Gone to His Rest

Death of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie

After an Illness That Lasted Many Weeks.

Closing Hours of the Honored and Venerable Ex-Premier of the Deminion-Recollections of His Busy and Useful

TORONTO, April 17 .- After a protracted illness of many weeks Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, M. P. for East York, and ex-Premier of the Dominion of Canada, died at his residence, St. Alban's, between 12 and I o'clock this morning. The venerable statesman had been in very feeble health nearly all through winter as the result of a fall which he sustained early in February, though it was not till about six weeks ago that his condition became serious. During those six weeks a desperate contest be those six weeks a desperate contest between life and death was sustained with wonderful vitality, and it was marvelous that the end was deferred so long.
Only a constitution of iron preserved by a life of regularity could have given to any man such tenacity of life. From the beginning of his long illness the condition of the illustrious patient was practically hopeless, for while at times there was a slight rally the improvement was never at any time sufficient to warrant hope of permanent recovery.

A HOPELESS STRUGGLE.

A HOPELESS STRUGGLE.

Dr. Thorburn, for many years the friend and medical attendant of the late Premier, with unremitting fattention, used every device known to science to ward off the impending blow; but a few days ago he was compelled to announce that the end was fast approaching, and the family were fully prepared when death at length came.

Mr. Mackenzie's devoted wife, and Chas. Mackenzie's devoted wife, and Chas. Mackenzie deader's brother, were constantly at his bedside, and with him at the moment of dissolution, as were also Rev. Dr. Thompson and wife (of Sarnia), son-inlaw and daughter of deceased.

Mr. Mackenzie practically took no nourishment for some days past, and was only at times partly conscious, being however, comparatively free from pain.

A VACANT SEAT IN PARLIAMENT.

By the death of Hon, Alex, Mackenzie a vacancy is created in the representation of East York in the Dominion Commons. His sickness prevented his attendance at all this session, and even last session the feeleleness which was gradually overtaking him prevented regular attention to his Parliamentary duties, which up to that time had been a strking characteristic of his political career.

It is of interest to remember at this HIS LAST PUBLIC UTTERANCE.

HIS LAST PUBLIC UTTERANCE.

It is of interest to remember at this time the occasion of his last recorded utterance in the nation's council halls. It occurred during the passing of the estimates, and the item was under consideration for payment of Mr. Fabre, Canadian immigration agent in France. A Gov. ation for payment of Mr. Fabre, Canadian immigration agent in France. A Government supporter remarked that Mr. Faber was appointed by Mr. Mackenzie's Government, to which the ex-Premier at once replied, "I repent it." These were the last words he spoke in that chamber.

The deceased gentleman led a busy life The deceased gentleman led a busy life, and to the last day that physical strength permitted he was actively engaged in many duties demanding his personal attention. As president of the North American Life Insurance Company he was in daily attendance at the office directing and guiding its operations, and here his marvelous memory—one of the most striking traits of his many-sided character—was of inestimable value and his loss will be irreparable.

The Hon. Alex. Mackenzie's death, although so long expected, was not generated.

The Hon. Alex. Muckenzie's death, although so long expected, was not generally known throughout the city to-day, consequently the pulpit references were few. At St. Andrew's Rev. D. J. WOMEN ELECTED PARR.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 17.—The new Illinois law allowing women to vote at school elections causes some exciting times in the rural districts. Yesterday at Cisco, in Platt county, the issue was on the question of a graded high school. The district lies partly in Platt and Macon counties. Edward Reeser was brought out by the Macon voters, andhe received some support in Platt. The Tatt voters had for a candidate A. E. Parr, who championed the cause of the graded school. It was conceded late in the day that Parr and the proposition to have a graded high school were defeated. The Platt voters, learning this, sent word to the women at Cisco, who marched to the polls, voted solidly for Parr and elected him by a good majority. This was just before the polls closed and too late for the Macon county women to reach the voting place

Five Thousand People Induced to Sign the Total Abstinence Pledge.

the Total Abstinence Pledge.

MONTREAL, Que., April 17.—Fathers Doyle, Smith, Otis and Pecklinger, of the Paulist fathers, New York, concluded a monster mission at St. Patrick's Church in this city to-night. The mission has been one of the most striking ever held in Montreal. During its progress over 5,000 people signed the total abstinence pledge and 56 converts were received into the church.

denunciation was made in the presence of Mayor McShane and a number of prominent city officials, and produced a great sensation. The effect was so great that Mayor McShane and other officials were led to sign the pledge.

A large sum of money was collected during the mission to assist in educating young Catholic missionaries at the Catholic University at Washington, D. C. Fathers Smith and Doyle leave at once for Connecticut to commence a mission there.

FELL DEAD ON THE STREET!

Heart Failure the Cause.

The newspapers from time to time report sudden deaths from heart failure. Amongst those who die in this way are many business men. They too often neglect the nervous weaknesses brought on by overwork, close application and too little rest and sleep. The mind and brain, from great mental strain, often become unbalanced. Thousands of business men are sufferers from weak nerves, dizzy feelings, loss of memory, confused mind, palpitation, feelings of apprehension and insomnia. Continued worry and hurry make matters werse, and too often the victim of these ills is suddenly struck down.

