Leblau, the widow of a doctor, living at Tilly-sur-Meuse, suddenly disappeared. She lived quite alone, and her absence was not noticed by the neighbors for some days. The door of the house was broken open, and all the rooms found in a state of the utmost disorder, the floor of the kitchen being covered with blood. The plate and various other articles of value had, however, not been touched, though several bank notes—a list of which was afterwards discovered in a drawer—had been removed from the desk in which the money was kept. It was soon ascertained that two of these securities were in the possession of a peasant named Anhertin, who resided in the neighborhood and was known to be deeply in debt.

When Aubertin was arrested he denied that he had had any hand in the crime, but it shortly transpired that on the very day when the murder was committed he had bought a couple of pork chops from a local dealer, and there on the dining-room table lay the tell-tale debris. Aubertin, in fact, had known beforehand that his sinister task would occupy several hours, inasmuch as he had determined to cut the body into small pieces, which could easily be disposed of without fear of detection. Accordingly he had bought the chops to refresh himself with, and this circumstance led to his conviction. A few days before the trial some of the fragments of flesh were found near a pier of one of the river bridges, and several pieces of the body have been found from time to timesince. Autertin was condemned to hard labor for life. which time Mme. Leblau, the widow of a

'That in order to extend the exchange and consumption of the home staple products in every part of the British Empire, a slight differential duty not exceeding 5 COMMERCIAL EDUCATION, INCLUDING THE Chambers of Commerce possessed of information as to the interests involved."

chester, Barnsley, Sheffield, and other points, argued most strongly in favor of protecting to a reasonable extent the industries of their different sections in Great Britain.

It was pointed out by the President that Parliament does not legislate for any particular class of trade or manufacture, but for the greatest number to be benefited thereby; but the protectionists argued that their industries and the housands of men, women, and children employed in them, were constantly being forced out by unrestricted imports from foreign countries, that close their markets by prohibitive duties to British manufactures.

In the result, upon a vote by Chambers, in the most type and the content of the Colonist and means of meeting forcign competition unfortunate accident and subsequent ill-noises prevented his attendance. I took occasion to mention this after his decease, and on referring to the participation to mention this after his decease, and on referring to the participation to mention this after his decease, and on referring to the participation to mention this Congress to the mention this after his decease, and on referring to the participation to mention this after his decease, and on referring to the participation to mention this after his decease, and on referring to the participation to mention this Congress to the mention the most possible steps to secure the adoption in their respective bearing to the deepest sympathy felt by the Congress to the deepest sympathy felt by the Congress to convey to our respective Boards the deepest sympathy felt by the Congress to convey to our respective Boards the deepest sympathy felt by the Congress at the untimely loss of Mr. Robson.

I will only add that the London Chamber is the most thorough and hearty manner. It is organisations have been most skillfully being forced out by some of the most prominent men of the day, men having the interests of Great Britain's the most prominent men of the day, men having the interests of Great Britain's the most prominent men of the da most prominent men of the day, men having the interests of Great Britain's "That these recommendations be for-warded by the London Chamber of Com-working with a sincere desire to maintain and extend that greatness, and moreover to strengthen the Unity of the Empire

When the Provincial Health Officer other course except that pursued the other gives directions as to what is to be done day by Lord Salisbury, is looked upon as a in a given case he takes the responsibility off the shoulders of the Council. All with wonder to see a nation so loyal to it has then to do is carefully to carry out his precedent and so faithfully and so strictly directions, and if harm comes of submitting to his guidance the blame is his, and not theirs. In the instance under consideration, if the smallpox spreads from the A Columbian Hotel, which it is more than likely to do, the City Council will be held responsible for the result, whereas, if they obeyed the doctor's orders no one could justly charge them with having done wrong, no matter what may happen. This con-sideration alone, one would think would, authorities heartily to co-operate with the Provincial Health Officer. But it seems that in both places his interference is resented by the very men who receive the most benefit from that interference.

A PROJECTED RAIDROAD.

The latest big enterprise talked about in Eastern Canada is the Labrador Railway. The projectors of this road expect by its means to lessen the sea voyage to Europe by one-half. THE MAYOR'S MEETING.

It was very evident in the course of the edings of last night's meeting, that it not convened so much to discuss the by-laws to be submitted to the ratepayers on Monday, as to give the Mayor an oppor tunity of making a political speech. It is only fair to that gentleman to say that he made the most of his opportunity. But we are much mistaken if Mr. Beaven's apology for the course he has taken with respect to the smallpox visitation will be satisfactory to the citizens of Victoria. They all know that he failed, and failed most signally, in the few feeble attempts he did make, to deal with the outbreak. It is the easiest thing in the world for a man who has any ingenuity and the gift of the gab, to show that if certain things had not happened, and if other people had not done what they did, things would have turned out very differently. This is the of happiness" in the Constitution of the kind of defense that the Mayor sets up. Ordinary people only know what has taken place and only judge from the way in which a man has acted, how he would have acted had the circumstances been different. Mayor Beaven had his chance to deal with the smallpox. The visitation did not come upon him suddenly. The disease was in this city and in Vancouver for many in this city and in Vancouver for many weeks before the outbreak in the early days of July. But that outbreak found him wholly unprepared. When the cases were hourly increasing in the city, when the yellow flag was seen on many streets, the Mayor was helpless. He did nothing to stop the ravages of the plague, and it was evident that he could do nothing. The city was in a great state of alarm and even the Mayor's best friends found it necessary to "prod" him into action. Is it to be expected that if the Mayor and those under him were left to their own devices any of 1890 did not assemble until December of 1891. Meantime the House, whose policy is any of the Populic of the United States be the course of the proceedings. In 1890 the republican party, holding the ascendancy in all branches of the government, was overwhelmingly beaten at the biennial congressional elections. The congressional majority against what we may call the government was approximately 1,000,000 votes. Under the British system it would have instantly followed that not only would the political complexion of the legislature be changed, but there would also be change of the executive. But under our system of fixed tenure for members of congress in both houses and for the chief magistrate what resulted? The house chosen in November of 1890 did not assemble until December of 1891. Meantime the House, whose policy feel pleased to be saved the responsibility sworn obedience, is that in the present state wholly unprepared. At any rate the people were not disposed to wait to see the result of the Mayor's inacion or very feeble action.

They were relieved when the Governme nterfered. They approved of the measure that were taken, and they soon saw that the course then begun must result—as it has lone—in freeing the city of the smallpox.

It is thus seen that while the British system of popular government is flexible, the American system of popular government is rigid. While at a single election it is possible for a majority of British electors to bring about a policy which they may approve, and to compass that end change not only the House of Commons but also the executive officers, it is impossible for the electors in the United States to have their will instantly effected. mous on the Vote for the Public Library.

