COMPILED BY THE SECRETARY, AND REVISED BY A COMMITTEE OF THE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE OF UPPER CANADA.

1867.

P R E F A C E .

The Board of Agriculture have now the pleasure of offering to the Farmers and Breeders of Canada the First volume of the CANADA SHORT-HORN HERD BOOK, containing the Pedigrees of Canadian Short-horned cattle, and also a considerable number of pedigrees kindly contributed by a few distinguished breeders in the adjoining United States.

The work has been somewhat longer in making its appearance than was originally anticipated, and we fear that some of the subscribers have become impatient on this ground; but they will please to recollect that the materials for a Herd Book are not so readily accumulated in a new country like Canada, where the number of thorough-bred cattle is comparatively limited, as in older and more populous countries, where numerous thorough-bred herds have been long established. A sufficient number of pedigrees to make a fair sized volume had not been collected till the spring of 1866, when the work of arranging and printing was undertaken. This, on the occasion of a first attempt of the kind, is naturally attended with more difficulties, and requires more time and care, than on subsequent occasions; but it is now completed, in the shape herewith presented to the public.

This volume owes its origin to a series of resolutions moved in the Board of Agriculture by the late lamented Hon. Adam Fergusson, as long ago as the year 1854, to the following purport: "1. That the spirit of improvement in the live stock of Canada, which is rapidly diffusing intelligence and science among our farmers, calls for the aid and approbation of this Board. 2. That this may be done in a simple and inexpensive manner by opening a Register for thorough-bred stock, whether horses or cattle. 3. That any farmer or others desiring to avail themselves of such Register, shall, upon compliance with the rules, and upon payment of two shillings and sixpence for each animal so registered, obtain a certificate certifying particulars, and which shall be held as officially correct in all future transactions relating to the stock so registered. 4. That no animal can be registered unless a clear and distinct connection is established, to the satisfaction of the Board, in the descent of such animal, both on the side of the sire and dam, with the British or American Stud or Herd Book."

Under these resolutions a Register was opened; and it is believed that it has rendered most important assistance to breeders, in affording to them a common and generally accepted medium for recording and preserving the pedigrees of their stock, by means of which the different animals could be readily known and identified by reference numbers, and the private records of their descent be prevented from falling into inextricable neglect and confusion. There were many animals of pure blood in the country, tracing their descent, on one or both sides, from ancestors imported from England many years back; and, although in many cases they might be the offspring of crosses by sires of late importation, with names and pedigrees entered in the English Herd Book, there was yet no full record of the pedigrees of the produce anywhere except in the private memoranda of their owners. These pedigrees have been collected and preserved in the Register, great care having been taken in receiving them to scrutinize them thoroughly, and correct any errors that might have inadvertently or carelessly crept in.

In the course of a few years, however, it was felt that, in regard to the very important class of Short-horned cattle, it was necessary to have some record in a more public as well as more permanent and readily accessible form, than the pages of a manuscript Register. The number of breeders and of well-bred cattle in the Province had already become large, and was rapidly increasing, while there was no printed and published record of the breeding of the great majority of the animals. Accordingly the Board, in the year 1864, resolved to issue a printed Herd Book of the pedigrees of Short-horned cattle, as soon as the materials should sufficiently accumulate, and the work could be executed. Of this resolution the present volume is the result.

Of the manner in which the arrangement or compilation of the work has been executed, we need only say that the model of the English and American Short-horn Herd Books, with one or two trifling necessary typographical changes, has been strictly adhered to. The pedigrees are traced through the female line, giving simply the name and reference number of each sire. This is, we believe, the simplest and most intelligible form that can be devised. If any further information is required, it can be obtained by referring to the pedigrees of the bulls named as sires. We have not, of course, attempted to give these in every case, except where the animals have been owned in this country, or have been in some way closely connected with herds here. To do so would involve the reprinting of a great part of the English Herd Book. The pedigrees of bulls referred to as sires in pedigrees here recorded, however, may in many cases be found in this volume, for four or five generations back. This much of information will, in the majority of cases, be sufficient for the purposes of the ordinary Canadian breeder, and is here offered in a compactness and accessibility of shape, no other where obtainable. But those who require still further information, or those who intend and have the means to devote themselves to breeding extensively and scientifically, must go to the fountain head of Short-horn intelligence—the English Herd Book itself, now consisting of seventeen large octavo volumes. As to the typographical and artistic merits of the work, we trust it will in these respects be found satisfactory. A few printer's errors will perhaps be found to have crept in, but it is hoped that there are none of any importance. The paper is of superior quality, having been imported expressly for the purpose; and the artist by whom the portraits have been executed, stands undisputedly at the head of his profession in America.

