His vote is a tained by an appeal to the intelligence of the constituency unaided by those influences, which we all know are so effective in determining the result of a contest in a close constituency. Mr. Thompson feels gratified over his support and personally does not greatly regret his defeat. Any feeling, which he might have on personal grounds, is entirely lost in contemplation of the defeat of the great cause he had so much at heart. Whether one man or another shall represent this constituency is a matter of very small concern, but that able institutions were the one distinguishthe electors of this county should allow themselves to go on record as opposed to the best interests of themselves and the county at large is regrettable in the extreme. THE HERALD had hoped better for the county of York. It is impossible that it can have been deceived as to what the sentiments of the people, left free to themselves, are upon this great question, and those sentiments are unmistakably in favor of the broadest reciprocity with the tem. If this province were as densely a right to do as they have done, and we Kiong-Su, we would have over twenty see what a mistake they have made, before it is too late to remedy it. The contest has been singularly free of personalities, and THE HERALD can point with satisfaction to the fact that it has treated its opponents with fairness and courtesy. It greatly regrets their success, believing that they represent a bad cause.

A Narrow Escape.

Ex-private Jones of the Infantry school, who left this city in January last to work in the Springhill mines, had a very narrow escape on the day of the fatal explosion. He was engaged upon his usual occupation of timekeeper in one of the surface slopes when the explosion occurred, and such was the force of the sudden blow, the ventilating doors in the slope were immediately blown company with three others, managed to gain the surface, half suffocated with the choke damp and exhausted by the fright and ex-

EIGHT YEARS IN PRISON.

J. W. Major has engaged the services of Hon. Edward Blake in the case against the British government, which bids fair to become a cause celebre. Several years ago Major, along with three others, was arrested on a charge of burglary, and the former was sentenced to eight years imprisonment, which he served. After returning to that country, by the death bed confession of the real criminal, Major was proved innocent. Three thousand dollars is his claim for eight of the best years of his life. Mr. Blake hopes to make a good showing and is pushing the case, notwithstanding that the British government have so far refused to make any amends on the ground of public policy.
