A Standard For the People.

Millions Now Living Will Never Die.

After six thousand years of effort man points proudly to our present day civilization as the acme of his attainments.

A civilization stooping to brutalities too inhuman for savages, makes the standards of Christianity but empty and hollow professions.

From this hypocrisy there is a tearing away. A spirit of lawlessness flouts laws and customs with an abandon that does not stop to consider consequences so persistent are the attempts for release. But what new standards—social, political and religious—are to succeed the present?

In the fulfilment of Prophecy so marked at the present time there is outlined a programme that was foretold in the Bible, a standard that promises adoption because present troubles were foretold as shaping the standard for the people.

THE PANGS OF REMORSE —OR— A COMPLICATED TANGLE.

CHAPTER V.

"Thanks," he said; "I am your debtor, gentlemen. I fear the young man resides too far off for me to employ his services. Gentlemen, I wish you good-day," and with another courteous bow the prince—decided that he was at least that—strode off to his cab and was rolled away.

Meanwhile Clarence Clifford had returned to the office, answered his letters and gone wearily home. I say wearily, but I mean with that dead weightiness at the heart which is more wearying to bear than ten pairs of tired legs and two aching heads. It was a solitary life he led, and he had never felt its solitude and lack of love so much before.

Over his tea—he did not share his master's liking for buttered muffins—he sat, thinking of what had happened at Rivershall. Had they forgiven—had they forgotten him?

What did the pure young girl, the high-born heiress of Rivershall think of him—him the outcast servant, branded with the mark of shame by her father's hand?

Oh, they were bitter thoughts and they embittered the young life as a tanker worm eats the heart of a strong plant.

But he was strong, and he prayed with that anguished fervency that colors few prayers that he might carry a brave heart and live it down—live it down, a sad, dreary prospect of life. Live it down.

The next day he was looking pale but, as Mr. Walker phrased it, as obtinate as a striped possum.

Mr. Walker went down to view the cargo at the docks, and Clarence Clifford was left alone. Not to brood, however; there were more letters than usual, and the day would be a busy one. He stuck to his desk and answered and answered; the dinner hour came and passed, and he wrote on. He was unconscious of the time, for nature's clock, his stomach, had stopped. The hands, his appetite, were pointing nowhere. He felt no need of food and he would not stop for it.

Just, however, as he was about to close the office door and trudge home a lady alighted from a cab, and, walking swiftly across the pavement, touched him on the arm.

He turned sharply—men who have suffered much at the world's hands are sensitive to a sudden touch—and gazed upon her with his dark eyes.

The lady was closely veiled, and did not speak. She merely pointed to the office door and walked to it.

Mr. Clifford, with a strange feeling at his heart, though he concluded it to be merely one of Mr. Walker's clients, unlocked the door, lit the gas, and set a chair for his visitor, who had discharged the cabman, and followed him in.

"May I have the honor, madam, of inquiring your business?" he asked, in his low, grave voice.

"Mr. Clifford," returned the visitor, raising her veil.

Clarence Clifford started, and his hand grasped the desk beside which he was standing.

"Miss Lucas!" he replied, after a moment's silence.

"Yes, it is I!" she said, looking at him pitifully but with wonderful stealthiness. "You are surprised to see me?"

"I am," he said, simply.

"You are angry, too?" she asked. He shook his head.

"That depends. Do you mean me ill or well, Miss Lucas?" he asked.

She clasped her hands with fine effect.

"Heaven bear me witness, well!" she replied, with fervor.

A man of few words, as usual, he inclined his head.

Miss Lucas took the hint and explained.

"Mr. Clifford," she said, "I am aware that I may be running against etiquette—nay, even propriety—in thus visiting you. But I cannot help it. My heart has blamed me each day since that I have kept from finding you and saying you."

"Saying me?" he repeated, "from what?"

She sighed.

"From cruel injustice. Listen, sir. Since your departure—shall I say your most insulting dismissal—she noticed that he winced under the word, and repeated it—"Sir Ralph's anger has been more bitter and implacable. He swore to track you and deliver you to justice. A magistrate's warrant is out for your apprehension, and the police are making diligent search."

His face paled and his eyes flashed. It was some minutes before he could trust himself to speak. Then, in a constrained voice, he repeated:

"Warrant! police! Madam, if you have any pity, explain! Of what do they accuse me?"

"Of theft! petty, disgraceful theft!" replied Miss Lucas.

"Theft!" he repeated, a grim smile rendering the set face still harder, "theft of what?"

"Oh, it is shameful," said Miss Lucas, "but hate makes men mad. They believe that you robbed Miss Melville of her diamond ring."

Clarence Clifford laughed, actually laughed.

"Go on, madam," he said, his teeth tightly shut and a bitter scorn in his eyes.

"You doubt me!" said Miss Lucas.

"I am not surprised, I was prepared for it," and as she spoke she drew from her pocket a handbill, which she opened and displayed.

It was a common police reward bill, offering twenty pounds' reward to any person who should give information leading to the arrest of Clarence Clifford, charged with the robbery of a diamond ring from the person of Miss Melville, of Rivershall, etc., with a long and accurate description of the criminal's appearance.

Clarence Clifford read this as one reads absurd things that appear and disappear in dreams.

Miss Lucas watched him closely the while.

He held the bill down and stared at it.

"Who believes this?" said he, pointing on accusing finger at the abominable thing.

"Alas!" she said, "everybody."

"Does—does," his voice faltered, but with an effort he got it out.

"Does Miss Melville believe that I am the thief—that I stole her ring?"

"She does," said Miss Lucas; "it is cruel, sir, to tell you so, but it were more cruel to keep you in suspense. At first she pledged herself for your innocence, laughed the accusation to scorn, but the facts, sir, the facts!"

"What facts?" remained Clarence Clifford, in the same hard voice.

Miss Lucas put up her fine hand and told them off.

"First, the ring was on her finger the day you stopped the horse. Second, it had disappeared after your conversation with her—in fact, after you had helped her from her horse. Third, it was pledged at a pawnbroker's the night of your dismissal by an individual answering in every particular to yourself. Fourth, it was known that you had no money, for you had left your wages upon the hall floor. Fifth, without money you could not have escaped the police. Sixth, you have not offered any explanation of your conduct; and most conclusive of all—everyone—you have not claimed the box of clothes and other property left by you at the Hall."

Clarence Clifford fixed his dark eyes upon the cold, gray eyes of his tormentor with a dull stare and put his hand to his head.

"Enough, enough! And she—she thinks me a thief and a scoundrel! Oh, shame, shame!"

"Shame, indeed!" repeated Miss Lucas, eyeing with an affectation of pity the anguish of the broken-hearted man. "Shame, indeed! Oh, Mr. Clifford, these mighty souls are meager that the brutes when they stoop to injustice and cruelty to those who eat their bread! Be brave, sir, be brave."

He recovered himself with a struggle and confronted her, calm and proud.

"Thank you, madam," he said, in slow set words. "I know not to what I owe this kindness."

"Nay, you have been kind to me," said Miss Lucas, with a sigh; "and are we not similarly placed, sir? We were both dependents. I am still one—we have both suffered, though I in a less degree. I should be ungrateful to my order if I were to let you get into their clutches unwarned, unprepared."

He inclined his head and held out his hand.

"Had I any feeling, madam, had I any room in my heart for any it would be that of gratitude to you! But—but—oh! a thief, shame! shame!"

He groaned for a few moments, then raised his head again.

"And she?" he asked, "tell me is she well, happy?"

His face paled and his eyes flashed. It was some minutes before he could trust himself to speak. Then, in a constrained voice, he repeated:

"Warrant! police! Madam, if you have any pity, explain! Of what do they accuse me?"

"Of theft! petty, disgraceful theft!" replied Miss Lucas.

"Theft!" he repeated, a grim smile rendering the set face still harder, "theft of what?"

"Oh, it is shameful," said Miss Lucas, "but hate makes men mad. They believe that you robbed Miss Melville of her diamond ring."

Clarence Clifford laughed, actually laughed.

"Go on, madam," he said, his teeth tightly shut and a bitter scorn in his eyes.

"You doubt me!" said Miss Lucas.

Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little FREEZONE on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of FREEZONE for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

FALSE PRIDE.

When a business is humming, and coin is rolling in, and things are up and coming, we wear a gaudy grin. We think we're a u r e l y doing important things and fine, high aims we are pursuing, we'd make a k e the old world shine. With honors we are weighed, our wreaths are multiplied, our bosoms are inflated with false and foolish pride. If we should die to-morrow who would recall our deeds? Our aunts might whoop in sorrow, and wear some sable weeds; some friends might wipe their faces to rid the same of tears, but men would take our places while we held down our bliers. Before the bells ceased tolling, before the dirges stopped, live wires would come a-rolling to take the jobs we'd dropped. Perhaps they'd do things better than ever we have done, the arrogant go-getter would win more fame and mon. I often read old papers, the records of the past, to mark the pridelike capers of men who didn't last. The swelled-up men of forty or fifty years gone by! They charged around, rip-snorty, their fame was wide and high. These haughty men and clever kicked up a startling breeze, and thought they'd live forever in people's memories. But when they died of glanders or gout or Spanish flu, these passing Alexanders made way for Atocha new. Their glowing names have perished, all are forgotten now, the dreams and pride they cherished are dead as Caesar's cow. We are not so essential that men will speak our fame in accents reverent when we have quit the game.

By EDGAR GUEST.

WHEN THE TASK IS ENDED.

When the task is finished, happy those who say:

"He who cherished as a babe is a man to-day!"

She who was our little girl is a woman true, Sin and shame have harmed them not. We have brought them through."

When the task is ended, in the setting sun Age must sit and rest awhile, pondering all it's done; Then the child who's a man and the daughter fair Pay with pride and happiness for their years of care.

There's no glory like to this, there's no gift from fame of which excels children grown, worthy of their name! Strive for fortune as you may, but as time shall go, It with joy your age shall shine, they shall make it so.

Here's the summit of success, when the race is run; Not the wealth which you have gained, not the tasks you've done. But at last to sit and see, all your halcyon grown.

Sturdy men and women true, fit to stand alone.

Bather Breaks His Spine

After Diving a Distance of 20 Feet From a Water Chute.

Toronto, June 15.—Diving a distance of twenty feet from the top of a water chute in the lake on the west side of the Humber River here, yesterday afternoon, Clarence Ludgate, aged 28, of York County, struck his head on the bottom in shallow water with such force as to break his spine. He is now in the hospital, his life being despaired of.

Hostility to Foreigners Reaches Acute Stage in China

Besco Proposals for Settlement Sent to International Headquarters—Governor of Maine Tells MacMillan to Claim Arctic Lands for the State—Earl Haig Sails for Canada on His 64th Birthday.

CHINESE THREATEN BOYCOTT

CANTON, June 19.—A general strike and boycott of British, Japanese and United States goods were decided upon at a meeting of students and other Chinese citizens at Kwangtung University yesterday. It is feared anti-foreign outbreaks will follow, and the authorities have taken steps to cope with possible emergencies.

FOREIGNERS TAKING REFUGE ON SHIPS

SHANGHAI, June 19.—According to reports from Chung King, the strikers there are beyond control, and many foreigners have taken refuge aboard foreign gunboats. Two Japanese gunboats have left for Chung King. Severe beatings were received by three foreigners of British, Swedish and Polish nationality.

MOSCOW, June 19.—Twenty-eight persons were killed and 130 houses destroyed by a hurricane which swept over the Province of Altai. Reports of other great damage are being received.

MAINE GOVERNOR'S INSTRUCTIONS TO MACMILLAN

SOUTHPORT, Maine, June 19.—Governor Brewster of Maine, tonight authorized Donald MacMillan, who sails for the Arctic tomorrow, to claim any territory he may discover in the Polar regions for the State of Maine. He made this pronouncement at Newagen Inn, at a dinner in honour of the explorer, which was attended by many persons prominent in State and National affairs. Governor Brewster himself arranged for the dinner, and in view of recent press dispatches announcing Canada's attitude toward the United States in the matter of claiming any territory discovered by the MacMillan expedition, his announcement was heard with keen interest. By the well-settled principles of International law, says Governor Brewster, discovery is the primary incident in a claim to any land. If the question shall ever arise as to its title, ample constitutional provision is made for its determination by the constitution.

