(Special to Advocate.)

LONDON, June 7.—Reports received here from Chee Foo say that a big naval battle has taken place but the result is not known and the rumors may be unfounded.

A big attack on Port Arthur by both the land and sea forces is expected to take place within twenty four hours. The report that Japanese vessels were sunk during an attack on Port Arthur is said to be unfounded.

FURTHER BLOODSHED FEARED.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., June 7.—There was no further disorder here today. It is now believed fourteen were killed by the explosion of infernal machines at the railway station at Independence. Almost all the killed and injured were non union miners. Arrests have been made at victor. More bloodshed is feared.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL.

HAMILTON, June 7.—James Read, a mill owner of Upham who fell across a circular saw a few days ago died from his injuries today.

A WOODSTOCK BLAZE.

WOODSTOCK, June 7.—The pattern shop of Dunbar & Sons was burned today. A thousand dollars worth of patterns were destroyed.

FIELDING'S BIG SURPLUS.

OTTAWA, June 7.—Fielding's budget will show a big surplus—perhaps the biggest in the history of Canada. It will be nearly twenty millions and perhaps sufficient to show that the liberals have run the country since 1896 without a single additional dollar.

LAND ATTACK ON MONDAY.

LONDON, June 7.—Port Arthur advices show that the Japanese made a land attack on Monday but the result is not known.

DEN VER, June 7.—Another outbreak is feared at Cripple Creek. Two hundred men or more have been arrested.

Mr. E. J. Hilliard, travelling freight agent for the Grand Trunk Railway, with headquarters at Moncton, was called to Montreal by his company a few days ago and it is understood that he has been promoted to a more lucrative and important position in the T. R. service. He has been appointed commercial agent for the road at Buffalo. Mr. Hilliard has been located in Moncton for a year or more and proved himself a hustler in the interests of his road. He made many friends in Moncton and the nearest central points along the I. C. R. and his well deserved promotion will be learned with pleasure. —Moncton Times.

The concert given in the Parish Hall of Renous Bridge on Thursday the 2nd inst. by the young ladies and gentlemen of Indiantown was a complete success. The untiring efforts of those interested in the working up of the concert were amply rewarded by the manifest appreciation of those who had the good fortune to attend. The characters in the drama performed their parts well. The flag drill composed of twelve young ladies was achieved in a most artistic manner and was delightful. The orchestra conducted by St. Stephen's, Esq., of Chatham furnished excellent music. A sum realized was in the vicinity of seventy dollars.

And now I must give way to the silly whims of the editor of the Union Advocate and attempt to diffuse a little "hot air"—to use journalistic parlance—for the amusement of his women readers. Yes, I assure you, it will be "hot air"—nothing more.

To begin with—I like to see amiable women. I know a woman who is amiable with me, but she is because her husband is only paid fortnightly. Otherwise, she might be amiable once a week.

What with dancers, theatres and lectures Newcastle has been quite gay of late. And when the two days did come after all the rain weren't they hugely appreciated? We are creatures of the Sun, we men and women and once to our best only in the sun. But this is enough to mention it, you know. There is no luck for anyone who flies in the face of old traditions too openly.

Judging from appearances June weddings will be absolutely nothing in the market and there is to be a tremendous rush of these affairs in New Brunswick. Quite the bromsiest to do now is for each couple to have a dinner for the for the prospective bride and bridegroom and for each usher to do likewise. It can readily be seen that with wedding feasting there are the presents and usher there is a ample opportunity for the couples to be well before they enter on the holy estate.

Some Statistics as to Their Origin and Length of Life.

Havelock Ellis' studies of the origin and habits of the British men of genius show that most came from similar place, many from "good families," so called, and few from the clerical profession. Of 103 men of eminence in ten centuries thirty-one were the sons of carpenters, five of shoemakers, five of weavers and four of blacksmiths. Browning's father was a clerk, and so was Bradlaugh's. Turner's was a barber, Carlyle's a mason, Huxley's a schoolmaster, Keats' a livery stable man, Knox's a peasant, Wolsey's a grazier and Whitfield's an innkeeper.

Men of genius are long lived. Of those on Mr. Ellis' list more died between sixty-five and seventy-five than in any other period. Those living beyond seventy-five numbered 230, those beyond eighty 130, and twenty lived past ninety.

OLD TIME COFFEE.

The Way to Brew the Beverage as They Did in 1602.

An old cookbook, published in 1602, gives what is perhaps the first English recipe for coffee. The recipe reads:

"To make the drink that is now much used, called coffee:

"The coffee berries are to be bought at any druggist's, about 7 shillings the pound. Take what quantity you please, and over a charcoal fire in an old frying pan keep them always stirring until they be quite black, and when you crack one with your teeth that it is black within as it is without, yet if you exceed, then do not waste the oil, and if less, then will it not deliver its oil, and if you should continue fire till it be white it will then make no coffee, but only give you its salt. Beat and force through a lawn sieve.

"Take clear water and boil one-third of it away, and it is fit for use. Take one quart of this prepared water, put in one ounce of your prepared coffee and boil it gently one hour, and it is for your use. Drink one quarter of a pint as hot as you can sip it. It doth abate the fury and sharpness of the Acrimony, which is the gender of the Disease called Cerebral."—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

The Aristocracy of Pork.

When Theodore Parker first visited Cincinnati, at that time the recognized leader among western cities, he said that he had made a great discovery—namely, that while the aristocracy of Cincinnati was unquestionably founded on pork it made great difference whether a man killed pigs for himself or whether his father had killed them. The one was held plebeian, the other patrician. It was the difference, Parker said, between the stick 'ems and the stuck 'ems, and his own sympathies, he confessed, were with the present tense.—T. W. Higginson in Atlantic Monthly.

Where Fashions Come From.

It is said that a leader of fashion was once driving in the park when her hat was blown off. The carriage wheels passing over it made it a fearful and wonderful shape, but as the wearer could afford to defy criticism she put it on and calmly continued her drive. The next week dozens of hats exactly like the damaged one appeared. This story may be true, but it sounds like a mere, malicious, masculine invention.—London Woman.

LIMIT OF WHEAT BELT

SOMETHING OF THE POSSIBILITIES OF THE TERRITORIES.

Figures Which Convey a Vague Idea of the Material Canada is Adding Annually to the Empire. It is 350 miles from Winnipeg to the English River, and the grain-growing resources of the West have yet been scarcely touched—beyond Regina.

Writing from Regina, G. C. Porter, says in the Toronto World: This is the western limit of the great wheat belt. It is 350 miles from Winnipeg, throughout its length and for 200 miles north and south the distance south stretches that section that has made the Dominion famous for the grain it supplies the world. Last year there were 1,015,870 acres cultivated in this vast tableland. From here came the 110,000,000 bushels of grain last year, valued at $55,000,000. In 1902 the product of these immense farms reached 100,000,000 bushels, with an aggregate value of $44,000,000. These figures convey a vague idea of the material Canada is adding annually to the sum of the Empire's wealth. The bulk of this is grown north of the 50th parallel, a portion of the earth long declared by scientific minds to be worthless for the production of human food. And yet the grain-growing resources of the west have scarcely been touched. The fringe has merely been raked over. This is the territory famed in song and story as the "granary of the Empire." But the great west has a surplus of other things besides wheat and figures of speech. The exploitation of Canada's wheat lands is the best known feature of the western development, but 'tis written that man shall not live by bread alone.

