Following telegram has just been sent "Free Press" would like you to use it if they do not. Your prominent use of one sentence quotation from Guardian June 17 is so diabolically unfair that it is easy to see that you have run somewhat short of real argument or fair appeal. Shops do remain under Rowell but may be abolished on straight majority. If Whitney has as good temperance proposals why not tell your readers about them instead of misquoting others?

BARROOMS COST CITY $3 DAILY TO PROTECT PUBLIC

Board of Health Pays Con-

Quarantine.

THIRST IS RESPONSIBLE

Without Guard Man Breaks
Ont to Frequent Saloons.

Since the board of health placed the home of F. Ward, on Hill street, under quarantine for smallpox there has been no end of trouble and expense for the city. Disregarding the quarantine entirely, Ward left his house repeatedly when the place was first placarded. He visited barrooms in the neighborhood and mingled with people in public places until the board hired a constable at $3 a day to guard the house. The constable remains on duty from the time the barrooms open in the morning until they close at 11 o'clock at night.

Will Confer With Governors.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Bratton, the new president of Western University, will arrive in London tomorrow to go into conference with the members of the board of governors. He was expected in the city today, but an error had been made in the time of his arrival.

Liberals of No. 1 ward are meeting tonight in Hyman Hall. Every Liberal has been invited and urged to be present, and it is expected that there will be a big turnout. Important questions of organization and preparation for the coming provincial election here, will be considered and it is important that every Liberal make an effort to attend.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, June 24.—An account of the present condition of the Empress of Ireland, which was wrecked off the coast of Newfoundland, was given today by a diver from the H. M. S. Essex, who examined her and who was sent down to rescue the American diver, Edward Cossboon, who died, formed the most attractive part of the testimony submitted at this morning's session of the Empress inquiry. Whitehead, a man of most modest demeanor, did not describe the thrilling exploit when he brought up Cossboon, and only referred to it casually in answer to a question. His evidence consisted for the most part of the result of his examination of the hull, and surprise was created when he said that he saw portholes open, which contradicts the statement of the dead diver. The Essex diver also had no trouble with currents and tide, as the American diver seems to have had. The hull, he said, was pointed northeast and the side lying on an angle of sixty degrees.

The evidence of those present on the Empress and Storstad before and after the collision now appears to have been completed and only the technical testimony of naval experts remains to be put in. After these experts have been heard, counsel will address the commission, which expects to have completed the inquiry by Friday night.

DR. MACKLIN'S CASE POSTPONED ON HIS COUNSEL'S REQUEST

Conspiracy to Unlawfully Procure Election by Bribery
Now the Charge.

FIRST CHARGES DISMISSED

Candidate and Rev. Joseph
Elliott Are Not Required to Defend Them.

[By Staff Reporter]

Goderich, Ont. June 24.—The original charges of bribery against Dr. A. H. Macklin, Conservative candidate, and Rev. Joseph Elliott, in connection with the former's election campaign were dismissed by Magistrate W. E. Kelly this morning after a brief exchange between counsel.

The newer charges of conspiring to unlawfully procure by bribery the election of Macklin were adjourned, at the request of the candidate's counsel, until after the election.

County Crown Attorney Charles Seeger urged that the conspiracy charge be proceeded with at once, stating that J. B. Hunter, the principal witness and one of the complainants, who had been unavoidably absent when the first hearing was called, was present, as well as all of the crown's witnesses.

Elliott is Ready.
M. G. Cameron K. C., counsel for Rev. Joseph Elliott, stated that he was prepared to go on with the conspiracy case, but J. C. McKinnon, counsel for Dr. Macklin, the candidate, urged for an adjournment until after the election, as the defendant was away.

ONLY OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE CITY BARLESS

Put Shoulder to the Wheel and Accomplish It, Says
Pastor.

"The present campaign is the only opportunity the people of London will have to make the city a barless place," said a London pastor this morning.

"There is no doubt that local option can be carried in many of the rural districts but when it comes to the cities it is almost impossible to secure a three-fifths majority. That is why the temperance people should realize that their support is needed at the present time. If London will put its shoulders to the wheel there is a chance that the city will be barless."

SOME MINISTERS PLACE GARBAGE HIGHER THAN ABOLITION OF THE BAR

Protest That Alliance Was for Higher Things Than Discussion of Great Moral Issue Followed by Raising of Question of Garbage Tax.

Four of the score or more of city ministers who were at the Ministerial Alliance's session at Springbank on Monday were not in favor of passing a resolution endorsing the Rowell policy. All of the other members are in favor of the policy, and either have already done so or will pronounce upon it.

It was stated this morning that the question had been forced upon the meeting with no notice, as is usual, and that the session was near an end. To have entered into complete discussion and to have framed a motion would have consumed more time than the ministers had. No motion was put to the meeting, and the matter was not decided one way or the other.

Opposition is Misrepresentation.
"It is misrepresentation to say that the ministers voted against abolishing the bar," said one of the members this morning. "It was not the time nor the place to enter a discussion. The Ministerial Alliance, with a very few exceptions, stands for the abolition of the bar, and their people know it."

It has been related as a rather ludicrous sidelight on the meeting that Professor T. G. A. Wright made an appeal that the alliance was for a higher purpose than to discuss such things. He had referred to the drunkenness existing in the city, but he did not think the ministers should pass upon the issue as a body.

Just then Very Rev. Dean Davis got to his feet and brought up the question of garbage assessment on the churches. This matter was discussed at some length.

A Far Cry.
It was a far cry from the abolition of the bar to the garbage can, and some of the ministers noted the readiness of some of the ministers to accept anything as sufficient to bring about the abolition of the bar.

Many city ministers will pronounce on the question next Sunday.

BURIED BY "CAVE IN" MAN SERIOUSLY HURT

Waterworks Employee Injured
When Trench Walls Collapse
as Result of the Rain.

When the sides of a trench on Hamilton road at Inkerman street, in which he was working, gave way, Joseph Scudere, 110 Bathurst street, was buried up to the shoulders in wet sand at 10 o'clock this morning. He was extricated with greatest difficulty by fellow workmen after the air had been squeezed out of his lungs. He was unconscious when finally pulled to the surface.

Dr. Edwin Spence, who was summoned, after a hasty examination, ordered the man to Victoria Hospital. He was removed in the police motor ambulance. His injuries are not fatal.

The trench in which he was working in company with several dozen other men was part of the new water main that is being laid on Hamilton road. At Inkerman street sand was encountered. Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the boards supporting the sides into position.

Scudere was down in the trench engaged in removing sand. Some years ago another trench had been dug below the level of the present one. Rain this morning filled the old trench, with the result that the walls of the new one collapsed.

Scudere was almost covered with the sand, and it was only after five minutes digging that he could be removed.

WITNESS ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN STRUCK BY R. M. C. TOOTHE Takes Court Proceedings.

H. C. Short, who was struck in the face by R. M. C. Toothe, the lawyer, while giving evidence in the courtroom of the courthouse Monday afternoon in the case of Short v. The Canada Trust Co., issued a summons this morning and in consequence Mr. Toothe will appear in the police court next Tuesday morning before Magistrate Judd.

Mr. Short would have taken action before but was under the impression that Judge MacBeth was going to sift the affair to the bottom, considering the fact that he was present when the fight took place.

However, as the judge appeared likely to take any action and would not discuss the affair Mr. Short has accordingly taken matters into his own hands.

INCREASE STRIKE PAY
Carpenters Will Consider Raise at Chatham Meeting.

Representatives from all Ontario carpenters' unions, meeting in Chatham next Tuesday, will probably decide an increase in the regular strike pay to London carpenters on strike.

If this step is taken, according to Tom Moore, organizer of the unions, the London strike may be continued indefinitely. The increase will be collected by an assessment on all carpenters in the province.

Carpenters this morning paraded the downtown streets. This is the fourth week of striking. There are now about 250 men out; ten more joined the strikers during the last week.

"They Are the Town's Best Advertisement," Says Famous Writer, Who Describes
What Barless Kansas Has Achieved for Home and Humanity.

Temperance No Longer a Joke of the Brewery Magazines In That State—
"Dry" Rule Enriches Cities and Whole Country.

"And Emporia has reared a generation of young men who don't know what alcohol tastes like, who have never seen the inside of a saloon. Many of them never saw the outside of one. They are the town's best advertisement. They go forth into the world to seek their fortunes without the handicap of an acquired thirst, and nearly always distinguish themselves.

"All her future generations of young men will be similarly clean, for the town knows that a tight lid is the greatest possible blessing, and nobody will dare attempt to pry it off.

The above is a striking extract from an article by Walt Mason, the well-known poet and writer, of Emporia, Kansas, printed in this week's Collier's Weekly, which is conducting a fight for nation-wide prohibition.

The same picture which Walt Mason paints, of a young manhood safe from the lures of the saloon, would apply to London, if the citizens decide on Monday next that London must "put the lid on."

The article by Mr. Mason is entitled "A Town With a Lid," and, in full, is as follows:

For six years Kansas has been engaged in demonstrating that prohibition does prohibit. The anti-booze towns have been on the books thirty years, but until six years ago they were enforced spasmodically, or in spots. Now and then a governor or attorney-general would rear up and create a loud noise, and a few jointists or bootleggers would be run down and cast into loathsome dungeons, but these little flurries didn't amount to much. The enforcement of the prohibitory law depended largely upon local sentiment. In that sentiment was largely against saloons in the community, that community depended upon the hydrant for refreshments; if the sentiment favored saloons, John Barleycorn conducted himself in a most brazen and impudent way.

Several years ago the Kansas towns along the Missouri River all had open saloons. There was no pretense of complying with the law. There were more saloons in Atchison, for instance, than in any high-license town of equal size, and they were conducted with greater freedom, remaining open until all hours of the night, and being almost free from any sort of official regulation. Sumptuous free lunches were set in these places. Similar conditions prevailed in the mining towns of the state. And when the saloon keepers were so overworked in handing out foaming flagons to the proletariat that they suffered under the strain, the druggists came to the rescue with magnificent chivalry. The way the Kansas druggist toiled behind his prescription case seven years ago was a caution to galleys slaves.

A Man With Red Hair and a Backbone.
It is no wonder that the gifted editors of the Brewster's Year Book made fun of prohibition in Kansas. They had splendid opportunities for satire, and made the most of them. Their venerable and favorite argument that prohibition increased the sale of liquor was hard to combat, the way Kansas was behaving herself.

Then Stubbs was elected governor. Stubbs is a man with red hair and a backbone, and a lot of cranky notions. One of these cranky notions is that laws should be enforced. When he was a candidate he announced that he would close the saloons and joints if he had close the militia to do it. Other candidates had talked in the same way many times, and old John Barleycorn merely winked his starboard eye, while his paunch quivered with merriment. And the able editors of the Brewster's Year Book were greatly amused, and looked upon Stubbs as the greatest American humorist.

