ECHOES of the Past

The Recompense of Love!

CHAPTER VI "Let's get on a buss," said Clive. "Have you ever realized that, taking into consideration the wear of shoe-leather and the elbows of your coat, it is cheaper to ride than walk in London? This used to be the poor man's carriage," he resumed, as they climbed to the top of the omnibus;

"Nice to be acquainted with bank directors," murmured Quilton. "Oh, I met him at my father's," explained Clive; "though what on earth he was doing there I don't know," he added candidly. "No director of even the most credulous and trustful of banks would negotiate a loan with the Rathbourns."

"The old barriers have been broken down," observed Quilton. "This is a democratic age; the peasant treads closely on the heels of the peer, the mason travels in the twopenny tube with the millionaire, the bishop rides on the knife-board of the omnibus with a bricklayer—and Mr. Clive Harvey—I beg his pardon, the Honorable Clive Harvey, son of the Earl of Rathbourn, whose ancestors came over with William the Norman, chooses as his companion on a slum-prowl the humble and seedy William Henry Quilton."

"Don't be an ass, Quilton," adjured Clive. "But you're right. It is a democratic age, and barriers are being leveled in every direction. Some of them ought to have come down long ago; for they are so high and so thick that men could not see each other over them or through them; they divide the classes, and one class does not know how the other lives. Do you imagine that the upper classes, as they are called, and rightly, for they are on top, are aware of the misery, the abject misery in which so many millions of their fellow creatures—their fellow citizens, by Jove!—live, or, rather, drag through an existence of which one of the lower animals would be ashamed?"

"They have every opportunity of reading about it," said Quilton. "The Beacon costs only a halfpenny." "They read about 'em, of course," assented Clive. "So do you and I read about the Eskimos and the Baks in Central Africa; but reading is no use. You want to know, you want to have it brought home to you." "As we are going to have it brought home to us two presently." "Quite so," said Clive. "The poor think the rich hard-hearted; they are not, they are light-hearted, careless, thoughtless."

thought," quoted Quilton impassively. "Ah, that's it," said Clive. "It's want of thought. I know a round score of people, titled, rich people, who would not only be moved to tears by a description of the state of things we are going to see, but would shell out, and liberally, too. But that isn't enough. Private charity has the effect of a drop in the ocean, and little more. We want legislation, we want to get at the root of the matter, to do deal with things that the denizens of the slums could be taught that it is a crime to drink, to herd together like pigs in a sty, to beat their wives and starve their children; in short, to live like wild beasts—I beg the wild beasts' pardon!—instead of self-respecting human beings."

"Hear, hear!" Here the honorable gentleman resumed his seat amidst prolonged cheering," said Quilton. Clive laughed. "I beg your pardon, Quilton," he said; "but I wasn't making a speech. If you knew as much of the condition of the poor as I know—" "How do you know I don't?" said Quilton, dryly. "You talk of the slums here in London; do you know them in New York, in Chicago? Do you know the kind of place the meat-packer calls home in the latter place? Do you know the backwaters in Paris, Berlin, Naples? I bet you don't; but I do. Got a match upon you? I have no doubt there were slums in the prehistoric period; you bet there were some in Rome and Jerusalem. You want to bring about the millennium. All right; don't mind me. But, clever as you are, I don't think you'll do it."

"Perhaps not," said Clive, checking a sigh; "the millennium is a big thing; but I am going to have a fair and square try to improve matters." "Here's luck to you," said Quilton, lifting his pipe as if it were a glass. "Look at the thousands upon thousands of well-dressed, and, presumably, well-to-do people in the streets. Have you ever gone into the suburbs of London?" "Yes," said Clive. "I have taken long walks in every direction." "And been struck by the miles and miles of not only comfortable but expensive houses?" said Quilton. "They stretch right into the country. In every direction, mind you; not only in one. Did you ever ask yourself how the occupiers of those houses, ranging in rent from forty pounds to two hundred and fifty pounds, paid their rent, to say nothing of getting their living?"

"Yes; it is wonderful. London is a great mystery; for of course it all comes out of London." "Yes," drawled Quilton. "And you can understand how the present-day German must echo Blucher's famous aspiration: 'What a city to sack!'" They got down at Whitechapel Church, and Clive led the way across the road into one of the streets that branches from the main thoroughfare. At first it was decent enough, though the signs of squalor and vice rapidly showed themselves; but Clive, asking his way to Paradise Gardens, was directed through a series of narrow streets through which he and Quilton passed as, so to speak, travelers, not to paradise, but to its extreme opposite; for these streets grew narrower, more squallid, more filthy, and were thronged with people more squallid and filthy than the streets themselves. At every corner there was a flaring gin-palace or a more seedy but not less disreputable beer-shop, about which hung loafers of the lowest type, who stared at them with a resentful curiosity.

"They reached their destination at last; and they found it to be anything but a paradise or a garden. It seemed to be the end of the world, the spot in which all the filth and mire of humanity had silted to. There were no gin-palaces here, but gloomy beer-shops and grimy public-houses, about which congregated individuals to whom the loafers in the broader streets were princes and gentlemen. Children, scarcely clothed, were playing and wallowing in the black mud of the gutters. Frowsy women, scarcely more adequately clothed than the children, with unkempt hair and grimy faces, were leaning against the doors of the public houses or squatting on the pavement, and were indifferent to, or only taking a languid interest in, a fight which was going on between two men at the end of the court; but presently a couple of women staggered and rolled out of one of the beer-shops; they were singing at the top of their voices, both madly drunk, and suddenly one of them "checked" the other.

In an instant they were both engaged, tearing each other's hair and clawing at each other's bosom. The loafers woke up and formed a ring; not a keenly interested ring, but a limp and languid one; the little affair was too common in Paradise Gardens to cause excitement or anything but a lazy interest. And the women fought like tigers, blood flowed, hair was shed by the handfuls. Clive looked on for a while with white face and a racked soul; Quilton as impassively as ever. Clive was breaking through the circle of spectators when a policeman thrust him aside and made his way through the ring. He separated the combatants, but made no arrest; why should he? Such fights were as frequent in Paradise Gardens as "At Homes" in Mayfair.

The two women went off, still shrilling threats that savored of the nether hell; the policeman dispelled the languid crowd, and, in doing so, confronted Clive and Quilton. He knew Paradise Gardens and all its denizens, and he saw that Clive and Quilton were strangers. "Pass along," he said; then he looked at Clive keenly. He had been on duty in Palace Yard and recognized Mr. Clive Harvey, the people's friend." He saluted, but shook his head.

"Run place, this, sir," he said; "scarcely the place for a gentleman. Might get into trouble any moment. There ain't a worse place in London; better be going, sir." "It's all right, constable," said Clive. "We've come to see—what we can see, for ourselves." "Then you'd better take me with you, sir," said the policeman gravely. "It is not a place for a gentleman like you."

"No, no," said Clive; "we want to go alone. We shall be all right." "Well," said the policeman reluctantly, "I shall be at the corner there, if you call to me. But I hope you'll be careful, gentlemen, for we policemen get the blame if anything goes wrong." He tramped off as reluctantly as he had spoken, and Clive and Quilton pursued their investigation. They entered one of the doorways—all the doors were open, as if the occupants of this fearful den invited inspection—and knocked at the room on the ground floor. A half-clad girl opened the door to them, and Clive and Quilton looked in upon a scene which would seem incredible to one of my 'adies of Mayfair.

There were nine persons in the room, male and female, of all ages, from the grandfather of eighty to the child of six, to say nothing of three babies lying on a piece of sacking in the corner. They were match-box makers and they were working against time. Some of them were bending into shape the thin pieces of wood, some were passing the labels, others were fixing them to the shaped boxes. Work as they might, and as they did, with a feverish, wolfish eagerness, they could only earn a few pence apiece. They raised their heavy eyes and stared at Clive and Quilton, then fell to work again as if they grudged the moment their presence had stolen.

