HARTLEPOOL REDEEMED!

Splendid Triumph of the Gladstonians.

The Most Important Victory Since the General Election.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—An election was held at Hartlepool today to fill the parliamentary seat made vacant by the death of Thomas Richardson. Mr. Furness (Gladstonian) received 4,603 votes against 4,305 polled by Mr. Gray (Unionist).

At the last election Mr. Richardson, who stood as the Liberal-Unionist candidate, received 5,381 votes, Mr. L. Hawkes, Home Ruler, polling 2,460.

The Daily News (Gladstonian) says the victory of Mr. Furness is the most splendid since the general election.

The Chronicle claims the victory for the labor union, the leaders of which had told the members to support Furness because he took the pledge to employ only union labor, while Mr. Gray refused to take the pledge.

WILD TIMES AT WASHINGTON.

Scene of Confusion in the House of Representatives—The Everts Tea Amendment—Canadian.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The House yesterday was a scene of wild confusion, precipitated by the refusal of the Speaker to allow debate on the question of the amendment of the Journal. Mr. Mills (Texas) in an excited manner ran down the aisle, shaking his fist at the Speaker, and denounced him as practicing a fraud upon the House. But the Speaker was immovable, and called upon those opposed to approving the journal to rise, and counting "one," "two," "three," declared the motion to approve the journal carried by a vote of 97 to 3.

Further demonstrations were made by Mr. Mills and by other members on both sides of the House, and a personal conflict between the opposing sides seemed imminent. The time was consumed until 1 o'clock, when the journal was finally approved.

DISCRIMINATING DUTIES.

The Ways and Means Committee ordered a favorable report on a bill to impose a discriminating duty of 10 per cent. on all teas imported from countries which discriminate against the duties on tea.

This is an attempt to pass a separate law that amendment of the McKinley Tariff Bill known as the Everts amendment, which is a discriminating duty of 10 per cent. on all teas imported from countries which discriminate against the duties on tea.

STORMY SESSION

Of the East Middlesex Agricultural Society.

The Election of Directors Results in a Rumpus.

Annual Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer of the Society.

The annual meeting of the East Middlesex Agricultural Society was held here yesterday. In the morning the directors assembled in the City Hotel, prior to the general meeting. There were present: Messrs. R. Venning, president; D. MacKenzie, first vice-president; J. Bell, second vice-president; R. W. B. Spence, third vice-president; J. Henderson, fourth vice-president; and J. MacKenzie, secretary.

The secretary's annual report was read and adopted as follows:

Gentlemen,—It is the duty of your directors to lay before you at the annual meeting of the members a statement of the affairs of the society, and also to offer such suggestions as may appear to them for the improvement of the society.

In looking back over the past season and considering the terrible storms that have visited the district, it is a matter of regret that the society has not been able to do more for the members.

The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were then read, followed by some discussion.

DISCUSSING THE REPORTS.

Mr. D. MacKenzie was disposed to regard the Western Fair as a success, and to catch customers for the wholesale merchants.

He thought the object of the fair was to improve the agricultural interests of the country, but the county association appeared to be merely a way to get the Western Fair.

He could appreciate the secretary's report better if it had included any recommendations to establish stock fairs, or similar exhibitions, which would be of some benefit to the farmer.

Mr. Geo. C. Keyes took occasion to deliver himself of a few grievances regarding the unfair treatment of exhibitors.

His hog had been put in the cattle pen last year, although among the first entered. The secretary was all right, but a few pet officials didn't understand their duties.

Mr. Venning pointed out the difficulty in handling all cases, more particularly when the exhibitors arrived in large numbers.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, Messrs. John Geary and Dr. J. D. O'Neill being the scrutineers, and resulted as follows:

President—J. Venning, Westminster.

First Vice-President—D. MacKenzie, Hyde Park (re-elected).

Second Vice-President—J. Kennedy, Iderton (re-elected).

Third Vice-President—Messrs. Francis Elliott and C. E. Tubb.

The election of township directors was the next business.

For London township Messrs. H. Farncombe and Wm. Walker were declared by the scrutineers to be elected, but two or three friends of Mr. Charles Treblecock, who had counted the house, warmly expressed the opinion that Mr. Treblecock had a majority.

Messrs. W. H. Beattie, R. McEwen and A. Bogue were nominated for Westminster.

Mr. Beattie received the largest vote, but that between Messrs. Bogue and McEwen was very close. The latter was announced by the scrutineers to have received the majority, and Messrs. Beattie and McEwen were declared elected.

A number of Mr. Bogue's friends desired another division, in order to ascertain more exactly how the vote stood, as some of them were concerned that it had not been fully taken. A motion to this effect was ruled out of order.

A SCENE OF DISORDER.

Then followed a scene of great disorder, lasting about an hour, a dozen trying to speak at once, but their voices were drowned in the volleys of yells, hisses and interruptions.

"If you don't let us put this motion, don't let us do any business to-day," Col. Leys managed to gasp out.

Mr. Geo. C. McCormick tried to make himself heard, but in vain.

Col. Leys—We want justice by a division of the house.

President Whetter—Well, you're not going to have it.

Mr. W. Y. Brunton said there appeared to be a great deal of dissatisfaction over the vote. (Chorus for ten minutes.) Continuing, he thought Mr. McEwen could have no objection to have the house divided, which would be satisfactory all around.

