TERMS WITH WHICH GERMANY MUST COMPLY

Of Note of The Supreme Council

MUST WITHDRAW TROOPS

Refuse to Admit That The German Government Can Shield Itself Behind Alleged Inability to Enforce Obedience By Troops in Baltic Regions

Washington, Oct. 1.—The state department last night made public the text of the note of the supreme council at Paris calling on the German government to comply immediately with the order of Marshal Foch requiring evacuation of all German troops now in the Baltic provinces under the penalty of an immediate restoration of the German blockade. The note follows:

"Under date of Aug. 27 Marshal Foch commander-in-chief of the allied and associated armies, made known that the time had come for Germany to evacuate the said territories and summoned the German government to proceed thereto immediately.

"On the note of Sept. 3 the German government endeavored to evade the enforcement referred to by pretext, which the Allied and associated powers were unable to consider.

"The Allied and associated governments refused particularly to admit that the German government can, in order to avoid responsibility incumbent upon itself behind alleged inability to enforce obedience of its orders by troops in the Baltic regions. They therefore requested the German government to do without delay the evacuation of German troops, staffs and services now in the Baltic provinces.

"The German government, in immediate compliance with the necessary steps to withdraw a forward and soldiers who would since the demobilization in Russia organized in the said Baltic provinces, and will without authority and strictly forbid enlistment of corps.

"The Allied and associated governments hereby notify that unless they are able to execute the terms of the note of the supreme council, the Allied and associated governments will refuse all financial assistance which the German government is enjoying at the present time or which it is seeking from the Allied and associated governments or their representatives.

"The event of non-compliance on the part of the German government and the associated powers will be treated as a breach of the peace treaty and will be considered as an act of war.

"The Allied and associated governments will continue to enforce the aforesaid terms of the note."

It is announced that for the purpose of saving coal and ensuring the production of foodstuffs, service over Irish railways will be reduced by one half.

While the majority of London morning newspapers continue to urge the necessity of the public supporting the government in fighting the transport workers' strike, and emphasize the cheerfulness with which the country is bearing the present inconvenience, the Daily News repeats its urgent appeal that the government seek a "bridge to span the tragically widening gulf."

It is said the country's equilibrium can hardly survive an adverse decision relative to a strike by the transport workers today.

The "supreme peril of the future," it is contended, is the entire optimism held by the people regarding present perils. It is said the country is rallying to the support of the government, and the simple opening a wider fissure between the bourgeoisie and the artisans, and the lesson of what a fissure may mean is written on the face of Europe in blood as yet hardly dry.

Referring to the prospect of other unions joining the strike, the Daily Mail says that "in view of the fact there are now five million trade unionists in Great Britain it is futile to regard the strike as merely a contest with half a million railway men."

London, Sept. 30.—James O'Grady, a labor leader and member of parliament for East Leeds, said on entering the conference of the transport workers' federation this forenoon:

"Something very important will happen. I hope this conference will succeed in effecting a settlement."

Robert Smillie, leader of British miners, said that the prospect of the movement demanding direct action in the recent labor congress here, predicted this morning that fifty per cent of the manual workers of the country would be idle within a week. He declared he expected the mines, steel works, shipyards and all factories to shut down.

PEERS AT WORK ON THE RAILWAY Social Lines Obliterated by The Big Strike

Dukes Drive Lorries and Earls Unload Trucks—Organization of Food and Transport Service Proves Effective—Smillie Predicts That Fifty Per Cent of Manual Workers Would Be Idle Within a Week

London, Oct. 1.—(By the Canadian Associated Press)—Social lines, which in the past have been rigidly held in England have been broken down, the time being at least, as a result of the railway strike which this morning entered its fifth day. A duke was seen driving a motor car through the streets yesterday, while during the day an earl was in the chauffeur's seat in the motor car in the motor leading a convoy of fish from Billingsgate.

The sixth Earl of Port Arthur was among those whose names are found in the social register who were engaged in unloading perishable goods, milk and chums from a train, while at the Paddington station and Lady Darnley, Duchess of Colwyn, was the fireman on the Liverpool-London express when it rolled into this city today.

The call for volunteers brought out members of the Cavalry Club, the Guards Club, the Air Force Club, colonels, majors, barristers and civil engineers. Men from these walks of life are now standing at the fire doors of electrical power houses.

Organization of food and transport service by the government has been proved most effective and the resumption of work time rationing was worked smoothly. The food ministry announces there is a general reserve of flour, sufficient for two or three weeks, and there is a plentiful supply of bacon and marmalade. Further regulations issued to bring about greater economy on the part of the people, authorize the food controller to fix the price of foodstuffs, to fix the price of the people to observe the utmost economy in coal and petrol, and to avoid the use of automobiles for pleasure driving. If this appeal does not bring a general response, the use of private cars will be prohibited and petrol will be sold only on license.

Horse racing has been suspended in England and Ireland because of the strike. A four day meeting opened at Newmarket yesterday, but the newspapers pointed out that the racing track owners were urged by the government to abandon the rest of the meeting. This request was complied with immediately.

Irish Railway Service Cut. It is announced that for the purpose of saving coal and ensuring the production of foodstuffs, service over Irish railways will be reduced by one half.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter, "have you observed a possible and lofty expression in the eyes of your cows lately?"

"I can't say I have," said Hiram, "but I will say they are good cows, yes, sir."

"Any cow," said the reporter, "that produces fifteen cent milk has cause for pride and satisfaction. You should think the better world also go around with an air of superiority. Do they sniff at the bill of fare?"

"Mister," said Hiram, "you aint a-gonna give me into no argyment about the price of milk. I aint sellin' milk. I'm makin' butter."

"Well," said the reporter, "a cow that can produce sixty cent butter is also a lady of quality. I like my hat to her."

"Why don't you buy some?" demanded Hiram. "I don't see why you fellows rush in to buy farms an' get rich. Why don't you buy some of my cows for Sunday school superintendent—an' pound sugar to boot. Or I'll hire you to be the first game of what may be a nine game for the world's baseball championship."

You know as well as I do there aint hardly a young feller in the Settlement. Why? Because they want to come to town to make money—yes, sir. Send 'em back to the farm. I'll give you more stuff for the market. I don't hear half as much noise when gasoline goes up—or milk as I do when a woman yesterday with twenty dollar boots on, I 'spose she'll buy me a pair of milk when the price goes up. When I begin to get rich on the farm I'll come in an' tell you all about it. Nobody'll believe it—but they don't believe half what you print now—BY HEN."

READY FOR THE WORLD'S SERIES

Thirty Thousand Baseball Fans on Hand For First of the Nine Games—Rival Managers Profess Confidence—Reuther and Cioetta Will Pitch

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 1.—Some 30,000 fans prepared to worship at the shrine of baseball at Redland Field today, where the Cincinnati Reds, champions of the National League, and the Chicago White Sox, pennant winners of the American League, will do battle in the first game of what may be a nine game series for the world's baseball championship.

The arrangements for the series had been completed even to the extent of giving out the positive information that it either, the catchup of Cioetta's "saddle" will include Reuther, and Ray Schalk will do the catching of Cioetta's "saddle."

There is no doubt that the White Sox will go into the fray this afternoon slight favorites. The little betting market has been recording the odds of 6 to 5 in Chicago's favor, a considerable White Sox money was in evidence, but even money was demanded with few takers.

Both Teams Confident

That both teams are confident was indicated by the statements from their managers. Manager Moran of the Cincinnati team said:

"We have clearly earned our way into the series and we will clearly earn our way through it. I believe that we have the better pitching staff. In fact I do not know when a team ever went into so great an event with so strong a string of first class hurlers. I have six men any one of whom I can depend for excellent service. My pitcher for the opening game will be Walter Reuther. The team deserves the line share of the credit for it is a great ball club that fought its way through the season without a sign of faltering. We are going up against a great ball team, but I think we will hold our own."