Clive asked a few questions, and they were answered grudgingly, with a subdued ferocity, as if the time demanded were so much lost. "How much do we earn a day? Say one and nine. Yes; and all of us works. Do we all sleep here? Where he blazes do yer think we sleep? Is hat child ill? Yes; mother thinks"—here the speaker indicated, with a jerk of the head, an old beldame with tangled gray hair and toothless jaw—"that it's scarlet fever. Perhaps it is. I don't know. Doctor? What's the use of a doctor? He'd cart her off to a ospital, and we shouldn't see her no more. Water? O' course there's water; plenty of water; look at it!"

It was oozing from the cracked and broken ceiling of the room, and dripping into a wash-basin. "Why don't we complain to the landlord? We never see the landlord; he only see the agent. The landlord's a swell at the West End, so we've card. Don't stand in the light, mister; can't see what I'm doin' of." (To be Continued.)

1455.—A UNIQUE AND PLEASING DESIGN.

Ladies Dress in Raised or Normal Waistline with Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

As here shown, black velvet was used, with dotted net for the sleeves and insert and white crepe for the chemisette and collar. The design may be finished with short sleeves. The design is nice for taffeta, faille, serge, gabardine or poplin and lends itself nicely to combination of materials. In green satin with ecru crepe for contrast this model will be very attractive. It is also nice in white or other color taffeta, with batiste, net or lace for trimming. The Pattern is cut in 6 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 3 1/4 yards at the foot. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

1425.—A PRACTICAL CONVENIENT MODEL.

Ladies House Dress With Long or Short Sleeve. For utility, comfort and convenience, this design has much to commend it. It closes in coat style, with the entire fronts overlapping. This assures easy and practical adjustment. An ample pocket is arranged over the side front. The waist is finished with a neat collar, and with cuffs for sleeve in short length. The long sleeve is dart fitted. The dart fulness may be cut away and the opening thus made, be finished with a facing and underlap for buttons and buttonholes or other fasteners; then the sleeve may be turned back over the arm when desired. The Pattern is good for gingham, percale, lawn, seersucker, soisette, mndras, dimity, drill or linen. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/4 yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

GERMAN-AUSTRIAN ARTILLERY BOMBARDING SERBIAN POSITIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 23. While German and Austrian artillery are bombarding Serbian positions along the whole northern frontier, and apparently paying the way for the long awaited thrust toward Turkey, the Balkan States are in ferment; and M. Radislavoff, Bulgarian Premier, has announced to his supporters the signing of a convention with Turkey for future maintenance of armed neutrality on the part of Bulgaria, says the Times correspondent, at Sofia.

THE CRISIS NEAR.

ATHENS, Sept. 23. The correspondent of the Morning Post says that all authentic information from Bulgaria point that warlike preparations have commenced. Orders have been issued by the Bulgarian Government that all railway trucks, where they are found must be unloaded immediately, and reserved for government use. Heavy artillery and field kitchens, passed yesterday through Philippopolis by rail. All officers have been recalled from leave. Despite repeated assertions from Bulgarian leaders that mobilization is merely for the purposes of armed neutrality, London now believes that Sofia is ready to throw in her lot with the Central Powers. The problematic factors in the crisis are in Greece, Athens is in turmoil. On receipt of the news that Bulgaria had ordered mobilization of her troops, King Constantine summoned to a conference with Premier Venesios, members of the General Staff of the army. The Premier subsequently called a meeting of the Cabinet. The greatest activity prevails among representatives of the Entente Powers in Greece. British, French and Russian minister have held conference with the Venesios Government. Athens, despatches say, faces the situation confidently. Britain views the situation with greatest seriousness.

NO MORE PASSPORTS ISSUED.

SOFIA, Sept. 23. The Bulgarian Government announced to-day that no more passports will be issued to persons departing for foreign countries, owing to the present uncertain conditions.

to the present uncertain conditions. The military authorities have announced that youths of the class of 1916 must appear for physical examination before October 20th.

MAY FORCE A SOLUTION.

LONDON, Sept. 23. At the best the Bulgarian stroke marks the whole Balkan situation as urgent and immediate, says the Westminster Gazette. This may not be a misfortune, as it compels all the States to come to definite decisions about the Bulgarian demands. The Germans are threatening to join the Austrians in another attack on Serbia. This may be partly bluff, but it might come to a dangerous reality if Bulgaria is willing to throw her lot with the Turks and Central Powers, as they would have the unloosening of incalculable forces throughout the Peninsula.

TORONTO BULGARIANS WILL NOT FIGHT.

TORONTO, Sept. 23. Toronto Bulgarians declare that they will not go back to Bulgaria to fight for that country if they declare war on Serbia. They take the stand that Britain and Russia are responsible for the liberty they now enjoy. They will not go against the Allies. "They liberated us and we won't fight against them. If Bulgaria fights our enemy, then we will go back and fight," they declare.

NO FURTHER NEWS REACHES BRITISH PUBLIC.

LONDON, Sept. 23. No further news from Bulgaria has reached the British public. Even diplomatic circles are unable to explain the Balkan riddle. M. Mincoff, First Secretary of the Bulgarian Legation, said to-day: "Up to now we have been only civilians in the armed camp of Europe. Roumania and Greece have been mobilized for a considerable time. Why, therefore, is it so astonishing that Bulgaria should follow suit? Why should mobilization mean any change in our national policy?"

ARTILLERY FIGHTING IN FRANCE.

PARIS, Sept. 23. The violent artillery fighting which has characterized operations in France for more than three weeks past was continued yesterday and last night, at a number of places along the battle line, according to an announcement given out this afternoon by the War Office. Engagements were particularly severe near Rosincourt and to the north of the River Aves.

GERMAN POSITIONS HEAVILY REINFORCED.

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 23. During the past week, German positions in Belgium have been heavily reinforced, while fortifications at Lille, in France, have been restored and strengthened. It is reported here that these precautions have been taken in anticipation of a possible general offensive on the part of the Entente Allies along the western lines before the autumn rains begin.

ENEMY AEROPLANES DROP MORE BOMBS.

PARIS, Sept. 23. Two German aeroplanes flew over Swiss territory between Combaux and Crasdomant Farm, injuring a child, according to newspaper despatches from Bern.

AMERICAN CONSULATE STRUCK BY FRENCH AIRMEN.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. The American Consulate at Stuttgart was struck by fragments of a bomb during the recent raid on that place by French airmen, according to a message to-day from Consul Higgins. He said no one in the Consulate was injured, but did not indicate whether the building was greatly damaged.

CHANGES IN RUSSIAN ARMY.

BERLIN, Sept. 23. A report reached Berlin to-day that changes in the leadership of the Russian army, affecting the highest military officials, were soon to be made. This report, contained in a well-informed Russian press report, was given out here to-day by the Overseas News Agency. Quoting from this despatch, the News Agency says: "The Emperor Nicholas is Commander-in-Chief of the Russian forces in name only. The actual power is in the hands of experienced leaders, General Polivanoff, Minister of War, and General Kuropatkin. Plans will soon be consummated for reforms, including reorganization of the highest military officials."

THE SUBMARINE WARFARE.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Sept. 23. The reason why the German Government has consented to change its submarine methods is because more submarines have been destroyed and its undersea warfare brought to a complete failure within the past two months. It is positively known that since April last sixteen have been destroyed. These boats mostly were destroyed by the great iron nets placed in the paths of submarines by the British Government. Operations under present methods have lasted over a period of four months and they would have been brought to a successful completion many weeks ago if the British naval authorities had realized that some of the mercantile contrivances made use of were not fit for the work. Sixty-seven German submarines, 28 of which are declared to have been of the newest and latest construction, have been sunk and their crews destroyed by the British navy. Since the fifth of May it is stated on positive authority that the full capacity of German shipyards for undersea boats is not more than three a month, but that even if Germany were able to replace her submarines as fast as they have been destroyed, that the most grave situation she faces in regards to this method of warfare is the actual destruction of the morale of the officers and crews of such vessels.

ALLIED AVIATORS DROP BOMBS.

GENEVA, Sept. 23. News has reached Romanshorn, Switzerland, that the right wing of the Royal Palace at Stuttgart was badly damaged in yesterday's raid by the Allied aviators. One bomb exploded in the saloon. It is known that several members of the royal family were in residence. The French aviators, after bombarding the station and barracks, where two soldiers were killed, and fifteen seriously injured, divided, some flying to Friedrichshafen where the Zeppelin factory was bombarded. The Swiss steamer Gothard hastily left, Friedrichshafen for the Swiss shore without taking passengers on board.