Mr. E. Booth—Gentlemen, this has always been the manner of election, and just because the route don't please a banker, a biscuit maker, a store-keeper and a few others, they want—

The crowd completely smothered the latter part of the speech with another hurricane of yells.

Col. Leys—We pay our dues and have as much right in this matter as anybody else. (Cheers.)

Mr. McCormick—If the president declines to do our business we will have to do it ourselves. He refuses to put this vote. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Brunton said this was the only time in his experience everything had not gone along smoothly. If they put men in office they didn't want they would be sorry for it.

Chorus of "Motion" "Motion" "Business!"

President Whetter—Motion be banned.

Mr. Geary said he would retire and let the house appoint two new scrutineers.

Mr. E. Parnell attempted to speak, but the audience stormed against and prevented him. An altercation ensued between Mr. D. MacKenzie and Mr. Parnell.

Mr. E. Parnell then expressed his intention of resigning rather than have so much trouble. "If we can't conduct these meetings properly," said he, "we'll have to move out of the city of London." (Howls.)

Mr. Geary—Gentlemen, this is a direct

At last order was restored, and it was decided to go on, and things proceeded more amicably.

Messrs. Geo. Beiton and J. K. Little were appointed as the new scrutineers. The following were elected as directors for the other districts:

Westminster—Messrs. W. Scatcherd and John Henderson.

Dunstable—Messrs. R. Venning and A. R. Rowat.

London West—Wm. Moore.

Representatives to Western Fair Association—Messrs. A. Bogue, J. Kennedy, R. Whetter, D. MacKenzie, W. Walker, W. Scatcherd, A. R. Rowat, Wm. Moore and W. H. Beattie.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors Messrs. A. R. Rowat and D. MacKenzie were re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

SOMETHING TO SEE.

Gen. Miles Gets Up a Grand Review for the Benefit of the Ghost Dancers.

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Jan. 21.—A great military review has been ordered by Gen. Miles to take place to-day. Practically all the troops at the agency will participate. This is a belief that this display will be the last feature of the campaign against the ghost dancers. It is expected the pageant will be witnessed by the Indians en masse, and they will be duly impressed with the number of soldiers available to suppress any uprising against the Government.

VENICE IN MINIATURE.

Successful Issue of the Non-Coma; Carnival-Those Who Were There.

All forces seemed to conspire last evening to make the military and fancy dress carnival, given by the non-committed official, the most successful of the season. The happy issue as did the thoroughness of management exhibited by the non-committed. The Princess Rink was elaborately decorated with flags and brightly lit, presenting a most cheerful and inviting appearance. The early part of the evening was reserved for the skaters in costume, and a most enchanting picture they presented as they glided across the ice.

The costumes were in many cases exceedingly pretty. Knights and princes of the ice were to be seen enraptured with the smiles of pretty maidens clad in the smiles of Italian counts, peasants, and English lords brushed with the lords of the western world. A MUSCULAR MAID

Who Knocked Down a Burglar and Tossed Him Out of a Window.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 21.—A bold robbery was prevented yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Otto H. Hinsen by the bravery of a servant girl. When the burglar presented to her the alternative of disclosing the hiding place of what money was in the house or instant death, she pluckily and bravely knocked him to the floor, stamped his head with the heels of her shoes, and picking him up, she threw him out of a window.

Mr. Hinsen lives at 514 St. Catherine street. Employed in the house as a servant is Mary Hens, a young German. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Hinsen and her little daughter were calling, leaving the house in charge of the girl, and when every one else had gone she set about ironing. About 3 o'clock the young woman had occasion to go out into the yard, and on re-entering the kitchen door was locked behind her. Time passed rapidly while performing her duties, and she was in the midst of a song when the footstep of someone coming down the back stairs attracted her attention. Hardly had she turned to discover what was going on before a man, dressed in a dark suit, stepped into the kitchen from the front part of the house, threw two large bundles upon the floor, and seized her with both hands by the throat.

She did not scream, and before she could utter a word the man said: "Tell me where your mistress's money is or I'll choke you to death." The now thoroughly alarmed girl replied that there was none in the house. The demand was again repeated, this time with greater emphasis, and the burglar's fingers greatly clenched tighter the throat of the girl.

With a sudden and powerful effort the girl threw back her arm and struck the man with all her force directly in the stomach. The blows were repeated three times in rapid succession, and bending almost double, the burglar fell to the floor. She did not allow the opportunity to pass, and, fearing her prostrate victim would rise, she stamped his head with the heel of her heavy shoe until he had become unconscious.

The young woman immediately raised the side kitchen window, and picked the man up by his heels, and threw him out of the window. The fall was only a few feet, and it probably only served to rouse him from his stupor, for a half hour later, when the family returned, there were no traces of him to be seen.

When the girl had disposed of her burglar she closed the window. The reaction of the excitement now began to affect her nerves, she sank exhausted into a chair. The young woman is about 23 years of age, and she is rather below the medium height.

A MUSCULAR MAID

Who Knocked Down a Burglar and Tossed Him Out of a Window.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 21.—A bold robbery was prevented yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Otto H. Hinsen by the bravery of a servant girl. When the burglar presented to her the alternative of disclosing the hiding place of what money was in the house or instant death, she pluckily and bravely knocked him to the floor, stamped his head with the heels of her shoes, and picking him up, she threw him out of a window.

