STIRING WORDS FROM BALFOUR

ONLY a few words of the great speech of the Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour were cabled to Canada in the brief report of the immense patriotic meeting held in the London Opera House on the evening of August 4.

Mr. Balfour's speech, says the Daily News, was permeated by an inspiring spirit of optimism in which belittlement of the task that lies between us and victory had no place. "I do not require to tell you," he said, "that not only is our resolve unshaken, but our confidence in the ultimate result is even more sure than it was in the earlier days of this Titanic contest.

"I do not mean to impress either upon you or upon anyone who may read what passes in this great hall to-night," Mr. Balfour proceeded, "that the resolve of this nation to pursue this great controversy to the end is not unshaken, but is stronger now than it was twelve months ago. (Cheers.) I do not require to tell you, and I shall not labor to tell you, that not only is our resolve unshaken, but our confidence in the ultimate result is even more sure than it was in the earlier days of this Titanic contest.

And of all the German miscalculations there was a worse one than this? Did they not suppose that in the unhappy war they were fighting, they would use the power for acquiring dominance over the whole globe? It would be a tyranny such as we have not known. The world has been saved from it by the fact that predominance at sea has never been in the same hands as the military predominance which has more than once threatened the world. That is why, when universal history comes to be written, it will be recognized that in the development of free institutions, and the growth of our country, depends upon free institutions, England has not merely set an example to her own political action within her own limits, not only shown an example of what constitutional freedom is in those great dominions which she has won, but she has shown to the world that she has in its most striking aspect come to an end with the completion of the task which the Japanese had set themselves in Far East, they have shown on other occasions what great is their power of self-devoted patriotism, and what they had in their power to do when the occasion presented itself. (Cheers.)

THE HEROISM OF RUSSIA.

And Russia? (Cheers.) What shall I say of Russia? I know no spectacle more moving to a generous spirit than that presented by this contest between men and nations now going on in the East of Europe. Was there ever heroism greater than that which has been shown by the Russian soldier, power of resistance more splendid, power of attack more brilliant? Shall we not be proud of anything but absolute and supreme confidence in the time when the artificial military inequalities between Russia and her Western neighbor are smoothed away, when the Russian soldier will meet the German soldier on equal terms as regards man and arms? (Cheers.) Do we not know that when that day of retribution comes all that Russia has suffered and is suffering will be repaid by her final and overwhelming triumph? (Cheers.)

BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN WASHED ASHORE NEAR CAMPBELL.

Campobello, Aug. 17.—On Monday afternoon, while attending to his farm duties, Mr. Henry Mulholland discovered on the shore of a man which had been washed ashore near Mulholland's Point. The county coroner, Dr. Murray, of West Isles, was at once summoned, together with other officials, and an investigation held. The body had been very long in the water that it had become very much decomposed and unrecognizable.

is, if I am not mistaken, twice the amount of the original force which we promised to send. And that force, I need hardly allude to, has not only not been diminished by these great losses, it is far stronger than ever, and is growing daily in strength. (Cheers.) It is a curious figure which I looked into to-day, but it is a fact that the British army since the war began more than twice all the losses by the German army. (Cheers.) OUR MILITARY RESOURCES.

I know that what we have done has not fallen short, but has far exceeded what was expected of us, but what we have done is only part of what we are going to do. (Cheers.) We have not yet shot our bolt. We have not yet been able to put forth our full strength on land. The situation of France had been cut off from England on the north, from her own colonies on the south, if no overseas trade could have reached her shores, if she could not have brought in the raw materials of her manufacture of munitions. CONFIDENCE IN THE FUTURE.

I am not going to indulge in any invective against our opponents. I suppose that some of them did what they were told because they were told. I suppose that their rulers have deluded themselves into the belief that Germany and the Germans were so great, so good, so exceptional that to be dominated by them, that to be under their power, that to be under their inferior rule could have been anything but a bad world. (Laughter.) But we, who are the impermanent champions of freedom, can take no such view. We know ourselves to be engaged in a great cause, and we look with unflinching eyes to the future; we are prepared to make great sacrifices in the future; we are determined to see this fight to a good end; and our determination is shared in every part of the British Empire, as it is by every one of our Allies. —Halifax, Aug. 19.—Steamer Silver Wings, ashore at Sable Island, is likely to be a total wreck. Last night there was a heavy sea from the southwest and the ship was making water badly and tumbling heavily. The landing was becoming dangerous, so the captain decided to land his crew on the island.

—Berlin, August 21.—Dr. Paul Ehrlich, discoverer of salvarsan, and of anti-toxin for diphtheria, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease at Bad Homburg, at the age of 61 years. He was noted as an expert in the treatment of cancer. Had the Nobel prize for medicine was awarded him in 1908.

—Havana, August 21.—Dr. Charles E. Finlay, discoverer of the mosquito origin of yellow fever, died last night at his home here. Senile debility was the cause of death.