The live stock region, where the wheat grows thin and disappears, to Calgary, is 500 miles. The subsoil undergoes a change and wild grass is abundant. This rolling country, 500 miles square, extending to the foothills of the Rockies, is the live stock region of British America. This is the region that is destined to supply the Empire with the red beef it consumes, with its cavalry and its draft horses, to say nothing of mutton and wool. The extent of the progress in this direction has been partially overshadowed by the tremendous grain production further east, but conditions are approaching that will force growers to coin a new phrase to fitly describe this new contribution to British foodstuffs.

If Ontario manufacturers are interested in the great problem of reducing the North-west grain supply to flour, the farmers and stock growers of the province are equally interested in supplying breeding animals here. This is an aspect of the west's development that is constantly being overlooked. The casual observer—the close connection between the two extremes of the Dominion. Toronto is 2,000 miles away, a week's journey by express train, and yet the interests of Ontario and her metropolis are so closely identified with the progress of this section that thousands of telegrams pass daily in business transactions. Probably more direct is the interest of the rural districts of the two in the live stock industry, though a delayed express brought in 38 traveling men to Regina Tuesday morning, representing the manufacturers of Ontario.

Live Stock Interchange.

While the wheat of the west is rushed through to seaports as fast as transportation permits, there is a curious exchange in the live stock relations of the west and the east. These ranchers must bring their young stock and their blooded breeding animals from Ontario. This is the season when many trainloads of yearlings, purchased from the farmers and dairymen from the part of Canada, are being brought into these remote sections. A yearling that markets for $15 around Newmarket commands $21 to $22.50 when landed between Calgary and Regina. The animal is turned out on the range to be exported two years later at $40 or $45 per head. This grassed stock is turned back through Ontario fat and juicy, ready for stabled finishing at the sites of the farmers of Eastern Canada, or sent direct to tide-water. Thus the exchange of interests continues constantly between the producers of the west and the east. Western cattle men claim they can buy a railroad of yearlings in Ontario easier than they can pick up a carload among the farmers of Manitoba. Therefore the western live stock interests rely strongly upon Ontario as the source of a very necessary supply. The high class shorthorn bulls, too, the preference of all the west because of the capacity of that class to "rustle" the range for his food supply, come up from Ontario. Many valuable animals of this class are in this territory, and ranchers think nothing of investing $400 and $500 in a single thoroughbred. It is this intimate relation that causes the western man to study so closely the receipts, shipments and quotations of the Toronto live stock market.

The Respectful Boy.
An exchange gives the following instance of a lad's politeness; such thoughtfulness for another by young people is a most winning trait of character:
An old man entered a railroad car and was looking for a seat when a boy ten or twelve years of age rose and inquired of the boy:
"Take my seat, sir."
The offer was accepted, and the infirm old man sat down.
"Why did you give me your seat?" he inquired of the boy.
"Because you are old, sir, and I am a boy," was the reply.

A hundred years ago there would have been little need to record remarkable a similar incident. Among things that are good or hopeful in a rising generation there is one great change for the worse, manifest to everybody—a declining reverence toward age and toward God.

shipping point in the world, so Maple Creek, 600 miles further west, a whistling station on the Transcontinental Line, holds a similar place for live stock shipments. This town, so-called by the courtesy and dignity it enjoys from having four stores, is one of the big forces in the live stock industry of the west. Whole trains of cattle go out of this place in season through Eastern Canada direct for export, and the remote village, noticed upon the map by a black spot so small as to require much search to locate, is one of the initial cattle shipping points that affect the world's food supply.

To-day there is a heavy supply of marketable cattle in this region. Fred McCown, one of the extensive stock owners of the west, told me he thought the presence of the unusual quantity was due to the sudden drop in the price the latter part of June, 1903. He thought ranchers had concluded it was more profitable to let the stock run on the range than sell below $3.50. At Maple Creek last year, after the drop, $2.96 was the best offered, five weight, weighed in at Winnipeg. This made the rancher stand loss of shrinkage, but it is the custom of the industry to sell, subject to weight at Winnipeg. As the grain of the west has no fixed value until graded at Winnipeg, so live stock values are determined at the industrial centre. Mr. McCown said he had to-day 500 steers he refused $4.50 for last week. That means $5.50 on the Toronto market. With hay at $18 per ton at Winnipeg he says live stock must advance in spite of the excessive supply.

It is an evidence of the pressure the horde of new settlers is exerting on the pioneers in the west that McCown is to-day selling out a 400-acre farm 35 miles east of Winnipeg to move to more remote sections. He purchased the place 21 years ago from half-brothers for a song. Last week he secured $20 an acre for the whole farm. He long since abandoned cattle growing for the more lucrative wheat business, as many Manitoba farmers are doing.

Herds Are Superior.

The careful breeding of Canadian ranchers has resulted in herds much superior to those of the States and much more numerous. The cattle of the west are now being sent north over the line where the succulent grass abounds and mixing with the blooded stock.

In horses, the west is making immense progress. Clydesdales seem to have the rail, and ranchers syndicate and invest as much as $2,000 and $3,000 for the splendid stallions. James Smith, manager of the Galbraith stables at Regina, told me he sold last year 63 of these blooded animals, and this year has already disposed of 35. While there are many causes in the range country the $75 valuation placed upon all horses by the new custom ruling is hailed by the admirers of fine stock in the west as the doom of the little stuff in the way of horse flesh the Yankees have been flooding the west with.

The fine Canadian range—an Empire in itself—is admirably adapted to the production of blooded stock. The "bad lands" of the Dakotas, those great gashes in the earth's crust by which the relics of titanic convulsions, that render that part of the States so dangerous to stock and useless to man, "break" off as the Canadian boundary is approached, and disappear by the rolling prairie. This rugged geological formation that is so clearly defined for two thousand miles south, having its extreme in the "Death Valley" of Arizona, is one of nature's great puzzles, that science has failed to penetrate.

PRINTER MINSTRELS.

Five Montreal Types Who Toured Ontario in the Forties.

One of the first minstrel shows that traveled in Canada way back in 1848 was composed of five Montreal printers who found there was more money in playing darkey than in setting type. Each of the five carried an instrument as well as taking part and men—bones and tambourine and a banjo player. They had fine voices, and as the songs and music were new and an airy character, the printer minstrels succeeded in drawing good houses all through Canada. The song of Camp-town Races was just out, and the morning after the appearance of the minstrels in London every boy in town was singing or whistling Duddy-day and betting his money on the foot-ball race, and challenging anybody to bet on the horse. Charles Kidd, one of the five, a Montreal printer personally knew all of the minstrels, some of them having worked with him as fellow-apprentices, and he made an especial effort to see that his old friends had a good house. London had no daily paper then, though shortly afterward The Free Press tried the experiment of getting out an evening paper, so Mr. Kidd hired the town crier and sent him around town ringing his bell and with stentorian voice announcing the advent of negro minstrel in the Mechanics' Institute Hall that evening.—Toronto Telegram.