Mr. Hinsen lives at 514 St. Catherine street. Employed in the house as a servant is Mary Hens, a young German. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Hinsen and her little daughter were calling, leaving the house in charge of the girl, and when every one else had gone she set about ironing. About 3 o'clock the young woman had occasion to go out into the yard, and on re-entering the kitchen door was locked behind her. SUNLIGHT SOAP

—AND—
HOW TO USE IT.

DROP THE OLD WAY. TRY THIS.

Dip the pieces one by one in lukewarm water, and rub the soap on lightly, taking care to soap each piece all over.

Roll each piece in a tight roll and leave it to soak for about 30 minutes, while the "Sunlight" soap does its work.

After soaking the 30 minutes or so, rub out lightly on the washboard and the dirt will actually drop out.

Then rinse in clear lukewarm water, taking special care to get the suds away.

Do not scald or boil a single article, no matter how dirty, and do not use Washing Powders.

Colored goods, woolens, etc., are treated the same way, but not soaked so long. They are kept soft and smooth by this soap.

PUT ASIDE YOUR OWN NOTIONS NEXT WASHING AND TRY THE SUNLIGHT LABOR-SAVING WAY.

AT SIXES AND SEVENS.
The Ottawa correspondent of the New York Times interviewed Mr. Foster, Minister of Finance, who informed him that Secretary Blaine of the United States wants such a trade reciprocity as shall embrace in its scope an arrangement for settling all outstanding disputes between Canada and the United States. It is added that "there is a keen restrictionist element in the Cabinet, and the Ministers have to face in Parliament a number of gentlemen who are so extreme in their views as to regard exclusion from the markets of the United States as an undignified blessing. The Premier has to reckon with his extreme colleagues and supporters, and it cannot be a matter for surprise if he finds it difficult to reconcile the conflicting views and to reach a conclusion."

No doubt it is a difficult matter to reconcile not only the Cabinet but the Conservative party as a whole. The fact of the matter is, those members of the party who are accustomed to take their political views from their leaders are at a loss to know what to advocate or in whom to trust. They have, as has been seen, Mr. Carling and Mr. Colby, both members of Macdonald's Government, and each pretending to represent the views of their party. These Conservative Ministers tell the country, as indeed many Conservative papers tell them, that reciprocity in natural products—that is, products of the forest, mine and farm—would be disastrous to the farm interests—that the farmers of Canada are much better off under the "N. T." than would be possible under such reciprocity. But it so happens that in his attempt to head off complete reciprocity, as proposed by the Liberals, Sir John Macdonald is forced to make some move towards reciprocity, and his friends have given it out that he is meditating the adoption of just such a reciprocity policy as Mr. Colby, Mr. Carling and the Tory papers have been laboring to prove would bring ruin to the Canadian farmer.

It is openly asserted that "reciprocity in natural products" is the policy of the Conservative leader, and that he meditates standing or falling by that proposal. The unfortunate reader of Tory literature is thus left in a bewildered condition. He has either to believe that the Ottawa trade poll, latest revised edition, will inflict a grievous wrong on the large majority of the people, or he must believe the decision has been persistently asked to arrive at by leaders of the Carling type and the Conservative press generally.

For ourselves, we do not believe that reciprocity in a few articles of farm produce and of coal, iron and wood would satisfy the Canadian taxpayer. He may take that as an installment, but it must be accompanied by such a reduction of taxes on necessities of life as shall relieve him from the exactions of the combiners and enable him to buy to better advantage as well as to sell.

Meanwhile sympathy is certainly due to the perplexed readers of Conservative newspapers, who are asked, with one gulp, to swallow two diametrically opposite policies regarding reciprocity at one and the same time. It is too much for any honest man to attempt, and we are not surprised to find many former adherents of the restrictionist doctrine now thoroughly disgusted with the turn of affairs.

KEEP THE CITY CLEAN.
The mayor of Toronto, in his recent address to the Council, gives a list of the principal cities of Canada and their death rates per thousand. London stands at the head with a mortality of 11.87 per thousand. Even this very satisfactory condition could be improved by a little more attention to the commonest sanitary laws. For example, instead of allowing kitchen refuse and other garbage to accumulate around the residences of citizens, the Board of Health should arrange to have it removed, at least once a week, and placed where it would not be a menace to the health of the community.

By this system of co-operation the work would cost the individual householders practically nothing, while insuring them against many outbreaks of diphtheria, typhoid fever, malaria and other filth diseases. The cities which have adopted this system can, under no circumstances, be prevailed upon to give it up.

Let the new Board of Health act.
—King Kalkas will not be much missed in the Sandwich Islands, but his death may result in hastening a crisis in the government of the kingdom. His sister, who now becomes queen, is married to an Englishman, and an attempt may be made to bring the islands under British protection. To this the United States, which has extensive sugar interests in the principal portion of the kingdom, would object.

WOMEN AS CONFERENCE DELEGATES.

The Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States is taking a good deal of interest in the question of the admission of women to representation in the General Conference of the Church. In the months of October and November voting took place on the question, and the Christian Advocate has recently given returns showing how the vote has gone for districts representing three-fifths of the membership. It appears from these returns that the proportion of those voting to the total membership is 1 to 5. In New England it was 1 to 7; in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, 1 to 8; and in those of the Central West, 1 to 4.7. The affirmative vote is largely in the majority in New England and the West; and commenting on this the Christian Union says that "the measure which musters to its support all New England and all the West is sure to have two elements of strength, brains and votes." The New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania vote has gone the other way, thanks to the influence of German opinion. But the annual conference and the General Conference will have to decide the matter even should the popular vote strongly favor the proposal, in which case a three-fourths majority would be required, one and three-fifths in the other.

But of course the final result is not in doubt. Women will be long be admitted as conference representatives, and it will be so beneficial that the regret will be that it was not done sooner.

THE FRUIT OF IDLENESS.

It turns out that the Duke of Bedford killed himself in England last week. He was ill, and though very rich became so tired of life that he ended his existence by the agency of a shot gun. A melancholy termination, truly, for one of the wealthiest of the British nobility. His possessions brought him an enormous revenue. He held 118 acres in London alone, on which were built 2,915 houses, for which enormous rents are paid. His estates in the middle and west of England are almost as valuable, the royalties derived from the mines on his property being very great, though not so high as in previous years. He was the subject of a good deal of married public rebuke, as he never sought to improve Covent Garden Market, which he owned, and which for years has been known as Mud Lane Market. Covent Garden Theater and Drury Lane Theater are built on his land. He obtained a dukedom in 1872 by the death of his cousin, from whom, in addition to the estates, he inherited about $3,000,000. It is estimated that he has left about $10,000,000 for the benefit of his heir, who, as Marquis of Tavistock, has long been noted as a man who never said a wise thing or performed any notable action. The late Duke had a sort of mania for pulling down houses. Had he lived ten years longer the pretty village of Woburn at his park gates in Bedfordshire would have ceased to exist, as each house was demolished by the dual owner as the lease fell in. Four years ago the Duke bought the Bathampton Park estate for $15,000 and his first care was to pull down the beautiful house upon it, which had cost $20,000 to build only a few years previously. On the other hand, he built a so-called cottage near Tavistock at a cost of $30,000. It stands in a park in which there are 60 miles of walks and drives.

We really do not wonder that a man who made such poor use of his opportunities, and who collected the last farthing from his poor tenants, hoarding up every cent that was not spent to gratify his own odd vanity, should have finally taken to get grunted that he had lived too long for all the good he had done. Under better laws, and his kind would not have been able to make such enormous profits out of the citizens of London who, by force or circumstances, are compelled to occupy the land of which they have been given control. If an equitable share of the heavy taxes upon real estate had been put on the land, the Earl would have had plenty to live on, and less to squander, and he might have lived a useful life and died a natural death. It seems he has done neither.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.
—Some idea of the severity of the weather that prevails in Europe this winter may be gleaned from our cable dispatches to-day. For the first time in 150 years the fishermen have walked across the Zuyder Zee, a gulf containing 1,305 square miles.

—Notwithstanding the booming of Sir John Thompson for the position, an official denial is given from Great Britain to the report that a Canadian is to be shortly appointed a member of the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council.

—An ordinance has been passed by the Cincinnati Board of Councilmen prohibiting the public exhibition of hypnotism. What about the private exhibition of the force? In the past, more evil has been done by the surreptitious use of mesmerism influences than by their public exemplification.

—The Boston Traveler prints the following letter from Mr. John G. Whittier:
NEWBURYPORT, Jan. 16, 1891.
Dear Friend, —I scarcely need say that I am, and have been for many years, an ardent advocate of woman suffrage. I am named after the position of Massachusetts on this question, but I feel sure that the dear old Commonwealth will be long put to rest in the right if the friends of the cause continue vigorously to press its claims upon her honor, her sense of justice, and her democratic professions. Thine truly,
JOHN G. WHITTIER.

—Rev. Lyman Abbott, Mr. Beecher's successor in Plymouth pulpit, writing on the subject of church unity a short time ago, said: "For myself it was a great delight to me to have present at my installation in Plymouth Church two clergymen of the Episcopal Church, and to be permitted in the Lenten season to give a Lenten address in St. George's Church in this city, as it has been a pleasure and profit to Plymouth Church to take some initial steps towards the recognition of Len Passion week in special church service.

—A high tax newspaper, desiring to deal the growing unpopularity of Hon. Carling with the rank and file of the project in the late London municipality, is laboring hard to show the Richard Carling is correspond weak. The rule will not work. Liberal of sense will ever go to a model organ for a truthful estimate. Character of the man who has no parallel opposed the attacks of the community industrial classes of the community.

—One gratifying feature of the municipal campaign was the unity which the forces for social advancement worked. For example, the member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union through mostly Protestants, recognize creed distinction in voting for or otherwise aiding the candidature of Ald. O'Meara well-known Roman Catholic. They believed that Ald. O'Meara would act on the question, in the disposal of which they were specially interested, with that good and determination to respect the wish of the people which has invariably characterized his conduct at the Board. Nor do they think the women voters will be disappointed. The illustration shows how the welfare of the people can be promoted without regard to creed or nationality.