ST. ANDREWS JAIL

The escape of two prisoners from the St. Andrews Jail, recently should call the attention of the proper authorities to the condition and management of this place of detention.

The question of the partition of Albania would seem to be in a fair way of settlement by the intervention of Italy, to the satisfaction both of Serbia and Greece. It would not now appear to be a rash forecast to predict the speedy revival of the Balkan Alliance against Turkey and on the side of the Entente Powers.

The final declaration by Great Britain and France of cotton as a contraband of war is not expected to create any diplomatic difficulties with the United States, as it has long been anticipated and its probable results fully discounted.

We commend to the attention of our readers the speech of Rt. Hon. Arthur Balfour, First Lord of the Admiralty, on the 4th of August in the London Opera House, which appears on our front page. It is worthy of perusal and careful study.

almost invariably the case with pelings surrounding similar places of incarceration. That some laxity prevails in the treatment of prisoners is also evident.

The suggestion has been made by residents of the Town that the Jail should have authority to employ male prisoners in keeping the grounds surrounding the Court House and Jail in a better condition and more attractive in appearance than they are at present.

The Instinct To Save

is in every well-balanced man. To start a savings account develops a foresight that will be to his own benefit in many ways, and to select this old-established bank as the depository for your money is evidence of sound and conservative judgment.

ENGLAND'S DEATHLESS DEAD

They need no dirge, for Springtime fills All things with tribute unto them; The music of the daffodils Shall be a soldier's requiem Among a thousand hills.

For all the golden youths that feed, For all the shattered dreams that die Where God hath laid the quiet dead Under an alien sky.

But blow, triumphant music, too, Across the world, from sea to sea, Because the heart of youth was true, Because our England proved to be Even greater than we knew.

—Mildred Huxley, in the Contemporary Review.

WHAT IS A SARDINE?

Another stage in the long discussion which has taken place as to what is a sardine was reached last week when the High Court allowed the appeal from a decision of the London Quarter Sessions and restored the decision of Sir John Dickinson at Bowstreet Police Court.

The respondents, Messrs. Angus Watson, of Newcastle, had been convicted at the Police Court for having sold certain goods, to wit, fish in oil, packed in tins which a false trade description "sardines" had been applied. The respondents then appealed to the Quarter Sessions, and there the conviction was reversed. The Sessions holding that, though a false trade description had been applied, the respondents were entitled to acquittal under section 18 of the Merchandise Marks Act, 1887.

The magistrate at Bow-street had held that a sardine was a young pilchard, while the fish actually sold by the respondents under the name of "Norwegian Skipper Sardines" were sprats.

SARDINES P. M.

A fisherman, tall, thin, and with a long, pointed beard, effort should be made for food the immense dines and other fish now.

ing to the fisherman, there is no need for the hundreds upon hundreds of hogs-heads of sardines, nor for the herring and other fish. In view of the scarcity of food in Europe, and of the growing price of commodities in Canada, he thought the Canadian authorities should devise some way to encourage the capture and curing of this abundant supply of food.

The Russians, the fisherman said, have a method of packing sardines which is much cheaper than the methods pursued in this country, and if their plan was adopted a large food supply could be secured at a nominal cost.—St. John Globe, Aug. 19.

QUEBEC TO CONTROL ITS HATCHERIES

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—Dominion Hatcheries in the Province of Quebec in which inland fish are propagated, are now being transferred to the Quebec Government.

Four hatcheries are involved in the transfer, those at Mount Tremblant, St. Alexis, St. Charles, and St. Jean. The fish in these hatcheries being that of different varieties of game fish.

This action of the Dominion authorities comes as a consequence of a recent decision of the Privy Council that the provinces owned the inland fisheries. Some years ago the Dominion transferred inland fisheries in Ontario to the Government of that province, and in now following suit in the case of Quebec. Since the Quebec Government regulates the inland fisheries, it was considered anomalous for the Dominion to take the responsibility of propagating them.

There is still no change in the situation as regards the control of the tidal waters of Quebec, disputed between the Dominion and provincial authorities. Both sides have agreed to submit a case to the courts, but no case has yet carried out the legal preliminaries to such action.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Addie Cookson.
Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Addie Cookson, of Eureka, California, twin sister of Mrs. J. K. Bradford. She was born in St. Andrews but for the last 50 years had made her home in California. Besides Mrs. Bradford, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Bernard, of Eureka, and a sister, Mrs. John Mowatt, of Bayside.

CAPT. RALPH F. MARKHAM.
Captain Ralph F. Markham, a former resident of this city, and more recently of Vancouver, is reported killed in action. The details given out merely say he was a member of the sixteenth battalion, and was killed in action on August 19.

