THE NEW BOOK LADY LATOUR

An Interesting Review of Rev. W. I. Morse's Latest Book of Poems

There has been brought out recently by the Ryerson Press, Toronto, a beautiful little volume of Poems, entitled "The Lady Latour," by a clergyman well known to the readers of the MONITOR, the Rev. W. I. Morse. The author is a native of Paradise, N. S., where his father, Joseph Morse, still resides, but his home now is in Lynn, Mass., where he is the Rector of the Church of the Incarnation, and universally beloved by the members of his congregation. Even though he has taken up his abode among the great people of the land to the south of us, yet as we can see from this volume—apart from the fact that he spends his summer vacations in his pretty bungalow in Paradise—his heart and his spirit are in the Acadian land.

This is the second time that he has entered into the literary world, for he published a volume of verse in 1908, under the title of "Acadian Lays." The writer, however, knowing the interest that is taken in our young men who have made good in countries other than their own, and in the productions of their mind and hand feels that a little information concerning Mr. Morse's second literary effort.

In the preface it is stated that a few of the selections first appeared in the issues of "The Canadian Magazine," Toronto. The others in part deal with the inner life, and some concern that ancient land of "Acadia," sometimes known as "Acadia" which critics often confound with "Arcadia." The selections in part two for the most part explain themselves and are illustrated by drawings from the hand of F. G. Cooper and E. L. Proctor.

The book as already stated is divided into two parts. The literary style is the same in both parts, but the second part bubbles over with humour whilst the illustrations are amusing and laughter provoking besides focusing the lesson given in the text. Taken as a complete whole the little volumes is excellent in conception, sparkling in wit, brilliant in humour, profound in thought, beautiful in imagery, and splendid in execution. The author is, in congratulation in presenting us, in such a pleasing way, the thoughts that have been fitting though his mind.

The book has already been favorably commended. The Rev. E. I. V. Higgins, of Beverly, Mass., a writer of no mean order, one who has already distinguished himself in literary society by productions in verse and prose, has spoken of the volume under review in this wise: "I think he (the author) has shown that the genius of poetry does still haunt a man here and there and other things say beautiful things, and other things which make one think of beautiful things and desire the beautiful. He touches the grave and the gay, the true and the false, the lovely and the unlovely. May he keep at it and bring out many more dictates of his spirit to heal, to help, to comfort, or to rebuke and chasten. He has done what few do, made every line have a plain meaning. Clear thought is the deepest thought, clear water is transparent." Dr. Benjamin Rand, of Harvard University writes of the charming volume which describes with such felicity the Acadian country. "It is an excellent title and the book will keep the memory of this Heroine (Lady Latour) ever fresh."

The title of the book will bring to mind, and as perpetuate, the noble deeds and the indomitable spirit of one of the finest ladies whose names are recorded upon the pages of Canadian history. The poem which gives the name to the volume, though short, yet in lines deep cut as with a diamond, reveals her life vividly, and she appears before us in all the strength of her glorious womanhood in utter contrast to D'Aulney, who shows himself a Knight without honour, without chivalry and without pity.

"No song of amour
To Lady Latour,
But of honour untarnished as ages show."

Brief annals acclaim
The pride of her name,
And faintly the records yet kindly glow.

It will take up too much time to describe even briefly all the selections that are given in the volume, so the writer will simply make two or three quotations in order that the readers may have some clear idea as to what the book contains.

In the "An Acadian Spring" we have the picture drawn by one who has the artist's eye and skill, who here presses the pencil very softly, there more strongly, who blends the light and the shadow to form an exquisite painting full of colour, and harmony which faithfully represent the reality of the scene. Here are a few verses:

Across some mirrored lake,
As evening falls,
I hear the night birds give
Their vesper calls.

The twinkling bells of Kine
Float down the vale,
And lose their melody
Along the trail.

Forth from the old mill-race
There comes the roar
Of waters falling as
They fell of yore.

While far in yonder gorge
A restless stream
Makes music to the night
Wind's gentle dream.

In the writer's estimation the poem "Rhythm" is the one in which the author shows the deepest thought. Deep, as it were, answers out deep. He surveys nature, history, art and that symbol of human affection, the heart, and notices the wonderful, almost miraculous, rhythm there is in each and all.