The Popular Sport of Hunting Bootleggers.
Stubbs was elected, and with him an attorney-general who was fond of exercise, and the two of them got busy without wasting an hour. Also, a lot of fanatics got into the legislature, and they began passing the most drastic laws against booze sellers ever heard of in any civilized country. All branches of the state government worked together in harmony to the same end, and the pursuit of bootleggers and jointists became as popular in Kansas as fox hunting is in England. Selling booze became the unpardonable crime, and there was no respite or

LABOR COMMITTEE CHALLENGES BECK

DODD'S BOAT HIT THAMES KER-SPLASH

Invites Him to Joint Debate, Declaring His Interests Not Those of Working Class.

IS NOT A FRIEND OF LABOR

Jacobs Doesn't Want $22,000 a Year for Doing What Labor Men Agitated.

Declaring that Sir Adam Beck, and the working classes have no interest in common, the election committee of the Labor Party supporting the candidature of John D. Jacobs, last night issued a challenge to Sir Adam to meet the labor speakers in joint debate on the market square, Friday night.

The challenge reads as follows:—"We hereby challenge Sir Adam Beck to meet us in a joint debate on the market square, Friday night, June 26, 1914, where we will definitely prove that he and the working classes of London have no interest in common, that the sole representative of the working class of London is John Jacobs, and that the only platform beneficial to the people in the present campaign is that of the Labor ticket.

"We would be pleased to receive at our committee rooms, Richmond street, any representative of Sir Adam Beck, to arrange conditions of such debate.

Yours respectfully,
The Election Committee of the Labor Party.

T. Sallis, chairman.

Beck No Friend of Labor.
"If Sir Adam Beck would meet Allan Studholme's motion in the legislature for an eight-hour day, enabling the motion to be discussed and voted upon," said Mr. Jacobs, addressing an open air meeting at Clarence and Dundas streets last night.

Mr. Jacobs emphasized the need of the working class uniting in support of their own interests. The opportunity was theirs to vote for, and elect a Labor candidate. "And there will be no $22,000 a year wanted for doing something that the Labor party has advocated for the last 25 or 30 years," said Mr. Jacobs.

John Thompson, another speaker, severely criticized the extravagance and lack of efficiency of the local municipal administration. He had pushed up the tax rate by unnecessary expenditures, and then, in order to keep the rate down a few mills, cut out expenditures for the improvement of the city.

He referred to unsatisfactory sanitary and other conditions, as pointed out in the report of the Men's Federation, and illustrated his point with a reference to the number of cases of smallpox in the city.

Mr. Thompson said that the neglect of the civic administration securing better sanitary conditions throughout the city, municipal elections, or holding municipal offices, "it's funnier than Ringling's circus," said Mr. Thompson. "That a man can take part in making the laws of his country, when he cannot take part in enforcing them."

Criticizes Civic Administration.
Mr. Thompson also attacked the evils arising from the open bar-room, but held that the abolition of the bar would not solve all the problems of the working class.

Scandals Under Government.
"And why return to power," he asked, "men under whose government the country has been disgraced for four years?"

The workers, said Mr. Thompson, were controlled today by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and other capitalist interests, should support their own working class Labor party.

Tom Sallis also spoke briefly. "Next Monday," said Mr. Sallis, "take you to the polls in an automobile or carriage, jump right in, but when you get there mark your ballot for the Labor party."

Tonight the Labor speakers will hold a meeting on the market square.

NORMAL SCHOOL TO TEST GARBAGE TAX LEGALITY

Principal Radcliffe Will Contest Assessment—Horton St. Pavement Trouble.

It is probable that the council will appeal to the city solicitor for an opinion on the frontage tax assessment for the asphalt pavement put on Horton street. The assessment has been entered with the board of control by Arthur Carrothers, who wants to know why the property owners are compelled to pay $12.20 per square yard for the pavement, when the actual cost is only $3.50 per square yard.

The board of control heard last night that Principal Radcliffe made a test case of garbage tax assessed against the school. It is understood that as the school comes under the definition of crown lands it cannot be assessed, although it now pays taxes for sidewalks and sewers and gutters.

How You Can Have a Clear, Hairless Skin

(Boudoir Secrets)
Here is an inexpensive and timesaving hair remover every woman should keep handy, for with it the skin can be kept entirely free from hair or fuzz: Get a small original package of powdered talc and when hairy growths appear make a paste with a little of the powder and some water. Apply, and after two or three minutes rub off and the hairs will have vanished. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining talc. This is quite harmless, but be certain you get talc—Adv.

Garbage Inspector Has Now the Only Submarine on the River.

CRAFT BECOMES A TURTLE

Glides Gracefully to Bottom—May Be Called "The Garbage Can."

W. C. Dodd, garbage inspector, launched a motor boat on the river yesterday, which bids fair to perform in the water so as to attract the attention of Government officials. Mr. Dodd's boat is akin to a submarine, and it had not been launched many hours before it glided gracefully, now first, into the bosom of the Thames.

The boat is equipped with a cabin, the cabin is equipped with windows, and the windows have regular glass in them. The boat is a regular boat, only it hasn't a name. Mr. Dodd was saving the name for July 1st. No one knows what it is, but all of Mr. Dodd's friends are taking four guesses.

Yesterday's four guesses were as follows: "The Swan Lily," "The Glow Worm," "The Garbage Can," and "The Little City of London."

Mr. Dodd has about five uncles who own automobiles, and when he makes his initial trip with the boat, he will have his five uncles posted along the river with their automobiles, so in case the boat should submarine again there will be someone at hand to offer "First Aid to the Under Cover."

The boat today is like a mud turtle and only shows her back above water. Whit Lancaster says when she gets good and soaked she will float.

BIDDULPH PICNIC DRAWS OVER 5,000

People From All Over District Attend St. Patrick's Church Outing.

MANY COME FROM CITY

London Represented by Several Hundred, While Detroit Sends 100.

[By Staff Reporter.]
LUCAN, June 23.—Ryder's Grove, Biddulph, was the Mecca for thousands from all over the district today on the occasion of the annual picnic of St. Patrick's Church, Lucan.

Practically every township in Middlesex had a large representation on the grounds, and besides, nearly 100 pleasure-seekers from Detroit were in attendance, while several hundred motored out from London.

It is estimated that fully 5,000 people were served at both dinner and supper by the ladies of the parish.

The grove, a natural beauty spot, was gay with national decorations, and myriads of Irish emblems were in evidence.

Although the thermometer was above the 90 degree mark in the sun, a popular program of dance music was greatly enjoyed.

Everything went off without a hitch, and the far-famed Catholic picnic of 1914 proved the biggest success of the many successful gatherings held by the parish of St. Patrick's.

John Farrell, of Forest, was master of ceremonies and introduced during the day an interesting program, which was greatly appreciated by the immense crowd.

Among the visiting clergy present were Revs. Father J. Hogan, St. Marys; Father McKee, Father Corkin, Father Hanlon, of London; Father Foster, of Mount Carmel; Father Gleason, of Stratford, and Father Ronan, of St. Marys.

The Race Results.
The results of the various athletic contests were:
100-yard dash (15 years and under)—1, Chester Sproule; 2, F. Carter; 3, Eddie Breen.

100-yard dash (over 15)—1, V. Hodgins; 2, H. Delany; 3, M. Murray.
50-yard dash (9 and under)—1, Eddie Brown; 2, A. Breen; 3, F. Breen.

Sack-race—1, W. Parson; 2, E. Breen; 3, F. Breen.
Throwing baseball—1, F. Carter; 2, P. Thompson; 3, Chester Sproule.

Little Marion Stark, of London, won first in the Scotch step-dance; Kenneth Dunlevy second, Theresa Cooper third, and Irene Anderson fourth.

In the Irish jig, Kenneth Dunlevy was first, Marion Stark second, Theresa Cooper third, and Irene Anderson fourth.

"Billy" Fraser, comedian, of Woodstock, captivated his entire audience with his renditions and interpretations of Irish songs and readings, which called for several encores.

The execution of the horrid dance by a bevy of little girls evoked hearty applause. The feature of the picnic, however, was the baby show. As a result of the excellence of the six babies entered, all were given prizes.

The judges, Dr. Bantling and John Fox, of Lucan, after the customary proceedings, awarded all the kiddies first prize of $1 each.

A football match, contested between the Irish line of Lucan and St. Peter's Club of London, resulted in a 17 to 6 victory for the Lucan team.

The winners were: Lucan—Barnes, and Hindmarsh; St. Peter's—Ward and Baker. John A. McIntyre, of Alfia Craig, was umpire.

POPLAR HILL PICNIC IS RECORD BREAKER

Draws Over 5,000 to 25th Annual Reunion of Lobo Township.

LADIES' DRIVING CONTEST
Splendid Program of Sports and Games Arouse Greatest Interest.

[By Staff Reporter.]

POPLAR HILL, June 22.—Ideal weather, a magnificent program of sports and a record attendance, made the annual school picnic and old boys' reunion held here today, the greatest of a whole long line of successful outings of a similar kind.

Over 5,000 people were on the grounds, and every one had a splendid time.

Today was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Lobo reunion, and Secretary A. E. McKay enthusiastically declared that it surpassed all others.

Many others who had attended former gatherings had an excellent time declared that today's gathering was the best of all.

A Lively Program.
There wasn't a dull moment on the program from the time the school children's parade started, until the last number of the concert given to-night had closed.

The flag-raising exercises of the school children were well done, and then came a program of races and sports that included something for everybody, and everybody got busy, and as a result, the greatest enthusiasm prevailed.

Except for the baseball games between Strathroy and the Lobo Rural League, in the afternoon, and Komoka and Ivan in the evening, the ladies' driving contest attracted more attention and drew more spectators than any other event.

Driving Contest.
Nine young women hitched a horse to a buggy in record time, drove the end of the grounds, then "drove a figure eight" across the field, and then back to the judges' line, to be appraised by expert judges. The entire outfit was considered, and the way in which the driver handled her horse, and her appearance, and the neatness of the outfit.

Discriminating work, but the following decisions were made: The first prize was awarded to Miss Annie Lamont; a close second, Miss Gella Campbell; Miss M. Fletcher, third, and Miss Lella McCall, fourth. The judges declared that all nine displayed wonderful ability and dexterity in driving. More than two thousand persons saw the contest.

The judges were: Hugh McNair, Alisa Craig, Charles J. Priestley, Alisa Craig, and J. M. Robinson, of Denfield.

Fast Ball Games.
Women were loyal fans at both baseball games. In the afternoon, the Lobo Rural League team by a score of 6-4. In the early evening, Ivan handed Komoka a defeat. The score of 8-6 stood close enough all through the game to make it decidedly worth while.

Both games were strenuous and were viewed by two or three thousand spectators, who kept the vicinity tense with enthusiasm, by cheers and rooting indecorable.

Entertainments in the afternoon and evening were put on in front of the grandstand.

