One or two simple remedies, if acted upon in a liberal and sympathising spirit, could not fail to remove many of the grievances which sting expatrated Englishmen.

Foremost may be mentioned the introduction to the British Parliament of l'olonial representatives. The muchinery of the Colonial office is netorious ly incapable of meeting the requirements of the case. Cries of disastrafaction reach our ears almost daily from all parts of the world, provoked by the incompetency of the parties wao are synt out as the representatives of the crown, and whose errors and fellies almost available fine of the Colonial office. Lord Grey's admin stration has been more productive of complaints than any of his predecessors; but the fault is rather in the system than the man. Those who failed the post before him emirace some of the best practical statesmen of the day; but they all retred from the Colonial office with reputations more or less damined. CITY NEWS.

INDIVIDUAL ENTERPRISE,-It is to be regretted that INDIVIDUAL ENTERPRIE.—It is to be regretted that where individual enterprise makes its appearance amongst us, so anch apathy should exist, persisularly where red public benefit results. We have been informed, that since the papers of the city made the public aware, that a subscription list lay open for the purpose of receiving funds to complete the foot-path across the thay-market Figure, only some five or six manus have been added to the list. Cast iron posts have been ordered, these are to be placed ten feet apart, and to be connected by a chain, with a manual content of the content ten feet apart, and to be connected by a chain, with a star f are of Freedom, and love of life and ordes.

When the Government is called upon by city after city for more rapid and numerous means of communication with their newly "annexed" brethren, we have pretty certain evidence that a quiet, uncertaintous, but mighty element is at work among us.
