TITLED LADY HAS RANCH IN WEST. Where the Bison Furnace and Ives Brass Beds are Made.

One of the most interesting and busiest places in the City of Montreal today is that of the H. R. Ives Co., Ltd., through which your correspondent had the pleasure of making a visit of inspection a few days ago.

The young lady in question is Lady Ernestine Hunt, eldest daughter of the Marquis of Ailesbury. This petite and charming young lady was the center of attraction around the shipping district and office before the boat sailed to the other side.

From Calgary, the horses, 17 in number, were conveyed by freight to Montreal, and loaded on the C. P. R. steamer. The horses were, of course in a half wild state, but the lady, though she had made arrangements for little or no assistance in connection with their management, had the most absolute confidence in her ability to handle the animals in proper manner.

Lady Ernestine was proud of the fact that she was the first woman to have a live stock across the Atlantic by herself, and paid a tribute to the cattle-ship which she believed to be a much maligned class.

After the animals had been put on board and properly cared for, the young lady went down to the lower deck, on the upper deck, and becoming interested in the life of the ship, she had already succeeded in winning the confidence of the animals as evidenced by the fact that she could handle them just about as she pleased, although the deck hands found it necessary to keep at a safe and respectable distance.

WINS GORGING CONTEST, DIES. Champion Cheese Eater Pays With Life For Pound-at-Time Record. LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., Oct. 4.—Frank Miller, aged 21, proved that he could eat more than any other man in the world at the Neptune carnival at St. Andrew's railway on Monday evening last.

WIRELESS CONFERENCE HAD A PRELIMINARY SESSION. BERLIN, Oct. 4.—The delegates to the wireless telegraph conference had a preliminary exchange of general views at the session today, from which it appeared that the British delegates are prepared to go further than previously supposed toward international regulation.

A HIVE OF INDUSTRY. BULK MATTER OUT OF MAILS. Change Recommended for Adoption to U. S. Commission.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Important changes in the laws governing the handling of second-class mail matter were recommended in a statement by John M. Hubbard, assistant postmaster of Chicago, which was read today to the postal commission, which is investigating that subject. They include: "That second-class mail matter be made self-sustaining. A law obliging bulk matter to be carried outside of the mails would go a long way toward solving the problem.

LOCAL NEWS. Apples from 50c a barrel up at the Two Barkers, 100 Princess street. 4-10-2. A meeting of the Women's Art Association will be held in the studio on Saturday, October 6, at half-past four. A large attendance is requested.

The papers last evening told that Ralph Coleman, formerly of the Star here, was dying in Montreal, Quebec, to his relatives and friends last night however, a dispatch to the editor, Miss Coleman of Montreal, stating that he was getting along fine, and would be all right in a couple of days.

There has been an epidemic of measles in Albert County of late. In consequence the attendance at the consolidated school has fallen off considerably, some days not more than 150 pupils being present. The outbreak is dying down now, and the attendance will no doubt soon be up to the normal standard. The following ladies and gentlemen have kindly consented to act as judges at the Neptune carnival at St. Andrew's railway on Monday evening next: Mr. B. Kettle Jones, and friends: Mr. C. Allison, Mrs. F. Caverhill Jones, His Worship Mayor Sears and Mr. N. B. Byles. Those who intend going should remember that tickets are selling rapidly and are for sale by members of the club only.

Premier Tweedie, Chief Commissioner Lathlin and Hon. L. P. Farrer, came down from Fredericton yesterday and met here in the government rooms at the hospital commission. The plan of the lots on the hospital field was looked over and the offers received for the lots opened and considered. Two of the most desirable were disposed of to Mr. Barnhill of Fairville for $1,000. There were six other parties who made offers for lots, but none of them were accepted, as they did not reach the upset price. It is expected that in a short time other offers will be forthcoming.

Last evening the St. John District Orange Lodge officers held a social visit to York Lodge, No. 3, L. O. L., at their hall, Germain street. The visit was very cordial and friendly. Worshipful Master of No. 3. An excellent programme was carried out, which included addresses by Hon. C. N. Skinner, District Master W. H. Shill, D. M. W. Munford; N. J. Morrison, Grand Secretary; F. G. M. P. Hipwell, and J. M. Queen. L. Dunfield rendered a piano solo, John Tongue gave a song, and Geo. Gordon and D. C. Fraser recited. A committee from York Lodge looked after the entertainment of the visitors, and served refreshments during the evening. The evening was terminated with the singing of the National Anthem.

Nicknames in the British Navy have been prohibited. The wit of the fleet's, like the sea lawyer, has been voted a pest, and the captain may not be called "an old sea dog" or the chaplain a "sky pilot." In the House of Commons, says the London World, half-a-dozen members, comprising both Ministers and Opposition, have been fixing labels, more or less complimentary, to certain politicians whom they unanimously characterize under certain epigrammatic phrases. Among well known names thus treated are the following, nicknames and all:

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE LAST NIGHT

Large and Interested Audience Heard Bicknell Young, of Chicago, in the Opera House

Bicknell Young of Chicago, delivered a very interesting address on Christian Science in the Opera House last night. David Magee acted as chairman and introduced the speaker with a few well chosen remarks. There was a large audience present, the body of the house being completely filled, and the address listened to with marked attention.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS BELIEVE

absolutely in Christ. They accept the teachings of Christ Jesus without reservation. They declare that His command to heal the sick is as binding as that to preach the gospel, and that there is no evidence that it was intended for His time only. It was scientific religion that healed the sick in the time of Jesus and His disciples, and it does the same work now, and must always do it, since His life and work were an example for all time, and His method was a universal and imperishable heritage of man.