Manager Gleason of the White Sox gave voice to the following:

"My boys are a great bunch and they are going to be very hard to beat. The team battled its way through the American League with such confidence and such absolute nerve in all the pinches that I have the utmost confidence in each and every player. At the same time I fully realize that we are going to be subjected to a severe test in this series. I have known Pat Moran for many years, and he is a tough man to beat. Also credit to him could stand off the Giants as the Reds did on three different occasions is going to be no easy feat. I have the utmost confidence in my pitchers have been under-estimated. We are here to win and we hope to do so."

Probable Line-up. The two teams took their final practice yesterday afternoon and were resting for today's game is:

Chicago: J. Collins, rf.; Weaver, 3b.; Eddie Collins, 2b.; Jackson, cf.; Felsch, cf.; Gandill, 1b.; Risberg, ss.; Schalk, c.; Cioetta, p.

Cincinnati: Rath, 2b.; Daubert, 1b.; Grob, 3b.; Rousch, cf.; Duncan, 1b.; Kopf, ss.; Neale, rf.; Wingo, c.; Reuther, p.

Probably fifty people waited at the gates all night, and they were joined by several hundred early in the morning, while within an hour after daylight the crowds had reached 1,000, waiting for the gates to the bleachers' pavilion of the unreserved seats to open.

Weather Is Fair. Cincinnati, Oct. 1.—Fair weather prevailed this morning and gave the promise that the first world series game between the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds would be played at Redland Field this afternoon. The forecast for Cincinnati is for unsettled weather, but the local forecaster in his prediction said he did not think it would rain, at least not enough to interfere with the game.

IMPERIAL VETERANS TO RECEIVE SAME TERMS AS OTHER CANADIANS

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Arrangements have now been concluded by which former members of the imperial forces, who were pre-war residents in Canada, and who have since resumed residence in the dominion, are to receive pensions, medical treatment when necessary, vocational training and prosthetic appliances under the same rates and conditions as applied to former members of the Canadian forces.

A RAW DEAL FOR CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS

Cannot Get Fair Settlement For U. S. Contracts

"TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT"

Decision on Amounts Due From U. S. Government Left to Officers Who Have Treated Canadians in Extremely Arbitrary Manner, Says H. W. Knight

Toronto, Sept. 30.—That Canadian manufacturers have had "very substantial justice" done them, that only twenty-five claims out of a total of 330 against the United States war department were still unsettled, and that the twenty-five outstanding claims did not aggregate anything like $15,000,000, as stated in the House of Commons by Joseph Archaubault, was the declaration of Sir Joseph Flavelle, chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board, when interviewed here today with reference to five questions, tabled in the house by Mr. Archaubault which charge in effect that the Canadian claims against the United States war department have practically induced the board to write off the claims at fifty cents on the dollar. Sir Joseph said:

"If the prime minister requests me to reply to the questions I shall be very glad to give him the information. It is not for me to answer questions that come up in the house. Such questions should be answered only in the manner in which questions asked in parliament ought to be answered."

H. W. Knight, of the Knight Metal Products, was asked about the statement made "Sir Joseph Flavelle is right in saying that out of 330 claims only 25 are outstanding, but he did not say that this 25 represented the major amount of the sum involved," was Mr. Knight's reply.

"The claims adjusted so far have been numerous, but most of them have been made for the simple reason that in most cases the manufacturers concerned are pressed for money and have been compelled by banks, etc., to take what they could get."

"The whole trouble is this: On March 2 the United States congress passed an act allowing two American officers to sit on the Imperial Munitions Board as assessors, to occur in the decisions of the board. This scheme worked out well at first, because the representatives sent to Canada actually did concern in the decisions made by Sir Joseph Flavelle and other members of the board."

"On the death of one of the American assessors, however, and the appointment of two new officers, marked change took place in the board. Instead of the former arrangement the American officers took charge of affairs, and Sir Joseph Flavelle sat in the background."

"Now the two American officers virtually say that the manufacturers making claims must accept their decisions. This is it or leave it. We may have contracts, but they deliberately ignore these in making their decisions. Several manufacturers are getting a raw deal, and some immediate action should be taken to change the policy of the board."

MAY SOLVE MYSTERY OF MISSING AIRMAN

New York, Sept. 30.—The mystery of the disappearance on May 29 of Captain Mansell R. James, famous British ace, who left Pittsfield, Mass., on that day for a flight to Atlantic City, and for trace of whom scores of cities and towns in New York and New England vainly sought for months, was believed to be solved today by the announcement of the burial in Wantagh, Long Island, about two weeks ago of a body that had been washed up on the shores of Hempstead Bay.

The body was badly decomposed and was buried after a cursory inquest by Wilbur F. Southard, coroner of Wantagh, who declares that identification as far as the body was concerned was almost impossible.

But a wrist watch found on the body is held by the coroner, and may prove a clue to connecting the disappearance of Captain James with the finding of the body on the south shore of Long Island.

The art of making mince meat

Good Mince Meat is a delight to the palate and a boon to the body. But good Mince Meat is not a conglomeration of materials mixed up in haphazard fashion and cooked without regard to certain conditions. There is an art in making good Mince Meat. The perfect blending of ingredients, the right amount of spices, the selection of the fruits and the care in cooking are vital factors. The consistently high quality of Bowers Mince Meat is evidence of the fact that mince meat making in the Bowers Factory has been brought to an exact science.

BOLSHEVISM IS MERELY GOSPEL OF WRECKING

Immediate Overthrow By Force of All Existing Institutions Its Aim.

Defined briefly, a Bolshevist is a person who believes in the immediate overthrow by force of all existing social, political and economic institutions. Thus writes John A. Embury in Leslie's.

If we ignore the writings of the parlor Bolsheviki which only serve the purpose for which they were written, to cloud the whole issue, and the writings and public statements of such men as Nikolai Lenine, Leon Trotsky, and Eugene V. Debs it is not at all difficult to get at the substance of the Bolshevist platform. According to these leaders, the tenets of Bolshevism are as follows:

(1) The immediate abolition of the institution of private property by means of force. All private ownership of houses, lands and all means of production must be immediately abolished.

The owners of these things, because of their exploitation of the proletariat, shall receive no compensation for their loss.

(2) There shall be no wages in the sense of one man working for another. The demands will be those paid by the state for productive labor.

There will be no rents, no profits, no interest.

(3) Nationalization of all industries. The workmen shall have full control of the industries which shall be nationalized become the property of the whole people. The distribution of the products shall be attended by the state.

(4) The consumers' goods now in existence, houses, clothing, food, etc., shall be divided up among the working class which produced them. The former owners of these things shall receive a proportionate share only in case of job in good faith the cause of the social revolution.

(5) All who oppose Bolshevism or the social revolution whether members of the proletariat class or not, shall have no rights. Bolshevism is bound to respect. Under no circumstances shall they be allowed freedom of press or association. Those who resist the social order by force must be put down by the most violent means possible in order to strike terror to the hearts of others who otherwise might be led to follow their example.

(6) The social revolution is at hand. It is worldwide. To succeed for long anywhere it must succeed everywhere. The revolution means war to the death with the property holding classes. The slogan of "Proletarians of all lands unite" must be changed to the battle cry of "Proletarians of all lands to arms."

(7) Family life and family ties must be weakened in every way possible, because the family is the greatest bulwark of that iniquity of iniquities, the institution of private property. This is to be accomplished by extremely lax marriage and divorce laws, public sanction of "free love," or, if the population can be induced to stand for it, the nationalization of women.

When the Bolsheviki overthrew the Kerensky government in November, 1917, and Lenine declared the dictatorship of the proletariat, Russia entered a social experiment, the aim of which is embraced in the political, social, and economic planks of the Bolshevist platform I have just outlined. Since that time many Americans have returned from Russia and told of the utter economic ruin that has overtaken the country, the orgy of bloodshed and terror that the leaders of the revolution have instituted, and the indescribable suffering that have been inflicted upon all members of the proletariat class in Russia.

WHY NOT KEEP THESE MILLIONS AT HOME?