In the English Herd Book, pedigrees are considered admissible which show not less than four crosses by Herd Book bulls. The same rule has been adopted here. Of course the majority of them have many more than four crosses: this is the minimum number. It is true that in the earliest volumes, there are many names of bulls admitted with very short pedigrees, or in fact with no pedigree at all. So also in the recent volumes, there are rare instances in which pedigrees are admitted which do not come up to the proper standard. In these cases it is to be presumed that the Editor had satisfactory evidence of the actual purity of the blood; but these are the exceptions, not the rule. In such cases an asterisk (*) is prefixed to the name. In the same manner, pedigrees in the present volume which are short, or imperfect in any of their collateral sources, but which have been admitted, in accordance with the original resolution of the Board establishing the Register, because they derived their descent from animals whose pedigrees are already recorded in the English or American Herd Book, are distinguished by an asterisk.

Let us examine the amount of pure blood shown by any certain number of crosses. Suppose the original dam to be an animal without any short-horn blood, and that she and her female descendants are bred to thoroughbred Short-horn Herd Book bulls. The result of the successive crosses in the amount of pure blood obtained, will then be as follows:

1st cross gives 50 per cent. pure blood.	7th cross gives 99.21 p. ct. pure blood.
2nd " " 75 " "	8th " " 99.60 " "
3rd " " 87.50 " "	9th " " 99.80 " "
4th " " 93.75 " "	10th " " 99.90 " "
5th " " 96.87 " "	11th " " 99.95 " "
6th " " 98.43 " "	12th " " 99.97½ " "

The result of the fourth cross thus shows 6.25 per cent., or 1-16th, of the old blood of the original dam remaining, while the seventh cross exhibits about 1-100th, and the tenth about 1-1000th of the old blood. But when we recollect that the original dam, instead of being wholly destitute of short-horn blood, would in all probability, at least in short-horn districts, although not possessing a recorded pedigree, be mainly descended from that stock, we will see that a fourth or fifth cross in such a case represents a much higher percentage of pure blood than above. We must not be supposed, however, as intending to convey the idea, that by crossing with Herd Book bulls the produce will always improve in the exact mathematical proportion above given. On the contrary, one cross may perhaps exhibit a great advance, and the next an unexpected falling-off. The defects of a remote ancestor will occasionally appear in a descendant, after having remained latent for several generations. But in the aggregate, by employing bulls of the best character, and known to be descended from ancestors combining the most valuable qualities of their race, progressive improvement will be obtained. And this shows the necessity of studying the pages of the Herd Book, and becoming acquainted with the character of the pedigree of any animal the breeder may purpose to introduce into his herd. A pedigree may be a very long one, and still not a very good one, or at least not one from which a scientific breeder would expect the best results.

We have observed that the pedigrees are traced through the female line, and that this is the most convenient and comprehensive mode of recording them. The descent of the animal may thus be traced on the female side for a few generations back, or to sires whose pedigrees are to be found recorded in the first volumes of the English Herd Book. In like manner, by consulting the pedigree of each sire, we may trace his descent, on the female side, to a greater or less antiquity, according to the amount of breeding in each case. But by searching the pages of the Herd Book, we are also enabled to trace the descendant of each sire on the male side; and we shall find, if the pedigree has no defects, that the descent of each can be traced in an unbroken line from the earliest recorded progenitors of the race, to sires whose names appear in Coates's first volumes, and some of which perhaps existed one hundred or one hundred and fifty years ago. Each bull being the son of a Herd Book sire, and the same rule having been observed throughout, it follows, if there have been no irregular entries, that each must trace back to the earliest records. We take, almost at random, a pedigree to illustrate our meaning, say "Western Prince," [806] of this volume:

"WESTERN PRINCE.