TRADE FAILURE RECORDS.

Insolvencies in the Dominion of Canada during the first nine months of 1906 were 67 in number, against 89 last year, while the amount of defaulted indebtedness was $6,825,789, against $7,105,695, says Dun's Review. Manufacturing failures were 212 in number and $2,769,869 in amount, against 208 failures for $2,899,902 in 1905. Improvement was most noticeable in the trading section, where 627 failures occurred, involving $2,616,476, compared with 729 last year, when liabilities were $4,781,320. There were 18 other commercial failures for $441,046, against 12 last year, when the amount involved was only $64,163. Not a single banking failure occurred in the Dominion, whereas one or more failures occurred in the corresponding months of each of the preceding seven years. The largest increase in a country by provinces was supplied by Quebec, but this was more than offset by smaller liabilities in Ontario, British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, and especially Nova Scotia.

OVER HALF THE APPLES ARE DISHONESTLY PACKED

Fruit Inspector George R. Sangster of Moncton has been in the city for the past few days. He reports that Nova Scotia apples are very poor with packers, as they have been putting their fruit on the market, giving false representations and violating the fruit law in nearly every way.

Mr. Sangster, speaking to the Star this morning, said: "Very few apples which come here from Nova Scotia are packed in accordance with the law. This week I have inspected four schooner loads of apples, amounting in all to about 1,100 barrels. Fifty per cent. of these were packed in violation of the fruit law. No. 1 grade of apples is scarce than any other, as to one barrel of No. ones you can find four of a lower grade. One way in which packers are violating the law is that they frequently mark No. 1 and 2 grades 'spotted.' This is not a classification permitted by the department, and is not allowed and is punishable by a heavy fine.

"Growers are not marking their full name on each barrel, as required, and they often neglect to mark their address. Two varieties of apples are often put in one barrel, and this is one of the most serious violations."

Mr. Sangster found the apples to be in such a bad shape that he communicated with the head of the fruit department, asking that he should prosecute the violator of the law. No reply has been received, but Mr. Sangster will probably be directed to proceed against all offenders.

"It is my duty to enforce the law, and I will do it," said the inspector. "People have been complaining about so many barrels of bad apples being on the market, and it is difficult to go to what is in St. John or elsewhere in the provinces today. By false packing the Nova Scotia packers are sure to suffer, as Ontario fruit will soon capture the market."

Mr. Sangster leaves for his home this afternoon.

REX McMICKEN WAS DROWNED AT GALAIS

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., Oct. 4.—Rex McMicken, of Galais, aged twenty-four, was drowned from one of the wharves in that city this afternoon. The young man was subject to fits and when suffering from one fell into the river, no person being present at the time. His body was soon recovered and an unsuccessful effort made to restore animation.

CLARKE'S DEFENCE IN ASSAULT CASES WILL BE AN ALIBI

Ralph Hazlett, an employe of the C. P. R., was the first witness for the defence. He said he witnessed the arrest of Clarke on Monday morning, the 6th of August. On the Saturday before this date we were working in Carleton. I saw Clarke working there on that morning. On Friday Clarke worked there all day and most of the night. On Thursday, August 2nd, I came over to the city and went to the news room in the I. C. R. Mr. Ritchie, my foreman, told me I had better go back to Carleton. After dinner I did so, and stayed around for a while and came back to Carleton and met Clarke at the ferry foot. This was somewhere about 4.30 o'clock. I spoke to him and we walked along Prince William street and King to St. James street. I left him at the foot of the market. It was about fifteen minutes to five when I left the prisoner. He remained during the summer in company with the prisoner. To Dr. Pugsley—I can give an account of who was working with me any day in July as I kept no record of time. I do not know where I was working on August 2nd, nor who was with me. Oh! do you mean Thursday? Clarke and I worked together all day in Carleton. On Saturday, August 4th, Clarke knocked off work at twelve o'clock, and as far as I know he did not work any more that day. The time book would be no actual evidence as to whether Clarke was actually working or not. Mr. Ritchie, the foreman, was not over to Carleton on the Thursday in question. I did not see Clarke until the Saturday afternoon of August 4th.

To Mr. Baxter—On Thursday morning we were doing some work out at Bay Shore.

Thomas A. Black said he was a barber with a place of business on Main street, opposite the car shed, there were five or six ahead of him. He seemed to be tired out and said he had worked all the night before. He fell asleep in the chair.

To Dr. Pugsley—I do not know how long he had to wait. He came in some time after dinner.

John D. Ritchie, of Adelaide street, said he was a foreman of the bridge crew of the C. P. R. He had four men working regularly of whom the prisoner was one. I last went to work on Saturday, August 4th, before twelve o'clock in Carleton. I did not see him in the afternoon. I was not working there myself, but went over to see what the men were doing. This was in the forenoon. I do not know whether there was a gang of men working there on Friday night or not. On Saturday I learned that Mr. Miller, the track foreman, wanted a couple of carpenters. He was on the west side. I sent Clarke and Hazlett over to him. This was at the news room. He reported they were not after dinner.

To Dr. Pugsley—This time book shows the time a man is on duty but not necessarily the time he is at work. I am a copyist of the prisoners. On Thursday, 2nd of August I supposed the prisoner was working. On the morning of that day I sent Hazlett and the prisoner down to the Bay Shore to do some work. I thought they were through by noon. I had some work to do in the I. C. R. depot laid out for these men to do in the afternoon. Between eleven and twelve o'clock the prisoner came over to the depot where I was and said that Mr. Miller wanted him to work on the west side. As far as I know the prisoner did not do any work in the afternoon of either Thursday, August 2nd, or Saturday, August 4th. He worked on Friday, August 3rd.