TAKING PRECAUTIONS.

WHEELING, West Virginia, September 23. A movement to have all Austro-Hungarians quit the plants where they are employed making war munitions for the enemies of Austria, was inaugurated here to-day, when it was announced that a speaker representing the Cleveland Society would address such workmen at Bridgeport, Ohio, on Saturday night. Mill managers, fearing the men would walk out, have arranged to have their places taken by workmen of other nationalities. Important contracts for shells are being filled by factories in the Wheeling district.

CONDITIONS IN TURKISH CAPITAL.

GENEVA, Sept. 23. A Swiss, just returned from Constantinople, says there is no gas, electricity or candles in the Turkish capital, and that conditions of life there are almost intolerable for foreigners.

ALLIED FORCES FOR DARDANELLES.

BERLIN, Sept. 23. A new army of 110,000 men has been sent to the assistance of the Allied forces in the Dardanelles, according to the Overseas News Agency. This information is contained in a despatch from Athens. The reinforcements for the French and British forces are said to have been landed at Mudros on Lemnos island, in the Aegean Sea.

SWEDISH STEAMER SUNK.

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 23. The Swedish steamer Forsvik, 1,107 tons, was sunk on Sunday by a mine or torpedo.

FIRE IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Sept. 23. Fire this morning in the Princess Theatre, did damage estimated at $60,000.

FOUR CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

LARGE, Penn., Sept. 23. Trapped by flames which enveloped their home while the mother was calling on a neighbor, four children of Daniel Kish, were burned to death here to-day.

LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, Sept. 23. "The Riddle of the Balkans" as the London press terms the latest developments in the eastern peninsula, arising out of Bulgaria's order of mobilization, remains unsolved. The greatest uncertainty still exists, even in official quarters in London, as to the intentions of King Ferdinand and his advisers, in fact it is not yet certain that mobilization has begun, or that a date has been set for it. One report from Athens says that mobilization has been postponed. It is known, however, that the Entente representatives at Sofia and other Balkan capitals are still busy trying to reconstruct the Balkan league, as well as prevent Roumania, Bulgaria, Greece and Serbia from fighting among themselves. As the Bulgarian Government appears to have made up its mind, despite the opposition of some parties, it seems likely that these diplomatic efforts will have many difficulties to overcome. The Central Powers have already commenced their attempt to make their way through Serbia and one of the intervening neutral countries to the Aegean Sea, but with Russia more than honors her own against the Austro-Germans in Galicia and Volhynia, it is believed here that the Balkan Powers would hesitate before going to contrary to the wishes of their big neighbor and former protector. The Russians, also, are doing better on the northern end of their line, and thus far have prevented Field Marshal Von Hindenburg from reaching the Dvina River, west of Lennawaden, where, for the second time, the battle line has been joined. They are also putting up a stubborn fight further down the river west of Dvinsk, where the Germans claim to have penetrated their positions. Southeast of Vilna, the Russian rearguards, which made possible the escape of the main Vilna army from the German net, are now falling back, and in doing so have left some prisoners in the hands of the Germans. Prince Leopold, of Bavaria, has made a slight further advance, but Field Marshal Von Mackensen and his Austrian colleagues, to the south, are at a standstill, by are even being pushed back by the Russians, under General Ivanoff. Big guns continue to boom along the western front. Men on both sides are finding plenty of employment in mining, bombing and in air fights, which are now an almost hourly experience. There also has been something happening in the North Sea, according to correspondents from Ameland, a Dutch island off the coast of Friesland, who report heavy firing in the North Sea last night and again to-day.

Spent Bullet Hits Auto Tourist While Crossing Panhandle.

H. F. Rodger, of St. John's N.F., is Seriously Wounded by Shot in His Throat Near Childress.

Childress, Aug. 23.—H. F. Rodger, an employee of Stone & Webster, giving his residence as St. John's, Newfoundland, was shot near here this afternoon. Rodger and his wife were on route to San Francisco in a new car purchased at Fort Worth last Saturday.

While driving about one-half mile south of Red River bridge, Rodger dropped down into his seat. His wife stopped the car and assisted him out. Blood by that time was flowing profusely from his mouth.

Dr. G. G. Castleberry of Ben Wheeler, a returning tourist from Colorado, was the first party to give assistance. He informed Rodger that he was shot. The bullet is supposed to be a spent ball from a small-bore high-power rifle. It struck Rodger under the chin, severing the windpipe, then ranging downward.

He was brought to Childress, but on account of the X-ray machine at the local hospital being out of order, it was impossible to locate the ball. Rodger was sent from here to-night to Fort Worth, where he will be given further medical aid.

Local officers are at work on the case, but as Rodger's statement shows that no report of a gun was heard, it is a hard problem to find the party responsible for the accident.

Rodger Left Fort Worth in Car Saturday.

H. F. Rodger, who was shot and seriously injured near Childress, Monday, was well known in Fort Worth, calling in his capacity as efficiency engineer in charge of systematizing work in power houses, he spent the year of 1914 in this city supervising the installation of system at the Handley plant of the Northern Texas Traction Company.

He left for Saturday for Denver in an automobile purchased here. He was accompanied by his wife, who was formerly a Denver girl. It is thought by Rodger's friends here that the couple were going to visit Mrs. Rodger's relatives in Denver.

It was learned from J. R. Hammonds of the Stone & Webster office in Fort Worth, that Rodger was stationed at Beaumont regulating the operation of the power plant in that city. On account of poor health he was taking a short vacation, to be spent in Denver.

It is thought by Hammonds that Rodger and his wife arrived in Fort Worth, Friday, from Beaumont. The automobile was purchased and the trip started overland, as it was expected that the journey made in that manner would be beneficial to Rodger's condition.

The machine was purchased from Harry F. Fellows, manager of the local Overland agency, who was associated with Rodger during his work on the Handley plant. News of the accident was a distinct shock to his many friends here and especially those whom he visited while here Saturday.

[Mr. H. F. Rodger is the son of Mr. A. Rodger, of Water Street.]

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

In the darker ages of motherhood, babies were literally deprived of air. To this fact may be traced part of the white plague curse of to-day. This is a fresh air age. But this does not mean that a mother should go to extremes in supplying the air her baby needs, nor in hardening its body, as some fanatics maintain. The baby should not be chilled nor exposed to a direct draught, but the air in the room should be cool and pure, not hot and fetid. In this one respect, strangely enough, the city baby has the best of the country baby. The average city house is uniformly heated by steam or furnace and easily ventilated. The country or farm house is still heated largely by stoves. One room is very hot, others very cold. The warmers are places of refuge for the entire family and they are kept too hot; often every window is closed tightly and the air is sadly vitiated.

India and the Imperial Conference.

There is a peculiar fitness in the resolution passed by the Legislative Council of India, which after its approval by the Executive Council will be forwarded to the Imperial Government for their own consideration and that of the present members of the Imperial Conference. The latter at present is composed of the President, the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, the Chairman (in the absence of the President), the Secretary of State for the Colonies; Members, the Prime Ministers of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Newfoundland. Other officials are usually called in to take part in deliberations to which their offices, experience and knowledge will add weight. These conferences were first instituted at the Jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1897, and Sir William Whiteway attended it. The next two were held in 1902 and 1907 and Sir Robert Bond attended. At the latter Conference the title of the gathering was changed from Colonial Conference to Imperial Conference. At the 1911 Conference Sir Edward Morris was the Prime Minister representing Newfoundland, and the Hon. R. Watson also attended it. But for the war an Imperial Conference would have been held this year. The authorities at home, in Canada, Newfoundland, New Zealand, and South Africa favoured a postponement. The Prime Minister of Australia expressed a contrary opinion, but refrained from pressing his views in deference to the situation generally, and to the opinions of the Ministers of other parts of the Empire. The Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. Harcourt, has stated on behalf of the Home Government that the Prime Ministers of the Dominions will be consulted "most fully, and if possible, personally, when the time comes to discuss possible terms of peace." By her whole-souled cooperation in this, war, by the sending of men and material, and the generosity of her princes and people, in placing their resources at the disposal of the Home Government in this war against those who threaten "Free Institutions." India has earned the right to be consulted like the self-governing portions of the Empire, and has won the right to be represented in any steps which may be necessary in future to self-guard the interests of the Empire. We have no doubt that the desire expressed by the Legislative Council of India will be entertained favorably by the home and overseas dominions of the Crown.

