a good pointer in the line of defense.

At a trial in Fargo, N. D., a witnes swore he was paid $400 and his expenses to testity against the prisoner, and that the money was to be paid him by the chief of the detectives who had been working on the case. The prisoners have refused testifying in the cases, and if the defense succeeds in impeaching the detective there

FLUE HEATING

CROSS SECTION OF twenty feet of the dwelling and heat FLUE. it with a hot water furnace. Of course this would not be practicable for a large greenhouse, although it might be if steam was used instead of hot water. The pipes conveying the hot water or steam could be jacketed with wood and carried through a sewer pipe conduit opening into the greenhouse, or the pipes could run open in a glass arcade connecting the house and plant house, this arcade being also used for plants. The arcade would give dry and warm access to the greenhouse at all times, and be a great comfort if any part of the management, or greenhouse work, fell to the lot of the women of the

But a man of small capital may not be able to do this, consequently I describe the erection of a heating flue. For burning wood, the fire box should be long enough to freely admit wood thirty-two inches long, or say 36 inches from the door to the back wall of the furnace; 14 inches wide by 16 or 17 inches high are good lateral dimensions. There should be one foot of brick on either side and at the back end, and the top may be arched or covered with fire brick tile that may be procured of any dealer in fire brick. The brick work should be clamped together by placing on either side, upright, 2 pieces of iron, ½ by 2½ inches, connected at top and bottom with 1-inch rods. This prevents spreading and cracking of the brick work. There should be a grate two feet long in the front bottom of the furnace with an ash box eight inches deep underneath.

In regard to length of furnace, I will say that 32 or 34-inch wood is as long as can conveniently be managed, and if much shorter, will not afford fire enough. In order to have good draught the bottom of the flue should be at least 18 inches above the inside of the arch. and the throat should not be larger than, say, a seven-inch pipe, if the flue is three bricks high, and if only two, then five is large enough. The furnace should be lined with fire brick, and the flue for six or eight feet should also be of fire brick, the furnace laid in fire clay and the flue put up with lime mortar, the sand having about 10 per cent. of loam in it. A foundation of flat stone should be laid on the earthen floor of the plant house, raising the bottom of the five three or four inches. A foundation of small stone leveled with mortar is just as good. For a house 16x50 the flue should be eight inches wide in the clear on the bottom, and three brick high, the top course inclined so that one brick will cover it placed crossways and resting on the sides one-half the width of the thickness of the edge.

The whole flue should be plastered outside with mortar one-third loam, and well troweled down. The furnace should be in the northwest corner of the house and the chimney in the opposite or northeast, the flue running around under the bench 18 inches from the inner side of the outer wall. In should rise 1 inch in every foot, and the chimney should be 15 feet high. The weighed with pig iron, railroad iron 147, 149 and 151 DUNDAS a better garment than or large stone to prevent the intense heat and pressure from lifting the top. An old Scotch gardener taught me all about building and run ning brick flues ten years before Hen issued, and he told me what Hendersor does not, and that is the way to propor tion the size of a flue to the wants of a outside measurement of the sides and top of a flue should measure one-third the width of the greenhouse. A flue with three bricks on edge and covered with a length of bricks, measures about 3 feet wide, which with the return would be right for a house 24 feet wide, but I have found that it is better not to figure too close, and would use this size for a 16 foot house. I give a cross section of a flue. Henderson's book treats of matters that every beginner should know, and tells how to heat with hot water.-L. B. Pierce, in Ohio Farmer.

Itching piles is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worse at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore, ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly a ected from this disease. causing unbearable irritation and trouble. Nearly 60 guests were present, and an extensive array of both useful, valuable and handsome gifts bore testimony to the general esteem in which the bride was held. Miss Mary A. Hunten supported the bride and Thos. A. Taylor, brother of the bride, was groomsman. The dresses of the ladies were beautiful in the extreme. Rev. J. J. Moore, pastor of the Beth- Emanuel Church, performed the ceremony. The happy couple left for Detroit at an early hour this morning.