Mrs. Clarke, wife of the prisoner, was next called. She was in a very nervous state and seemed much affected. The witness stated that on the night before August 4th her husband came in very late. On the morning of August 4th her husband went off to work as usual. On that day we had dinner as usual. Mr. Hazlett and Mrs. Prier were to dinner with us. My husband had dinner with us.

She stated that her husband was always very good to her and never left the house without kissing her. He generally used the back door when coming in the house. "He has always provided well for the house and had been a good husband to me. About 12 o'clock Sunday morning there was a ring at the door bell and some person asked if Mr. Clarke lived there. I replied that he lived there but was out at that time." The witness then gave the particulars of Clarke's arrest. She said that when she was informed of the crime her husband was charged with she faints. She had not seen her husband since his arrest.

To Dr. Pugsley—We usually had our dinner about twelve-thirty o'clock and our supper about six o'clock. Once in a great while my husband would get home a little earlier than usual and we would have supper earlier. On Thursday, 2nd of August, my husband got home about six o'clock. He was not home on Thursday to dinner. When he did not get home we would have dinner about twelve o'clock. On Saturday, 4th of August, we had dinner at three o'clock. After dinner I did so, and stayed around for a while and came home a little earlier than usual and we would have supper earlier. On Thursday, 2nd of August, my husband got home about six o'clock. He was not home on Thursday to dinner. When he did not get home we would have dinner about twelve o'clock. On Saturday, 4th of August, we had dinner at three o'clock. After dinner I did so, and stayed around for a while and came home a little earlier than usual and we would have supper earlier.

When they are skating slow it is almost impossible for the judges to see just what the costume is and what it is intended to do. A skater with a pretty good costume, affording the judges a chance of seeing a prize than a fast skater with a better costume, because the latter is going so fast that it is impossible to get a good view of it. ### MORE PERJURY IN LONDON BRIBERY CASE

Magistrate Denison Bluntly Accuses
Witnesses of False Swearing—
More Revelations Promised

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—Tom Lewis of London, in whose hotel some of the alleged financial operations in connection with the by-election of 1905 are said to have been carried on, voluntarily gave himself up to the authorities at City Hall this morning. He was served by Detective Newton with a warrant. On the stand he admitted having gone to Detroit, but did not know before arriving there he was wanted in Toronto. He saw McEvoy before leaving for Detroit, but not, he said, in connection with the bribery case. After further questioning on his leaving for Detroit, the magistrate called the witness severely to task, remarking: "You are committing perjury every minute."

Four more witnesses swore to receiving $10 bribery from Sitton or Collins. The bank's secretary, Wm. Service was recalled and asked as to the holding of "bribery" inquiries. His answer was almost invariably: "I don't remember."

DuVerne, counsel for the prosecution, said: "It's not the small men we are after in particular. It wouldn't be fair to spread a net just for them. We want the big fellows, and we are going to get them if it should take six months. I have not nearly finished yet. We have only devoted our attention to the by-election of June, 1905, and haven't touched the other two London elections to any extent."
An advertisement should be plain and honest, not flowery—nothing need be said in it for mere ornamentation. It should contain nothing which is not strictly true, but should be sure to claim as much as is true—Publicity.

CABBAGES AND WINGS. The Star's New Series of Short Stories, by O. Henry. THE FLAG PARAMOUNT.

At the head of the insurgent party appeared that Hector and learned Theban of the southern republic, Don Sabas Placido. A traveller, a soldier, a poet, a scientist, a statesman and a connoisseur—the wonder was that he could content himself with the petty, remote life of his native country. "It is a whim of Placido's," said a friend who knew him well, "to take up political intrigue. It is not otherwise than as if he had come from a new tempo in music, a new bacillus in the air, a new scent, or rhyme, or expletive. He will squeeze this revolution dry of sensations, and a week afterward will forget it, skimming the seas of the morose and the morose to add to his already world-famous collections. Collections of what? For most of everything from postage stamps to prehistoric stone idols."
But, for a mere dilettante, the aesthetic Placido seemed to be creating a lively row. The people admired him; they were fascinated by his brilliancy and flattered by his taking an interest in so small a thing as his native country. They rallied to the call of his lieutenants in the capital, where (conspicuous contrary arrangements) the army remained faithful to the government. There was also lively skirmishing in the coast towns. It was rumored that the revolution was aided by the Vesuvius Fruit Company, the power that forever stood with childlike smile and uplifted finger to keep Amchuria in the class of good children. Two of its steamships, the Traveller and the Salvador, were known to have conveyed insurgent troops from point to point along the coast.
As yet there has been no actual uprising in Corallo. Military law prevailed, and the ferment was bottled up and then came the word that everywhere the revolutionists were encountering defeat. In the capital, where president's forces triumphed, and there was a rumor that the leaders of the revolt had been forced to fly, hotly pursued.