Captain Markham, who was about thirty-eight years of age, was the son of Colonel Alfred Markham, formerly manager of the St. John Ship, but lately of Vancouver. His brother, Major A. J. Markham, circulation manager of The Standard, is at present in England in command of a squadron of the fifth Mounted Rifles. Captain Markham was a few years ago known to almost every one in St. John, and was a member of the football team, and an all-around athlete. He was a member of the Orange Free State in February and March, 1900, fighting at the Yee River and the Zand River in the Cape Colony. He was also in the Transvaal in the Cape Colony. He was awarded the Queen's Medal with clasps.

After the Boer War he returned to St. John. He remained here for several years. He then went to Winnipeg, where he held the position of advertising manager for one of the dailies. He went to Vancouver in a like capacity, but recently entered into the advertising business for himself. He had many advertising concessions, among others being the privileges on the ferries. In order to go to Europe he left valuable business connections.

He was connected with the 77th Seaforth Highlanders, of Vancouver, and went to Europe as chief signalling officer for that body. He was made a captain December 15, 1911.

News of his death will be heard with keen regret in St. John. Mrs. J. E. Secord, of this city, is a sister.

MISS VIOLET HARVEY.
Violet, aged 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Harvey, St. George, N. B., died at her parents' home Thursday morning Aug. 18, after a protracted illness of consumption. She was a bright, lovable girl, and her death at an early age is a great blow to her parents, who have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow. A member of St. Mark's Church, she was active in Sunday School work and in the Young People's Aid Society. Besides her parents, she leaves one sister. The funeral was held on Saturday from her home to St. Mark's Church, where the Rev. J. Spencer conducted services, thence to the rural cemetery. The pallbearers were: Harry Brown, Harry Doyle, Eldridge Craig, Colin Spear, and Arthur and Allan Johnson.

ARTHUR G. BROWN.
On Sunday morning, August 22, Arthur G. Brown, aged 28 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, St. George, died of a leakage of the heart. He was a young man of great promise, a mechanical genius, and his early death is a great blow to his wife, young son and parents. Several years ago he moved with his wife to St. John, the latter's home, where he obtained employment; his health failing he came home last winter and made arrangements for life. The funeral was held on Tuesday from his home to St. Mark's Church, where the Rev. J. Spencer conducted the services. The members of Court Mistiskeo, I. O. Foresters, of which deceased was a member, marched in a body and held the usual Forester services at the grave.

MARTIN BUTLER.
Frederickton, N. B., Aug. 24.—Martin Butler, post and newspaper man, died in the Victoria Hospital this morning, after an illness of several weeks. He was a native of Grand Lake, Me., but the greater part of his life was spent in this province. When a boy he worked in a tinners' shop and lost his right arm. He began his newspaper career by contributing to the St. Croix Courier, founded by his father, a monthly paper, which he continued to edit and publish up to the time of his death. He travelled about the country a great deal as a pedlar, and wrote the accounts of his trips. He published several volumes of poems. Of late years he conducted a small job printing office here. He was about fifty-five years of age, and is survived by his wife.

ESCAPED PRISONER.
"Stone walls do not a prison make, Nor iron bars a cage."

On Friday last, August 20, Judge Carleton held Court in the County Court House to conduct, under the Speedy Trials Act, the trial of William Cripps and Harold Mann, who had been arrested the previous Saturday in St. Stephen and sent down by Police Magistrate Richardson for trial on the charge of burglary and theft. Both prisoners pleaded guilty; and Judge Carleton allowed Mann out on probation, but sentenced Cripps, who is an old offender, to seven years in Dorchester Penitentiary.

On Saturday morning Cripps asked the Jailor, Thos. A. Kendrick, for permission to go to the telephone to speak to his wife in Calais. The Jailor granted permission, but ordered the prisoner first to leave his coat, shoes and hat in his cell. Cripps went to the cell and removed the articles of clothing as requested, but poked them through a narrow slit in the wall that lights the cell. The Jailor opened the door for Cripps, and as it was being locked Cripps darted into the jail office and took a header out of the window, carrying flower-pots and fly-screen with him. The Jailor made a grab at the man's feet, but missed them; and the next instant he saw the man jump over the jail fence into the yard. When the Jailor got into the yard the fugitive was nowhere in sight, but had disappeared with the garments he had been ordered to doff.

Sheriff Stuart was immediately notified of the escape, and with a posse beat the bush around the Cemetery and out to Chamcook, but the search was unsuccessful. Cripps had formerly worked as an electrician at the Chamcook Sardinia Factory, and is familiar with the locality. Though he is much wanted by the police authorities in several places, he is not likely soon to be apprehended.

SPENCER FULLERTON BAIRD: A Biography including selections from his correspondence with Audubon, Agassiz, Dana, and others. By William Healy Dall. (Lippincott, 15c net.)

SPENCER FULLERTON BAIRD, who died in 1887 at the age of 64, was a sound naturalist of the old school, whose knowledge of animals in the field was joined to a wide acquaintance with the writings of others.

As was natural to a man no less imbued with a true public spirit than with the private enthusiasm of a collector, the idea of a great national museum early took shape in his mind.