—Dr. Dixon, of Philadelphia, who that Dr. Koch's consumption-curing method is composed of the identical material he discovered over a year ago. His repetition of the world's past experience of great discoverers and inventors. Dr. Stephen, Watt, Sir James Simpson, Edison and the whole of them were told that really they had no business to claim originality in the sciences in their respective departments. But somehow people have come to look on these after-claims with a pat of suspicion. The man who first applied discovery for the benefit of his fellow creatures is after all the worthiest of men. The world can afford to ignore the claims of those who go to sleep upon their alleged discoveries till some one else has done the same thing.

NORTHROP & LYMAN'S
VEGETABLE A Great Blood Purifier
DISCOVERY
A Sure Cure for Dyspepsia

A Medical Triumph! A Very Bad Case!
HOW THE HEALTH OF ONE OF BELLEVILLE'S CITIZENS WAS RESTORED.
Remarkable Cure of Dropsy and Dyspepsia.

Mr. SAMUEL T. CANNY, Belleville, writes: "In the spring of 1884 I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, which gradually became more and more distressing. I used various domestic remedies, and applied to my physician, but received no benefit. By this time my trouble assumed the form of Dropsy. I was unable to use any food whatever, except boiled milk and bread; my limbs were swollen to twice their natural size; all hopes of recovery were given up, and I quite expected death within a few weeks. NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY having been recommended to me, I tried a bottle with but little hope of relief; and now, after using eight bottles, my Dyspepsia and Dropsy are cured. Although now seventy-nine years of age, I can enjoy my meals as well as ever, and my general health is good. I can well known in this section of Canada, having lived here fifty-seven years; and you have liberty to use my name in recommendation of your VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, which has done such wonders in my case."

it to the same address at the postoffice? But how do I know that you—

Thus the letter ended. From creases in the paper it was plain that the writer, having got so far, had become demoralized with her production, and had crumpled it in her hand. Was it to write another, or not to write at all?

The next thing Anne Seaway perceived was that the fragmentary story she had coaxed out of Manston, to the effect that his wife had left England for America, might be truthful, according to two of the letters, corroborated by the evidence of the railway porter. And yet, at first, he had sworn in a passion that his wife was not certainly consumed in the fire.

If she had been burnt, this letter, written in her bedroom, and probably thrust into her pocket when she relinquished it, would have been burnt with her. Nothing was surer than that. Why, then, did he say that she was burnt, and never show Anne herself this letter?

The question suddenly raised a new and much stronger one—killing a burst of amazement in her. How did Manston become possessed of this letter?

The fact of possession was certainly the most remarkable revelation of all in connection with the episode, and perhaps something to do with his reason for never showing it to her.

She knew by several proofs that before the marriage with Cytherea, and to the time of the porter's confession, Manston—honestly believed—that Cytherea was his lawful wife, and hence, of course, that his wife Emma was dead. So that no communication could possibly have passed between his wife and himself from the first moment that he believed her dead on the night of the fire, to the day of his wedding. And yet he had that letter. How soon afterwards could they have communicated with each other?

The existence of the letter—as such, or more than its contents—implying that in that calamity must have terminated at the moment he obtained possession of the letter, if no earlier. Was, then, the only solution of the riddle that Anne could discern, the true one?—that he had communicated with his wife somewhere about the commencement of Anne's residence with him, or at any time since?

It was the most unlikely thing on earth that a woman who had forsaken her husband should communicate his scheme to personify her—whether she were in America, in London, or in the neighborhood of Knapsbury.

Then came the old and harassing question that was Manston's real reason in risking his name on the deception he was practicing as regarded Anne. It could not be, as he had always pretended, more passion. Her thoughts had reverted to Mr. Ramman's letter, asking for proof of her identity with the original Mrs. Manston. She could see no hope of escape for the man who supported her. True, in her estimation, his worst alternative was not so very bad after all—the getting the name of Manston, a possible appearance in the divorce or some other court of law, and the question of damages. Such an exposure might hinder his worldly progress for some time. Yet to him this alternative was, apparently, terrible as death itself.

She restored the letters to their hiding-place, scanned over the other letters and memoranda, from which she could gain no fresh information, sustained up the clock, and left everything in its former condition. Her mind was ill at ease. More than ever she wished that she had never seen Manston. Where the person appeared, she felt that she was in the presence of a great physical and intellectual attraction, the mere sense of incongruity added an extra shudder to dread. The man's strange bearing terrified Anne as it had terrified Cytherea; for with all the woman Anne's faults she had not descended to such depths of depravity as to willingly participate in crime. She had not even known that a living wife was being displaced until her arrival at Knapsbury post retreat out of the question, and had looked upon personation simply as a mode of subsistence, a degree better than toiling in poverty and alone, after a bustling, and somewhat pampered life as housekeeper in a gay mansion.

2. Afternoon.

Mr. Ramman and Edward Springrove had by this time set in motion a machinery which they hoped to find working out important results.

The rector was restless and full of meditation all the following morning. It was plain, even to the servants about him, that Springrove's communication was a deeper complexion than any that had been made to the old magistrate for many months or years past. The fact was that, having arrived at the stage of existence in which the difficult intellectual feat of suspending one's judgment becomes a duty, he was now putting it in practice, though not without the penalty of watchful effort.

It was not until the afternoon that he determined to call on his relative, Miss Aldclyffe, and cautiously probe her knowledge of the subject occupying him so thoroughly Cytherea, he knew, was still beloved by this solitary woman. Miss Aldclyffe had made several inquiries concerning her former companion, and there was ever a sadness in her tone when the young lady's name was mentioned, which showed that from whatever cause the older Cytherea proceeded, it was not from indifference to her fate.