In the little telegraph office at Corallo there was always a gathering of officers and lieutenants awaiting news from the seat of government. One morning the telegraph key began clicking, and presently the operator called, loudly: "One telegram for el Almirante, Don Senor Felipe Carrera!"
There was a shuffling of feet, and the admiral, prompt at his spot of waiting, leaped across the room towards him. Slowly spelling it out, he found it to be his first official order—thus running:
"Proceed immediately with your vessel to mouth of Rio Ruiz; transport the army provisions to barracks at Alforan."
Martinez General.
Small glory, to be sure, in this, his country's first act. But he had called, and joy surged in the admiral's breast. He drew his cutlass belt to another hole, roused his sailors, and in a quarter of an hour El Nacional was tacking swiftly down coast in a stiff landward breeze.
The Rio Ruiz is a small river, emptying into the sea in miles below Corallo. This portion of the coast is wild and scottish. Through a gorge in the Cordilleras rushes the Rio Ruiz, cold and bubbling, to gild, at last, with a breath of life, the banks of an alluvial morass into the sea.
In two hours El Nacional entered the river's mouth. The banks were crowded with a disposition of formidable trees. The sumpitious overgrowth of the tropics overtopped the land, and drowned itself in the fallow waters. Silently the sloop entered there, and the admiral, brilliant with greens and ochres and floral scarlets, the unbragging mouth of the Rio Ruiz turned no sound or movement save the sea-going water as it purled against the prow of the vessel. Small chance there seemed of wresting beef provisions from that empty solitude.
The admiral decided to cast anchor, and, at the chains' rattle, the foresting uproar. The mouth of the Rio Ruiz had only been taking a morning nap. Parrots and baboons screamed and barked in the trees; a whirling and a hissing and a booming marked the dashing of the diver sharks in the soup, plantains, crab gumbo and sour wine. The admiral, with a three-foot telescope, closely scanned the impervious foliage fifty yards away.
It was nearly sunset when a reverberating "hallo-o!" came from the forest to their left. It was answered; and three men, mounted upon mules, crashed through the tangle of vines within a dozen yards of the river's bank. There they dismounted; and one, unbuckling his belt, struck each mule a violent blow with his sword scabbard, so that they, with a ring of heels, dashed back again into the forest.
Those were strange-looking men to be conveying beef and provisions. One was a large and exceedingly active man, of striking presence. He was of the purest Spanish type, with curling, gray-berried hair, dark hair, blue, sparkling eyes, and the pronounced air of a caballero grande. The other two were small, brown-faced men, wearing white military uniforms, high riding boots and swords. The clothes of all were drenched in the damp, and sent by the tickle. Some straggled, some circumstance must have driven them, dabble a quatre, through flood, mire and jungle.
"O-ho! Senor Almirante," called the large man. "Send us your boat!"
The dory was lowered, and Felipe, with one of the Caribs, rowed toward the left bank.
The large man stood near the water's brink, waist deep in the curling vines. As he gazed upon the scarcerow figure in the stern of the dory a sprightly interest beamed upon his mobile face.
Months of weariness and thankless service had dimmed the admiral's splendor. His red trousers were patched and ragged. Most of the bright buttons and yellow braid were gone from his jacket. The visor of his cap was torn, and depended almost to his eyes. The admiral's feet were bare.

"Dear admiral," cried the large man, and his voice was like a blast from a horn. "I knew you would. I know we could build upon your fidelity. You had our despatch—from General Martinez. A little nearer with your boat, dear admiral. Upon these shelves shifting vines we stand with the smallest security."
Felipe regarded him with a stolid face.
"Provisions and beef for the barracks at Alforan," he quoted.
"No fault of the butchers, Almirante mio, that the beef awaits you not. But you are some time to save the time. Get us aboard your vessel, senior, at once. You first, caballeros—a prietal come back for me. The boat is too small."
The dory conveyed the two officers to the sloop, and returned for the large man.
"Have you so gross a thing as food, good admiral?" he cried, when aboard.
"Lard, perhaps, coffee, beef and provisions! Nombre de Dios! A little longer and we would have eaten one of those country arrangements. But, saluted so feelingly with your sword scabbard at parting. Let us have food; and then will sail—for the barracks at Alforan—no?"
The Caribs prepared a meal, to which the three passengers of El Nacional set themselves with finished delight. About sunset, as was his custom, the large man swept back to his mountains, cool and steady, bringing a taste of the stagnant lagoons and mangrove swamps that guttered the lowlands. The mainmast of the sloop was hoisted and availed to it, and at that moment they heard shouts and the rattle of muskets from the bosky profanities of the shore.
"The butchers, my dear admiral," called the large man, "too late for the slaughter."
Further than his orders to his crew, the admiral was saying nothing. The topsail and jib were spread, and the sloop glided out of the estuary. The large man, however, his companion had bestowed themselves with what comfort they could about the bare deck. Behind the stern, big in their minds, had been their departure from that critical shore; and now that the hazard was so far reduced their thoughts returned to the consideration of further deliverance. But when they saw the sloop turn and fly up coast again, the admiral, satisfied with the course the admiral had taken.
The large man sat at ease, his split-blue eyes gazed in the contemplation of the navy's commander. He was trying to estimate this sombre and fantastic lad, whose impenetrable stoicism puzzled him. Himself a fugitive, his life sought, and chafing under the restraint of defeat and failure, it was characteristic of him to transfer instantly his interest to the study of a man whose conduct he could not understand. He had conceived and risked all upon this last desperate and madcap scheme—this message to a poor, crated steamer cruising about with his grotesque uniform and his farcical title. But his companions had seemed incredulous; and now he was pleased with the success of the plan they had called cracked and crazy.
The brief, tropic twilight seemed to slide swiftly into the peaty splendor of a moonlit night, and now the lights of Corallo appeared, distributed against the darkening shore to their right. The admiral, silent and false, felt the Caribs, like black panthers, held the sheets, leaping noiselessly at his short commands. The three passengers were watching intently the sea before them, and when at length they came in sight of the hull of a steamer lying a mile out from the town, with her lights radiating deep into the water, they held a sudden volute and close-mouthed converse. The sloop was speeding as if to strike midway between ship and shore.
The large man suddenly separated from his companions and approached the scarcerow at the helm.
"My dear admiral," he said, "the government has been exceedingly remiss. I feel all the shame for that. Only his ignorance of your devoted service has prevented it from sustaining. An inexcusable oversight has been made. A vessel, a uniform and a crew worthy of your fidelity shall be furnished to you. But just now, dear admiral, a more business of moment afloat. The steamer lying there is the Salvador. I and my friends desire to be conveyed to her, where we are sent on the government's business. Do us a favor to shape your course accordingly."
Without replying, the admiral gave a sharp command, and put the tiller hard to port. El Nacional swerved, and held straight as an arrow's course for the shore.
"Do me the favor," said the large man, a trifle restively, "to acknowledge that you catch the sounds of my words." It was possible that the fellow might be lacking in senses as well as in intellect.
The admiral emitted a croaking, harsh laugh, and spoke.
"They will stand you," he said, "with your face to a wall and shoot you dead. That is the way they kill traitors. I knew you when you stepped into my boat. I have seen your picture in a book. You are Sabas Placido, traitor to your country. With your face to a wall. So, you will die. I am the admiral, and I will take you to them. With your face to a wall. Yes! To you, caballeros. I have related the history of that session when we issued that O! so ridiculous commission. Of a truth our feet has been turned against us. Behold the Frankenstein's monster we have created!"
Don Sabas glanced toward the shore. The lights of Corallo were drawing near. He could see the beach, the warehouse of the Botega Nacional, the long, curiel occupied by the soldiers, and behind that, gleaming in the moonlight, a stricoid of high abode wall. He had seen men stood with their faces to that wall and shot dead.