This should prove a warning to all men who suffer from any of the symptoms mentioned above; the statements we make are surely worthy of earnest thought. Neglect of any one of these troubles often means a sudden death. Heart Failure the Cause.

sudden death. At this time, an honest opinion and a few words of truth, all based on a long and varied experience, should suffice to guide every man who desires to avoid the terrible varied experience, should suffice to guide every man who desires to avoid the terrible consequences that result from a broken down nervous organism. No treatment known to science and medicine can give such satisfaction as Paine's Celery Compound. When this great remedy is used, nervousness, insomnia, unrest, dizzy feelings and weakness are soon banished, and the entire nervous system is strengthened. Flesh, bone and muscle are built up, and a glow of health is soon been in the face. The eyes are made clear and bright, the mind and brain are cleared, and man is fitted to do his work well.

The power of Paine's Celery Compound is most astonishing; and it cures in nervous ailments are so satisfactory, that doctors now regularly prescribe it. These great facts are so patent to the world, that it is needless to enlarge upon them just now; a word to the wise is sufficient.

CLAD TIDINGS.

Central America Contral America ciaims and loudly calls for Christian workers; we daily pray the Lord of the harvest to thrust forth labor.

the Lord of the harvest to thrust forth laborers into this part of his vineyard. But there are Christian workers already laboring in these parts. For nearly 40 years, in the little Protestant church at San Jose, the Gospel has been proclaimed. Several ministers during those years have resided there. At present the Gospel is preached and Sunday school work is carried on by two gentlemen from England who reside in the city. In our work among the Jamaica negroes, as a missionary society, we do not allow the question of color to come between us and our Master's command to preach the Gospel to very creature. As a matter of fact, we preach the Gospel to black, white and brown people here. After some years' residence in Costa Rica, while we find many people intemperate, we do not find them indolent. Costa Rica, while we find many people in-temporate, we do not find them indolent. Indeed, comparing them with the inhabit-ants of some of the islands around, they are an industrious people. In Nicaragua, the next republic to Costa Rica, at Grey-town there is a Protestant church, where the Gospel has been preached for years, and where we hope soon to see more done for the people's welfare. Along the same coast—at Buefields and all along the "Mosquito Coast"—our Moravian brethren have been —at Binefields and all along the "Mosquito Coast"—our Moravian brethren have been laboring for many years, and under God have done a splendid work. Hundreds have been brought into the Church of Christ. Their Sunday and day schools are working a wonderful change among the people. What we have seen we can testify. Then there are other places along the coast where the Gospel is occasionally preached by men from adjacent islands, who believe in letting their light shine. In British Honduras there are many missionaries faithfully at work pushing their way into the interior. In Costa Rica, at Port Limon, the center of our operations, amid much difficulty and opposition God has wonderfully opened our way; for four years we have toiled on, some 60 have joined our fellowship, and hundreds every Sunday listen to the Gospel preached. Five years ago we did not know two persons who were walking in fellowship with God. There was no missionary, no place Coast"—our Moravian brethren have God. There was no missionary, no place God. There was no missionary, no place for prayer. During the past four years hundreds of portions of God's Word, and many thousands of books and tracts in English and Spanish have been circulated. There are numerous openings for evangelistic work, including colportage work in these republics. We hope and pray that the Christian Church in the United States, is Lawis and Fandard will rise up to in Jamaica and England will rise up to their duty and give the Gospel to Centra Mel-Benjal and Missions. This little story of selfmissions. It is told by Secretary Clark, of the American Board, in the Chicago Advance: "There is in one of our Massa. of the American Board, in the Cheege Advance: "There is in one of our Massachusetts villages a humble mechanic of limited income, who by careful self-denial is supporting a native preacher in Bohemia at an expense of $150 a year, and who sent $15 to Japan last autumn in response to a call from Dr. Davis for means to send out students for evangelistic work during their call from Dr. Davis for means to send out students for evangelistic work during their vacation. In order to save this last sum our good friend gave up purchasing a new auit of clothes, making the last year's do service for another year. The money was sent on, and the Japanese preacher was informed how the funds for his support were secured. He told the story everywhere he went, and stirred the hearts of many of the Japanese Christians to more earnest pur-Japanese Christians to more earnest pur-pose and self-denial in view of such interest in their behalf.' A Chinaman's Proposal.

A native Chinese preacher has made a proposal which the Chinese Recorder translates. It is that "all the ministers of the western nations at Peking unite in requesting the Emperor of China to send one of the most intimate, greatest and most faithful officers in person to the western portions of China to examine fully the Roman Catholie and Protestant Churches, as to their rites, teaching and books. Let the Emperor then send forth his royal decree explaining the teachings and meaning of the missionaries through all the eighteen Provinces, and cause this imperial decree to be engraved on stones and placed throughout the Provinces in every vamen, college, private western nations at Peking unite in request inces in every yamen, college, private school, public hall, in every village, market school, public hall, in every village, market town and city, and in every great ancestral hall." We are quite sure we would like to see the throne thus doing a good missionary turn; but the force of the preacher's logic is rather irresistible to the Chinese taxpayer when he says it would be much more economical for the Government than to constitue to rather or method to go the public nomical for the Government than to continue to pay so much out of the public treasury for destroyed missionary buildings and other indemnity, for which really the people have to pay in the form of taxes. He assumes that the foreigners cannot be driven away, for "when stopped one step they have always gone beyond and taken two," so they might as well provide for their remaining in some more economical way to the country.

