Child Could Not Sleep Till Cuticura Healed.

"My little brother suffered for about two years from tiny red pimples. They appeared constantly on his body but he had the greatest trouble under his nose. The skin was red and very sore and at the least touch he would give a howl of pain. After a few seconds he would have to scratch, and he was not able to sleep."

A friend advised me to send for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I noticed a change, and I used three cans of Cuticura soap and four boxes of Ointment when he was healed." (Signed) Louis F. French, 146 City Hall Ave., Montreal, Que., February 2, 1918.

An Important Discovery Swollen Veins Relieved

That Absorbine, Jr., would relieve varicose veins was discovered by an old gentleman who had suffered with swollen veins for nearly fifty years.

Absorbine, Jr., relieved him and after he had applied it regularly for a few weeks he told us that his legs were as smooth as when he was a boy and all the pain and soreness had ceased.

Thousands have since used this unique liniment for this purpose with remarkably good results.

Absorbine, Jr., is made of oils and extracts from pure herbs and when rubbed upon the skin is quickly taken up by the pores; the blood circulation in surrounding parts is thereby stimulated and healing helped.

Mr. Pullen's Offer Rejected By City Council

E. S. S. Co. Wharf Lease

Terms for Renewal Outlined—Mayor Hayes to Represent City at Meeting in Victoria, B. C.

In spite of the fact that Commissioner Bullock, at yesterday's meeting of the common council, recommended and moved that the council reconsider its decision in committee the previous day that James H. Pullen take whatever means he deemed fit to collect the amount of his bill for the painting of the sheds on McLeod and Pettigall wharves, but instead arbitrate with Mr. Pullen in the matter, the council adhered to its previous decision in committee.

His Worship Mayor Hayes will this summer represent the city of St. John at the annual convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities to be held in Victoria (B. C.), according to decision of council yesterday.

The council was in committee before taking up the order sheet in order to hear A. G. Currie, representing the Eastern Steamship Company, in the matter of the company's application for repairs to the Reed's Point wharf. After hearing the representative of the company the council came out of committee and the matter was settled in general routine.

Increased Wages.

The report of the committee of the whole was taken up section by section and passed as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that the commissioner of public works be authorized to give, in his discretion to the workmen at the crubbers, for the period from May 1 to May 14 inclusive, the increased rates of wages, ordered by the council on the 14 of May.

2. Your committee further recommend that the offer of $200 from Mrs. Isabella G. Nice for a conveyance in fee simple of lot No. 559 Brooks Ward, be accepted and deed given under the common seal upon the payment of the purchase money.

3. Your committee also recommend that the communication from Leonard C. C. Hammett, asking for certain fishing privileges over the government property at the Ballast wharf, be filed, the city solicitor having reported that the city has not the power to put them for sale during the present year.

4. Your committee recommend that the estimate of the city engineer of $8,800 for the cost of repairs to the Reed's Point wharf already commenced be approved and the work proceeded with.

5. Your committee also recommend that the city engineer be authorized to call for tenders for the supply of 20,000 ft. of Bay Shore merchantable spruce deals for repairs to the McLeod and Pettigall wharves, and 40,000 ft. of merchantable birch timber for the repairs to Reed's Point wharf.

6. Your committee have considered the application of the Eastern Steamship Lines, incorporated, for a renewal of revenues and warehouses at Reed's Point which expired on the first day of May instant, together with the report of the city engineer giving the details of the cost of the new freight shed offices and other improvements asked for by the company, and they recommend that the company will agree to pay a yearly rental based at 12 per cent on the whole cost of such improvements which are estimated to cost $29,000 in addition to the present yearly rental of $3,150, now paid by them, a new lease be given them for a term of ten years from the first day of May instant.

Permission Granted.

7. Your committee, with reference to the communication from H. C. Groat, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, in which he states that the company is obliged to entirely renew the timber galleries and substructure carrying some of the grain elevator system serving No. 1 berth West St. John, and requests the sanction of the city for the work, recommend that the permission asked for be given in the understanding that the railway notify the city before the work is commenced and enter into an agreement to be prepared by the city solicitor to the effect that the restoration of the crubwork where interfered with, will be entirely to the satisfaction of the city engineer or his representative, and that the entire cost will be borne by the company and it will promptly make good at its own expense, the city engineer or his representative to have the power to point out any defects in the work.

8. Your committee recommend that the request of the New Brunswick Power Company to place one new pole on Barker and two new poles on Somerset street be complied with, to be placed to the satisfaction of the road engineer.

9. Your committee would also recommend that the offer made by the New Brunswick Telephone Company under date of May 10, 1918, to remove their turnouts into No. 1 car shed, Main street, be accepted.

Piling Purchased.

10. Your committee further recommend that the offer of Lewis Corey here, attached to sell the city about 300 pieces of piling at $7.50 and $8.00 respectively, be accepted on condition that the piles were not cut prior to the winter season of 1917-18, and that the smaller sized piles be not less than ten inch and twelve inch bottoms and five inch and six inch tops, said piles to be paid for from time to time as delivered.

