Grand Alliance; Love That Knew No Bounds.

CHAPTER XXXVI. During their absence Mrs. Alwyn took up residence in a tiny London house on the skirts of a fashionable square, and with perseverance worthy of a better cause began sweeping the matrimonial seas once more for Leonora's behoof.

The labor was shortened unexpectedly. Mr. Rupert Villiers came dutifully to pay his respects to his aunt, his compliments to his cousin. About Leonora's broken engagement the major had withheld all particulars. He was not the man to gossip even with his son over a woman's disappointment. The ladies soon found to their relief that nothing of the pseudo Mr. Morecombe-Wood's history was known to any one likely to retail it.

"The man was unworthy of my Leonora," never name him to me. Only help her to forget him," Mrs. Alwyn begged, and Mr. Rupert obeyed very literally. He found the cultivation of cynicism slow for a lengthened period. Mrs. Alwyn's "straightened means" (she kept Sydney's supplementing hundreds strictly to herself) were not contemptible, taken in conjunction with a stock of valuable furniture. What was hers was Leonora's. Leonora was handsomely still, especially by candle-light. Presently the young lady took to wearing a certain sapphire ring given her on a memorable occasion. Upon that hint, Mr. Villiers spoke, with the result that before another season began he was inducted as ostensible master of "Number twenty-three, Gladys Crescent."

They suit in their new positions excellently. After his and her own self each admires the other to the top of their bent. But they never trouble each other with too much of confidences; so when one day Mr. Villiers read aloud from his paper the tragic end, in a San Francisco gambling saloon, of a swindler of European reputation whose description he well recognized, he felt under no necessity to confess that he had had many dealings with this questionable character, nor did he dream that the rascal put an end to by a Californian knife was at one time near standing in the marital shoes he now wore so easily.

Major Villiers took his son's settlement with moderate satisfaction. "It wasn't the one I wanted, more's the pity for you, Rupert," he said; and though fairly reconciled to life and his lot, Mr. Rupert once allowed himself to echo that regret.

It was at a big gathering the year after he had married, to which, after much toadying of a society magnate, he had got himself and Leonora invited, and where, among a throng of name and rank, they had found themselves nobodies. A good-tempered fellow seeing him forlorn (it was Tupper, by the way), spent five minutes in pointing out to him the notabilities of the evening—among them,

"That tall fellow with the brown beard. He's blind, though you'd never guess it. He's written a book on Upper Egypt that's all the rage among the blues just now. Some society got him up to lecture this afternoon, and my lord president nabbed him for tonight. That dark-eyed woman every one is looking at, leaning against him, is his wife. Eh, do you see her, Villiers?" Villiers did see her as she stood, one hand on the arm of her companion, who talked to a group of celebrities. Soon he was elbowing his way toward her.

"Mrs. Hurst," he said, accosting her with an air of delicate melancholy, "this is indeed a tri—pleasure. How little I guessed I was to meet you to-night." "We stayed unexpectedly," she answered, a momentary shyness—for she remembered their last interview—enhancing all her charms.

"Is it too late," he said, in lowered key, "or may I dare to ask if you hold me excused for—two years ago?"

Now she was self-possessed again; looked through him, down upon him, from the royalty of her beautiful young matronhood.

"I hold you fully excused," she said, "and am myself immeasurably grateful to you." She turned to her husband with the perfection of contentment. Mr. Villiers, very sorry indeed for himself, went and found Leonora in a remote corner, told her morosely she had powdered too freely, and took her off home without vouchsafing the information that her step-sister was one of the brightest stars in the brilliant throng they were leaving.

But the Hursts are rarely in London, though preference of society and science is ready enough for them there if they cared to take it. "Stuart's" was in the market when they came back to England, and now, cleared to the last payable farthing of the debt poor John Alwyn died under, "Stuart's" is their home.

Their old friends and new come about them, Major Villiers often, the Comynghams once, Miss Ambler when she wills. Thence go forth other works by Gilbert Hurst and that co-laborer whom only few know of, which earn him wide publicity and praise, and bring in revenue which now he little needs.

For under Richard Drayton's prudent management Granfylde sends a steady stream of riches on them, and Sydney declares if she had not Gilbert to tell her what channels to turn it into she should be perplexed out of all enjoyment of this troublesome, ever-expanding wealth.

Troublesome indeed! Why, what is it Mrs. Gilbert Hurst likes better? This: She came silently the other day upon her husband and their five-year-old daughter in deep conclave under one of the bee-haunted blossoming limes in their garden. The sun shone through the leaves. The sky above was intensely blue. To life's beginner the world looked very fair. Said the little one, frowning a thought aloud,

"But it doesn't matter for that." "And what does not matter for what, sweetheart?" her father asked. "Your being blind, father, for just the things that are pretty. But oh, I wish you were not blind for something else!"

"What is it?" "To see mother. She is such a beautiful mother." Gilbert stretched his arm over the grass and gathered the child to him. "I know that, little one, without my seeing. And shall I tell you something more wonderful? That dear mother of yours grows more and more beautiful to me every single day of our lives."

"Flatterers!" she said, happy tears in her eyes, her hand on her child's brown hair, her head on her husband's shoulder.

And there was Sydney Hurst's best cherished wealth!

THE END. MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GARGET IN COWS.

The Earl's Son; TWO HEARTS UNITED.

CHAPTER I. She moved her hand in a gesture so like his that the old lawyer was struck by it. "Thank you; I will decide now," she said. "I have a good memory, Mr. Bolton." She turned to him with a smile. "I know what poverty means. Poverty is a crime. I saw my father die." Her eyes filled with tears, her lips quivered. "I know what wealth means. After all, I need never marry."

Her voice died away, her eyes grew meditative. "Decide!" said the earl, almost sharply. She turned her eyes on him and drew her slim, graceful form erect. "I have decided, my lord," she said. "I will abide by the conditions."

"Good!" exclaimed the earl, gently. "We will not trouble you any further, Veronica." Mr. Bolton moved towards the door, but the earl was before him and opened it for her, and, with a slight inclination of her shapely head, she passed out. And, even to the old and blase lawyer, something of the sunlight seemed to have passed out with her.

His lordship got back to his chair and sank into it. "I knew I could count upon her," he said, with the cynical twist of his thin lips. "Draw up the will, Bolton. I'll sign it to-morrow."