When 8 o'clock struck last evening there was little more than a " corporal's guard" in attendance at the City Hall, where the bylaws to raise money for various purpose were to be discussed. A few minutes aftervards, however, the crowd started to come in, and before half-past 8 the Council Chamber was full or nearly so.

Mayor Beaven was around promptly nough. So were several of the aldermen, but the meeting was nevertheless some 20 minutes late in getting down to business.

Then Mr. Simeon Duck was called upon take the chair, which he afterwards filled to take the chair, which he afterwards filled most acceptably. At the outset he explained that he had only come to the meeting to hear the by-laws discussed, and was not in a position to make any remarks. He suggested the Mayor as the first speaker. Mayor Beaven was received with applause. He said he looked upon the board of aldermen as the directors of a joint stock company, of which the ratepayers were the stockholders. There was only one of the by-laws which he could claim to be the father of. The others, he of course know. father of. The others, he of course, knew of in his capacity of mayor and presiding officer. However, the first by-law he would deal with would be that which proposed to raise money for the extension of the sewerage system. The $300,000 which was previously voted by the ratepayers, was, he explained, all expended and it would be necessary to have more funds or else the work now done would be to all intents and purposes useless. His own idea had been urposes useless. His own idea had been hat the sewerage should be done on the loca improvement system, and now if the citizens voted for the additional loan, he would favor the idea of making the property improved contribute by taxes the annual amount of the sinking fund and interest. He explained that the proposed loan would be for 50 years at 4 per cent., and the interest for 50 years at 4 per cent., and the interes and sinking fund would not be a heavy ter upon the property, which would be greatly benefitted. It would be, he thought, OBVIOUSLY UNFAIR that property outside the area sewered should have to contribute for this improve ment, and he held out the promise be passed, so arranging the It would not take more than matter. It would not take more than perhaps $150,000 to complete the system at present adopted, but what use would the sewer be in the centre of the street without connections, which he thought should be made with judgment and discretion. The work of making the connections should be done as the work progressed and after this was done the streets could be repaired and improved.

America. It shows, by the title given to the article, "The British Republic," that it has been forced to come to this conclusion. It is evident that the Americans are not so well satisfied with their Constitution as they used to be. They are beginning to see that there can be tyranny and contravention of the people's will under a republican form of Government, while men living under monarchical institutions enjoy the greatest freedom, and have their wishes deferred to and carried into effect without as much as a word of remonstrance from the sovereign.

THE SIMPLE TRUTH.

The Times, with more than the usual accompaniment of bad language, denies that, on the 8th of last month, it appeared to be paralyzed, and did not say a word about $10,000 to pay off the smallpox expenses of the Jubilee Hospital and of the corposation made by the city to purchase the Jubilee Hospital and of the Ross Bay station were only about $15,000 for one and $7,500 for the other, amounting in all to $22,500.

The other expenses were those of the Albert Head statio and general expenses of the Corporation, and would not in all probability exceed some $10,000 or $15,000.

Where then was the rest of the money to be spent? The citizens were not stingy about voting money when it was needed, but they should have the management of all their institutions alone and undivided, and then only it is situations alone and undivided, and then the semistivations are the fire Department and the Police force. He thought it was a manufact. If that charge against him meant that he had issued stringent regulations to wipe the force. He thought it was an autocrat. If that charge against him meant that when working meant that mproved.

The next by-law in magnitude was one injunctions, etc., which had beset the Council in their work, and protested vehemently that the aldermen were not to blame for the spread of the disease. The idea of using a portion of the Jubilee Hospital grounds had been suggested at the meeting of medical men held at Hon. Mr. Davie's private office, and later on in the same day President Davies had made a proposition, which had been concurred in by Dr. Davie and agreed to by the city. This settled the whole business, and there was no great which the beat have been the concerns to the concerns of the injunctions, etc., which had beset the Council in their work, and protested vehewhich had been concurred in by Dr. Davie and agreed to by the city. This settled (Applause.)

Mayor Beaven was accorded permission to make a reply. He started out with the having suppressed the smallpox, for, when the buildings were provided and the money was provided, there was not very much more to be done. He thoroughly endorsed Dr. Milne in his management of the small-pox cases, and censured the Government for what he termed its interference. He for what he termed its interference. He blamed the Government for the quarantine which had been declared against Victoria.

man, but if the Attorney General wanted to discuss any questions of law or anything of that kind, why he would be only too glad to accommodate him. (Applause.)

Ald. McKillican, in response to repeated calls, took the platform to explain the electric light by-law, which, he said, had been ably set forth in an article in Thursday morning's Colonist. He sincerely hoped the money required would be voted in order that a new plant could be put in and that the city should be properly and adequately sufficient control of the management. As that a new plant could be put in and that the city should be properly and adequately lighted. (Applause.)

Hon. Theodore Davie was called for, and when he responded was received with applause. He said he had not come on the platform, as the Mayor had suggested, to discuss legal questions, but rather to state a few facts which he proposed to prove to the satisfaction of the meeting, and which would show that certain statements made by the Mayor were incorrect. For instance, the Mayor had said that if it had not been for the injunction the Jubilee hospital grounds would not have been used for a why the Mayor had called this rubblish and the proposed to prove the Mayor were incorrect. For instance, the Mayor had said that if it had not been grounds would not have been used for a why the Mayor had called this rubblish and the proposed to prove the Mayor had said that if it had not been grounds would not have been used for a why the Mayor had called this rubblish and the proposed to prove to the satisfaction of the meeting, and which would show that certain statements made by the Mayor had said that if it had not been grounds would not have to his hagging with Mr. Hayward about the price of the building to be erected on the plution of the building to be erected on the public public the price of the building to be erected on the public her price of the building to be erected on the public was being put up, how many feet of lumber it would contain, (laughter) just so that he could have it in his mind (laughter) and not with the intention of restricting the work in any way (renewed laughter).

Ald. Baker, before speaking to the Sewers why the Mayor had called this rubblish the price of the building to be erected on the price of the building to be erected on the price of the building to be erected on the price of the building to be erected on the price of the building to be erected on the price of the building to be erected on the price of the building to be erected on the price of the building to be erected on the pric for the injunction the Jubilee hospital grounds would not have been used for a smallpox hospital. This was contrary to ing, except that he had had a "boil or large by law, said he could not understand why the Mayor had called this public meeting, except that he had had a "boil or large by law, said he could not understand why the Mayor had called this public meeting. smallpox hospital. This was contrary to the facts. At a meeting, called by himself (Mr. Davie) on July 9, of the medical men law and the Electric Lighting by-lay, and a the Electric Lighting by-lay, and the Electric Lighting by-lay and the Electric the city, a resolution was passed as follows :

Moved by Hon Theodore Davie, seconded by Dr. Powell: That in the opinion of this meeting the infectious ward of Jubilee hospital should be opened for the treatment of smallpox patients, until the city's smallpox hospital is ready; the city suppying medical attention, nurses and all necessaries, and being responsible to the Board of Directors, ect.