11. Your committee also recommend the account of Frank Boyle of $795 for 100 pieces of piling purchased by the late commissioner of harbors, Ferris and public lands, be paid and charged to the bracing of the piling underneath piers No. 5 and No. 6 West St. John.

Increased Salary.

12. Your committee also recommended that the salary of the harbor master, Frank Alward be increased from $2,000 to $2,500 to take effect from the first day of June next, and that David R. Willet of the chamberlain's office be granted an increase of $100 in his salary

Rounding Up Plotters in Ireland

Dublin, May 21—The government net is still spreading in hope of arresting other persons believed to be connected with the alleged German plot. A number of suspected persons are being searched, some vehicles in the vicinity of the city are being stopped and the occupants are subjected to examination. The press comment on last night's manifesto of protest issued by the Mansion House anti-conscription conference relates all-round reluctance to take a definite stand regarding the alleged German plot. All parties are making time, awaiting developments.

The Unionists presume that the government's evidence must be very strong, while the Nationalist press shows some skepticism as to the reality of a plot. The Sun Feins have no daily newspaper. Its half dozen little papers, known in Dublin as "The Mosquito Press" appear weekly on Thursday but at the Sun Fein headquarters were emphatic details of the existence of any German plot today. The Unionist organ, the Irish Times, commenting on the Mansion House manifesto, condemns: "The scandalous suggestion that a great Irish soldier and an English minister have conspired to blacken Ireland's character in friendly countries."

It describes the manifesto as "in effect a vote of confidence in the Sun Fein, an appeal to the worst prejudice of the most intolerant Irishman and the reputation of Ireland's duty in the war. If this is the best that Nationalist statesmanship can do in Ireland's gravest hour, if this is its true message to people who are now in death grips with Germany, decent Irishmen of all parties must hang their heads for shame."

BANK MERGERS MUST HAVE APPROVAL OF THE GOVERNMENT

London, May 22—Some dangers feared from recent large bank amalgamations in England undoubtedly are somewhat problematical and remote, says the report of a treasury committee appointed to inquire into the matter. The committee says it would have preferred to avoid the necessity of government interference had it not been for the conclusion that possible dangers from further large amalgamations are material enough to require government action.

Ottawa House Divides On Question of Titles

Premier Accepted Motion as Test of Confidence; His Amendment Carried With Majority of Thirty-three; Yukon Question Finally Settled

Ottawa, Ont., May 21—With public galleries packed, and amid scenes of excitement, the House concluded the debate on titles a few minutes before midnight. The end came after an announcement by the prime minister which, no doubt, had its effect on the division. There had been question whether an adverse vote on a sub-amendment submitted by the prime minister would be regarded as a vote of non-confidence. On this point, Sir Robert made his position clear. "If," he declared, "the House does not propose to adopt the course which I have asked them frankly, and with much respect, to take, I should consider that I am relieved from my duty of carrying on any longer the government of this country and I should ask His Excellency, the Governor-General, to seek other advisors. It seems to me that a somewhat peculiar course has been pursued by some honorable gentlemen on this side of the House in inquiring of the leader of the opposition as to whether or not this motion was to be treated as a motion of want of confidence. In my understanding of the course which is pursued on such occasions, I have always understood that the leader of the government should be asked with regard to that. And I cannot quite understand the reason why there should have been resort to my honorable friend on the other side of the House (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) to learn how I should regard a motion of this kind. However, the course has been taken and it is entirely in the judgment of the House to determine what course they intend to pursue in the matter. So far as I am concerned, my course is absolutely clear, and open."

Sub-Amendment Carried The prime minister's sub-amendment was carried on this division: For, 104. Against, 71. Messrs. T. Foster, Fielding and Nickle voted in the negative. Mr. Richardson did not vote. Debate had arisen on Mr. Nickle's motion for an address to the King praying that no further hereditary titles be conferred on residents of Canada. To this, Mr. Richardson, of Springfield, had proposed an amendment striking out the word "hereditary," and thereby seeking to have all future titles in Canada abolished. Sir Robert's sub-amendment was in amendment to Mr. Richardson's amendment. It provided that the address request the King to refrain from granting titles to residents of Canada, engaging to fall in accordance with the principles enunciated in the order-in-council of last March respecting titles. This was the order-in-council read to the house when titles were last discussed. The motion, as modified by the sub-amendment, was carried by a majority of 104 to 71. Sir Robert further announced that the question of titles would be taken up at the Imperial conference. Yukon Matter Settled. After three divisions and a protracted argument, the house also disposed of the Yukon election case. The last report of the committee on privileges and elections was concurred in, and it was decided that the military votes cast overseas "are properly applicable to the respective candidates to whom they have been applied." This means the election of Mr. Thompson, the approved government candidate in the Yukon. The senator-general intimated, however, that a bill would be passed before prorogation.