CHAPTER II. Veronica went up the great staircase to her room; rooms, it should be written, for she had been given a suite in the best position, facing south and looking over the Italian garden and the park and meadow which stretched beyond. They were palatial rooms, furnished in the latest mode "according to Waring," with all the luxury which practically, unlimited wealth could supply. This luxury, this wealth had at first confused and bewildered her—she had been summoned to it from a "first-floor-front" in Camden town; but there is nothing to which one so soon gets accustomed as luxury, and Veronica had grown so used to it that, if she had not quite forgotten the old days of semi-gentility, what a hateful combination of words it is—the splendour of her surroundings had ceased to impress—and oppress her. Now, as she looked round at all the evidences of wealth and position, innumerable in detail and large in the gross, she could not help feeling that they were not transient but perpetual.

Wayneford, which she had seen and which had seemed to her a rural palace, and enormous wealth were to be hers on one, and the simplest condition. She was to marry a man of rank. Well, why not?

No woman was more free from small vanities than Veronica, but even she could imagine it as possible that she would be able to comply with the condition. In the circle, the county circle, that revolved round Lord Lynton, her acknowledged centre, there were many men of title—some of them of historical title—and most of them had expressed an admiration for Miss Veronica Gresham, the niece of the Earl of Lynton. It seemed such an easy condition; she had, so to speak, but to choose.

At the thought, the straight brows, the Denby brows, came together, and she made a little moue of distaste. Girls are supposed to be always thinking of marriage; Veronica thought of it but seldom; no man of the many she had met since she came to the Court, had made any impression on her. They called her cold, and perhaps she was; most girls are until their hearts are warmed by the glance of the man for whom they have been waiting since time began. Then the snow melts and reveals the flower-gemmed plains beneath, smiling in radiance for his delight. After all, she need not marry; it would be grand to be the mistress of Wayneford, to be rich, to be a kind virgin queen, a modern Elizabeth.

She laughed softly and stretched out her shapely arms. She need no longer dread the future—and how she had dreaded it!—she was secure against the buffets of Fortune! Mistress of Wayneford!

Her maid knocked and entered. "Your horse is waiting, miss; shall I send it back?" "No, no. Goodwin!" replied Veronica. "I am longing for a gallop!"

In a few minutes she was downstairs and mounted, and with a light but firm touch was holding the high-spirited mare in hand. As she passed up the avenue she heard the sound of wheels, and, looking round, saw the great landau driving up to the entrance: Lord Lynton was going for his daily drive.

Half way down the avenue she put her mare at the low railing and got onto the grass of the park; the groom thundered after her, but presently she heard him pull up and saw him dismount and examine his horse's shoes.

"What is the matter, Brown?" she called back. (To be Continued.)

ALEXANDER POPE born 1688. The celebrated English poet and translator of Homer. He was the son of a London draper, and early showed great poetic gifts. In 1711 he published his famous "Essay on Criticism." His finest work is his "Essay on Man."

SIR JOHN MILLAIS born 1829. At one time the most prominent of the English pre-Raphaelite School of Painters, but soon cast himself free from its mannerisms and began the production of a long series of famous pictures, becoming the most popular artist of the day. His "Bubbles" bought by Peers has been spread all over the world.

DOUGLAS JERROLD died 1857, aged 54. Dramatist and humorist, who enjoyed a long career of success by his contributions to Punch.

CHARLES READE born 1814. Some put him in the very first rank of novelists. His works have done much to reform many abuses in England. "The Cloister and the Hearth" is one of the finest novels in the language.

Great deeds from meanness springs may take their course, And smallest virtues from a mighty source. —Pope.

LONDON, To-day.
An announcement is to be made at an early date which will not be altogether surprising, of the betrothal of Grand Duke Michael of Russia and Princess Patricia of Connaught. The Grand Duke has long been an admirer of the Princess. The wedding is not expected to take place till next year.

LONDON, To-day.
The Allan Line steamer Corinthian collided with and sank the steamer Oriole, a small vessel which plies on the River Thames, off Greenwich last night. The Oriole had just landed passengers at London Bridge, four miles above Greenwich, and was returning to her moorings when the accident happened. The crew were saved.

MONTREAL, To-day.
Hundreds of messages of sympathy are still being received at the C.P.R. offices re the loss of the Empress of Ireland, mixed with sympathetic expressions for the Canadian Pacific Railway, Captain Kendall, passengers and crew of the ill-fated Empress. However, Capt. Andersen, of the Storstad, is not without supporters in his dark hour, and here in Montreal many people believe that in public view he has been made a scapegoat in connection with the sinking of the Empress quite unjustly. As to this question probably the Commission of Investigation will decide which of the commanders was to blame. If there was direct blame. The attempt of the C.P.R. to mulct the Storstad's owners for two million dollars damage, promises to be a big legal battle. The owners of the Storstad have engaged prominent counsel from New York, and they have a counter claim for $50,000.

Empress of Ireland

INVESTIGATION COMMISSION.

Lord Mersey who is on his way to Quebec via New York to act as Chairman of the Investigation Commission on the wreck of the Empress of Ireland, is a man of exceptional experience in mercantile and shipping matters. He is accompanied by several officials of the Board of Trade who are to assist in the inquiry. In 1910 he was created Baron Mersey. He was born on the banks of the River Mersey and is a Liverpool man. His family name is Bigham. He was educated at the Liverpool Institute and at Berlin and Paris. As a barrister he became leader of the Northern circuit. From 1895-7 he was Unionist member for the Exchange Division of Liverpool. In 1896-7 he was a member of the South African Committee of the House of Commons; and in 1902, he was a member of the Royal Commission for Revision of Marital Law sentences in South Africa. From 1904-8 he was President of the Railway and Canal Commission. He was Judge in Bankruptcy 1904-9; Judge of the King's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice 1897-1909, and then he became President of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice. After his retirement, he was made President of the Court of Enquiry into the loss of the S. S. Titanic; and afterwards chief representative of the United Kingdom on the International Conference on Safety of Life at Sea, which issued some little time ago the text of the Convention arrived at and which has been referred to on several occasions in the columns of the Evening Telegram. The Commission also includes two Canadian Judges and four naval assessors. The Commission will open at Quebec next week. A special Act of Parliament is being put through the Dominion Parliament giving authority for the constitution of this Commission.

Prince Alexander of Teck and Newfoundland.