-It has been previously announced that the Salvationists will have their self-denial week during the week, Dec. 1 to 8, and efforts are now being put forth in a practical way, as we conclude from the contents of the War Cry and the special pamphlets and appeals which are being distributed by the soldiers and officers. The proceeds of previous self-denial weeks in Canada have been continually increasing, and there are many reasons to believe that this year's effort will exceed the former. Many officers and soldiers have determined to live actually on bread and water-others next to it-in order to raise a good share of the total aimed at. Soldiers have been told off to visit from house to house and solicit contributions. In other places the bands have arranged to serenade, and by this means raise something towards the "Target." The London corps has pledged itself to raise $250.

The Proceeds Garnisheed.

At the close of the performance of 'Pinafore" last night Bailiff Buras, representing McEvoy, Wilson & Pope, garnisheed the proceeds of the evening to the extent of $75. The action was taken on behalf of Boosey & Co., London, England, who own the copyright of "The Grand Duchess." which the London Amateur Opera Company performed on three occasions. The holders of the copyright want $25 for each performance. It is alleged that the committee in charge of "Finafore" is almost identical with the committee which had charge of participate in the celebration of St. "The Grand Duchess"-hence the action. | Andrew's Day.

Concert at the Asylum. A very interesting and delightful entertainment was given last evening at the asylum for the amusement of the patients under the anspices of the employes of the Hobbs Hardware Company. Following was the programme: Cornet solo, Mr. H. St. George; song, Mr. W. L. Blakie; character song, Mr. A. W. Jutson; clarionet solo, Mr. George Platt; song, Miss B. Land; instrumental duet, Messrs. George -Dr. C. E. Wettlaufer, of the University and A. Platt; duet, Misses Hartson; cornet solo, Mr. H. St. George; character song, Mr. A. W. Jutson; clarionet solo, Mr. Geo. Platt; duet, Miss Land and Mr. Blakie; instrumental duet, Messis. Platt and V. Colwell; song, Mr. Blakie; duet, Misses Hartson. Accompanist, Master Victor Colwell. Mr. St. George as a cornetist is already so well known that he does not require eulogizing. His name is a guarantee of a masterly performance. Miss Land and Mr. Blakie sang in a very acceptable manner, and the Misses Hartson, in their rendition of "Surely," evinced taste and displayed to advantage their well-trained clever character vocalist, was at his best, and that he succeeded in pleasing his audience was proven by the fact that he was recalled no less than six times. It is said to be the intention of the employes of the Hobbs Hardware employes to give a concert in the Opera House at an early date, the proceeds of which will be entrusted to responsible persons for due notice will be given.

The Government Award Foreigners Public Work-Want a Remedy.

OTTAWA, Nov. 29 .- Since Andrew Onderdonk, of Chicage, was awarded the contract for the construction of a portion of the Trent Canal at the price of about $500 .-000 there had been mutterings of dissatisfaction among Canadian contractors. Within the past week contractors from all over the country have congregated at Ottawa. The general opinion among them seemed to be that some statutory provisions should be made to confine Canadian public contracts to Canadian contractors. Major McLennan, M.P., says that in the event of the Government not taking up the matter next session he will himself introduce a bill providing against the letting of contracts for public works to bidders other than British subjects. Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and aflections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

"See here, Mr. Richard: don't worry yourself about not being able to keep up a nouse for Mr. North. I'd do my part in that: do it all, if need be. He and my hus-band were partners and friends, and grew rich together. Mr. Norh has lost his Bavings, but I have kept mine; and I will never see him wanting comfort while he lives. We'll look out for a pretty villa with a lovely garden; and he'll be happier in it than he has ever been in that grand Hall. If madam doesn't like to bring her pride down to it, let her go off elsewhere—and a good riddance of bad rubbish. Mr. Richard, have you heard the news about Mary Dallory?"
"What news?" he asked.

"That she's going to be married to Captain Bohun."

Richard North drank his tea to the dregs.

His face had flushed a little.

"I hear that madam wishes it, and is working for it," he answered. "Miss Dallory was staying with them when they were at Sir Nash Bohun's."

"I know madam has given it out that they're going to marry," rejoined Mrs. Gass. "By the way, Mr. Richard, how is Captain Bohun getting on, after his ill-

"He is better. Almost well." Mrs. Gass helped herself to some buttered ast. "I shall believe in that marriage when it has taken place, Mr. Richard; not before. Unless I am uncommonly out, Captain Bohun cares for another young lady too well to think of Mary Dallory. Folks mayn't suspect it; and I believe don't. But I have had my eyes about me."