Much Depressed In Spirits On Account of the Exhausted Condition of the Nerves - Though Several Doctors Were Consulted Results Were Disappointing

Albert, N.B., May 21—All energy and ambition seem to disappear when the nerves become exhausted. Hoping to get some relief, I looked on the dark side of things. Such was the experience of Mrs. Tingley, but she soon got to seeing things differently when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was used to form new rich blood and build up the exhausted nerves. Mrs. Geo. T. Tingley, Albert, N. B., writes: "Will you please allow me the privilege of giving my experiences with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food? I was for a long time in a very nervous, rundown condition, and much depressed in spirits. I suffered a great deal at times, and it was four or five years ago before I fully discovered what the real trouble was. The least noise would irritate me, and at times I felt as though I certainly would go crazy. I took various medicines recommended me, and consulted different doctors, but to no effect. A friend advised me to begin the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at once. I complied with the request by procuring the medicine at the earliest convenience, and can truly testify today to the great benefit I received therefrom. I was able to get a marked change in my condition before I had finished the use of two boxes. I kept up the treatment, however, until I had taken about a dozen boxes, and now feel safe in saying that I am cured of nervousness. I am entirely relieved of those terrible feelings I used to have, and cannot too highly praise Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which has done so much for me. I shall ever be ready to testify to the merits of this wonderful remedy, and gladly recommend it to all who suffer as I did, feeling sure it will give them quick and permanent relief." This letter was endorsed by George C. Anderson, J. P.