Following were the schools in the parade adjudged the best in appearance: 1, ward school No. 10; 2, ward school No. 7; 3, ward school No. 4; 4, ward school No. 6.

The races and the winners follow:
50-yard three-legged races, committee—McArthur and Oliver Campbell, Peter Campbell and Alex. Blair.

60-yard boot and shoe race, committee—James Campbell, Ed Bycraft, Alex Blair.

Boys' race, thirteen and under, 100 yards—Graham Colvin, M. Thomas, E. Bycraft. Girls' race, thirteen and under, 75 yards—Violet Scott, Dora Wallis, T. Barclay.

Boys' race, eleven years, and under, 100 yards—Marwood Fletcher, Lorne Hamilton, Roscoe Charlton, Murray Campbell.

Girls' race, eleven years, and under, 100 yards—Vera Graham, Helen Ferguson, C. Ferguson.

Boys' race, nine years and under, 100 yards—Kenneth Graham, Earl Lamont, Cliff McCall.

Girls' race, nine years, and under, 100 yards—C. Ferguson, Vel McCall.

OLD AT TWENTY.
Return of Youth With Proper Food.

Many persons who eat plenty never seem to be properly nourished. That's because the food is not digested and absorbed. Much that is eaten is never taken up by the system as real food, and so the tissues simply starve and the individual may, as in a recent case, look and feel old in what should be the bloom of life, youth.

"At twenty I was prematurely old. The health and vigor and brightness of youth had been, as it seemed, stolen from me. I went to work in the morning with slow steps and a dull head."

"My work through the day was unsatisfactory, for my breakfast lay in my stomach like a hard lump. I was peevish and the gas in my stomach was very annoying. After supper I usually went to bed to toss half the night from sheer nervousness."

"This was all from indigestion—caused by wrong eating. I tried Grape-Nuts and I cannot describe the full benefits received from the food. It gave me back my health. It has completely restored good digestion and my ailments have disappeared. I am steadily improved and am now strong and in perfect health."

HAY CROP FAILURE; PRICES WILL SOAR

Rain Too Late to Save Hay in Many Sections—Record Prices Predicted.

Rain came too late to save the hay crop from part failure this year. Farmers predict that the price of hay this fall and winter, will be higher than it has been for a number of years.

On account of the long drouth previous to the middle of June, the hay was held back in growth, and many farmers will plough their fields under shortly instead of cutting it. Many farmers will start cutting hay next week while other years that is not done until later in July.

For a Widowed Sister's Boy

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

A neighbor showed me an Advertiser that tells about the Rev. Fysh, the Orange organizer, supporting the open bar at this election. Now, you make a mistake if you think that the Orangemen are going to vote for the open bar. I am an Orangeman, and I am going to vote for Laidlaw.

If I voted for McFarlan, and I did the other time, I would feel like helping to dig a pit for my widowed sister's boy, living in your city, whose damnation seems to be sure if the bars are not closed. I don't think Hanna's plan would ever close the bars in your city. If Rev. Fysh's own family were touched, he would be like me, Orangeman though he is. I don't care whether Rowell is a temperance man or not; if he gets in this time, he has got to close the bars. Then we can put Hanna in next time. But let us save the boys when we have the chance.

MEN KILLED AND BUILDINGS WRECKED IN RIOT BY MINERS

Butte Scene of Great Disorders—Sheriffs Fire on Rioters, Who Use Dynamite to Blow Up Hall and Damage Whole Block.

[Canadian Press.] Butte, Mont., June 24.—One man was shot and killed; another seriously wounded, another seriously hurt, and property valued at $100,000 was destroyed by dynamite, during the rioting which occurred last night at the Butte Miners' Union hall by the factions of the union.

Dozens of shots were fired and more than twenty blasts of dynamite were set off during the night. The city early today was quiet, but Governor Stewart, of Helena, was preparing to issue a call for state troops to prevent further outbreaks here between the warring miners.

Many deputies were at the hall last night to preserve order at a meeting to discuss plans for the bringing about of settlement of the difficulties between the factions in the union. Large numbers of the seceders from the Western Federation of Miners, who have planned to form a new union under the auspices of the Industrial Workers of the World, were near the hall.

The insurgents stormed the hall and Sheriff Driscoll's deputies fired several shots into the air to drive back the crowd, but the shots had no effect. The crowd pushed on, and when the deputies fired a volley to kill, Ernest Noy, traveling inspector for the Montana demurrage bureau, fell dead. Two others were wounded. The shooting caused the insurgents to retreat, but soon they returned with dynamite, which they exploded under the union hall.

Buildings Wrecked. The front of practically every building in the block, of which the miners' hall was the centre, was wrecked by the continued charges of explosives set off by the insurgent miners. Hundreds of persons were struck by showers of flying glass, which rattled down upon the heads of people packed on the sidewalk every time a blast was set off. Dynamiting did not cease until after midnight, after more than a score of blasts had been exploded and the Federation hall practically demolished, the walls in front and back having been blown out, and the roof caved to the ground.

Leaders of the new union, with their lieutenants, spent most of the night urging their men to retire to their homes.

Moyer Disappears. The whereabouts of Chas. H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who fled the miners' hall when the firing began last night, is a matter of conjecture. He got into an automobile and was driven rapidly away. There was a report that he had taken refuge in the county jail, but Sheriff Driscoll denies this, offering to conduct a searching party through the prison. The belief prevails that Moyer and other Federation officials have left town.

President Michael McDonald of the new Butte Mine Workers' Union said: "I don't care to make an official statement which would in any way place the blame for last night's occurrence. It was not done with our knowledge or consent and it was not in our power to prevent it. The Federationists, I do not know whether they intended to kill that poor fellow. I hope they did not, but they were responsible for what happened."

PRE-SEMITIC ACCOUNTS OF FALL AND DELUGE

[Canadian Press.] London, June 24.—Professor Stephen Langdon, who holds the chair of Assyriology at Jesus College, Oxford, has deciphered the Niphur Babylonian tract tablets belonging to the University of Pennsylvania, of which he made a copy while in Philadelphia last year. The tablets give pre-semitic accounts of the fall of man and the deluge. The latter, he says, is clearly the original of the story preserved in the book of Genesis.

SIR JAMES WHITNEY SCORES THE PULPIT FOR ITS ACTIVITY

Says Mr. Rowell Is Trying to Gamble on His Ill-Health—Great Ovation Tendered Him and Sir Adam.

[Special to The Advertiser.] TORONTO, June 23.—Sir James Whitney made his only public appearance in the political campaign at Massey Hall tonight. It was one of the most remarkable meetings ever held in the great auditorium, which was filled to overflowing, necessitating another meeting at Victoria Hall. It was not a political meeting, however, as was announced by the chairman, W. H. Price, and by Sir Adam Beck, who was one of the speakers and shared with the Premier the applause of the audience. In itself the meeting was remarkable, but there were also remarkable statements made. Sir James said that Mr. Rowell was seeking to gamble to power by means of his health or ill-health. He said that, apart from the abolition of the bar, there was no issue before the province on which the people could be asked to turn the Government out.

Reception To Sir James. Sir Adam, in explaining that it was not a political gathering, said: "It is a reception to Sir James Whitney, who has given the best of his life, and almost his life, to the service of this province." Sir James Whitney has created order out of chaos in Ontario. He was a man who fulfilled his pledges. He was able to announce that the Hydro electric power commission would be able to develop 250,000 horsepower in its own plant outside of Niagara Falls Park, and concluded by saying that the 250,000 Germans in Ontario had never raised the bilingual question in their schools.

Helped Toronto. Sir James addressed himself most particularly to the temperance issue. He emphasized the work of the Government to help Toronto University, and said the grants to agriculture had grown four hundred thousand dollars in 1914 to over a million dollars last year. The workmen's compensation bill was without a parallel in the world, he stated, while he referred to the "gigantic scheme" to make 50,000 miles of good highways in Ontario. Sir James declared himself as ardently in favor of temperance as any man. The temperance issue today was "abolish the bar, but keep the jug." He claimed that the Government, in reducing the number of licenses in the province from 2,800 to 1,000, had done substantial work in the cause of temperance. He denounced with characteristic vehemence the action of clergymen in "turning the pulpit into a political stamping-ground," and charged the officers of the Dominion Alliance with issuing a circular in which every statement "contained a suggestion of falsehood."

The Premier then went on to deal with the bilingual question, in which he charged Mr. Rowell with "intensely elusive." The Government, he said, stood by the

STILL PLAN MEETING OF OPPOSING FACTIONS

U. S. A. Hopeful That Mexicans May Agree to a Conference Independent of Mediators.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, June 24.—Development of plans for a meeting of representatives of the fighting factions in Mexico temporarily independent of mediation proceedings between the Huerta and American missions, was awaited today by President Wilson and his cabinet officers. It was suggested that the next step in the programme for settling Mexico's troubles by diplomacy might not crystallize until the arrival in Washington of several Carranza agents now on their way from Saltillo.

Reports from New Orleans that Carranza's aide-de-camp, Alfredo Breceda, had declared the Constitutionists would not agree to a conference with the Huerta mission, were variously interpreted here. Hope was renewed that Villa would not loom as a stumbling block, by reports that he had asserted he would stand by the results of the mediation conference, irrespective of Carranza's attitude.

Administration officials read with satisfaction dispatches outlining an official statement from Carranza's headquarters at Saltillo, declaring that reports of "alarming and deep divisions" between the first chief and Villa were false. The statement was generally accepted as tending to verify assertions that the break between the Constitutionalists and Carranza had been healed, temporarily at least.

PASSENGERS HAD A VERY CLOSE CALL IN STEAMER WRECK

Almost Superhuman Efforts by Officers and Rescue Crews Needed to Save Women and Children.

[Canadian Press.] Houghton, Seilly Islands, June 24.—The saving of the passengers of the wrecked Belgian steamer Gothland was attended by almost superhuman efforts on the part of the officers and crew of the steamer and by the life saving boat's crew, which came to the rescue when she went ashore on the Crim rocks yesterday.

Members of the lifesaving crew from St. Margaret's, describe the scene as awful when one of the Gothland's small boats, crammed with passengers and seamen, drifted away from the sea. The bottom of the boat was smashed by its violent contact with the waves, and all were thrown into the water. Most of the passengers who had occupied the boat were women and children, and they struggled hopelessly in the waves. A quarter of the Gothland's crew, including the master of the Gothland, succeeded in saving three of the women.

Several of the lifesaving crew also jumped into the water and handed out the children to their companions in the rescue boats until all had been saved. Meanwhile, a heavy sea rendered all salvage work perilous. The crew of the Gothland, which was on the voyage from Montreal to Rotterdam, again went on board to the hope of lightening her sufficiently to enable her to be refloated.