* and that the directors be requested to comply with the regulations.

This was before the injunction was applied for an example of the theorem.

This was before the injunction was applied for or granted. It (the injunction) was issued in the afternoon some hours after the meeting of medical men. But on discussing the matter with Dr. Richardson, the resident physician, and others, it was decided by the directors and medical officers of the Jubilee Hospital that the infectious disease ward would not be a suitable place to place smallpox patients. Then the scheme for using the grounds where the quarantine hospital is at present was devised by the hospital medical men and Mr. Davies the president, and a meeting washeld that Saturday afternoon at which there were present, Mayor Beaven, Dr. Milne, Dr. Davie, Supt. Hussey, Mr. Joshua Davies, Mr. W. J. Taylor, city barrister, and himself (Mr. Davie) The scheme was laid before Mayor Beaven, who for over an hour combatted it, and it vised by the hospital medical men and Mr.
Davies the president, and a meeting washeld that Saturday afternoon at which there were present, Mayor Beaven, Dr. Milne, Dr. Davie, Supt. Hussey, Mr. Joshus Davies, Mr. W. J. Taylor, city barrister, and himself (Mr. Davie) The scheme was laid before Mayor Beaven, who for over an hour combatted it, and it was only by dint of hard persuasion, and almost bullying on the part of some who were present, that the Mayor finally consented to take hold and then he entered into the agreement with Mr. Joshus Davies, President of the Hospital, who at once gave directions to Mr. Chas. Hayward to go on with the work. As he (Mr. Davie) was inwith the work. As he (Mr. Davie) was informed, the Mayor had afterwards repented of his bargain and went to Mr. Hayward and haggled with him about the price of lumber and how much should be used in the building (laughter and applause). About the regulations which Mayor Beaven had declared were unnecessary, all he had to say was to quote from the Times, Mayor Beaven's own organ, which, when the regulations were issued, said: "The sensible regulations issued by the Gov-rnment will soon cause smallpox to be a thing ernment will soon cause smallpox to be a thing of the past."

And now these same regulations were declared useless and unnecessary! When they were issued there were 42 cases of clared useless and unnecessary! When they were issued there were 42 cases of smallpox in the city, now there were none, and had been none for over 16 days—this, too, due to the wise enforcement of the very regulations the mayor now was so loud in condemning. But of these matters enough. Mayor Beaven had, without any possible excuse, introduced this political discussion, which he (Mr. Davie) regretted, as the meeting was not called to discuss politics or to discuss what had been done by the city or by the Govornment, but rather to discuss certain by-laws put forward for the purpose of raising money. There were only two of these by-laws he proposed to discuss. One of them was to raise $75,000 to pay off the smallpox expenses of the Jubilee Hospital and of the Ross Bay station were only about $15,000 for one and $7,500 for the other, amounting in all to $22,500.

The other expenses were those of the Albert Head static and general expenses of the Corporation, and would not in all probability exceed some $10,000 or $15,000. Where then was the rest of the money to be spent? The citizens were not stingy about voting money when it was needed, but they the was talking about, and just wanted to put the sheriff in charge of the property of the citizens (tremendous applause.) He de-fied the Premier to contradict the statement. The corporation had concluded to pay the $1200 which the Government had already advanced, and so save the city from the Hon. Mr. Davie replied, showing that the Great Increase in the Fire Waste.

The total fire loss in the Pacific Coast States and Territories from January 1 to July 31, 1892, was $3,089,690, as compared with $1,934,522 in the same period of last year, an increase of over 50 per cent. These figures include losses in Washington, Oregon, ny California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Colarado, Arizona, New Mexico and British Columbia.

Mrs. McLellan's Functas.

"Trembling, hoping, lingering, flying, O! the pain, the bias of dying!"

Since the death of the lady who will, this afternoon, be interred in Ross Bay commetery, the above lines have, by more than one, been applied to her, and to the protracted and painful affliction which resulted in her death. In her case were combined the elements which must have served to inspire the author, and none who knew Mrs. McLellan can feel other than that the such was the case. The funeral takes place from the residence, on the Gorge Road, at half-past 2, and is sure to be attended by a large number of sympathising friends, and, it may well be said, admirers. Indeed, none knew her but to love her for her kindly Christian qualities.

a disappointment; yet it should not be overlooked that present low prices for wheat, corn and cotton are all due to the over-production of last year. A smaller yield of these staples this year, provided quality proves fair, is really the most fortunate circumstance that could happen. There is no prospect, whatever of a shortage of cotton, corn or wheat. There will be surplus enough of each left over to meet all possible deficiencies of the coming season. Had we experienced another year of such abundance as last year, there is no telling at what prices the chief farm staples would have dropped to.

"The immediate course of the market is uncertain. In view of present low prices and the confidence with which stocks are held by big capitalists, there would seem to be room for an advance, particularly as all the unfavorable influences now visible are either diminishing in intensity or have been amply discounted. As the public are not in the market, any real activity or advance would have to be insugurated by some of the big leaders who have not yet manifested any disposition of this sort. One or two attempts were made in the Industrials and a few special stocks; but their success has not yet tempted any imitators. Possibly, the fact that there is an outstanding short interest of some consequence discourages operations on the bull side; though in case the fact that there is an outstanding short interest of some consequence discourages operations on the bull side; thought in case of a genuine bull market this would be an element of strength. In the meantime the spacious dining-room downstairs had been filled by the male members of the party, who were likewise lightly lunched, members of the reception committee also being present. When ample justice had been done the repast, Dr. Mitten, of Seattle, called upon Mayor Ronald to propose a toast to "Victoria, the Queen City of the West, and the capital of British Columbia." This His Worship did in most appropriate language. Amidat prolonged applause he extended a cordial greeting on behalf of Seattle to her sister city of Victoria, and dexpressed his thanks for the warm and generous reception. He said that between the Canadians and the Americans, while they Right royally were the Seattle excursi ists welcomed here yesterday. And it was a true British welcome, too,-a greeting that touched the hearts of everyone, and demonstrated the common brotherhood of the Anglo-Saxon speaking races.