Canada Paid $5,277,000 to United States Last Year For Fruits Which Could Have Been Raised in Dominion

In a vigorous plea for the development of the fruit-growing industry in Canada, G. W. Ecklin, writing in the Farmers' Magazine, declares that with the development of the canning industry fruit growers have suddenly become aware that what was once a hobby is now a great national asset of untold commercial value. He contends that probably no other agricultural pursuit is destined to reach such a dignified and important level as that of fruit growing. "It is a certainty," he says, "that the farmers of Ontario are not awake to one of the golden opportunities of the age when they neglect to plant new orchards each year or care for those they already have—little more than one-third of the fruit canned in the Dominion is home-grown—About fifty thousand bushels of pears alone will be imported into Canada from as far west as the state of Washington this year, so that the orders of the canneries can be filled. It would appear that there is nothing short of a criminal short-sightedness on the part of farmers to allow such a state of affairs to exist long.

"Nine times out of ten, when one opens a can of strawberry jam or preserves from the Canadian factory the fruit has come from Maryland, or some of the other southern states. Thousands of tons of strawberries are yearly imported into Canada for canning purposes, buyers starting early for the sake of the southern crop so as to be on the ground when the fruit is at its best. Every time the customer purchases a can of this fruit he pays for these expensive trips of the canner by means of the duty on such foreign berries naturally bring. As high as $10 per crate was paid this year for strawberries imported."

A further incentive to fruit growing is provided in the energetic campaign now being conducted for public support of the home market. The Canadian Trade Commission recently made a particular appeal to the women of Canada to support home industries. In doing so it submitted a partial list of commodities imported into Canada from the United States, including the following:

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Value. Green apples $1,528,000; Blackberries etc. 885,000; Cherries 107,000; Cranberries 1,227,000; Grapes 441,000; Peas 286,000; Quinces, apricots, pears, etc. 691,000. Total $5,277,000.

A prominent designer and importer of women's gowns declared the films have had an important effect on the demand for certain styles, particularly gowns of simple, classic lines and "intriguing fabrics," and a druggist reports the sale of cosmetics has increased 25 per cent since the movies became popular.

"ONLY $760 left after the bills are paid. It will not last long. Then, there's the mortgage. The payments on it must be met or I'll lose our home. If it were not for the children I could go out to work. But what can I do with them? I will have to do something—but what?"

"Exaggerated" you say. Not at all. All around us we see women and children adrift—left destitute because of man's very human tendency to "put off till tomorrow" a responsibility which involves a little self-sacrifice.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

Saskatoon Normal School reports the largest attendance in its history. The Protestant schools of Montreal report an opening attendance this month of 1,282 pupils more than last year. This includes an increase of 221 in the High School.

Saskatchewan Has Teachers. Superintendent McNeely of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Exchange states that every school has a teacher, and that salaries range from $900 to $1,000 for third class certificates, $1,000 to $1,200 for second class certificates, and $1,100 and upwards for first class certificates.

Overflow into Churches. The public schools congestion in Windsor, Ontario, is so great that fourteen classes of forty pupils each are working on the double-session plan. Seven of the classes run from 8 a. m. to noon, and the other seven use the same class rooms from 1 o'clock to 4.30 p. m. Further, the board of education has asked for the use of Sunday school rooms in some of the congested districts, and these are now in service.

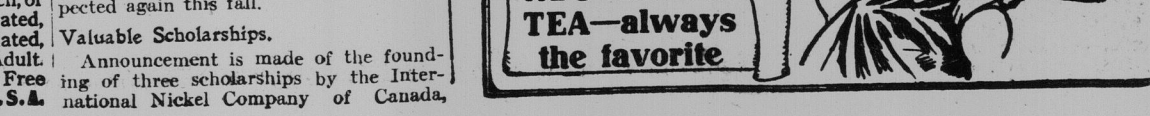

Lifelong Teetotaler Falls. London, Oct. 1.—That he had been a lifelong teetotaler until he was persuaded by some men he knew in France to drink two pints of beer, was the defense made by John Dyer, charged with being intoxicated. He was fined $10.

HOLLANDS BIG DAM. Now that the war is over Ho definitely setting about one of the greatest engineering tasks of modern times—the reclaiming of the greater part of Zuider Zee from the sea.

To do this, Dutch and American engineers are building a great seawall the narrow entrance to the Zuider Zee. This gigantic wall will be 18 mi. long and 230 feet wide at sea level. It will contain millions of tons of sand and granite, and along the top will be many feet above sea level. There will be a road for poles, a railway, and a wide road for other traffic.

When this wall is finished an extra 1,000 square miles of land will have been reclaimed, and nearly 100,000 acres of government farms of 100 acres each. The cost of the wall will be $20,000,000 but it will repay its cost many times over in a few years.—Str

A LONG AND USEFUL LIFE

Career of Late James C. MacGregor, of New Glasgow, One of Unusual Interest—An Appreciation.

(New Glasgow Chronicle) On Sunday morning James C. MacGregor was stricken with a sudden illness. The attack was of singular severity, still he lingered until Wednesday morning, when he passed away not having regained consciousness. So terminated the busy life of one of New Glasgow's most valuable citizens.

The life and work of James C. MacGregor was an interesting one and made it the more so by his attention to details and the mastery he secured every branch of industry and investment that came under his review.

PLENTY OF SUGAR IF—

And The "if" is if You Buy no More Than You Need

(Boston Globe.)

There will be plenty of sugar this fall and winter for every one if the housewives keep their heads do not buy more than they need now, and above all do not go from one store to another buying all they can get at each one and hoarding it.

This was the message sent through the Globe to the housewives of New England this morning by the officials of one of the large local sugar refineries, and the testimony of other sugar refiners and wholesalers appeared to corroborate his statement.

The situation at present seems to be, in brief, that there is no shortage of sugar, but that the demand for it is even larger. All the dealers agreed that more sugar is being prepared and shipped to the market than ever before. On the other hand, however, because of the demand for sugar by France and Belgium who can no longer raise their own, because those who can no longer get something to drink with a kick in it are turning to candy as a substitute, and because of increased consumption in the kitchen, the demand is greater than ever before and a little greater than the supply.

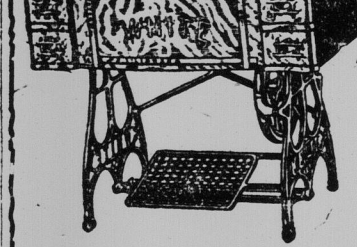

A new crop of sugar, however, is coming in which promises to be a big one. One sugar refinery is doubling its grinding mill in order to prepare for market the sugar cane it has on hand or in prospect, and from other sources come assurance of a bumper crop which will be enough to supply France and Belgium and the water wagoners and still supply the family sugar bowl and the pantry with all it needs.

If, however, the dealers say, the housewives start to get in a supply now by getting more than their share, more than they need for day-to-day consumption, there will be a real, although an unnecessary, shortage.

One phase of the situation is less attractive. It is said that if the government equalization board were to do it again this year, higher prices will be charged for sugar all along the line from the Cuban producer to the retailer and the consumer will have a considerably higher price to pay as a result. There seems to be uncertainty at present as to whether the government will allow this to happen.

"What does my little man want to buy today—sweets?" asked the kindly shopkeeper as the little boy entered. "You bet I do," was the reply, "but I've got to buy soap!"

HER FACE MUTILATED, SHE RAN FROM HOME
Young Girl Did Not Want to Return to School After Auto Accident
New York, Oct. 1—Muriel Young, the sixteen-year-old girl who has been missing for two weeks, is with her mother, Mrs. A. P. Eagleton, in New Haven, where she was discovered last Saturday night by police officers of the bureau of missing persons of New York.
Mrs. Hamilton went to Boston Saturday, after the assistance of the local police had been invoked by the girl's family. She visited friends of the family and of the girl and her inquiries led to New Haven. The grief-stricken mother received a wire from Mrs. Hamilton that night that her daughter had been found and was safe with friends.