TWO COMPOSERS.

Rossini Was an Easy Worker, While Meyerbeer Was Strenuous.

Giuseppe Meyerbeer went at everything furiously. The work of composing music was restless, excitable and caused him many sleepless nights. This condition was always worst in the spring of the year. He did his best work when the wind howled, the rain poured down in torrents and humanity generally sought refuge indoors. During such natural upheavals the great composer was in his element. Deluged with ideas, his fingers charmed from the piano the rarest and most wonderful melodies.

Compared to Meyerbeer, Rossini was an easy worker and always ready with a pen. Some of his most charming compositions originated under the most commonplace circumstances. One day while the composer was still abed entertaining a few friends the poet Tadolini brought him the words to the celebrated prayer song in "Moisés." Rossini read the text, and the poet, fearing some sarcastic remarks on the part of the former, said, "It took me an hour to write these verses."

"An hour to write such verses?" cried Rossini. "I'll set them to music in a quarter of an hour."

He asked for pen and paper, and in ten minutes, while his friends chaffed him, he had written the prayer song in his opera, "Moisés."

FRIEND OF DICKENS.

Acted as His amanuensis—Spoke of the Methods and the Manners of the Great Novelist.

There lies beyond the old Bushwick meadows, says The Brooklyn Daily Eagle, on the brow of a hill, the little straggling hamlet of Fort Limerick. In this out-of-the-way spot lives a woman of advanced years. Her name is Amelia Thurston. A single glance at her denotes her a lady, born and bred. The home in which she lives is an humble one, but, for all that, more than one author of world-wide fame has paid his respects to that lowly cot.

The singular interest that attaches to this estimable woman is due to the fact that she was for many years intimately associated with Charles Dickens, and at one time his amanuensis.

The following interview with this accomplished woman is given to the public just as the words fell from her own lips, and is a true statement:

"I was born in Massachusetts, in the suburbs of Boston.
"Very early in life I got hold of the works of Dickens and fell in love with them, particularly 'Sketches by Boz.' 'David Copperfield,' and 'Nicholas Nickleby.' They made such an impression upon my young mind that, though still a girl in my teens, I resolved to cross the water and know for myself personally the man whose works had so delighted me. Supplied by an indulgent father with plenty of money, I went with my maid to London, and there procured for myself comfortable apartments not far from Old Bow Square Church.

"It was autumn. The people were as yet largely out of town. Mr. Dickens was on the continent.
"I turned my back on myself and worked out this business into a story 'New England life,' which I sent to Mr. Dickens as soon as he returned.

"About this time unhappy rumors of domestic infidelity in Tavistock House crept out into the air. I started to Mr. Dickens, and he, startled and shocked, told me to go to my room and read my manuscript. To my great gratification and surprise he accepted it, paid me liberally for it, and asked me to go on contributing to his magazine.

"Not long after this incident in my life, Mr. Dickens sent me a note, inviting me to call upon him at his house, on such a day and hour. Punctually at the time he gave me was waiting for me. He was very cordial and friendly. Not being much acquainted with the map of London, I went a roundabout way, arriving at his residence half an hour late. The butler informed me, much to my chagrin, that Mr. Dickens had waited for me half an hour, but had been obliged to go to his office and that he would expect me on the same day and hour the following week. Once more a monstrous fog prevented him from reaching home in time to meet me, which brought a note of explanation and a renewed appointment.

"The third attempt was successful, and I found myself face to face with the man who of all others I most desired to meet, Charles Dickens, at last.
"Not long after I was surprised to receive a note from him informing me that he was coming to see me. I was living at that time near the West End, in a rather antiquated stone cottage. The day came and with it Mr. Dickens, on time to the minute.
"We sat and talked, as he outlined a series of resources into the different phases of London life. This was to be my study of human nature. I accepted his suggestions and spent hours in following them out, reporting to him as I progressed each new find.
"In this way I came to know Mr. Dickens very well, often acting as his amanuensis and assistant. He was carefully, slaughtered mercilessly and made many changes."

The Essential Thing.

"The time to jump on a fire, is when it is in its infancy. No expense should be spared in getting quick and sure notice to the fire halls of every little blaze that starts up anywhere."—Toronto Star.

That is the essential thing in fire fighting.

Conflagration after conflagration has proved that once a fire gets really under way, nothing stops it but Providence.

The shacks of Hull, the lumber yards of Ottawa, the steel skyscrapers of Baltimore, the stone warehouses of Toronto, all tell the same story. Let a fire get going well with a wind blowing, and fire brigades are but flies on a wheel.

The great thing is to jump on a fire at the start.—Ottawa Journal.

"Is Jones an optimist?"
"Is he? That man would pay alimony cheerfully!"

One Cent Claims Against Uncle Sam.

There have been several one cent claims against the United States government. One was by the Southern Pacific, which submitted a bill of $5.29 for hauling government freight. It was a bond aided road, only part of its bills against the government being paid in cash, the rest going to the railroad's credit on the bonds. In this case its credit was $5.28 and its cash a cent. Another government obligation of a single cent was in favor of a chemical company which for some unexplained reason agreed in a public competition to supply 36,892 pounds of ethyl ether for a cent. The offer was accepted. There were nine signatures, one that of a rear admiral, on the paper relating to the establishment of this claim, and the warrant for payment had to be signed by several persons.

A Gormandizer.

Some years ago the late Marquis of Queensberry made a bet of 1,000 guineas that he would produce a man who would eat more at a meal than any Sir John Lubbock could find. The bet being accepted, the time was appointed, but his lordship not being able to attend the exhibition he wrote to his agent to know the result and presently received the following note:

My Lord—I have not time to state particulars, but merely to acquaint your grace that your man beat his antagonist by a pig and an apple pie.

Too Unanimous.

"Talk about men being lords of creation! Why, I can twist that husband of mine around my little finger."
"Yes, I suppose so. He's rather small, isn't he, and quite slender?"
"Small and slender? He isn't any such thing. There's enough of him, let me tell you, to make a million such husbands as yours."

First Case of See Serpent.

Adam hastily made an inscription in his diary.
"I want it to go on record," he explained, "that we had the first case of see serpent ever known."
Feeling he had the bulge on the rest of humanity, he strutted about with a satisfied air.

More Definite Information Wanted.

"Now, William," said the man of business to the office boy, "I am going out to get shaved."
"Please, sir," said the boy, hesitating, "if any one calls and wants to know where you are will I say you've gone to the barber's or down to Wall street?"

No one is a fool always; every one sometimes.—McCall's Magazine.

Chinese Tops.

Some of the tops with which the Chinese amuse themselves are as large as barrels. It takes three men to spin one, and it emits a sound that can be heard several hundred yards away.

Japanese Ships.

In Japanese the word "mikan" indicates a warship and "maru" a ship of commerce.