"There is a rhythm in the sky,
The earth, the sea, and history."
There is a rhythm in the darkness
By the sea.

Where myriad shells fulfil their destiny,
There is a rhythm in the heart,
That "bourdon" heard least often in
The city's mart.

But in the silence and alone
We catch the sound, the unforgetten tone
Which whispers all is well—
Conveys sweet promises of hope; or else the knell
Of lost efficiency, fatigue, disease, the "cycle ended."
Affections lost, ill-comprehended.

In part II we have verses full of humour, verses of which it cannot be said, as is said of compositions of certain divines:
Dulness is sacred in a sound
of certain divines:
There is not a line of dulness in fact, in any part of the volume.
Book II especially, is bright and witty, bringing light to the eyes, and laughter to the lips. The author sees the new-ing things in life, and he wishes us to see them with him. He possesses to the full a keen sense of humour Humour belongs to the "order of good cheer," because it makes the heart light and happy. It helps us to throw off dull care and to lessen

FIFTY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Armstrong, of Granville, Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Tuesday evening being the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Armstrong, a number of their friends and neighbors called on them at their home in Granville. A very pleasant evening was spent interspersed with music and light refreshments.

Rev. G. W. Hisler, pastor of the Lower Granville Baptist Church presented the couple with the following address:

Stoney Beach, N. S., Dec. 14th, 1920
Dear Brother and Sister,

It is with the feelings of deepest joy, the keenest delight and the warmest felicity that we, your neighbors and fellow Christians, hail this the Fiftieth Anniversary of your wedding.

Surely yours has been a golden privilege, to have lived together as husband and wife for fifty years, in the close intimacy and fellowship of married life, is a privilege that falls to the lot of very few indeed.

At such a time as this our thoughts naturally turn to the Heavenly Father and it is with the feelings of deepest gratitude that we acknowledge His watchful care over you, our brother and sister in Christ.

We call to mind the Father's promise as expressed by the Psalmist, "Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him, I will set him on high, because he hath known my name. He shall call upon me and I will answer him, I will be with him in trouble, I will deliver him and honor him. With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation."

We thought fitting on this joyous occasion to present to you a little token of our regard and to assure you of the high esteem in which you are held by all and we sincerely hope that the Heavenly Father may permit you both to remain with us for many years to come.

How welcome was the call,
To sweet the festal lay,
When Jesus deigned in Cana's hall
To bless the marriage day!

And happy was the bride,
And glad the bridegroom's heart,
For he who tarried by their side
Bade grief and ill depart.

His gracious power Divine
The water vessels knew,
And plenteous was the mystic wine
The wondering servants drew.

O Lord of life and love,
Come Thou again today,
And bring a blessing from above
That never shall pass away.

O bless, as erst of old,
The bridegroom and the bride,
Bless with holier stream that flowed
Forth from Thy pierced side.

Before Thine altar throne
This mercy we implore,
As Thou didst knit them, Lord, in one
So bless them evermore.

It is with deep pleasure, that I, on behalf of those present, now give to you this token, as an expression of all for your continued prosperity and good health and I wish further to convey to you both our heart-felt congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong both made very suitable replies. Letters of congratulations were received from as far away as British Columbia and many from the United States.

PASSED THROUGH BRIDGETOWN

Governor General and Staff Spent Thursday Night at Round Hill.

The royal train passed through Bridgetown at 7 o'clock last Thursday evening, from Kentville for Halifax via Yarmouth and South Shore points, stopping at several towns along the line.

The royal party spent the night on board their train at Round Hill, running into Annapolis Royal the next morning where they were met by Mayor King and other important officials of the town, escorted to Fort Anne, inspecting the government museum and other places of interest. At Digby they were also met by Mayor Nichols and officials, the school cadets forming an escort to the Court House.

They were entertained at Yarmouth and various towns along the South Shore His Excellency driving the first bolt in the Canadian fishermen challenge now under construction at Lunenburg. They arrived in Halifax Sunday and were given a royal welcome.

The Duke was accompanied by Captain Canard, A. D. C., and Captain Balfour, militia secretary. Crowds awaited the arrival of His Excellency in the various towns, music was furnished by local bands and streamers of flags and welcome signs were much in evidence.