to give Mr. Congdon, the opponent of Dr. Thompson, a period of forty days after the general return officer makes his declaration. The main motion for concurrence in the committee's report was carried by 108 to 69. Continuing the debate on the report of the committee on privileges and elections (Yukon election case) at the afternoon sitting, Hon. W. S. Fielding said that the great issue in the matter was whether or not the long established parliamentary principles should stand or fall in respect of the Yukon. This subject should not be decided by a partisan committee of the house, but by the voters of the country. The committee had been caused by the war time elections act. There were some men who professed respect for this document, but when both candidates were conscriptionists. It was not the soldiers who had voted for Dr. Thompson, it was the prime minister. J. H. Burnham asked Mr. Fielding whether Mr. Congdon had stated to him that he was in favor of conscription. Mr. Fielding replied that it had been stated over and over again in the house, and never been questioned that Mr. Congdon was a conscriptionist. A. L. Davidson—"Is it not true that Mr. Congdon was endorsed by the leader of the opposition?" Mr. Fielding said it was within the rights of the Liberal leader to endorse what candidate he liked. The point was whether or not Mr. Congdon was a supporter of conscription, and he understood that he was. The minister of justice, Mr. Fielding went on, had declared that the courts, in considering the matter, would be confined to the strict letter of the law. To denounce the strict letter of the law, was the argument of soap box orators. "With the letter of the law denounced by the minister of justice," Mr. Fielding asked, "what are we coming to?" Bumble had said the law was a "hoax," but Bumble's everywhere could rejoice. They were in good company. They could claim that their views were precisely the same as those of the minister of justice. Mr. Fielding declared that the solicitor-general had intimated they were going to slam the door in Mr. Congdon's face and then ask him to come in. That's not fair play—that's not playing the game, he concluded. Hon. Arthur Meighen. Hon. Arthur Meighen opposed Mr. Fielding's views. He declared that, while both of the candidates, prior to the election in the Yukon had at some time supported conscription, yet one of them supported it in principle and practice and took the only course that would have realized in its enforcement. The other, he said, while he may have supported it, was nevertheless endorsed by the leader of the anti-conscriptionist party. A by-election in the Yukon, said Mr. Meighen, would mean an appeal to only four-fifths of the electors. "A full vote could hardly be obtained." Hon. W. S. Fielding—"Why not?" Mr. Meighen maintained that it would be an exceedingly difficult task to secure from the great number of men overseas, those qualified to vote in the Yukon. To do this would be a measure of justice to the fighting men at the front. Opposition laughter greeted this statement. Mr. Meighen—"My friends opposite laugh, and that laughter shows the measure of their interest in winning the war." The remark was met by loud cries of protest from the opposition benches, and A. R. McMaster, rising to a point of order, declared that "it was a gratuitous insult to every member of the opposition and should be withdrawn." Speaker Rhodes said that he did not think Mr. Meighen intended the remark to bear meaning which had been taken from it by Mr. McMaster. If he thought so, he would demand its withdrawal. Ho! Ho! Remark Insulting. Mr. McMaster insisted that the remark was insulting in as much as it implied that the opposition members were not interested in winning the war. Speaker Rhodes requested Mr. Meighen to state that he had not intended to imply that any honorable gentleman was not interested in winning the war. The minister of the interior said he did not desire to question the interest of any member in winning the war. He did think, however, that if any one seriously suggested that 300 soldiers should be withdrawn from the front for the purpose of repeating the vote of last election, that person did not realize the gravity of the present situation. He insisted that the right of disfranchisement should not be placed in the power of any court. It was the duty of parliament to guard the franchise, and it must do this for the men overseas. The house divided on the Devlin amendment, which was defeated by 103 to 68. Continuing the debate on the main motion, Mr. Lapointe claimed the whole matter was legally before the house. He thought that the only fair and just way to adjust the matter was to order a new election for the Yukon. He then moved an amendment, to the effect that the seat for Yukon be declared vacant, and writs be issued for a new election, and legislation at once adopted providing for the registration of the military voters of the district for the purpose of taking part in the election. Sir Robert Borden, in reply, stated that there had been an oversight in regard to the matter of deferred elections, and also in respect of the filing of petitions. He said that the oversight should be repaired, and the matter made to stand before parliament before the people of the country precisely in the way that parliament intended when the legislation and question was passed. Division on the Lapointe amendment gave the result: Against, 102; for, 69. The house then divided on the main motion. This was carried, by 108 to 69. Resuming the debate on titles, Sir Robert Borden expressed the view that the amendment moved by Mr. Richardson went further than was desired at the present time. Under the amendment as it was at first proposed, it would have prevented recognition by the crown of the services of men in the naval and military forces. It would have created a vicious distinction between men serving from different portions of the empire. Sir Robert suggested that the order-in-council read when titles were last discussed in the house went about as far as it would be wise to go without further consideration. He then moved a sub-amendment, which would have the effect of making the address to the King read the general return officer makes his declaration. "That your Majesty heretofore may be graciously pleased to refrain from conferring any titles upon your subjects domiciled or living in Canada, except in accordance with the principles enunciated in the order-in-council approved on March 20, 1918, and laid on the table of this house on May 21, 1918." Considerations had to be given, Sir Robert went on, not only to Canada, but to all parts of the empire. Requests had been received that the whole subject might be considered, representing the conference this summer in the United Kingdom, and Sir Robert thought no public measure should suffer in holding the matter over. If the amendment were passed in the form proposed it would have the effect of preventing any minister of the crown or any other person in Canada from being appointed. His Majesty's imperial council, because appointment to that council carried with it the designation "Right Honorable." He thought that any further consideration might well be laid over until after consultation with the imperial authorities. Resumed in Evening. The debate on titles was continued at the evening sitting, J. H. Burnham being the first speaker. Mr. Burnham said that, in his opinion, the people of Canada were sick of the whole title business. He thought the matter might have stood over until the war had been concluded, but if an amendment before the house which required a vote, then it was up to the members to express their opinion. The people of Canada were greatly stirred over this question, but Mr. Burnham stated he did not propose to refer to arguments which had been gone over by previous speakers, with the exception of those advanced by the prime minister. Sir Robert Borden, said Mr. Burnham, had brought up the question of the Victoria Cross. He was not aware, the speaker said, that there was any title of honor attached to the V. C., the man who earned it simply wore his cross without blushing about it. It required no advertising. The prime minister's amendment was based on an order-in-council which provided that no title should be conferred upon a resident of Canada without his approval. But the prime minister simply represented the people and, said Mr. Burnham, the people didn't want titles. They didn't want any measure providing for the continuance of titles. Titles were issued to the powerful and rich, who were often also the crooked and crafty. If this matter was to be discussed in London at the Imperial conference, said Mr. Burnham, it was for the parliament of Canada to instruct the prime minister to say that Canada was dead against titles. This was our chance to announce the attitude of the dominion on this question. If the people of Australia wanted them, that was their affair. If the people of Great Britain preferred to continue this kind of humbug, let them do it. It was a free world, but don't let the people of Canada throw over their principles for the sake of such nonsense. H. L. Richardson, who moved the amendment, providing for abolition of all titles, said that the prime minister believed the amendment was going too far. For his own part, he thought the people of Canada were heartily sick of titles. They had been conferred upon unworthy persons and were used for purposes of political corruption. A prominent westerner, said Mr. Richardson, had told him that he was offered a knighthood for $10,000. Mr. Richardson said he was glad that the leader of the opposition had declared his intention of making this a non-party question. It was an issue on which every member should register his own opinion by his vote. He thought the members were almost unanimous in their desire to wipe out titles for all time to come. The prime minister's amendment would be an improvement on present conditions, but a real democracy, such as the people of Canada desired, allowed for no titles at all. Canada should take a lead in this important matter and, if others followed, so much the better. Mr. Richardson argued that appellations by courtesy were not titles. Men who sat in the house of commons and the senate, he said, would continue to be called "honorable" and judges "your lordship." There was no reason why titles should be conferred upon military men, but the V. C., D. S. O., etc., were not titles. They were merely military distinctions. The whole house appreciated what the soldiers at the front were doing. They were shedding their blood in order that we might have liberty. But it would not add anything to their blood in order that we might have titles. Some of the greatest men, Gladstone, for instance, were quite content to be plain "Mister." Canada should set an example to the Motherland in this matter and do away with "claws." It was a time for striking down precedence. Mr. Richardson said that, if his amendment was defeated, he proposed to submit another, which would provide that titles of distinction awarded to men in the naval or military forces of Canada should not be abolished, but that all other titles should. R. H. Butts, (South Cape Breton) caused considerable amusement by asking what was the necessity for such a long debate. "What difference does it make if I am called Sir Robert Butts or plain Bob Butts?" he asked. "If a Canadian should distinguish himself—if, for instance the right honorable leader of the government and the right honorable leader of the opposition so distinguished themselves in the administration of the affairs of the country—that his majesty the king sees fit to confer upon them the titles of 'Sir,' what harm does it