When the Seattle Chamber of Cou members hit upon the happy idea of paying a visit to Victoria they little thought that their kindly and thoughtful action would be productive of such an immediate and spontaneous response. They reckoned without their host, for when the news that the right hand of fellowship had been extended was received here there was an immediate feeling that the grasp should be made hearty, ing that the grasp should be made hearty,

Hon. Theodore Davie, premier and attorney-general, regretted that, in the unexpected absence of the Mayor, the duly of responding for the city of Victoria had devolved upon him. He was overcome by his feelings at the generous warmth of the heart from which had come such noble sentiments as had been uttered by the previous speaker. (Applause.) He would say that he appreciated most deeply the noble sentiments, more especially as at this time, when Victoria was just rising from depression and grief, and, he might almost say, financial straits, a helping hand had been so generously extended. (Applause.) This might not have been the first time there had been such an occurrence, but it was certainly the first time, during his residence in the province, that the good-will of the chief city on the Sound had been expressed in such a marked way. One of the brightest women whom I know recently deplored in print the lack of a "sense of humor" in women. She Nanamo and release of New Westminster, took place promptly on time. A good start twas made a little after 7 o'clock, both pulling well together, McLean taking the lead after turning the buoy, and keeping it to the finish, coming out winner by about 75 men. While I admit that men laugh nopoly of men-notably of newspaper men. While I admit that men laugh and joke more than women do as a class, I do not believe that they have more natural wit or a quicker sense of the ludicrous. The seriousness and gravity of most women are primarily the result of early snubbing; secondarily, of the lonely lives which most of them live after marriage.

As to the first cause: I wonder if there is a girl in the world with the least sense of fun, the least love of rational laughter and merriment, who does not con-tinually hear "What a rattlebrain! Is anything sacred from your funmaking? or, "How can you find so much to laugh at? You laugh just like a boy!" or, "I do believe you'd see something funny in a funeral!" or, worst of all, "Those who laugh while they are young must cry when they are old!"

I never noticed any unusual gravity in girl babies, or that they gurgle and laugh less than boys. Indeed the two very merriest, jolliest, most rollicking babies I ever knew were girls. But quite possibly they grew up to be two of the "slow" wives whom their hus-bands find so dull company. The confined and restrained lives which are laid out for most girls are of themselves saddening. An occasional walk, ball or party, in all of which there is more or less restraint, does not have the inspiriting, enlivening effect of the everyday freedom which the boy enjoys. If a girl is born in a poor family her to the health of the citizens, or be removed to Deadman's Island.

What about the leper girl. No one seems to know. Dr. McGuigan states most emphatically that he did not make a second examination. She evidently returned to the city by way of the Westminster tram. She is said to be on Dupont street. Several city fathers were spoken to, but they profess ignorance. In fact no one seems to be bothering about the fact that a leper is resident here.

It is probable that the survey will connect with this point from the Melson terminus of the Beaver.

The effect upon Nelson of the news that things had become so definite was electrical. Mr. Roberts, chief engineer of the Spokane & Northern, came to this town yesterday, accompanied by Mr. Taber, C. E., who will have charge of a party of engineers locating the line of the road from Nelson to the southward.

Mr. Brown has another party that is running the line from the boundary in this direction. It is t

A REMINDER.

When Edmund Burke was preparing the indictment against Warren Hastings, he was told that a person who had long resided in India, but was now an inmate of Bedlam, could probably give him some useful information. He went to Bedlam, accordingly, and the maniac gave him, in a long, rational, and well-conducted conversation, the results of long and various experience of Indian affairs. On leaving the cell, Burke told the keeper in attendance that the poor man was as much in his senses as he. The keeper answered "Sir, please step back to the poor gentleman's cell and ask him what he had for breakfast." Burke could not refuse.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 18 .- A stormy meeting of the guarantors of Whetham College took place, last night. Several of them disregarded "their promise to pay," alleging that the conditions on which money was to be handed over have not money was to be handed over have not been carried out. There was some pretty tall talking done, but white winged peace finally settled down on the meeting, and a resolution was passed that as the college was a great benefit to the city, an effort be made to get more pupils and make the institute self-supporting, if possible.

matter will be settled in a few days. It is likely, however, that several of the canneries will pack cohoes, as will others outside of the syndicate. The total pack on the river up to date, it is learned on reliable authority, is not more than 40,000 cases. The Fisheries department has extended the open season for small mesh fishing to September 1, and it is believed the season will be further extended to September 15, in order to allow packers to make the most of the late run, should one come along.

A complete renovation is being made on the road at Miller's crossing. Men are now employed opening up new parts, building bridges and repairing the road generally.

One after another complaints of petty pilfering have come in, and among these reports are at least two which show a determination to attempt the more angerous occupation of house-breaking.

The cases referred to are the complaint of a drayman employed at 25 Cormorant street, where he had left a trunk filled with valuable clothing, thinking that they would be safer there than at the place where he was stopping. Night before last the office was entered by some person or persons unknown, and the trunk stolen. As yet no clue has been discovered which would tend to throw any light on the robbery.

OF THE DISTRICT OF CARIBO

GENTLEMEN. - Owing to the unexpected and lamented death of the Honorable John Robson, a vacancy has occurred in the Legislative Assembly of this Province, and also in the representation of our district, and you are about to be called upon to elect his successor.

Although not a practical miner, I am not alto gether without some knowledge of the requirements of that industry, knowing that it is to the miner that the farmer of this district looks for his best market; consequently, if elected, I shall work in full harmony with my colleagues—who more immediately represent, and are more conversant with mining requirements—with a view to the more rapid development of the great mineral wealth, known to exist in the district. I shall therefore, give my best attention to the construction of railways through the mineral portions of the Province generally, and this district in particular, being convinced that it is world, that we may hope to speedily achieve the full development of the resources of the this season, it need not trouble us much. This difficulty in the shape it has assumed is happily not going to lead to reprisals.

The Empire says the Canadian Government has gone as far with concessions as the state of public opinion in the country would warrant.

There can be no longer the slightest reason to doubt that President Harrison is moved wholly in the canal dispute by a desire to make election capital. Practically our Government came to his terms a week sec. We agreed to waive the whole of our contention, which was right from every point of view, and admit the Monre dottine so far as the privileges of the bully goes, but we asked that the flow of commerce be not disturbed during the rest of the present season. This delay would mean very little to the American shipping trade, but it would entirely toll the transparent purpose of the Harrison campaign committee to get up a display of jingo fireworks before the 8th of October. Hence the campaign committee puts retailation in force.

Washingron, Aug. 22.—The chief labor of enforcing the President's proclamation of retailation, should it go into effect of the lat of September next, will fall upon E. B. Howard, the collector of customs at Maryencies, of iron ore, there were 4,404,000 tons, and

LABOUCHERE'S REJECTION.