"A Wonder of Medical Science," may well be applied to Dr. WEAVER'S BALM, or WIND CURRY. It is nearly half a century since this remarkable remedy was introduced to the public, and yet the immediate and enviable reputation which it gained by its wonderful cures of coughs, influenza, consumption and all bronchial complaints is to this day fully sustained.

FUN, FACTS AND FICTION.

"Yes we're quarrelled. I think this parting from my Amelia will kill me." "I feel it," said the other, "but you will feel it more when you see her again." "I feel it," said the other, "but you will feel it more when you see her again."

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Little Liver Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Tommy—Mamma, can't you tell me a new fairy story? Mrs. Figg—I don't know any new ones, Tommy. Maybe your father will tell you some when he comes home tonight.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confused with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

She (adjusting her spectacles)—Oh, isn't the ice beautiful? The lake is just like a huge mirror. He—Yes, and if you don't look out, you'll be pretty apt to see yourself in it.

The great lung healer is found in excellent medicine sold as Bickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It had cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

He—Always pay as I go. She (yawning)—Well how is it when you are paying attention to me now?

Mr. J. R. Allen, epileptic, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Constipation, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. I tried two physicians and a number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before long she was cured. The cure was derived from it was beyond our expectation."

The total number of vessels that cleared from the port of Detroit during the year 1890 was 638, carrying 1,340,265 tons of freight.

John Brooks, of Wright, Hillsdale county, recently celebrated his 105th birthday. He is positive as to the correctness of his age.

Four families with starving children were found by a Bay City missionary in one day. It is said there is more destitution there now than ever before.

Black River, at Port Huron, will be dredged to a depth of 16 feet from its mouth to the Grand Trunk Railway bridge. An appropriation of $25,000 will be expended.

Willie Davis, a 10-year-old lad, of Adrian, attempted suicide on Wednesday by shooting himself with a gun. The boy had been ill-treated, it is alleged, by his step-father. He will probably die.

Mattie Middleton, of Mount Morris, recently secured $1,800 from Sam Brown for breach of promise. Joseph Leadley was one of Miss Middleton's witnesses, and now she is about to marry him.

At Iron Mountain Thursday a policeman arrested Stephen A. Jack. The disgrace preyed on Jack's mind, and at 5 p.m. he was found hanging in his cell dead. He used his handskerchief for the suspension.

The Michigan Salt Association will die. The members yesterday decided, at Saginaw, not to secure new articles after March, when the old one expires. The society has not been of benefit to the members.

On Thursday some dastardly coward put poison in the well pump at the rear of West Wickham's residence in Vernon, one of the unscrupulous and three horses which drank the water died within an hour after.

The sparrow bounty cost Van Buren county $1,018.29 last year, and at the January session of the Board of Supervisors an offer of a like amount to build a gymnasium at the university. Mr. Waters puts his name down for $100.

George Miller came down from camp to Manistique to get married. He thought he would clean his revolver first, but a bullet found its way through his hand. He managed to mangle his girl, however, with one hand in a sling.

Fred K. Stearns is the first member of Michigan University alumni to subscribe to a $20,000 fund to go with J. W. Waters' offer of a like amount to build a gymnasium at the university. Mr. Stearns puts his name down for $100.

Nelson W. Smith, a prominent old settler and senior deacon of the Fountain Street Baptist Church, Grand Rapids, was stricken with paralysis Sunday evening and cannot recover. Mrs. Henry M. Lowrey, also a pioneer resident, was stricken with paralysis and cannot recover.

A keg of gunpowder exploded in the grocery store of George Rial, Marshall, on Friday, blew out the plate glass front, shattered the plate glass window of adjoining store and across the street. Geo. Rial, the proprietor, was blown through a window and seriously burned. Total damage upwards of $2,000.

Peter Shortree was killed at the timber camp of Jas. Davidson, about eighteen miles north of Midland. Mr. Shortree, together with his son, was engaged felling a tree when, in some unexplained manner, the falling tree struck him on the head. He resided in West Bay City and leaves a wife and three children.

Five convicts, respectively named Welch, Brady, Howard, Elwood and Murray, all desperate characters and at the time under punishment, made a bold stroke for freedom at Jackson prison, Friday. They made a key which unlocked the door, constructed ropes out of their bedclothes by which they calculated to descend from the roof after they had broken through the ceiling over the cellar, but the noise they made breaking through the ceiling alarmed the guards and they were all caught.

While on his way to attend service at the Clinton Avenue Baptist Church, Detroit, on Sunday morning, Dr. John S. Moffatt, of 740 Joseph Campen avenue, was suddenly taken ill in front of the church, became very faint and fell to the sidewalk, striking his head on the curb stone. He was picked up and carried into the chapel connected with the church, but expired in a few minutes. Dr. Moffatt was 71 years old, and leaves a widow and children in very straitened circumstances. Mr. Moffatt was a well-known physician.

William O'Brien, a prominent man in labor matters and school inspector from the seventh ward, Saginaw, dropped dead of heart disease at his home on Wascoo avenue Sunday morning while playing with his infant daughter on the floor. His wife supposed he was still playing with the child and paid but little attention to him for some minutes. Her grief knew no bounds when she discovered that her husband was dead. O'Brien was a molder by trade, and held the position of foreman in that department at John L. Jackson's foundry. He leaves a wife and five young children.