Recently the Royal Colonial Institute held its annual dinner under the chairmanship of Prince Arthur of Connaught. Among the toasts was "The British Dominions and British Communities Beyond the Seas," proposed by Dr. Parkin. In the course of his remarks he remarked that the anxieties of the moment were not confined to Westminster. The old foundations of the Empire were beginning to rock. During the past few years the prestige of the great House of Commons had steadily gone down. That was a prodigious fact. At the same time, however, the prestige of the Crown had steadily risen. The Crown was the one anchor and hope that they had in every part of the Empire. Prince Alexander of Teck, Governor-General Designate of Canada, and brother of Queen Mary, made reference to Newfoundland in responding to this toast. As to Newfoundland, he said:—"Although Newfoundland does not fall within the jurisdiction of the Governor General of Canada, I hope to be able to make a further personal acquaintance with the natural beauties of the island, as the Duke of Connaught is about to do, whose valuable example it will always be my endeavour to follow."

St. Bon's Alumni.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of St. Bon's Alumni was held at the College after last Mass yesterday to make arrangements for the celebration of St. Bonaventure's Day.

A special feature of this year's programme will be a band concert on the College Campus, on the night of the Feast. The affair will be open to all the ex-students of the college, and a special invitation will be sent to the Ladies' Association. Dr. Burke, S. C. S., has been selected as the orator this year, and all arrangements for every detail of the celebration is being attended to.

Musical Treat

AT CITY CLUB.

On Saturday evening last, Mr. St. George, who is conducting the Trinity College Musical examinations, gave a violin recital at the City Club. Mr. St. George is a master of the violin, and the choice selections played merited the appreciation of all present. He used two violins, one of which was made by his father, and which is adorned with Masonic emblems in Mosaic; the other is of ancient manufacture and both instruments possess a remarkably sweet tone.

Several members of the Club and visitors added to the pleasure of the evening by vocal and instrumental contributions.

Letter of Sympathy To Salvation Army.

Government House, June 1, 1914.

My dear Brigadier Morehen:—The Army does not cry for sympathy, even when its losses are heaviest and most unexpected, but I must tell what we all felt (but probably will not write) in the calamity which has called home so many of your officers and men when the Empress of Ireland went down. The Army is always ready for its call, and willing recruits will fill the gaps in the ranks, still, we all feel most deeply, with and for the Army in Canada, that so many good and valiant men and women have been called from their earthly work. Believe me to be, my dear Brigadier, Yours sincerely, (Sgd.) W. E. DAVIDSON.

June 4, 1914. Sir Walter Edward Davidson, K.C.M.G. Government House.

Your Excellency:—In the absence of Brigadier Morehen, and on behalf of our organization, I wish to thank you most heartily for the kind expressions of sympathy, conveyed to us in yours of the 1st. inst., regarding our great loss.

I want to assure your Excellency, that your sympathy will be very much appreciated, by our sorrowing comrades both in Canada and Nfld. I am, Sir, Yours sincerely, (Signed) W. H. CAVE, Staff Captain.

June 2, 1914. Dear Sir:—

Permit me to express on behalf of the Government, and also for myself sincere sympathy with the Salvation Army in the great loss which it has sustained in the recent tragedy. To our human understanding the work of the Army in Canada will be greatly handicapped through the death of so many of the high officers, but no doubt the Providence which directs the affairs of men will bring out of this sad disaster a blessed result if the hearts of men are open to receive the Divine prompting. The Army in Newfoundland, which is under the direct authority of the Commissioner at Toronto, will greatly miss Commissioner Rees, who has visited this island and with whom the local officers were acquainted. To those who have been left behind we would express our condolence as they mourn for the dear friends whom they will never see again. Newfoundland has in the last few months felt the bitterness of a similar tragedy and it engenders a fellow-feeling with all that suffer in a similar manner. Our expressions of sorrow are therefore the more heartfelt and genuine because of the sad circumstances through which we have lately passed.

Believe me to be Yours faithfully, (Sgd.) J. R. BENNETT, Colonial Secretary

Staff-Captain W. H. CAVE, S.A., St. John's.

June 8th, 1914. Hon. J. R. Bennett, City.

Dear Sir,—I desire to thank you, and the members of the Government most heartily for the kind expressions of sympathy, contained in yours of the 7th inst., regarding the great disaster which has befallen so many of our Canadian comrades, and I want to assure you, and those associated with you in the Government of Newfoundland, that your sympathetic message is very much appreciated.

I am, Sir, Yours sincerely, (Sgd.) W. H. CAVE, Staff Captain.

62 Cochrane St., June 1, 1914. Staff Captain Cave, S. A. Headquarters, St. John's.

Dear Sir,—At the regular meeting of the St. John's Methodist Ministers, this morning, it was unanimously resolved that we tender you our sincere and heartfelt sympathy, as an organization, in the terrible loss that your cause has sustained in the Empress of Ireland disaster, and in the sudden and overwhelming taking away of many of the leaders of your work in Canada. We feel deeply for you, and beg that you will accept our sincere expressions of sorrow in the calamity which has befallen you. We earnestly trust that in the hands of a kind Providence this great loss may be overruled, so that it may be an eternal gain.

On behalf of the Ministers only. (Sgd.) C. A. WHITEMARSH, Secretary.

June 4th, 1914. Rev. C. A. Whitemarsh, 62 Cochrane St., City.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of our organization, both in Canada and Newfoundland, I desire to thank you, and those associated with you, for the very sympathetic message, regarding our great loss, and I want to assure you that it is very much appreciated. Our loss has been great, but we are looking up, and trusting that in the hands of an all wise Creator, this terrible disaster will be overruled for good.

Yours sincerely, (Sgd.) W. H. CAVE, Staff Captain.

Great Eviction Song.

There is an extra special Bill at Rossley's to-day. Dan Cusack, Lyric tenor, for years with the Four Irish Majors, will sing the great Eviction Song, 'Oh Spare the Old Mud Cabin,' also 'Who Paid The Rent for Mrs. Rip Van Winkle' when Rip Van Winkle went away, and the 'Time Place and Girl' with an eccentric song and dance a fine all round vaudeville act. There is also one of the greatest war pictures ever seen here, entitled 'Blood Will Tell,' a real thriller in two reels. Comedy, 'O'Hara Helps Cupid,' with a great Indian Drama, 'An Apache Father's Vengeance,' and two others with Maurice Costello, Leah Baird, John Bunny and Flora Finch. A well balance, clean, refined and up-to-date show.

Rossley Theatre.