"Roan, calved March 14, 1865, &c.; got by Prince of Wales [579], dam Sanspareil 10th, by Windsor [811], g. d. Sanspareil 5th, by Twelfth Duke of Oxford [198] (17742), gr.g.d. Sanspareil, by Gauntlet (10260), — Serenade, by Charles 1st (8947), — Seraphina, by Earl of Essex (6955), — Sapphire, by Stratton (5336), — Ruby, by Fanatic (1996), — Rute, by Red Rover (4902), — by Rufus (2576), — by Emperor (1014)."

We now trace the descent of each of the above named sires direct through the male line, as follows:

Western Prince's sire, Prince of Wales [579], got by President [535], by Prelate (11919), by Contract (10071), by Usurer (9763), by Lord Warden (7167), by Duke of Cornwall (5947), by 4th Duke of Northumberland (3649), by Short Tail (2621), by Belvedere (1706), by Waterloo (2816), by Young Wynyard (2859), by Wellington (680), by Comet (155), by Favorite (252), by Bolingbroke (86), by Foljambe (263), by Richard Barker's Bull (52), by Hill's Red Bull (310), by Brother to Dalton Duke (188), by W. Dobson's Bull (218), by Jacob Smith's Bull (608). The name only of this last bull being given, and no other account of him whatever, the descent can be traced no further back.

The dam (Sanspareil 10th's) sire, Windsor [811], by Twelfth Duke of Oxford [198] (17742), by Sixth Duke of Oxford (12765), by Duke of Gloster (11382), by Grand Duke (10284), by Second Cleveland Lad (3408), by Short Tail (2621), by Belvedere (1706), &c., as above.

The grand dam (Sanspareil 5th's) sire, Twelfth Duke of Oxford [198] (17742), by Sixth Duke of Oxford (12765), &c., as above.

The gr. g. d. (Sanspareil's) sire, Gauntlet (10260), by Puritan (9523), by Duke of Cornwall (5947), by Fourth Duke of Northumberland (3649), &c., as in Prince of Wales.

The gr. gr. g. d. (Serenade's) sire, Charles 1st (8947), by Rathreagh (6366), by Collard (3419), by Cossack (1880), by Burley (1766), by Francisco (2032), by Gloucester (1074), by Frederick (1060), by Hulton (1121), by Newton (1271), by Comet (155), by Favorite (252), &c., as in Prince of Wales.

The gr. gr. gr. g. d. (Seraphina's) sire, Earl of Essex (6955), by Cleveland Lad (3407), by Short Tail (2621), by Belvedere (1706), &c., as in Prince of Wales.

The gr. gr. gr. gr. g. d. (Sapphire's) sire, Stratton (5336), by Fanatic (1996), by Firby (1040), by Percy (1314), by Northumberland (1236), by Barmpton (54), by George (275), by Favorite (252), &c., as in Prince of Wales.

The gr. gr. gr. gr. gr. g. d. (Ruby's) sire, Fanatic (1996), by Firby (1040), &c., as in Stratton above.

The gr. gr. gr. gr. gr. g. d. (Rafe's) sire, Red Rover (4902) by Red Gauntlet (4891), by Coxcomb (928), by Northumberland (1286), by Barmpton (54), &c., as in Stratton.

The gr. gr. gr. gr. gr. gr. g. d.'s sire, Rufus (2576), by Northampton (2380), by Mars (413), by Jupiter (342), by Comet (155), &c., as in Prince of Wales.

The gr. gr. gr. gr. gr. gr. g. d.'s sire, Emperor (1014), by Meteor (1226), by Bivth Comet (85), by Comet (155), &c., as in all the preceding.