He and the Radicals Terribly Annoyed Over the Incident—Reflections on the Matter.

The Empire says the Canadian Government has gone as far with concessions as the state of public opinion in the country would warrant.

"We doubt whether public opinion would approve further concessions in this matter, in order to secure an amicable agreement with the country which seems to have as little regard for international comity as for solemn treaty arrangements. There will be a tendency to think that the Government might, in a dignified manner, hold to the course they have an nounced, even if they have for the balance of the season to make some arrangements to reimburse the Canadian shippers who have entered into contracts which this retaliation will disarrange, rather than yield to the suggestion now made."

The Globe says: "The attempt to strike this blow at Canadian commerce is warranted neither by the present attitude of our ministers nor by the whole course of international dealing with reference to canals and waterways. Canada's expenditure under this head is vastly greater than that of the States. She has borne more than her tair share of the cost of completing our system of navigation from the Northmest to the Atlantic. With the single exception of the rebate, if it be an exception, she has thrown her canals and canadians upon equal terms, while her shippers have enjoyed no benefit whatever from the Americans State canals. It is followed to the Americans State canals. It is followed to the sure of the cost of this threat would be too great a sacrifice of dignity and self respect."

Coinage in India.

London, Aug. 23 .- The Times declares that the closing of the Indian mints against the coinage of silver would be a dangerous expedient, as inducing a considerable differnce between the value of coined and unence between the value of coined and uncoined metal, thus stimulating unlicensed private coinage, and that the artificial value given the rupee would deprive India of a monetary standard of any kind. The Times says that India's trouble is no concern of England's, except on the ground of sympathy. The Times agrees wich Sir David Barbour, of the India Council, that a common standard of value for England and India is absolutely essential, and adds: "The adoption of a gold standard in India would be the best possible remedy, but it would raise difficulties. For example, what is to be done with silver coinage now in private hands?"

While the men have returned to work, and to all appearances are satisfied, there is great bitterness of feeling, and a movement is on foot to do away with the board entirely. It is said by a man high in the councils of the local labor unions that within three months the board of walking delegates will have ceased to exist. The men have certainly lost confidence in their leaders. The action of Edward McLaughlin during the strike in trying to force builders to buy materials from him has caused much discontent, and open charges of malfeasance have been made.

"MR. BLAKE."

The London Graphic's Complimentary Tribute

"The members of the Eighty Club dis-played a true perception of the fitness of things when they invited Mr. Blake to address them as their guest. It is quite possible that his accession to the Home played a true perception of the Ithess things when they invited Mr. Blake to address them as their guest. It is quite possible that his accession to the Home Rule party may prove to have been one of the most important incidents of the general election. Mr. Blake has for many years been one of the foremost of Canadian Statesmen. His high sense of honor as a public man is recognized by all parties in the Dominion, and that he is a thoroughly loyal citizen of the empire he proved by withdrawing into private life, when the policy of the Canadian Liberals seemed to him to endanger the connection of the colony with Great Britain. Home Rulers have good reason to congratulate themselves on having secured the services of so strong a champton. His presence among the Nationalizes will give them, as a party, a dignity in which they have hitherto been sadly lacking, and if they are wise enough to chose him as their leader, they will have little reason to look back with regret, even on what seemed to them the great days of Mr. Parnell's career. Mr. Blake would, undoubtedly, lead them firmly and sagaciously, and Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain would have to admit they had an opponent capable of the Home Rule party in obtaining Mr. Blake's support. The victory desired by true Unionists is a victory of reason, and their triumph—if they do ultimately triumph—will be all the more striking, if the cause they are resisting is presented in a way they can respect. Mr. Blake will, under any circumstances, do his best to meet their arguments and to offer arguments of his own, which they, in turn, will have to answer.

being offered free and the balance ranging in price from $5,000 to $25,000. The two free sites were five acres at Mount Tolmie, and five to ton acres at Cadboro Bay. The committee after considering the matter from all points of view decided to recommend the purchase of lot No. 28, Hillside avenue. This block which fronts on Hillside avenue, with Cook street at one side and Kings road at the back, contains about 12.2-5 acres. The price is $12,500. The site is an excellent one, offering peculiar advantages for draining, etc. It is high and dry and in a good locality, within easy reach of the Douglas street tram cars. After hearing the report of the committee, the Board decided by a unanimous vote to act upon the recommendation made and purchase the land. They afterwards passed a vote of thanks to the committee for the time and labor expended in going so fully into the question of a site.

It was afterwards decided by resolution that the Ladies' Committee should report on the accommodation required in the new building proposed to be erected. They will take the matter into their consideration and report at a future meeting of the Board. Applications were received for the admission to the Home of four destitute children. These were referred to the reception committee with power to act. After transacting routine business, the Board adjourned.

He did not give much of his experiment from the pulpit, but it is hoped that trangements will be made for him to give lecture before his departure from this city, which he will speak of "Earlier Experi-

The Old Paster.

The Old Paster.

The congregation of the Calvary Baptist church had, on Sunday, the pleasure of listening to their old pastor, Rev. M. L. Rugg, who gave them some homely hits and advice. The rev. gentleman seemed to warm to his subject in the presence of old friends, and indulged in some very straight alk. He told his audience of his experince as a minister of the gospel, and, while warning them of the broad road, complimented them upon their energy and zeal. The preacher regretted that his stay in Victoria was necessarily so short, and hoped that at an early date he would be able to my another visit.

Life at the Lazarette.

Sanitary officer Bailey gives some interresting information regarding Saturday's visit to the lepers at Darcy Island. There are now on the island six patients, one of whom is liable to die st any moment from consumption. The others are in fairly good condition with perhaps the exception of the Vancouver patient. Each one has a house and a stove and is as comfortable as could be expected. They have a fine kitchen garden of some one and a half acres, and the vegetables of all kinds are proving of extra quality. The house being erected for the patient who skipped out before the steamer went over, was almost completed and left in such a shape that those on the island can finish it easily as everything is cut to the proper length. The lepers were out of meat but had plenty of rice, flour, tes, vegetables, etc. Some fresh beef was taken out in addition to the bacon, to make up for the delay in getting the meat supply out to them. Mayor Beaven, who had had a hard day's work at the Court of Revision, was seen by a COLONIST reporter shortly after the result of the polling had been announced. He did not conceal the disappointment he felt over the result. He was philosophical, however, and said:

"Well, I suppose the people know best. It is their money, and they have a perfect right to do as they like with it."