Two Members Of Fighting 26th

Reach City in Party of Returned Men—Albert County Laid Dies in France

A party of thirty-six returned soldiers arrived in the city on the Halifax train yesterday afternoon, and were greeted at the station by a large number of relatives and friends of the soldiers in the party. There were five St. John men in the returned group, all of whom have seen considerable service in the war zone. The five from the city were: J. DeMaines, Queen street; L. H. Patterson, corner Pitt and Orange streets; W. F. Pearce, King street east; G. Richardson, King street east; and Clayton Teed, Pitt street.

Sergeant George Richardson was one of the interesting members of the returned men, if only from the fact that he is one of the few originals of the famous 26th Battalion. Sergeant Richardson carries the distinction of being one of the 26th who never yet has been hit, but he is making no special "brag" about the incident, as he expects to return again and carry on as before. Speaking to The Telegraph at his home in King street east last night, he said he had nothing to say, like all men who have done much in the present war. He said that he would be a member of the 26th three years in June, and had worked along with the battalion since their advent into France up to a few weeks ago. He went over as a private and now carries his three stripes. Sergeant Richardson has been engaged as transport sergeant with the 26th, and when asked about his duties, he replied, "Well, the battalion have to be fed; we have to go up to the front lines every night, as food does not last forever, and it is carried by the men in limited quantities, soon run out."

W. A. Teed, Clayton Teed, son of Mrs. C. Hoceel, 28 Pitt street, also returned home yesterday. He went overseas with the 11th Battalion, and was transferred into the 26th, with which he has been in the trenches for the last eighteen months. He has also escaped the flying bullets of the Boche and is able to say that Fritz failed to get him. He said last evening that he was home on leave. Although the homecoming of Private Teed was a joyful reunion, still it did not lack a tinge of sorrow, for his father passed away at Christmas time.

The complete party of returned soldiers will be formally welcomed at the Discharge Depot this morning by the members of the Returned Soldiers' Reception Committee, where they spent the night. They will be housed today, and will immediately leave for their homes in various parts of the province.

Died in France.
Eigin, N. B., May 21—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. W. DeMille received an official telegram from Ottawa, Wednesday, informing them of the death of their son, Winston, on the 4th inst., in a hospital in France. Winston was 19 years of age on April 24. He went overseas with the 145th battalion in October, 1916. He had been in England only two months when he was drafted into the 10th Canadian and sent into the trenches. He was in several offensive operations, notably Vimy Ridge. In this he was wounded, and sent to a hospital in England, where he remained for several months. In November, having sufficiently recovered, he went back to the trenches, and took his place in several engagements. On April 29 he was stricken with measles, followed by pneumonia, which terminated his life on May 4.

Captain Hay Returns.
Captain Burpee M. Hay, who until recently was attached to the local headquarters staff as casualty officer, was a welcome visitor to the city for the last few days. It will be remembered that Captain Hay left for overseas, along with Captain R. St. Hayes, M.C., this city, some few months ago, both having been recalled overseas for duty. Cap-

TELLS LADIES HERE "WATCH YOUR STEP"

Can not camouflage a touchy corn but says they lift right out

A brisk, lively step is what charms more than a lovely skin, but your high heels have caused corns and you say a little. That's bad, girls, and you know it. Corns destroy beauty and grace, besides corns can be lifted out with the Buzer.

Rid your feet of every corn by asking at any drug store for a quarter of an ounce of freestone. This will cost little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, touchy corn relieves the soreness and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out without pain.

This freestone is a gummy substance which dries instantly and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding skin.

Women must keep in mind that corns feet create a youthful step which enhances her attractiveness.

tain Hay's return to the city was an agreeable surprise to his many friends who thought that he was carrying on somewhere in another field of military activity. However, he has been ordered back to Canada and will continue to work in his native province—New Brunswick. He has been appointed as officer in charge of recruiting in this province for the royal air force and is now anxious to sign on all likely cadets.

The establishment of a recruiting branch in these parts will be heard of with interest and pleasure. The headquarters will be in this city but only for the purpose of the branch. Captain Hay will have full charge. As the recruits for the air service are assigned up they will be forwarded to the head training camp in Toronto.

Captain Hay left last evening on the Montreal train for Fredericton and Woodstock where he will look over the ground for prospective men for the R. F. C. He said yesterday that he would sign on all men between the ages of seventeen and thirty. He will return to the city on Friday when he will have further particulars to give out previous to starting his new work in earnest.

Captain Hay had had considerable experience in flying having been overseas several months in the Royal Flying Corps. He was severely wounded during an engagement with a German plane and was invalided home.