The girl's mother hastened to her yesterday and the meeting was an affectionate one. Little Miss Young, it was learned from Mrs. Hamilton, had left her home because of her mother's desire that she return to school after an automobile accident several weeks ago which left her disfigured for life.
Miss Young took no money with her. The jewels of her mother, said to be missing at the time, were subsequently found in her home. She had car fare to take her only as far as Springfield, where she borrowed enough to carry her to her friends in New Haven.
After an operation her right eye remained closed and there is an ugly scar about it. While the sight may be unimpaired, the girl is denied the use of her eye. There are other disfigurements on her face.
Nervous to a high degree and extremely sensitive as to her appearance, the young girl did not want to face her schoolmates, and when her mother insisted that she return to school she quietly left her home and hid herself from the world among her friends.
Mrs. Eagleton said today that she would place her daughter in a sanatorium for treatment for her nervous condition. After she has recovered she will be taken in hand by specialists to have her injured eye treated, and if possible have the disfiguring scars removed.

One on the Actors.
The quartette of managers who carried their side of the strike to the newspaper offices in New York when the conflict with the actors was beginning are themselves responsible for the following tale, which the New York Times relates: The party, consisting of David Belasco, F. H. Sothern, George Broadhurst and Harrison Grey Fiske, has reached the anteroom of a certain newspaper office when they were confronted with the usual office boy.
"Who do you want to see?" he asked them.
"The managing editor," was the reply.
"What's your names?" came next.
"David Belasco, F. H. Sothern, George Broadhurst and Harrison Grey Fiske." But the names meant nothing in the life of the office boy. "And you want to see the managing editor?" he asked again.
"That is correct," said Mr. Belasco.
"All four of you want to see him?" "Yes."
The boy paused long enough to let his gaze roam appreciatively over the quartette.
"Well, what do you want to do?" he asked. "Sing to him?"
Co-operative Marketing.
The use of modern methods of marketing food products is being extended among Alabama farmers by agents of the extension service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, the state markets bureau, and other agencies. Fifty towns regularly hold co-operative low sale days and similar sales are being organized to handle other products. Cullinan county has what is considered a model co-operative marketing association, handling the entire output of 400 farmers.

G. W. V. A. HAS THREE DIFFERENT SCHEMES TO AID SOLDIERS

Ottawa, Sept. 30—A statement was issued today by C. Grant MacNeil, Dominion secretary of the G. W. V. A., refuting charges made by Harry Flynn, president of the Toronto Returned Soldiers' Gratiuity League, who is in Ottawa, to the effect that the officials of the G. W. V. A. had betrayed the wishes of the rank and file and also covering some interesting points regarding the G. W. V. A. position on the $2,000 bonus scheme. Mr. MacNeil incidentally states that the G. W. V. A. has at least three schemes to submit to the committee of inquiry for raising money to aid the returned soldiers. "Personally," said Mr. MacNeil, "I am acting under the instructions of the executive of the G. W. V. A. and as a certain of the organization I must abide by my instructions. But never at any time have I expressed myself against the $2,000 bonus plan simply because I have no instructions to that effect."

abide by my instructions. But never at any time have I expressed myself against the $2,000 bonus plan simply because I have no instructions to that effect."

"The officials of the G. W. V. A. have not yet discussed the $2,000 bonus with the government for the reason that they are not authorized to do so until an impartial inquiry has been conducted into the question of further aid in the re-establishment of the returned men, and the country's ability to pay it. We realize the stupendous nature of the demand, and also that the need must be actually established by facts and not by wild and extravagant statements. Furthermore officials of this organization are not making any attempt to suppress the views of the general membership on the bonus plan. As a matter of fact, at least three proposals will be submitted to the committee, all of which excel in comprehensive detail the crude scheme first evolved in Calgary. There has been no betrayal of the wishes of the general membership. The instructions of the Vancouver convention have been carried out to the letter and an analysis of the activities since then will establish this point. We realize that the question cannot be disposed of by mere demands. They must be backed up by concrete evidence. The association exists to provide the returned soldiers with a medium through which to express their legislative needs and we do not intend to abandon our policy to advance the interests of those we represent by reasonable methods. In this respect we are supported by the Dominion executives of the Army and Navy Veterans and the Imperial Veterans of Canada."

GEN. PANET COMMANDS DISTRICT No. 1, Brig.-Gen. Henri Alexandre Panet, C. M. G., D. S. O., Royal Canadian Artillery, Kingston, is to be G. O. C. Military District No. 1 in succession to Brig.-Gen. J. W. Shannon, who has, since Jan. 4, 1915, been in command at London, Ont., and whose forthcoming retirement is announced. The change is consequent on re-organization of the permanent staff and force, now under way at Ottawa. The exact date on which Gen. Shannon will relinquish the post of G. O. C. is not known. Gen. Panet commanded the Second Canadian Divisional Artillery in France.

LOCAL NEWS

A congregational dinner was held in St. Philip's church last evening. The members of the dinner committee were Mesdames Marjorie Bree, Esther Bree, and Amelia Williams, while the tables were under the capable direction of Mrs. Jessie Dixon. Miss Bella Langford and Mrs. Ivan Middleton.

Owing to the continuance of reports that the sale of game and game meat is prohibited this year, Colonel T. G. Loggie, deputy minister of lands and mines, has pointed out again that the section of the game law which prohibited the sale was repealed at the last session of the legislature, thus allowing persons to sell game meat during the open season.

At a meeting of the W. C. T. U. held yesterday, with Mrs. David Hipwell, president, in the chair, reports from field presidents were heard. Mrs. Henry Henrich spoke of having taken flowers to two sick members and Mrs. Seymour was appointed to take flowers to the D. S. C. hospital in Lancaster. The union also undertook to find suitable help for the residents in Upper Keswick. Plans regarding the Protestant Orphanage were also discussed.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN
EDITED BY MANSFIELD F. HOUSE

Many a "Movie Plot" in London Want Ads.
Americans, and particularly the thousands of doughboys who are passing through England on their way home, are getting more than a few smites from what is regarded as a typically British institution in connection with newspaper advertising—the "raggy column" of the London Times.

"Now, I ask you," said a former agent man, as he pointed to the personal column of the "Thunder," where in the United States could you find such a bunch of apparently irrelevant and meaningless ads as appear right here? "Take this one signed 'Darling' for example. It's addressed to 'Duckie' and reads: 'You promised you wouldn't Can't stick B. Can I see you before I go?' On the face of it, that sounds like the basis for a typical Chambers triangle, with Darling in one speck, Duckie at the third, and what looks to be the goat of the thing. What did Duckie promise and what did Darling try to stick B. That, as a famous Englishman remarked a few centuries ago, is the nub of all the queer ads aren't confined to the agency column. If Rufus Wallingford himself couldn't improve on an announcement of that 'An income of a thousand pounds a year can be secured by an investment of 1200 pounds—evidently the rate of interest is going up rapidly."

20,000 SICK AND WOUNDED ARE STILL IN THE HOSPITALS
Large Amount of Money is Required for Maintenance of Institutions, the Medical and Nursing Staffs, and Pay of Soldier Patients.

More than twenty thousand sick and wounded Canadian soldiers are still in hospital. These brave fellows became incapacitated in defence of their country for which they offered if need be, their lives. It is the earnest wish of every right thinking man and woman in the dominion that these heroes should receive the very best of care. Every attention must be paid to them all during their tedious suffering journey back to health and strength. This is of course being done, but it must be borne and it is borne cheerfully by the Canadian people in gratitude to the men who so gallantly faced the merciless foe in foreign lands. The up-keep of hospitals and the medical and nursing staffs requires a large sum of money. All the patients remain on the army pay roll until they are discharged. While all obligations to the soldiers demand, and will receive, attention this may be regarded as the most imperative. It is one of the numerous important reasons for raising the Victory Loan of 1919. The people of Canada are called upon to subscribe every dollar at their individual command in order to provide for the many after the war expenditures which Canada must finance.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.
(Montreal Herald.)
The active and strength in Atlantic Sugar during the past week has more to it than dividend anticipations or the million dollar profit on a raw sugar deal referred to earlier in the week. The sudden jump in the price of raw sugar made itself felt in the selling price of the sugar stocks on the New York list, when all of the members of this group moved forward vigorously. It seems that Europe is a big buyer of the next crop and has been bidding from a cent to nearly two cents above the present price as set by the qualification board. During the war the government took hold of the sugar crop and set a flat price of 2 1/2 cents a pound on the produce on the ground in Cuba. This price was to last for this crop only and nothing has been said about the next crop by the qualification board. All of the Cuban companies stand to benefit to a large extent from this new order of things and it will also directly benefit American Beet Sugar. It is learned from a reliable source that Cuba Cane Sugar, which was the leader of the Wall street sugar group this week, will show gross earnings close to $15,000,000 this year, which will be about $15 a share on the common stock before charges. In the case of Cuban American Sugar,

Charles Ledford, in making the presentation in behalf of their friends, spoke at length on the service given to his country by the young man whom they were assembled to honor and said that H. L. Logan had been to the front and had done his bit with credit to himself and his country. He had left McGill University and his education in absence while he assisted to put down the enemy over there. Having done this, he had returned again to start again where he left off at McGill and his friends wished him the best of luck and their best wishes for the future. The recipient in reply, said he did not regret the four years' loss of time in his studies, as he had won the war and he was proud of Canada. He leaves for Montreal on Monday.