SMALL SIZED RIOT DISTURBS HAVANA. Ex-Insurgents Riding Through the Streets Caused Excitement.

People are Wondering What is Going to Become of the Country—Many are in Favor of Annexation.
HAVANA, Oct. 4.—A disturbance which at one time threatened to become a riot, occurred this evening as the result of the conspicuous riding through the streets of this city of former insurgents.
The chief of police had just telephoned an order to all the police stations to take the small arms from all insurgents throughout the city when Damazo Castillo, an ex-insurgent, was seized by police while riding past a precinct station. Castillo resisted, and in the melee which followed his arm was cut with his own machete. As soon as he was overpowered he was taken to the Viacua jail, followed by a crowd of several hundred persons, including a number of mounted ex-rebels. This crowd surrounded the jail, and the excitement was growing when Alfredo Zayas, the Liberal leader, arrived on the scene. After a long parley he procured the release of Castillo after the man had surrendered his revolver to the police. Senor Zayas is of the opinion that the taking of the weapons of ex-rebels, when they are at the disposal of the disarming committee, is unjust persecution.
Five mounted policemen charged and dispersed a crowd in Del Monte this afternoon which was following a dozen mounted ex-rebels.
The disarming of the government volunteers is progressing steadily, the thoughtful portions of the public of all nationalities are again intently discussing the possibilities of the Cuban form of government. The desire annexation is now voiced openly, and the wish that the U. S. retain some measure of actual control in Cuba as an affair is heard more insistently than ever. Representatives of leading elements both Cubans and foreign have been asked to attend a meeting next Sunday to discuss the feasibility of holding some sort of plebiscite by which all classes of the population would be enabled to express their ideas of what the future form of government should be.
Reports of the disarmament operations show considerable delay and complaint, but no real opposition. It appears that general agreement to disarm and abandon was conditional on the surrender and disarmament of all the Generals Funston and Agraromonte went in an automobile to Guines to straighten out the matters. Upon their arrival, the Mayor of Guines, Senor Ayala, absolutely refused to discharge the police until they asked for an increase of pay for the employees in the I. C. R. freight shed, and also referred to other grievances. The minister promised to correct the matter.
In an interview with a Sun reporter Mr. Emmerson said that the rates for berths and wharves at the I. C. R. pier would be the same this year as last, and he had instructed Mr. Tiffin to that effect. He said no dredging was needed at the I. C. R. wharf. In referring to the I. C. R. Mr. Emmerson said that any trains not found to be necessary would be laid off for the winter. The road will be kept in the best state of efficiency, but no superfluous trains will be kept in commission. In regard to the proposed changes in the Atlantic mail service Mr. Emmerson said he could not understand any trouble arising on account of the new scheme, as both St. John and Halifax would be as well off as when under the old system. He thought the I. C. R. would benefit, however, as the Allan boats would be supplied with freight shipped over this road. He said he did not think St. John would benefit very greatly through the mails being brought here.
Mr. Emmerson said no decision had yet been arrived at regarding the Curlew investigation, and was reticent about the senatorial appointments.

I.C.R. WHARFAGE RATES SAME AS LAST YEAR

Minister of Railways Made This Announcement Last Night—Will Leave For Ottawa Saturday Night

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, who has been in the city since Wednesday night, will go to Moncton today and expects to leave for Ottawa on Saturday night. Yesterday morning a despatch consisting of Messrs. McLaughlin, Wallace and Sharkey waited on the minister. They asked for an increase of pay for the employees in the I. C. R. freight shed, and also referred to other grievances. The minister promised to correct the matter.