The first liquor bill introduced in the Michigan Legislature this year, by Mr. Leach, of Tuscola, makes it unwholesome for people who get drunk. It is not less than $25 per month, but for the first offense, or for six months to one year at Leona; for the second offense, within twelve months, a fine of from $100 to $300, and imprisonment not less than six months. Additional offenses are taxed $200 to $500, with from one to five years in the State prison. Any person shall be deemed drunk when he is so far under the influence of intoxicants that he is rightly excited or his judgment is impaired. Liquor dealers are made accessory to the drunkenness, and may be punished to the same extent as the drunkard.

Peculiar. In the combination, proportion, and preparation of the ingredients, Dr. Cameron's Compound cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good nature, home-made, it is a "lower of the stomach," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Dr. Cameron's is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.
—Bishop O'Connor, of this city, has been visiting his parents near Pickering, Ontario county.

—Messrs. Samuel Hunter and Frank Campbell will leave on Monday for Portland, Oregon.

—The kindergarten classes in the city
have almost reached the prescribed limits
in regard to membership.

—Chairman F. J. Fitzgerald, of No. 3 Committee, paid his first official visit to the Central Fire Hall yesterday.

—The London Agricultural and Horticultural Society elected its officers at the meeting held in the City Hall last evening.

—M. Canard, of London, is relieving Capt. Dawson at the G. T. R. ship during the captain's sickness. (Windsor Record.)

—Rev. A. C. Courties, of this city, will preach the annual missionary sermon in the First Methodist Church, St. Thomas, on Sunday.

—Evangelist Weaver is conducting services in Woodstock this week, and Joe Hess is talking on temperance in St.
Thomas.

—Ed. Doby, an elderly man, was charged at the Police Court yesterday with trespass and insanity. It appears he is fond of loitering around the G. T. R. tracks, thereby endangering his life. The case was adjudged.

—The funeral of the late John Cooper,
which took place from the family residence to Woodland Cemetery Tuesday, was largely attended. The A. O. U. W., of which the deceased was a member, was well represented.

—Mrs. W. H. Hall and Mrs. G. Walter
left this morning for London to visit Mrs.
B. Bowen, formerly of this place. Miss Lou Elliot, of London, returned home to-day
after a month's visit to her sister, Mr. E.
Tavey, Metcalfe street. (St. Thomas Times.)

—A large sleigh party on Tuesday evening assembled at the new and spacious farmhouse of Mr. M. Breame, con. 4, London township, and were entertained by that gentleman in his usual good style. Dancing and singing were indulged in besides other amusement, but the feature of the evening was a presentation to Mrs. Breame in the shape of an address and a beautiful chair.
The presentation was made by Messrs. Mc-Cormick, Burton and Fitcher on behalf of the others. Mrs. Breame, although taken completely by surprise, made a very suitable reply, and extended a hearty welcome for the company to visit her again. This was only one of the many happy gatherings which take place at this house every winter.

No Truth in It.
A dispatch from London appears in the morning papers to-day to the effect that Mr. Charles Stiff, superintendent of the Western division, Grand Trunk Railway, will be transferred to London, and that his place here. The Times is in a position to state that there is not the slightest ground for giving currency to such a report.
Mr. Stiff is a member of the Grand Trunk authorities have no notion of removing him.
(Hamilton Times.)

Next July's Convention.
The G. T. R. and C. P. R. have issued a joint circular to general passenger and ticket agents, announcing the special rates which they intend making for the delegates to the annual convention of the National Educational Association of the United States, which meets in Toronto, July 14 to 17. The rate will be the lowest one—regular one-way first-class limited rate for round trip, to which will be added the 52 cents for baggage. The circular directs attention to the fact that there are no scalps in Canada, "the strict enforcement of the Canadian law having effectively disposed of them," and that if tickets are printed with a final limit of Sep. 30, '01, it will be entirely satisfactory to the Canadian railways.

For And Lang Syne.
The Scotch concert given in Victoria Hall last evening under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association drew together a large and interested audience.
A splendid programme of Scottish selections had been prepared, and the talented local performers were most efficiently assisted by Miss Maggie Barr, of Hamilton, and Miss
A. Anderson, of Strathroy. Miss Barr's inimitable Scotch songs, which were the feature of the evening, and the rendition of this class of music, and was endorsed and gratefully responded to. Miss Anderson's elocutionary efforts were very pleasing and highly appreciated by the audience. The local male quartet proved their ability by their masterful rendition of "The Blue Bells of Scotland," and the bass solo of Mr. James Belcher brought forth a most enthusiastic reception. The skit of the pipes under the manipulation of Mr. Geo. Angus, who was arrayed in tartan and phibeg, filled "at the air's w' sweetest sound" the concert as giving a fine rendition of this concert was a most decided success, and speaks well for Secretary Sawyer's abilities as a caterer to the taste for a good class of amusement. Mr. W. J. Birks was con-

The Firemen's Ball.