Now, it so happens, on examination, that all of the above named bulls are found to have descended in the direct mail line from Comet (155), or from his sire, Favorite (252). It does not follow that an analysis of other pedigrees would always show a similar result. The descent of many animals would be found to be from a much greater variety of sources. Yet there are comparatively few animals, with their pedigrees recorded in recent volumes of the Herd Book, which have not descended from Comet or from Favorite in a greater or less degree. It also happens that in not one of the pedigrees of the sires in Western Prince's pedigree as recorded in the Herd Book, does the name of Comet appear, and yet we find on investigation that he traces his descent from that bull through many collateral lines. We give this merely as an example of the importance of studying the character of pedigrees carefully, instead of taking them upon trust, merely because they contain a sufficiently long array of names. Comet (155), all short-horn breeders are aware, was a famous bull, calved in 1804, bred by Mr. C. Colling, and sold at that distinguished breeder's sale in 1810 for 1000 guineas. Barker's Bull (252) is the earliest in the above list, of whom the date of birth is given: he was calved in 1784. The four earlier ancestors whose names are given would probably carry the date back fifteen or twenty years further.

What are, and whence came, the Short-Horns? We do not propose to enter into any lengthened disquisition on this subject. Suffice it to say that in our view the Short-horns are a most valuable breed of cattle, which have existed from time immemorial in the northern counties of England, particularly in York and Durham. Their central location may be said to have been on the River Tees, flowing between these two counties, whence they were formerly called the Teeswater breed of cattle. How they got there—how they came to preserve the characteristics they were found to possess about the close of the last century, when the breed began to obtain great celebrity, are questions we do not propose to discuss at length. They doubtless came from the continent of Europe at some remote period—possibly many hundreds of years ago; and having gained a footing in the north of England, retained it, in the same way that other local breeds and local customs held their place in other parts of the island. But they were not left to propagate merely by chance. For perhaps a hundred years before the first volume of the English Herd Book appeared, a greater or less number of breeders, amongst whom might be found resident noblemen and wealthy country gentlemen, had been in the habit of bestowing great care and attention upon the selection and breeding of their Short-horned cattle, and of preserving their pedigrees in manuscript in a more or less complete shape. About the year 1780, the Messrs. Colling (Charles and Robert), whose names will be always eminent in Short-horn history, commenced business as breeders, and gradually obtained a very distinguished place in the profession. Short-horns, about this time, from their well ascertained superior feeding and milking qualities, began to obtain a high popularity; and when Mr. Charles Colling's sale took place in 1810, on his retirement from active life as a breeder, with an ample fortune, his herd, consisting of forty-eight animals, amongst them the bull Comet (155), already mentioned, sold for 7,115*l.* 17*s.* sterling, realizing the astonishing average of 148*l.* 5*s.* or about $740 each. This, we believe, is a higher nominal average than has been obtained at any large sale since that date, and shows the demand which had arisen for the breed. But this was at a period of enormously inflated war prices for every description of agricultural produce; and large sales have since taken place which produced within a fraction of as high a figure, and which, under the different circumstances, may be considered as in reality higher. The short-horns now began to be distributed far beyond their original centre. A demand arose for them in foreign countries; and early in the present century some importations began to take place to this continent, and have continued, with more or less variableness of demand, till the present time, when the number of high-bred animals which have been imported direct from England count up many hundreds. In referring to the Messrs. Colling specially, we must not be understood as ignoring the claims of other eminent breeders, contemporary or nearly contemporary with them, and who occupied in many cases nearly or quite as distinguished a place. Amongst such names may be mentioned Mr. Whitaker, Mr. Wetherell, Sir H. V. Tempest, Earl Spencer, Major Rudd, Mr. Mitton, Mr. Mason, Messrs. Jobson, Sir H. C. Ibbetson, Mr. Hutchinson, Mr. Grey, Mr. Chrisp, Messrs. Charge, Mr. Cattley, Mr. C. Champion, the Messrs. Booth, Mr. T. Bates, Mr. Stephenson, Mr. G. Coates, the Messrs. Culleys, and a long list of others.

In the year 1822, after the breed of Short-horned cattle had long established for itself a distinguished reputation, Mr. G. Coates, himself an eminent breeder, published the first volume of his Herd Book. That work, continued in successive volumes to the present time, has tended to perpetuate the characteristics of the breed. The first volumes probably contained the pedigrees of but a small proportion of the thorough-bred short-horns then in existence. Those of the bulls inserted were probably of such as had attained a local eminence as sires. Of many of these bulls but a brief account is given—in fact in a large number of cases nothing but the mere name and number. But it is to be presumed that in all such cases Coates possessed such information as to authorize him to consider the animals as true Short-horns. In the absence of a previous systematic record, such a course in many cases became unavoidable. But the case is very different now. The bulls whose names and pedigrees are recorded in Coates's first volumes, became the ancestors of the modern Short-horns, and no existing animal can be accepted as of pure blood, unless its descent can be traced from that source. There may, it is true, be many pure blood Short-horns in existence, of which no satisfactory pedigree can be given, simply because no record of the breeding has been kept; but in such cases the fact does not admit of proof, and therefore the animal cannot be accepted as of pure descent. The pedigree must be produced, or the point cannot be officially established.