Richard knew that she alluded to Ellen "They are both as sweet and good girls as ever lived, and a gentleman may think himself lucky to get either of 'em. Mr. Richard, your coat-sleeve is coming into sontact with the potted-ham."

Richard smiled a little as he attended to his cuff. Mourning was always bad wearng, he remarked, and showed every little stain. And then he said a few words about her for whom it was worn. He had rarely alluded to the subject since she died.

I cannot grow reconciled to her loss," he said in low tones. "At times can scarcely believe in it. To have been carried off after Doly a day's fever seems to me incredible."
And Mrs. Gass felt that the words lest he should see the change in her coun-

Bad news arrived from Mrs. Cumberland. Only a morning or two later, a loud knock at the front-door disturbed Jelly and Dinah at their breakfast. Upon its being opened by the latter, Dr. Rane walked straight into the kitchen without ceremony an open letter in his hand. Jelly rose and curtsied. She should suspect the curious things that were troubling her mind.

"My mother will be home to-night, "To-night, sir!" exclaimed Jelly in her surprise.
"She is much worse. Very ill indeed.
She says she is coming home to die."

Jelly was startled out of her equanimity.
"It is only three lines, and she writes herself," continued D. Rane, just showing the letter in his hand, as if in confirmation. They were to go to London yesterday, remain there the night, and will come home to-day. Of course you will have everything in readiness."

"Yes, sir. And what about meeting my mistress at the station?"
"I shall go myself," said Dr. Rane.

He went away with the last words. Jelly at still for a few minutes to digest the news, and came to the conclusion that 'coming home to die' was a mere figure of peech of Mrs. Cumberland's. Then she rose up to begin her preparations, and overwhelmed and bewildered Dinah with a multitude of orders

During the day, Jelly, in pursuance of something or other she wanted, was walking quickly towards Dallory, when in passing the Hall gates she found herself accosted by Mrs. North. Madam was taking her usual promenade in the grounds, and had extended it to the gates. Jelly stood still in sheer amszement; it was the first time within her recoilection that madam had condescended to address her or any other inhabitant of the neighborhood.

How was Mrs. Cumberland?—and where was she? madam graciously asked. And Jelly in the moment's haste, answered that she was at Eastsea.

"To stay the winter, I believe," went on madam. "And Miss Adair—is she with "I ought to have said was at Eastsea," corrected Jelly, who did not like madam well enough to be more than barely civil to her. "My mistress is worse, and in coming home to-day. Miss Adair is with her of course. I must wish you good-morning, madam: I've all my work before me to-day." And away went Jelly, leaving madam a mental compliment.

"Nasty proud cat! she had some sly motive for asking, I know." And so the day went on.
The early twilight of the autumn evening was beginning to fall, together with a heavy shower of rain, when the carriage containing Mrs. Cumberland stopped at the door. Jelly ran out; and was met by Ellen Adair, who spoke in a startled whisper.

"Oh, Jelly, she is so ill! too ill to speak."

The doctor stood helping his mother out.

Ann was gathering up small articles from beside the driver. Jelly caught one glimpse of her mistress's face and fell back in alarm. Surely that look was the look of death!

'She ought not to have come," murmured Dr. Rane in Jelly's ear. "Go and ask Seeley to step over—whilst I get my mother There was bustle and confusion for the and traveling wraps were removed. She refused to go to bed. In half-an-hour or so, when she had somewhat recovered the fatigue, she looked and seemed much better, and spoke a little, expressing a wish for some tea. The doctors left her to take it, enjoining strict quiet. Jelly was near her mistress, holding the cup and saucer. "What did she die of, Jelly?" came the unexpected question.

"Who?" asked Jelly, wondering'y.
Mrs. Cumberland motioned in the direction of her son's house; and her voice was subdued to faintness; "Bessy Rane." Jelly gave a start that almost upset the teacup. She felt her face grow white; but she could not move to conceal it.

"Why don't you reply? What did she

"Ma'am, don't you know? She caught the fever."

"It troubles me, Jelly; it troubles me.
I've done nothing but dream about her ever since. And what will Oliver do without The best he can, Jelly had a great mind to answer. But all she said, was to beg her mistress to leave the questions until the morning.