A ponderous locomotive headlight threw its brilliant glare from the gallery of the City Hall last evening over a very large auditorium of guests. It was the fifth annual assembly of Beaver Lodge, No. 117, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and a very successful and happy gathering it was.
The hall was gracefully decorated with streamers, flags and all manner of bunting,
which, with the dazzling light, the dancers
tripping over the polished floor, the strains of the orchestra and the sound of many voices in mirth and conversation, combined to make the affair pleasant. Refreshments were served during intermission.
To the following gentlemen, who managed the ball, credit is due: Committee of Management—W. Temple, C. Bredin, J. Elliott, R. Lester, G. Angles, Ed. Chapman.

A Wonderful Man.
In order to train 30 horses to perform such marvelous maneuvers as those given at the Grand Opera House last night, Prof.
Bristol must be a man possessed of wonderful powers. The horses will give performances every night this week and on Friday and Saturday evenings. The fireman's troupe appears on the stage at one time and performs many peculiar feats. This entertainment is worthy the attention of every one, and lovers of horses should not miss the opportunity, as it will be their last.
Prof. Bristol being now on his farewell tour. He sails for Europe in June next to be absent about three years. To train horses to do some of the simple tricks is not, perhaps, astounding, but when fancy drill by the entire company, swinging, rock-ing, bell-ringing, rope-walking and others are introduced, the exhibition is truly nothing short of marvelous. To see 30 animals without bridles or harness of any kind prancing around at the quiet word of command from one man is a sight which cannot but impress the onlooker with the greatness of the power bestowed on human beings over the lower animals. But such a performance would lose much of its attractiveness were it not for the funny incidents which are introduced from time to time giving the young people amusement as well as instruction. After the afternoon performances the horses hold a reception on the stage and children are given free rides.
London Cases at Toronto.

Fraser vs. Fortune.—Swabey, for the plaintiff, moved for an order that the lands allotted by the master at London to the defendant Wilhelmina Bjork, on the partition of lands in question, be sold to satisfy the sum of $83 40, the proportion of the costs
directed to be paid by the defendant Wilhelmina Bjork, and the payment whereof is made a charge on such lands. No one appeared for the defendant Wilhelmina Bjork. Order made as asked; but not to insert for a week a letter to be written to the defendant Wilhelmina Bjork calling her attention to the fact that it is better for her to pay the $83 40 than to incur the costs of a sale.

Barwell vs. Barwell.—Judgment on appeal by the plaintiff from the ruling and a certificate of the local master at London refusing to insert in the advertisement for sale of lands in a mortgage action any reference to encumbrances affecting the lands prior to the plaintiff's mortgage.
Order made upon the appeal directing that the lands be sold free from all encumbrances prior to the plaintiff's and that the amount realized by the sale be paid into court to the credit of the cause, after which the rights of all parties claiming to participate can be determined. Costs of this appeal to be deposed of when the rights of the respective claimants to the fund are being determined.
Hoyles, Q.C., for the plaintiff; E. D. Armour, Q.C., for the subsequent encumbrance.

Fraser vs. Fortune.—Swabey, for the defendant E. R. Adams, appealed from the report of the master at London finding that $150 11 of the claim of the appellant is composed of the proceeds of sales of goods purchased by the appellant from the defendant G. C. Adams between the time of the bringing of the action and the trial thereof, and which was taken into consideration as forming part of the $800 agreed upon at the trial as the sum to be paid by the appellant for the goods so purchased,
and that this sum has nowhere been credited by the appellant, and that to the extent of $150 11 the claim of $345 37 should be disallowed. The action was to set aside a transfer of a stock of goods by the defendant G. C. Adams to the defendant E. R. Adams. Aylesworth, Q.C., for the plaintiff, contra. Master's report varied by disallowing $103 73 of the $345 37
instead of $150 11. No costs of appeal.

Knights of Labor.
The annual convention of District Assembly No. 188, Knights of Labor, which met in session in this city on Monday, was perhaps the most important meeting ever held here by that body. Every assembly in the jurisdiction was represented. At the afternoon session the reports from the various delegates in regard to the state of the order in their localities were very encouraging. Woodstock reported very large Sunday afternoon meetings, at which the organization of the town took the turn in rotation in giving addresses on social subjects. The order there was on the boom and was becoming a favorite with the people.
Port Burwell carried off the prize as the assembly showing the largest increase in membership, 23 new members having been added in six weeks. The district was also striving up the farmers, as they had taken hold and organized a branch of the Farmers' Alliance in Port Burwell, and at other points alliances would soon be formed. At the evening session the election of officers was held. Joseph T. Marks, of this city, was re-elected district master; W. Leoy, of Woodstock, statistician; C. E. Keene, London, worthy inspector; O. E. Light, Port Burwell, inside equire, and Bro. Hoy, outside equire. Bro. Stone, of Port Burwell, who is also an organizer for the Farmers'
Alliance, was appointed venerable sage.
Woodstock was chosen as the place of meeting for the session of January, 1902.

Organizers were then nominated and lecturers appointed, and after a number of stirring addresses and pointed appeals the District Assembly adjourned, all the delegates pledging to push the work of reform and to try to make 1891 the best year
in the history of the order.

No one has ever died of cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D.
Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use,
it corrects all looseness of the bowels,
promptly cures a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc. in the market.

"Strange things happen in a drug store,
I suppose." "I should say they did," answered the druggist, "but the oddest I ever knew was a policeman coming in once and asking me for a dose of paragonic."