In 1846, Mr. Lewis F. Allen, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first volume of his American Herd Book, containing the pedigrees of Short-horned cattle imported to or bred in the United States. He has also continued the work to the present time, having now published seven volumes; and the important position that Short-horned cattle have gained on this continent, may be judged by the fact that these seven volumes contain the pedigrees of more than six thousand bulls, and probably ten thousand cows. This work has rendered most important service to the American Short-horn breeder.

What are the characteristics of the Short-Horns? They are noted for beauty of form and color, have a beautifully soft elastic touch in handling, are possessed of admirable feeding and milking qualities, come early to maturity for the shambles, with great weight of carcass in proportion to the apparent size, and are remarkable for proof or inside fat. We are indebted for the following brief description to Mr. Allen:

“The principal points of a thorough-bred Short-horn may be thus enumerated: A yellow skin, with a yellow, cream-colored, or drab nose; this drab may run to a brownish shade, called nut-colored, but not smoky or black. The colors of the hair, a lively red (the red running down into a deep cherry, or up into a yellowish), or a brilliant white, and these red and white colors either separate in patches or spots by themselves, or intermixed in roan—either color more or less prevailing; the horn waxy, or a cream color, with little black about it, but what black it has, at the tips; it should also be small, short and slender, either crumpled, gently drooping, or slightly turned up; a general levelness of the back from the shoulders at the setting on of the neck, to the tail; a fullness and depth of body throughout, with great breadth; short and fine legs; a fine tail; a symmetrical appearance throughout; with a lively, gentle, yet sprightly look of the eye. There are other intermediate points of excellence that may be named to constitute a perfect Short-horn; but those which are named are usually considered indispensable, as making up a truly well-bred animal.”*

As an illustration, independent of the pedigrees contained in the present volume, we give for our Frontispiece the portrait of a celebrated bull, Duke of Northumberland (1940), English Herd Book, bred by the late T. Bates, of Kirklevington, Yorkshire, England. The woodcut has been placed at our disposal, in the kindest possible manner, by Mr. Ambrose Stevens, of Batavia, N. Y., a high authority on all matters relating to the Short-horns, who enjoyed the acquaintance of the late Mr. Bates, and who received the original oil painting (a splendid picture by Dalby, from which the engraving is taken, as a present from him. This bull, Duke of Northumberland (1940), has been said to have been the best bull ever bred, before or since. Be that as it may, he must have been, by all accounts, a truly magnificent animal, and worthy of being specially noticed in any publication relating to the breed. His pedigree is as follows:

“(1940) DUKE OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

“Roan, calved October 15, 1835; bred by Mr. T. Bates, Kirklevington, got by Belvedere (1706), dam, Duchess 34th, by Belvedere (1706), g. d. Duchess 29th, by Second Hubback (1432), gr. g. d. Duchess 20th, by Second Earl (1511), — Duchess 8th, by Marske (418), — Duchess 2nd by Ketton 1st (709), — Duchess 1st (bred by Mr. C. Colling), by Comet (155), — by Favorite (252), — by Daisy Bull (186), — by Favorite (252), — by Hubback (319), — (bought by Mr. C. Colling from Stanwix), by Mr. James Brown's Red Bull (97).”