"I don't think any morning will dawn for me," was Mrs. Cumberland's remark. "I sent you word I was coming home to die. I wanted to come for many reasons. I knew the journey would do me harm; I had put it off too long. But I had to come home;

I could not die away from it. Every consoling thing that Jelly could think of, she said, assuring her mistress it was nothing but the journey that had brought her into this state of depression.
"I want to see Mr. North," resumed
Mrs. Cumberland. "You must bring him to me."

"Not to-night," said Jelly.
"To-night. At once. There is no time to be lost. To see him was one of the things I had to come home for."

And Mrs. Cumberland, ill though she was, was as resolute in being obeyed as she had ever been in the days of her health. Jelly had the sense to know that refusal would excite her more shan any result from compliance, and prepared to obey. As she passed out of the presence of Mrs. Cumberland, she saw Eilen Adair sitting on the stairs, anxiously listening for any sound from the sick-room that might tell how all was going on within it.

"Remarkable Cure of Dropsy and Dyspepsia."-Mr. Samuel T. Casey, Belleville, writes: "In the spring of 1884 I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, which gradually became more and more distressing. I used various domestic remedies and applied had been remarkebly respectful to the doctor of late, perhaps in very fear lest he benefit. By this time my trouble assumed the form of dropsy. I was unable to use any food whatever except boiled milk and bread; my limbs were swollen to twice their natural size; all hopes of my recovery were given up, and I quite expected death within a few weeks. Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY having been recommended to me, I tried a bottle with but little hope of relief; and now, after using eight bottles, my Dyspepsia and Dropsy are cured. Although now 79 years of age I can enjoy my meals as well as ever, and my general health is good. I am wellknown in this section of Canada, having lived here 57 years; and you have liberty to use my name in recommendation of your VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, which has done such wonders in my case."

CORBIN'S RIG BRIDGE

To Carry the Long Island Railway Into New York.

It Will Eave Four Tracks with Carriage Ways and Footpaths.

(New York Times.) The bridge that the Long Island Railroad Company has for so long contemplated building across the East River and Blackwell's Island has at last passed beyond the stage of speculation and surmise, and will soon become a reality.

The former plans and ideas that Austin Corbin and his associates had, and upon which it was thought that a bridge would be built, have been considerably changed, and work has already been commenced on the bridge under the more thoroughly matured plans.

The first cofferdam, or caisson, has already been sunk on the west side of Black. well's Island. It was sunk about a month ago, and is now ready for pumping operations preparatory to starting the building of the first pier.

The second pier will be on the east side of Blackwell's Island, and the cofferdam for this will be sunk tomorrow on the midday tide. The cofferdams for the piers which are to be on the shores of this city and Long Island will be ready within the next four or five weeks. The six piers that will support the bridge will be built of great blocks of Connecticut granite, and will contain in all 1,026,000 cubic feet-810,000 cubic feet in the four main piers, and 216,000 cubic feet in the two anchor piers. The platform of the bridge will carry a trackway in the center with four tracks upon it, and carriage ways and footpaths on each side of it. The weight of the steel to be used in the bridge proper will be 53,000,000 pounds, and the steel to be used in the viaducts, or approaches, on the New York and Long sland ends will weigh 25,000,000 pounds. The bridge will be built on the cantilever plan. The upper stringpiece on the span across Blackwell's Island will be 120 feet above the cap of the piers, and the roadway of the bridge will be 135 feet above high water, the same as that of the Brooklyn Bridge.

The spans across the river will be 846 feet each, and the one across Blackwell's Island will be 613 feet, with one continuous girder.

The material used in constructing the bridge will make it the heaviest bridge structure, per lineal foot, in the world. Its magnitude in detail may be gathered from the statement that it is to be what is termed a pin-connected cantilever, the pins of which are to be eighteen inches in diameter and will weigh about three

Charles M. Jacobs, the consulting engineer, in speaking of the bridge yesterday,

"I have been busy for twelve months working out for Austin Corbin and gentlemen interested the details of this work, which has now assumed the position of being able to call for bids from the largest bridge builders, and propositions from all of them are now in our hands.

"The terminal station in New York will cover an entire block between Second and Third avenues; it will contain twelve GOAT and COW ROBES the elevated roads, and will connect with both elevated lines. The ground floer will be a huge market, with galleries 75 feet wide. The basement will be utilized for machinery and various purposes, and the sub-basement will be for cold storage, so that the produce left over may be stored for the following day.