IN COURT OVER A HORSE TRADE

Animal Thirty-Two Years Old Was Traded For $15 to Boot Sold Again For $20 and Then Sent to The Boneyard

William London was charged in the police court this morning with getting a horse and the sum of $15 under false pretenses. William J. Lloyd, a returned soldier, of Harrison street, North End, was put on the stand and said that the accused had been after him several times to trade horses. On Sept. 24 the accused met him, the witness said, in Douglas avenue, and again asked him to trade. The witness said he did not have time. The accused kept on arguing about the horse, saying that it was a much heavier horse than his and the complainant said "What is wrong with the horse?" and the accused answered "Nothing; he is a sound horse; all he needed was two shoes." The accused then said he had been drinking and had no money so could not get shoes put on but if he could get $8 he would have the shoes put on and bring the horse around that night to trade. Shortly after he came back and persuaded him to trade for $10 more, making $15 altogether. The trade was made and the witness said he took the horse to Fairville and put him in the barn and kept him there three days. On finding out that, as he termed it, he "had been done" he notified the accused and told him the horse was the property of James McGuire. He said he would not do anything about it if it was up to him. To this the complainant said he was going to get a warrant and the accused said "go to the devil and get away" and the witness said he came to the police court. Mr. McGuire then took the horse and the defendant still has the complainant's horse, James McGuire, Main street, said he got his horse back last Saturday and instructed his assistant to take the horse in question to the "boneyard." He also told the court that the horse is thirty-two years old.

William London, the accused, was put on the stand and said that on Sept. 23 he met Mr. Garnett, an employee of James McGuire, and he wanted to sell him a horse for $10 but the accused said "No, if you will give it to me I will take him." He agreed to do this and both men went to Mr. McGuire's stable and person and came back and said "You can have him." The accused said that Mr. Garnett had a bride there he wanted and asked him for that too but he said "Isn't it enough to give you the horse without the bride?" He asked the witness if he had done with the horse he said he sold it to another returned man, George Estell, for $20. J. A. Barry, George Estell, for $20. J. A. Barry, counsel for the complainant, asked him if the deal for the last sale of the horse was not made yesterday morning in the police court after the arrest, but the accused denied that.

George Estell told the court that he bought the horse for $20. He said that he had done with the horse and asked him if the horse was any good and if it could be sold for $20. He said "To tell you the truth, he can't. I would not give two cents for him." The witness said he had taken down and paid $20 for the horse.

The case was settled and the horse returned to its owner.

The case against Charles A. Paddock sr., who is charged with allowing dogs, and also the case against Fred Paddock, charged with having liquor illegally, was resumed. No evidence was taken and a further postponement until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

The Ever-present Cootie
In lecture in a local church last night a former army chaplain referred to the "dugouts" in which nowhere else was the concentration of numbers running into millions so impressed upon one. If you can't make a scratch at the idea conveyed, just ask any returned chaplain he'll tell you.

As a famous leader is reported to have said, "An army travels with its stomach" and the chap in France said he had a whole army traveling on his.

Headline says that trouble is brewing in England. And as a recently returned man said mournfully as he licked his parched lips, "That's not the only thing that is brewing in England, either."

An advertisement for ladies' hats in a local paper finishes, "Prices running all the way from $7.50 to $25.50." Running is right!

How to Tell the Time
Some time during the week, if a friend asks you what time it is, the following will be the procedure. Look at your watch; jot down the time on a piece of paper; look at the clock on the old post office—just that; then add them together; add the amount of your bank balance; take the square root; divide by the number of days in that particular week; the answer is liable to be "lemon."

And what is worse, your friend is liable to be somewhat put out with you, for your laundry may come home damp or some other calamity befall.

From the number of people reported shot by hunters, in mistake for moose it would seem that it's safer to be a moose these days than to be another hunter.

DEADLOCK IN REFINERY STRIKE STILL EXISTS

General Manager Says They Can Pay No More Than Offered—Men Willing to Accept Finding of Conciliation Board

A deadlock still exists between the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., and their employees. Representatives of both factions met in conference at different times this morning, but little or no headway appears to have been made in getting the matter straightened out.

The members of the Coal Handlers' Union who were employed at the refinery discharging coal from cars refused to continue work this morning pending a meeting of the union which will be held this evening, when their attitude towards the refinery while the refinery employees are on strike will be considered.

INQUIRY INTO BACON PRICES

The Packers Have Consumer Coming and Going

Government Counsel

Eggs and Butter Values—Prices Paid to Farmer Drop, But Little Relief to Ultimate Purchaser.

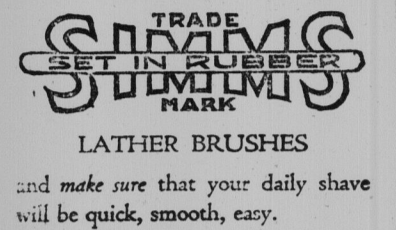

(Toronto Globe.) While prices for hogs to the farmer may drop down to $16.75 a hundred-weight, the Board of Commerce found yesterday that the unfortunate consumer was seldom made aware of the fact. Indeed, it transpired that sometimes prices of bacon and ham jumped another five cents while the farmer was getting less for his product. "The packers have the consumer coming and going," observed Col. Price, counsel for the Board of Commerce. "My contention," he further explained, "is that the packers regulate the price of hogs, and immediately they are reflected on the retail prices. They raise the prices immediately when they pay more, but don't reduce when they are paying less."

The Board of Commerce had a full sitting and a busy day yesterday, with Judge Robson and W. P. O'Connor both present. The operations of the Wm. Davies Company and the Swift Canadian Company were up for examination, and the price of bacon was the principal point touched on, although eggs, garden produce and butter were brought in as a kind of side order.

Labor Aids Move to Extend "Neighborhood Governments"

Leaders Endorse Plan to Set Up Community Councils to Improve Living Conditions.

The part which organized labor should play in community development is being studied by John Frey and a committee of well-known labor leaders in connection with proposed plans for an extension of the Social Unit plan of community organization, which has received its initial try-out in a section of Cincinnati, Ohio. Under the auspices of Mr. Frey's committee, John Walker, former president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, has been making an intensive study of the Social Unit idea and will shortly submit recommendations to an organized labor group throughout the country.

JOHN P. FREY

Under the Social Unit plan neighborhoods are organized as units to study their own needs and form programs to meet them. The citizens of each community are organized by blocks, with elected block committees, and elected representatives to a central community council. Representatives elected by business, trade and professional groups assist the community council in planning programs to meet discovered needs. It is claimed for this scheme of organization that it does away with paternalism and brings government closer to people's lives.

Among the business men who are working with labor leaders in forming this community program is Charles Edison, son of the inventor and chairman of the board of directors of the Edison Company, who has resigned from all other social activities to affiliate with the Social Unit.