Drug Stores in Sweden.

Patent medicines are never sold in the apothecary shops of Sweden. The government limits the number of these shops, and there are only 350 in the whole country, Stockholm, with a population of 300,000, having only twenty-two.

Swallows in Palestine.

In Palestine the swallows are allowed not only the freedom of the houses and living rooms, but of the mosques and tombs, where they build their nests and rear their young.

The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing-down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restless sleep in hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recommended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot."—Miss FRANKIE ORSER, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Mass.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is responsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

A STRIKE—ITS CAUSE AND EFFECT.

The Dominion Iron and Steel Company of Sydney, Cape Breton, has undergone almost all the vicissitudes which commonly attend the establishment of "vast" industrial enterprises whose ideas at the outset are in every sense extravagant. The intemperate avowal of the promoters of the Sydney industry that their concern could produce iron and steel superior to the world's best and market it to better advantage than any of its competitors created some amusement among men who had devoted their lives to the economic production of iron and steel. But buoyant with a false hope, the Sydney promoters proceeded with the work of construction and were apparently indifferent to the glaring extravagance which was to be met with on every hand. At length the Company found a portion of its plant completed but failed to find an adequate market for its products and the operation of other mills was necessary before a revenue could be derived. The money, however, had been spent—perhaps injudiciously spent—and it was not until a handful of Canadian millionaires came to the rescue that the completion of the plant was in any way assured. And even now much remains to be accomplished before the plant can be operated on a paying basis. It has all along been operated at a loss and this in view of the fact that wages were indiscriminately cut and well cut at that. The heads of departments resented the reduction in their salaries and their places were filled by cheaper salaried men. The laboring class, however, bore the reduction without a murmur until it was found that those who composed it could not sustain themselves and their families on the new scale of wages. And now these men, 1800 in all, are out on strike and the big plant is practically tied up. These men are all members of the Provincial Workmen's Association—an association which has always been most temperate in its demands. Both the operators and the strikers declare it will be a fight to finish. Probably it will be a "fight to a finish" but a rather inglorious one for both sides. It is not improbable that the strike was really precipitated by the operators themselves for it unburdens them of a useless weekly expenditure for which there is no return. It seems reasonable to assume that at the present time the operators merely require sufficient men to operate the plant at a minimum cost and thereby prevent it from going to rack and ruin. The construction of mills for the manufacture of the finished material could then be preceded with to better advantage and when completed the whole plant placed in operation on a paying basis. Then, and probably not until then, will the demands of the P. W. A. men be granted. In the meantime liquidation is not improbable and in the wake of liquidation may come an adequate protection for the Company's products. The latter seems almost necessary before the dreams of the iron and coal magnates of Cape Breton can be realized—dreams in which are incorporated the amalgamation of the Dominion Iron and Steel company and its smaller though prec-erous sister, the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company and the establishment of one colossal iron and steel industry which will supply the ever-growing Canadian market.

Apropos of church union the Rev.
Dr. Carman does not believe in a hop, skip and jump union, a push and drive union, a listless union, a money or convenience union, a political or social union; but he believes in a union.

PERMANENT SIDEWALKS.

The civic administrators are apparently in dead earnest on the subject of permanent sidewalks. They seem to be convinced of the advisability of replacing the old wooden walk with the modern granolithic pavement and it is doubtful if any one will dispute the soundness of their judgment. The civic rulers are also cheerfully optimistic that the abutters will contribute half of the cost of the new pavement.
But this optimism is perhaps inspired by the fact that a bye-law can be passed compelling the abutter to contribute towards the work. Whether or not property holders will be pleased with this phrase of the subject is by no means clear but it is unlikely that they will offer any strenuous objection. Sewerage systems and so forth can be installed almost as conveniently after the sidewalk is laid as before, by means of a tunnel.
And it will be quite unnecessary to disturb the walk after it is once laid.
With concrete sidewalks, electric lights and plate glass fronts our business streets will have quite a city aspect.

It is announced from London that the Duke of Marlborough will attend the London Dominion Day banquet at the Hotel Savoy. The husband of "little Consuelo" appears to be taking quite a lively interest in Canadian affairs of late and it might be well to have Rideau Hall in readiness for a Vanderbilt mistress.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of the cities and towns of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to balk at the "demands" of the Board of Fire Underwriters. It is claimed —whether justly or unjustly we do not presume to say—that the more a town does for the Underwriters the more the Underwriters want done and besides it is affirmed that no matter what is done the rates continue to get higher instead of lower. Perhaps there is a good deal of truth in these contentions. But at the same time municipal bodies should not lose sight of the fact that the "demands" of the Underwriters are as much in the public interest as they are in the interests of the tariff companies and they should at least be treated with respectful consideration. And perhaps, after all, when all the "demands" of the Underwriters are met we will have no need for fire insurance at all for the danger from conflagration will have been reduced to a minimum.

A large Toronto dry goods house has made advertising contracts with a number of Provincial newspapers with the stipulation in each case that the paper's mailing list be forwarded to the concern. This seems to be a rather novel means of reaching the buying public and one which likely works to the detriment of the local merchants and it is almost needless to observe that it is one which the Advocate will not be a party to.

seventy years of age and was living apart from his wife, so the insurance stood to win hands down. But—exception of the insurance company.

Indications point to a substantial increase in the population of Freder-

No less than sixteen weddings are booked to come off in that city during damper on the matter in announcing that "the sixteen prospective brides by no means exhaust the eligible list of Fredericton girls."

Votaries of the Rod and Reel are Busy on the Miramichi Waters

SOME FINE CATCHES

One Party Got Ninety Large Trout at the Big Hole Last Week.

Grey dawn appears: the sportsman and his train Speckle the bosom of the distant plain—Copper.

The votaries of the hook and line have been out in force since Tuesday last, and about every available rod and reel in the neighborhood of the Miramichi has been utilized.

The Waltons started last week to whip the streams in earnest and some splendid catches have been made. It is estimated that at least a thousand members of the finny tribe have been taken from the waters of the Miramichi by the enthusiastic Waltons. The principal catch was of course trout but a number of grise and salmon were also landed.

One of the most successful parties was composed of Messrs A. E. Shaw, R. N. Wyse and Osborne Brown of Newcastle. This party fished at the Big Hole and in a couple of days succeeded in landing about ninety of the speckled beauties—a very handsome catch indeed.

Messrs James Rundle and Hubert Sinclair were out for a day or two and in addition to a nice catch of trout landed two splendid salmon.

Mr. Frank Masson and his two boys spent a day or two at the Ox Bow and the Peninsula and landed about twenty good sized trout.

Messrs John McLean of St. John and Douglas DeCatherin of Fredericton are now up river in search of the speckled beauties.

While up at the grounds of the Miramichi Fish and Game Club last week, Mr. R. H. Armstrong landed a handsome five pounder.

Mr. James S. Whitman of Boston arrived here yesterday and left for the streams of the Miramichi Fish and Game Club.

Messrs Hubert Sinclair and R. T. D. Aitken had fairly good luck on Saturday afternoon.