SOLDIERS UNDER ARREST

Montreal, May 21—While the National Prison Reform Association places in the foreground of its labors the abolishment of capital punishment, the public inspection of all prisons, penitentiaries, and reformatories; a more effective application of existing laws for the prevention, detection, and punishment of the criminal, the constitution also reads: "And such other measures as may be considered desirable from time to time, by the association. In view of the latter privilege it has occurred to some members of the executive that if possible an attitude of sympathy and active interest relative to the treatment of delinquent soldiers under arrest especially among those at the front, being held because of suspicion of their having neglected sentry duty, deserted, or of having in any other way betrayed the interests of the allied armies. Of course spies are the worst of this class of offenders, and are frequently, when found guilty, convicted by court martial to be shot almost immediately. It is not to this grade of culprit that I refer. One had only to read the outcome of the Bolo Pasha, and the still more recent Bonnet Rouge trial, to realize how severe the French are when it comes to a question of treason. During the past winter they executed several women as spies. In case of the appearance of evil of this sort, no one in that country is exempt from the premises. And of course in a time like this they should not be. A writer in a recent issue of The New York World says: "We have been most drastic in our treatment of all agents of the German government, when we have caught them working for that government. We have sent what we called dangerous alien enemies to internment camps, but these persons cannot be classed in the same category as spies. In the United States, and among Americans at the front, the serious cases of delinquency are referred to President Wilson. On May fourth he pardoned two soldiers of the American expeditionary forces condemned to death in France, for sleeping while on sentry duty. He commuted to nominal prison terms the death sentence on two others for disobeying orders. Private F. D. Sebastian of Illinois and Jeff Cook of Oklahoma, were the men pardoned."

The president took into consideration their extreme youth, and concluded that they did not realize the seriousness of their offence, and it was possible that they would be of use to the army on the unit to which they belonged. The other two mentioned will be brought to the United States for imprisonment. All of these men were volunteers in the regular army. In many instances, soldiers have fallen out of the lines from fatigue or fear, or both, who could not strictly be classed as deserters. Thomas Mott Osborne of Sing Sing fame, and holding an honorable office in The National Prison Reform Association, has at present three hundred or more political prisoners under his supervision at the Naval Prison at Portsmouth, New Hampshire. If such cases as most of those I have mentioned are not reported to our Minister of Militia, it would seem that they should be. This has not been written in the spirit of criticism, but rather in the interest of the Prison Association. A committee has been appointed in Montreal by the society, to look into the cases of soldiers under arrest there.

HOW GALLANT GUNNER WON VICTORIA CROSS

An award notified in the London Gazette seems to be an echo of the early stages of the big battle raging on the western front. Lance-Corporal Charles Graham Robertson, M. M., Royal Fusiliers, belonging to Merstham, in Surrey, received the Victoria Cross for most conspicuous gallantry and devotedness to duty in repelling a strong attack by the enemy. The story of his defence is a thrilling one.

On realizing that he was being cut off, Lance-Corporal Robertson sent back two men to get reinforcements, and remained at his post (with only one other man), firing his Lewis gun and killing large numbers of the enemy, who were in range on his right. No reinforcements came up, and, realizing that he was being completely cut off, he withdrew with the only other survivor of the garrison of the post to a point about ten yards farther back, where he successfully held his position.

Here he again stayed for some considerable time, firing his Lewis gun and inflicting casualties on the enemy. The position was, however, made impossible for him by the heavy hostile bombing and machine gun fire, so he was forced again to withdraw, and arrived at a defended post.

At this post he got on top of the parapet with a comrade, mounted his gun in a shell-hole and continued firing at the enemy, who were pouring across the top of and down an adjacent trench. He had not been firing long when his comrade was killed and he himself severely wounded. He managed to crawl back, bringing his gun with him, but could no longer fire, as he had exhausted all his ammunition.

Lance-Corporal Robertson was alone throughout these operations, except for the presence of one other man who later was killed, and the most determined resistance and fire fight which he put up undoubtedly prevented the enemy from making a more rapid advance. His initiative and resource, and the magnificent fighting spirit, the Gazette notice concludes, are worthy of the highest praise.

BANGOR CONTINUES TO ADOPT WAR ORPHANS.

Twelve Are Added Making Total 205; School Children Adopt Four.

(Bangor Commercial.)

Since last Saturday twelve additional fatherless children of France have been adopted through the efforts of the local organization, bringing the total to 205. This is indeed a remarkable showing and again places this city among the leaders of the country in war relief work. In Portland, where the campaign started six weeks earlier than here, 145 orphans have been adopted and it is with pardonable pride that Bangor people may look upon this city's record.

The largest single adoption during the week was by the children of the Hamill Hamlin school who have given money which they will adopt four orphans, an effort that shows the great patriotism of the young people of this school.