FARMERS MAY QUIT THE HOG BUSINESS

(Toronto Globe, Saturday.) As a result of a continued breaking of the hog market by packers, farmers are evincing a keen desire to sell their hogs, and in some cases are talking of entirely giving up this branch of agriculture.

Some time ago the opinion was expressed by local packers that they would effect a lower price for hogs. At present time, as they anticipate further reductions, while American packers intimated they would go as low as $12. Now that their objective is apparently attained, trouble is in sight from the producing end. Farmers claim that the prices now offered do not meet their costs for fodder, and that they receive nothing in the long run for their own labor. Buyers for the local slaughter state that farmers are showing a good deal of anxiety to sell their hogs at the present time, as they anticipate further reductions. The very desire of the growers to unload young hogs and sows will have a further tendency to break the market on themselves.

Selling Breeding Sows. A lot of breeding sows are being received at the local live stock yards, and an effort is being made to sell them. Council also declared the decrease in price not reflected as they should be.

The same thing applied to ham, the price to the farmer dropped 85, while the price to consumer went up five cents a pound. Bacon was worse, the consumer having to pay 61-2 cents per pound for ham, and 58 cents for bacon. Mr. O'Connor reminded counsel that it took forty days to turn out bacon and that the price of buying and selling should be compared forty days apart.

R. E. Leonard of the Swift Canadian Company was then examined. He stated that the price paid for hogs was arranged between the head buyer and the office. The drovers, who were company men, drew a commission of twenty-five cents per hundred, called in a witness informed the board that about 80 per cent of the hog was lost during conversion into cooked bacon.

Slow Reduction. The Swift Company prices showed about the same thing. When prices to the farmer were the highest, the consumer paid top-level prices, but when prices dropped from $24.10 to $16.75 per hundred, the consumer enjoyed a reduction of only four cents. Although prices had dropped now to $16.75 the price of bacon averaged fifty-eight cents.

Prices compared with March 10 showed fresh ham eight cents more, fresh bacon four cents more, and cured bacon 91-2 cents more, while the price of hogs is at the level of that date.

"I maintain that there should be a reduction of from five to ten cents per pound from the packer to the wholesaler, and that this board would be justified in ordering such a reduction on the strength of the figures quoted," stated counsel.

An Unexpected Question. A party of four, just returning from the theatre, called in at a fashionable restaurant. The prim old maid who was the guest of the evening, was charmed with everything, especially the music.

While the waiter was standing by the table she asked him to find out the title of the piece the orchestra was playing. And the willing waiter promised.

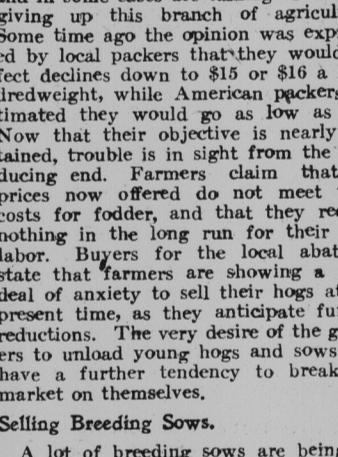

But other duties claimed him for a time, and when he returned the lady had completely forgotten her request. When he bent towards her, and softly whispered something in her ear, she recoiled in horror. Then, recovering from the shock she turned with cold, relentless fury upon the hapless man who waited.

"How dare you!" she cried. "How dare you?" And it took the terrified waiter quite a time to explain why he had merely breathed the title of the piece so softly.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside, to soothe bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headaches, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do. To keep these poisons and toxins ever flushed from your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify, and freshen the entire alimentary tract before eating. Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Dissolve phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins, also to prevent their formation.

St. John Man Was Getting Weaker Every Day—Tanlac Puts Him On His Feet

"I would actually give my whole week's pay for a bottle of Tanlac rather than be without it," said Ernest B. Williams, who lives at 101 Simonds street, St. John, New Brunswick, while talking to a Tanlac representative the other day. "I had been suffering from indigestion and stomach trouble for about two years," continued Mr. Williams, "and this trouble was getting the best of me every day. I was getting weaker and weaker every day, and had reached the point where I was hardly able to work at all. I didn't have any appetite to speak of, and what little I managed to eat would sour on my stomach and cause me to suffer for hours at a time. Sometimes my head would ache so bad I just thought it would burst. My back ached a lot, too, and very often my legs would hurt me so bad I could hardly stand on my feet. I was so restless and nervous at night that I hardly ever slept much, and would feel so tired and worn out every morning I could hardly pull myself together enough to go to work. While in this weak, run-down condition I had an attack of the 'flu', and this about put the finishing touches to me. Well, I managed to pull through this spell of influenza, but it certainly left me in bad condition. It just seemed that I would never get started up hill again, for nothing I tried did me any good at all. We had heard a good deal about Tanlac, and a friend of ours told my wife about how much relief this medicine had brought her, so I decided to give it a trial. Well, sir, I have only taken three bottles of Tanlac so far, but the way I have improved beats anything I ever heard of. Why, I have such an appetite that I am actually hungry all the time, and I have gained nine pounds already. I can just feel myself getting stronger every day, and I know I am getting back to my old self. I am not restless and nervous at night any more, and sleep like a log from the time I hit the bed until time to get up in the morning. I wouldn't take anything in the world for what Tanlac has done for me, and you can count me to say a good word for it every chance I have. Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—(Advt.)

River Valley Lumber Company, in Whose Property Fire Started, Biggest Loser, About $200,000—Four Churches, Twenty-two Dwellings, Hotel and Boarding House, Among Property Burned—Help Rushed From Capital.

Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 30.—The village of Cromocto, shiretown of Sunbury county, was practically destroyed by a fire which broke out at 11 o'clock this morning and raged until late this afternoon. The fire was the second which has occurred within two years, a large portion of the village being burned in June, 1918. The loss in today's fire is conservatively estimated at $500,000, and is the most severe blow Cromocto ever received, injuring the place even more than the decay of the wooden shipbuilding industry several decades since. The destruction of the sawmill and lumber yard of the River Valley Lumber Company removes the chief industry of the village. It is not too soon after the fire to learn what the intentions of any of the property owners is with regard to rebuilding. A considerable amount of insurance was carried on the properties which were destroyed. The chief loser is the River Valley Lumber Company which lost sawmill, office, millyard and lumber.

An Important Discovery Swollen Veins Relieved

That Absorbine, Jr., would relieve varicose veins was discovered by an old gentleman who had suffered with swollen veins for nearly fifty years. He had made many unsuccessful efforts to get relief and finally tried Absorbine, Jr., knowing its value in reducing swellings, aches, pains and soreness. Absorbine, Jr., relieved him and after he had applied it regularly for a few weeks he told us that his legs were as smooth as when he was a boy and all the pain and soreness had ceased. Thousands have since used this simple liniment for this purpose with remarkably good results. Absorbine, Jr., is made of oils and carburets from pure herbs and when rubbed upon the skin is quickly taken up by the pores; the blood circulation in surrounding parts is thereby stimulated and healing helped. $1.50 a bottle at druggists or postpaid. COLLEGES ARE OPPONENTS OF BOLSHEVISM

Sound Thinking Depends on Mental Development and Discipline — The College Man in Industrial Life.

Samuel Harden Church, president of the Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa., in a statement issued yesterday, recognized the schools and colleges of America as the staunchest opponents of Bolshevism and of the "twisted thinking of imported brains."

"The colleges and universities of America are reporting a larger registration this year than ever before," said Mr. Church, "and this is an excellent sign of the prosperity and hopeful outlook of the times."

"I have just finished reading a book, 'Syndicalism,' by Earl C. Ford and William Z. Foster, and am told that it has had an enormous free circulation among industrial populations."

"Let me say that as a general rule there is no longer any question in regard to the superior availability of a college-bred man for promotion to higher positions in industrial establishments."

"Modern education should come more and more to a harmonious union between technical instruction on the one side and on the other side, that familiar acquaintance with the history of human development in every race and every age which is designated by the disfavoured word classical."

the head. The youthful desperados are alleged to have attempted both train wrecking and murder with brassed liberation. Yeo is in Victoria Hospital with two wounds, but the fact that one bullet flattened against his skull and beneath his scalp saved him from instant death. The pellet will be removed tomorrow, and it is believed that he will recover.