Reports from Gloucester county are to the effect that salmon have struck in all along the coast. The Nepisiguit salmon are expected in large numbers this week. Several parties of Americans are booked for the waters of the Restigouche—one of which will occupy the camp at Robineau Falls.

FOR WOMEN ONLY!

When a bachelor sees a widow he shakes his head knowingly. When a widow sees a bachelor she shakes her head knowingly. Watching them is a spinster, who also shakes her head knowingly.

Aprespos of weddings—"I could not think of marrying a man with such a poor position or small income", thousands of girls are daily saying, quite forgetful of the fact that both position and income may be better than their own parents felt justified in marrying on. The girl who insists on beginning her married career where her parents end theirs has only herself to blame if she misses the matrimonial stakes. Of course, there are many girls—all honor to them—who turn their backs on matrimony from a sense of duty they owe to others, and alas! Some remain unmarried for the simple reason that they are never asked to change their condition. In the hope of eliciting the opinion of the girls themselves on this vital question I asked a very charming member of our sex: "Why do some girls never marry?" Quick as a flash and with a dainty toss of the head came the answer: "Because they don't want to." "And perhaps that is another reason."

It wouldn't be quite proper to permit my debut to cover too much space so I had better close, but before doing so I should like to urge your perusal of the following lines which were penned by one of my dearest friends who has the astronomical bug—

Now turn to grave Astronomy or hectic star economy
You straight-laced Man of Moment, if you want to win a lass.
The Love-talk and the chatter, and the silly parlor flatter
Should be couched in terms heroic of the planets as they pass.

Just tell the girl her shoulders lie like sky-washed mountain boulders
That abide in distant Janus near the unions of the moon.
Say her eyes with light a glitter match the starry Butler
Of a sun, all aureate tinted, at the magic hour of noon.

Whisper low of grace, resplendent that is like the euboean pendant Call her Mars or Zeo, or Jepy, till your throat is almost croupy,
And wind up with Astronotica as a sort of counter play.

Civic Authorities Advocate Running Rights for Dominion Express Co. over I. C. R.

RESOLUTION PASSED.

Minister of Railways Petitioned to Take an Early Action in the Matter.

At a meeting of Town Council on Wednesday evening, Mr. Morris, a declared supporter of the Dominion Express Co., declared that there was an effort on foot throughout the Maritime Provinces to obtain running rights for the Dominion Express Co. over the I. C. R., similar to those enjoyed by the Canadian Express Co. He went on to say that the charges of the Canadian Express Company were in many instances very excessive and competition was desirable. About all the towns in the Maritime Provinces had taken up the matter and he thought Newcastle should follow suit.

The following resolution was then unanimously passed:—

Whereas the Dominion Express Company is negotiating to establish an express service on Intercolonial trains between Montreal and the Maritime Provinces affording competition to stations along the line of the said railway and whereas between points west and the town of Newcastle the express service is confined to the Canadian Express Co. affording no competition to and from points reached by the Dominion Express Co. on other lines of railway,

And whereas it is understood that the Dominion Express Company is willing to extend their services on all passenger trains of the I. C. Railway on the same terms as are now granted to the Canadian Express Co.

Therefore resolved that in the interests of importers and shippers of the town, the Town Council of the Town of Newcastle urge upon the Minister of Railways the advisability of granting the same terms to the Dominion Express Co. as granted by the government to the Canadian Express Co.

And further resolved that copies of this resolution be sent to the Minister of Railways and to our representative, James Robinson.

The death of Mrs. Peter Sinclair, (relict of the late Peter Sinclair) one of Whitneyville's most respected inhabitants took place at the residence of her son, Alfred Sinclair on Tuesday, April 14th. Deceased was in her 84th year, and although in failing health for some time was nevertheless bright and active up to a short period before death came. Mrs. Sinclair's maiden name was Maria Copp. She was born in Biddford, England, but removed with her parents to the Miramichi in 1831. Being possessed of a good education for those times, and having a clear preceptive mind she could relate many things of the early English home, the voyage to America and the final settlement of the family near Wayerton on the Northwest, thus making her a most brilliant conversationalist. She had a kind sympathetic disposition, and was a valued member of the community where she lived—one that will be missed in every sense of the word. She was an earnest Christian, and a prominent member of the Methodist church. To mourn her loss are left two sons, three daughters, brothers, sisters and grandchildren besides numerous friends and acquaintances. The sons are Alfred of Whitneyville, and Henry of Clearfield, Pa., while the daughters are Mrs. Peter Mezzies also of Whitneyville, Mrs. Robert F. Russell of Tomahawk, Wisc. and Miss Jennie of Boston, Mass. The interment, conducted by undertaker Maltby of Newcastle took place on Saturday in the Presbyterian cemetery at Redbank, the remains being followed to the grave by a large procession despite the bad condition of the roads. The service both at the house and grave was conducted by the Rev. J. D. Murray. The pallbearers were Messrs. Ralph Parker, Benjamin Forsythe, James McKendrick, Archibald Mezzies, James Whitney and Peter Russell. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful showing the high respect in which the deceased was held. The sorrowing relatives have the sympathy of the entire community in their irreparable loss.

LIB. ASSOC'N RECOGNIZED.

Distribution of Government Patronage Said to be in Hands of Messrs Morrissey and Watt.

The dispensation of government patronage in the County of Northumberland is seemingly vested in the wing of the liberal party headed by Messrs. Morrissey, Winslow and Watt. It is learned on reliable authority that word was received here yesterday to dismiss the fishery guardians appointed by the late dispensers of patronage and to appoint new ones. This is a recognition of the Liberal Association of this county—an association of which Mr. Morrissey is president. It is said that the position of harbor master has not yet been decided upon but it is probable the new dispensers of patronage will play an important part in the matter.

ULLOA'S CIRCLES.

The White Rainbow and One Occasion When It Was Observed.

A wonderful atmospheric phenomenon, described by both Ulloa and Bonger, was first observed by the first named gentleman during the stay of himself and party in the Pichincha. One morning at daybreak the whole mountain top was covered with a dense fog. After a short while the atmosphere became tolerably clear with the exception of a few vaporous clouds. While the travelers were watching the gradual disappearance of the fog one of them turned quickly and perceived an image of himself distinctly mirrored on that quarter of the sky opposite the rising sun. The figure appeared to stand in the center of three concentric rings which were shaded with different colors, while around was a fourth and much larger ring tinted with but a single hue. The outermost edge of each of the interior rings was crimson, the next orange, with a shade of pale yellow, the innermost tint being of a brilliant green. When first seen these rings were hardly circular in form, but they soon became perfect. But as they did so, which depended on the rising of the sun toward the zenith, the colors gradually disappeared until finally the whole apparition faded like a mirage from the gaze of the astonished scientists.

THE QUEER MANDINGOES.

In This African Tribe the Wives Wear the Trousers.