Complaint is made by many parents of ildren in London because of the long aster vacation in the public schools. In e rural schools, the pupils have a holiday om Thursday afternoon to Tuesday morng, and many city parents believe the terruption to studies thus provided for a law to be long enough. The pupils had very long vacation at Christmas; they ill have the summer holidays in little ore than two months, and a vacation of n days now is regarded by many as too uch of a good thing, in view of the fact at the teachers and scholars can have a st of two full days every week. The card of Education should consider this hole matter of holidays before another cation comes round.

The cost of money orders for Great ritain is much too large. It is so fixed at the smaller the sum the greater is the arge. If a poor man sends $5 the charge 2 per cent .: for $4 it is 23: for $3 it is 34: $2 it is 5, and for $1 it is 10. We agree ith the advocates for a change, who claim hat the least the Canadian postal authories can do to lessen the unfairness is to athorize the issue of money orders for any m not exceeding $5, payable in the ittances will be paying a greater percent-ge to what the rich man pays for his arger ones. Some idea of the importance this matter is to be found in the report f the British Postmaster-General for last ear, which shows that nearly 49,000,000 rders issued during the twelve months were for sums under $5 each.

The constant decrease in the quantity vacant agricultural land in the United tates available for settlement is demontrated once more by the rush that a now in progress in Oklahoma. The scenes of three years ago are being repeated, as a consequence of a proclamation by President Harrison open. ng to settlement to-morrow, at noon, the unallotted portion of the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indian reservation at Oklahoma, mbracing between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 acres of land which was ceded by the Indians to the United States in 1890. Each settler on the land opened, before making final proof and securing certificates of must pay $1 50 an acre, one-half of which must be paid within two years. The greatest rush is made to obtain the best sites at the county gation?
seats, and it requires many soldiers to keep the speculators back. Among those erowding up are 4,000 negroes. To aid in M.P., against Mr. Cochrane, M.P., were in States marshals have been supplied with todaks. They will press the button on every person found inside the line, and hundreds will be confronted with their shotographs when they appear at the Land Office. COAL OIL PRICES.

The Hamilton Spectator, discussing the coal oil question, says:

We give below a statement of the purchases alleged to be made:

	Price
	Gallons, gall
At Brandon
At Calgary	 14
At Hamilton	 35
At Kingston	 30
At London
At Ottawa	 52
At Port Arthur	 67
At Quebec	 177
At Regina	 13
At Toronto	 35
At Vancouver	 43
At Winnipeg	 * 00

A little study of these returns of purchases of oil to be used by the immigration agents reveals some strange contrasts. For example, it took the agent in this city no fewer than 70 gallons of oil to illuminate the immigrants passing through here, whereas at Toronto the agent was conwhereas at Toronto the agent was con-tented with just half that quantity. Then, while the agent in this city paid out 25 cents a gallon for his oil, the agent at Toronto, over 100 miles further from the source of supply, was charged 3 cent a gallon less. Another remarkable contrast is found in the fact that coal oil, as purchased by the immigration agents, is 5 cents per gallon cheaper at Brandon, Man., than it is at Port Arthur, over 500 miles nearer the place of first shipment-Petrolea or London! Still ore remarkable is the contrast between the price paid at Calgary, N. W. T., and at Vancouver, B. C. If the agents at these respective places give their figures correctly, the oil which is sold at Calgary hundreds of miles on this side of the Pacific terminus of the C. P. R. for 51 at 10 cents per gallon less.

On inquiry in London, we find that the on of $32 25 each, were for the Governor-eneral's Foot Guards. When the militia ant is lavished on the favored few in this gallon retail. It has not at any time during the past five years cost the consumer 20 cents a gallon. How comes it, therefore. that all along the line the immigration agents report that they are charged prices so exorbitant, so out of all proportion to that charged housekeepers? If all public supplies for the Dominion Government are purchased at the same advance on the prices paid by the taxpayers, it is not difficult to understand why the cost of governing the Dominion has increased so enormously under the present regime.

> SPECIFIC ENOUGH IN ALL CON-SCIENCE.

The London Free Press finds fault with our contention that Sir John Thompson took the ground that inquiry into the scandalous charges against Sir Adolphe Caron should be burked. Our contemporary denies the correctness of this assertion, and tells its readers that the Government-that is Sir John Tho to investigate the charges because they were general and not specific.

That was not Sir John Thompson's only excuse for shirking investigation by any means. He advised the House that the charges should not be gone into because they did not affect Sir Adolphe Caron, memher of Parliament: that the Government nited Kingdom or other country, at a does not propose to "inquire into the man-harge of 5 cents. Then these small rener in which public moneys have been expended;" that "the courts of the country have jurisdiction for such matters:" and that the Committee on Privileges and Elections is too cumbrous for this kind of work The assertion that the charges are not specific was only one of the many quibbling expedients resorted to by Sir John Thompson That the charges are clear and definite urely even our city contemporary will not deny. They aliege that hundreds of thousands of dollars of public money was diverted from the uses to which it was voted by Parliament. They assert that Sir Adolphe Caron, while Minister of the Crown, was the agent by which this money was parcelled out and thus misapplied to obtain a corrupt majority in over twenty constituencies in the Province of Quebec The tailways to which the money was voted are named; the constituencies in which it was corruptly expended are named; the Minister of the Crown who is alleged to be guilty of diverting the funds from their rightful purposes to his own pocket or to promote the interests of himself and his political friends is named. How much more "specific" should the charges be to demand a searching investisome respects less explicit, yet they were investigated. Why should the accusations against this alleged greater boodler be cast aside on any such flimsy pretext ?