His Excellency expressed regret that the Duchess was unable to accompany him, but hoped that before his tenure of office ceased, he would return with his family to visit the famous Annapolis Valley.

We hope that on his return the party will be entertained at Bridgetown.

THE RELIEF OF EXPLORER PERRY

An Interesting Lecture Given in Bridgetown by Capt. Blakeney

On Tuesday night the "Torch-bearers" extended an invitation to their brother squares to hear an address from Capt. Blakeney on his voyage to the relief of Perry, who had not returned on the date set for his home coming. Although the address was of considerable length, the time passed quickly, as is always the case when an interesting address is being heard.

On touching at several points for the purpose of obtaining news of Perry and of procuring an interpreter, they were beset by the Esquimaux and nearly defeated by the howling of the huskies (dogs) and the cries of the inhabitants, who kept exclaiming "Covee" (coffee) "Candee" (candy) and who swarmed over the bow.

When the polar bear region was reached, several American gentlemen, who were on board expressed a desire to have a shot at a bruin. Accordingly when one was sighted, the ship drew in close and the would be hunters put off in a boat for the ice. The attempt failed for as the atmosphere is so clear in the far north, distances are not easily calculated and while the hunters thought themselves sufficiently close that is, as close as they might safely venture, they were many times the distance. The shots naturally fell short and Master Bear calmly turned his back and walked off. Although several other attempts were made the results were as unsatisfactory as the first one.

As the ship forged northward the scenery became grand in the extreme. The ice bound coast towered with snow covered mountains with not a tree upon the horizon. The large and expansive ice floes of death, which the ship sought to evade and all the equally fearsome, the awe inspiring ice bergs, drifting about them in the cold grey water, all contribute to impress those who see it, and cause them to be thankful that there is such a place as good old Nova Scotia.

Owing to navigation difficulties, the "Eric" was forced to put in at an almost unknown bay and as a record of this voyage this bay was named Eric Bay, by which name it is known today.

When one of the most northerly harbors was reached the lost "Windward" was sighted and Perry was welcomed by his wife and daughter (Marie).

The Eric spent several weeks in obtaining Esquimaux and dogs for Perry's expedition and in hunting blue deer and walrus. The walrus flesh is enjoyed greatly by the Esquimaux, who get large quantities raw. When the first walrus of the season was captured and hoisted on deck by a strip of flesh about an inch wide, the walrus immediately fell to with relish and procured for themselves large hunks of blubber. The hide is very tough and thick and is used by the natives for harpoon lines, traces, etc. The blue deer is a small mouse colored deer, the flesh of which when dried constitutes a meat called pemmican and will keep for some time. The skin of this animal, which the Esquimaux women cure by chewing it in their mouth makes the warmest and most comfortable clothing.

When an Esquimaux is engaged to work he will not leave his family and insists on them being allowed to accompany him. His time is of no value and he will wander around all day scraping a hole thru a piece of hoop iron in order to fasten a handle to this improvised knife.

Some of the customs practised by these inhabitants of the far North are very barbarous. In many cases the girl infants are not allowed to live but are simply exposed to the cold and allowed to die. The children of the North are carried on the back of the mother for three years, before being taught to walk and as an Esquimaux is of small stature, even when liberated, baby has to be most carefully watched.

If a mother dies and leaves a baby in the sack the child according to custom must be killed before the husband can marry again. Although the father adheres to this custom he is as heart broken, as is any father who loses a son. If two young lovers' admitions are hurting in the same direction a hunting contest is held and the lucky hunter wins the fair prize.

The seasons of the far north are very much different from ours, consisting of eight months, day, which constitutes the summer, and four months of weird subdued light, which constitutes the winter season. In the winter the abode of the natives are excavations in some hillside and in summer a construction of

WALKED TO TOWN FOR MORE TANLAC

Says He Couldn't Walk At All Without His Crutches Until He Started On Tanlac

"I have walked all the way to town to get another bottle of Tanlac, and I'm just feeling fine, and yet when I started on the medicine a few weeks ago, I couldn't get around without the help of crutches" recently said John Olsen, sailor, aboard the S. S. Thomas E. Drummond, sailing from St. John, New Brunswick.