The Mandingoes, who inhabit a tract of country in Africa, are strict Mohammedans in religion; but, curiously enough, they still retain many of the superstitions of the negro races from which they sprang. Consequently their marriage ceremony is a mixture of the two, and, although it is performed by a marabout or holy man in the mosque, it contains one very ridiculous element. Next in importance to the marabout is the bridegroom's sister, and when the marriage ceremony reaches the point where the visible bond, usually typified in civilization by the ring, this sister steps forward and in place of the ring presents the lady with a pair of trousers, which are immediately donned. The ceremony is concluded by a very mournful song sung by the companions of the bride, who then conduct her again to the home of her parents, as, owing to the extreme probability of one or the other retracting at any moment by reason of an unfavorable omen, no house is built until the ceremony is completed. Polygamy is the rule, but each wife has her own house. They are the most tyrannical wives in Africa and, hating each other, band together against their husband and rule him with a rod of iron.

The World of the Solid.

We live amid matter in three characteristic states—solid, liquid and gaseous. But since hydrogen has been both liquefied and solidified, the investigator says Professor James Dewar, is introduced into a world of solid bodies. With the aid of the cold furnished by liquid hydrogen, every mass of substance, at present known to man, has been solidified, with the single exception of helium, which, it is believed, cannot be solidified. Even helium, Professor Dewar hopes, may yield to the process, as he has already played at the Royal Institution in London. Liquid hydrogen is so cold that the only way to handle it is to put it in a vessel of metal, and to keep it in a vacuum, so that it will not boil away. It is a very rare gas, and is found only in the atmosphere of the stars. It is a very rare gas, and is found only in the atmosphere of the stars. It is a very rare gas, and is found only in the atmosphere of the stars.

CHOOSING A LOVER.

She Is a Wise Maiden Who Waits Until She Is Twenty.

It is rather a difficult matter to say exactly at what age a girl should have a lover. Circumstances alter cases, and an age which might be applicable to one girl would be inadvisable in the case of another. One is fairly safe in saying, however, that in the great majority of love affairs the happiest are those which are never thought of until a girl has passed her twentieth birthday. By that time a girl may be said to have reached the age of discretion. She has probably had opportunities of meeting various types of men, gained a clear insight into their characteristics and acquired that knowledge of men and their ways which prevents her fixing her thoughts and affections on the first man who attracts her particular attention. She has got past the schoolgirl age, when a maiden is apt to vote every member of the opposite sex charming and lovable if able to talk and flirt in a fascinating manner. The sensible girl who is well past her teens, however, probes deeper beneath the surface, so to speak, and does not judge a man when he is on his best behavior at a ball or a party. It is quite possible, of course, for her to make a mistake and bestow her affections on one who is unworthy of them, but the girl of twenty or twenty-one makes fewer mistakes in estimating a man's character than sweet sixteen or seventeen, and consequently saves herself much unhappiness by choosing at the right time no lover but "Mr. Right."—American Queen.

MANAGING CHILDREN.

The Mother Should Make Her Own Rules and Enforce Them.

It is very seldom indeed that a number of children play together for five minutes without some member of the group piping: "Now, you stop that! I'll tell mamma on you!" Sometimes the threat to tell is repeated a dozen times in half an hour. Have you ever noticed that "I'll tell mother on you" is nearly always uttered forth, not shouted? Of course. That's instinctive inclination toward the fitness of things. The telltale habit is a winning habit and comes from a winning frame of mind, and is altogether as contemptible a frailty as ever beset human nature.

Not that the children are to blame; they pattern themselves very often after adult telltales. It is scarcely conceivable, but there are actually mothers who tell tales on the little ones to their father.

"You just wait till your father comes home," she says. "I'm going to tell him what you did. Then we'll see." And the children go around hanging dog fashion, dreading instead of welcoming the hour of their father's arrival. He comes, hears the tale of horror and, blindly imagining—poor, ignorant man—that he ought to enforce his wife's authority, "corrects" the children. What a mistaken way of bringing them up! How infinitely more winning of respect is the mother who settles her own scores with them! That act of telling is nothing more nor less than a confession of weakness.

HEAVIEST MAN IN ENGLAND.

William Ecclestone Weighs 500 Pounds and Is Still Growing.

Possibly the heaviest man in the world is Mr. William Thomas Ecclestone, the landlord of the Coach and Horses, an old coaching house to the north of London, on the main road to Harrow and Watford.

He weighs over forty stone, and his measurements are as follows:

Chest, 54 inches; 2 feet 11 inches; Height, 5 feet 11 inches; 2 feet 11 inches; Arms, 2 feet 2 inches; 2 feet 2 inches.

It is a pedestrian tour to walk round Mr. Ecclestone. He is several inches bulkier than Jesse Baker, the American heavy weight, who was buried at Preston the other day, and who in life claimed to be the heaviest man on earth. Mr. Baker weighed forty-two stone, two stone more than Mr. Ecclestone.

The changes are that Mr. Ecclestone will be heavier than Baker was in a year or so, for he enjoys splendid health and a capital appetite.

Mr. Ecclestone was not born to greatness, he had it thrust upon him, and anti-fat preparations were in vogue. As a young man, the giant was of normal size. Today, at the early age of 12, he is among the great ones of the earth.

He was born in Sigurditch, London, he said, and was intended for a carpenter, but, strolling down to Billingsgate, he shipped on a fish trawler as a handy boy. He was at sea for two years, and finally a Houfao, going to Coventry, once, he could not get into the carriages, and as the guard would not allow him in the guards van he had to travel as luggage in the luggage van. When sleeping away from home, he always recomposes his bedstead carefully. He has fallen through several beds. Once he was staying with a friend and, disliking the bedstead, suggested that it should be shored up with empty boxes or any other handy supports. His friend derided the idea, and declared that the bed was strong enough to support any forty-stone featherweight.

"I got into bed," said Mr. Ecclestone, "and presently one wire cracked, and then another, and down I went on the floor. Ha, ha, ha!"

"Only the other week I was coming down to the law courts, and I called a hansom, but the step bent directly I got on it. Ha, ha, ha! Up in Camden Town once I was very tired, and the only cabman in sight refused to take me, and I don't know what would have happened if a policeman hadn't come along, and the driver let me ride on the tailboard."

Biggest of Gold Nuggets.

Could even fiction or east side melodrama suggest any situation more romantic? Figure to yourself, as the French say, four men sinking down exhausted in the arid Australian bush, way back in the "Never-Never" country, where rain does not fall for years at a stretch, and the only plant that forces its way through the cracking sand is the dreaded squib, or Australian species of grass, whose points pierce the passer's feet like a lance.

The four men, who were exhausted, and of the four, the third, being the strongest, had just been digging for gold, and had just discovered a nugget of gold, and the other three were looking at it with admiration.

The first man, who was the weakest, said: "I'll take it, and I'll give you all the gold I want."

The second man, who was the strongest, said: "I'll take it, and I'll give you all the gold I want."

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquezone Can't Kill

On every bottle of Liquezone we publish an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do that to convince you that Liquezone does as we claim.

Please note what that means. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is, therefore, almost helpless in any germ disease. Liquezone alone can kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too.