Mr. Hesser Makes Good

When Mr. Edwin Bower Hesser offered to give 25 per cent. of the net proceeds of the three opera nights to the Permanent Disasters Fund, for the benefit of the 'Checkers' and 'Grand Falls' dependents, he had hoped, as the Committee did, that the season of 1914 would have been fully as productive as that of last year. His receipts fell off, and instead of a surplus he was confronted with a heavy loss. On Saturday he met the Committee, and presented a detailed statement of accounts. It showed a loss of $1,006.80. With a generosity which merits public appreciation, Mr. Hesser refused to charge anything but the local expenses, giving the services of the Company absolutely free. This left a balance of $497.60, one quarter of which, or $124.40, he has donated to the funds. We are glad to know that the burden of his loss was lightened by Friday's special performance, but there is still a large sum on the debit side. A particularly commendable feature of this matter, is that Mr. Hesser volunteered to submit all his accounts. He has done his part openly and generously. He offered 25 per cent. of the net proceeds. There being none, the $124.40 virtually becomes his personal gift. Let us hope that some method will be speedily evolved whereby this sum may be materially increased, so that the requirements of the dependents of the 'Grand Falls' and 'Checkers' can be met.—Daily News.

Rev. Father Clarke Seriously Ill.

We regret to hear of the serious illness of the Rev. M. J. Clarke, late Parish Priest of Torbay, whose death is hourly expected. From messages received in the city yesterday, we learn that Fr. Clarke received the last rites of the Church on Saturday last and was patiently awaiting the final summons. His many friends throughout the Island, particularly his late parishioners to whom he became endeared during his ministrations of nearly forty years, will indeed be sorry to hear of his very serious illness. Father Clarke, it will be remembered, left here a few years ago, in falling health, to spend his remaining days at his home at Caddan Row, Clontarf, just outside of Dublin. He is about 69 years of age, and came to the country when quite a young man. He has no immediate relatives, but will be mourned by a large circle of friends both in his native land and in the land of his adoption, who though not united to him by the ties of consanguinity are nevertheless deeply grieved to hear that the end is approaching.

Men Who Were Adrift

REACH THE LAND SAFELY. George Keeping and H. Snook, two of the crew of the schooner Jessie A., who went astray from their vessel on Wednesday evening last while fishing about 18 miles off Bonne Bay, have reached there safely, none the worse for their exposure. The above information was received by Deputy Minister of Customs LeMessurier to-day.

Personal.

Hon. G. and Mrs. Knowling and Mrs. J. Lindberg were passengers from England by the Sardinian, yesterday.

Mr. Henry Meyerhoff, who was in the city on Saturday last making arrangements for a circus which he intends to hold here in October next, returned by Saturday evening's express. Mr. Meyerhoff was favorably impressed with the Parade Ground and hopes to visit here in the autumn with his attractions that have elicited so much curiosity, and provided such novel entertainments in the Canadian cities that he has visited.

RED CROSS SHIPS.—The Florina reached Halifax at 7.30 last evening from this port. The Stephano sailed from New York on Saturday for Halifax, which port she leaves to-morrow for here.

There arrived by the s.s. Earl of Devon on Saturday evening Constable Tucker, of Greenspond, in charge of a lunatic named Dyke, who was arrested for setting fire to Capt. Winsor's premises at Newtown, B.B., a few days ago. Dyke was examined by a physician and pronounced violently insane and was ordered to be sent here. On arrival he was driven to the Asylum, where he was a patient on two previous occasions.

S. A. Memorial Service

Yesterday, throughout the world, memorial services were held for Commissioner and Mrs. Rees, Col. and Mrs. Maidment and the 140 officers and soldiers of the Salvation Army lost in the recent Empress of Ireland disaster. In the city, Staff-Captain Cave and Adjt. Oxford conducted the services at the Citadel. The whole service was most impressive, and in a fitting manner commemorated the heroic dead. The building was taxed to its utmost capacity, and many were unable to gain admittance. The service opened with the hymn, "O God our help in ages past," followed by prayer offered by Sergeant-Major Barter. Prayer was also offered by Capt. Fox and a Scripture reading was given by Capt. J. Stratford. Addresses were made by Major Rumsey, Bro. Beat, Capt. Fox, Mrs. Adjt. Oxford, Adjt. Oxford and Staff-Captain Cave, all of whom spoke with feeling of the Salvation heroes who went to death as true soldiers of the Cross.
The closing hymn was "When I survey the wondrous Cross," after which the Benediction was pronounced which brought the inspiring service to a close. Letters of condolence and sympathy were received from His Excellency the Governor, Acting Premier Bennett and the Rev. C. A.
Whitmarsh, to whom appropriate replies were sent by Staff-Captain Cave.

British Society's Visit to Harbor Grace.

The much talked of British Society excursion from St. John's to Harbour Grace, took place on Wednesday, 3rd inst., and proved from beginning to end a grand success. Although the morning was dull a goodly number enrouted at the Capital for the Bay City.

About ten o'clock a message was received from Brigus Junction that the train was making good time. The Committee of the British Society accompanied by their band proceeded to the station by way of Harvey Street, and as the train pulled in, enlivening airs were played much to the delight of all present. The St. John's Committee and the Officers of the C. B. B.
S. then proceeded to the Hall headed by the band, where a light refreshment was partaken of and the party given the freedom of the hall for the day and night. By the previous night's train two of the committee arrived to make arrangements at the different hotels for the comfort of their patrons, and all were soon well looked after.

During the afternoon different places of interest were visited by the party, who heartily enjoyed roaming around our pleasant town. Our business men, although patriotic, kept their stores open no doubt with the desire to make our town look well. At night at 8 o'clock, the reunion dance took place at the Masonic Hall which was well patronized; music was supplied by Messrs. Garland and Power, and the dance went merrily on.

At 11.30 the visiting committee were invited to the reception room to partake of the good things provided for them by the Band and Committee of the C. B. B. S. The toast list was then gone through with and a very pleasant time spent. Past-President Goodland, President Hynes and Secretary Carberry, of St. John's, on behalf of the party thanked their Harbor Grace friends for kindness shown them.

Mr. James Lawrence, of St. John's, who all were glad to see, also expressed great pleasure at being present.
Messrs. W. J. James, F. C. Archibald, Past-President Rogers, H. Andrews and several others made very appropriate speeches, making this little feature of the excursion very pleasant and something long to be remembered. The singing of the National Anthem brought the gathering to a close. Then off to the dance room again where a Society dance was held, by which time all had to prepare for the outgoing train. The home committee accompanied their visitors to the train where hand shaking continued until the train pulled out taking our friends back to the city, with we hope happy recollections of their excursion and a desire, as some expressed it, to make it an annual affair.

Procession at Littledale.

On yesterday afternoon the annual procession took place at Littledale. A very picturesque scene was presented as the pupils of the Academy, with the Sodality and children of St. Joseph's School, Kilbride, moved slowly through the beautiful grounds of the Academy. The cross, gleaming in the sunshine, with the banner of St.
Joseph carried aloft and the white-velled children of the Convent rendered an artistic sight. The sweet rich voices arising in the chorus of praise to the Divine Creator effectively elevated the soul from "Nature to Nature's God." Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was imparted by Rev.
Fr. O'Callaghan.