We again borrow from Mr. Allen, in whose 4th volume the same portrait appears:

“Our portrait will present to the eye much of the noble size, grand presence and great beauty of Northumberland; yet it does not give, as indeed no picture can give, his full proportions and excellence. He was a large bull, weighing at 3 years and 8 months old, 2540 pounds, and yet was not so large in mere frame as such a great weight at that age would indicate, his size coming from great depth of flesh and perfect development of all his points. Our portrait shows him as he was in 1843, then 8 years old, and in the maturity of his form and power, as well as of his fame. His weight at that age is not definitely known, but estimated at 2,700 to 2,800 pounds. He was great in his length, great in his breadth, and short, very short, on his legs. His head was fine and stylish, horn waxy, well shaped, and well set on the head, but somewhat long; eye prominent, large, expressive and animated, indicating spirit without bad temper; and the whole head neat, clean and beautiful, and full of masculine character and vigor. The head joined the neck well, the neck itself rising and curving gracefully from the shoulders to the junction; the neck vein (the flesh on the neck on its side and in front of the shoulder) filling up the space in front of the shoulder fully, and leaving it doubtful where the neck ended and the shoulder began; the ridge of the shoulder blade a little prominent, and the shoulder point somewhat marked, wanting neatness; the crops (the space behind the shoulder) full, level, indeed perfect; the chine (the forepart of the back,) very broad and level, measuring just behind the top of the shoulder blade more than fourteen inches of flat level substance; the junction of the back with the top of the shoulder was so smooth and neat that its actual point could not be detected without motion in the bull. His whole top-piece was masterly, striking for its length and breadth and truth of line and levelness. His hip points were wide, and the loin wide, and from the hip point to the top of the shoulder, presented a straight line with a just and true taper. The rumps were very long, very broad, and carrying out very evenly to the round bones, and there was great breadth at the rump ends. His thighs were long and even, and the twist (or space between) well filled and low down; his flank deep; his brisket wide, full, deep and prominent; his legs short, indeed very short; the brisket not more than a foot from the ground; his ribs were round and swelling, and set well back to the hips. In his feeding, he put on his flesh and fat all over his carcass, without any patchiness or unlevel points, and his flanks and under fore ribs putting as great depth of fat and flesh as his top piece. As a whole, in feeding he was always even, level and smooth in his fat and flesh.

"Such a beast, with such rare proportions and feeding qualities, could not but be of the best quality of hair, hide and flesh, and such they were.

"As a whole, it may be said of Northumberland, that he has never been equalled in style, truth of form, depth of flesh, quality, and feeding capacity, united, whatever may have been the case in any one of the characteristics alone.

"In his breeding, as his pedigree will show, he was deeply bred in and in, being got by Belvedere, and his dam by Belvedere, (father to daughter,) and his grandam, Duchess 29th, was also deeply bred in and in for generations back."

We shall conclude this introduction by noticing a few of the importations of Short-horns into Canada.

Some of our Short-horns trace their descent from cattle originally imported to the United States, but the greater number are descended from direct importations by Canadian breeders.

About 1831, Mr. Robert Arnold, of St. Catharines, brought a cow, Countess, and a bull, Leopold, 91 A. H. B., to Canada, from the stock of Mr. C. H. Hall, New York. The dam of this cow, Princess, was bred by Robert Colling, and imported by Mr. Hall in 1825. These cattle of Mr. Arnold's were perhaps the first, or at least were amongst the first Shorthorns introduced into Canada; and as the cow proved very prolific, her descendants are to be found distributed pretty widely over the Province.

In 1833, Mr. Rowland Wingfield, of Guelph, brought the bull Young Farmer [242], and Reformer [605], and several cows, amongst which were Favorita, by Warden (1568), Favorite 2nd, by Henwood (2114), Pedigree, by Mynheer (2845), Cowslip, by Warwick (2815). These cattle were chiefly from the stock of the Rev. Henry Berry, of Worcester, and descended from the herds of the Collings, Mr. Whitaker and others. Mr. Wingfield afterwards sold these cattle to Mr. Howitt, of Guelph, and a considerable number of our Canadian short-horns have descended from them.

A few years later (about 1836), the late Hon. Adam Fergusson, of Woodhill, imported several animals, from the stock of Mr. James Chrisp, of Northumberland, Mr. Crofton, of Holywell, Durham, and others. He also obtained, from time to time, several good animals from the adjoining States, descended from late importations. A considerable number of our short-horns trace their descent from Mr. Fergusson's importations.