Acts Like Oxygen

Liquezone is the result of a process which for more than 20 years, has been the constant study of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product. The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen gas, as you know, is the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. Liquezone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. But germs are vegetables; and Liquezone, which—like oxygen—is life to an animal, is deadly to vegetable matter.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquezone—the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country, and others.

That price was paid because Liquezone does what—if the skill in the world cannot do without it. It does in germ diseases that which is impossible with drugs. It carries into the blood a harmless yet powerful germicide, to destroy at once and forever the cause of any germ disease. And no man knows any other way to do it.

Liquezone is new in America, and millions who need it don't know of it. For that reason we are spending $500,000 to give the first bottle free to each of a million sick ones.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquezone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

"The funniest thing that ever happened," is the universal verdict of those who witness the newest and latest musical comedy success, "The Real Widow Brown." The story is well told and splendidly acted by a carefully selected company of fun-makers, while the situations and act-endings are both novel and exceedingly funny. The piece is interspersed with new and bright specialties.

Lieut. Governor Snowball came in from Chatham last night to greet Lieut. Governor W. Mortimer Clark, of Ontario, who is here as a commissioner to the Presbyterian General Assembly. Yesterday Governor Snowball sent his respects by Col. H. H. McLean, his aide-de-camp, to Governor Clark, and invited the latter to lunch with him at the Union Club today. Ontario's governor, while deeply appreciating the courtesy of Governor Snowball, was unwilling the latter should come from so far as Chatham solely to entertain him, and sent a courteous reply to this effect: Governor Snowball, however, overcame Governor Clark's objections on that point, and his invitation was courteously accepted. Other guests of the New Brunswick governor at the luncheon will be Rev. E. M. Milligan, Moderator of the general assembly; Rev. Dr. Warden, Rev. Principal Gordon and J. K. Macdonald.—Saturday's Telegraph.

In this age of the cheap daily paper, it is presumed that everyone obtains telegraphic news intelligence from that source, consequently the Advocate does not pretend to keep its readers informed on what is transpiring in the outside world unless it is obtained by telegraph on the day of publication. The mission of a country weekly today in our opinion is to publish only the local news, with such editorial comment as may be of interest. The Advocate will henceforth give its readers all the news of Gloucester and Northumberland Counties that is fit to print, and scarcely anything more may be expected. In order to accomplish this the Advocate is on the lookout for regular and reliable contributors from all sections of the two counties. Men who are in a position to help the Advocate in this respect should be public spirited enough to do so. Give us the news and we'll publish it in an endeavour to make the Advocate a local paper of which the people of the two counties will be proud.

The Advocate's Bathurst Correspondent Discusses in an Interesting Manner Subjects of Interest to the People of Northern New Brunswick.

Away back in 1640 Father Lederg, a French Missionary wrote quite an enthusiastic description of the basin of water now known as Bathurst Harbor, then called Nepisiguit. He wrote: Nepisiguit has a most delightful situation on the great bay of Lawrence; it is not more than 12 or 15 leagues distant Isle Perce. The soil here is fertile and abundant in everything, the atmosphere is pure and healthy. Three fine rivers, that have their outlet here form a beautiful basin, the waters of which mingle with those of the sea through a strait at the entrance of the basin. Nicholas Deny, who was the real founder of the French settlement at Nepisiguit also published a favorable description of the place in 1672, in a narrative which was printed in Paris and ever since these dates, when the first discoverers were enchanted with the beauty of the situation, every person who sees Bathurst Harbor and the scenery in the surrounding country for the first time in summer is delighted with them. It is therefore a matter of regret that some effort is not made by some of our enterprising men of means to build at or near Bathurst a large summer hotel which could accommodate a large number of summer tourists. Hundreds of people have said that they would come to Bathurst every year, bringing their families for the summer season if they could procure proper accommodation. It is true an effort has been made to accommodate a few people in the cottages at the Points, but we feel certain a large summer hotel erected near the points or connected with the bathing facilities there by one or more small steamers running during the daytime when the tides suit for sea bathing would pay handsome dividends in the investment. If the Incharran hotel, erected at Dalhousie some years ago, had been built near Bathurst, it could not have proved a failure, but really nothing so elaborate as the Incharran would be needed. People coming here or the class of people who would come here would not care for style such as the proprietors of the Incharran imposed on their guests, and all that would be required at first at a few paces, would be a plain building, built only for summer use and properly situated with a view to sanitary ideas, and near enough to the Points and places of interest in the vicinity of the town and village. We who live here all the time do not half appreciate the beauties of Bathurst and its surroundings and it remains for strangers to tell us which they do continually. We feel sure the Intercolonial Railway management would do all in its power to help such an undertaking, if some man would only start it.

We are glad to see that the Electric Light Co. is at work in earnest, putting up their dam in Tetagouche river, and getting in the necessary supplies to facilitate the working out of the scheme to light the town and village. In this connection we hear considerable talk about the rates to be charged for lights in private dwelling and business places, and in justice to the gentlemen who are risking their money in the undertaking we would ask the public to wait until a proper tariff is submitted. Even then if the rates proposed are a little higher than are usually charged in large cities and towns much more popular than Bathurst, the utmost latitude should be allowed the company at the beginning at all events, for no matter what rates are charged for a first few years, it is hardly likely a fortune would be made out of the business. The men who have initiated this reform deserve the support of the community, for Bathurst has long needed to be put upon the same basis of enlightenment (if we may use the term) as almost every other town of its size in the Dominion. Therefore we say give the company a fair show in every way and even if we are out a dollar or so on the cost of lights, compared with other towns, think of the immense convenience of the arrangement and one thing certain, once you have the lights in your home and places of business, you will rather pay twice the cost of lamp light than do without the electric lights.

Building operations on Water Street which we supposed would commence as soon as the snow disappeared, are slow in getting under way. We are pleased to learn, however, that Miss Meahan has contracted for a large building on her ground which will include a fine store for her own use and probably offices for the Royal Bank of Canada. We hope Miss Meahan's enterprise will be followed by others and that the unsightly appearance of our principal street will soon be changed by the erection of structures which will be a credit to the town. We notice that Dr. McNichol has very much improved the appearance of the surroundings to his new house, the lawn fences, etc., making it more homelike and in fact the place is one of the prettiest and most substantial residences on the North Shore.

Mr. George Windsor has also very much improved his new home by the erection of a handsome fence and having the house painted, etc.

The lobster fishing was slightly improved last week and some fair catches were made at different points along the coast.

We have heard of no salmon being taken yet, though there was a rumor that they had made an appearance at Grand Anse.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Barry and son Gerald, are visiting Mrs. J. P. Byrre. Mr. Barry was for many years manager of the Royal Bank here and he and Mrs. Barry have many warm friends in Bathurst.

Mrs. Arthur Berry of Campbellton is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ramsay.