Several members of the Board of Aldermen were likewise disappointed, but they did not say much. The general expression of opinion was regret at the defeat of the library, the sewerage and the electric light by-laws, but pleasure that health and hospital by-laws did not carry.

THE RING.

The great fight between Jim Hall of Chicago and Ted Prichard, middle, weight champion of England, did come off Saturday morning and Hall did win, in four reduction was managed with the greatest possible secrecy, only 30 or 40 being present.

Hall, the winner, now champion middle weight of England, was born at Sydney, New South Wales, July 22, 1868. He stands 6 feet 2 inches, and is a resident of Chicago. Little was known of him until he came to this country, soon after Fitzsim mone to fight for the championship of the world, and disputed Bob's claim to the championship of Australia, declaring he had beaten him. The San Francisco sports put Aleck Greggains against Hall to see what he could do, and the Australian made a monkey of him. Then be went on a four of the United States, visiting Victoria among other places. He was matched to fight Bob Fitzsin mons at St. Paul, for a $10,000 purse, but the promoters of the Sight, Coresceing loss, instigated Governor Merrian to forbid the fight. In his boyned Hall served an apprenticeship as a plasterer, but at the age of 18 became a processional puglist, Billy McCarthy having been his instructor. Below is his record:

This was because of a shortage of space—not from any want of appreciation of the importance of the subject—and a full and official account of the combat, received at the Colonist office from our special war correspondence on Saturday night is now presented:

ADVANCING.

There seems to be no doubt that the holera has gained a footing in Germany. This has given cause of alarm not only the whole of Western Europe, but to possible to prevent contagious or infectious disease that rages in one region extending to the other. Canada and the United States, therefore, cannot begin too soon and but that will not be sufficient. The sanitary condition of United States and Canadian cities must be closely enquired into, and where it is required the means should be used to give them a thorough cleansing. It must not be for a moment forgotten that DIRT, in all its shapes and forms, conduces to the growth and adds to the virulence of the cholera. In a clean city the cholera, if it comes, is mild, and can with comparative ease be got under control. On the contrary, where filth abounds the disease spreads rapidly and assumes its most deadly form. The way, therefore, to prepare for a visitation of the disease is plain. Let a general crusade be made against dirt, seen and unseen. The cleaner a town is made the safer it is. if the cholera should unfortunately visit it, and the healthier it is and the pleasanter it is to live in if the plague should keep away.

It is irriplicitly believed in by those who understand its principles and by those who do not—by far the greater number. To propose a departure in the slightest degree from the policy of free trade in Great Britain, is to raise against the proposer a perfect storm of denunciation and derision. The intelligent free traders condemn the proposition argumentatively and in courteous language, but the unintelligent free traders denounce it in much stronger terms, with an accompaniment of ridicule and vilification which shows that they depend more upon general and unreasoning consent for the maintenance of their cause than upon intelligent understanding and sound argumentations and seawer and they ware known as Tories in the Revolution and they was to those foreign corporations due to the fairly can be kept cool and creating the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool and creating the content of the dairy can be kept cool ment.

But Sir Charles Tupper has gone on man fally advocating what he believes a wise policy regardless of opposition from great and small. He loses no opportunity of recommending it to the consideration of the British people, and he uses every means available of giving publicity to his views. He has written several articles for the English Reviews, among others a short one for the August number of the Fortnightly. In sults. If there were fifty millions of peo this paper he reviews the progress made in ple on this side of the national boundary advocating the question of preferential line, instead of five, blusterers like the Su tariffs, answers a number of objections, and restates some of the arguments which he used in discussing the subject before the stand Canadians. He evidently thinks second Congress of the Chambers of Com- that if the Americans only threaten loud merce of the Empire. When considering the attitude in matters of trade taken by Britain, Sir Charles Tupper says:

"No people on the face of the globe try more than the United States when they see that country adopt a wise, judicious, independent policy, in its own interests. Have your efforts at conciliation, your efforts to induce the United States to treat this country reasonably, met with such favor that you are afraid to make any alternative. What is the fact, In 1800. such favor that you are afraid to make any alternative. What is the fact? In 1890 England took from the United States £97,-000,000 sterling worth of their products without the imposition of a farthing duty. She received everything they had to send, let it be in competition with whom it might, And how much did they take in return? £32,000,000, or not one third of what they sent into the country, and they required to And how much the girl with a well-filled graces in an evening.

Sent into the country, and they required to be paid the value in cash because they would not make an exchange. But were the Americans satisfied with this? Did they think that a balance in their favor of of two-thirds on the interchange between the two countries was sufficient? Not at all. They sat down and constructed the McKinley tariff to see how much they could reduce the £32,000,000, and by one stroke of the pen they knocked off, by that tariff, 10 per cent of the £32,000,000. Jadging from that, they do not appear to be disposed to show any material appreciation of the treatment they have received from this country. But what more did they do? Like a great octopus they threw their tentagles over South America, the Antilles, and the West Indian Islands, with the intention of driving the programme traverses in an evening. Twenty dances in an evening.

Like a great octopus they threw their tentacles over South America, the Antilles, and the West Indian Islands, with the intention of driving out British trade. And they are going to do it. Read the language of the British consul in Brazil. What does he say? He tells the people of Great Britain: 'You MRS. ALICE HOPKINS, Hamilton, Ont.

must make up your mind to lose the British trade in Brazil, because the United States has absorbed it under the reciprocity clause of the McKinley bill."

The unfriendly manner in which the United States treats its very best customer, has for some time been a matter of surprise to thinking men everywhere. Great Britain takes from the United States more of its products that all other nations put tothe whole of Western Europe, but to America as well. From Hamburg to London and the great seaports of Great Britain may be said to be but a step, and the intercourse between Western Europe and America is so intimate that it is next to im-America is so intimate that it is next to im-

After repeating what has been too carefully to take those precautions that said in favor of it by eminent and influentia are necessary to prevent the cholera from men at home and in the colonies, he says:

being brought to their cities, and to make it as little harmful as possible if it does come.

No one need feel in the least surprised if, in two or three weeks from now, cases of cholera are discovered in New York or Boston, or Halifax or Montreal. A rigid quarantine, no doubt, will be established all along the Atlantic seaboard, but the smill not be sufficient. The sani-

AN AMERICAN BULLY.

The New York Sun is the organ of the American fire-eaters. Its policy is narrow and its tone harsh even to fierceness. It speaks of Canadians as if they were the natural enemies of the American people, and no course which the President can pursue would be unfriendly enough to satisfy this howling anti-British organ. The folowing is part of what it said with respect o the canal tolls' question :

It is plain that the retaliatory measures thus far taken against the Canadian Tories by Mr. Harrison in pursuance of the policy prescribed by Congress are not severe enough. They have not availed to bring the Dominion Government to its senses and the outrageous discrimination against American shippers in the matter of tolls on the Welland canal is persistently and defiantly maintained.

and the healthier it is and the pleasanter it is to live in if the plague should keep away.