Monday's Big Picture at the Nickel

"THREE WOMEN" A MASSIVE PHOTOPLAY WITH A GREAT CAST.

How many times have we voiced our disappointment in the lack of dramatic situations?

Great dramatists have proved that there are thirty-six, but with a humble apology to these great men who have delved into the situation, we are about to reveal the presence of the thirty-seventh! If you visit the Nickel Theatre Monday the mystery will be solved in the presentation of Ernest Lubitsch's great production, "Three Women." His direction of "Rosita," "The Loves of Pharaoh," "The Marriage Circle" revealed his philosophic understanding of human situations, but "Three Women" discloses his ability to construct new plots heretofore obscure. The story deals with the love affair of one man and three women, among them a mother and daughter, each of whom does not know of the other's intimacy with the man. May McAvoy, as the daughter, is charmingly captivating, while Pauline Frederick as the mother, and Marjorie Prevost as the sweetheart, give Mr. Lubitsch perfect co-operation in the portrayal of their roles. The supporting cast in this Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen includes Lew Cody, as the attractive villain, Pierre Gendron, Willard Louis and Mary Carr.

Report Of S.P.A. Inspector, Week Ending June 20th, 1925.

Put a very vicious dog to death on New Gower Street, reported to have bitten several people and the owner had it put to death. Also a horse on Topsail Road, which had met with an accident. Attended to the landing of 135 head of cattle, 70 sheep, 14 horses and a lot of pigs from the Canadian Sapper. The cattle were all in excellent condition and the different owners took immediate delivery of them. Several complaints have come in about boys continually tormenting cattle, put out to pasture in the evening. I dislike bringing these cases to Court but the parents and school teachers could do a great deal to prevent this. I am very thankful to Master Cyril Lester, son of Mr. Fred Lester, Topsail Road, who is attending the Springdale Street School, for taking such a splendid interest in the sale of "The Horse's Prayer." He sold twenty around the country and came back for more. I am hoping to see some other boys take an interest in this, too. Several accidents have happened on LeMarchant Road during the week, due to horses slipping on the tarvia. I hope the Council will see their way clear to have a little rough gravel put on the road. All complaints, as far as I know, have been attended to during the week.

Unrehearsed escapades on the High Wire.

Unrehearsed feats on the high wire by a civilian and a sailor provided visitors at the Crystal Palace with a thrilling impromptu. The wire is stretched on two poles 60ft. from the ground along the main terrace. Without being noticed by the officials, the men climbed to the wire. The civilian first attempted to reach the other pole, not by the orthodox way walking, but by using both hands. He got about half way along the wire and then fell into the net below. The sailor next attempted the journey, and he, too, soon had

Presentation to Retiring Master at Feild College

On Wednesday last a pleasing ceremony took place at Bishop Feild College, when Mr. I. J. Samson, who has resigned from the Staff to take up his work as Assistant Superintendent, was presented with a purse by the masters and scholars, as a mark of their esteem, and as an appreciation of his invaluable work for the college during his twenty-five years' mastership. The presentation was made by the headmaster, Mr. R. R. Wood, who referred in glowing terms to Mr. Samson's work, and expressed regret that he was severing his connection with the institution. Mr. Samson briefly replied, thanking the Staff and boys for their parting gift and the headmaster for his remarks. Cheers were then called for and given with a will, and the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," nearly lifted the roof.

Missing in Storm on Labrador

Yesterday the Minister of Justice received the following message from A. W. Brazil, of Battle Harbor:—

Amateur Blondins

Unrehearsed escapades on the High Wire.

Charged With Perjury

A preliminary enquiry into a charge of perjury preferred against Gertrude Ashley, was begun yesterday afternoon, in the Magistrate's Court, before Judge Morris. The charge arises out of an enquiry into a fire which occurred in January last, at the residence of James Harding, Mundy Pond Road, and it is alleged that the accused in giving evidence on Feb. 28th, committed perjury. Mr. J. McCarthy, J.P., Clerk of the Court, and Mr. Henry Power, Court Stenographer, gave evidence yesterday, after which the case was adjourned sine die.

Anniversary Service

The anniversary services of Cochran St. Sunday School, will be held all day Sunday with the Pastor in the morning a preacher and Rev. R. J. Power of the Kirk, in the evening. In the afternoon there will be special anniversary exercises by the scholars. The soloists will be Mr. Charles Hatcher in the morning, Miss Doris Withers and Mr. R. L. Steele in the afternoon and Miss Eleanor Mery at the evening service. Special hymns have been printed and will be sung by the scholars at all the services. The ushers will provide accommodation for all visiting friends.

Presentation to Retiring Master at Feild College

On Wednesday last a pleasing ceremony took place at Bishop Feild College, when Mr. I. J. Samson, who has resigned from the Staff to take up his work as Assistant Superintendent, was presented with a purse by the masters and scholars, as a mark of their esteem, and as an appreciation of his invaluable work for the college during his twenty-five years' mastership. The presentation was made by the headmaster, Mr. R. R. Wood, who referred in glowing terms to Mr. Samson's work, and expressed regret that he was severing his connection with the institution. Mr. Samson briefly replied, thanking the Staff and boys for their parting gift and the headmaster for his remarks. Cheers were then called for and given with a will, and the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," nearly lifted the roof.

Why the "Super-Station?"
EDITED BY JOHN M. CLAYTON.

At various and regular times there is great agitation upon the part of many interested broadcast station owners as well as the listeners themselves for a chain of "super-stations" sprinkled all over the United States. Ostensibly this movement is on foot to provide high-class entertainment regularly to the majority of listeners, but we wish to point out an objection or two to the scheme.

In the first place, if these super-stations (and by super-station we mean a station of some 10 kilowatts) will absolutely blanket "local" reception within a distance of ten or fifteen miles so that reception will be possible, locally, from the super-station, and not from any other station far away. This, in itself, is enough to kill the plan, it seems to us because, quite naturally, the super-stations will be located in or near the larger cities and it is in the larger cities we find most of the listeners.

In the second place, it will make radio broadcast reception more on the order of phonograph reception—there will not be the large class and variety of programs available every night so that one can choose what particular type of program he is interested in instead of having to rely upon reception from only a comparatively few stations with their comparatively small variety of broadcasts.

The charm of the "dx" hunting will be gone. There would be so many stations broadcasting and so many miles of "dx" that each individual listener could try for and that would be all. It has been proven quite conclusively that the average radio fan does not want ready-made radio reception—he does not want one centrally located "community receiver" from which loudspeakers all over town are operated. No—the average fan wants to take a whirl at the dials and see for himself "what and who" is on the air. With a few super-stations he will always know what is going on and who is performing and he will lose interest.

The advocates for the super-station plan say that events of national importance can be more easily put over to all of the fans. It seems to us that the present system of tying together the larger stations when there is a program of sufficient interest to be broadcast for all of the listeners to get in on, is an ideal method of handling the situation. Who, after all, is to decide how important these programs are? And who is to say to Mr. Public "You must listen to President Coolidge to-night" when, possibly, you don't want to hear Mr. Coolidge at all!

There are too many stations in one city. No city, it seems to us, should have more than one broadcasting station. Far better to concentrate the local talent of each city into one station which would be continually giving a high-class program than to spread this talent out over three or four stations and have a lot of mediocre programs go out from the rest!

Harbor Grace Notes

On Thursday evening last, the members of the Local Association of Girl Guides and Brownies gathered in St. Paul's Hall to bid farewell to Mrs. W. R. J. Higgett, in her combined offices of President of the Local Association and District Commissioner, the hall presented a very fine appearance, the stage having been tastefully decorated with Pear Blossoms. Mrs. Higgett arrived at 8 p.m., and was escorted to a seat with the members of the local association by the Guides; Miss B. Willis, as Secretary of the Association, making a brief speech of welcome, to which Mrs. Higgett suitably replied. Then followed a short impromptu programme, by some of the Guides, consisting of songs, recitations, and an amusing dialogue. At 9 o'clock, the guest of honor, the Guides, Guides and Brownies were seated at the bountifully spread tables and served with tea by the local association. When all had done justice to the good things, which the ladies had prepared, the Secretary on behalf of the Association, presented Mrs. Higgett with an address, which was accompanied by a purse of gold. Mrs. Higgett made a grateful and fitting reply. Another surprise was in store, for Lieut. Cron, then presented an address and gold piece, on behalf of both Companies, as a token of their regard and esteem. Mrs. Higgett, who was quite overcome, briefly thanked them all.

Miss Gladys Parsons, the retiring Brownie Captain, (who is to be married in the not far distant future), was then presented with an address and gold piece, by Lieut. Chafe, of the Brownies, on behalf of the Companies. Miss Parsons made a very graceful reply, assuring them of her deep interest in the work in the future.

Capt. Oke, on behalf of the Guides, and Lieut. Chafe, of the Brownies, each in turn, thanked the Association for the splendid tea they had so generously given, and for their kind help in the past. Miss Willis, on behalf of the Association, then assured the Guides, that they were ready to assist them at all times, and, with the singing of the National Anthem, a very pleasant time was brought to a close.

Lady Allardyce, Island Commissioner, and Miss Pemberthy, Diplomat Guidler, are expected to visit the Companies here to-morrow, Friday, 19th, inst.

On Tuesday evening, June 9th, the members of St. Catherine's Girl Guild, of St. Paul's Church, met at the Parish Room to bid farewell to their retiring President, Mrs. W. R. J. Higgett.

After tea was served by the Committee in charge, the Secretary, Miss May Chafe, presented to Mrs. Higgett, on behalf of the Guild, an address, expressing the girls' appreciation of the good work Mrs. Higgett had accomplished since organizing the Guild some ten years ago. This was accompanied by a handsome tea-cloth, which will always be a reminder of the time spent with the Guild Girls. Mrs. Higgett made a very suitable reply, assuring them of her interest and prayers in the future.

Rev. Mr. Higgett was also present and addressed the gathering, praising the members for the good work they had done in the past, and to so continue, in the days to come.

At this occasion, Miss Marjorie Willis, one of the Guild's most helpful members (who is soon to be married) was presented with an address and Gift, showing the good wishes and esteem of the members. Miss Willis was taken quite by surprise, and could only make but brief response to their kind action.

Rev. Mr. Higgett then pronounced the benediction, which concluded an evening that will long be remembered by those present.

The members of St. Paul's congregation are meeting in St. Paul's Hall to-night, Thursday, to tender their farewell to their beloved Rector, Rev. Mr. Higgett, and his good lady, who will shortly be leaving our shores for the Old Country. (A further account of this will appear later.)

Mr. Gerald Strapp, who is studying medicine, at McGill University, arrived in St. John's by the S. S. Sylvia, and came to town during last week. His many friends are glad to see him looking so well, and wish him a pleasant vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McKinley, of St. John's, spent some time here during last week, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Driscoll.

Mr. G. Peterson and little girl arrived from St. John's recently, and will remain for a few months. She is staying at the Gracian House.

Schr. Ariel, Capt. Rideout, was docked here during last week, and left port on Saturday.

S. S. Senef went on Dock on Saturday last, and came off again on Tuesday.

Wednesday last was observed by our business people, as the first of the summer holidays, and a Cricket match—the first of the inter-town series—was to have been played in Shannon Park between Bay Roberts and Harbor Grace. The day turned out to be very unpleasant, with the high wind and rain, consequently, the game was called off, and will be played at a later date.

Paint and Clean Up

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Now that so many improvements are launched surely it is time that each and every good Newfoundlander should take a survey of the situation and see what he or she can do to help the good ship Progress along. The Government are overhauling, improving, and fixing up our dry dock; have started the Highways Commission to make rapid, practical and economical improvements on our roads; the new hotel has been started after long and weary years of talk, thanks to the foresight and determination of Premier Monro and his Cabinet; the St. John's Light and Power Company are showing commendable energy in improving their service to the public, have ordered some new street cars, and the contract for re-railing the streets has been signed.

The Government Railway Commission are rapidly re-railing the road, and the vast improvement in comfort and travel on our own railway is a matter of comment by all travellers. The new hotel costing over three-quarters of a million dollars at Corner Brook known as the Glynn Mill Inn should be a matter of pride and credit to any country.