No English Speaking. Montreal, June 24.—Officials of the Canada Line, in whose service the Gothland was sailing from Montreal to Rotterdam, stated this morning that the vessel had no English-speaking passengers on board. The total carried were 31, all of whom were foreigners, practically all Russians and Poles, of whom thirty-nine were "deports."

DENSE FOG THE CAUSE. SCILLY, Eng., June 23.—The Belgian steamer Gothland, from Montreal for Rotterdam, laden with grain, struck Crim Rocks, near Bishop Lighthouse, off Scilly Island, in a dense fog this morning. Wireless messages for assistance were speedily brought to the aid of the Gothland by the steamer Lyonesse from Penzance, two lifeboats from St. Marys and the steamers Ascanius and Montezuma from Lizard Head.

The Gothland was badly damaged and all attempts to launch boats proved hazardous, owing to the heavy sea that swept over the reef. The first boat fell from the davits into the sea and was smashed. The occupants of the boat were thrown into the water, but fortunately a St. Marys lifeboat was nearby and rescued all of them, although a stewardess was nearly drowned.

A second boat was swung out, but with no better success. Eventually, all the passengers, numbering 130 emigrants and 36 of the crew, were safely transferred to the Lyonesse and landed at Houghton, St. Marys Island, the capital of the group. Several were injured, one man having an arm broken and another suffering from serious scalds.

Likely to Prove Total Wreck. The Gothland, 27 feet long, was in No. 1 and No. 2 holds, and it is feared she will prove a total wreck. The captain, officers and some of the crew remain on board and a St. Marys lifeboat is staying by.

The Gothland belongs to the Red Star Line, but is under charter to the Canada Line. She left Montreal June 12. Members of one of the lifeboat crews said they begged the remainder of the Gothland's crew to come ashore, but that they refused to abandon the vessel, which lies in the most dangerous position on the Flemish Ledge of Crim, one of the worst rocks in the Scilly Islands and where the famous Schiller wreck occurred in 1875, with a loss of 300 persons drowned.

MANY FISHERMEN OUT IN STORM WERE DROWNED

Ten Bodies Recovered From German Lake, Others Still Missing.

[Canadian Press.] Friedrichshafen, Germany, June 24.—Ten bodies of fishermen were recovered this morning from Lake Constance and at least 25 more are missing, believed to have been drowned in a sudden terrific storm which occurred yesterday. The storm broke so quickly that the fishermen were unable to reach land, only a mile or so away. Many were rescued by lake steamers and other craft after their light boats had capsized.

NEW HAMPSHIRE CITY HAS VERY BAD FIRE

About $800,000 Damage Done Firemen Hurt and Flames Spreading.

[Canadian Press.] Manchester, N. H., June 24.—Loss estimated at $800,000 had been placed up to 8 a.m. today by a fire which destroyed the five-story brick building of the John B. Varick Company, hardware, jewelry and photograph supply dealers, and a three-story brick annex, and had spread to an annex of R. G. Sullivan's cigar factory. The flames at that hour were beyond control, and other buildings were threatened.

Firemen Burned. Five firemen were burned about the head and face when an explosion of powder and chemicals hurled them through a window on the ground floor. The fire started about 2:30 a.m., but it was not until the firemen had been fighting the flames for more than three hours that the large quantity of powder and cartridges was ignited.

Many Explosions. For some time after this there were incessant explosions, and the fire quickly worked its way into the upper floors and through the roof. A four-story stone building checked the advance of the flames on the north, and the spread was toward the south.

NAVAL AIR SERVICE NEW BRITISH SCHEME

Retired Naval Officers May Volunteer, and Civilians Who Qualify.

[Canadian Press.] Montreal, June 24.—The Admiralty announces a new scheme for the organization of a naval air service, manned by officers of the navy, says a London cable. Naval officers who have retired into civil life will be allowed to volunteer for limited periods. Civilians who have proved themselves to be suitably qualified may become officers or "air mechanics."

The uniform resembles that of the naval service, save that the emblem of the eagle replaces that of the anchor. The age limit for "air mechanics" is eighteen and thirty years. The must engage in three months' training, and then engage for four years' service. The members of the new service are paid higher than those in the submarine service.

For its breadth of view, the scheme has won much approval. "Perhaps one of the most significant advances that has been made in Sunday school work is that of recognizing the church and the Sunday school in the regular work of the day school," said Mr. Lawrence.

A crucial problem before the present conference is the method to be adopted in advancing the Sunday school work. He said. The association has had under consideration for more than two years a plan for a nation-wide campaign, but while the Sunday school leaders are eager to push the work, there is a fear that the time is not opportune for a campaign with a body of speakers and organizers touring the country.

JAPANESE QUESTION IN CALIFORNIA UNSETTLED. London, June 24.—The Japanese foreign minister, Takaki Kato, informed the members of the Diet today that there had been no solution of the question between United States and Japan regarding the California land legislation. Since he assumed office he said, he had taken certain steps looking to a settlement, and was now awaiting the reply of the United States Government, which, he hoped, would be satisfactory.

FOG AT NEW YORK IS CAUSE OF COLLISIONS

Two Passenger Steamers Are Damaged But No One Is Injured.

[Canadian Press.] New York, June 24.—The fog which shut down over New York harbor last night had not lifted this morning, and many vessels were held fogbound. In the bay the schooner Samuel F. Bowers crashed into the steamer Taurus, which runs from Keesburg, N. J., to the Battery. The steamer's wheelhouse was damaged, but none of the 300 passengers on board was hurt. The steamer Taurus, of the Iron Steamboat Company, with no passengers aboard, collided in the Hudson with a crowded ferryboat of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The side of the ferryboat was badly damaged, and several plates on the Taurus were bent.

Constant Headaches From Exhausted Nerves

Appetite Poor—Digestion Bad—Daily Grew Weaker—Lost Faith in Medicine

Headache is a symptom and not a disease in itself. True, relief may be obtained by the use of powerful opiates but the shock to the nerves is tremendous and the result a further weakening of the system.

To really cure headache it is absolutely necessary that the exhausted nerves be restored and revitalized. This can best be accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The benefits are both certain and lasting, for by building up the system the cause of trouble is removed.

This has been proven in many thousands of cases and we cannot do better than quote here the letter from Mr. Donneral, who suffered almost constantly from headaches for two years. Doctors did their best to cure him but in vain. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food made a perfect cure because it removed the cause.

Mr. Charles Donneral, Kleinburg, Ont., writes:—"I wish to communicate to you the great cure which I have received from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from headaches for over two years. I took medicines from physicians and yet the headaches persisted and I was rarely free from them. About a year ago, I saw one of Dr. Chase's Medicine Books, and I thought I would try his Nerve Food. I did so, and I must confess with very little faith, but after I had taken a box, my headaches were easier, and after I had taken two boxes they left me. My appetite was always poor and my stomach was bad, and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion is excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant headaches, but now not only have I been cured of all them, but my strength is growing once more, and I feel like a new man. I am exceedingly grateful to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for curing me. I give this testimonial with great pleasure as I hope thereby some other sufferer from headaches will be induced to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and will be cured."

INTO EVERY HOME.

The Rowell policy strikes definitely, surely, immediately, at the root of the liquor evil.

Once the bar has been removed the leaden weight of fear for their sons will be removed from the hearts of fathers and mothers. Whisky is our greatest national handicap. No one maintains that it ever did good and everyone has fallen under its stigma, directly or indirectly.

In support of the theory that liquor cast its shadow into every family circle, it is related of the late John B. Gough that while at a dinner party, he made the statement that there was no family that had not suffered through liquor.

A lady who was among the guests strenuously denied that the statement applied to any of her relatives.

Later on in the evening she happened to remark that she was a widow.

Asked as to the disease which had caused the death of her husband, she replied: "He did not die of any disease. He was killed in a runaway caused by a drunken coachman."

Mr. Gough instantly reminded her of her claim that drink had caused no suffering in her family. The point went home.

Whisky strikes at every life and at every home. It makes prison farms necessary and helps to fill asylums and jails. All the drink cures and last aids are of no avail in preventing young men from going wrong. Youth seizes the glitter of the open bar, and then the bar seizes upon him. He does not intend to let the habit form. His first "drunk" makes him lose his respect. Then comes a chapter in his family life that is horrible. He wrecks his life, or blights his prospects. His character is weakened. That humanity has so long suffered the horrible evil of the traffic is almost incredible. It is more stupendous than a daily ocean tragedy. It is a paradox of human nature.

On June 29, in Ontario, comes the greatest opportunity a Christian community has ever had.

BRING BACK NORTH MIDDLESEX.

THE northern part of the County of Middlesex has usually had a good record in politics. It has sent to Parliament able men—some lawyers, but more farmers. And they have generally been sound Liberals—advocates of civil and religious liberty, and supporters of all propositions for moral reform. Occasionally there has been a little slip. There was one at the last election, when the riding of North Middlesex sent a Conservative to the Legislature by a small majority of 35. This time the electors will correct the mistake. Their old standard-bearer, John Grieve, of Parkhill, is again the candidate, and should be successful. The people know him as a good farmer, a good businessman, and a representative of whom they have no cause to be ashamed. At the last election the party was at a disadvantage. It had just selected a new leader. There had not been opportunity for him to consult with his supporters and announce a definite policy on social and moral questions. Those who knew him knew what he stood for. But they did not know that his party was prepared to stand by him. Now things are different. Mr. Rowell's name is the one most frequently heard throughout the province; his policy involves the most important issue; his party has rallied to his support, and has definitely placed itself in advance. John Grieve can bring back North Middlesex, if the party supports him and if the temperance men of the riding are true to their own policy. And he can go to Toronto with a rousing majority. Do it for him, and do it well.

A WIFE'S APPEAL.

Please leave my husband, who is in police court today, out of your newspaper. It is not for his sake, but for the sake of his wife and family.

Mrs.

THIS is a note that came to the desk of the city editor of The Advertiser. The man was an old offender, and the same request had been made many times, and complied with. But his wife gradually became ashamed of appearing in the newspaper office, and on the last occasion she wrote a letter.

Here is a picture of a wife defending her husband and her home from that awful monster—the licensed bar. No one knows the effect more than the local staff of a newspaper. The reporter goes to investigate the murder case, and he finds that there was another hand upon the guilty hand. He goes into the charities office and finds little children left to sink or swim. He sees the human derelicts of the police court. The bartender knows liquor in the same way, and many of the whitecoated men will vote to wipe it out, though it may mean a struggle to a more honorable calling.

HE IGNORED IT.

DR. REAUME did not say one word upon bilingual schools in his nomination speech. If it is an issue in this campaign, why did the man most concerned ignore it entirely? He ignored it because of orders from headquarters to "keep off it." The Whitney Government will not commit itself on this issue in any shape nor form.

DEATH OF THE HON. S. H. BLAKE.