After cleanliness of surroundings purity of drinking water is of the greatest importance in view of the approach of the cholera. The water used should be as pure as it is possible to procure it, and to make sure that it contains no active disease-producing element it should be boiled before it is used.

This warning is very far from being unnecessary when the cholera is so near to America as at Hamburg. Not a moment should be lost in fortifying the cities of Canada against its attack.

A PLUCKY ADVOCATE.

Sir Charles Tupper is one of the plucky and persistent men who, when they take hold of a question, never let go as long as there is the slightest chance of bringing it to a successful issue. He is advocating the establishment of preferential trade between Great Britain and her colonies in the face of tremendous odds. Free trade may be said to be a superstition in Great Britain. It is implicitly believed in by those who understand its principles and by those who do not—by far the greater number. To last thing they ounted. Let Mr. Harrison do his duty in Canadian business without flinching. There is no politics in this matter. It is a purely patriotic question whether the executive head of the American people will use the legitimate means of pressure at his disposal to enforce our treaty rights.

Officers Redgrave and Palmer last night arrested T. J. O'Brien on a charge of stealing a watch from Chas. Dahlberg. The story of Dahlberg was to the effect that he was coming out of a cabin near the Indian reserve when O'Brien approached him and made a snatch for the watch, tearing away the vest pocket and breaking the chain. The man then made off before he could be detained. The police were notified and a soon found the man. When O'Brien saw the officers approaching one of them noticed him throw something away, and on searching found the missing watch in the grass. O'Brien was lodged in jail, and will come up before the Police Magistrate to-day.

The Supposed Robber of the Stevenson Diamonds Acquitted in the Police Court.

J. F. Long, accused of robbing the residence of Mr. W. G. Stevenson of some $700 worth of jewelry, was up for examination before Magistrate Macrae yesterday. The Chief of Police stated that there was no evidence to connect Long with the robbery and the court ordered the prisoner discharged. The lady who claimed to have seen Long on the day of the robbery and to have recognized him in the act of jumping the fence, when brought face to face with Long, was unable to say that he was the man. In fact she grew positive that he was not the man. The result was that the prosecution was left entirely without evidence.

In an interview with Long he made the following explanation of his movements to a Colonist reporter: "I know," said he, "that my movements might have given vise to suspicion, but they had no reference whatever to the robbery. I was prepared to prove by several reputable witnesses my exact whereabouts at the time the robbery took place. As to my going away, that was caused as follows: The smallpox made things so dull that Mr. Stevenson could not profitably keep me any longer. I was in a rather bad fix financially, and was given to understand that I would not be allowed to leave Victoria, and, not beingable to secure employment here, I decided to leave in a boat. I arranged with the owner to return the boat by Mr. Brown, who went with me for that purpose. When we got to Port Townsend, we could not find an Indian to take the boat back. Brown had, just before, met with an accident, and could not manage the craft alone. I wired the owner where the boat had been left, so that he would not think that it was stolen. I left Victoria for the purpose of spending a little time with my friend Mr. Sam Martin, of Tacoma, until I could secure employment. He knew of the arrangement beforehand. As sveryone knows by this time, the news that I had confessed and that some of the jewelry had been found on me, which was wired over here, was false."

Mr

As no information had been laid against him Brown was not arrested and it is probable that the whole affair will be dropped

City Eridges.

The City Eogineer has been making at thorough inspection of the city bridges of late with the following results as stated by himself:—

"The bridges all round are in a rather shaky condition. The were all right at the time they were built, but traffic has grown too heavy for them. The Point Ellice bridge, though as sound now as the day it was built, is too light for the increasing traffic.

"The Gorge road bridge, which has been in usp over 18 years—a long life for a wooden bridge—has gone completely through, and are as the capting magnificent.

There arrived in Victoria yesterday two gentlemen who have adopted a rather novel, not to say dangerous, method of passing the summer months and seeing the Puget Sound country. They are A. L. Ferry, of Hoodsport, Wash., and W. A. Babcock, of Boston, Mass. These gentlemen are making a tour of the Sound in a 14 foot, 70 pound canvas canoe which they themselves built for the occasion. They started out from Hoodsport, near which place Mr. Ferry owns a ranch, touched at Port Townsend where they remained over several days, and then made the run across to Victoria. Fortune has favored them so far, and fair weather and gentle winds have made the voyage a very pleasant one. They will remain here long enough to take in the surrounding country and then proceed on their way, the exact direction of which has not yet been determined. There arrived in Victoria yesterday two not yet been determined.

California Extended.

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—At last the eastern boundary line of California is to be definitely and permanently fixed, and when it is done this state will have gained from Nevada a strip of land a half mile or so wide and from 100 to 400 miles long, comprising, it is thought, 100 square miles or more of territory. The sundry civil bill, recently approved by the President, contained an appropriation of $18,500 for the resurvey of the eastern boundary line of this State southeastward from Lake Tahoe to the Colorado river. This will not be sufficient to complete the survey, but work will be begun soon, and what is done will be final, and the survey will establish this time for all time.

PREPARING FOR THE MEET.

The Fall meeting of the Victoria Jockey Club promises to be the most successful ever held at the Driving Park—from a racing point of view. The number of horses at the track, in training, will ensure a big entry in the different events, and the track litself has been put into excellent condition for work, with the result that all the intending candidates are doing well. For the Stallion race, Reilly's Christmas and Storm are doing good work, and Field's Harry Prentiss went a good mile yesterday. For the 2.40 class Reilly's sorrel gelding, Gannon's Dart, Chamber's Mollie Cooper and Field's Premier are showing up in good where are showing up in good shape, the latter being sent a mile a couple of days ago in 2:35. Belighted with their Visit.

The members of the Dominion House of Commons who arrived here Tuesday evening, spent the whole of yesterday in driving around the city and viewing the different and varied sights of interest. They were taken in charge by friends while here, and before leaving on this morning's boat for the Mainland en ronte to the east, expressed themselves as very much delighted with their visit. By the time they get back to Manitoba they expect the harvesting will be at its height and they will spend a week or two "doing" the southern portion of the Prairie Province.

An Indefinite By-Law.