FEROUS MOTOR DRIVING.

About 8.30 last evening, a motor car carrying two men, came out Waterford Bridge Road at a high speed. In view of the large amount of pedestrian traffic on that thoroughfare, especially on Sundays, furious motor driving should be checked by the police or somebody will be killed.

WAS ALMOST STARVING.—
Yesterday a young man named J.
Hickey, belonging to Holyrood, was found wandering about the street.
He was without friends or money,
sparsely clad and almost starved.
Hunger, as he had nothing to eat, sent to the city by his father to for employment—and was willing work at anything, no matter how hard. Three citizens gave the fellow the price of a few meals arranged for lodgings for him at Seaman's Institute, as the night previous he had spent in the open.

PLEASING PRESENTATION.

ling's Central store on Saturday night, when Mr. Tresise, who returned shortly for California, was presented with a handsome dressing case by fellow workmen, who were thankful to the recipient.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferers and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Pacific Home provides for you the desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance? Every garment must be thoroughly cleaned and aired before it is put away for the summer.

Plain Speaking.

I used to say just what I thought, on every mortal theme, and life was hectic then and hot, and every day a scream. I tried to show I had no human foibles; and people often pulled my ears, or else they punched my nose. But I was not dismayed, thereat, nor humbled yet, by heck! And people often jammed my hat clear down around my neck. My head was bloody but unbowed, as said some martial toff, and every time I met a crowd they'd kick my coattails off. "A soul undaunted still I have," I often would declaim; and then I'd buy a quart of salve to spread upon my frame, in time one wears of such strife, however bold his soul, and so, to gain a peaceful life, I canned my rigmarole. Instead of shooting off my bile at every time and place, I bought a large elastic smile, and wore it on my face. And though I still had burning thoughts, I kept the blamed things down, and no one heard the caustic shots for which I'd won renown. And now all day I dance and sing, and people like me much; my head's no longer in a sling. I do not need a crutch.

Obituary.

RONALD STEAD. There passed away at the Asylum on Friday last, a young man in the person of Ronald Stead, of Musgrave B.B. The deceased young man had attained his twenty-first year, and had only been in the institution for a month. The remains were committed by Undertaker N. J. Murphy, and forwarded by last evening's express to the deceased man's home for interment. To the sorrowing relatives the Telegram extends sincere sympathy.

Quick Trip.

The R.M.S. Sardinian, Capt. Mowatt, arrived last evening from Liverpool. The passage was made in 8 days which is the quickest run made from the Old Country for this season by any steamer. Notwithstanding the Sardinian met a deal of fog, but for which she would have made a record run. She brought 741 tons of cargo, 56 packages of mail matter and these passengers in saloon: Hon. G. and Mrs. Knowling, Mrs. Lindberg, Mr. Patterson, W. Barraclough and 6 in steerage.

POSTPONEMENT OF LITTLEDALE OPERETTA.—Unforeseen circumstances necessitate the postponement of the annual operetta and distribution of prizes at Littledale Academy until Sept. when the programme will be carried out with special glee.—adv.11

EARL OF DEVON BACK.—The Earl of Devon, Capt. Carter, returned to port from the Fogo mail service at 4 p.m. yesterday, having made all the ports of call on the route. She brought a small freight and seven saloon passengers.

MINARD'S LINIMENT USED BY PHYSICIANS.

Accident in Harbor.

'SARDINIAN' IN COLLISION WITH 'ADVENTURE'—BOTH SHIPS SUSTAIN DAMAGE.

Just on the finish of her voyage from Liverpool last evening, and while steaming up the harbor to the Allan Line pier, the R.M.S. Sardinian collided with the s.s. Adventure, which was berthed at A. Harvey & Co.'s coastal pier. It will take several thousand dollars to repair the damage done. The mishap occurred at 5.30 p.m. and at that time a large concourse of people were assembled on the Allan Line pier and witnessed what happened. The Sardinian, Captain Mowatt, and in charge of Pilot Goss, when about 100 yards to the eastward of the pier was coming too, reversed engines with the result that her bow came towards the short striking the Adventure a violent blow on the port side near the fore-castle, head on and staving in a number of plates, besides bending and twisting the stanchions. The crash could be heard quite a distance away. But even more serious damage than took place. As the Adventure was pushed by the head there was a sudden and terrific strain aft. In consequence three large hawsers, two of wire and one of rope, parted like threads from their moorings and a large section of the wharf was broken up. The Allan Line then swung off by the stern to avoid any further mishap, but this was difficult as the Adventure began to drift. She had no steam up and was powerless. The only person on board her was an aged watchman. Another collision was then barely averted. The Sardinian's stern was close by the Adventure's bow, as the latter continued to drift, when two men named Sheehan and Whelan and two boys named Puddister and Carter boarded the Adventure and by their efforts succeeded in bringing the Adventure under control and preventing further mishap. The Sardinian then docked. She fared badly in the collision as there was a large hole ripped in her bow on the starboard side. A fortunate circumstance is that no person was injured.

Dr. Grenfell's Lecture.

Dr. W. T. Grenfell lectured on "My Experiences in Turkey in Asia" to a large and representative gathering at the Institute last night. The lecturer dealt with his visit to the Seven Churches spoken of in the Book of Revelation, and held the closest attention of his audience for nearly 2 hours. During the evening hymns were rendered by Miss Jones and Mr. Hirst who presided at the piano and organ respectively.

Galatea Reaches Placentia.

The Galatea, which left here for Placentia on Tuesday last, was towed into that port on Saturday evening, by a whaler. The vessel had it rough during Friday night's gale and was forced to anchor in the vicinity of Point Verde from which place she was taken in tow by the little steamer. She will load coals at the premises of G. C. Pearn, Jersey Side.

The windows are among the most important parts of a house, and their proper curtaining is a fine art.

Robbed Dead in Morgue.

Quebec, June 2.—Two thieves have been reported to the police, and one of them comes as a strange sequel to the story of an attempt to identify the body of a young woman as that of Miss E. Parkinson of Toronto. The friends, who believe that they have found the remains of this girl, had wired to Toronto to discover the initials on a ring which was found on the victim. The letters were partially obliterated. On Sunday they were awaiting an answer. Yesterday they received it. In the afternoon they visited the Morgue and eagerly lifted the hand on which the ring has been. It was gone. They made enquiries, but were told that the ornament had been removed by none of the officials. Then they reported the matter to the police. They have again wired to Toronto to learn if Miss Parkinson had two teeth gold filled. This would seem to be the last possible chance of identification.