Amusements.

TWO TWO PART FILMS AT NICKEL TO-DAY.

No lover of the movies should miss the programme at the Nickel Theatre this evening. It is one of the best ever given there and will afford enjoyment to all. The bill includes two two-part films, each of which was acted by artists of the highest quality. "In the Latin Quarter" is a Vitagraph social drama of great merit. Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno are seen in the principal roles. "The Adventure of Florence" is the other double reel picture. It is a swell society drama in which Morris Foster and the famous actress Pio La Badie will be seen to advantage. "Everything Against Him" is a western melodrama, and "A Costly Exchange" is the comic. Messrs. Huskins and Cairns will be heard in new songs. Don't forget to send the children to the big matinee to-morrow afternoon.

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!

The Great Competition at Rossley's East End Theatre.

At Rossley's East End Theatre to-night will take place one of the most interesting and amusing competitions ever held in this popular place of amusement. The contest will be for ladies 14 years and over and gentlemen of a similar age. Each one can display their ability to amuse by ethising, talking or dancing and, as it is fully expected that the number of candidates will be great, a full house and an animated bill are assured. Seats should be secured early. The first prize is $5.00; the second, $3.00, and the third, $2.00. The audience will decide the order of merit and their decision is final. In addition, of course, will be the splendid entertainment given by Ian MacKenzie, Miss Rex Guerin and Mr. William Wallace, and excellent feature films.

BRITISH THEATRE.

Another brilliant entertainment is in store for prospective patrons at the above theatre commencing to-day. The most interesting announcement regarding the photo-plays being that an entirely new service of films will be inaugurated in which all of the magnificent features will consist of three and four reels. To-day, the highly interesting photo play in four parts will be presented entitled, "The Nobleman's Revenge." On Monday the great society drama "David Garrick" will be projected. On Saturday night, Madame Olive Timmons will receive a complimentary benefit from the management in recognition of her superb singing during her stay here. She will be assisted by Mr. Charles Hutton, Miss Mary Ryan and Mr. S. W. Cornick.

The Crescent Picture Palace to-day shows six feature pictures, drama and comedy, see the regular advertisement in another column of this paper for particulars of the big programme. Mr. Harry Collins sings "Verginia Lea," a fine Southern ballad. Mr. Collins closes his very successful engagement at the Crescent this week and goes back to New York by the Stephano on Monday. "Rogans Daughter," a thrilling 2 reel vitagraph special feature will be shown; the usual extra picture will be on at the big matinee; send the children, the Crescent staff will look after them.

Mrs. Laurence Hayes, an old lady of Harvey Street, passed to her rest on Monday morning, and the remains were interred in the R. C. Cemetery yesterday. Deceased leaves one daughter and two sons to mourn their loss.

Mrs. C. D. Garland, who had suffered for a long while from cancer, passed to her reward early on Sunday morning. Mrs. Garland's great suffering was borne with much patience and resignation. She leaves a husband, one son and two daughters to mourn the loss of a kind and loving wife and mother.

Yesterday was the last general holiday for the season, and a very fair day it was until about 8 o'clock p.m., when the rain, no doubt convinced that all ought to be home, came down in torrents.

Miss M. Butt, who went to St. John's on Saturday on a visit, returned by the early train on Monday.

Mr. Arthur Thomson is having his shop on Water Street painted, and otherwise prepared for a new business, it is said to be a shoe store, where all classes of boots and shoes will be kept in stock.

Sportsmen report birds very scarce in this neighborhood. We were informed by one sportsman that he travelled 20 miles yesterday and only saw one bird, and that one he had the pleasure of bringing home with him.

Your correspondent narrowly escaped a terrible accident yesterday morning, and perhaps it would be well to refer to it so as to warn other people from getting in the same predicament. He had a carman putting hay in, and being in a hurry commenced to take the hay off from the back of the load himself. The carman not thinking the other was near used the hay prong to shove the hay off the dray, and the other was only made aware of the danger by feeling the cold steel of the prong glide slowly past his temple. It was indeed a narrow escape. The neighbors were saved from "Sorry for your trouble, man," etc. But this item is only written as a warning and cannot show how quickly our lives may be snuffed out.

Mr. St. George, manager of the Horwood Lumber Co.'s branch business here left early this morning for Western Bay where the company is opening another branch. A schooner with supplies arrived at the latter place early this morning, and this caused Mr. St. George to visit the place and make the necessary arrangements. Mr. C. Butt, Mr. St. George's assistant here, is, it is said, going to take charge of the new business.

HR. GRACE, Sept. 23, 1915.

Vessels Wrecked.

Deputy Minister of Customs LeMessurier received word to-day that the schooner Ladysmith, Capt. W. Mills, bound from Bay of Islands to Port aux Basques with lumber, was ashore at Codroy Harbor and was a total wreck. The Ladysmith was 53 tons register. Mr. LeMessurier also had a message intimating that the schooner Meteor, owned by J. H. Young, of St. Jacques, had been lost at Fox River, Quebec. The crew were saved but no further particulars are to hand.

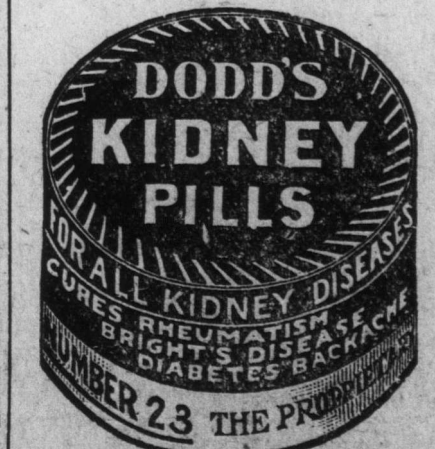

Sentenced to Two Years

Inspector Bartlett, of Bay of Islands, came to the city last night with a prisoner named Murdock Gallante, who was consigned to the Penitentiary to serve two years. The prisoner was tried before the circuit court a few days ago and convicted of a serious crime. The prisoner is 28 years old, belonging to Bateau Cove near Lark Harbor.

Meigle's Report.

The S.S. Meigle returned from the north at noon yesterday. She encountered strong winds on the trip, but the weather was mostly fair. Codfishing in the Straits and on the Southern Labrador is drawing to a close, and the fishermen are leaving for home every week. The residents of the coast still continue fishing operations a number of them selling their fish green. A large shipment of this fish was brought to Bonne Bay by the Meigle. The crews of Grant and Croucher are busy curing cod, and hope to get most of their fish off the coast within a fortnight. When the Meigle was crossing the Straits she passed through a large school of herring between Forteau and Flower's Cove. Quite a number of fishermen came down by the steamer.—Western Star.

McMurdo's Store News

FRIDAY, Sept. 24th, 1915.
The Palmolive preparations are making their mark and promise to become very popular. This series of toilet articles—though a small one—there are only three of them, Shampoo Liquid, Cold Cream, and Soap—will bear comparison with any line in the market. The soap especially with its bland, mild, effect upon the skin, and its delicate uncommon odor, has won the favor of all who have used it. We would advise all interested in toilet goods to try this elegant line. Prices (Shampoo Liquid) 60c., (Cold Cream) 60c., Soap 20c. a cake.

For that troublesome corn, which makes you wince every time you touch it, get a package of Acme Corn Silk. It costs only 10 cents, and it used judiciously will usually destroy and cure the corn entirely.

Reports to the Board of Trade.

Sept. 18th. (From M. Jenkins, Rocky Harbor to Trout River)—Fifty dories, skiffs and boats are fishing and the catch to date is 7,000 qts. with $00 for last week. Owing to the scarcity of bait the fishery is hampered considerably as without it the men are unable to go to the offer ground where cod is reported plentiful.