THE Province of Ontario loses one of its best and greatest men by the death of the Hon. S. H. Blake. His brother, the Hon. Edward Blake, was the greatest man Canada has yet produced. Their father, the Hon. William Hume Blake, was the first chancellor of Ontario, and it was natural that the sons should become equity lawyers. Both were leaders of the equity bar, and the Blake firm has been in the front rank for over fifty years.

The Hon. S. H. Blake started life in a mercantile house, but it claimed him for only a short time. After his call to the bar, he became associated with his brother Edward in practice. Both took the highest rank. Whether it was because they liked London, or because their sister, the late Mrs. Verschoyle Cronyn, had her home in London, and because he and his brother had both married sisters of Mr. Cronyn, each delivered some of his ablest speeches here. The Hon. Edward Blake delivered the speech in which he declared he did not wish to construct a platform out of the Regina scaffold in the Queen's avenue rink in this city, and the Hon. S. H. Blake delivered a very forceful speech in the old Opera House on King street, in which he referred to the claims of the Tory party to a monopoly of loyalty. He gave instance after instance of their conduct in former days, winding up each sentence with the statement, "The blue-blooded Tory did that." It was probably the most eloquent speech he ever delivered in this city.

After being successfully engaged for some years in equity practice, he accepted an appointment as vice-chancellor. He was recognized as one of the ablest judges. He resigned a few years after and re-entered practice.

As a lawyer, a judge and a man, he has earned the esteem of the people of this province. It was probably in his religious and philanthropic work that he was at his best. His vote was always given on the side of mercy. This was in keeping with his great kindness of heart. He earned a large income always, but he spent it all, to do the most good he could, and, in addition, incurred liabilities on bonds for the erection of churches and charitable institutions, which would represent a very large amount. His life has been an active one, and very useful to the community. He was an able man with a great heart, and gave without stint all he could in every way for the benefit of his fellowmen. It may truthfully be written of him: "He loved his fellowmen."

THE SILENT CLERGYMEN.

THE Ministerial Alliance of London had a very enjoyable outing at Springbank on Monday. When it came to the matter of discussing the issue of the present election, these men of the cloth decided to lift their skirts and allow a great moral question to remain in the low marshlands of politics.

There was an opportunity for the ministers of London to lead the people of the city to a goal of Christian achievement. The people were waiting to be led. But one man dominated the situation. The majority of the men in the meeting were in favor of the Rowell policy, but, possibly out of a mistaken sense of courtesy, they allowed this question to be played with. One Anglican clergyman came out very strongly against the liquor traffic. Another used his eloquence to head off the very movement which his own synod favored some years ago.

The silence of some clergymen is the blight upon the flower. There is not a man of them who justifies opposition to the abolition of the bar in his own conscience.

PREACHERS IN POLITICS.

THE MOST notable feature of the present electoral campaign is the incursion into the field of religious organizations, and the appearance on the platform of preachers. Not only are they on the platform, but they are candidates as well. It has been the rarest thing in our political history for a clergyman to seek election to Parliament, and when it has occurred it has usually been the case that he was not solely engaged in ministerial work, but was connected with some business as well. Today we see no less than five clergymen candidates for the Legislature. And all of them are on the side of moral reform.

That they should be made the targets for misrepresentation and abuse is only natural, for they are all opposed to the reactionary Whitney-Hanna policy. That we should have lay sermons from the Tory press condemning this so-called "interference" of clergymen is only what might be expected from that quarter.

But why should they not interfere? If the issues involved were political only; if it were a matter of trade or commerce, or of the general conduct of a government, or of the party management of the business affairs of the province, then their course might properly be open to question. Few would be prepared to admit the wisdom or propriety of clergymen dabbling in politics.

But when the great issue is a moral one, when the very thing the churches and the clergy have been advocating for years is before the public, what other course would be consistent? If, after preaching temperance, and praying for temperance, and urging their people to work for temperance, they should now stand aside, and suddenly close their mouths, it would be strong evidence that all their previous protests were insincere.

If this were solely a contest between Liberals and Conservatives over questions of ordinary party politics, then clergymen should keep out of it. But the contest is over the drink habit and the drink traffic—a contest in which they have been engaged for years, and they cannot consistently avoid participation now. If they want what they have been saying they wanted, then they must use all legitimate means to secure it.

As to the Tory sneers and jibes, these are not worth considering. The Tory papers strongly object to clergymen taking part in public affairs unless they do it on the Tory side. They are glad enough to parade in their columns the names of the very few clergymen who honestly disapprove of prohibition. They did not hesitate to commend very highly the clergymen who were discredited with the Liberal Government. And some of these men have not forgotten it. They recall what the Mail and Empire, the senior Tory organ in Toronto, said in 1905, while appealing to the clergy: "When the issue is moral, it is not at all improper for the clergy to pronounce against the evils that are afflicting the country and threatening its future. If a clergyman cannot declaim against public wrong-doing, why have a pulpit at all? And they have not forgotten that, after the election of 1905, the Tory leader, now Sir James Whitney, thanked the clergy for their help. "As you all knew, the clergy have done their duty; they deserve the thanks of all men." And the clergy are doing their duty now, and, in the language of Sir James, "they deserve the thanks of all men."

"THE DOWNWARD PATH" VOTE.

MR. ROWELL will get many of his votes from "the downward path" element. Any man who has been intimated at any time in his life is ashamed of it. If he regains his respectability, he never forgets the bar—he is its foremost opponent, and he will hit it hard when the opportunity comes.

CALL THE PASSENGERS.

IT was no doubt necessary for Lord Mervoy to figure out the exact position of the Empress of Britain and the Storstad, and to secure complete details as to the condition of steering gear and bulkheads. Upon this must be built the lessons of the disaster from the boat builder's and navigator's standpoint.

But the public would like to hear more about the effort that was made by the crew of either vessel to save life and to take care of the rescued. We are all very much interested in that phase of the question, much more so than in the testimony of salvage experts and other technicians. So far the human side of the great tragedy has been left out of the bearing. We are all well aware that there was an accident—that there was something wrong somewhere. But we are more concerned with the conduct of the sailors and officers whose duty it was to look after the passengers when the accident occurred. How many lifeboats could have been lowered in the fifteen minutes between the collision and the sinking? How many were lowered? Why did the Storstad remain at such a distance from the Empress and for so long a period, as reliable witnesses state? Did the Storstad's crew make a serious effort to rescue the thousand persons said to have been upon the surface of the water for some time after the accident? Did the Empress's crew show much real consideration for the passengers?

In a word, the public does not care about the monetary or the mechanical side of the accident. It would like to see more witnesses from among the passengers called, and to hear their side of the story. There must be important facts to be secured from their stories. Why are they not being called?

BANNOCKBURN.

BLOW, bapplies, blow, set the wild echoes flying! Today is the six hundredth anniversary of the battle of Bannockburn. The happiest reflection on it all is that Englishmen are almost as ready to celebrate as their Scottish friends. The war feast thus turns into satisfaction that an everlasting peace has made two nations one, who six centuries ago faced each other as deadly enemies. "The old, unhappy, far-off things and battles long ago," have become occasions of mutual admiration and brotherly handshakes.

Englishmen are the most ready to cheer with the Scots, as they had their four hundredth anniversary last year of the return march, so to speak. That was at Flodden, where, as Scott says, "Broken was fair Scotland's spear, And shivered was her shield."

But, somehow, Bannockburn seems the greater fight, and Scotchmen have reason to set it above all the scores on the other side at Nevil's Cross, Halidon Hill and Flodden itself. Bannockburn was fought for national freedom. One of the most crashing lines of "Scots, Wha Hae," "Liberty's in Every Blow!" speaks the moral of Bruce's victory. That alone gives distinction to this fight. It is to be remembered that it was won by the most heroic of kings, the Alfred of Great Scotland, the only Bruce, and the great of the most heroic of saviors, the equally unique Burns. The combination of Bruce and Burns is enough for immortal fame.

The forces engaged at Bannockburn were very large, much larger than in other engagements between the two peoples. The English army numbered about 60,000, the Scotch 40,000. Bruce was on the defensive in a position well chosen. His front was about a mile wide, which suited the forces at his disposal, and proved to be too cramping for the more numerous Scots. The English blocked each other, "the horses that were stilted," says an exulting Scotch writer, "rushed and reeled right rudely." The upshot of the conflict, as no one needs to be told, was the rout of the

CAMPAIGN COMMENT

THOSE MAPS.

[Stratford Beacon.]

The Whitney Government and those supporting it claim that great progress has been made in the reduction of licenses under its regime. They have gone so far in this direction as to publish maps which are entirely incorrect. What has been done has been accomplished by the people themselves under local option, notwithstanding the blocking of progress by the three-fifths clause, inserted by the Whitney Government. They are anxious to retain the support of both temperance people and those who are not temperance people, and with the former they have to resort to deception. Many of them, however, have had their eyes opened to this deceit, and will no longer support the Government, though they have previously done so.

HOW IS THIS?

[Kingston Whig.]

If the Rowell policy is intended to promote the business of the shops then the owners of the shop licenses should all be out with their coats off working for the Rowell candidates. How many of the proprietors of liquor stores are hustling to elect Rowell? Do not all speak at once.

English army with a loss of over 10,000, the victors losing some 4,000. The terrible English archers did execution, but were badly placed, and in the confusion shot their own men at times. An almost comic feature of the bloody day was the charge of the Scotch "gillies" or camp-followers, who fell upon the enemy just as he was wavering, appeared to be a weighty reinforcement, and precipitated the rout and ruin of the English.

They were a wild, fierce, cruel lot, those ancestors of ours on both sides. Very likely the most of them were ruffians. But, we can't help being proud of them, and giving them a backward-looking thought today. Their story was told in vast detail and enthusiasm by Barbour in their own time, and from Barbour's quaint pages, Scott re-tells the tale in "The Lord of the Isles."

The bar or the boy?

The glory of a czar-like government, or your principles?

The Whitney Government is in style; at least all its election arguments are diaphanous.

The Ottawa Citizen, the Conservative newspaper at the capital, has come out strongly in favor of Mr. Rowell's policy.

Forcibly fed, hunger-and-thirst-struck, tortured, these English militants never say die, nor do it. They have nine lives.

The Conservatives expected a half-hearted support of Leader Rowell. But Liberals almost to a man are moral reformers at heart.

In South Waterloo, Buchanan has the fighting spirit of Liberalism and temperance at his back. There is every prospect that he will win the seat.

Mr. Hanna boasts of the fine barns on his prison farm, but, remembering that they are due to the disgraceful bar, the average voter who pays the piper doesn't wax enthusiastic over them.

Whitney's policy towards the bar is one of incision—cut into growth and let out some of the badness. Rowell's plan is excision—cut it out altogether, removing the root of the trouble. Which sounds better?

The Conservative press is making a great hullabaloo over the ministers coming out for Mr. Rowell's policy. But for a man whose mission in life is to preach a gospel that includes sobriety and temperance, what other course could be more logical or fair?