The second theft was reported by one of the C. P. R. constables on duty, who states that during the day a ten dollar bill was taken from his pocket. The crowd which visited the Morgue on Monday was much smaller than that which jammed the aisles the day before. There was not the number of morbid watchers outside the shed, although from early morning there were less than fifty standing about. Those who came were, for the most part, searchers among the dead.

Terrific Storm in Montreal.

Causes Death of One Man, and Does Much Damage.—Half an Inch of Rain Fell in Ten Minutes. Montreal, June 1.—A terrific storm last night, bringing to a close one of the finest week end days of the year, brought death to one Montrealer, and did much damage in all parts of the city. The victim of the weather's fury was Emile Lemieux, a lineman, who fell from a telegraph pole at the corner of Wellington and Bridge Streets and died shortly afterwards in the General Hospital. Lemieux was repairing wires snapped by the wind when the accident happened. Lightning, wind, rain and hail played their part in the havoc wrought. Lightning struck St. Andrew's Church and did damage estimated at $20,000. In ten minutes almost half an inch of rain fell, breaking all records since July 11, 1911, when .68 of an inch came down in the same period. The wind blew at a rate of over forty miles an hour for a few minutes, while the proximity of the storm could be judged by the rapidly with which the rolling thunder followed the blinding lightning flashes. The total rain fall yesterday was .88 of an inch or more than 79 per cent. of the whole rainfall for the month, which, including yesterday's downpour, was 1.23 inches.

BOXAVENTURE BACK.—The s.s. Bonaventure which brought a load of coal to Botwood to relieve the situation there, arrived back at eight o'clock yesterday morning, reporting that the ice had loosened a great deal in the Exploits.

Express Due.

The combined express with the passengers and mails that left Port aux Basques for here on Friday and Saturday mornings respectively, will arrive in the city at 3.30 p.m. to-day. The delay was caused by a heavy washout about 10 miles east of Port aux Basques, which held the trains there from 8 a.m. Saturday until 2 a.m. yesterday whilst the necessary repairs were being made.

UNRULY CONDUCT.—Some boy on Pennywell Road, yesterday afternoon, made it his business to smash an electric globe of a lamp recently erected there. This is the second time this has occurred within a fortnight. No doubt the police will look into the matter and deal with the guilty party. Quite recently a lad was brought before court for breaking a street lamp in the vicinity of Pennywell Road and was fined heavily. This ought to be a caution to others.

The Modern Girl.

I do not sing, I do not play,
As maidens did long, long ago.
We're living in a modern day
Victrolas do all that, you know.

I do not bake, I do not scrub,
I do not help around the flat;
The silverware I do not rub,
The hired girl attends to that.

I do not walk for exercise
And haven't since I was sixteen.
For I fare both in style—I'm wise—
I ride in mother's limousine.

I don't sew buttons on or mend
My clothes, my gloves or hat;
I wrap a bundle up to send,
The laundries attend to that.

The only thing I do is dance,
No other duties bore me.
Some day some new machine, perchance,
Will come and upwards soar me.

Stem Was Badly Twisted.

Montreal, June 2.—When the Storstad was relieved of her load of coal at the Dominion Coal Company's dock to-day it was seen that her stem was twisted so much to starboard that it almost formed a half circle. Some of the lowermost plates in her bow were also twisted to starboard and torn away. There is a large indent on either side of the stem, and the rivets are torn away. The condition of the Storstad's stem is regarded as favoring Captain Andersen's claim that when the collision with the Empress of Ireland occurred it was impossible for the collier's stem to remain in the hole because it was twisted out by the forward movement of the Empress. The Storstad is still in the possession of the bailiff.

Try Again.

You have, it may be, used ointments, pastes, lotions for Eczema till you begin to get tired of trying things. Well, but you should remember that science is advancing all the time, and that what was not possible yesterday can be accomplished to-day. If you neglect to try Zylex—the newest and best thing that science has yet to offer for the relief and cure of Eczema and other annoying and disfiguring skin diseases—you are missing a great opportunity. It may be that it will cure you. It has cured some very bad cases. Price 50c. a box. Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

Different Kinds of Indulgence.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"In his youth Seneca was a vegetarian and a water drinker, but his father checked his indulgence in asceticism."
 This is rather startling sentence leaped out at me from a page of biography which I was reading the other day. "Indulgence in asceticism" is a new thought to some of us. Asceticism is the opposite of self-indulgence. According to the dictionary it means "rigid self denial," which is to say that Seneca indulged in the opposite of indulgence to such an extent that his father felt obliged to check him.

When any tendency, however good in itself, takes possession of a man and warps his life, it becomes bad.

Caution is a good thing, yet I know a woman whose life it has almost wrecked. She is naturally of an extremely cautious temperament and she has indulged herself in it until caution has become an obsession to her. When she goes out of the house she cannot shut a door, lock it and leave it, she must go back and try it to make sure it was locked. With a thousand needless little cares of this sort she fritters away precious time and wears out herself and everyone about her.

Pride is a vice and humility is a virtue. Yet is it not possible to indulge oneself in humility to such an extent that a check is needed? I think it is. In fact, I know a girl who would be a much pleasanter companion for herself and everyone else if she had been checked in her habit of self-depreciation in her childhood. She is always punning herself down. The result is that those people who think her sincere take her at her own needlessly low estimate, and those who do not are bored and repelled by what seems to them a pose. Personally I believe her humility is genuine, but it is carried to an absurd extreme, and it loses her much happiness.

Even unselfishness, the greatest of all virtues and foster parent of them all, may "lean to falling's side" when it is made an indulgence. We all know the mother who is so excessively unselfish that she never gives her children a chance to learn the happiness of self sacrifice. If it is more blessed to give than to receive, has not unselfishness turned selfish when it keeps this greater blessing all to itself?

Balance is one of the first laws of life. A really powerful character must have balance. Let us look out that we do not permit ourselves or our children to indulge in any propensity until it becomes an obsession that warps and wreck a life.

Ruth Cameron

Cy Falkenberg.

A lot of guys have had their day an' petered out an' gone away, then tried to come back sketch on diamond, mat or in the ring. They found it ain't any easy thing an' darn few make the stretch. But now an' then it's put across. Some ol'-time, ring-boned, spivited hogs come back an' breathe the wire. Cy Falkenberg is one of these. He blew back on a graveyard breeze an' set a league on fire.