"In the veins of the fatherless children of France," writes General Pershing in an interesting letter, "courses the blood of heroes. There is a heritage worth inheriting—a heritage which appeals to the deepest sentiments of the soul. What France through their fathers has done for humanity, France through them will do again." His words carry the implication that the wrong against which France, with England, Italy, America and all the other Allied countries, is now strugg-

Where Ireland Owes a Debt

Plight of France Should Appeal to Country She Believed in Other Times

Toronto Mail—If an American citizen were now to say that he would not fight against Germany because he was unwilling to assist Great Britain he would be sent to jail. But this, in effect, is what Ireland is saying. Ireland never had any particular aversion to fighting. In fact, her sons are known the world over as "the fighting race." The trouble is that a certain section of Ireland hates England more than it hates Germany. There would be less objection to conscription in Ireland if in this crisis Irish leaders would turn their eyes from England and fix them on France. Louis A. Cavalier is quoted in the Louisville Courier-Journal as calling attention to the great debt that those who are fighting for the principle of Irish nationality owe to France. Certainly France did its best to establish Ireland as an independent country at a time when it seemed possible that this independence might be won by force of arms. We need not dwell upon the fact that France's enthusiasm for Irish independence in those days was not entirely dissociated from her own fear and hatred of England. In any event, France tried to do for Ireland what no other nation ever attempted, and now there is a chance for Ireland to show that, however she may hate England, and however indifferent she may be toward Germany, she remembers her debt to France.

At the Battle of the Boyne General St. Ruth fought for the Irish, and De Tress, Lausap, De Rosen and Broeslean supported the lost cause at Athlone and Aughrim. The writer remarks that any Irishman who has ever read of the charge of Lally, Dillon, Clare and Roth at Fontenoy would blush with shame to refuse to fight for France today. It seems plain that there is good reason why Ireland should strike a blow for France and a blow for Belgium, in whose University of Louvain so many of her priests were taught. If Ireland is not moved by thoughts of France and Belgium she might think of herself. One recalls the classic incident of Mr. Pickwick falling through the ice when he and his associates were disputing themselves on Mr. Wardle's sofa. One of his alarmed disciples shouted to Mr. Pickwick that he should support himself until help arrived, for the sake of his friends. It oc-

Have you got into the High Price Habit?

PRICE is the deciding factor in making a purchase with most people. While some seek the lowest price, there are many who are willing to pay the top-notch price, feeling that highest-price means highest-value. Both are wrong. Willingness to pay a high price is as wasteful as the false economy in paying too low a price.

Take shoes for instance. You can pay extravagant prices, but above a certain point the advance in price is not warranted by increase in usefulness or appearance or durability. In paying top-notch prices, you may be paying for extravagances that, in these days of economy, are quite unnecessary.

Consider the price when buying a shoe. Don't assume the highest price is necessary.

Buy the shoe that meets with your requirements at the price that gives the best value for your money.

You will find it possible to obtain shoes at reasonable prices which have all the qualities that you require. Ask your dealer to show you a shoe bearing the A.H.M. trade-mark. See if an Ames Holden McCready fine shoe (for men or women) at, say, $7, $8, or $9 is not in every respect satisfactory in style and appearance. When you buy them, keep a record of the wear they give, and decide for yourself if A.H.M. shoes do not give you greater value than you have ever obtained.

Ames Holden McCready are by far the largest shoemakers in Canada—a gigantic industry supplying the Canadian people, through thousands of retail dealers, with footwear of excellent value at reasonable prices, made in huge factories, each specializing on certain grades and styles.

When buying shoes, look for the A.H.M. trade-mark on the sole. This trade-mark is important to you. It is your assurance that you are getting standard value and a protection against cheap, unsatisfactory goods. Tell your dealer that you want A.H.M. shoes, tell him for what purpose you want them, and about what price you want to pay—you will find it worth while.

Central Powers Plan Big Drive on Italy

Military Operations in the East to be Suspended While Austria Hurls Entire Weight Against Italian Frontier; Important Gains by Allies in the West

Washington, May 21—Further evidence that another great Austrian drive against Italy is impending came today in an official despatch from Switzerland, saying also that the Central Powers planned to suppress all military operation in the east on May 20 to concentrate forces on the Italian front.

Austrian newspapers are quoted as saying this step marks the institution of civil administration again in Bukovina and in Galicia, and that similar measures are to be taken in Hungary towards Transylvania.

The military importance of the decision is emphasized because it enables the withdrawal of a considerable military force from Galicia and Bukovina, while the Austrian general staff will be able to turn all its attention to the operations against Italy.

Striking vigorously at the enemy at various points along the western battle-front, meeting each outbreak of German artillery with a thunder of cannon fire and maintaining the mastery of the air in every sector from the North Sea to the Swiss frontier, the armies of the Entente Allies are preventing the Teutonic armies from quietly perfecting their preparations for coming battles.

For the most part, the Germans have shown but little of their habitual fighting spirit along the line in France. They have been thrust back in four sectors and the Allies have succeeded in winning ground which will be of great importance in the future, but the Germans have counter-attacked in only one instance and this movement was carried out so slowly and with such a lack of dash that it was easily broken up before the Teutons reached the new Allied positions.