Guelph has discovered that the money that annually goes over the bar in that city would erect modern Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. plants. And the turning of bar money into such helpful and clean channels all over the province

PENALIZING THRIFT.

[Brantford Expositor.]

The Whitney Government at the last session of the House passed a measure taxing life insurance premiums one-and-one-half per cent. They claimed that they needed the money. They put a penalty on the thrifty and prudent. Any other could not be expected of a government that refuses to recognize the wrong by taxing improvements on the same basis as land.

WOMEN AND LIQUOR.

[Toronto Star.]

Every woman attending the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago last week voted for the resolution condemning the liquor traffic.

The liquor interests oppose women's suffrage because they know women's votes would do to their trade.

"But," says the Kansas City Times, commenting on this point, "woman's suffrage or no woman's suffrage, a business that has the women of the country down on it had better look out for man's suffrage. Woman's suffrage is a very new thing. Woman's opinion is a very old and tremendously influential thing."

will be the inevitable result of abolishing the bar.

When anything is going along smoothly and successfully, the traveling man says that it is "on rollers." That is the case with the Rowell "water wagon" and furthermore it is carrying such a weight of public opinion that the bar will be rolled as flat as a pancake on June 29.

WISE AS WELL AS WITTY.

[Vancouver Province.]

It was Mark Twain that once said: "I tell you, boys, that every proposition that sounds good is not a good sound proposition." The advice is still sound.

THE HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1914.

Astrologers interpret the signs for today as doubtful. While Mercury and the sun are favorably aspected, Neptune exercises a sinister influence.

It is a fortunate day for dealing with persons who are in positions of command. Employers and men of distinction are likely to be inclined to listen with kindly intent to requests for promotion or increase of salary, also in new enterprises or assistance in obtaining favors.

There is an omen read as indicating the great necessity for harmony and peace, making it imperative that public sentiment should be crystallized concerning economic conditions that are causing strikes and labor troubles. Writers should be fortunate while Mercury is friendly. Poets are subject to conditions that promise recognition and prosperity.

This is a lucky day for persons engaged in educational activities, colleges or schools. Meetings or celebrations should be exceedingly successful. Extraordinary attendance at summer schools is foretold.

Newspapers and periodicals of all sorts should benefit today, but there is a threatening sign for magazines, especially those conducted especially for women.

Architects should find this a most auspicious time. Those who are engaged in planning small buildings will have many commissions.

owing to the beneficent aspect of the sun, speculation should be attended with gain today. Persons born between July 23 and August 23 should be particularly fortunate.

Under this sign promoters always enjoy success for it encourages optimistic persons to present their views convincingly.

Political surprises are foretold. The Democrats are to meet new combinations of foes, the seers announce, and untold leaders will gain power.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a good omen for the year. Their affairs should be in a prosperous condition. Ten will have a busy period that will be profitable.

Children born on this day are likely to be exceedingly clever, but given to dream and interested in psychic phenomena. Girls will be exceedingly popular.

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Neckwear decidedly having its day this season, towns, suits and blouses all have taken unto themselves crisp little white collars which add to their charm and becomingness. Organdie is the most popular material for these collars.

Nature dominates the mid-season styles; and grey in all its shadings, but especially the yellow-greens of young willow leaves, pale lettuce, and the wing-like pale blooms, will be much in the public eye. In costume accessories as well in the gowns themselves.

GOWNS OF GRANDMOT HER'S DAY REAPPEAR IN MODISH GUI SE FOR MODERN GIRLS.

By Maybelle Mortimer.

If your grandmother is alive, she probably will tell you that your new costume which you conclude is the last thing in up-to-date fashion, is very much like one her mother wore in 1830. You will find the truth of this by comparing the pictured designs which were sent out from the Paris house of Peremet the other day.

The black taffeta has ruffles, faced with white, clear up to the waist, and the jacket, with its darts, which make it set into the figure, has the "old-timey" appearance one sees in English prints of ladies in the early part of the regime of Good Queen Victoria. Even the sleeves are the large, flowing ones, and the real lace collar is of the size "hark-back" to the days of long ago.

The white taffeta gown, with its shirred "bosque," scalloped ruffles, and lace-trimmed pantalettes, is also a "hark-back" to the days of long ago. These two gowns are the extreme of the mode just now, but it is certain that the fall fashions will show many of the ideas shown by these designs.

Songs We Used to Whistle and Sing

THE HARPER.

On the green banks of Shannon, when Sheelah was high,
No blithe Irish lad was so happy as I;
No harp like my own could so cheerily play,
And wherever I went was my poor dog, Tray.

When at last I was forced from my Sheelah to part,
She said (while the sorrow was big at her heart),
Oh, remember your Sheelah when far, far away,
And be kind, my dear Pat, to your poor dog, Tray.

Poor dog! he was faithful and kind, to be sure;
He constantly loved me, although I was poor;
When the sour-looking folks turned me heartless away,
I had always a friend in my poor dog, Tray.

When the road was so dark, and the night was so cold,
And Pat and his dog were grown weary and old,
How snugly we slept in my old coat of gray!
And he licked me for kindness—my poor dog, Tray.

Though my wallet was scant, I remembered his case,
Nor refused my last crust to his pitiful face;
But he died at my feet on a cold winter day,
And I played a lament for my poor dog, Tray.

Where now shall I go, poor, forsaken and blind?
Can I find one to guide me, so faithful and kind?
To my sweet native village, so far, far away,
I can never return with my poor dog, Tray.

DIARY OF AN ANTI-SUFFRAGIST

"Woman's Place Is Home."

April 6—Went calling with Mrs. Colbeck-Stoppit yesterday afternoon and this afternoon. Gained three new members for the Society for the Suppression of Votes for Women. Felt quite grand riding around in her car. Can't write any more now, as John's socks need darning.

April 9—Attended an executive meeting of the S. S. V. W. this morning. It lasted quite late, and the women all lunched downtown. John had to get his own dinner, as he seemed rather cross about it, although I had plenty of cold meat and salad. At the executive we planned to have a big public meeting and an "anti" speaker.

April 11—Felt quite happy tonight, as I have fully convinced Mrs. Archie Gadsby, from next door, that she should stop at home, and look after the women's part of things, instead of gallivanting about trying to upset the country by wanting a vote. To win her over, though, I had to treat her to the mat, and an ice-cream sundae, but feel that it was an afternoon well spent.

April 13—Am rather surprised to find so many duties attached to the office of secretary. Mrs. Colbeck-Stoppit asked me if I wouldn't distribute some anti-suffrage literature at the market this morning. Had been planning to sweep the house, but left it till tomorrow. Will have to get up earlier I guess.

April 15—So tired, after standing and handing out pamphlets that I have just laid around all day. They were such pretty pamphlets, too, all in pink with pale green lettering. "Women—Don't Neglect Your Home." Have tried to mend up some of John's things today. He looks rather neglected somehow. Will have to sweep tomorrow morning, early, as the executive committee meets at my house in the afternoon.

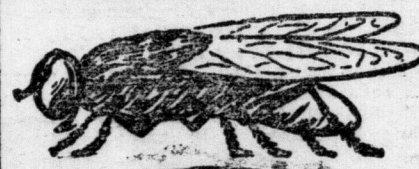

April 15—The committee held quite a confab this afternoon; I have to look after all the printing for the public meeting. Served tea to the ladies; feel awful tired, somehow.

(To Be Resumed Tomorrow.)

One of the most striking characteristics of the Paris "opening" this year is the youthfulness inherent in every line of the models displayed. Search as one will, there seems to be nothing in the way of clothes that is really designed for the woman of mature years.

Exceptionally pretty summer materials are now to be had at really nominal cost. Of these cotton crepe, cotton voile, chambray, gingham, in plain, striped and plaid, and cotton ratine would be adapted for the development of a simple dress.

An attractive feature of the new waists is that the backs are as pretty as the fronts. All waists have the loose blouse effect and are fitted in very slightly under the arms. A fine quality of white French voile is the material usually used.

THE HIGHWAY COW

"Elsbeth Wilson" Laments Her Habit of Mutilating Lawn and Flower Beds.

Who that dwells in rural communities or small towns and has expended time and energy in beautifying surroundings has not at some period made the acquaintance of this most contemptible quadruped, the highway cow and her depredations?

We doubt if anything in life is more exasperating than this sly, yet innocent-looking, creature, and the owner, who carelessly allows her meanderings over the property of others.

Inconsiderate Neighbor.

During the wet spell of last year, while spending some time in a small village, we realized the need of patience in a superlative degree, as this locality was blessed (?) with a neighbor, indifferent seemingly to the feelings of others. A beautiful lawn and grounds surrounded this village lot. The municipality forbidding the running of cows at large, a fence across lots was dispensed with. Did the family attend church, cows were dotted over the lawn upon their return. Should they spend a day from home, returning by late train, a heart-sinking sight met their eyes, as cows wandered at will about the grounds made soft and spongy by frequent rains.

Poor Flowerbeds.

Times without number Collie "sco'd 'em" home, and not wishing to destroy friendly relations entirely—with people otherwise congenial, no legal steps were taken, although mighty wrath of the women-folk over mutilated grass and flowerbeds.

Suffering thus, these peace-lovers silently prayed some mid-way course might present itself, whereby the highway cow—that bane to beauty-lovers in rural spots—may be banished forever to her own pasture or stable. City dwellers, of course, know nothing of this annoyance, but to the inhabitant of small towns, a very real trial is presented.

WHITCRAFT'S DOUBLE IN TENTH GIVES LONDON WIN OVER HAMS

London Shortstop's Hitting Was Main Factor in Yesterday's Game—He Hit a Homer With One on the Third—Steiger Was Taken Out in the Seventh, and Hammond Finishes the Game.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
HAMILTON, Ont., June 23.—A rather weird exhibition of baseball this afternoon was won by London 8 to 5 in 10 innings. The league leaders seemed to have the game tied up in the first few sessions, but Steiger weakened and Hammond, who relieved him when the bases were filled, forced two runs, tying the score.

London Won in Tenth.
It took an extra inning to decide the conflict. London was strong in the pinch, driving three runners across the plate in the tenth. Twenty hits were registered, four of them by London. The locals had four errors while they made but six hits. A home run, three three baggers and a double by London, and a triple by the locals provided the sensation.

Whitcraft Gets a Home Run.
When the Athletics went to bat in the seventh the score was five to two, Whitcraft having registered his home run with one man on. The London manager was struck on the muscle and may be out of the game a few days. Lamy, who had a hit, as did Reidy, and Whitcraft registered a two sacker, scoring two runs. Snyder's single put Whitcraft on third, and Mullin's single scored him.

Bierbauer had a three bagger, which he tried to stretch into a homer, but was caught at the plate.

CINCINNATI'S LEADER, BUCK HERZOG, SENSATION OF BASEBALL, IS THE COMING KING OF MANAGERS

By Hugh S. Fullerton.