Collectors who pick up strictly genuin apostle spoons for a couple of dollars s men to the penitentiary for perjury. The Governor has issued orders that every, sold at Christie's, in London for $2,000.

They had silver gilted stems, surmounted by gilt figures of the apostles, but their concessor. These lands are not nearly so good as many that are effered for nothing in Northwestern Canada. Why do we not TOPICS OF TO-DAY coal oil question, says:

"The Government requires for highthouse purposes a good deal of oil of the very best quality. It buys this oil in barrels and cases. Last year it paid for oil in barrels and higher prices at points more remote from the oil fields. This was fof the very best quality of standard white extrarefined petroleum, free from acid or other impurities, and was to stand a flash test of 160 degrees."

If the Dominion Government gets its supply of oil for the lighthouses at this price, it is high time that it began to exercise some supervision over the purchase of coal oil for other departments of the service. The Auditor-General, in his last annual report, shows in almost every instance, that for illuminating the immigration sheds at various points of the Dominion, the country was made to pay a price double that for which the very best oil was laid down for lighthouse purposes, oil was laid down for lighthouse purposes.

Great Britain's Grand Old Man last week, without apparent effort, succeeded in demolishing the theories of those who in demolishing the theories of those who sought to erect airy castles upon the hypothesis that the ex-Premier's day was past, and that his mental and physical powers were failing. According to a cable correspondent, on Monday he sat attentively listening to Goschen's financial statement, a subject on which he had later a few words to say. On Tuesday he was in his library by 7 and clearing up the last of his correspondence. At 10 o'clock he and Mrs. Gladstone were on their way to Euston with valles and wraps to each the train for Hawarden. The horse fell, kicked, broke the shafts, and smashed in the front of the brougham; but before the coachman could get off his box the Grand Juvenile had alighted and hailed a passing hansom, and in two minutes was on his cachman could get off his box the Grand Juvenile had alighted and hailed a passing hansom, and in two minutes was on his way again to the station. The 200-mile ride in the railway carriage was to him restful ease, and the carriage drive to his country home, a visit to his son, and a two-hour lecture on "What We Owe Egypt," given in the village hall, where he sat until the last word was spoken, brought about bedtime. Next morning at 7:45 o'clock Gladstone was afoot, pacing merrily in face of the driving storm in the direction of the village church, where he attended morning prayer, and then strode away home to breakfast. After that four hours of correspondence brought about luncheon time, and then there was an afternoon with Homer, and another visit to the village hall at night, this time to attend a gymnastic exhibition. He looked so radiant, so full of life and spirits, that it would not have surprised other spectators if he had tackled the vaulting horse or the flying trapeze, but he contented himself with applauding with all the enthusiasm of the smallest boy present and giving prizes to the winners, after which he walked home through two inches of snow.

Bracebridge, Muskoka, April 17.—The 10-year-old daughter of Mr. Doley in Macaulay was playing with a dynamite capshe had picked up in an out-building. She picked the cap with a steel table-fork, when an explosion occurred. The girl's fingers of both hands were badly mangled, so that Dr. Topp found it necessary to amputate two of the fingers and a thumb. Her face was also badly torn.

Hugh Cargill, of Foley township, picked up what he thought was a new kind of lead psendi. Taking it home he gave it to the baby to play with. Curling, rather perhaps than golf, ob-Curing, rather perhaps than golf, observes a contemporary, is the national Scotch game. Wherever a curling pond is found a Scotchman is sure to be found at the bottom of it. The curling season has been termed "The Saturnalia of Scottish life." It is then that the humor of the skip finds It is then that the humor of the skip finds vent. He will allude to the profession of each of his men. From the tailor he asks attention to a "fine pair of breeks," the doctor is requested to "repeat his does," the lawyer is to serve "decreet of removal" on one stone, and another he must take to avizandum. In the minister's case the stone, like the sermon, is "well delivered," and if a Scriptural allusion is not out of place, it's "a rale Ebenezer, a stane o' help." When the self-satisfied gravedigger calls out to the skip, "I think that ane'll lie," there is a bit of quiet, grim wit in the response. "Jakey" Butts Carves Up John Harris, but Claims to Have Been First Attacked-Both Men Cut

They had all been drinking, but seemed companionable enough until they reached the commons behind the Ontario car shops.

Butts says that Harris commenced by saying "he could lick any man in the crowd except Prodgers," and theu with a reference to Jakey Butts, he pulled out his pocket knife and made a lunge at that individual. Butts declares that he had to open his knife in self-defense. At any rate, the two slashed away at each other until separated by their comrades. Harris was badly cut up and was taken to the hospital. of the stock of the professional humorist, is not the result of present taste or fashion, but comes from the far past. It was the rule that every person have some new article of dress upon Easter day. Barnes, a Dorsetshire poet, tells how:

That glittered in the zun like glass, Bekaize 'twer Easter Zunday."

The Easter bonnet is a pre-eminently noticeable feature of Easter Sunday—it was in London at any rate. The array of headgear to be seen on the streets and in the churches yesterday was dazzling to the eye. It seemed as if the folded blossoms of Lent had sprung with a magic suddenness into the full-blown flowers of Easter, such is the vivifying influence of the joyous period. Speaking of Easter bonnets, the prevailing shape is small and flat, with high trimming front and back. The flowers rival the rainbow in hue and variety. Corn color blue, which used to be a favorite one, appears to be revived.

EASTER IN THE CHURCHES.