Sept. 18th. From T. O'Brien, (Point Armour to Red Bay)—Only a little herring is obtainable for bait and the fishery is about over for the season. All the trawls have been taken in but a little cod is still being taken by the people of Carroll's Cove. The total catch is 2700 qts. and for last week 100. From 10 to 20 dories and skiffs are fishing.

ERIK AT DOMINO.—A message to the Reid Company last evening from Capt. Burgess of the S.S. Erik, stated that the ship had just arrived at Domino, going North. The Captain reported having experienced heavy northerly winds and dense fog during the trip.

Grand Temperance Meeting at Pouch Cove Last Evening.

Seven motors kindly loaned by friends left the Institute at 4.30 yesterday afternoon occupied by 25 members of the W. C. T. U. and several gentlemen who wished to assist, en route to Pouch Cove. On arrival tea was served at Mrs. Grouchy's, after which the ladies worked their way to the Fishermen's Hall for the public meeting. The hall was packed to its utmost capacity, two-thirds of the audience being men. After a few introductory remarks by Mrs. Penman, who presided, Mr. Hickman gave a splendid practical address dealing with the economic side of temperance. This was followed by short addresses by Mrs. Pippy, Rev. W. H. Brown and Mr. A. Grouchy, one of the leading men of Pouch Cove. This address was listened to with rapt attention and the speaker was applauded many times. The item of special interest was the address of Mrs. Howland, who spoke in a very sympathetic and eloquent manner on this question which is of such vital importance to every Newfoundlander. Her appeal to the voters present to use their privilege of voting aright must have touched every one present. The programme was interspersed with the Rally songs used on Wednesday evening in the College Hall.

At the close of this very successful meeting several women signed the W. C. T. U. pledge against intemperance and avowing their earnest support of every movement which has for its object the suppression of the same. They were presented with the white ribbon bow. Return to town was made at 11.30.

The members of the Union would thank most heartily those friends who so kindly placed their motors at their disposal. They would also ask any other sympathizers who have this means of conveyance and would like to help a good cause, to communicate with the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. B. Mitchell, No. 1 Devon Row.

also centres in our display of

New Mantles for Fall.

Women of discriminating tastes in dress always look forward to our first showing of new wearables with an intense interest.

It is a proved fact whenever you see it in our stock, the authoritative-ness of the style, the quality of workmanship, and the value of the material, are unquestioned.

If you don't know this from experience, find out now.

"Differentness."

By RUTH CAMERON.

"In all my trip I don't believe I saw anything more lovely than an old river in the country as it looks on a June day with the piled up clouds reflected in the water and the long grasses waving on the bank and the cows coming down from the pasture lands to drink at the pool."

"So says a friend of mine who has recently come back from a trip to the tropics."

"Then you were sorry you went?" I asked.

"Oh, no," she said quickly. "Far from it. I wouldn't have missed it for anything, and I am already longing for the time when I can go again."

"And yet you can find just as much beauty at home."

Not More Beautiful But Different.

"Yes," she said slowly, "but it wasn't because it was more beautiful that I loved it, but because it was different. Pines are as beautiful as palms, but when you've seen pines all your life you love to see palms. It was the differentness I loved more than the beauty. Perhaps I'm queer that way."

Do you think she is queer, reader friend?

I don't.

It seems to me that the love of differentness is something that is born in almost every one of us.

Don't you remember as a child how you adored anything out of the established order of things.

Wasn't it fun to eat in the kitchen?

In housecleaning time, for instance, that season your mother pretended to dread and actually revelled in with a kind of self-flagelling frenzy, don't you remember how delighted you were when the carpets were up all over the house and you trod on bare floors? And then the day when the dining-room was being cleaned and you came home from school at noon to find dinner served in the kitchen, don't you remember how the differentness delighted you, and what a savor the meal took from its strange surroundings?

When I was a child, my grandfather, with whom we lived, kept hens. All through the spring and summer they were strictly confined with their run, but in the fall, after the vegetables were up and the flowers had ceased to bloom, they were permitted to run loose through the grounds for a few days to forage for themselves. I can't tell you what thrills it gave me to see a hen stalking unchecked through the front yard. I had the vaguest idea then why I liked it but I know now—it was a reversal of the established order of things.

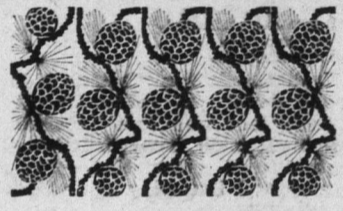

She wanted to Take a Bath with Her Undervest On.

A friend has confessed to me that one of her childish ambitions was to keep her undervest on while she took a bath. Her mother, a person of little imagination, strictly forbade it as an insane thing to desire, but she finally braved the penalty and did it.

Differentness is the spice of life—not the solid nourishing, necessary daily food, but the spice that makes that food palatable. When daily living becomes unpalatable it is often a little pinch of differentness that we crave, whether we know it or not.

Washington Much Displeased Over Decision of British Prize Court.

Regarded as Great Diplomatic Importance by Administration—Claim Decision Mere Guess Work—Chicago Packing Houses Talk about Forcing Government to Act.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Extreme displeasure over the British Prize Court decision confiscating $15,000,000 worth of American meats pervaded Administration circles to-day.

Whether a sharp protest will be made by the State Department depends upon the injured American shippers. Officials privately admitted that the decision was of great diplomatic importance, as affecting public sentiment in the negotiations for modification of England's Orders-in-Council.

While diplomatic action depends upon the technical legal course adopted by the meat packers, the Administration, it can be stated authoritatively, stands ready to make vigorous representations at the proper time.

That the decision increases the strained relations with Great Britain in the dispute over her interference with American commerce was admitted by high officials.

The State Department has been awaiting the Prize Court's action before sending the general protest against British commercial interference. This note must now be partially re-drafted and probably will be delayed further, to meet the new situation presented by the Prize Court's findings.

The State Department expects a request from the packers to overthrow, by diplomatic means, what they generally consider a most unjust arbitrary and conjectural decision.

Officials pointed out that practically the sole evidence on which the Court based the claim that the American goods were destined, through neutral ports, for German military uses, was the increase in American exports to neutrals.

In former communications to Great Britain, the State Department has strenuously opposed such "guess work." That it will adhere to this position is believed certain.

Whether any diplomatic protest will be made, other than the general note on trade interference, depends on whether or not the packers decide to go through the English Appellate Courts.

The Secretary of State, Mr. Lansing, went to New York to attend the Pan-American Mexican conference. After that he was to take a week's vacation. This temporarily tied up State Department developments.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Appeal to Great Britain's Privy Council from the decision of the Admiralty Prize Court, which has ordered seized over fifteen millions of dollars' worth of meat cargoes, will be followed by insistence that the State Department protest the action on the ground that it is a violation of International Law and a blow to the freedom of the seas as contended by President Wilson. These were the two points decided on to-day by Chicago packers, who were hardest hit in the ship seizure cases.

Packing house officials to-day admitted they were pessimistic regarding the outcome of their appeal to the Privy Council. The thirty-four ships loaded with American meat seized by the British have accumulated since the autumn of 1914. It was only four of these that were ordered confiscated local packers explained to-day.

The cargoes amount to $2,500,000. The cargoes of the remaining thirty vessels, packers here to-day said, were almost certain to be ordered confiscated. If they are, it will bring the total loss to the packers up to $14,500,000.

Packing house officials were admitted pessimistic regarding the outcome of their appeal to the Privy Council. They pointed out that seldom does the Higher Court reverse a judgment of the Prize Court. It made them determined, therefore, to fight the case out through diplomatic channels.

To make this fight through the State Department, C. J. Faulkner, jr., representing the Armour's, and Henry Veeder, representing the Swifts, will go to Washington on Monday and lay the case personally before Mr. Lansing.

Attorneys Faulkner and Veeder will demand that the United States hold England to the letter of the international law in the ship seizure cases, as it has attempted to hold Germany to the letter of the law in the matter of submarine attacks.

In a formal statement signed by Faulkner, Veeder and M. W. Morris, representing the American shippers took issue with the London Prize Court's award.