These things being accomplished facts why should not each and every Newfoundlander do his bit and help things out? Appearances as we all know are everything, and surely if one goes round the town no one would conclude we had a pride in and loved our native land.

If the Rotary Club, Tourist Association or any other live and progressive body of citizens would only organize a paint and clean up drive, where all who are able would go to work with a will and put the outside of their houses in good ship shapes, what a wonderful change would take place in St. John's! We would not know ourselves, and strangers would realize we were proud of Britain's oldest colony and that we were starting a new era of hope and progress.

Shortly St. John's is to receive a visit from a number of British Members of Parliament, the result of which may be greatly to our advantage. Unconsciously possibly they will be influenced in their judgment of the place by general appearance, and it is our business surely to make the city appear to the best advantage.

God helps those who try to help themselves. Why not start this paint and clean up campaign now? All we need is leadership, organization, and enthusiasm. Let all knockers become BOOSTERS!

Yours truly,
FORWARD NEWFOUNDLAND.

Operation on a Swan WING AMPUTATED UNDER CHLOROFORM.

Dr. Charles Milligan, of Ligoniel, Belfast, has successfully operated on a swan which recently dashed into a tree at Belvoir Park, Belfast, and fractured its left wing.

The swan was placed under chloroform and the wing amputated, nine stitches being put in and the arteries bound up.

It recovered with remarkable speed, being able to move round the large enclosure within a few minutes.
Dr. Milligan said the swan seemed to understand that they wished to relieve its pain. Had the wing not been amputated the swan would have died.

Listening-in at Sing Sing

Sets in the Cells.

New York.—Solitary confinement in Sing Sing, America's most celebrated convict prison, has been deprived of most of its horrors since the advent of wireless broadcasting.

Under new rules, all convicts who have the wherewithal are permitted to install receiving sets in their cells. Already, according to a report from Warden Lewis Lewis, twelve of them have availed themselves of this modern privilege.

In a spirit of altruism, each of the twelve thus favoured has had his instrument equipped with headphone extensions to other cells, in 70 of which the occupants are now provided with a daily programme of music and other entertainments.
Sing Sing is celebrating its centenary this week.

Adaptability Depends on the Man

MR. J. L. PATON MAKES THE TEST IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

For some time we have been familiar with the trips organized for Canadian teachers by the "Overseas Educational League"—trips to the Old Country, to Belgium, to France. This year the same enterprising League has arranged to conduct a party of one hundred and fifty English teachers to Canada. Mr. J. L. Paton, formerly High Master of the Manchester Grammar School, whose visit to Halifax was so much appreciated, has written a letter to the London Times on this subject.

He assures English teachers, from personal experience, that Canada has much to show them, that they will be warmly welcomed, that the accommodation will be excellent. And he speaks of the value of such tours to "knit the two countries together, and help to corroborate the unity of the English-speaking race."

Can a man from the Old Country, who comes here long after "the bloom of his first youth," adapt himself to transatlantic conditions? It depends, to a great extent, upon the man. Mr. Paton is going to make the experiment himself in Newfoundland. One feels that the Ancient Colony is to be congratulated. This distinguished educationalist is going to devote his mature powers and rich experience to college work in Newfoundland. And during a stay of at least six months on this side of the ocean—including the winter months—he has learned to realize just what is before him.—Halifax Herald, June 15.

In the event of any of these days being a holiday, payments will be made on the following day.
All bills duly certified, payable by the above Departments (b.c.d.) should be rendered not later than the morning of the day preceding pay day.

(2) All cheques, drafts and other documents, representing money, in payment of Fees or Dues of any kind whatsoever to any Government Department must be made out in the name of the Department and not in that of any individual official thereof.

(3) The several Public Departments and their subsidiary offices in the Outports have been directed to refuse to accept, in payment of amounts due the Government, any cheques which are not properly endorsed and stamped and which have not been certified by the Bank on which they are drawn, or the paying Bank in the case of cheques drawn outside of Newfoundland.

(4) In view of the lack of general compliance with the law in respect of stamping receipts as provided for by the Stamp Act (Consolidated Statutes 3rd Series Cap. 28), the attention of the Public is drawn to the following provisions thereof, viz:

"Receipts for any sum of money exceeding ten dollars ($10.00) shall be stamped with adhesive or impressed stamp of the value of two cents.
"An instrument shall not be duly stamped unless the stamp affixed thereto is cancelled."

The Public is warned that no receipt is valid unless these provisions are complied with.

Paint and Clean Up

Writing in to-day's issue, "Forward Newfoundland," advocates a "Paint and Clean Up Campaign" in the city. The Telegram heartily agrees with the writer, and trusts that other citizens who have the interests of the community at heart, and are desirous of helping in a movement to make the appearance of the capital in keeping with its importance and a source of pride instead of shame, will endorse our correspondent's suggestions and offer others of a practical nature.

The shabby appearance of the city is emphasized by the unrivalled beauty of its natural surroundings, and that such conditions are permitted to exist is a sad reflection upon ourselves as a public spirited people, and tend to lower us in the estimation of visitors to our shores.

Let us get together and make a start by giving our houses a coat of paint. The effect is bound to lead to other improvements, and if one may judge from the general tone of this week's Report of the Municipal Council, that body is already considering various beneficial changes. A determined effort is to be made to control the vendors who are largely responsible for the untidy condition of certain streets, and the imposition of a vendor's tax will furnish the money for that purpose. Pressure is being brought to bear on the Government to give the city its proper proportion of the road grant, in order that water and sewerage operations may be extended. (In this connection, we trust that the reply received that "the matter is under consideration" will not be considered satisfactory). The gutters in several streets are being replaced by concrete drains, improvements have been effected in the parks, and the dock contractors have had their attention called to the dangerous and unsightly right of way which has been substituted for the Long Bridge. The whole Report indicates a stirring up in official circles, and we are glad of the opportunity to call attention to it.

The movement to beautify the town requires the full co-operation of the Council, but the initiative must be taken by the citizen. Let him see to the improvement of his own property and his neighbour will not be long in following his example. Side by side with a house resplendent in a new coat of paint, the shabbiness of the neglected building becomes at once an eyesore and an object of unfavourable comment which compels the owner to get busy, and the result is that in a short time the appearance of the whole locality undergoes a change. Once started, the movement is certain to spread, and there is every reason to believe that in a few months St. John's could be reconditioned, a delight to its citizens and attractive to its visitors.

The End of the School Year

To-day brings to a close the work of the scholars in the various educational institutions, and next week is the testing time. By those possessed of brilliant intellect the examinations are eagerly looked forward to; by the plodder they are approached with a certain amount of trepidation, and by the slacker, with a pronounced air of indifference, in most cases assumed, to hide the regret that is actually felt because of the golden opportunities wasted.

To the former success is certain, provided their assurance does not lead them to imagine that they are cleverer than the examiners. The diligent worker has no occasion to feel uneasy, for his or her storehouse of knowledge contains all the information necessary to meet the requirements, and as for those who have dallied by the way, and who apart from that weakness are seldom without many excellent qualities, the test often brings them to their senses with a jolt, and may be the turning point in their lives.

Died as Result of Burns

As a result of burns received in the disastrous fire, which occurred on May 17th, at the residence of Mr. F. O'Neill, corner of Water and Patrick Streets, Miss Elizabeth Kent, sister of Mrs. O'Neill, passed away at the General Hospital yesterday. Deceased was the daughter of Wm. and Elizabeth Kent, Bell Island and leaves to mourn a mother, father, five sisters and two brothers. The funeral takes place at Lance Cove to-morrow (Sunday), at 2.30 p.m.

Tridium Concluded

The Tridium, in honor of the Sacred Heart, concluded at the R.C. Cathedral last night. Prayers were recited by Rev. R. J. Murphy, whilst Rev. P. J. Kennedy occupied the pulpit and preached on the Sacred Heart. His Grace Archbishop Roche was on the Throne and was attended by Revs. M. J. Kennedy and J. Miller. Following the ceremony, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was imparted by His Grace. At St. Patrick's last night the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Kitchin, who also imparted benediction.

Magistrate's Court

Two drunks were each fined $1.00 on 3 days and blacklisted. Two men convicted of breaches of the Highway Traffic Act, were allowed to go, on paying costs.

A man for using lewd and abusive language towards a young woman on the 19th inst, was fined $5.00 and costs.

A 20-year-old labourer, without a home, taken in for safe keeping was discharged.

A case against a man charged with a breach of Section 22, of the Alcoholic Liquors Act, was postponed until Monday next.

Robert Sears, arrested under warrant by Detectives Lee and Walsh, was arraigned and stood charged with assaulting and beating one named Frank Murphy at St. George's Field, on June 17th, inst. The accused was not represented by counsel and entered a plea of "guilty." The facts of the case were submitted to the court by a man named Roberts who was present in the dressing room when the actual assault took place. Witnesses stated that the accused took a bottle from another person in the room and hit Murphy over the head, without any provocation whatever. The first blow smashed the bottle and the second blow was struck with the jagged end, inflicting a deep cut over Murphy's left ear. Sears had nothing to say when asked by Judge Morris, to give an explanation of his conduct, and he was then sentenced to three months imprisonment, without the option of a fine.

Trade Announcement

Mr. C. P. Egan, the well-known family grocer, who conducts two stores—one on the corner of Duckworth and Prescott Streets and the other on Queen's Road has just received in a fresh shipment of "Bowling Green"—the famous roasted coffee—which is used in all the exclusive clubs and hotels in New York.

It is packed in 1 lb. air-tight tins thus preserving all the original aroma and flavour as when blended and roasted in New York by Alice Foote MacDougall, the only woman coffee expert in the world.

FRESH AIR

How lucky we are in St. John's to have such wonderful invigorating fresh air! Living on the side of a hill we have every benefit from it. What we must do is to make the best of it. Have windows open wide, and take baby out as much as you can, you may say the dust is bad, but don't you think that dust (which you can dust away) is better than a stuffy room? This is another nuisance, but with gauze put right over the window (as was shown at the Star Hall during Baby Week) you can have the window open and keep the flies out. Keep the windows open at night; sleep does us much more good if we are breathing fresh air while we sleep.

Fresh air and sunshine is a tonic for babies which gives them red cheeks and a bonnie look. Let's have plenty of good Newfoundland fresh air.

EPY BEHIND THE SCENES

June 19th.—A thing to note is that this day I did have the first lit in my house, nor do I remember in all my life that this is made necessary so late on two days from midsummer day. But Lord, how hard a thing it is for a poor householder, that he should be compelled to buy more coals at a time when he might be saving to buy the coals for the next winter. I do hear on all sides commendation of what I did write yesterday in my journal concerning the battery Act, and indeed, nigh all whom I did have discourse of the matter are of the one mind to wit, that 'twould be better to repeal the Act, since it do seem how the principle involved is not thought like to damage public morals, since 'tis right for certain causes to have sweepstakes and lotteries. Passing by Quidi Vidi this day, do note how a concrete walk is being built around the edge of the pond, which is a thing I did not know of before, nor do I yet know who are the originators of it, yet a mighty good thing for the public. In the public dispatches do read how Senator La Follette is dead of a heart attack, and was the Socialist-Farmers' candidate for president in the last election in America. This might do remain at home reading in a book of Economics, which I do find a fascinating subject and one that repays study.

Ordination of Nfld. Student at Brandon

An impressive service took place before a large congregation in St. Matthew's pro-cathedral Sunday morning when the first ordination in the Diocese of Brandon was held. The Rev. C. H. Jenkins was advanced to the priesthood and Charles Edward Cooke and Cyril George Stone were made deacons. The candidates for ordination were presented to the Bishop of Brandon by the examining chaplain, the Rev. E. A. Anderson, rector of the pro-cathedral. The Revs. C. Wood, J. A. Magrath and S. R. Hammond, also assisted Dr. Thomas in the service. The Rev. N. C. Smith, of Russell, was the special preacher on this occasion.

The Rev. Cyril Stone, to whom reference is made in the above clipping from a Brandon Journal, is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Stone of this city, and for the past four years has been a student at Trinity College, Toronto, where he won the Mission Study Scholarship in his last examination in addition to several other distinctions. During the summer he is stationed at Belmont, a town about fifty miles from Brandon, and in September will go back to the University to take his degree.