The attacks by the French, near Loire, on the northern side of the Lys, and of the Australians, before Amiens, which have already been reported, now appear to have been most successful than was at first understood. Near Loire the French have not only taken strongly fortified points, but they

At the meeting which was held in the Imperial yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club, Dr. Mable Hanington made a special plea for efficient medical supervision in schools, laying special emphasis on the need of the child's parent being present when medical examination was made and the great desirability of having a woman for the inspecting doctor.

ailments of women
There is no denying the fact that thousands of American women drag along day in and day out suffering with ailments of a kind which make life a burden. If women who suffer from dragging-down pains, inflammation, ulcerated or catarrhal conditions would only give that greatest of all remedies, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, they would readily find relief from such suffering, as the many letters of commendation constantly being published prove.

Penitentiary for all deserters now
Privates Henry George Fanjoy and Charles Frederick Fanjoy have been sentenced to two years in penitentiary for deserting, by order of a district court, today. The trial of Kierstead was held recently. The sentence was pronounced yesterday on the barrack square. The depot battalion was marched out and the offenders brought before the colonel under escort, when the sentence was read. Today they will be taken to Dorchester to serve their term.

Find True Bill in Murder Case
Gagetown, May 21—At the Supreme Court which opened here today, His Honor Justice Barry presiding, the grand jury found a true bill against George Kierstead, charged with the murder of his wife, and also against Frank Akerley, charged with a neighbor in a plot to take his farm from him. Later he accused her of attempting to bring in a neighbor of the woods to cut pulpwood. He always took the witness with him on one occasion her father took an axe and chopped the wheels of the farm wagon, and at another time he chopped down the royal mail box.

New Treatment Now Advocated for Bronchitis
In Having Wonderful Success, and is Making Remarkable Cures.
For bronchitis a different form of treatment is now advocated. It consists of a scientifically devised vapor that penetrates to the utmost recesses of the lungs and bronchial tubes. Every spot that is sore, every surface that is irritated is at once bathed with soothing balsams and healing essences that make chronic bronchitis an impossibility. This treatment now so universally employed in bronchitis, throat troubles, colds, etc., is called CATARRHOLINE. It acts just as air of the pine woods acts as a healing antiseptic remedy for all diseases of the breathing organs.

FINE OF SIX
A colored man named Babbs appeared in the police court this morning to answer a charge of keeping a ferocious dog without license. Mrs. Sarah E. Hogan testified that the dog jumped at her and tore a new skirt that she valued at $8. She said that the defendant promised to pay for the garment, but had failed to do so. Her daughter, Alice R. Hector, and Mrs. Holmes also testified. Magistrate Ritchie warned the defendant that he was liable to a fine of $18 for keeping a ferocious dog and allowing it to run at large and $5 for not having a license for it. He suggested that those interested come to some agreement over the payment for the skirt and he would allow the fine to stand. This they failed to do so a fine of $18 was struck.

GIRL ARRESTED ON DRUNKENNESS CHARGE
Says She Was Taken Into An Office and Forced to Drink

A young girl appeared before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning charged with drunkenness. Police officials asked that she be retained until they could investigate a story she had about being taken into an office and being forced to drink a concoction. The request was granted.

Magistrate Ritchie spoke at some length about young girls being allowed to roam about the streets at night and said that the police should be given more authority if they were not able to explain why they were out take them into custody. He said that he had seen too much street walking at night and that result many serious charges were preferred in court.

SOME RETAIL VENDORS

A partial list of the retail vendors who will be licensed to sell liquor under the prohibition law during the current year has been authorized. There will be a supplementary list to complete the number but it is understood that some licenses issued last year will not be renewed. CITY TRAFFIC CASES

A report was read against J. S. Gibbon & Co., Ltd. in the police court today for having a dealer's tag on one of their delivery trucks. Mr. Gibbon explained that he had written to Fredericton for a tag on May 1 and had received it only yesterday. Magistrate Ritchie accepted the excuse and said that it was regrettable that a business man should have to lose his time because of tardiness on the part of others. A charge was also made in the same report that the driver of the truck, Harold Sullivan, did not have a license. Mr. Gibbon explained that the driver was not in his employ now. The magistrate said that the driver should have been summoned.

Charles Beshara was charged with driving on the wrong side of Haymarket square. A fine was struck against him but was allowed to stand.

Leonard Steves was reported for driving a delivery truck for the Two Bakers without having a license. He said he had successfully passed the required examinations but as he was not quite eighteen years of age he was unable to procure a license. He was told he would have to discontinue driving the truck until he could get the certificate.

POLICE COURT.

A boy who escaped from the Boys' Industrial Home yesterday appeared before Magistrate Ritchie this morning. His case was set aside until the superintendent of the home could be present.

Two men arrested on drunkenness charges were told that they were liable to $200 for having liquor on them and $8 or two months in jail for being drunk. They were sent below.

In a case before the police court yesterday it was stated that evidence was given by Mr. Kane of Kane & Ring. This was an error. Mr. Kane was not in court.