LOOK WHO'S HERE TOMORROW! RUBE DENEAU AND HIS BRANTS

First Visit of Former London Manager to This City This Season—London Club Will Likely Return Home on Top of League After Long Trip.

[BY BERT PERRY.]
G. ("Rube") Deneau, with a lot of guests known as the Brantford Ball Club, will make their first visit to London tomorrow and spend the afternoon at Tecumseh Park, where Doc Reisling and his league leaders will be on hand to receive them. It is a long time since G. Deneau sojourned at our park, last Labor Day, to be exact, and he should be a welcome visitor. Coming now as one of the enemy, his stay among us will likely be made as interesting as possible, and we trust that he will be grateful enough to drop all three games to the Reisling aggregation in order that we may stay up at the top of the league and kick our heels in the face of Mr. Shaughnessy and his hired help, who are following close in the rear.

Brants Pretty Strong at Present.
The Brantford Club has been considerably strengthened of late, and should provide three tough arguments in the coming series. All three games should draw big crowds. Deneau has a number of friends here still, and he has always been a welcome visitor. In fact, London fans are pulling for him to finish up near the top.

The London Club gives every promise of returning home at the top of the league. All that is necessary is to win from Hamilton again today, and make sure of it. The team is just completing one of the hardest road trips it will have to make all season. So far it has had an even break while away, but a win today will give it a one-game margin for the trip.

ORIOLES WON EXHIBITION
BALTIMORE, Md., June 23.—After shutting out Toronto 2 to 1 in a championship game, the Baltimore International League club today defeated the Cincinnati Nationals 5 to 1. Manager Herzog, of Cincinnati, whose personal life here, was given an ovation by a big crowd when he appeared on the field. Baltimore (IL) 0 2 0 1 2 0 0 0 5 1 Cincinnati (NL) 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 1 1 Russell, Shore and McAvoy; Lear, Rowan and Gonzales.

lies in finding men who will play ball directed. He sought intelligent men.

Then Herzog assumed charge. He was met at once by the active or passive opposition of the old guard and the usual "knocking" within the official family. When I saw the team, at Alexandria, Herzog was in the saddle. He was riding the loafers at top speed. He knew just who were dangerous men, just which players would make trouble, and which ones merely had fallen into careless habits. He was determined to tame the trouble-makers and to inspire the real players to work. But he was depending more upon the boys he had found than upon the others to make the spirit of the team.

Herzog is square, is brainy, is a hustler and a fighter. There were things about McGraw's management in which he did not believe. McGraw wants to do all the thinking for his team, and Herzog wanted to think for himself. It was bad. No one can blame McGraw for getting rid of him.

But Herzog's ideas were the right ones, even if they conflicted with those of McGraw. His efforts to work them out on the ball field this year offer the most interesting study of the season. Off to a bad start, he rallied his men. He has kept them working and kept them thinking. It is not a strong team, either in pitching or in attack, but it is hustling, working, and thinking all the time. I watched it beat Pittsburgh two games, when the triumph was due entirely to outthinking the Pirates.

He has developed Von Kolnitz, Rawlins, and Niehoff into very effective men. He has taught his pitcher or lot. One of them, a veteran of many years, told me that he had learned more about pitching under Herzog than he ever did in his career. Herzog has a team that ranks fifth or sixth on strength, and it is playing the best ball in the league. If he is permitted to work out his problem, it will continue to play good ball.

Herzog has made a place for himself among the coming great managers—and he is very young.

BRANTS' NEW PITCHER WAS SOFT FOR PETES

Curly Blount's Men Easily Beat Deneau's Club.

SCHETTLER WAS A PUZZLE
Petes Landed on Nickell for Fourteen Hits, Including Three Doubles and Triple.

PETERBORO, June 23.—Nickell, the latest addition to Rube Deneau's pitching staff, was a soft proposition for the Petes today, and the homesters made it two straight from the Brants, winning easily by 8 to 3. The Petes found Nickell for fourteen hits, including three doubles and a triple. The bases were getting five steals. Outside of the sixth and ninth innings, Schettler was a puzzle to the Brants.

LEE'S OVER-EAGERNESS COST TORONTO A GAME

Sent Trout in on Hit That Was Barely a Triple.

GAME WON IN THE SECOND
All the Runs Were Made in First Two Innings—Kane Only Lasted One Inning.

[Special to the Advertiser.]
TORONTO, June 23.—Over-eagerness on the part of Manager Lee cost the Beavers their chance to the Ottawa in the ninth inning of today's game at the island stadium. At that time the score stood 3 to 2, with Ottawa possessing the odd run. Killilea, with three and two on him, offered at a wide ball and struck out. Trout then lined a hit over third base, which Wagner allowed to get away from him after the ball had caromed off the left field bleachers. If handled right it would have been a two-base hit. Trout, however, never stopped, and went to third. Manager Lee saw a chance to the game and sent Trout home. A quick relay from Wagner to Smykal to Lage nipped Trout at the plate. The next man up, Isaacs, singled over third with the hit that would have brought Trout in from third if he had been held there.

The scoring was done in the first two innings. Both notched two runs in the opening session, but the visitors were aged to squeeze in the winning run in the second on two hits and a pitched ball. Kane lasted but one inning. He was removed in the second session after passing Shultz, the first man up. Peterson replaced him and was never in trouble. Kirley was on the mound for the locals, but was removed in the eighth to allow Mosley to bat for him. The latter, who on Monday made good as a pinch-hitter, managed to get free passage, but was stranded. The score:

A Chicago boy went after a fly ball, and a dog bit him. Problem—if that happens in a league game would a miff be an error?

A WONDERFUL CURE OF AN ABSOES BY Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mr. A. W. Dryden, mherst, N.S., writes:—I am going to tell you what Burdock Blood Bitters is done for us. My son "Vance," when only nine months old, got an abscess on his cheek bone. I took him to a doctor, St. John, N.B., and he lanced it, and told me it would get well in a few days and before many days it would be all right. It did not seem to get any better, and my wife took him to the doctor, and he lanced it again. It would gather and re-accumulate, and it went on that way until he was over four years old. "He lost four pieces of bone out of where it was lanced, and two pieces came from his mouth. He lost all of his cheek bone, and his eye was drawn down. I took him to doctors in St. John, Moncton, and Amherst and all wanted me to let him go under operation. He was going so small I told him that if he was going to die he might as well die at once. He declined to have the operation done. I told him I was going to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I had heard my mother talk so much about it. I got a bottle, and when it was about half gone I noticed it was doing good, and before many days the eye stopped running, and he began to get well. This happened nearly six years ago so you can see I have great faith in Burdock Blood Bitters, and I can say with all my heart that it is the best blood medicine in the world."

CANADIAN LEAGUE NOTES

The Saints have lost three games in a row. Better start and buy those hats now, Clarence.

It would be just like St. Thomas to drop all three to Erie, go to Peterboro and lose three more, and come home Monday and win the whole series with the London Club.

The London Club is making more hits per diem than any other team in the league. Fifteen off No-Hit Donohue yesterday is the most recent performance.

In the meantime the Petes are going along, proving our prediction, that Curly Blount has one of the best clubs in the league.

One of the Brantford papers devotes a half column to calling the Petes rough-nacks for recent exhibitions on the diamond. Of course, the Petes have just won two straight from the Brants.

Knotty Lee's name is not among those in the Ottawa lineup, but just the same he helped the Senators win from Toronto yesterday. He sent Trout in from third on a hit that some of the Toronto papers say was ordinarily good for two bases. The "Flet" was easily put out at the plate and Toronto's chance to tie the score was gone. The scorer should have given Lee an assist for the put out.

SAINTS SLUMPING AT BAT

Howick Pitched Good Ball But Was Hit Opportunely—Kelly Harris Stars.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
ST. THOMAS, June 23.—Inability to hit with men on bases, was the chief cause of the Saints losing today's game, the second straight, to Erie, by the score of 3 to 1. Midge Craven's club is suffering a batting slump at present, and in the last three games has only made six hits. Morse, the Erie youngster, held them to two blows today, both hits coming in the third inning and resulting in the only run the home team scored.

Howick pitched a good game for the locals, but he had a couple of bad innings. Hadley's error was costly one, as it let in two runs. Had this not occurred, the teams might have been playing yet. Morse was in grand form, on the other hand, and he was a complete puzzle to the locals. After the third inning only one St. Thomas man reached second base.

Erie scored its first run in the first inning when Scott and Colligan singled and Gygil doubled to left. In the sixth they added the other two when Colligan's single, Gygil's walk and Harris' single filled the bases with none out. Howick

CONSERVATIVE WILL SUPPORT ROWELL'S POLICY OF REFORM

Allis-Chalmers Manager at Stratford Publicly Announces His Intention.

A REMARKABLE MEETING Liberal Leader Greeted by Ovation Which Lasts for Five Minutes.

[By Staff Reporter.]

Stratford, June 25.—Stratford figuratively opened its arms to N. W. Rowell, the Liberal leader, when he came here tonight to speak in the interests of D. K. Erb and R. S. Robertson, the Liberal candidates in South and North Perth, respectively.

The meeting was held in the Grand Opera House, and every seat in the large building was occupied, while an overflow crowd jammed the doorways and every available vantage point from which the speakers could be heard.

Mr. Rowell, introduced by E. J. Smith, president of the local Liberal Association, as "One of the greatest of all Canadians," was accorded a most enthusiastic reception, the applause continuing for almost five minutes.

Support of Conservatives.

The feature of the meeting was the declaration made from the platform by William Preston, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Allis-Chalmers Company, that, though he had voted Conservative in the Dominion elections of 1911, and intended to vote the same way in the next Dominion election if conditions did not change, he had made up his mind that he would give his vote and support to the Liberal party in the present provincial campaign.

Mr. Rowell, in appealing to the electors of South Perth to support D. K. Erb, the Liberal candidate, declared that he had not very much opportunity to judge of the character of the present Conservative representative of the riding, since that gentleman's voice was never heard in the Legislature.

"His Voice Will Be Heard."

"He may be a perfectly good legislator," he said, "but I fancy you would like your representative to have something to say, occasionally, on behalf of his constituents. If you wish your voice to be heard in the Legislature, you cannot do better than elect Mr. Erb. If you do that, your voice not only will be heard, but it will be heard to good effect."

"For my sake, also," continued Mr. Rowell, "I ask you to return Mr. Erb. I need him with me in the Legislature. You made a mistake last time, but this time, I think, you will rectify that by returning Mr. Erb as your representative."

Will Send Him.

"We will," came from all parts of the hall.

"I am sure you will," said Mr. Rowell, smiling. "I cannot imagine an intelligent company like this doing anything else."

The speaker declared that no provincial election had ever created such widespread interest as the present one. Never had the Liberal party commanded such a fine body of candidates from one end of the province to the other.