Most of the city churches were decorated, more or less yesterday in honor of the glorious occasion which Easter Sunday is supposed to mark, and the fact that "Christ has Risen" was proclaimed in song by hundreds of church-going people. Special music was a feature of all the services.

In the Episcopal churches the services were of exceptional interest. The pulpit in St. Paul's Cathedral was beautifully adorned with Easter lilies and the music adorned with Easter lilles and the music was particularly fine. In the morning the edifice was crowded, the Bishop of Huron preaching a characteristic sermon. The dean officiated in the evening.

Dr. Sippi sang "Come Unto Him," an original composition, in splendid voice. Mr. George B. Sippi and his choir rendered special music.

The bishop spent a portion of the after-neon at Christ Church, Wellington street, where a confirmation service was con-ducted. Nine ladies attired in white and three gentlemen were the candidates. The three gentlemen were the caudidates. The bishop spoke to them on the subject, "Follow Christ." The front of the church was florally decorated for the occasion. At the evening service the choir rendered special music. They were assisted to the extent of a solo by Mrs. R. J. Smith, of Brantford. The pastor, Rev. J. W. P. Smith, preached from the 20th chapter of St. Mark.

No doubt the largest congregation in any one building yesterday was that under the roof of St. Peter's Cathedral. The music was magnificent, the choir having been in practice for weeks. Mrs. Celeste V. Keltie, Miss Julia Dibbs, and Messrs. Leach and Ranahan were the soloists. Special praise is due the efficient orchestra of "D" Company Band. In the evening the children of the Sunday school sang the vespers for the first time, very creditably, led by Mr. Jas. Connors. Rev. DEATH IS NOT DOOM.

Christians Realize That Life Is Quite Long Enough.

The Grave as Much a Benediction as the Cradle.

BROOKLYS, N. Y., April 17.—Being Easter morning, the Brooklyn Tabernacie congregation had been invited by Dr. Talmage to bring flowers the night before, and a bank of them was on the front of the pulpit and wreaths of them over the pulpit. The word "Resurrection" was spelled out in letters of white lilies. Special music was added to the congregational singing. Text, I. Samuel, xv., 32: "Surely the bitterness of death is past."

So cried Agag, and the only objection I have to this text is that a bad man uttered it. Nevertheless, it is true, in a higher and better sense than that in which it was originally intered. Years ago a legend and better sense than that in which it was originally nufbred. Years ago a legend something like this was told me: In a hut lived a poor woman by the name of Misery. In front of her door was a pear tree, which was her only resource for a living. Christ, the Lord, in poor garb was walking through the earth and no one would entertain him. In vain he knocked at the doors of palaces and of humble dwellings. Cold and hungry and insufficiently clad, as he was, none received him. But coming one day to the hut of this woman, whose name was Misery, she received him, and offered him a few crusts and asked him to warm himself at the handful of coals, to warm himself at the handful of coals. to warm himself at the handful of coals, and she sat up all night that the wayfarer might have a pillow to rest on. In the morning this Divine Being asked her as he departed what she would have him do in the way of reward, and told her that he owned the universe and would give her what she asked. All she asked was that her pear tree might be protected, and that the boys who stole her fruit, once climbing the tree, might not be able to get down without her consent. So able to get down without her consent. So the tree were compelled to stay there. After a while Death came along and told the side do not want to go, for, however poor poor woman she must go with blim. But she did not want to go, for, however poor not's lot is, no one wants to go with Death. Then she said to Death: "I will go with you if you will first climb up into my pear tree and bring me down a few pears before I start." This he consented to do, but having climbed into the tree, he could not again come down. Then the troubles of the world began, for Death did not come, that there was no room for the young who were coming on, and the earth got overstated, and from all the earth the cry went up, "Oh, for Death! Where is Death." Then people came to the poor common and begged her to let Death descend from the tree. In sympsthy for the world she consented to let Death come down on and the ged her, and for that reason we always have her, and for that reason we always have her, and for that reason we always have here without that I mean to present on this.

All these thoughts are suggested as we have here and this Easter morn amid the broken rocks of the Saviour's tomb. Incided it know that tomb has not been rechuit, for the world the steod in December of 1889 amid the ruins of that most famous sepulcher of all time. There are thousands of tombs of all time. There are thousands of tombs of that most famous sepulcher of all time. There are thousands of tombs of that most famous sepulcher of all time. There are thousands of tombs of the two of the stood in December of 1889 amid the ruins of that most famous agested and the stood in December of 1889 amid the ruins of that tomb has not been rechit, for the stood in December of 1889 amid able to get down without her consent. it was granted, and all who climbed the and ne kept his word and never removed her, and for that reason we always have Misery with us.

In that allegory someone has set forth the truth that I mean to present on this Easter morning, which celebrates the resurrection of Christ and our coming resurrection—that one of the grandest and mightiest mercies of the earth is our divine permission to quit it. Sixty-four persons every minute step off this pianet. Thirty million people every year board this planet.

As a steamer must unload before it takes another cargo, and as the passengers of a rail-train must leave it in order to have another company of passengers enter it, so with this world. What would happen to an ocean steamer if a man, taking a staterom, should stay there forever? What would happen to a rail-train if one who purchases a ticket should always occupy the seat assigned him? And what would happen to this world if all who came into it nover departed from it? The grave is as much a benediction as the cradle. What suk that ship in the Black Sea a few days ago? Too many passengers. What was the matter with that steamer on the Thames, which a few years ago went down with 600 lives? Too many passengers. Now, this world is only a ship, which was launched some 6,000 years ago. It is sailing at the rate of many thousand miles an hour. It is freighted with mountains and cities, and has in its staterooms and steerage about 1,600,000,000 passengers. So many are coming aboard, it is necessary that a good many disembark.