The Prince's Orchestra will furnish the music for the Dance at Columbus Ladies' Outing, Smithville, Wednesday next. Get tickets now—forget it and you'll regret it.—June 20, 11.

Supreme Court

(Before Mr. Justice Kent). The hearing of the Newfoundland Banking and Trust Corporation case was adjourned at recess hour to-day, until Monday, at 11 a.m. Major McDonald, Chairman of the Trust, who was called to the stand yesterday, was examined during yesterday afternoon on matters in connection with the sale of the Gander property. The Railway negotiations were dealt with this morning and evidence in this connection was concluded. The examination of Major McDonald re the sale of bonds of the Street Railway, was taken up shortly before recess and a lot of correspondence and reports submitted to the Reids by the Trust in this connection was submitted as evidence of work done by plaintiffs.

Fishery Reports

The following fishery reports for the week ending June 18th, have been received by the Assistant Collector of Customs:—

Ganletts to Little Bay.—Total landed to date, 1150 qtls, with 59 qtls, for week. There is one trap, 75 dories and three boats fishing. Caplin supply plentiful but fish is scarce.

Coombs Cove to Bay de L'Eau.—Total landed to date, 4716 1/2 qtls, with 1086 qtls, for week. There are 24 traps in the water and 45 dories and skiffs engaged. Fish is scarce in traps and on trawls although a few of the former are doing fairly well. Caplin are plentiful.

To further its summer programme covering recreation and entertainment in Bannerman and Victoria Parks, for the kiddies, the Association is going to need twenty-five hundred dollars, this amount to cover additional equipment and the necessary supervision. Twelve hundred of this amount is at present in hand. The balance is urgently needed and will be gratefully received.

Donations from one dollar upwards, will be acknowledged by mail, all amounts including sums under one dollar will be acknowledged through the press and may be directed to Dr. Vincent P. Burke, President, Department of Education, Mullica Building, or P. E. Outerbridge, Hon. Secretary-Treasurer, Nfld. Tourist and Publicity Association Office, Board of Trade Building.—June 19, 21.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES

FRENCH GOVT. URGED TO HASTEN REINFORCEMENTS TO MOROCCO. PARIS, June 19. Haste in sending reinforcements to Morocco was urged upon the French Government by the Parliamentary Commission sent to the Moroccan front in its first report made to-day to the Military Commission of the Chamber of Deputies. The report gave general approval to the hospital and sanitary arrangements already made, but also asked for parachutes and fire extinguishers for airplanes.

FRENCH FORCES TO TAKE THE OFFENSIVE.

PARIS, June 19. Premier Painleve, with the members of the Chamber of Deputies excepting the Communists solidly behind his Government, intends to prosecute the Moroccan war with greater vigor, and an offensive on a large scale against the Moors may be expected within a few days. M. Painleve received a blanket endorsement from Parliament to-day on his Moroccan policy. The vote was 52 to 32, and the French troops in Morocco are likely to abandon their defensive attitude which they have maintained for the past five weeks and strike a blow to restore France's prestige.

ENQUIRY INTO DEATH AND WOUNDING OF MINERS.

HALIFAX, June 19. A public judicial enquiry into the death of William Davis, the miner killed in the clash between the British Empire Steel Corporation's police and striking miners at New Waterford a week ago, has been set in operation by Hon. Walter J. O'Hearn, Attorney General of Nova Scotia, and announced by him in the course of a speech delivered to-night at a political meeting held in a local theatre, and at which other speakers included Premier E. H. Armstrong and Colonel J. Leyn Halston, D.S.O., C.M.G., Liberal candidate in Cumberland County. Mr. O'Hearn referred to a letter which he received a few days ago from the Sydney mines branch of the Great War Veterans' Association asking what official action he was taking in the matter of the death of Davis and the wounding of Gilbert Watson, a war veteran. Mr. O'Hearn read his reply in which he stated that immediately the happening was reported to him he had intended instituting at the proper time a judicial inquiry into the tragedy. He considered it in the interests of all concerned, he said, that the inquiry be delayed until a little later, with the hope that the situation in the disturbed portion of Cape Breton may be more tranquil.

BRITISH TAKE GRAVE VIEW OF CHINESE SITUATION.

LONDON, June 20. Growing uneasiness over the Chinese situation is manifested in the published comments and news-reports here, due partly to the breakdown of the Shanghai conference, and partly to the attitude of the Central Government at Peking, which is said to have given money to the anti-foreign strikers. The Times sees in the latter report ground for increased anxiety and in its editorial characterizes the general situation as disquieting. Editorial expressions of other papers are similar in tone.

GALLANT EXPLORERS' GREAT ACHIEVEMENT.

OSLO, June 20. Capt. Amundsen and his five fellow explorers will have an enthusiastic welcome when they arrive here within the next few days on their return from the perilous arctic expedition into the Arctic. Though they failed by the main object, that of being the first to reach the North Pole by air, their exploit in flying to a point within 150 miles of their goal, their survival amid untold hardships, and the return to Spitzbergen in their remaining plane, are regarded as forming a wonderful feat shedding glory upon Norway as well as upon the individual participants.

ARREST OF PRO-KRIM AGITATORS.

PARIS, June 20. The Matin says this morning that over 120 arrests have been made in Paris and the provinces in connection with the Government's measures to check Communist propaganda against its Moroccan policy.

GIANT POWER PLANT FOR QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, June 20. What Premier Taschereau termed the greatest industrial development ever projected in this province will be started without delay in Lake St. John district as the result of the approval yesterday of the development of 600,000 horse power at falls known as Chute a Caron, a few hundred yards from the Grande Decharge. Damming work now in progress. According to the announced plans between $75,000,000 and $90,000,000 will be expended on the power development and construction of the plant for the manufacture of aluminium.

TRAIN NOTES.

Thursday's west-bound train arrived at Port aux Basques 6.15 last night. The express with Kyle's mail and passengers arrived on time. The express for foreign connections goes out to-morrow at 1 p.m.

NOTE OF THANKS.

Storm Caused Havoc Among Fishing Fleet

FIFTEEN SCHOONERS REPORTED LOST.

It is feared that extensive damage has been done to the Labrador fleet as a result of the storm of Wednesday last, but as yet very little particulars are available. A brief message to the Railway Commission received yesterday evening, states that fifteen schooners were lost between Quirpon and Cape Norman. Whilst a message from Bell Isle reports the loss of several motor boats, and also damage to three schooners. Capt. Wes Keen of S. S. Prospero reported to the Railway Commission as follows:—"Arrived at Cook's Harbor at 8.45 this morning. Fifteen schooners a total loss between Quirpon and Cape Norman. Terrible destruction to property. Worst storm ever known in this vicinity, no lives lost. Stormy weather throughout the trip."

The following message was received yesterday evening by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries from Magistrate Alcock, Cook's Harbor:—"Schooner Jubilee owned by M. H. Roberts, bound from Labrador to St. John's in ballast lost all her canvas in Wednesday night's storm, and ran ashore next morning in WHM Right near Cape Norman where she became a total wreck. Crew landed safely. Great loss of fishing property here. Full damage not yet known." Lightkeeper Thomas at Belle Isle reports that during the storm three vessels at Lark Tickle were damaged. One motor boat was lost in Green Cove and one went adrift up the Straits. All traps were damaged except two which had four barrels of fish each when hauled. It is understood that nine crews of the wrecked vessels have arrived at Cook's Harbor, and arrangements are being made to take them home by S.S. Prospero.

Mrs. Williams, the genial proprietress of the hospitable "Seaview" Hotel, Bay Bulls, is serving "Armada" tea to her guests.

Taxi-Cab Fares

Extra Charge After Midnight All Wrong, Says Chicago Expert.

In connection with the proposal for the establishment of a taxi-cab company submitted to the Halifax Board of Trade, Mr. Saunders, Secretary of the Board, is securing information on taxi-cab services in different parts of Canada and the United States. The president of the National Association of Taxi Cab Owners, Chicago, answering Mr. Saunders' inquiry at him writes at length and says regarding rates: "In my judgment a fair taxi-cab rate is as follows: 80 cents first one third mile, 10 cents each subsequent one third mile, 10 cents for each four-minute wait; no extra charge for additional passengers, no extra charge for operation after midnight. In my judgment a tariff which provides for the extra payment of fares after midnight is certainly a relic of the very oldest of the horse-hack days. I do not know a single company which makes such a charge."—Halifax Chronicle.

Meigle Returns From Labrador

SHIP MET BOISTEROUS WEATHER.

S.S. Meigle, Capt. Tavernor, returned from the Labrador at 4:30 p.m. yesterday, after a boisterous round trip passage of 13½ days. The ship brought a part cargo of freight, including a shipment of salmon in cases, and the following passengers: Mrs. M. Thomas, J. Thomas, Mrs. B. Haviland and child and one in steerage. Capt. Hanz, who went north in the interests of the Marine and Fisheries Department, also returned, and reports the schooner Chesley Stone at Indian Harbour, to which port she was obliged to put back after getting within ten miles of Cape Harrison. There is only a small sign of fish reported along the coast. One trap had half a quintal at Snug Harbor, a full quintal at Occasional Harbor, and from 3 to 4 quintals at Fishing Ship's Harbor. At the latter place no traps have been placed in the water yet, but catch to date having been secured by jiggers. Fawns from Fogo, operating at Belle Isle reports for 130 quintals, and others half for catches from 20 to 1000 qts. From Snug Harbor north there is no fish, and only about 20 schooners are north of Battle Hill. The Meigle arrived at Holton on Sunday last, and reached St. Anthony, coming south, on the following night. On Tuesday she left the latter port and during the early morning a storm came, which increased into a hurricane by nine o'clock. The ship received a bad buffet about and the captain was obliged to heave to about 20 miles N. E. of Twillingate all day and night, until early morning Thursday, when she proceeded to Twillingate. While the ship was there, Capt. Tavernor received orders to proceed to Bay de Verde to tow off the schooner Banbury, Butler, master, which had gone ashore there the previous day. On the arrival of the Meigle, Capt. Tavernor found he could not get close enough to the stranded vessel, and he would not undertake any responsibility, as there was a danger of the ship fouling with the moorings. The vessel, it appears, crashed into an iceberg of Baccalar, on Wednesday, breaking off her bowsprit, while the mainmast was snapped off close to the deck. Capt. Butler then headed the vessel for Bay de Verde, the nearest place of shelter, and after making port safely, the crew left her for the night. To make matters worse, she dragged her anchors and went ashore. She is filled to the hatches with water, and her deck aft has been broken up, while it is feared that her bottom is also badly damaged. The Meigle then continued the run, and called at Hr. Grace before making this port. She is now unloading salmon in cases at Job Brothers' Southside premises.

regarding Pan American Western Petroleum Co., which is to take over California properties of Pan American Petroleum & Transport Co., held through a subsidiary. This was also a part of the transaction involving sale of control of the voting stock by Mr. Doherty.

There will be rights in connection with the offer by Pan American Petroleum & Transport Co. to its stockholders to subscribe to stock of Pan American Western, when made. A new factor appears to have arisen caused by the loss by Pan American Petroleum of the suit brought against it by the government to cancel its lease to the naval reserve in California.

The big improvement in Pan American's earnings has taken place since first of the year, and, according to official estimates, will continue for the year. In the past few months gross overhead cost has been running $9,000,000 to $10,000,000 a month. It is figured that about 30 p.c. is being saved for net.

The company felt the unfavorable conditions which have prevailed the past few years. Its profits of $59,721,000 compare with $32,412,000 in preceding year and $48,049,000 in 1922. Net profits in 1924 of $15,185,000 compare with $20,352,387 in 1923 and $17,678,937 in 1922.

Current assets at end of December last were $54,988,059 and current liabilities $26,099,233, an excess of assets over liabilities of $28,888,826. On December 31, 1923, current assets were $40,234,380 and current liabilities $17,882,453, an excess of assets of $22,351,927.

As of Dec. 31, last, the company had $18,056,486 oil on hand, against $13,726,380 in the preceding year. It had cash of $14,102,829, against $8,479,311, Dec. 31, 1923.