The statement declares the Prize Court's deduction that the cargoes were ultimately for Germany because the shipments to Denmark after the war started showed a great excess over shipments to that country before the war, is unreasonable. The packers declared this increase due to the fact that before the war Denmark received a great deal of their products through German ports.

There was a hint by packers to-day that the British Prize Court's blow to ally the sole evidence on which the Court based the claim that the American goods were destined, through neutral ports, for German military uses, was the increase in American exports to neutrals.

In former communications to Great Britain, the State Department has strenuously opposed such "guess work." That it will adhere to this position is believed certain.

Whether any diplomatic protest will be made, other than the general note on trade interference, depends on whether or not the packers decide to go through the English Appellate Courts.

The Secretary of State, Mr. Lansing, went to New York to attend the Pan-American Mexican conference. After that he was to take a week's vacation. This temporarily tied up State Department developments.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Appeal to Great Britain's Privy Council from the decision of the Admiralty Prize Court, which has ordered seized over fifteen millions of dollars' worth of meat cargoes, will be followed by insistence that the State Department protest the action on the ground that it is a violation of International Law and a blow to the freedom of the seas as contended by President Wilson. These were the two points decided on to-day by Chicago packers, who were hardest hit in the ship seizure cases.

Packing house officials to-day admitted they were pessimistic regarding the outcome of their appeal to the Privy Council. The thirty-four ships loaded with American meat seized by the British have accumulated since the autumn of 1914. It was only four of these that were ordered confiscated local packers explained to-day.

The cargoes amount to $2,500,000. The cargoes of the remaining thirty vessels, packers here to-day said, were almost certain to be ordered confiscated. If they are, it will bring the total loss to the packers up to $14,500,000.

Packing house officials were admitted pessimistic regarding the outcome of their appeal to the Privy Council. They pointed out that seldom does the Higher Court reverse a judgment of the Prize Court. It made them determined, therefore, to fight the case out through diplomatic channels.

To make this fight through the State Department, C. J. Faulkner, jr., representing the Armour's, and Henry Veeder, representing the Swifts, will go to Washington on Monday and lay the case personally before Mr. Lansing.

Attorneys Faulkner and Veeder will demand that the United States hold England to the letter of the international law in the ship seizure cases, as it has attempted to hold Germany to the letter of the law in the matter of submarine attacks.

American packers "comes with mighty poor grace" at a time when financial representatives of England are attempting to float the billion dollar loan among American bankers. None of the packers would say anything for publication when asked if they would fight the proposed loan in retaliation.

How the Prize Court decision would affect the American meat trade was a matter packers refused to discuss. Several of them admitted that under present conditions they would hesitate about shipping more meat abroad and that therefore there would be more meat for home consumption. They refused, however, to say whether prices would be lower, or who would ultimately shoulder the loss to the packers caused by the seizure.

Reported 60,000 Armenians Fled From the Turks.

Those Driven from the Vilayet of Van Likely to Number Over One Hundred Thousand.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Sept. 17, via Petrograd and London.—The Armenian bishop has received information that 60,000 Armenian refugees have arrived at Igdir, the principal outlet of the Vilayet of Van. It is expected that fully 100,000 will be driven from Van alone.

Another exodus of Christians from Persia is feared.

Kurds are reported to have massacred 10,000 Armenians in the Vilayet of Bitlis, throwing the bodies of the victims into the Tigris and Euphrates rivers.

The war on this front has reached a degree of intensity hitherto unknown except in the period just preceding the Russian victory at Sary-Kamysh.

B. Varadzate, a member of the committee of the Armenian Social Democratic Party, writing to "L'Humanite," of Paris, said the committee has received word that the Turks after massacring all the males of the population in the region of Bitlis, gathered 9,000 women and children and drove them to the banks of the Tigris where they shot them down, throwing the bodies into the river.

Reports of massacres of Armenians at various points have been received frequently in the last four months. Six thousand were said to have been slain at Van in May. Armenian missionaries at Van played a prominent part in protecting Armenians from Turkish and Kurdish attacks.

THE FAILURE.

One fellow fails in life's great busy game, because his rags hang shapeless on his frame; his trousers bag around his spavined knees, his whiskers shelter humping birds and bees. His hair, unshingled, forms an ugly wreath, his shoes are brown, he doesn't clean his teeth; he always looks as though he'd been asleep in some straw stack or ancient rubbish heap. To get a job he ambles down the earth, explaining that he's long on sterling worth.

"Give me a chance," all eagerly he pleads, "judge not my rags, but judge me by my deeds. I'll cut more wood, and keep more bucksaws warm, than any dude who is the mould of form." But people judge by how a man appears; they view the whiskers that conceal his ears, the tangled hair that forms a meekly rug, the shirt-front stained with juice of navy plug, the coat that needs a soaking in the brook, the trouser-loom that like twin corkscrews look, and they exclaim: "Get hence! Skeddadle! Shoo! We have no place for such a bo as you!" True worth may dwell in careless, slouchy chaps, but they must carry heavy handicaps.

Centennial Church.

By the S. S. Stephano yesterday Mr. McDonald, of the firm of Messrs. Ross & McDonald, of Montreal, architects for the re-building of Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church, arrived in the city to confer with the Building Committee and inspect. We understand that there are now about seventy of our local men employed in the construction work of the church which is progressing favourably. The contractors Messrs. Downing Cook Co. Ltd. are taking advantage of the fine weather and are now busily engaged laying the roof on the Sunday School Building in rear, and hope to finish the concrete walls of the Church early next week. We were much impressed yesterday in the way the work was going on, every workman seemed to have a hustle on, indeed it seemed a real hive of industry to the casual looker on.

A BOOM TO WORKMEN.—A number of iron workers, sail-makers, shipwrights, block makers and riggers are now engaged at the work of repairing the damaged barque Ravenscourt in dry dock.

Archbishop Roche Visits Ferryland.

His Grace Archbishop Roche accompanied by Rt. Rev. Fr. McDermott paid his first Episcopal visit to Ferryland, on Sunday, September 19th. His Grace was visiting the Southern Shore for the purpose of holding Confirmation at Tor's Cove and Cape Broyle, and having received an invitation from Very Rev. Father Vereker, he decided not to leave the Shore without visiting this historical spot.

Many hearty welcomes have been extended from time to time by the Ferryland people to Dignitaries of Church and State, but compared with the reception given to His Grace on last Sunday they all seem to pale into insignificance. During the preceding week the work of erecting arches was pushed on so vigorously by the fishermen who after the day's fishing was over, worked with hammer and axe well into each night so that by Sunday they had spanned the main road with magnificent arches in nearly a dozen places. These arches formed not of the massive style erected in St. John's at the time of the Consecration, yet possessed a charm of their own in their rustic simplicity and were decked with many appropriate mottoes.

The Episcopal Party was met at Cape Broyle by the venerable and saintly Pastor, Very Rev. Fr. Vereker, and Curate, Father Rawlins, and from there proceeded to Ferryland by motor. Here the people of the place were thronged together around the Parish Priest's house; young and old were there, showing by their presence their esteem, homage, and love for our new Archbishop. The school children, of whom there were about eighty, dressed in their gayest colors, were lined up along the roadside and under the grand old trees in front of the parochial residence. As the car drew up the party was greeted by volley after volley of musketry in the time-honored salute, while from hundreds of throats went up the most ringing cheers that ever Ferryland has heard since the relief ships of Lord Baltimore appeared before it.

A sumptuous dinner was partaken of at the parochial residence at which, in addition to the above mentioned clergy, Very Rev. Fr. Doutney, P.P., Renewals, was present, also Dr. Freebairn and Hon. M. P. Cashin. The Episcopal Varty afterwards proceeded to the T. A. Hall, where an entertainment was held by the school-girls. The Hall was beautifully decorated, while a magnificent display of fireworks was given from an eminence in front of the Church. From here a fine view could be got of the illuminations, the new Convent standing out prominently, the large windows being beautifully illuminated in many colours and various designs.