The biblical and historical evidences of the resurrection occupied Rev. J. A. Murrous powers, but they are very limited. There are beasts that can outrum us, outlift us, outcarry us. The birds have both the earth and air for travel, yet we muss the earth and air for travel, yet we muss stick to the one. In this world, which the human race takes for its own, there are creatures of God that can far surpass us in some things. Death removes this slower and less adroit machinery and makes room for something better. John was right when he said, "It doth not yet appear what we shall be." Blessed be death! for it removes all the hindrances. And who has not all his life run against hindrances. We can not go far up or far down. If we go up far not go far up or far down. If we go up far we get dizzy, and if we go far down we get suffocated. If men would go high up they ascend the Matterhorn or Mont Blanc or suffocated. If men would go high up they ascend the Matterhorn or Mont Blanc or Himalaya, but what disasters have been reported as they came tumbling down. Or, if they went down too far, hark to the explosion of the fire damps, and see the disfigured bodies of the poor miners at the bottom of the coal shaft. Scientists tell us that the human body changes en tirely once in seven years, so that if you are 28 years of age you have new your fourth body. If you are 42 years of age you have new your you have had six bodies. If you are 70 years of age you have had ten bodies. Do you not, my unbelieving friend, think if God could build for you four or five or ten bodies he could readily build for you one more to be called the resurrection body. Aye! to make that resurrection body will not require half as much ingenuity and power as those other bodies you have had. Is it not easier for a sculptor to make a statue out of silent clay than it would be to make a statue out of some material thas is alive and moving, and running hither. statue out of some material to make a statue out of some material is alive and moving, and running hither and thisher? Will it not be easier for a make the resurrection body out of and thither? Will it not be easier for God to make the resurrection body out of the silent dust of the crumbled body than it was to make your body over five or six or eight times while it was in motion, walking, climbing, falling or rising? God has already on your four or five bodies between the times were completed to the stowed tent times more completed. stowed ten times more omnipotence than he will put upon the resurrection body. Yea, we have the foundation for the resur-Yea, we have the foundation for the resurrection body in us now. Surgeons and physiclogists say there are parts of the human body the uses of which they cannot understand. They are searching what these parts were made for, but have not found out. I can tell them. They are the preliminaries of the resurrection body.

God does not make anything for nothing.
The uses of those now surplus parts of the body will be demonstrated wises the circuits.

body will be demonstrated when the glorified form is constructed.

If what I have been saying is true, we should trust the Lord and be thrilled with the fact that our own day of escape cometh. If our lives were going to end when our heart ceased to pulsate and our lungs to breathe, I would want to take 10,000,000 years of life here for the first installment. But, my Christian friends, we cannot afford always to stay down in the cellar of our Father's house. We cannot always be tuning our violins for the celestial orchestra. We must get our wings out. We must mount. We cannot afford always to stand out here in the vestibule of the house stand out here in the vestibule of the house fied form is constructed. must mount. We cannot afford always to stand out here in the vestibule of the house of many mansions, while the windows are illuminated with the levee angelic, and we can hear the laughter of those forcer free, and the ground quakes with the bounding feet of those who have entered upon eternal play.

All these thoughts are suggested as we ture of those rocks, and the snap of that governmental seal, and the crash of those walls of limestone, and the step of the lacerated but triumphant foot of the ris Jesus we to-day celebrate with acclaim of Worshiping thousands, while with all the nations of Christendom, and all the shining hosts of heaven we chant, "Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept."

Ed. Smith Deserts His Wife After 20 Years of Wedded Life.

And When Imprisoned for Non-Support Is Ready to Fly Back to Her Arms -Cases at the London Police Court-A Young Drunkard

On June 4, 1863, by the Rev. John Potts, Wesleyan minister, Edward Smith and Alice Smith were united in marriage. Since then they have had seven children, six of whom are living. Mr. Smith owned a house and lot, and carried on business as a carpenter in Wyoming. About eight years ago he became involved in financial difficulties, and deeded the house to his wife. The carpenter shop was seized and sold. At this time he left his wife and family and started life as a knight of the road, selling a preparation of his own manufacture called "T. T. T." He traveled as far west as Windsor, and was a frequent visitor in this city, selling, while here, on the market, where his six-foot-seven frame was well known. On Saturday afternoon he might have been seen walking up Richmond street wearing a pair of handcuffs and accompanied by Detective Rider and G. T. R. Constable Logan. When he would visit her he was always received with onen three or six months. When he would visit her he was always received with open arms and was pleaded with to remain at home. The troubled wife said he purchased enough flour or meat to last them while he was her guest, but invariably went away without leaving her anything. She had been supported by her children. The old man nearly broke down when he asked his wife to come to the dock to speak to him and was treated with silent contempt. Mr. Love attempted a severe cross-examination of the witness, but she absolutely refused to answer him. The defendant, with tears in his eyes, offered to Timothy Sullivan, an habitual drunkard at the age of 18 years, was brought up on remand on a charge of vagrancy. The clerk reported that he had been arrested eleven times on charges of larceny, drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The prisoner's father offered to send him to Detroit and to keep him there, but the magistrate would not allow him to and sent him down for three months.