On April 1, last, Pan American Eastern Petroleum Co., organized and owned by Standard Oil of Indiana and Blair & Co., purchased slightly more than 50 p.c. of the 1,000,000 A. or voting, shares of Pan American Petroleum & Transport Co. from E. L. Doherty, giving Pan American Eastern control. As part of the transaction Pan American Petroleum & Transport Co. bought, British Mexican Petroleum Co., operating in England.

Jutland Memories

Altar of Flowers at the Cenotaph.

Thousands of wreaths were laid by reverent hands on the war memorials of Britain yesterday.

It was the ninth anniversary of the day—June 1, 1916—on which the last shots were fired in the Battle of Jutland. The engagement began on the previous afternoon and cost 7,011 British lives.

Throughout the country, in cities, towns, villages, and even the little hamlets, fresh blooms from many a garden were gratefully given in memory of the men who sacrificed their lives for their country.

At the Cenotaph, in Whitehall a great altar of flowers grew steadily, formed of large wreaths and of simple nosegays, that betokened a spirit of gratitude common to all classes.

The Simple Life

SIR THOMAS HORDER ON MODERN LIFE.

Sir Thomas Horder, the physician, in a paper which he read to the gathering of American doctors at Wigmore Hall, W., recently, said:

We ought to do our best to induce our patients to return to a simpler life. We must not only point out more clearly and insistently the importance of hygienic rules for the conduct of the bodily functions, but in the sphere of the intellect, and especially of the emotions, we must urge moderation and simplicity.

It is difficult for any clear-thinking doctor to avoid the conclusion that the hustle of modern life, the pace at which we go, the nerve strain involved, and the expense of spirit entailed have become a large factor in the incidence of disease, and of diseases of a different type from many with which we were formerly acquainted.

We have new diseases for old, but the doctor's function remains the same; to study closely his patient and to husband and exploit to the best end all his resources.

Causes of Cancer.

Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, the surgeon, who also read a paper, said that in his opinion there were two factors in the causation of cancer as seen in civilisation—namely, the mechanical and the toxic (due to poison). He had observed cancer imposed on the mechanical and toxic results of chronic intestinal stasis (slacking or arrest of the blood current) so frequently that he was convinced that the sequence was not a mere chance.

The time had come when the medical profession must study the whole question of chronic intestinal stasis thoroughly, and must endeavour, by educating the people in proper habits and diet, to obviate this acquired condition, which might almost be regarded as normal civilisation.

"Use It Wherever The Recipe Calls for Milk"

St. Charles is pure, country milk just as it comes from inspected cows in choice dairy districts. Nothing is added. Nothing is taken away except half of the natural water content which is "evaporated" that this pure milk may be put up in convenient form. If you desire a milk of creamy richness for your recipe use St. Charles just as it comes from the can—or, you can make it go twice as far by bringing it to the consistency of ordinary milk—on adding an equal quantity of water. Try the tasty recipes in the Borden book. For your copy address The Borden Co. Ltd., T. A. MacNAB & CO., St. John's, Nfld., Agents.

Fidelity to Treaties.
"We take this view partly because fidelity to treaties is the very foundation of confidence and peace between the nations of the world, and partly because to fail to do so would be to strike a very serious blow at the hopes of those elements in Germany which stand for liberalism and democracy and reconciliation, and so help to bring about the triumph of militarism and reaction, which, if it occurred, would destroy all hopes of European concord and peace."

"In the long run, all hopes of a new and better Europe depend upon Germany being won for democracy and the ideals upon which the New Europe must rest. Democracy in Germany will not be promoted by weakness on the side of the Allies. Nor will it be promoted by violence or repression. The best way of helping Germany to become a loyal part of the Europe of 1918 is to treat her with scrupulous justice and fair play."

Siam as the Land of Religious Toleration

"Siam is one of the strongholds of Buddhism, and although the modern tendency is to be indifferent to religious matters it is observable in Siam as elsewhere, the people generally give as much attention to the practice of their faith as does the average resident in Christian countries in applying to his daily life the principles of his belief," says W. Nunn, late Adviser to the Siamese Government on Customs, in a paper read before the Royal Society of Arts and recorded in its Journal.

"The Siamese attitude towards matters spiritual—their conception of their duty to God, their fellowmen, and themselves is simple. It is not complicated by the strife of sects, by the competition of conflicting faiths, by intellectual arrogance, nor by undisciplined enthusiasm. It is an attitude of unconcerned belief, quietly held and practised."

"If one of its most noticeable results is the congregating together of large bodies of idle priests, who toll not, neither do they spin, that result is not resented commonly by the people, nor does any form of priestly tyranny spring from it. The most striking characteristic of the religious life of Siam is its wonderful tolerance. Christian missionaries are as free to work in the country as if they were in a Christian land, and their educational and medical work is encouraged officially."

"It is interesting to note, as bearing upon this matter of religious toleration, that the weekly day of rest which is observed in the capital, in all Government offices, is the Christian Sabbath, decreed to be an official holiday by King Chulalongkorn in the year 1899. It is to be hoped that nothing will ever happen in Siam to rob it of its being one country, at least, where the expression of religious belief does not disturb the good will of men."

"German public opinion is profoundly sceptical as to whether France ever means to release her hold on the Rhineland. If the Cologne bridgehead is evacuated this year it will be proof that, at the end of fifteen years, they are going to recover full possession of their country. If the Cologne bridgehead is not evacuated this year it will be taken by the mass of the German people as proof that the Allies do not mean to return the Rhineland to German control, as provided in the Treaty, and that the nationalists are right who tell them to prepare for war as the only means of recovering their independence."

"On the French side, the evacuation of Cologne is regarded as the first step towards the demolition of that rampart against another German invasion on which France relies. The Cologne bridgehead in itself is not vital, for the Mainz and Coblenz bridgeheads are said to be militarily more important. But it is the beginning of a process which cannot fail to arouse alarm in France unless either she can be convinced that Germany has abandoned her old ambitions, or some alternative security has been provided."

"M. Herriot, though a leader of the Left, went so far as to hint, in a speech made some three months ago, that France had only undertaken to evacuate the Rhineland on the strength of the Anglo-American Treaty of Guarantee, and that she could not be expected to fulfil her undertaking unless some equivalent to that guarantee was given her."

"We are convinced that the strict execution of the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles relating to Cologne is vital to European reconstruction and peace. As between Germany and the Allies, no conditions were made. The Treaty provides with-out any qualification that if Germany has fulfilled her obligations, the bridgehead is to be evacuated."

"As soon as she has carried out any justifiable and reasonable demands which may be made upon her as the result of the Inter-Allied Military Mission's inquiries, Cologne ought to be evacuated. And even though the French Government, which is, improbable, were to threaten to re-occupy Cologne if the British army goes out, the British Government ought to live up to its obligations without any reserve (unless, of course, the German Government of its own initiative asks it to remain).

A Famous Quarterly Review

CONCERNED ABOUT THE COLOGNE EVACUATION.

"Though there is no question of solving the vast problem of the future of Europe in the immediate future, it is only possible to understand the bearings and implications of the questions which do directly face the British Commonwealth in the light of these larger issues," says the Round Table, in a notable article in its latest issue.

The First Question.

"The first of these questions is the evacuation of Cologne. Under the Treaty of Versailles it is provided (Article 42) that at the end of five years from ratification of the northernmost of the three bridgeheads occupied by the Allies, namely, Cologne, is to be evacuated by the Allied troops provided that Germany has fulfilled her Treaty obligations. It is not to be re-occupied by German troops, for the whole Rhineland, including an area fifty kilometers to the east of the Rhine, is to be demilitarized. It is to be evacuated and control restored to the German civil authorities and police.

"That evacuation was due to take place on January 10, 1925. But for various reasons, mainly because the Inter-Allied Military Commission, which was appointed to investigate whether Germany had fulfilled her disarmament obligations under the Treaty, had not reported, partly because the French do not evacuate the Ruhr until August, and withdrawal from Cologne is difficult before that evacuation is finished, the withdrawal has not yet taken place. Nor has the report of the Commission on German disarmament, which will state what Germany has still to do to comply with the Treaty, though it has already been presented to the Allied Governments, yet been published.

Beginning to Operate the Other Way.

"The importance of the Cologne question lies in this. On the German side it has come to be regarded as the test of Allied good faith. Hitherto the Treaty of Versailles has operated to the detriment of Germany. It has been rigidly enforced. The Treaty is now beginning to operate in favour of Germany. Is it now to be as rigidly respected?

"German public opinion is profoundly sceptical as to whether France ever means to release her hold on the Rhineland. If the Cologne bridgehead is evacuated this year it will be proof that, at the end of fifteen years, they are going to recover full possession of their country. If the Cologne bridgehead is not evacuated this year it will be taken by the mass of the German people as proof that the Allies do not mean to return the Rhineland to German control, as provided in the Treaty, and that the nationalists are right who tell them to prepare for war as the only means of recovering their independence."

Pedestrians Who Are a Menace

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir—I have, with interest, read nearly all of your Editorials, which are all very timely and to the point. Your Editorial of the 11th inst. is certainly no exception, but the subject which prompts me to write these few lines is as follows:—"Are the walking public warned enough against the dangers of the careful motorist as well as the reckless motorist? Are the parents of the children under five years' old warned to be more careful of these children, and keep them from the centre of the street? I might say, Mr. Editor, that half an hour before I started this note I had to stop my car suddenly on one of our steep hills in order to save the life of a child, not more than eighteen months' old, playing in the middle of the street. It is no strange thing to see very small children playing in some of our small streets as late as eleven o'clock at night. I ask if this is fair to the very young children, or to the careful motorist or driver who often has to skid his tires in order to avert an accident. How often will we see little tots stand in front of a car to dare the driver? Now, Mr. Editor, I speak to the older public who are supposed to have common knowledge and sound reason. Are some of them careful enough and do they use discretion? I grant you, Mr. Editor, they have the right of way, but what do we find some of them do? They cross the street crossing without heeding the horn of the approaching motor car. Some people cross Water Street at an angle of from 30 to 70 degrees. Now, Sir, the walking public are like the motorists, some are careful while others are very careless and use no discretion. Fortunately, I have never had an accident since I have been motor driving, but it has been the case that motorists have had considerable damage done their cars, through averting accidents happening to careless pedestrians. I think, now, Sir, it is about time that laws should be made affecting the walking public. At the present time the motorist has all he can do to think of all the rules he has to comply with, but the pedestrians have little trouble to think of their rules, and at least some of them should be more careful and use a little more discretion.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I might thank you for space in your valuable paper.

I remain,

Obituary

MRS. MARTHA BROWN.

Mrs. Martha Brown, a devoted member of St. Francis Xavier's Church, Bar Haven, died on Wednesday, June 17th, at the age of 81 years, after a protracted illness due to the infirmities of old age. Requiem High Mass was sung in the beautiful Church of St. Francis Xavier, and the interment took place in Calvary Cemetery, Bar Haven, at the close of Mass. Mrs. Brown is survived by a daughter, Mrs. John McCue, two sons, Peter and John, and innumerable grandchildren and immediate relatives residing at Bar Haven and vicinity.

HANNAH KELLY.

Miss Hannah Kelly, one of Mount Arlington Heights' bright school girls, died on Thursday morning, June 18, at Long Harbour from general debility after a brief illness. The deceased had been attending St. Xavier's school where her bright and cheerful disposition won for her the love and esteem of her classmates. She was blessed with full consciousness up to the last, answered the prayers recited by her dear pastor and loved ones, and perfectly resigned she gave her soul to God. Her funeral took place from the parental home, Mt. Arlington Heights, Long Harbour, solemn High Mass of Requiem was sung by Rev. Francis Caccia in St. Gabriel's Church Mount Arlington Heights.

Talking Films

First Display in Great Britain.

Talking films are the latest attraction promised at the new Wembley Exhibition. This is the first presentation of such films in this country.

They are being shown in one of the Conference Halls, where they are being presented by Mr. R. B. Salisbury, in association with Messrs. de Forest Phonoflms, an all-British Company, which owns all the British rights for the making of talking motion pictures. These pictures are made at the studio of the de Forest Company at Clapham.

The great advantage of the de Forest system of making Phonoflms consists in the fact that only the ordinary standard film is used. The film is only one inch in width between holes which are punched to guide it through the camera. Nine-tenths of this width is taken up by the picture, taken by an ordinary motion picture camera; the other tenth of the width is reserved for the photographic record of the sound produced while the motion picture is being made.