The entertainment consisted principally of an operetta by the school-girls, who went through their different roles faultlessly, some of the pupils displaying remarkable musical ability, and all doing very well. An address which was beautifully illuminated was read from the school-children in which they expressed the joy of their young hearts at his presence among them. At the conclusion of the programme His Grace delivered a short address in which he thanked the people for their enthusiastic and whole-hearted welcome and also their beloved and venerated pastor, who had been referred to in the children's address as the "golden link connecting His Grace to the people of Ferryland." He expressed his great pleasure and surprise at the faultless manner in which the children performed their parts and praised the energetic teachers who had brought them to such perfection.

On Monday morning His Grace celebrated Mass in the Parish Church at which an immense congregation assisted, the choir rendering Stierne's Mass to perfection, while Dr. Freebairn sang a beautiful Offertory piece. After Mass Mrs. Thomas Costello entered the Sanctuary and read an address from the parishioners, to which His Grace replied in choice and eloquent language referring to his well known connections with our saintly parish priest.

During the morning His Grace took a drive around the settlement and in the afternoon left for Cape Broyle. He was given a good send off and thus ended his first visit to Ferryland and one which can hardly fail to be most productive of happy remembrances which will be long treasured by His Grace and people.

Ferryland, September 23rd, 1915.

ADDRESS TO MOST REV. E. P. ROCHE, D. D., ARCHBISHOP OF ST. JOHN'S.

Your Grace,
Many eloquent addresses have been presented to you by the children of the various Convent Schools, each expressive of the utmost gratification that the Holy See had selected you to be our Archbishop, and we, the pupils of the Ferryland Schools, would fain mingle our voices in the general chorus of joy and salutation and tender to Your Grace our sincere and affectionate homage on the occasion of this your first Episcopal visit to our Parish.

We have been told that next to Placentia which honours you as its most illustrious Son, the parish of Ferryland has, through its venerable and saintly pastor, a special claim on your regard. This we trust will prove the first link in a golden chain, which will go on strengthening with the lengthening years—a chain which will bind the hearts of the present children and the future men and women of Ferryland in loyalty and devotion to Your Grace.

We ask Your Grace to accept this Address as a slight token of the sentiments which animate our young hearts on this joyous and memorable day, whilst we respectfully and cordially bid you welcome, thrice welcome to our historic little town.

A Wonderful Discovery.

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill.

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mother should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day, Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Co. and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Achi Baba Must Fall Soon, Says Army Chaplain.

The Rev. A. W. Brown, Back from Dardanelles—Work Difficult, But Men Heroic—Colonial Troops Win High Honors in Peninsular Campaign.

After witnessing four months of fighting in the Dardanelles, from April 25th to August 15th, when 300,000 British soldiers had been landed within easy gun range of Achi Baba, the Rev. W. A. Brown returned on the Pretorian this morning for a well-earned rest.

"The Dardanelles must and will be forced," was the summing up of his impressions. The Allies will never retire although they now realize that Achi Baba may not be taken by assault. It is now heavily engaged along its front. Kitchener's army 300,000 strong are there, but on too narrow a front to make such a weight felt. Meantime small French and Australian forces are working their way around and will soon cut Achi Baba off from its base."

Speaking of the British losses, Chaplain Brown said: "Our losses some days were incredible, but I can tell you on the best authority that ten Turks have fallen for every one of the Allies. The Turks are brave fellows in defending trenches, but are completely lost in the open. At such times their losses have been terrible. They are fair fighters. They treated our wounded well and never "gassed"

"The reason the Turks continue to fight in spite of wholesale casualties is because they fear the Germans. Every time the Turks charge from a trench there are machine-guns behind that blaze into the trench if it is not immediately evacuated. Turkish gunners are now chained to their guns. I have these facts captured by Turkish officers we have captured. The German officers refuse to speak.

"The difficulties the Allies are fighting under are tremendous. All the water must be brought from the ships in the tanks, gullies and ravines have to be bridged to allow the men and guns to cross. There is a plague of flies and there are no regular hospitals just clearing points for wounded.

"But once Achi Baba is taken the Dardanelles are forced. As to pending developments it is significant that within six weeks there will be weather conditions which will compel the Allies to advance or leave the peninsula. They will never leave. Just after the fleet had left the Aegean the Turkish and German aviators pamphletted our lines with the information that the torrential rains were soon due, making trench life on the peninsula impossible. They also told us in atrocious English that the fleet had deserted us.

Monitors Useful.

"There are now two monitors with the Allies, and although they draw only three feet of water, they have seventeen inch guns aboard, which they fire at Achi Baba. The Turks cannot reply, as the monitors are under the cliffs close inshore and out of sight. Three German submarines were in operation when I left. There was also a brand new one, but we captured it. Their presence rendered the stay of the warships impossible. The Triumph was an instance of this. These warships was surrounded by about thirty small craft and completely shelled by netting. One day the captain wished to go ashore in his launch, and to permit of this the nets had to be lifted. They had not been up two minutes when a torpedo crashed into the Triumph.

"I also saw the Royal George torpedoed. She was on her way from Alexandria while we were going back on the S.S. Soudan. We had hardly passed her when she was hit. Our ship took up 150 of her survivors. The Canadian liner went down head first very soon after she was hit. There were plenty of other vessels near at hand when she sank.

Although the difficulties met with have been huge, the soldiers, 'Anzac' British and French, are cheerfully determined to see it through, and they know well that in hand-to-hand fighting they are superior to the Turks. The Australians and New Zealanders are greatly liked along with their inseparable brothers, the Gurkhas, who love them.

"Look Like Wild Men."

"To the Khurkas, the Australians, who are all huge fellows, look like giants. To strangers the troops must look like wild men. They dispense with most of their clothing in the blazing sun. Trousers are cut off short, socks are thrown away, only undershirts are worn and in many cases boots are missing. They know big developments are due and the rank and file are only too eager to be in at the final spurt."

Captain W. A. Brown is going to Regina on leave and hopes to return to the 29th Division in two months. Alexandria, he says is swarming with troops of three nationalities. There is no let up in the work of pushing the attack on the key position. The effort of some weeks ago almost succeeded in cutting off the Turkish army but failed through lack of transport facilities.

THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST SERBIA.
NISH, Serbia, To-day.
The best information obtainable here indicates there are 800,000 German troops available for the attempt to force a passage through Serbia. It is felt at Nish that this movement will be undertaken, although when is not known. Operations thus far are still of a character which indicates that the Teutons are feeling out the Serbian positions.

BULGARIAN RESERVISTS LEAVE SWITZERLAND.
GENEVA, To-day.
Three hundred Bulgarian officers and men leave Switzerland for Sofia on Friday travelling by way of Austria.

CHANGING THE WIRELESS.
NEW YORK, To-day.
The American wireless equipment in charge of American operators is to be replaced by German owned wireless apparatus recently removed from twenty two ships, Standard Oil Company, was announced here to-day by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company. All ships which formerly sailed under the German flag have been admitted to American registry.

SHORTAGE OF MEDICAL MEN.
LONDON, To-day.
There will be no course open but to apply to the United States to fill up the necessary complements of medical men, if this country cannot produce the requisite doctors, writes Sir James Barr, Vice-President of the British Medical Association, Lieutenant-Colonel in the Royal Army Medical Corps, in appealing for doctors for the United States to-day. Two thousand five hundred of them are required, declared Sir James, who adds conscription is coming.

INDIA WANTS A PLACE IN IMPERIAL CONFERENCES.
LONDON, To-day.
Through Reuter's Agency, a special despatch from Simla announces that India's place in the Councils of the Empire was discussed at an important meeting of the Imperial Legislative Council to-day, and that a resolution will be forwarded to London requesting measures be taken to have India represented at the next Council of Empire, as are various Overseas Dominions and Dependencies. The resolution asked that India in future be officially represented at the conferences of the British Empire. The request will be forwarded to the Secretary of State for India. Lord Hardinge, Viceroy, affirmed that the Government of India gladly accepted the important resolution, which had his warmest sympathy, adding if the Council adopted it his Government would readily comply with the recommendation. The Viceroy proceeded to recapitulate what had taken place at Imperial conferences in the past, pointing out that representation was confined to the United Kingdom

A GERMAN FALSEHOOD.
LONDON, To-day.
The British Home Office, in a statement referring to the German account of the Zeppelin raid on London, declares it altogether untrue. The statement is to the effect that an anti-aircraft gun had been placed under cover of St. Paul's Cathedral can only be characterized as a falsehood, apparently invented to excuse what German aircraft are attempting to do.