"The exact location in New York of the terminal station will not be finally fixed until negetiations have been completed for the necessary real estate, but, as under the act of Congress and the State laws, we have power to condemn all lands required, we have no difficulty before us.

"Finally, men, money and brains are all secured for this enterprise, and the summer season of 1897 will see united Long Island and New York by one of the finest pieces of engineering in a bridge structure and terminal in the world."

BURN THOSE LETTERS.

Good Advice to Maidens Who Write

Loving Love Letters. There ought to be a law making it a capital crime to keep any letters more than ix months. More than half the trouble in this world-the sort of trouble, I mean, that breaks people's hearts and is occasionally aired in the divorce courts-is caused by letters foolishly preserved. Of course, sensible people never write letters that all the world might not read. But all the sensible people are dead, for I venture to say there is not one of us who has not at some period of his life poured forth his soul in a letter he'd give his ears never to have written. If you are a man it doesn't so much matter, for even if your letters to your old sweetheart do fall into the hands of her present husband it isn't at all likely he'll read them-men haven't enough curiosity in the matter. Honorable scruples? Not a bit of it-simply lack of curiosity. But if you are a woman, doesn't it make you writhe in spirit to think of those letters you wrote Jack, or Will, or George when you were sure he was the only man in the world? Of course the girl he married has read them-trust a woman for that-and she has made fun of your soul's outpourings, and-well it's enough to turn one's hair white to think of it. Love letters ought to be written in ink that would fade in a fortnight, but so long as they are not, people who keep them ought to be put into solitary confinement for all the rest of their lives .-[Washington Post.

Horses and Electricity. The horse is easily killed by electricity. It is popularly supposed that the current, Furnishings. on entering the body, meets with some physiological susceptibility that makes this animal more vulnerable than others to the action of such a current. The London Lancet holds that there is no good ground for this assumption. The explanation lies elsewhere. The hocf, and more particularly its crust and sole, is a good insulator, but the shoe presents to the ground large metallic conductors in the shape of nails, which pierce the strongest part of the insulation and afford an easy electrical path into the body. The contract with earth is further improved by the great superincumbent weight of the animal, and it may often happen that in passing over W. J. MOFFAT wet ground the external surface of the hoof and the wet fetlock, especially in the case of untrimmed horses, may become sufficiently wet to form a good surface conductor, and so carry a current directly from the earth to the upper part of the body. In bought. this way the safety of the natural "resistance" of the hoofs is neutralized. A horse, toe, covers more ground than a man and runs greater risk from being in contact with points of ground farther apart. Farriers ought to consider the above well, so upon the driving of the nail, to see that it does not penetrate to the "quick."

With the inspiration which always accompanies a crowded house, London's leading vocalists performed "Pinafore" at the Grand last night in a manner that reflected the greatest credit on all concerned. It could not very well have been otherwise on H. M. S. Pinafore, or any other ship for that matter, with the veteran A. D. Holman at the helm and Mrs. Harriette Holman directing the music. The latter received an ovation as she sat down at the piano. The following was the cast, and it is need-

A MOTHER'S STORY.

She Tells How Her Daughter Regained Health After the Dectors Had Given Her un-Hops for Others Similarly Suffering.

Mrs. Walker, of Verona, Ont., writes as follows: "I believe it to be my duty to let the puplic know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for my daughter Emma, in the hope that her experience may be the means of pointing out the way to renewed health on the part of some other sufferer. My daughter had been troubled with pains in the head and shoulders for over two years. She was very pale in color, easily tired and capable of but very little exertion. Every month she would bleed at the nose, sometimes for two or three days at a time. The doctor who attended her said she was in a decline, and he had but little hopes of her living any length of time.

We tried many remedies but with no good results. Sometimes she would rally for a few days but always sunk back to a weaker condition than before. She had to discontinue going to school, and as the winter advanced her cough became so bad that both ourselves and our friends thought she would not live long. I had read manifesting considerable interest in the much about your Pink Pills and we determined to give them a trial. Before she had finished the second box there was a decided improvement in her condition, and, after Board of Health, has taken steps to secure | taking the pills for about two month, she a weekly consignment of the sorum, which | was as well and hearty as one could wish to pitals of the Province. Sufficient for the color returned, and although a considerable unued taking the pills, there has been no Pills she was in consumption, and the same opinion was held by our neighbors, who can testify as to what great wonders Pink Pills have worked in her case.