This sound record is produced as follows:—

The sounds are picked up by a sensitive microphone in which they are transformed into small electric currents. These currents are then amplified until they are large enough to affect the light in a small glass tube, containing two electrodes and a metallic conducting vapor. The varying electric currents cause the light given out by this lamp to carry exactly in accordance with the sounds produced before the microphone. The lamp is placed in the camera at a point where the film is moving continuously, and is so arranged that the light must pass through a small slit which is one-tenth of an inch in length and about as wide as the thickness of a sheet of India paper. This slit is fixed to be opposite the slit along the edge of the film reserved for the sound record. The fluctuations in the microphone cause fluctuations in the light, which in their turn cause horizontal black and white lines to be printed on the sensitized celluloid film. As many as 6,000 of these lines may be impressed on the film in each foot of length.

In order to reproduce the sound which has been recorded photographically on the film when the positive film is placed in the projector, an attachment consisting of a small incandescent lamp is added. The light from the incandescent lamp shines through the slit and is transformed into a pulsating beam of light, which then falls on to what is known as a photo-electric cell which transforms light into small electric currents. These currents are then amplified until they are large enough to effect powerful loud speakers, which in their turn transform the electric currents back into sounds again.

The picture and the sound being recorded simultaneously are absolutely synchronized.

The future of the Phonofilm to-day is similar to that which faced the new art of the silent picture when

Empire Crown Cotton

GREATLY INCREASED PRODUCTION LAST YEAR.

Highly satisfactory progress is being made by the British Cotton Growing Association. The industry, according to the annual report, is now established on a sound commercial basis in a number of colonies and protectorates. The quantity of cotton which passed through the association's hands last year was 59,583 bales, valued at £1,922,097, against 54,606 bales, of the value of £1,588,480 in 1923. This represents only a small proportion of the total quantity of cotton produced within the Empire, which was estimated at 251,900 bales, valued at £8,373,200. The net profit on the year's working was £103,558, which increases the excess of income over expenditure to £266,077. The association, it is stated, is still engaged in development work, and incurs risks in the interests of cotton growing which would not be entertained by ordinary trading concerns. Profits made in recent years were requisite for financing the rapidly-increasing quantities of cotton now produced in new areas; also for the provision of ginning and baling installations, so as to provide cultivators with a ready market. The results achieved demonstrate that the British Empire is capable of producing suitable types of cotton in substantial quantities. The rate of future progress will largely depend on the provision of improved transport facilities.

The Paige-Jewett Extra Long Springs

UNUSUAL comfort for all types of roads are notable features of both Paige and Jewett motor cars. The Paige, with its 131-inch wheel base, has rear springs more than 5 feet long. The rear springs of the new Jewett are 4½ feet long.

These springs are carefully designed for deep balloon tyres which are standard equipment on Paige and Jewett motor cars and still further increase their riding comfort.

With more than average weight, these motor cars hold the road. They are carefully balanced to insure maximum comfort. Deep cushion springs, the restful position of the seats, and ample leg room also contribute to riding comfort.

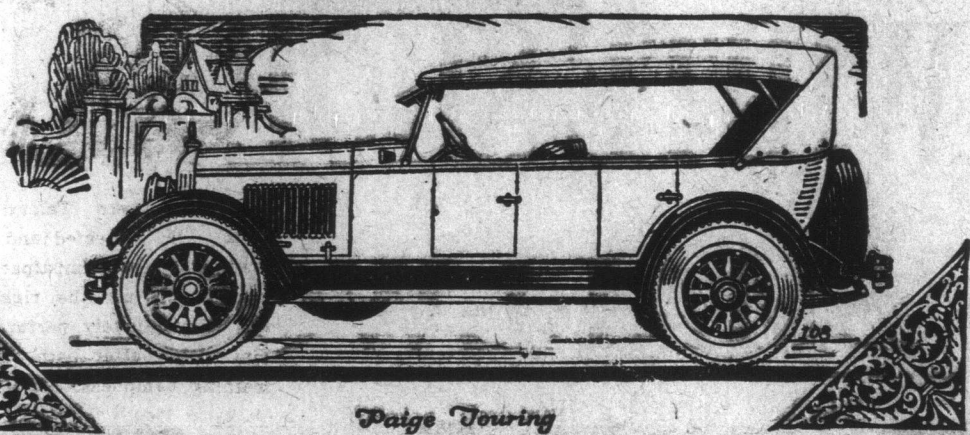

Paige and Jewett motor cars are as powerfully sturdy as they are comfortable. They are designed and built not only to give smooth performance, but to deliver tens of thousands of miles of trouble-free service.

recent fire amounted to $20,000. Speaking to the Chief Engineer, he said, "I had left the furnace room at five minutes to eight to go to my breakfast, and had just reached my house when a boy came running in and said that the Church was filled with smoke. I entered the Church and then ran down to the furnace room to find that the oil and some papers were blazing. Fortunately a trap door was opened, and the firemen who had arrived had poured water with two streams, and had quenched it before it had a good start. Five minutes more and the church would have been partially if not wholly destroyed." The repairs are now completed, though the pillars in some places are marked from the effects of the smoke. The old sexton, M. Gaudin, a familiar figure who has been attached to the Church for 30 years, and who will be remembered by many Newfoundlanders who assisted at the services during their stay in Montreal is about to retire on account of sickness and old age.

TO STAMP OUT A NUISANCE.

A nuisance even more serious than that of dishonest car watchers last year was that of the dishonest boy guide who would meet motor tourists from the South at the bridgehead and offer to guide them to hotels, boarding houses and so forth. Many of these trusting and innocent visitors, wishing to do the boys a good turn, found themselves guided to disreputable places, who paid the boys so much a head for customers. In fact the abuse reached a point where it was laid before Chief of Police Belanier by the Montreal Motorists' League; and as a corrective the Chief stationed a policeman at this end of the bridge to chase the boys away.

The motorist clubs here are hopeful that the nuisance will not recur this year; but they are ready to stamp it out if it does.

THE GOOD QUALITIES OF WATER.

There are men all among us in Montreal, total abstainers in their youth, who have joined in the old temperance song: "I'm very fond of a social glass, but it must be filled with water."

These will be interested to learn that London school teachers have just been instructed to stress the value of H-2-O as a beverage, for the nine reasons that water:—

- (1) Quenches thirst.
- (2) Regulates temperature by keeping the skin active.
- (3) Maintains the body moisture.
- (4) Helps to keep the body clean inside.
- (5) Aids digestion.
- (6) Helps to keep the body clean outside.
- (7) Keeps the mouth clean.
- (8) Helps to keep the blood in good condition.
- (9) The body is more than one-half water. The amount it loses each day in evaporation and elimination of waste must be supplied by drinking at least four glasses every day.

SOME GOLDEN MAXIMS.

Dear Readers:—
 Learn to laugh; a good laugh is better than medicine.
 Learn how to tell a story; a good story, well told, is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick-room.
 Learn to keep your troubles to yourself; the world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.
 Learn to stop complaining, if you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself.
 Learn to hide your aches and pains under pleasant smiles; no one cares to hear whether you have headaches, caraches, or rheumatism.
 Learn to meet your friends with a smile; a good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the despicable is not wanted anywhere.
 Above all, give pleasure; lose no chance of giving pleasure.
 Don't wait to say the needed word, or to do the needed kindness. Life, at the longest, is only a brief span; therefore don't let its chances pass you by. Give not only the kind and friendly word, but the encouraging and helpful one, as well. Commendation, when it is deserved, will make many a burden lighter.
 You will pass through this world but once.
 Any good thing, therefore that you can do, or any kindness that you can show to any human being, you had better do it now; do not defer or neglect it. For you will not pass this way again.
 "Take time to speak a loving word, where loving words are seldom heard. And it will linger in the mind. And gather others of its kind, Till loving words will echo where erstwhile the heart was poor and bare; And somewhere on thy heavenward track Their music will come echoing back."
 R. J. LOUIS CUDDIHY.

young lives that are suddenly ended by accidents from autos and the winter, is appalling, and reach the number of a couple of hundred. While the vast majority of these children cannot have a country home or enjoy camp life in the mountains, yet, those interested in their educational welfare, should have summer vacation schools established, thus enabling them to be kept out of danger, and at the same time keep their minds fresh with knowledge, and it would help also to build up their bodies. The dangers of our streets, are not lessening, but rather increasing. A youngster lately running across the street to give a baseball mitt to a companion was felled by a bicycle and died a few minutes afterwards. A second boy jumped on a truck to have a ride, he was ordered off by the driver and while getting off he rolled under the wheels and was crushed to death. A third met death by drowning. He was anxious to go fishing, but his father forbade him. He went and he fell from the wharf at Longueuil and was drowned. Almost every day, the same old story of accidents to the young has to be recorded. Before vacation has begun, in the last couple of weeks, the number of youths killed and drowned in the Dominion has reached 30. I wonder when they are singing their lust song at the closing exercises, do they realize it may surely be their last.

"Vacation days are here, The happiest of the year, We'll sing and shout, For school is out, Welcome, welcome, vacation days."
AN IMPOSING CEREMONY AT THE BASILICA.
 On Saturday, June 6th, St. James Basilica witnessed a very imposing ceremony that took three hours and twenty minutes to perform. His Grace Archbishop George Gauthier ordained 31 deacons to the priesthood, and gave major and minor orders to 134 candidates. The ceremonies were attended by one of the largest congregations that has ever assembled in the Basilica, including clergy from the city and all parts of the United States and Canada. Hundreds stood during all the time. At the end of the service a procession of the candidates and His Grace Archbishop Gauthier attended by the Sulpician Fathers and several of the local clergy marched through the Church, all singing the "Te Deum." Three English speaking candidates were ordained for the Archdiocese, Rev. Fathers Edmund Jones, John T. Britt, and Gaspar Stanford. After eight days' vacation, the three new priests will be assigned to parochial work.

Our Montreal Letter

(From Our Own Correspondent)

THE WEATHER PLAYS MANY PRANKS.

The weather for the past two weeks has gone on record for its variety of changes. Saturday, May 23rd, was a cold wintry day and snow fell in the vicinity of the Mountain. Saturday, May 30th, a rainstorm swept the city in the morning, and in the afternoon, a blinding hail storm, that beat with undue severity, made people very nervous, and damaged property, reigned supreme for nearly fifty minutes. Saturday, June 6th, the third day of excessive heat, the thermometer showing 95 in the shade. Straw hats were a novelty until a few days ago. Reports from Montana, state that four inches of snow had fallen in certain places on Friday, June 5th. Owing to the excessive heat here, Montreal is on the water wagon with a vengeance. On the first of June citizens were consuming 73,774,000 gallons while on the 4th the faucets were flanked to the extent of 75,000,000 gallons. At the present time Montreal is consuming 3,000,000 more gallons a day than for the same period last year, an increase accounted for to a great extent by the rapid growth of the city. The pumps have been hitting on all cylinders this week, pumping 74,973,000 gallons yesterday and 73,841,000 the day before, compared to 68,810,000 and 69,454,000 gallons or the two corresponding days last year. According to figures supplied by the department at the city hall there is less water consumed on Sundays than on any other day of the week. This is accounted for by the fact that manufacturing establishments are closed on that day.

DANGER TIME CLOSE AT HAND.
 With the closing of the schools, thousands of children will be free for two months. Parental control, unfortunately, will be very lax in a large number of cases. They will wander away into danger, regardless of all the warnings, instructions, and don'ts received from their teachers. They'll run after rigs and auto trucks to steal a ride. The rivers, the lakes, and the canal will find them bathing. Companions, older than themselves, will entice them away from home to enjoy the vacation time, and when danger presents itself, the younger ones are left to do or die. The danger presents itself, the younger ones are left to do or die. The danger presents itself, the younger ones are left to do or die. The danger presents itself, the younger ones are left to do or die.

The Truth!

Perhaps you consider Sunlight Soap too good to wash your floors with? Well! the purpose for which you use soap, requires pure soap. If you use impure, or inferior soap it cannot do the work of pure soap, because it does not possess the necessary qualities; consequently, pure soap such as Sunlight Soap, is best and most economical, and cheapest for ALL washing purposes. Soaps which cost less than Sunlight Soap are worth less, and so of Lever's Sunlight Soap, it can be said with pride, 'tis best and cheapest of all soaps, which cannot be denied.