The witnesses for the prosecution did not appear in the case of Ed. Horsman, of the Grigg House, charged with breach of the Liquor License Act. Mr. McKillop asked that the case be enlarged for a week. The magistrate agreed to a peremptory adjournment.

By J. M Barrie, AUTHOR OF "WINDOW IN THRUMS," "WHEN A MAN'S SINGLE," "MY LADY NICOTINE," ETG.

They had not advanced many yards then Spens jumped to the side, crying, "Be wary, that's no the wind; it's a machine!"
Immediately the doctor's dog-cart was close to them, with Rob Dow for its only occupant. He was driving slowly; otherwise Whamond could not have escaped the cares hoofs.

wise Whamond could not have escaped the horse's hoofs.

"Is that you, Rob Dow?" said the precentor sourly, "I tell you you'll be jailed for stealing the doctor's machine."

"The Hielandman wasna muckle hurt, Rob." Hendry said, more good-naturedly.
"I ken that," replied Rob, scowling at the four of them. "What are you doing here on sic a nicht?"

"Do you see anything strange in the nicht, Rob.?" Tosh asked apprehensively.
"It's sitting to rain," Dow replied. "I dinna see it, but I feel it."

"Ay," said Tosh eagerly, "but will it be a sait, cowdie sweet ding-on?"

"Let the heavens open if they will," interrupted Spens recklessly, "I would ewap the drought for rain though it comes in a sheet as in the year twelve."

"And like a sheet it'll come," replied Dow, "and the devil'll blaw it about wi' his biggest bellowses."

Tosh shivered, but Whamond shook him roughly, saying, roughly, saying,

"Keep your oaths to yoursel', Rob Dow, and tell me, hae you seen Mr, Dishart?"
"I hinna," Rob answered curtly, preparing to drive on.
"Nor the lassic they call the Egyptian?

"Nor the lassie they call the Egyptian?"
Rob leaped from the dog-cart, crying,
What does that mean?
"Hands of," said the precentor, retreating from him. "It means that Mr. Dishart negleted the prayer-meeting this nicht to philader after that heathen woman."
"We're no sure o't, Tammas," remonstrated the kirk-officer. Dow stood quite stil. "I believe Rob kens it's true," Hendry added sadly, "or he would hae flown at your throat, Tammas Whamond, tor saying these words."
Even this did not rouse Dow.
"Rob docesna worship the minister as he

"Rob doesna worship the minister as he ased to do," said Spens.

"And what for no?" cried the precentor.

"Rob Dow, it is because you've found out about this woman?"

"You're a pack o' liars," roared Rob, desporately, 'and if you say agin that ony

"You'll swear by the Book," asked Whamond, relentlessly, "that you've seen neither o' them this nicht, nor them thegither at any time?"
"Is o swear by the book," answered poor loyal Rob. "But what makes you look for Mr. Dishart here?" he demanded, with an aneasy look at the light in the mudhouse.
"Go ham?" realise the recence that

Dow started, and was probably at that mement within an ace of felling Whamond. "Til come wi' you," he said, hunting in his mind for a better way of helping Gavin. They were at Nanny's garden, but in the darkness Whamond could not find the gate. Rob climbed the palling, and was at once lost sight of. Then they saw his head obscure the window. They did not, however, hear the grean that startled Babbie. "There's notedy there," Rob said, coming back, "but Nanny and Sanders. You'll mind Sanders was to be freed the day."

"I'll go in and see Sanders," said Hendry, but the precentor pulled him back, saying, "You'll do nothing o' the kind, Hendry Munn; you'll come awa wi' me now to the manse."

"It's mair than me and Peter'll do, then," said Spens, who had been consulting with the other farmer. "We're gaun as straucht hame as the darkness'll let us."

With few more words the session parted, Spens and Tosh setting off for their farms, and Hendry accompanying the precentor across the hill. No one will ever know where Dow went. I can fancy him, how-ver, returning to the wood, and there drawing rein. I can fancy his mind made up to watch the mudhouse until Gavin and the gypsy separated, and then pounce upon her. I daressy his whole plot could be condensed into a sentence,

"If she's got rid o' this nicht, we may cheat the session yet." But this is mere surmise. All I know is, that he waited her Nanny's house, and by-and-by heard another trap coming up Windyghoul. That was just before the ten o'clock bell began to ring. e now to the manse."

CHAPTER XXXII.

The little minister bowed his head in asent when Babbie's cry, "Oh, Gavin, do you," leaped in front of her unselfish wish that he should care for her no more. But that matters very little now," he

She was his to do with as he willed, and perhaps the joy of knowing herself still over degot a wild hope that he would refise to give her up. If so these words laid thow, but the sentence they passed upon ber could not kill the self-respect that would be hers henceforth. "That matters rery little now," the man said, but to the monan it seemed to matter more than anything else in the world. From that moment until the end came, Gavin never faltered. His duty and hers lay so plainly before him that there could be no straying from it. Did Babbie think him strangely caim? At the Glen Quharity Gathering I once saw Rob Angus litt a boulder with such apparent ease that its weight was discredited until the cry arose that the effort had dislocated his arm. Perhaps Gavin's quietness deceived the Egyptian similarly. Had he stamped she might have understood better what he suffered, standing there on the hot embers of his passions.