Commissioners Bullock and Fisher Find Some Who Had Been Overlooked—Council Will See That Law is Not Violated by Strikers

Considerable surprise was expressed by members of the city commission at their weekly council meeting yesterday afternoon when Mayor Hayes announced he had reliable information to hand that certain pickets from the Sugar Refinery strikers had interfered with teams from a few of the local wholesale grocers sent to the refinery to secure sugar. His worship added that all laboring men had every sympathy from him in any attempt to secure better conditions he could not stand for any lawlessness at this or any other time.

Commissioners Jones and Fisher expressed surprise at this action and intimated that knowing the leaders, who are handling the men's affairs, they were of the opinion that the occurrence took place without their knowledge.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IS GIVEN FRENCH GOVERNMENT

Blockade of Germany Begun Yesterday for Failing to Withdraw Troops from Baltic—German Government Decides to Recall Von Der Goltz.

Paris, Sept. 30.—The Clemenceau government was sustained on a question of confidence in the chamber of deputies today. The premier's demand for postponement of the discussion of the motion of Deputy Andre Lefevre, instructing the government to seek the adding of a rider to the Versailles treaty for the further disarmament of Germany was agreed to by a vote of 292 to 188. The resolution of Deputy Lefevre had earlier been considered in the peace commission of the chamber. After hearing Premier Clemenceau, who explained that negotiations with the Allied and associated powers on the subject of the actual disarmament of Germany would not obligate him to negotiate at the same time with Germany, the commission decided that the Lefevre resolution should be introduced in a form which would not interfere with the treaty and which could be accepted by the government. A resolution suggested by Deputy Grodel of the commission as a substitute for the Lefevre resolution read:

"The chamber invites the government to engage in negotiations with the Allied and associated powers with the object of bringing about the actual disarmament of Germany and of her allies by means of the prohibition of certain war manufactures and of all measures estimated necessary."

Still Arming, He Says. Deputy Lefevre declared that Germany was still arming and that the Versailles treaty left her the power to continue to do so since the conditions for a control or limitation of armaments were impossible to enforce. Discussion of this proposition after the ratification of the peace treaty, as had been proposed by the government, would be an empty gesture.

Premier Clemenceau said that the manufacture by Germany of heavy artillery had been suppressed and that the ministry was ready to negotiate later with the Allies for an exacting observance of the treaty. He believed that he could obtain what Deputy Lefevre wanted, but after ratification of the treaty.

His concluding words caused a great impression upon the house, "if the chamber decides for immediate discussion I cannot continue to work for the application of the treaty."

LABOR TROUBLES AND HOW TO PREVENT THEM

Herbert N. Casson of London, England, a well-known newspaper man in his book entitled "Labor Troubles and How to Prevent Them," finds that warfare work, profit sharing, or shorter hours do not solve the problem of labor unrest. Nor does a general higher level of wages satisfy; rather it causes more strikes than low wages. In many cases the wastage of labor turnover is greater than the wastage of strikes, he states. The normal turnover is about 80 per cent a year but for 27 firms in Detroit the labor turnover averaged more than 232 per cent. To train new workers costs from $20 to $200 so that labor turnover is a considerable factor in increasing costs of production. Mr. Casson urges the need of industrial training. Again he says:

"In the game of life hearts are trumps—not clubs as the Germans vainly imagined. Successful business is honeycombed with settlement. Germany was defeated because she played the body against the soul; the lower nature of man against the higher. This is the most terrible lesson of modern times. These four great fallacies; that labor creates all wealth; that profits are the result of capital; that the interests of the worker, have all got to be exposed and lowered."

IRISH TENOR WAS HIT OF THE SHOW

Opera House Programme Good from Start to Finish With Variety of Excellent Acts

Eugene Emmet, a sweet voiced tenor, Irish in costume, Irish in smile, gesture and the woe touch of brogue, carried off the honors in the Opera House programme last night; and well he deserved it, for he can surely sing and had a repertoire of songs that just caught the fancy of the audience. He sang and sang some more for the audience liked him and nearly spilled their wine selling him so. You will enjoy hearing him for he does know how to sing a song right to you personally and to take it as clear and sweet as a bell. Another good hit on the programme was the acrobatic comedy act by the Herbert Trio with triple and double somersaults, high in the air, and a long swing and throw-out act at the finish that brought the audience up standing for a long outburst of applause.

Following the serial picture, Perils of Thunder Mountain, came Belle Newman, dramatic singer and violinist. Good voice, pretty costumes and master touch on the violin, made a combination that won favor right away.

Al Lester, supported by a charming partner, breezed in next, got everybody good natured right away with some good parodies, witty dialogue, and closed with a decidedly original finish. A good skit all the way through and full of hearty laughs.

Hazel Harrington and company of two in support, offered a well played comedy sketch, snappy and smart in dialogue nicely worked out plot, and splendidly acted by all three in the cast.

It is safe to say that last night's audience would have voted unanimously that it was a good show from start to finish.

New York, Sept. 30—Major league baseball passed off very speedily at the Polo Grounds yesterday, with the Giants and Phillies administering the anaesthetic in a double-header. The first half of the twin bill was reeled off in 51 minutes, certainly the fastest game played in the major leagues in many years and probably a record.

There was no unusual effort yesterday to make a speed record until the Phillies half of the ninth. At that time it became apparent to the players that they could do something unusual, and for a few minutes they hustled.

NEW YORK TO HAVE PRO. FOOTBALL TEAM

Charley Brickley is Organizing the "Giants" For Sunday Games at Polo Grounds

New York, Sept. 30—Professional football, with players drawn from the ranks of former college stars, is to be thoroughly tried out in New York this season. The sport has flourished for several years past in the Middle West, particularly at Akron, Canton, and Massillon, Ohio, but has never been played to any extent in this section.

The eleven will be known as the New York Giants, those behind the plan adopting the name of the National League baseball club here. All local games are to be played on the Polo Grounds, most of them on Sundays, but Saturdays may be utilized when college elevens are not performing at the Harlem field. An unusually large squad will provide strong teams for both Saturday and Sunday games if the sport takes here as it has in the Middle West.

RECORD NUMBER OF COLLEGE STUDENTS

State Universities of Middle West Registering More Than Ever Before—Gains General For All Classes of Schools.

Chicago, Oct. 1—It is now clear that the great state universities of the middle west will have a tremendous enrollment of students this year, both men and women, breaking previous records even where attendance was already remarkable.

At Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, registration on the first day covered 3,500 students about 1,000 more than the prior record. Some 240 students enrolled, as against 60 in the largest previous year. Temporary dormitories were erected in the Agricultural Hall to take care of the overflow.

Enrollment at the University of Oklahoma on Friday reached 2,100, 100 more than ever before. The schools of law, engineering, chemistry, geology, and journalism show unusual increases.

The Colorado School of Mines has a present attendance of 40%, as against 27% last year. Purdue University, at West Lafayette, Indiana, on Saturday, had 2,228 students enrolled, 400 more than last year with the Students Army Training Corps, and 620 more than in 1916, the former banner year.

President M. L. Burton of the University of Minnesota said on Saturday that present indications point to the heaviest enrollment this year in the universities. Registration is in progress there.

Registration at the University of Chicago opens on Wednesday. Advance inquiries, said W. A. Payne, registrar, indicate that the institution is going to be attended by unusually large numbers.

It is of course desirable to have an exhibition in this city to make it a financial success, and I have no doubt as to the conclusion that it is absolutely necessary to provide horse races, ball games and athletic sports, both field and aquatic. If, as it should be, they desire to re-establish St. John's name in the world of sport, and also to place the city in its proper location on the map, which is always inspected by those who contemplate vacation trips during the exhibition season, the time is now opportune for those in authority to show some activity along the lines suggested.

Experience has proven that the grouping of exhibitions, buildings, live stock sheds, race track, ball and athletic grounds has met with success, while the diverse exhibition and live stock buildings from the race track, ball and athletic grounds have in a very large majority of cases met with failure.