The Cemetery Beautiful

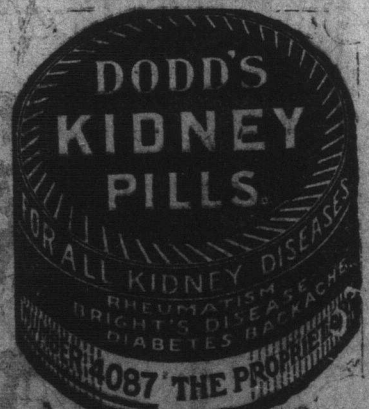

That is something more than a pretty phrase. It is an appeal to each individual lot-owner to do his share toward making the Cemetery what it should be—real, restful—full of harmony—replete in restfulness.

It calls for artistic—although not necessarily large—Memorials, placed in well ordered, well kept settings—all brought together in a colorful gloom-dispelling picture.

The essential part of our business is to give assistance to those deciding these matters. Our service, with complete information, Catalogues and estimates, is at the disposal of all Memorial purchasers. We invite you to visit our Display Rooms and let us confer with you on what you require.

Teeth are Jewels

Make them glisten

YOU can buy no pearls at any price to compare with pretty teeth.

Then why not fight the film on teeth, as millions are doing now? Make this free test, and see what new beauty comes.

Remove the cloud

Most teeth are clouded by a film—that viscous film you feel. It clings and stays, because no ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it.

Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. That is what makes teeth unsightly. Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Such troubles are almost universal among people who don't fight film.

That is why dental science has been seeking film combatants. Two have now been found. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities have proved these methods effective. A new type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Careful people of some 50 nations use this tooth paste daily now, and largely by dental advice.

Unique effects

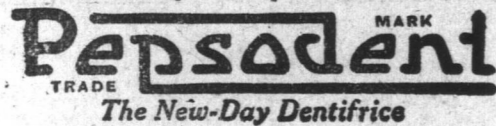

Quick and Apparent Pepsodent brings other new effects. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, which is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth. Thus these great tooth enemies are effectively combated.

Protect the enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

A few days bring results which no one can forget. Cut out coupon now.

Based on modern research. Advised by leading dentists the world over. You will see and feel immediate results.

Bishop at a Stream

Pilgrimage to Drink at Scene of Miracle Springs—Legend of A.D. 897.

Ebbwast, Kent.—Golfers arriving at the sixteenth hole of the St. Augustine's golf links have been spectators of a curious and unusual ceremony. They have witnessed a bishop kneeling by the side of a stream, and, with some difficulty, drinking of the rather muddy water that flowed past.

In the ordinary way the stream, which runs about one hundred yards in front of the sixteenth tee, is considered an annoying hazard for inexperienced golfers: one never thinks of it as being one of the most historic and interesting stretches of water in Great Britain.

For here it was in A.D. 897 that St. Augustine, who introduced Christianity into this country, feeling thirsty after his journey from overseas, knelt down and refreshed himself with the cool waters of a stream, which, so legend says, miraculously appeared at this place.

In commemoration of this historic event, the Warden of St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, who at the present time is Bishop Knight, visits the stream every year, and, following the example of St. Augustine, kneels down and drinks a little of the water.

Other officials and members of St. Augustine's College follow the same custom. In some years the stream is almost dry, but this month, fortunately, there is plenty of water, which makes the ceremony all the easier for the "pilgrims" from Canterbury.

Empires Champion Baby

Imperial Baby Week at Wembley.

The Empire's Mother and Baby Competition which is being organized in connection with Imperial Baby Week, to be held at the Wembley Exhibition during the second week in July is going to be a big success. Already many entries from overseas have been received by the promoters, the National Baby Week Council, the first score-sheet and photographs arriving from far-away Bermuda.

A prize of a £100 Endowment Policy will be awarded to the Empire's champion baby, and handsome prizes of Endowment Policies and cash to the winners in the numerous classes.

The British Isles has a section to itself with three classes according to the age of the baby. In each class there will be a first prize of a £25 Endowment Policy and £20 cash, and a second prize of a £25 Endowment Policy and £10 cash. There are also three additional classes for twins, triplets and quadruplets, with three first prizes of £20 and three second prizes of £10. Entries from the British Isles must be sent in before Friday, 5th June.

Full particulars of the Competition will be forwarded if a stamped addressed envelope is sent to the National Baby Week Council, 117, Piccadilly, London, W.1.

Silver Coffin for a Gunman

JUDGES AT FUNERAL.

NEW YORK—Angelo Genna, one of Chicago's most popular bootleggers and a noted gunman, was buried with royal honours.

Unlike Dion O'Bannon, whose grandiose funeral six months ago set a new record in underworld pomp, Genna died a natural death, though in the course of his career "more than 20 killings had been charged to his account."

His friends bought him a solid silver coffin for $2,500 and had his name inscribed on the lid in letters of gold. The coffin was smothered in wreaths, and 30 motor cars filled with flowers, the estimated value of which was £10,000, participated in the procession of 20,000 people recruited from Chicago's "Little Italy."

A Ceremonious Dump. Newspapers, in their account of this strange funeral, state that Politics and officialdom were represented by municipal judges, one alderman, one State Senator, State representatives, and the City Sealor (the official whose duty it is to seal the doors of restaurants and clubs where alcoholic liquor is sold indiscretely).

Fifty policemen were specially detailed to keep the streets clear, but the congestion became so great that another company was sent to aid them.

Just before the funeral the City Custodian, Mr. Frank Barry, ceremoniously dumped into Lake Michigan 800 pistols, shotguns, and rifles recently seized by the police in a vigorous campaign against Chicago's "murderers, burglars, gun-robbers, and other crooks."

After putting the girl into a life-belt which had been thrown out, Mackie held both the father and daughter until the boat drew alongside and took them aboard.

MIRARD'S LINIMENT FOR ACHES AND PAINS.

Little Jack Rabbit

by David Cory

"Ha, ha," laughed Mr. Merry Sun up in the sky on seeing the little rabbit hopping along between his two good friends, the Yellow Dog Tramp and the Old Brown Horse. "I hope Billy Breeze doesn't blow a big cloud in front of me. I want to see what they're going to do."

"Let's play Mumble Peg," cried the bunnny boy, taking his Jack knife out of his pocket.

"Haven't played a game since I was a colt," whinnied the Old Brown Horse.

"No! I since I was a pup," barked the Yellow Dog Tramp. "But down they sat, just the same, to please the little rabbit, although the Old Brown Horse looked longingly at the tender grass, for it was some time since he had eaten a nice breakfast of oats. They had forgotten all about Old Mother Magpie, but she hadn't forgotten about them, and in a few minutes she settled on a nearby bush and exclaimed:

"Time for work and time for play, Lazy folks waste all the day. "Where's your workbasket?" enquired the Old Brown Horse, with a grin. "Where's your needle and safety pin?" "That's my affair," snapped Old Mother Mischief, and clapping her wings, away she flew to tell other people what to do. Dear me, she was a meddlesome feathered lady, always poking into other people's business.

"I polished the front doorknob, fed the canary and brought in the kindling wood for Mother this morning," said the little rabbit. "After that she told me I might play," and he tossed the Jack Knife over his shoulder as neatly as you please.

Just then Cousin Cottontail came hopping down the Old Cow Path. "Is Mother home?" she asked, as the Yellow Dog Tramp rose and doffed his tattered straw hat and the Old Brown Horse whinnied "Good morning" and the bunnny boy hopped up to kiss her.

"This is not the place to consider what interpretation, if any, of 'self-determination,' or of 'freedom' may qualify them to become adequate ideals whether in political or in economic things.

"Enough, that 'to be without external control,' or 'able to do as you like,' is only the negative side of either, and that you are not 'free,' or 'self-determined,' in proportion as you escape from duty and discipline; they are conditions without which true self-determination and true freedom cannot be won. He only enjoys freedom who daily wins it anew for himself is the last word of wisdom from Goethe's Faust, and it is one which no class, whether it gets or spends, works for profit or for wages, can afford to ignore."

Nfld. Cod Liver Oil Promotion Plan

Efforts are being made to increase the sale of Newfoundland cod liver oil in Great Britain and other parts of the British Empire. A very important meeting recently took place in the Board of Trade Rooms at St. John's, at which the Governor, Sir William Alford, and the Prime Minister, Hon. W. S. Monroe, were present to hear Sir Patrick McGrath, who had charge of Newfoundland affairs before the Imperial Economic Committee last year.

The Imperial Economic Conference, an organization recently constituted by the British Government, with members representing the Mother Country and the Overseas Dominions and Colonies, will work to promote the import of Empire foodstuffs into the British Isles, and to assist in this the Baldwin Cabinet has decided to allocate one million pounds a year to be applied in such methods of stimulating this trade as the Committee and the Cabinet approve.

In the course of his address, Sir Patrick reviewed the work which came before the committee, and his efforts to include Cod Liver Oil under the benefit of the grant. He said that the British market is well worth getting after, and in reviewing the situation as it is at present in Great Britain, with reference to Norwegian competition, he pointed out that for every gallon of medicinal cod liver oil supplied the British market by Newfoundland, twenty are imported from Norway.

When the Moss Rose was about three-quarters of a mile off Margate, Kathleen Denton, aged 13, of St. John's street, Margate, who was sitting with her younger sister on the side seats, fell overboard.

Mackie, who was at the other end of the boat, threw off his jacket and dived in. On reaching the girl, however, he found that the girl's father, James Denton, who was wounded in the legs during the war and could not swim, and had immediately jumped in in an attempt to save his daughter, was under the water.

After putting the girl into a life-belt which had been thrown out, Mackie held both the father and daughter until the boat drew alongside and took them aboard.

Double Rescue

Father and Daughter Saved by Skipper's Son.

A double rescue during a cruise of the pleasure sailing yacht Moss Rose was made yesterday afternoon off Margate by Fred Mackie, 34, of King-street, Margate, who is the son of the skipper of the boat, and was a passenger at the time.

It is a well-known fact that thin, pale or yellow, poorly-developed girls, with dark circles under the eyes, and who always appear tired and listless, do not attract friends. Yet in thousands of cases these conditions are due merely to the lack of pure, red blood, rich in health-giving iron. By simply getting sufficient iron into their blood, these girls may quickly have the blooming cheeks, ruddy lips and well-rounded forms that make other girls so attractive and so popular.

But be sure that the iron you take is organic iron—NOT the iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid and pills made from mineral from the earth in contact with the stomach. Nutri-Gen contains organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it for two weeks and notice the strength you gain. Money back if not improved. At all good druggists.

The Plain Man and His Boy's Education

"The plain man wonders whether he is going to get value for his money. He believes intensely in education. He thinks the right type of education would transform the people of this country in a generation," said Mr. W. H. Robinson, President of the West Yorkshire County Association of Teachers, in a recent speech. "He thinks it is only necessary for the teachers to give a lesson in school and the horrible degradation of private parks by holiday-makers would cease."

"He thinks that if teachers would but give a few, simple lessons in economics, the next generation would see the fallacies of capitalism or of socialism (according to his own view) in a flash. He is quite in favour of spending money that he can ill afford at the time to give a sound education to the 11 to 14 or 15-year-old of this generation in order to produce a better race."

"But he does not believe that a bit more science, a bit more mathematics, a little more accuracy in arithmetic and spelling will alone do the trick, or alone will be worth spending his money on."

"What he wants is that schoolmasters shall find a method of dealing with older boys which will give a new direction to their thoughts; which will cause them to be better men for that training."

"One of the most capable and best-known 'Captains of Industry' in the country has put the matter in a nutshell. He has said, 'Broadly I don't much care what a boy learns at school so long as he learns how to learn. I don't mind whether he has learned to do the type of sum he will meet with in business life or not, so long as he has the aptitude and training which enable him to learn quickly how to do it. I care very much, too, that sort of moral training he has had, and for the effect that education has had on his character.'"

"This particular gentleman is associated with that class and that type of business man who wants value for money in education. If they noticed a distinct improvement in this direction in youths entering their business from the elementary school they would cease to complain that the education system does not give value for money."