The case of Geo. Leibes, charged with an infraction of the revenue by law, came up before Magistrate Macrae yesterday morning in the city police court. The specification was that the plaintiff had carried on the business of a dealer or trader in furs without a lidense. Mr. Belyea represented the defendant, and Mr. Eberts appeared for the prosecution. It was represented that the defendant was acting as an agent for H. Leibes & Co., of San Francisco, and that as he had only bought furs, and had not made any attempt at sales this could not constitute the fact of trading. Further it was urged that the amendment to the revenue by-law was so indefinitely worded that ne raling could be made under it. This amendment was framed to over this class amendment was framed to fover this class of cases, but seems to fail to state what by-law it was intended to amend. His Honor asked to have the matter discussed at length by the attorneys and set 2:30 p. m. to-day for hearing the arguments. Judgement was in the meantime reserved.

A Laugh in Every Line,

At The Victoria theatre, to-night, the much-talked-of farce comedy which is said to contain a "laugh in every line," will be presented for the first time here by Charlie Reed, Willie Collier, and their excellent company. The San Francisco Post of July 5, says: "No one ever received a heartier or more enthusiastic welcome on any stage in this city than was accorded Charlie Reed when he made his appearance at the California theatre, last evening. The house was packed, and by the majority of the audience Reed was looked upon as an old-time friend. His partner, Collier, was also warmly received. 'Hoss and Hoss' is termed a farce-comedy, and it is the liveliest and funniest one that has been seen here. Reed cannot help being funny, no matter what he undertakes. There is no plot, story, rhyme, or reason in 'Hoss and matter what he undertakes. There is no plot, story, rhyme, or reason in 'Hoes and Hoss.' It is simply made up of Indicrous situations, witty sayings, good singing, excellent dancing, and pretty girls. William Collier took the character of a Judge who, in the first act, was seriously henpecked by a shrewd wife (Miss Helen Reimer). He was very funny, and displays the true elements of comedy. Miss Reimer is really clever. Arthur Moulton, the Judge's son, is as clever as the stars, and is at all times bright and entertaining. Louise Allen dances well, and so does May Jordan, a petite blonde. James B. Gentry, who appeared as a hayseed sheriff, was laughable, sespecially in the court scene in the second act. The affair abounds with mechanical tricks, which are good. 'Hoss and Hoss' was well received by the audience, and is sure to have a prosperous season."

THE ALBIONS AT HOME.

THE ALBIONS AT HOME.

On Saturday of this week the Albions will play their first home match with an outside club, the senior eleven of the Westminsters being their formidable opponents. The crease, at Bascon Hill, is pronounced by veteran cricketers by far the best in the province, and arrangements are being made for entertaining the visitors right hospitable. Play will commence at 10:30 a. m., Mr. P. Schwengers acting as umpire and the heme eleven being constituted as below: E. A. Pauline, (Captain); W. H. Pegram, H. McAnally, J. L. Medway, H. J., Martin, G. A. Maltby, J. E. Martin, F. W. Thomas, F. G. Fowkes, H. F. Hewett and C. Schwengers.

PREPARING FOR SATURDAY

The Victoria Lucrosse Club are practising hard for the match on Saturday, and aithough one or two of the team which played in the last match will be missed, a good selection will be made. Ditchburn will not be able to play, owing to sickness which has confined him to his room the past week, and will probably not have the pleasure of witnessing the game. His place on the team will not be easily filled. Several changes in the positions are contemplated, in order to make the play more effective.

The intermediates have also been practising hard, and are determined to retrieve lost honors. The double event on Saturday will furnish a good afternoon's sport, and no doubt many will avail themselves of the opportunity of witnessing good leaves.

bird of victory fluttering from one to other of the contestants with aggravating in decision. First Foulkes was the favorite; he took the first game. Cuppage secured the second, Foulkes the third, Cuppage the fourth and fifth, Foulkes the sixth and seventh—and the set.

In the second set, Cuppage took the two opening games, Foulkes the third and fourth, Cuppage the fifth, Foulkes making it three all, and his opponent running out the set.

The final set went to Foulkes, who took the first, third, fifth, sixth, ninth and tenth games, wimning the match, 6.5, 3.6, 6.4.

The play—in the doubles was rather tame, the Longes, though their work was far from perfect, being much too strong for their opponents.

A summary of the day's playing is given below:

OPEN SINGLES.

Longe (A. B.) beat Hayes, 6.5, 3-6, 6-4.

Foulkes beat Coombe, 8.2, 6-4.

OPEN DUBLES.

Longe brothers beat MacPherson and Springett, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

The City Council held its regular weekly weekly meeting, last night. There were present His Worship the Mayor, Ald. Mc Killican, Styles, Hunter, Lovell, Baker, Munn, Bragg, Hall and Humber.

The minutes of the previous meeting of the Council were read and adopted.

order that he may know what to do with his plant.

ALD LOVELL—I think it would be unfair to keep Mr. McBean here when we have no funds to carry on the work.

A heated discussion then arose as to what was before the house, and on motion the subject was deferred for one week.

His WORSHIP—The by-law for the purpose of the Board of Health was defeated. Our expenses at present are from $125 to $130 per day, we owe $12,000 to $15,000, and the liabilities must be liquidated. There are several means by which this can be done. The assessment roll cannot be depended upon for more than $200,000. Money must be had either by dropping appropriations or otherwise. The council should not desert the ship.

TALK OF RESIGNATION. ALD. BAKER—We should resign as a body. Our by-laws have been defeated and the people seem to have no confidence in us. We may consistently say that we should go again before the ratepsyers and see if they meant to express any doubt of us.

ALD. HUNTER—I for one will not resign. Let us fight it out on this line if it takes all winter. I don't see how we can raise the funds but, perhaps, Ald. Lovell can suggest something.

Forks.

What the result in these polling places will be is uncertain. During the Dominion election Dr. Watt had 39 of a majority without the last-named places, but with their vote in Mr. Barnard was elected by a majority of 29, the vote standing 223 to 194. Further returns are awaited with interest, yet the contest has not been considered a particularly important one, inasmuch as both candidates are pledged to support the policy of the administration.

Publishers Defrauded.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Street & Smith, publishers of the New York Weekly, have been defrauded out of nearly $20,000 by tampering with their books by $1fred J. Price, their bookkeeper and cashier, who was arrested this afternoon.

The 150-mile House gave Dr. Watt a majority of four.

At Soda Creek the majority was eight for Mr. Morrison.

At Quesnelle Forks the vote resulted in a tie.

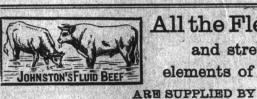

At Stanley, Dr. Watt was five ahead, while Barkerville gave two against him.

The above summary of results gives Dr. Watt a majority of three votes with six places yet to hear from, viz.: Chilcotin (2),