On the 25th and 26th instants, meetings of the Sunday School Association were held in the Methodist church here, and were well attended. As is known this was one of a series of conventions held throughout the Province during the visit to New Brunswick of the delegates, Mr. Alfred Day, of Detroit, and Messrs. Colfax, Tuller and Meredith of New York. The secretary of the Association, Rev. A. Lucas of Sussex, accompanied the gentlemen and has arranged the programme in New Brunswick. Mr. Day, the principal speaker, is thoroughly up in his work and his address was full of instruction. Mr. Tuller conducted the singing and Bible readings, while Mr. Meredith attended to the instrumental music. Rev. John Goldsmith was in the chair and Rev. H. R. Read assisted in the work. The meeting was harmonious in every way, and much good is expected from the visit of the delegates, and their explanations of new and improved methods of work.

ONE OF THE MANY.

Mrs. G. D. Allen, of Baie Verte Road, N. B., suffered from severe cramps for several years, obtaining only temporary relief from doctors. She was also greatly afflicted for 4 years, with Salt Rheum in her hands. She was advised to try GATES' Life of Man Bitters? and Invigorating Syrup.

This she did, also using Gates' Nerve Tonic on her hands. She has recently written us explaining how after 3 months' treatment she has been permanently cured of both diseases, and she is now recommending others to give these medicines a trial.

W. H. Russell May Have the Problem of Perpetual Motion Solved.

$500,000 COMPANY FORMED.

Inventor, who Perhaps Is the Greatest of the Age is Modest in His Claims.

Miramichi folks will be interested in the announcement that the Russell Electric and Hydraulic Company was organized at Sydney last week. The following officers being appointed:

President—G. A. Watt, Chatham.

Vice-Pres.—Z. Tingley, Sydney.

Sec.-Treas.—F. W. Morley, Sydney.

Solicitor—Hugh Ross.

The company is capitalized at half a million, nearly $400,000 of which are now subscribed. The promoter of the company is W. H. Russell, of Chatham, who has had recently patented several inventions in the way of electrical appliances and also a hydraulic jack, the success of which will revolutionize the motor power of the world. The hydraulic jack is considered the nearest approach to perpetual motion that has ever been devised, if it is not the long sought for motion. Mr. Russell however, does not call it as such, but is content with calling it a mechanical combination in which the revenue of friction is disposed of. The use of these jacks in connection with machinery will dispense altogether with the use of steam. The inventor expects that in a month's time he will have all his patents completed, and everything ready to begin placing them on the market. If his expectations are realized, Mr. Russell will no doubt go down in history as the greatest inventor of this or any other age. He is a brother of Matthew Russell of Newcastle.

PAY HIM! WHAT?

What Duties and Salary of Mr. Waddell will be Remains a Question.

MATTER AGAIN DISCUSSED.

Motion Made That Mr. Waddell Get $1200 a Year Was Not in Order.

Supt. of Lights Waddell is still receiving some attention at the meetings of the city fathers. According to a report of Town Clerk Aitken read at a regular meeting of the council Wednesday evening it was resolved at a special meeting of the Board that Mr. Waddell be appointed road commissioner and superintendent of water works in addition to his other duties as Electrician and Messrs. Ritchie, Armstrong and Morrison were appointed to arrange with Mr. Waddell as to extra remuneration for his added duties.

After Mr. Aitken had read his report, Mr. Ritchie moved that Mr. Waddell be appointed superintendent of roads, water, electric and sewerage in addition to other duties as electrician and his salary be increased to $1200 per month.

Mr. Morrison objected to Ald. Ritchie's motion, claiming it was in order. He said a committee had been appointed to meet Mr. Waddell and it had not been called yet. The report of this committee should be received before action was taken.

Ald. Ritchie asked who was

Council Will Proceed With Work of Paving Castle Street Sidewalk.

ABUTTER MUST PAY HALF

Council Authorizes Board of Works to go Ahead But Stipulates Conditions.

The work of laying a granolithic sidewalk on Castle street from the Town Hall to Miller's corner will likely be undertaken in the immediate future. The Town Council seems to be unanimous in favor of giving the granolithic walk a test but will see to it that the property holders bear a portion of the cost.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Wednesday evening the matter was brought up by Ald. Morrison. He read letters which chairman Armstrong of the Board of Works and Engineer Waddell had received on the subject. Among these letters was one from an official of the town of Galt, Ont. Several miles of granolithic paving had been done in that town and it had given every satisfaction and had cost about 11 1/2 cents per square foot inclusive of bonelavering on both sides of the walk. Another letter was read from a Montreal Cement Company. This concern stated that an expert in their employ would shortly leave for the Maritime Provinces and if the town of Newcastle purchased its cement from them, it could avail itself of his services free gratis. The man was an expert sidewalk builder and would superintend the work in Newcastle during the first few days.

Ald. Armstrong favored the idea but referred to the advisability of interviewing the abutters for the purpose of ascertaining what they would be willing to pay towards the work. He thought business men would not object to pay 50 per cent of the cost.

Ald. Morrison was also of the opinion that the property holders should pay a substantial share of the cost.

It was suggested that a bye-law be passed which would compel the abutter to pay 50 per cent.

The subject was discussed at some length after which Ald. Morrison moved that the board of works be authorized to lay down granolithic sidewalks from the Town Hall to Miller's corner providing the property owners paid 50 per cent of the cost.

The motion was carried unanimously.

chairman of the committee.

Ald. Morrison replied that Ald. Ritchie himself was the chairman and moved an amendment that the matter lay over until the committee reported.

The amendment was carried. It was arranged that the committee should meet on Monday evening.

Secretary of Board of Fire Underwriters Makes Suggestions to Town Fathers.

ENLARGE RESERVOIR

Mr. Clinch also Suggests Adviseability of Establishing a Fire District in Newcastle.

Newcastle appears to be hopelessly "up against it" in its dealings with the Board of Fire Underwriters. That worthy board prods the civic animal at its own sweet will.

At a regular meeting of the Town Council Wednesday evening a letter was read from Secretary Peter Clinch of the Board of Underwriters. In his letter Mr. Clinch suggested to the town the advisability of enlarging its reservoir to double its present size. There were one or two other suggestions in the letter, notably one to establish a fire district in the town which would prohibit the erection of high buildings and shingle roofs in the business section. Mr. Clinch added that if his suggestions were carried out they would probably have a pleasing effect on Newcastle's rates of insurance which he declared seemed to be getting higher every year. Mr. Clinch also inquired about a fire alarm system and incidentally observed that Newcastle's fire-fighting facilities etc. had immensely improved.

The matter was discussed at some length by several of the Aldermen.

Ald. Pedolin wanted to know if the underwriters would give a guarantee of lower rates if the reservoir was enlarged.

Ald. Lawlor replied that they would not.

On motion of Ald. Ritchie the communication from Mr. Clinch was laid on the table.

A MOOSE KILLED

Warman's Special Runs Down Large Animal Near Eel River Station

DRIVER APPLIED BRAKES

But Moose Became Entangled in Culvert and Lost His Life.

While Warman's special was entering Eel River Thursday evening about a quarter of a mile west of that station a large moose appeared on the track. When seen first it was on the driver's side of the engine only three rods away. Driver William Ferze applied the brakes but too late to save the animal's life and it became entangled in a small wooden culvert, could not clear itself, and was killed.