"But surely this ideal is the ideal of the teaching profession?"

Some Strong Men of Ancient Times

One of the most famous strong men of antiquity was Polydamas, the philosopher, who lived about 400 years B.C. Wonderful stories are told of his colossal size and strength. On one occasion he is said to have held a wild bull so firmly by one of its hind feet that the animal, in its struggles to release itself, wrenched off a hoof, while another feat for which he was renowned was the stopping of a chariot when driven at full speed by seizing a wheel.

Richard Coeur de Lion was an exceptionally strong man, and it is related of him that while a prisoner in Germany in the hands of the Emperor he gave a terribly practical proof of the force of the blow he was able to deal with his clenched fist. The son of his principal warder had invited the royal captive to an exchange of blows, and, winning the right to deliver the first punch by cast of the dice, struck the king a heavy blow on the head, staggering him.

Richard, in his turn, now struck and "landed" on his opponent's ear with such force as to kill him on the spot.

Veteran Cart Horse

Long-Service Prize for its Driver.
In the London Cart Horse Parade held in Regent's park, 862 horses groomed with care equalling that bestowed on the most valuable hunter, stepped proudly past Princess Beatrice, who distributed the prizes.

The veteran "Harry," 23 years of age, was driven by Mr. John Goodman, of Fisher-street, Canning Town, E., who was awarded the Isabel Constable prize for long service. For 54 years he has been driving horses for Messrs. John Knight, Ltd., and has driven "Harry" for 12 years.

Major-General Lord Chelmsford, one of the judges, told a Daily Mail reporter that he thought the parade the best seen for many years.

Pompous Funeral for Bootlegger

NO SERVICE.
CHICAGO, June 13.—Walter O'Donnell, who earned the reputation of being Chicago's toughest beer and "alkie" lord by mixing a little blood with the racket when the occasion seemed to demand it—and sometimes when it didn't—was buried here on Friday with all the traditional pomp and splendor accorded to the departed kings of his class.

The O'Donnell brothers—there are seven of them left now—did all they could for Walter. And so did his companions, booze runners and the ward politicians, and the poor folk down by the stockyards who remembered him as a "prince of a guy" with no strings on his purse. Four thousand were there.

Walter's coffin, a silver-trimmed affair, which cost the O'Donnell boys the profits of many a booze deal, rested in a corner of the front room behind a miniature mountain of flowers. Walter's young face,—that of a weary fighter, a tyrant humiliated—was visible above a huge floral wreath bearing the simple inscription, "Brother."

The little room was crowded with friends of the O'Donnell—some of whom will likely figure in the next skirmish in Chicago's perennial beer war. The police were so afraid that something might happen even at Walter's funeral that they came in automobile loads.

The funeral was like those of the late lamented Dion O'Banion and the Italian gangster, Angelo Genoa, and the others—particularly was it similar in that the funeral was conducted without the benefit of the church services.

The O'Donnell boys, who carry guns and are not used to being defied about anything, were defied when they sought to get a "decent" burial for Walter. The man who defied them doesn't carry a gun either. He was Cardinal Mundelein.

However, the Rev. R. J. Ashenden, curate of St. Sabina's Church, came to say a simple prayer as a friend of the family. The Cardinal had told him he must not come as a priest.

The hearse carrying Walter's body rolled to the cemetery followed by 400 automobiles. The procession was led by a police escort, detectives in flippers and motorcycle cops.

The casket was carried up a hillside on the shoulders of the O'Donnell brothers to the open grave. Trees shade it and shrubs surround it. Only one other grave is there. It is that of P. J. O'Donnell, the father of the O'Donnell boys, who was an honest workman.

The Silent Mr. Coolidge

Mr. Coolidge, the American President, is not fond of talking, and is getting a reputation as the silent President. He is a good listener, and there will be many who think both virtues are good. "T.R.E." in the New Republic gives the following amusing illustration of this reputed characteristic of the President:—

"One day, lately, the President of the United States found himself at the dinner table next to the 'Snow Baby' to wit, the daughter of Admiral Peary, who, by reason of being born in the Arctic several years ago, acquired that title and never has lost it. The silence of the tropic, or perhaps her father's taciturnity, or possibly a woman's intuition, caused the young matron to address Mr. Coolidge thus: 'Mr. President, I am in entire sympathy with your feeling that you do not like to talk. I understand exactly how you feel. You wish to be talked to. I was brought up with people who wanted to be talked to, and I am going to spend the next half hour talking to you. I shall not ask you to comment on anything I say nor to reply to any questions, for I shall not ask any.'

"Whereupon the young woman cut loose and talked. Mr. Coolidge maintaining his usual sphinx-like attitude. She talked about her children and her nieces, of her garden and interests. She talked of her own and her father's experiences in the Arctic regions, and she told him of the latest chit-chat of the social world. When the time was up she announced that she was through, and would seek another

IN THE REALMS OF SPORT

GAME WAS POSTPONED. Owing to the inclemency of the weather yesterday, the football game, scheduled for last night, between the Stars and Cadets, was postponed. The official referee, with the captains of the contesting teams, visited the grounds at 5.30 p.m., and decided on making the above decision. This game will now be deferred to the end of the fixtures.

C.L.B.C. SPORTS DAY. The C.L.B.C. Annual Sports Day, takes place at St. George's Field on Wednesday afternoon next (the whole holiday), commencing at 2.30 p.m. Great interest is now being centred in this attraction, particularly by the athletes of the various organizations, who have been training hard for the various races in competition for the Club Trophy. Competition in this respect promises to be very keen, and closely contested races in nearly every event is bound to follow. A fine collection of cups and medals for the various events are now on display in T. J. Dulcy and Company's window and have been greatly admired by the many people who happen to pass in that direction. Included in the display is a splendid silver cup for the 10 mile road race. It would be almost impossible to choose a better trophy for athletic competition of this kind, and it certainly is a great inducement for the bringing together of new blood to train for long distance running. A large number of entries have been received to date, and the success of the sports is already assured.

WEEKLY MEETING REGATTA COMMITTEE

A largely attended meeting of the Regatta Committee, was held last night in the T.A. Armoury with President Hiscock in the chair. After the minutes of previous meeting had been read and confirmed, notice of motion was given relating to the rule governing the Senior Football League. The new proposal reads that any player registered with a team and playing either of the first two games, be permitted to row for his team in this race. After a lengthy discussion had been held on the matter, several were of the opinion that the rule passed at last meeting was unworkable, and that the new rule would ensure that only the best footballers shall row in this race. The following Committees were then appointed: Bugle and Blackboard—N. J. Vintcombe, J. M. Tobin. Signalling—Councillor R. Dowden, Thomas Kearney. Fond Committee—Capt. E. English, F. W. Hayward. Dr. Roberts and City Engineer Ryan were added to the Committee. Particular mention was made of the valuable work performed by City Engineer Ryan during the past year, he having given much of his time in the drawing up of plans for the new road at the Lakeside, and the terracing of the North Bank. City Engineer Ryan was appointed in place of Councillor Ryan to undertake the work of allotting the tent space this year. The latter finds himself unable to attend to this work. Several suggestions were made regarding the Luncheon Committee, and were allowed to stand over until next meeting. Vice-President Higgins, speaking on this matter, pointed out that there was a possibility of the Parliamentary Committee from England visiting here this year, and being guests at the Regatta. It was for this reason that extra provision would have to be made. The collectors for the different Wards were then appointed as follows: WARD I.—J. P. Crotty and A. G. Williams. Section 2—Councillor Dowden, R. H. Simms. Section 3—J. W. Morris, E. W. Taylor. WARD II. K. Ruby, J. J. Lacey, P. Brown, H. C. Hayward, J. M. Tobin. WARD III. P. F. Moore, Captain English. WARD IV. C. E. Hunt, J. M. Spearna. WARD V. President Hiscock, Councillor Ryan. WARD VI. N. J. Vintcombe. WARD VII. Ern Chafe, E. A. Smith. WARD VIII. J. M. Tobin, A. H. Thomas. The next matter considered was the programme of races. A tentative programme was drawn up as follows: 1—Amateur 2—Tradesmen 3—Juveniles 4—Junior Football 5—Merchants 6—Intermediate Interval of one hour 7—Fishermen 8—Truckmen 9—Bankers 10—Factories 11—Laborers 12—Senior Football 13—Championship. At the next meeting a new rule governing the Intermediate Race will be proposed, viz., "All those rowing in this race be permitted to row in any other race on the programme if they so desire." The present rule does not permit them to row in any other race. The matter of having the buoys about 20 or 25 feet to the south, was dealt with at some length. At present the space between No. 1 buoy and the shore is very narrow, and it was felt that the removing of all buoys to the south would give all boats an equal chance of turning. A committee of three was appointed to call on His Excellency the Governor, and Lady Allardice, and request their patronage. The new rules governing the various races are now being prepared, and will be published in the papers in due course. After several minor matters had been disposed of the meeting adjourned at 11 o'clock until Friday evening next.

STRIKLINGS TO TOUR WESTERN STATES IN NEW MOTOR BUS. William Lawrence, known in the ring as "Young" Striblings, accompanied by his father, mother, and brother, and a press agent, are to tour across the country to California in their latest addition to the now famous family, the $10,000 motor bus. They will spend the summer in travel. The trip is designed to rest the boxing member of the family and let him gain the necessary weight to work in the heavyweight class next year. Young Striblings has hopes of meeting Dempsey or the man who may be able to take the crown away from Jack. Striblings-senior does not hesitate to tell the world that the journey is being made to make a little money from easy bouts and for publicity purposes. He wants the West to see his famous son.

CHARLOTTETOWN SCHOOL WON MARITIME HONORS

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. June 13.—The Maritime Interscholarship championships in field and track athletics of the Maritime Provinces were held here and proved a brilliant success. Favored with ideal weather and a capable list of officials with President A. C. Millie of the M.P.E. A.A.U. of C.A., here especially to assist, the meet proved all that could be expected and every event was filled with a competent group of athletes. One school record went by the boards when Ronald Matheson, of Sydney Academy, ran the 100 yards in ten and one-fifth seconds. Charlottetown athletes were very much in the foreground and West Kent School, Charlottetown, with 21 points, captured the school aggregate prize donated by A. W. Cooley while Fred Ranaahan of the same school captured the handsome individual aggregate cup given by President Millie. Moncton school came second with 20 points, Sydney Academy 19, New Glasgow 14, Antigonish 12, and Inverness 3.

CRICKET

LONDON, June 13—(C.P.)—Middlesex defeated Worcestershire by 191 runs in a county cricket championship match which concluded yesterday. In their first innings Middlesex made 437 runs for nine wickets and declared. In their second innings they batted 240 runs for seven wickets, after which they again declared. Worcestershire gathered 352 runs in their first innings and 184 in their second. Hendren, for Middlesex, scored 234 runs, while F. T. Mann, of the same team, made 71 and 57. H. O. Hopkins, Worcestershire, garnered 88 runs and W. A. Bell, also of Worcestershire, made 61 runs not out. Other county cricket matches which concluded yesterday resulted as follows: Yorkshire defeated Gloucestershire by ten wickets. Gloucestershire 137 and 229; Yorkshire 365 and four for no wickets. Holmes, Yorkshire, 78; Legland, Yorkshire, 131, not out. Sussex beat Hampshire by 126 runs. Sussex 250 and 179; Hampshire 124 and 184. Bowley, Sussex, 71; Mead, Hampshire, 78, not out. Derbyshire beat Essex by nine wickets. Essex 166 and 327; Derbyshire 427 and 70 for one wicket. Morton, Derbyshire, 181; Cutmore, Essex, 95. Kent beat Leicestershire by an innings and 74 runs. Leicestershire 250 and 174; Kent 498 for six wickets declared. King, Leicestershire, 91; Hardinge, Kent, 139; Ashdown, Kent, 108; Woolley, Kent, 97. Nottinghamshire defeated Cambridge by an innings and ten runs. Cambridge 205 and 130; Nottinghamshire 445. Payton, Nottinghamshire, 140, not out; Lilley, Nottinghamshire, 65; Bennett, 72, and Francis, 71. Add a spoonful of currant jelly to the mince sauce for lamb.