"It's about two years since the rheumatism began to trouble me in the knees, but about last September it got so bad that I couldn't put my foot to the ground and the pain was something awful. At night I used to lie in my bunk in perfect agony, unable to sleep, and this told so on my nerves that I used to tremble like a leaf. I lost all desire for food and got very thin and weak and had to give up my job and to go to Halifax for special treatment. But in spite of everything I tried to get worse instead of better.

"I saw several statements in the papers about people getting wonderful relief from troubles like mine by taking Tanlac, and so when every thing else failed me I gave it a trial, thinking to myself that at least it would do me no harm. The first few bottles gave me a good appetite and my food seemed to be doing me good for I gained several pounds in weight. So I kept right on with it and gradually it seemed to drive the rheumatism out of my system. The pains in my knees began to ease up and soon I was able to lay my crutches aside and get around with the aid of a stick. Then after a bit I was able to do away with the stick also, until now I can get about without any help whatever and feel almost like a boy again. All signs of nervousness have left me and I can sleep the clock round. Many of my friends say they hardly know me for the man that I was a few months ago, because I look so much better in every way. I certainly am feeling in the shape again and am only too glad to tell others about the wonderful medicine which has done so much for me."

Tanlac is sold in Bridgetown by S. N. Wear in Middleton by Clifford A. Mumford and in Bear River by L. V. Harris.

Alas of ice, which are called igloos. The food consists chiefly of walrus flesh, venison, hare, bear steak, etc., and fish, also certain species of fowls. The fish are caught from holes in the ice or from unskilful one man canoes, paddled by whaler's paddles, while the deer are harpooned and likewise the walrus, which on coming thru the hole in the ice, which he uses for breathing, receives a true shaft from skilled hands.

Venison and bear steak are words which make your mouth water but when we think of the miserable existence which these humans lead, and of their depraved conditions, cannot help but feel thankful to God for the many blessings of civilization which we enjoy.

As Capt Blakeney was for several years Governor at Sable Island we are looking forward to hearing him give us an equally interesting talk next spring. Hoping that I have done justice to the address by Capt Blakeney.

I hereby sign myself, AN OBSERVER

HANTSPOUR RED CROSS

(Windsor Tribune)

The November business meeting of the Hantsport Branch Red Cross was held on the 23rd inst. at Miss McCulloch's home.

A special feature of the meeting was the presentation of a Life Membership pin and certificate to Mrs. C. S. Chesley. As soon as the regular business of the month was disposed of the President announced that two new Life Members were to be added to the Society's list.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Chesley had been made life members by friends in Halifax in recognition of services rendered since the Halifax explosion. Mr. Chesley could not be present at the meeting as he had been called away on business, but had received his pin and certificate the previous day. All stood while Mrs. Chesley received her pin and certificate, after which light refreshments were served and a social hour passed in honor of the new Life Member.

An interested visitor at the meeting was Judge Chesley, of Lunenburg who was spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. Chesley.

Since the meeting the Society has sent a cheque for $20 to Kentville for the Sanatorium Xmas Fund, and one for $129.50 to the Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Halifax for the British Empire War Relief Fund, which is to be used among the million of children suffering from famine and neglect in Central Europe.

(Mr. C. S. Chesley is a son of Mrs. H. T. Chesley, of Upper Granville.)

A PLEASANT EVENING

The First United Meeting of The Tuxis Boys of Bridgetown Held Tuesday Night

The Tuxis Boys of Bridgetown met together in the first of the union meetings prescribed by the Advisory Board on Dec 9 in the school room of St. James Church. The meeting led by Pretor Edward Orlando of the Upstreamers opened with the hymn "Stand up for Jesus". The usual opening ceremony followed by the "Lord's Prayer", ended the opening exercises. Each square then proceeded to call their roll and have their minutes read and adopted by their respective Scriptures. This was followed according to rule by the business period, in which business concerning the Debates which are to be held during the winter was discussed. The Rev. Mr. Richardson, then gave a fine talk on "Leadership the Necessity and (Preparation For) Telling the boys among other things how badly the world and Canada need good leaders.