In an interview with a Sun reporter Mr. Emmerson said that the rates for berths and wharves at the I. C. R. pier would be the same this year as last, and he had instructed Mr. Tiffin to that effect. He said no dredging was needed at the I. C. R. wharf. In referring to the I. C. R. Mr. Emmerson said that any trains not found to be necessary would be laid off for the winter. The road will be kept in the best state of efficiency, but no superfluous trains will be kept in commission. In regard to the proposed changes in the Atlantic mail service Mr. Emmerson said he could not understand any trouble arising on account of the new scheme, as both St. John and Halifax would be as well off as when under the old system. He thought the I. C. R. would benefit, however, as the Allan boats would be supplied with freight shipped over this road. He said he did not think St. John would benefit very greatly through the mails being brought here.

Mr. Emmerson said no decision had yet been arrived at regarding the Curlew investigation, and was reticent about the senatorial appointments.

ROOSEVELT STILL LEADING THE STRENUOUS LIFE

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—President Roosevelt made a flying trip to Harrisburg and York today and in each city he made a speech in the rain. At both places he wore a dark rain coat and light rubber boots while speaking to protect him from the storm. The President enjoyed the trip immensely and except for a slight hoarseness he did not suffer from the rain.
At Harrisburg the President delivered the oration at the dedication of the new State Capitol, completed at a cost of $14,000,000 to take the place of the old state house, burned in 1897. After his speech the President was entertained by Governor Pennypacker at luncheon and shortly before three o'clock he boarded his special car for York. There he visited the county fair grounds and at the conclusion of his speech he left for Washington.

PHYSICAL WRECK SENT TO JAIL

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 4.—John W. Wilson, whom the jury found guilty of setting fire to his Maestro piano factory on Queen street west, was sentenced by Judge Winchester this morning to two years in central prison. His ill-health, ill-health of his family, his consequent neglect and loss of business, his experience with loan agents, who extorted impoverishing rates of interest from him, have left him broken and wasted looking. It was a wreck of a man that Judge Winchester sentenced.

THERE HAS BEEN A GREAT EARTHQUAKE SOMEWHERE

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Cabling from Sydney, N. S. W., the correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Seismographs here and at Perth recorded an earthquake Tuesday noon lasting two hours. The government astronomers believe there was a disturbance somewhere eclipsing the disaster at San Francisco."
The Daily Mail says there was a similar record made by the seismograph in John Milnes observatory on the Isle of Wight.

GOVERNMENT WILL ASSIST IN DREDGING

If Dredge Can be Got, Mr. Hyman Will Hire It at Once.

Shaughnessy Says C. P. R. Can Place Mails in Canada, Even in Nova Scotia, Quicker Via St. John Than Halifax.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson who has been actively interesting himself in St. John's behalf with the department of public works, wired Hon. Mr. Hyman yesterday urging his best consideration of the request of the St. John delegation.

"Dredge not able to do the work at St. John. Have seen deputation this morning and did everything possible to work out the situation satisfactorily."

Mr. Emmerson refers from this that the department intended to send a dredge from the St. Lawrence, but has found it unsuitable, and is now making other arrangements. He is confident that these will be satisfactory, and that the department will be able to assist in the work so necessary to the welfare of the port.

(Special to the Sun.) OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—Mayor Sears and Mr. Schofield, President of the Board of Trade, had a two hours' interview with Hon. Charles S. Hyman, Minister of Public Works, and also saw Hon. Mr. Brodeur, Minister of Marine, this morning in regard to the dredging wanted at St. John harbor. They also saw Mr. Hyman again this afternoon for an hour.

Mayor Sears states the two ministers were most cordial in their desire to facilitate the work of improving St. John harbor. They were willing to do anything they could to give St. John the dredging which will be required to provide accommodation for the steamers which propose to make St. John their terminus during the coming winter. The situation is of difficulties owing to the fact that the time in

MR. FOSTER AGAIN UNDER SHEPLEY'S INQUISITION

More Peculiar Details of the Western Lands Transaction Revealed.

8,640 Acres of Worthless Lands Sold to Trust Company at Same Price as Best Land — Foster Sees No Conflict Between His Position as Director and Investor.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—At the insurance investigation today the examination of Hon. Geo. E. Foster was continued. He explained the subsequent sale to the Great West Land Company of 8,640 acres, in addition to the 200,000 acres which had already been purchased.

"Would you have bought that land if you had known it had previously been discarded?"

"Certainly not. If anyone told me they were discarding lands it would have made me determine to see that it was fair value."

Foster admitted that information respecting the interest of Matthew Wilson, Lieut. McGilivray and himself in the transaction was disclosed by entries in the stock book of the Great West Land Company to the production of which Foster made strenuous objection.

The purchase price of 8,640 acres was $43,200, of which $8,640 was in stock and $34,560 in cash, and Shepley pointed out that a profit of $1.50 per acre would be $12,960, which had the same privilege so far as seeing that they were getting lands which were reasonable in price, value and quality.

"You will not say that you do not recognize any conflict between your interests as an investor and your duty as a director?"

"In this respect I think the Great West Land Company had exactly the same position as they would have had if they would have $4,840 to be divided in cash."

Foster replied that the report represented the transaction as it was, in so far as it concerned the Great West Land Co.

"Did you think it was necessary or desirable that report which recommended the purchase of these 8,640 acres of land should have stated that you were the intermediate purchaser, having personal interest in property?"

"I am not sure about that."

"Does not that view appeal to you?"