He couldn't stand the big league pace with Washington an' so his face appeared in St. John's town. In 1912 that was. But Cy dimmed every A. A. batsman's eye an' mowed their stingers down. Last year the Naves recalled the slat to give him one more flier at the big time hitsmith crew. The ol' boy hit an awful gait, he won about a dozen straight an' starred the season through.

He's six foot four or five, long way, but skinny as a rail—an' say, he folds up like a knife. That fadeaway he throws jus' stops up near the plate an' simply drops as if it lost its life. But Cy got tired of big league beds and did a Brodie to the Feds. He's with the Hoosier clan. Now all you bums who watch the dope to see it come back get their hope jus' watch this Fatky man.

Lost Karluk Not Fit For Arctic Work.

New York, June 1.—Herbert L. Bridgman, of Brooklyn, an active promoter of Arctic expeditions, has received a brief message from Hugh J. Lee, Deputy United States Marshal at St. Michael's, telling of the loss of the Karluk and the safety of Captain Bartlett and his men. Lee was a member of the Peary expedition of 1905 and has since then been actively interested in Arctic work. His message conveyed simply the information that the Karluk had been crushed sixty miles north of North Herald Island, that Bartlett had arrived in St. Michael's, and that the whaler would proceed to the assistance of the crew on Wrangell Island, the last previous news from the Karluk was that she had been seen in an ice pack Sept. 23.

"Bartlett is a most resourceful and energetic Arctic man," Mr. Bridgman said last night to a World reporter. "He set out over the ice to find rescuers as soon as he had provided for the immediate relief of the crew. Probably he took chiefly natives with him on his sledges, and perhaps only two or three white men and he made his way to Siberia.

"Steinsson is in the Mackenzie River district, perhaps from 500 to 750 miles from the scene of the disaster to the Karluk, but much further away than we are in point of facility of communication. He probably knows nothing of the loss of the ship. It was his opinion and that of Capt. Bartlett that the Karluk was not good enough for Arctic work. Bartlett spoke from his experience with the Roosevelt, which had been specially constructed to withstand ice pressure. The result seems to have justified his forebodings. The ship cost $25,000. It is an unfortunate loss but the work Steinsson undertook to do last year will not be interrupted. It will go on as planned and will be continued to success."

Lightning Bolt Kills 3 in Nova Scotia.

Yarmouth, May 28.—This town was visited at six o'clock this morning by an electric storm which was severe but of short duration. In Shag Harbor it was worst and a fatality is reported. Morton Smith, in company with another man named Smith, were at their moorings preparing to go fishing when the storm broke. At its height the former young man was struck by a bolt of lightning and instantly killed, while his companion was injured severely. The deceased Morton Smith was but twenty-seven years of age and leaves a widow and three children, also a father and mother, all of whom were dependent upon him.

Porto Rico.

By GEORGE FITCH,
 Author of "At Good Old S'wash."

Porto Rico, the patriarch of all United States possessions was discovered in 1493 by Columbus long before the rest of this country was suspected, and some time even before the City of Chicago began to discuss the subway problem.

At the time of its discovery, Porto Rico was inhabited by Indians. However, it became a Spanish possession, and as the Spaniards and the Indians always mixed exactly like cats and mice, the Indians disappeared. There are now about 1,200,000 on the island of whom about 650,000 are white and 550,000 are shaded. Those who have considered Porto Rico as a dark brown colony, will therefore be surprised to learn that it has less negroes for 1,000 people than Mississippi or South Carolina.

Porto Rico, for all its age and importance in history, isn't much larger than a husky western county. It has 3,435 square miles, which makes it about twice the size of Rhode Island, and every square mile has to support about 300 people. This wouldn't be so bad if so many of the miles were not monopolized by mountains. They have squatted on about three-fourths of Porto Rico's square miles, leaving only a quarter of the island for cultivation. However, Nature is very kind and bountiful in Porto Rico, and fifteen acres will support a husband, wife and two dozen children—though it will not furnish them with shoes.

Porto Rico sells huge amounts of coffee, sugar, and tobacco to the United States each year, and buys back from us almost everything it uses except cigarettes and straw hats. The people of Porto Rico are poor, and more than half of them cannot read. But one-fourth of its taxes are now spent for schools, and the commonest sight on the island is that of a Porto Rican child reading the newspaper to his proud parents.

Porto Rico had had a hard time during its 400 years of blonde history. It had the Spaniards until 1898, and the following year it entertained a cyclone which blew the coffee crop far out into the Atlantic and almost ruined the island. For sixteen years it has been a colony of the United States, during which time it has gained good roads, garbage cans, mosquito nets, public schools, irrigation, baseball, savings banks, automobiles, moving pictures and the style of government under which a man can cast a vote without being arrested for impertinence.

J. I. FLICK, ESQ.,
 District Manager,
 Canada Life Assurance Co.,
 New Glasgow, N.S.

Dear Sir,—
 I wish to state that I am well satisfied with the results which your Company have given me in connection with my Endowment Policy No. 47,775, which matures on the 17th of March. I find that the returns give me over $424.00 more than I have paid in premiums, in addition to the protection that I have had during the Policy term. I consider this all the more satisfactory taking into account the fact that the dividends were applied as a Bonus every five years. I, therefore, received a return beyond Bank interest, in addition to the protection.

Yours very truly,
JOSEPH STEWART.

Divorced Life
 by Helen Hessong Fuestle

A Matter of Propriety

"Greetings," said Ratgenhauer next day when Marian presented herself at his office. "Sit down," he added, waving her into a chair. "Had you in mind ever since you dropped in the first time. Why haven't you been showing yourself?"

"I've been out of town," responded Marian.

"Get out," grinned the theatrical man. "You were afraid I'd steal you." "Don't you ever think it," she answered with spirit. "I can take care of myself."

"Course you can. Who said you couldn't? You're all right, little girl. But leave it to me. I'll make a real actress out of you. I've given lots of girls their start. To-day their names are shining on Broadway. And you seem to have the goods if any of them ever had," he added, appraising her complacently.

It was a searching gaze that Marian did not like. But she merely responded: "I'm glad to hear you say that, Mr. Ratgenhauer. I'm in earnest about this. Dead in earnest."

"That's the talk!" he urged. "I'll do everything I can for you. The company I was telling you about starts rehearsals to-morrow. I think I can use you to fill in every week or two. No big parts at the start, understand, but you'll get training that will be worth heaps to you. Willis Wiltree is the star. He's a temperamental sort of a pup, but a great card for stock productions. He raises forty seven different kinds of thunder at rehearsals, and all that sort of thing, but I'll tell him not to ball you out. He'll do what I tell him."