About the same time (1836), Messrs. George and John Simpson came out from Yorkshire, England, and settled near Newmarket, bringing a number of good cattle with them, from the herds of Mr. Parrington, of Middlesbro, Stockton-upon-tees, Mr. B. Wilson, of Thirsk, Yorkshire, and others. There was not, perhaps, great care taken to perpetuate this stock in its purity, in many cases, but a large number of excellent grades have descended from them.

About 1834, the Home District Agricultural Society brought over four good Short-horn bulls from New-York State, bred from imported stock. There were no pedigrees obtained with these animals, that being a matter not much thought of at that time. These bulls, however, became the sires of very good grades, and thus tended to improve the general character of the cattle of the district.

The late Colonel Burrowes, of Brantford, about 1840, imported a few animals from the herd of Colonel Powell, of Philadelphia, and which were descended from importations from the herd of Mr. Whitaker, of Burley, near Otley, Yorkshire.

About 1845, Mr. Henry Parsons, then of Ancaster, brought into the Province several animals from the herd of Mr. C. M. Giddings, of Ohio, bred from importations from the stock of Mr. Berry, Mr. Mason, of Chilton, Mr. Wetherell and others.

At a somewhat later date (perhaps 1850), Messrs. George and William Miller, of Markham and Pickering, commenced to import, and have since that time brought out a large number of animals, from the herds of Mr. Robert Syme, of Redkirk, Dumfriesshire, Scotland; Mr. Nicol Milne, Faldonside, Melrose, Scotland, and others. We should not forget, in this connection, Mr. Simon Beattie, of Markham (Mr. George Miller's son-in-law), who has displayed much enterprise in importing both from Britain and the adjoining States.

Mr. F. W. Stone, of Guelph, imported a few animals from the United States in 1854. In the following year, 1855, he imported a large number of choice animals direct from England, from the herds of Colonel Kingscote Gloucestershire; Mr. Jonas Webb, Babraham, Cambridgeshire; Mr. Edward Bowly, Siddington, Gloucestershire; Mr. John Taylor, Moreton Hall, and Mr. Morton, Skelsmeigh Hall. Mr. Stone has continued to import at intervals from the above named and other herds.

Hon. Mr. Christie, of Brantford, entered the field as an importer in 1864, bringing out in that year five first-class animals from the herd of Mr. James Douglas, of Athelstaneford, Scotland.

In 1859 or 1860, Mr. N. J. McGillivray, of Williamstown, Glengary, imported a bull and four cows from the herds of Mr. Amos Cruikshank, Sittyton; Mr. J. Grundy, The Dales; and Mr. Mark S. Stewart, Southwick, Dumfries, Scotland.

Besides these leading breeders, we might mention a number of others, who have imported more or less extensively: as Mr. Armstrong, Markham; Mr. Ashton, Galt; Mr. Ashworth, Quebec; Mr. Mairs, Vespra; the Messrs. Wade, Cobourg; Mr. Mullock, Waterdown; Mr. Place, Beachville; Mr. Petty, Huron; Dr. Phillips, Prescott; Mr. Roddick, Cobourg; Mr. John Thomson, Whitby, &c. &c.

Our present stock of Short-horns has descended from the sources above indicated. We believe that we may now justly lay claim to take very respectable rank, as a Province or State, in respect to the number and character of our Short-horn herds. Let our breeders persevere in aiming at excellence, let them carefully eschew the intermixture in their herds of any blood except such as can be shown, by reference to the pages of the Herd Book, to have been derived from sources distinguished for good qualities, and we shall doubtless arrive at the possession, in course of time, of a stock of Short-horns not inferior in points of excellence to those of any other country.

In explanation of the reference numbers in this volume we have to observe, that we have written the numbers referring to the English, the American, or the Canada Herd Book, in the same manner in which they are printed in each of those works respectively. The numbers referring to the English Herd Book are enclosed in parentheses, thus (16500); those referring to the American Herd Book, in commas, thus ,4963, and those referring to the Canada Herd Book in brackets, thus [673]. This is to avoid the use of the letters E. H. B., A. H. B., C. H. B., or any other more cumbersome mode of distinguishing the volumes to which the figures refer. Where pedigrees have been recorded in more than one of these works, we have thought it better, in the majority of cases, at least for this First Volume, to give all of the reference numbers.