"I think it would probably have been better if it had mentioned it. I have also the impression that it was thoroughly understood by the members of the board."

Foster admitted that Wilson, McGilivray and himself were the executive board having control of the administration of the lands.

"Do you observe the emphatic nature of the dual position, that the very gentlemen who were endowed with executive power in respect to the affairs of the Great West Land Co. were the very gentlemen who were interested in the transaction?"

"Yes, that was true; the dual position is plain and unmistakable."

"Do you say that Sir John Boyd knew of it?"

"I can't say that. Schofield knew of it."

"Do you not know that I told him, I think he knew I can't answer positively."

In reply to further questions Foster said that he did not know this block of 8,640 acres was part of the 200,000 acres which Pope and Fowler had outside the original option.

The evidence of Pope was read by Shepley to show that the 17,000 acres were cut out of the original selection block from reports received by them, and that they were not to be selected and that they were part of the land returned to the C. P. R. In the letter Pope said that Fowler had taken this block from Pope, Fowler and others. Foster asserted that he had no interest of Fowler, McGilivray and Wilson.

NINETEEN DEAD MANY ENTOMBED

Lives of Thirty or Forty More Despaired Of

Carload of Coffins and Burial Supplies Sent to Scene of Tragedy—Work of Rescue Necessarily Slow

POCAHONTAS, Va., Oct. 4.—Nineteen dead and from 20 to 40 more men entombed and doubtless all dead, is the situation up to a late hour tonight at the West Fork mines of the Pocahontas Collieries Co., where the explosion occurred late yesterday afternoon. The recovery of the bodies brought from the mine was the result of the heroic work of a band of 35 men, constituting a rescue party that worked incessantly. It was not until 7:30 o'clock this evening that the rescuers reached a point near St. Paul entry, where the explosion occurred. The work of rescue was very slow, as the conditions confronting the party were difficult to surmount.

The authorities anticipated the fearful extent of the casualties today by ordering a carload of coffins and burial supplies, which are now on the way. Some confusion was caused in the determination of the exact number of tombed by the fact that when the exchange of shifts was in progress added to which was the fact that a number of men escaped from the 7th Fork entrance. The scenes around the mine were pitiful. Relatives and friends gathered in groups at the entrance and elsewhere awaiting tidings of the victims, and gave vent to their grief as the bodies one by one were brought out.

E. B. Cook, one of the victims, whose body was found within 300 feet of the outside of the mine, was the only survivor of the big explosion in 1894. Yesterday's explosion piled up timbers and dirt to the height of six feet.

Conservative Wins in East Elgin

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—In East Elgin today, after a well contested fight, the Conservative candidate, David Marshall, was elected over Granville Haight, the prominent candidate, by a majority of 77. Tonight great crowds of people paraded Aylmer streets cheering, blowing horns and in many other ways celebrating the victory. The Liberal candidate's defeat was largely owing to his late appearance in the field.

LOCAL NEWS.
Boy's Brigade of the Main Street Baptist church will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. By order of Capt. George Easty.
The funeral of the late Patrick Gallagher was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his residence in Mill Street. Service was read at the Cathedral by Rev. F. Lockery. Interment was made in the Old Catholic cemetery.

That industrious and accomplished student of local history, Rev. Dr. Raymond, has begun a series of articles on the early history of Woodstock, which are now being published in the Dispatch. The series promises to be of interest and value—Educational Review.
An old man, named McKay, complained to the police this morning of the conduct of a number of boys who live in an alley off Brussels street. McKay said he lived in the same alley but was afraid to go in and out as the boys always threw stones at him and several times he has been struck by these missiles. He desired the police to look into the matter at once.

John Wood, Hampton Village, left last Monday for St. John, where he has accepted a position with T. S. Simms & Co. Mr. Wood has been in the employ of Messrs. G. & F. Fletchering & Co. for about seventeen years and was held in high esteem by his employers. He will be greatly missed, especially in musical circles, in which he took a prominent part.—Sussex Record.

R. R. McGee, M. A., B. Sc., who formerly acted as vice-principal of the Middleton Consolidated School, spent the summer in research work at the Marine Biological Laboratory, Wood's Hole, Massachusetts, on a scholarship from McGill University. He will spend this year at the University of Chicago, where he has been appointed to a fellowship in botany.—Educational Review.

The first Chinese baby to be born in St. John was the light on Sunday last at the residence of Mrs. Leonard, George street. The father is Tom Ting, who represents the Empire League—an organization for the mutual benefit of the Chinese. The mother is a young English woman, who met her husband in London, where they were united in wedlock. The infant is healthy, and both child and mother are doing well.—St. John's, Nfld. News.

The Young Ladies' Society of St. James' parish have been very fortunate in securing the services of Miss M. Florence Rogers as physical culture director. The long schoolroom back of the church in Brantford street, which she placed at the disposal of the society for the Monday evenings of the fall and winter, Mrs. Naigle has been chosen honorary president, Mrs. Geo. Nixon, president, Miss Foster, secretary, and Miss Lamb, treasurer. The Emerson system of physical culture will be followed, including dumb bells, Indian clubs and Swedish gymnastics.

A Newfoundland woman named Mrs. Morris, whose husband is employed in the New Scotia Steel Co.'s plant at Sydney Mines, died under rather sad circumstances on Saturday last at her home, at the rear of the Scott block. Mrs. Morris on Thursday fell through a kitchen hatch to the cellar, sustaining very serious injuries. The day following the accident she gave birth to a child, but the injuries resulting from the fall proved fatal, and she passed away on Saturday. Her child, however, is still living and doing as well as can be expected. Another child, a little over a year old, has been so ill for several weeks past that it is not expected to recover, and the tragic death of its mother lessens what chances it had of getting better. Mrs. Morris was about thirty years of age. Her remains were sent to her former home at Placentia, prominent part.—Sussex Record.