The Social Period was a story telling contest. First the Tri Mu's Square lined up and the boy at the head was given one half a minute to begin a story. Each boy after him had to continue the story for one half a minute. After the Tri Mu's had finished their story the Upstreamers and Torch Bearers followed in turn. As the stories had to be made up and continued on the spur of the moment they were very amusing. Revs. Bryant, Richardson and Dr. Armstrong being the only members of the Advisory Board present acted as judges for the best story. While these were deciding which square had won, the rest joined in a hearty sing song. After this Mr. Richardson ascended the platform and amidst great silence in which everyone got ready to clap announced that the Tri Mu's Square had won the contest. After all the squares had cheered each other the meeting ended by the Tri Mu's chanting their "Tri Mu's Hymn" as a song of victory.

The meeting was an all around success and everyone went away feeling much the better for it. The next meeting of this kind will be held in the basement of Providence Methodist Church, the home of the Tri Mu's Square, next month.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Besides her husband she is survived by four sons and one daughter. The sons are Edmond V. of Bellefleur, Mass., who arrived here two days before his mother passed away, Ralph A., and Raymond F., of West Paradise, G. Harold, and Miss Mildred F., at home. She also leaves one brother Frank Varney, who returned from Maine on the 13th. Her brother William Varney, a prominent manufacturer in Lynn, passed away two weeks ago, the news of whose death it was thought best not to convey to her. Mrs. Bent was noted for devotion to her family, was very sympathetic and highly respected by a large circle of friends. The funeral took place Friday afternoon with interment in the Riverside Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. B. J. Porter, of Kentville, a former pastor of the Bridgetown Methodist church, of which the deceased was a member assisted by Rev. Geo. T. Bryant, the present pastor, and Rev. Dr. C. Jost. The pall bearers were F. H. Fowler, C. L. Pigott, B. N. Messinger, A. Fitzrandolph. The floral tributes were beautiful. The funeral director was Mr. H. B. Hicks.

A REAL LIVE TESTIMONIAL

Given to Professor Hamilton, of Hampton, N. S. Saulnierville, Digby Co., Nov 29, 1920 DEAR SIR—This is to state I have been suffering with headache and dizziness for the last seven years I tried several doctors and they all failed to cure me I was about giving up when I was advised by friends to go to Prof. Hamilton at Hampton. I went and consulted him so the Prof. began to treat me and in a very short time I felt improvement and now I am quite safe in saying that I am cured and never felt better for years while others failed to cure me and I would say to all afflicted ones give the Prof a call. THE NEW BOOK LADY LATOUE of our author let me quote a verse from (Continued from page 1)

THE BISHOP COMES TO TEA

If when, His Grace, discoursing long The host and hostess say—"Now, Bishop, have an apple too!" (He takes it from the tray)— And lifting it above his tea, Unmindful of the stem, Why wonder that the apple dropped And splashed his apron-hem.

Perhaps enough has been said to whet the appetites of the readers of the MONITOR to desire more, which they can do so by purchasing a copy of the verses for themselves. I am sure that we all can congratulate our fellow country man in his efforts to instruct and to amuse us so that we may not only take an interest in the history and concerns of our country, but also in the "funny side of life."

Made in Canada
WE know the sale of the Chevrolet Light Delivery Wagon depends on the satisfaction it gives in actual service. We also know that its valve-in head motor eliminates fuel waste and delivers fullest power, that its ample bearings cut friction to a minimum, that its perfect balance—strength without weight—insures stability and makes a maximum of power available for actual hauling.
These are only a few of the obvious reasons for Chevrolet ability, durability and economy.

THIS CHRISTMAS TRY MOIR'S COOKING

Moir's fruit cakes and plum pudding have been made from a rare old recipe under Mr. James Swan for 50 years. Last year he made over 3 tons of plum pudding, yet every late order had to be turned away. And that's just a hint of how good they are!

You can still get Moir's Plum pudding or fruit cake in 2 to 8 lb. sizes if you order now through your grocer or write or wire us direct. State size, whether you want your fruit cake plain, frosted, almond pasted and frosted, almond pasted, or frosted and decorated.

Just think, Moir's fruit cakes have been melting for months and they will be iced the day before delivery so they arrive in perfect condition.

Rosalind Dane instinctively loved gypsies—she could not account for the strange fascination the wandering tribes of Romany had for her, and when it came to making a decision whether to abandon the conventional life in which she moved, for the wild romantic life of the gypsies, we find her implicated in a baffling murder mystery. You will find here probably the greatest situation ever attempted in a photo-drama. Be sure and see "The Heart of a Gypsy."