In order to secure to the patrons of an exhibition the maximum of pleasure and of value for their money, it must afford them the privilege of viewing all there is to be seen, for the one admission fee and without having to travel miles between locations of exhibition and live stock buildings and the race track, ball and athletic grounds. If aquatic sports are to be included during exhibition time, and there is no reason why they should not be, the location for these would not be expected to group such a location with the before mentioned.

If it is desired of those controlling an exhibition in this city to make it a financial success, and I have no doubt as to the conclusion that it is absolutely necessary to provide horse races, ball games and athletic sports, both field and aquatic. If, as it should be, they desire to re-establish St. John's name in the world of sport, and also to place the city in its proper location on the map, which is always inspected by those who contemplate vacation trips during the exhibition season, the time is now opportune for those in authority to show some activity along the lines suggested.

While the city should be called upon to make many other expenditures in supplying modern conveniences, in order that it should not be considered as simply existing to save funeral expenses, I believe that the one as suggested is of vital importance to the city at this particular time.

The question of location is important, but the objection, that such a location is not to be found within the city limits, is, or should not be, vital to the successful carrying out of such a proposition as there are locations immediately adjacent to the city and which are accessible by street cars and other modes of conveyance. In most of the larger cities exhibition plants are located a greater distance from the city than one to be constructed here would be.

The question of money to provide such a plant is also an important one, but when the values of benefits accruing to the community in general are computed the cost should not be permitted to stampede the tax-paying public from making such an expenditure.

While the city should be called upon to make many other expenditures in supplying modern conveniences, in order that it should not be considered as simply existing to save funeral expenses, I believe that the one as suggested is of vital importance to the city at this particular time.

BRIG. GEN. ROSS MADE FINE RECORD

Brought Canada Wastage Below Level of British Corps

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)
Brigadier-General Arthur E. Ross, of Kingston, who is to enter the cabinet, is a soldier and a citizen of national reputation. By his eminent services and self-sacrificing devotion he has earned and received the enthusiastic admiration of practically every Canadian soldier who went overseas. Dr. Ross is a native of Ontario, now in his forty-ninth year, still a young man, he enlisted and fought as a private, and later on gave notable service as a surgeon. Dr. Ross was the representative of Kingston in the Ontario legislature when the great war broke out. Recognized as a man clear and strong in his convictions by all his associates, and yet a moderate thinker, he was perhaps keener for action than for debate. His contributions to the deliberations of the House were characterized by sound, practical common sense, by independence of judgment and an accurate knowledge of the subject in hand. From the moment war was declared Dr. Ross realized, as few men did, the importance of medical and surgical attention to the men at the front. Therefore he offered himself to his country, and he was privileged to render such service as seldom falls to the lot of any man.
A few days ago, speaking at the Toronto Exhibition, Sir Arthur Currie declared:—"It was largely due to General Ross that the wastage in the Canadian Corps was lower than in any other unit of the British Army." To those who know the man and who have observed his career this was no surprise. Day in and day out, year after year, from almost the beginning of the war until the guns were silenced, Dr. Ross labored with his abounding enthusiasm and his great talent, close up to the firing line, sparing no effort and avoiding no danger, in order that he might save Canadian lives. It is well known that he was several times offered work of a less hazardous and less exacting nature, outside of the front zone, but he sought neither safety nor comfort while Canadians were in action. Even the flitting offer of an appointment as Director of Medical Services with the 5th British Army could not induce him to leave his own Canadian countrymen and even when he suffered the greatest loss that can befall any man in the illness and death of his life's partner, he remained at his post. He learned from actual experience probably more about the hardships and the sufferings of our army than any other man in the service, and he labored as earnestly for the welfare of Canadians as it would be possible for any man to do.

On his return to Kingston a few days ago one of the newspapers of that city, the Standard, declared that "in all the years of his life the idea of service has been uppermost in his mind—service with self-sacrifice. Whatever he did he did because duty and a realizing sense of obligation impelled him."

FOOD DEVELOPED FROM SUNSHINE, AIR AND WATER

During the present agitation over the high cost of living it is interesting to note several recent discoveries made in the field of synthetic chemistry. Dr. Winthrop John Vanieueven Osterhout, Ph. D., professor of botany at Harvard University, has hit upon a plan of making nutritious food from three of the original elements, namely, sunlight, air and water.

Although this process of foodmaking is as yet confined to the laboratory stage, Professor Osterhout points out that many discoveries remained some time in the laboratory stage before they could be placed on a commercial basis. As an instance he cites the many doubts of the practical value of electricity, and the long uphill road Edison had to travel before he gained recognition commercially.

Present the production of nutritious food in the laboratory, Professor Osterhout, who is no sense a visionary, but whose manner would indicate a practical hardheaded business man, says:

The saving in the Soup Tureen

Bovril makes soups and stews so much more nourishing that they can often take the place of expensive joints. It saves many dollars in the kitchen. Bovril is the concentrated goodness of the best beef—so strong that it cannot possibly be manufactured in cheap cubes. Insist upon the real thing—Bovril in the Bovril bottle.

transforms the carbon dioxide gas and water together into sugar, and later into starch, either of which forms can be preserved.

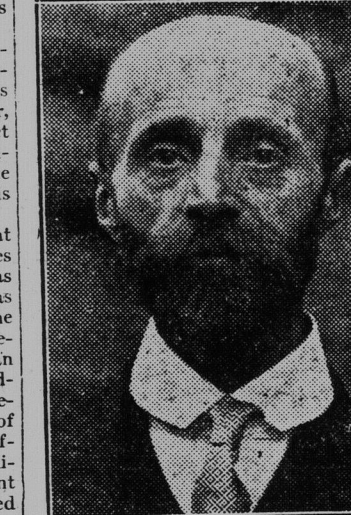

"So much for obtaining sugar. Protein is composed of amino acids. It has been found possible in the laboratory to take the carbon dioxide of the air, water and ammonia, which is also found in the air in small quantities, to form a simple kind of protein. Now through the combination of sugar and protein, both of which have been manufactured in the laboratory, the necessary fat is obtained, with the resultant nutritious food."

"Of course one of the greatest obstacles standing in the way of the production of food through this method is the present cost of making the sugar, which can only be manufactured as yet in small quantities. Our greatest competitor in this important field is the plant itself, which thus far undersees the synthetic method."

Professor Osterhout, who has taught at many of the large universities throughout the United States, and has a man of science, is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, in addition to many other scientific and research societies, has been a professor of botany since 1912. He told of the difficulty of carrying on important botanical research with the limited equipment at Harvard and stated that he hoped more funds would be forthcoming from the increased endowment of $15,000,000 which Harvard graduates will raise during the first week in October from former Harvard men throughout the country and abroad.

"In this connection it is interesting to note the high value Japan places upon education," the professor said. "Last year Professor Miyabe, a noted Japanese botanist, who was sent to this country to study American methods, told me that the salaries of all Japanese professors throughout the kingdom had been increased forty per cent to meet the increased cost of living in that country due to the war."

BRITISH LIBERAL

Rt. Hon. John William Goffland, P. C., who was M.P. for Berwick Barga and Liberal whip under the Asquith Government, is now visiting Canada.

WHEN finer wool can be secured; when better spinning and knitting processes are devised, it may be possible to excel the quality in these wonderful children's stockings.

But it is not possible to-day.

"Little Darling" for infants, and "Little Daisy" for children up to 12 years, are the best that can be made—a bold claim, but one that thousands of women will grant. Your own judgment will affirm it.

Only fine Australian lamb's wool is ever used to make these soft stockings. If mothers have ever found it hard to procure "Little Darling" or "Little Daisy" hosiery, there was a good reason. Whenever there was a shortage of the proper wool, we had to make fewer of these wonderful stockings. No substitute has ever replaced that wonderful wool.

LITTLE DARLING HOSIERY—for babies and tiny tots up to seven—has silken toe and heel.

LITTLE DAISY HOSIERY—for children up to twelve—has extra strength in heel and toe.

Many dainty shades and black.