"Do not cry, Babbie," Gavin replied, gently. "He knew what you were, and He pities you. 'For His anger endureth but a moment: in His favor is life; weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning."
"Not to me."
"Yes to you," he answered. "Babbic, you will return to the Spittal now, and tell Lord Rintoul everything."
"If you wish it."
"Not because I wish it, but because it is right. He must be told that you do not love him."
"In ever pretended to him that I did."
Babbie said, looking up. "Oh," she added with emphasis, "he knows that. He thinks me incapable of caring for any one."
"And that is why he must be told of me," Gavin replied. "You are no longer the woman you were, Babbie, and you know it, but he does not know it. He shall know it before he decides whether he is to marry you."
Babbie looked at Gavin, and wondered he did not see that this decision lay with him.

Lord Rintoul would be the scorn of his friends."

"If it does, the minister answered, "he will be the scorn of himself. Babbie, there is a chance."

"There is no chance," she told him. "No one will know of my absence from the Spittal but himself, and when I begin to tell him of you he will tremble lest it means my refusal to marry him; when he knows it does not he will wonder only why I told him anything."

London, March 17, 182 Simcoe Street.

Dear Aunt Prudence:

Ithought I would write you a letter for the first time, and I hope it will be published in the paper. I am 6 years old, and I go to the kindergarten, which I think is very nice. My father makes me lots of wagons and other things, and we have great fun with the big wagon playing firemen. I like the summer better than the winter, because there is more fun, and I can go to Port Stanley and other places. Which do you like best—the summer or winter? My father has taken the ADVERTISER for seven years, and he likes it very much. I have four brothers but no sisters. I think I will close now, hoping my letter is not too long. Your loving nephew, MORLEY STOCK.

"So be it, then," Gavin said, firmly.

"Yos, it will be better so," Babbic answered, and then seeing him misunderstand her meaning, exclaimed, reproachfully, "I was not thinking of myself. In the time to one consolation, that this is best for you. That this is best for you. Think of your mother."

"She will lave you," Gavin said, "when Itell her of you."

"Yes," said Babbic, wringing her hands: "she will almost love me, but for what? For not marrying you. That is the only reason anyone in Thrums will have for wishing me well."

"No others," Gavin answered, "shall never know why I remain numarried."

"Will you never marry?" Babbic asked, exultingly. "Ah," she cried, ashamed, "but you must."

"Wever."

Well, many a man and many a woman has made that vow in similar circumstances, but not all have kept it. But shall we, who are old, smile cynically at the brief and burning passion of the young? "The day," you say, "will come when—""

Good sir, hold your peace. The agony was great, and one wis dead, and maybe they have forgotten where it lies buried; but dare you answer lightly when I ask you which of these things is saddest?

Babbic believed his Never, and, doubtless, thought no worse of him for it; but she saw no way of comforting him save by disparagement of herself.

"You must think of your congregation," she said. "A minister with a gypsy wife—"Would have knocked them about with a flail," Gavin interposed, showing his teeth at thought of the precentor, "until they did her reverence."

Earnestness and Simplicity.

Grace Church was crowded when the Bishop of Huron brought his memorable series of Lenten sermons to a close, preaching on the divine stewardship. The bishop's subject was handled in a most concise and emphatic manner. He concluded the course as he had commenced it, by impressing upon his hearers the fact of the all-cleansing nature of the precious blood of Jesus. It is safe to say that no series of discourses have been ever more enjoyed in this city than those of Bishop Baldwin's, just completed. Members of all denominations have attended them. The bishop's remarkable earnestness and simplicity has impressed itself upon everyone.—[Brantford Courier.

Home from Europe.

Mr. Fred Henry, the popular young architect, who has spent the fall and winter in Europe, returned home Saturday. His visit and voyage seem to have agreed with his constitution, and he reports a delightful experience in the old world. His object in going was the study of ancient, medieval and modern architecture, and he reports a splendid field in Britain and in Northern Italy. Books, he says, convey no adequate idea of the grandeur of the originals. Mr. Henry was charmed with Italy and its people, whom he pronounces more contented

A Good Story.

Rev. Principal Miller, in a recent address reported in the Huron Chronicle, in passing, introduced a capital story. Said the principal:

"And to this distinctive teaching we try to add distinctive preaching. I have heard of a good story told by Rev. Archibald Brown, a famous non-conformist minister in England. A cadger called upon a minister to extract money from him. Not liking the appearance of his visitor, the good man replied to him, 'I do not care for your case, and see no special reason for your coming to me.' The tough replied, 'I am sure you would help me if you knew what great benefit I have received from your bissed ministry.' What is that?' asked the minister. 'Why, sir,' the tough replied, 'When I first came to hear you I cared neither for God nor devil, but now, under your blessed ministry, I HAVE COME TO LOVE THEM BOTH!' Yes, that is what results from shifty talk and from trimmers' discourses in the pulpit. Truth and error undistinguished. Each mistaken for the other, and both accepted without thought of any difference between them. From such results, Good Lord, deliver us! Never will we court popularity by shrinking from distinctive utterance, or drawing firm dividing lines between matters of eternal separation. None can charge Huron College with neutrality. The views of our revered bishop are well known to be pronounced. And the bishop from the chair will correct me if the claim which I advance be untrue. My immediate predecessor—he whose labors I directly inherited, and which I therefore can speak of with certainty—he, as I know well, taught distinctly. And I pledge you my word as an honest man for the continued teaching in this college of distinctive views—views not departing by a hair's breadth from the Scriptural lines of the Book of Common Prayer as it has reached us in purified form