"Thanks," murmured Miss Winthrop glad that she was to be spared rough treatment at the hands of a moody star.

"Be at the Arden Theatre at ten sharp to-morrow morning. First rehearsal. I'll introduce you to his nibs. We put on 'The Climbers' next week." He reached into a pigeon-hole and produced some type-written "parts." Here's your part. It's only a bit, for the start—not many lines, but you're on the stage a good share of one act. Better familiarize yourself with the lines between now and to-morrow morning."

"Been a dozen or more applicants here," continued Ratgenhauer. "Turned them all down. I want you to jump in and see what you can do." "I'll do my best and I shan't disappoint you," said Marian.

"I'm not afraid. I don't often get fooled," returned the producer. He reached over, took her hand and swiftly raised it to his lips and kissed it. Marian let him mechanically. "You're going to put it over big, little girl," he made haste to add before Marian could protest against his act.

On her way out she mused philosophically: "There's no use being too squeamish with this fellow. I'll have to put up just a little with his crudeness. I'll be cute and get all I can out of him. It's the only way to get ahead. With just a little humoring that man will do a whole lot for me. He's not such a bad sort after all."

Thus had the opening wedge of compromise entered her hitherto rigid sense of propriety. She solaced herself with the feeling that progress demanded the toll of a certain amount of compromise. A consuming ambition for theatrical success had thrown its siren mantle over her obscuring her earlier more puritanical viewpoint.

Not Meant For Him.

We have heard a postcard was the innocent means of giving Mr. A. J. Balfour the most embarrassing and stupefying moment he has ever experienced. He was staying at an Indian hotel when he found among his correspondence a postcard on which were these words, "Baby going on nicely. I really think she has grown since you left."

As Mr. Balfour is a confirmed bachelor, his consternation may be imagined—until, on turning over the postcard, he found that it was addressed to the Right Hon. J. B. Balfour, who happened to be staying at the hotel at the time, and to whom the card conveyed welcome news of the well-being of the last addition to his family.

BUDAPEST, June 7.
 A mad murderer, August Tomics, has, since yesterday morning, made an impregnable fortress out of the steeple of the village church at Hoenlang, where, armed with a repeating rifle and 500 cartridges, he took refuge after killing a farmer and his wife and wounding their daughter. The police tried to reach the criminal, but were met with a fusillade, in which two were killed and fourteen wounded. The Chief of police confesses he is helpless until the fiend surrenders voluntarily, or uses all his cartridges.

LONDON, June 7.
 Suffragettes, for the first time to-day invaded Catholic Churches, and created scenes by attempting to harangue the congregations. The worshippers at Westminster Cathedral and the Church of the Oratory, Brompton, were both disturbed.

LONDON, June 7.
 Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell & Co. announce suspension of payment, and their books have been placed in the hands of accountants who will prepare a statement.

MONTREAL, June 7.
 Later cables from London, announce that Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell's liabilities are estimated at $5,000,000. The cables further say the failure was expected for some time.

LONDON, June 7.
 The all-absorbing topic of conversation on the Exchange yesterday was the news that Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell & Co. had suspended payment, with liabilities totalling in the neighborhood of $25,000,000. The suspended bank stands on Prince's Street, opposite the Bank of England and has a capital of $1,750,000, with thirty-three shareholders. Grenfells have long ceased as financial people in the city, and have figured prominently in West End social circles. One branch of the family is represented by Lord Desborough, Chairman of the London Chamber of Commerce, and Arthur M. Grenfell married Lady Victoria Grey, daughter of Earl Grey.

LONDON, June 7.
 Lord Mersey left to-day for Liverpool to join the Mauretania for New York, on his way to Quebec, to act as chairman in the Empress of Ireland disaster commission.

Detained Vessels Sail.

The Marina and Meadowfield which had been delayed in port by the ice blockade at Explotis, left for Botwood last evening, and it is expected that they will have no difficulty in reaching their destination, as the heavy winds of the past few days have practically cleared the coast.

A large quantity of pulp and paper is now awaiting shipment at Botwood, and the Tritonia leaves here for there to-day and will be followed by the Cape Breton, which is now undergoing repairs to her bow plates.

Laughs With Joy! No More Indigestion

Montreal Man so Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble.

Found a Simple Remedy That Has Kept Him Well Ever Since.

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common to-day:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, D. R. Larose, 338 Joliette street, Montreal, P.Q.

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, at druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y.

Scarlet Fever at Odein

On Saturday last the Health Authorities were informed that an outbreak of scarlet fever had occurred at Odein, P.E.I., but the number of persons suffering from the disease was not stated.

Dr. McDonald, of Placentia, is caring for the patients, and the Magistrate is enforcing the quarantine regulations.

League Football.

The first League Football match for the season takes place this evening on St. George's Field between the St. Andrew's and Star. The game will start at 7 o'clock and the players will be:

STARS.—Goal, H. Phalen; backs, J. Walsh, J. Hart; halves, T. Jackman, W. Hart, L. Kavanagh; forwards, Morgan, F. Phelan, Christopher, Cull, Brien.

SAINTS.—Goal, W. Ross; backs, G. Dick, A. Barnes; halves, H. Fraser, D. Stevenson, J. Irvine; forwards, D. Way, Burns, A. Howard, Kerr, R. Inness.

His Own Blood

IN TWO REELS.
At The Crescent.

The opening bill at the House of Features this week is a hummer. The special two reel subject is the society drama featuring Edwin August. The second picture, "Exposed by the Dictograph," is a very interesting story of modern life showing how a clever detective captured a criminal by the aid of this wonderful invention. For fun you should see the I. M. P. Comedy, "A Hot Finish." Mr. Sid Earnshaw, the popular vocalist of the Crescent is now appearing in his farewell week, during his engagement at the Palace he has won many friends in St. John's who will be pleased to learn that he has accepted an engagement to appear in the largest picture house in St. John, N.B. To-night he sings the pleasing ballad: "Why Hasn't Daddy Come Home From the War," and during the week will render some appropriate songs.

On Wednesday and Thursday the feature picture is a drama somewhat similar to "The Heart of a Jewess," entitled "Love in a Ghetto." If its pictures worth while you will be sure to see them at the Crescent. Coming in three reels: "Beauty and the Beast."

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the office. An order is received at the office,—its history is recorded at the office, and finally payment is received at the office. If the office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland—admit!

YESTERDAY'S COLLECTION.
 The annual collection for the Cemeteries was taken up at the Catholic Churches in the city yesterday and amounted to over $1,200, which is a little more than that subscribed last year.