GERMAN CRUISER TORPEDOED.
COPENHAGEN, To-day.
Fishermen at Høltug observed a German cruiser off Falsterbo. It suddenly disappeared in an immense column of water, simultaneously there was a loud explosion. It was assumed that it was torpedoed.

FOR FIVE HUNDRED MILLION.
NEW YORK, To-day.
Both parties who proposed the big credit loan, Great Britain and France, are reported to be negotiating today on a basis of $500,000,000 as the maximum amount. The Anglo-French Commission, it was said, was still inclined to insist that the loan should be greater than this amount. American financiers were reported to have informed the Commission pointedly that the sum would not be exceeded.

RUSSIANS FIGHT STUBBORNLY.
PETROGRAD, To-day.
A German aeroplane shelling Speck, west of Riga, when shelled by Russian machines hurriedly descended beyond the German trenches. Fight at Stoenka, on the Ekau-River, resulted in the flight of Germans, who abandoned a number of hand grenades, cartridges and utensils. Stubborn fighting commenced at Atkalla in Neugob region, the village continually changing hands. In the region of Dvinsk there has been no change. During a bayonet fight west of Sweden Lake, one officer, one hundred men and one machine gun were captured. In Smelin region in the course of desperate hand to hand fighting, two machine guns and over two hundred men were captured. One piece changed hands repeatedly. In the region of Smorgen, on the front southeast of Vilna, and also in the region of Gavia, east of Lidia, engagements occurred, some of which were of extreme violence. Between the right bank of Molchad and the left left affluent of the Niemen and Ogoinski Canal there were several serious bayonet encounters, which increased in intensity.

Russians continue to show the highest qualities of gallantry and resistance, thereby provoking in even greater degree the enemy's obstinacy. Northwest of Dubno 1000 yards of enemy's efforts to check the Russian offensive by counter attacks of the Russians occupied Woinitsy on the left bank of Rkva, capturing 23 officers, 1400 men and three machine guns. In the region of Bverets, South West of Kremenetz during the occupation of one height two officers and one hundred men fell into our hands. In the region north of Seale Szezyk, Galicia, the enemy was repulsed from Warwoltz and Shinkowtee. The cavalry pursued and defeated the enemy. Continuing their gallant work the cavalry pushed on to Bouussy, South West of Tluste, and in the course of subsequent fighting more prisoners were taken together with a quantity of weapons.

STEAMER SUNK.

The British steamship Chancellor has been sunk; part crew saved.

BULGARIA FORTIFIES PORTS.
ATHENS, To-day.
Diplomatic circles here have been informed that Bulgarian warships which were stationed at Varnito on the Black Sea, have sought shelter in the neighboring bays. Large numbers of men are working at feverish speed to fortify Bulgarian Black Sea ports. The valuables of the branches of the National Bank at Bursas and Varna have been removed to Sofia. The belief has been expressed in Bulgaria that if that country arrays itself on the side of the Teutonic Allies the Russians will attempt an invasion through the port of Varna, thirty hours' sail from Odessa, although it is strongly fortified.

FRENCH OPINIONS ABOUT BULGARIA.
PARIS, To-day.
It is the absorbing attention in France to the exclusion of all other topics. Little doubt is felt here that Bulgaria rather King Ferdinand had decided to cast his lot with the Central Powers.

Here and There.

STILL STORMY.—The Marine and Fisheries Department received word to-day that all along the Labrador coast a heavy sea and dense fog prevailed; also that hook and liners were having good fishing at Battle Hr.

 DEAN MILMAN died 1868, aged 77, of St. Paul's, London. He published in 1830 the "History of the Jews," treating his subject historically and subordinating the importance of miracles. The work provoked sharp and conflicting criticism and served to establish a new standpoint in the examination of Biblical History. Among his hymns are: "When our heads are bowed, with woe"; "Ride on, ride on in majesty"; "ELIZA COOK died 1889, aged 71, English poetess, several of whose lyrics, such as "The old Arm-Chair" and "Home in the Heart," gained wide popularity.
 GREAT WAR, 1914. Peronne reported to be occupied by a French detachment. Bombardment of Cattaro from Mount Lovchen reported to have begun. Further bombardment of Rheims Cathedral. German reverse in East Prussia reported. Zepelin raid on Ostend; 5 bombs dropped. Steamer Indian Prince, bound from Rio de Janeiro for Trinidad and New York, reported to have been sunk by the German cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm. General Botha announced to take supreme command of the operations against German Southwest Africa. The Norwegian steamer Hesvik destroyed by mines in the North Sea. British troops landed at Laoshan Bay to assist the Japanese.

Volunteers Make New Record

At the Five Hundred Yards Range. Yesterday afternoon a squad of fourteen volunteers made a new record at the five hundred yards range, under difficult conditions. A very strong cross-range wind was blowing at the time. The scores were as follows, the possible being twenty points:

Names:	Scores
L. Christopher	at 500 Yards
A. T. George	17
R. H. George	16
S. Cull	15
T. Walsh	15
D. S. Brent	14
T. Ford	14

The average was approximately 15.50 points out of a possible of 20 points. G Company has a very large proportion of skilled shots, and is doing exceptionally well at the Range.

Old Perlican Nofes.

Our cod fishery here is drawing to a close; with the traps it has been a very good one, but with the hook and line it has been very poor indeed. It has not altogether closed as some of our men with motor boats go down into the "Tackle," when weather permits, but the catches of fish which they obtain are not up to those of last year. Four of our schooner masters were at the Labrador this year and they have all arrived home safe and with good catches of cod.

Our first arrival was Captain Thos. Strong, schooner Austin, with about 400 qtls; then came Capt. Ananias March, schooner Hilda Blanche, with 350 qtls, and the two Rodgers, Capt. James and Samson, arrived yesterday hauling for 350 & 300 qtls, respectively.

This Fall has been a very rough one here, during the latter part of last week the sea was mountains high, the oldest inhabitants of the place said they never saw the like. During the heavy sea some of the fishermen met with misfortune, as their fishing skills were driven on shore, but there was no serious loss, with the exception of one, and that was by a man named Mundon March whose skill was split in two pieces by a heavy sea.

After the sea had abated somewhat the people of this place were rather surprised to hear of a small school of caplin striking the shore; one of two persons obtained quite a number of these small fishes.

Again the time has come around for partridge berry picking, and quite a number of our old folk as well as the young, are busy on the barrens making their harvest. Although the weather is very cold and stormy, the people are continually berry-picking. The price of berries is very low, they are now selling here for 12 cents per gallon, which is very unreasonable.

By Saturday night's Ethie there arrived a couple of sports from the city who have been very busy since their arrival with their gun and dog. The first day's shooting did not come up to expectations, as some of the sportsmen did not obtain a single bird, while others secured from four to eight birds.

Our only landing place, the pier, has been altogether demolished of late, and the mystery is to see where the passengers arriving here by the Ethie and Prospero are going to land, if there is any wind or sea it is impossible for them to do so here. There is no doubt if we do not soon get the train here this place will suffer considerably.

Two or three of our local men are now buying codfish for the merchants of the city, and by competition the price of fish is going up. I think the latest offer for cod being $6.00 per qt. X. Y. Z.

Why Pay More

THAN $50.00, $60.00, OR $80.00 FOR A TYPEWRITER WHEN WE CAN SELL YOU

A REMINGTON FOR $50.00.

AN OLIVER FOR $60.00.

AN UNDERWOOD FOR $80.00.

We have just received another shipment of them, and we have still another on the way. We have sold nearly a half hundred of these machines, and though all of them were sold on a "Money-back-if-not-as-represented" basis, we have yet to have a claim or a complaint. Let us tell you who the purchasers were. Most of them were sold to Water Street firms. Ask for our Booklet "What We Do, and How We Do It." It tells how we save you $50.00 to $80.00 on a Typewriter. Take a machine, try it for a week or a month, test it in your own office—by an expert if you will—you will then be convinced that you need not pay more than $50.00, $60.00 or $80.00 for your Typewriter.