INSPECTOR THINKS GAS WILL BE BETTER TONIGHT
John Wilson That Explains While Repairs Were Being Made at the Works, Air Got Into the Pipes.
Gas and Electric Light Inspector John Wilson was seen this morning regarding the poor quality of gas which St. John people have had to put up with for some time past. He explained that a quantity of air had got in the pipes and caused the poor gas while new equipment was being installed. Mr. Wilson has not made a test for some days, stating that he thought it would be unfair to do so while repairs were going on at the plant. Tonight he will test the gas and he thinks it to be good enough to meet the government's requirements.
Sixteen candle power is called for and the inspector says that the power has not dropped below the limit for over two years. When asked if he thought sixteen candle power had been on during the past few days, Mr. Wilson stated that he did not know, as he made no test. The testing of the gas is reported monthly, a certain average must be made. Mr. Wilson explained that if he made a test and found there was only fifteen candle power it would make no difference, providing a greater supply be put on before the month was up, so as to make the average. "The work at the plant is about completed," said Mr. Wilson, "and I do not think citizens will be troubled with poor gas any longer."

ALBERT COUNTY MAN DROWNED IN LABRADOR
William Gilburn, of Curryville, Lost His Life While Breaking a Jam of Logs at Grand River.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 26—A sad drowning accident occurred at Grand River, Labrador, in the early part of the present month, when Elbert Gilburn lost his life, while driving logs to Alfred Dickie's saw mill. In company with William Gilburn he was breaking a jam of logs when the whole lot started to move unexpectedly. His fellow workmen called to Gilburn to jump and look out for his life. He lost his footing, however, fell and was taken down the river with the logs; a heavy current was speeding down and the unfortunate young man was soon lost to view. The river was dragged to recover the body for five days without avail. Milburn came from Curryville, Albert county, N. B. He was unmarried, sober and industrious and a general favorite with his workmen. J. F. Hearn, J. P., of Briggs, who happened to be surveying timber areas in the vicinity, added a magisterial enquiry as to the cause of drowning, and is satisfied that it was an accident. Deceased had a bank book showing $120 to his credit, and there was a balance of $127.70 due him at the office of the Grand River Pulp Co.
Four years ago a man named John Montague was drowned near the same place. The body was never recovered.

MARGARET ANGLIN IN A BLOOD AND THUNDER PLAY
St. John Girl Wins Success In a Difficult Role—Played for the First Time on Wednesday Night.

(New York Herald, Oct. 4)
Rarely, if ever, have Miss Margaret Anglin and Henry Miller appeared to better advantage on the stage than in the roles they acted last night at the Princess Theatre when "The Great Divide" was given its first New York production. The play was written by Mr. William Vaughn Moody, until now unknown to fame as a dramatist.
Mr. Moody's play has elements of originality and crude strength. It deals with the unpollished form of American life as found on the Arizona desert, and the author has aimed himself free from the hardened playwright would fear to tread and created scenes and situations which not only bring a thrill, but possibly a blush to some who grasp the full meaning of the story.
In "The Great Divide" is an out and out melodrama of the good, old fashioned claptrap brand, but so well acted and so staged that not for one moment do you think yourself on the Bowery. The Broadway gliding saves you from any such error.
Miss Anglin's role is that of a girl left alone on a ranch which is raided by three drunken desperadoes, who throw dice for her. One of them rises above the bestiality of it all, and on the girl's agreeing that she will go with him and be married by one of his companions and shoots the other.
This part was played forcibly and artistically by Mr. Miller. Much good his rough conquest does him though, for it takes all the next two acts, two long intermissions, his suddenly acquired fortune, all her relatives, his former mate and her newly born baby to reconcile him to her. The sympathy of the audience went out to Mr. Miller in his seemingly hopeless struggle.
Miss Anglin's charming personality and convincing art made a somewhat makeshift role thoroughly enjoyable.
Miss Laura Hope Crews, as her slipshod and flirtatious sister-in-law, gave a high light of dainty brightness to the sombre situations, while Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, as a New England mother, knew exactly the character she played.
The rest of the cast was competent down to the smallest role. That was fortunate for the success of the play.
There were many curtain calls and demands for the author. Mr. Miller made a speech for him, but that would not satisfy and so Mr. Moody said a few words for himself, which consisted in thanking the audience, Miss Anglin, Mr. Miller and the scene painter. By some oversight he omitted the property man, the gas man and the firm that made the costumes. Doubtless in his next premier he will make amends.

ONE OF "BELL'S BOARDERS" IS UNDER ARREST
John Mullaly came down from Norton yesterday and imbibed too freely of grape juice. The consequence was that when he went to the depot to return to his home he was gathered in by Officer Collins the station policeman. He paid $4 this morning and demanded to steer clear of the fire water in future.
Robt. Connolly, drunk on Brussels street, paid $4 this morning and John Magee, an old offender, was sent to jail for two months.
Serge. Caples this morning arrested a negro for being drunk on Princess street. The colored man proved to be one of those who had occupied Rideau Hall on Wednesday night or as he styled himself one of "Bell's Boarders."
Officer Collins found a pocket book containing a large sum of money in the station this morning. The owner can get it by applying at the station.