"When our friends, the Government, decide to go to the country after hesitating for a long time about taking the plunge, he continued, 'they thought they would catch us napping. I am satisfied that no body of men is so sorry for that decision as the Conservative party itself, unless it be the liquor interests.'

"The Government thought to take us by surprise, that they would have a great many acclamations, sweep the country, and that the liquor interests would triumph. We have done what never has been done before. In less than four weeks we have put Liberal candidates of a splendid calibre in the field in every constituency, except three and in one of these three cases, where the nomination went by default, an appeal is being made to the courts. Such a thing would not have been possible, but for the fact, that the temperance question is one which arouses the interest of the Liberals and Conservatives alike."

The Government, which a short time ago said that Rowell would not come back with ten followers, now concedes that he may have forty or fifty. When the enemy concedes that much, it is a bright, hopeful sign."

Meaning of Snap Election.

They thought that by bringing on an election at short notices they could trifle with the beliefs of temperance Conservatives, secure the support of the liquor interests, and depend on every Conservative in the province standing by them.

"All honor to the thousands of Conservatives who refused to be a party to that alliance, and who preferred patriotism to party."

Mr. Rowell arraigned the Whitney Administration for its extravagance, and declared emphatically that the only alternative to retrenchment was direct taxation.

"The Government has done some good things," he said, "but we must give them credit for the good things they have done, even under compulsion."

People Closed the Bars.

As to the Government's claim that it had abolished hundreds of bars, Mr. Rowell pointed out that in most cases the closing of bars was a result, not of the Government's action, but by a vote of the people. As a matter of fact, he said, only slightly more than 100 bars had been closed by direct Government action, and, moreover, the Government had been responsible for keeping three bars in existence for every one it had closed.

"If you would believe that the bars are a harmful influence," he continued, "and not take this opportunity to abolish every bar in the province, on your conscience, as long as you live, will rest the responsibility for every home blasted, every life blighted, and every child's life ruined by this terrible curse."

Mr. Erb spoke.

Mr. Erb, who opened the meeting, took as his text, an article which appears in a Conservative morning paper under the heading "Sir James Whitney, the servant of the people," one sentence of which was "What is the chief fault which Sir James Whitney's opponents find with him? Is it that he trusts the people?"

Mr. Erb pointed out that, in spite of the fact that hundreds of municipalities have petitioned for tax reform, Sir James Whitney had absolutely ignored their demands.

Lost His Chance.

Sir James also, the speaker continued, although he had admitted that legislation to abolish treating would find favor in the eyes of the people, had not put such legislation into force. He had not trusted the people and, as a result, had lost his chance.

"He had not had the courage of his convictions."

The one great issue in the present campaign, Mr. Erb said, was the temperance question. It was a matter which was occupying the attention of Liberals and Conservatives alike, because it was one which affected the welfare of every one in the province.

Great sums of money, he said, were being spent on criminal courts, jails, and prisons, while the bar, which more than any other one thing, made these institutions necessary, was allowed to flourish unchecked.

Dodging the Issue.

R. S. Robertson, the Liberal candidate in North Perth, declared that the Government had attempted to evade the real issue of the campaign by referring to the bilingual school question.

"There is no bilingual school question as far as this campaign is concerned," declared Mr. Robertson. In fact, nothing was heard of it, until the last few days when the Government, afraid of the real issue, which was abolition of the bar, had attempted to drag it up in order to divert attention from the real and only question of the hour.

Believe in It.

The Liberal party, Mr. Robertson continued, was standing on the temperance platform, not because they believed it was a platform on which they could win, but because they believed in it.

He ridiculed the argument, raised by the other side that moral issues should be kept out of politics. Good government, he maintained, absolutely depended on morality, and the man who said that moral questions should not be brought into politics was not fit to take a hand in the government of his fellow men.

Montreal, June 24.—A Paris cable says: The following order to his regiment has been posted by a colonel of chasseurs on the eastern frontier.

"The colonel caught sight this morning of Trooper X—, of the third squadron, who had shaved off his moustache. This is unworthy of a chasseur. One cannot have too much hair on one's face in cavalry. All leave will be refused to Trooper X— until his moustache has grown again."

The colonel requests his captains to take severe measures against the effeminate fashion, which is utterly out of place in the army."

TWO WIVES LEAVE HOME TAKING THEIR BABIES

Desert Husbands, Who Appeal to Inspector Sanders for Aid.

There are two husbands in London who have been deserted by their wives and in each instance the women have left home taking the children with them. One family had two children, the other one. Both husbands complained to Inspector Joseph Sanders of the Children's Aid Society, and asked for help to get their children back. After Inspector Sanders heard the story he advised them to go and get their children, believing the wives were at fault, and not entitled to their custody.

The father of the two children was successful in recovering his, but the other man, after taking the child from his wife, took her to his home, where she was stolen away from him again.

lay was interfering with his client's campaign. The magistrate was sympathetic to this view, and, to comply with the statutes, granted the adjournment till June 30, the day after the election. On that day the case will not go on, but will be further adjourned to suit the convenience of all parties. The act requires that adjournments shall not be made for longer than a week. The courtroom was crowded when the case was called. Mr. Macklin at first urged that his worship had no jurisdiction to try the new charge of conspiracy, but that it should be tried by an election court.

Old Issue Embodied. Mr. Cameron said it was unfair to proceed with the conspiracy charge till the bribery charges were disposed of. Counsel for Attorney Seager said he was now proceeding under new charges, which embodied the bribery issue. The magistrate said that as the previous adjournment was made at the request of the crown on the bribery charges, and as the crown was now disposed to proceed with these charges, but had preferred new ones, the first charges would be dismissed.

Crown Urges Speed. The crown then urged that the conspiracy cases be proceeded with, they were more comprehensive than the original charges. The new charge had been before the defendants for some days past, and he did not see any real reason why the defendant, Macklin, should oppose an immediate trial, still, if it was impossible for the defendant to remain, he would not seriously oppose an adjournment.

Mr. Seager took occasion to correct an impression that had been abroad, that Mr. Hunter, one of the complainants had "skipped out." Mr. Hunter was present in the court, he said, and prepared to substantiate his allegations.

PARK HAS TO PAY

Victoria Park has been assessed for garbage collection. It was not generally supposed that parks would have to pay anything for the collection of garbage, but an appeal by the Public Utilities Commission has disclosed that Victoria Park added to the Horton street plant makes a value of $251,000. On this figure the Horton street plant has been assessed for a tax of $370.

The court of revision meeting tonight will hear this appeal together with protests from many people against the garbage tax put on their property.

WINNIPEG TORIERS NOMINATE LIBERAL

F. J. McArthur, a Native of Middlesex, Was Liberal Association President.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
Winnipeg, Man., June 24.—The surprise of the Winnipeg campaign in connection with the Manitoba elections was the nomination by Centre Winnipeg Conservatives last night of F. J. McArthur, one of the city controllers. McArthur, a former president of the Liberal Association, and a native of Middlesex County, Ontario, where his father, a former city controller, who died last year, was well known. McArthur is well liked, but whether he can win is a question.

WALT MASON

penitence for the man guilty of it. He was cheated across country with a tallyho and a hoopla. The first offence meant a county jail sentence and a big fine. The second meant a term in the penitentiary. The saloon doors were closed with such a slam that the hinges broke, and the jointists consulted their family physicians and found that a change of air was necessary to their health. County attorneys and other officials who were inclined to be negligent in the pursuit of booze sellers were summoned to Topeka, and when they returned to their offices they were covered with a cold sweat, and assured that he is a politician. That annual volume no longer sparkles with jests concerning prohibition in Kansas. The work appears to have lost the spirit of optimism that once made it a favorite fireside companion.

There is no place in Kansas where liquor is openly sold; and if there is an occasional secret joint, the owner is doing business in fear and trembling, and he will go to the penitentiary sooner or later. The laws governing drug stores are as drastic as they could be made, and the learned pharmacist has the fear of God in his heart. He no longer sells Peruna or Hostetter's Bitters as a beverage, and he has no tonic of his own compounding that causes the consumer to go forth and try to whip a policeman.

Too Hard To Get. Now and then a bootlegger embarks in business in a sequestered alley, but before he has succeeded in building up a family trade the officers get him. It takes so much time and trouble to get a spirituous drink in Kansas that even the most enthusiastic booze fan will drink from a garden hose rather than the water of the effort.

Emporia is a town of 10,000 people, including William Allen White. There hasn't been an open saloon in the place in more than a half century. It is a town of schools and churches, and the sentiment against Barleycorn always has been so strong that even in the free-and-easy days before the advent of Stubbins it never occurred to anyone to open a saloon. No booze is sold in Emporia, and even the corkscrew has become obsolete. If a man appears on the main street with a bad breath it is safe to assume that he is a stranger and that he will be run in before he is an hour older. Bootleggers now and then attempt to establish an infant industry, but they are always rounded up before they have sold enough to pay the freight on their shipment from Kansas City. No town in the world wears a tighter lid than Emporia. And Emporia should be a bankers' community if there were truth in the old argument that saloons are necessary to business. It is a favorite claim of the saloon men that they support the schools, their libraries, their music usually going to the school fund.

A $135,000 School. The answer to this is that Emporia has just built a high school costing $135,000—which is going some for a town of 10,000 people, including Old Bill White. And all the grade schools are housed in handsome buildings, and the best teachers obtainable are hired, and they are paid as well as their wages.

Diagnosing The Bugaboo. Old John Barleycorn says that taxes would be increased immensely if the saloons were abolished, but the taxes in Emporia are not so high as, for example, in some Nebraska towns of equal size which are blessed with saloons. Emporia has more than twenty miles of beautifully paved streets, and every year some Nebraska towns could be named which have paved roads for sale they are snapped up by home citizens.

Several have paving bonds for sale they are snapped up by home citizens. There are no abjectly poor people in Emporia, because none of the money of wage-earners goes for booze. The savings banks and the building and loan associations do a big business for the same reason.

Comfortable homes are being built all the year round by men who work for small wages. Their money goes for lumber and furniture instead of long, cold bottles. The churches are Sunday morning without the idea of devotionally abhorrent.

Emporia celebrates the Fourth of July and Groundhog Day and other national holidays, and the police have nothing to do. There is no drunkenness, because there is nothing to drink stiffer than pink lemonade.

You will see a unicorn as soon as you will see a drunken man in the streets of the town.

A Clean Young Generation.

And Emporia has reared a generation of young men who don't know what alcohol tastes like, who have never seen the inside of a saloon. Many of them never saw the outside of one. They are the town's best advertisement. They go forth into the world to seek their fortunes without the handicap of an acquired thirst, and nearly always distinguish themselves.

All her future generations of young men will be similarly clean, for the town knows that a tight lid is the greatest possible blessing and nobody will ever dare attempt to pry it loose.

NOT ONE DROP.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Would you please tell me through your paper if by doing away with the bar Mr. Rowell means to do away with liquor being sold in the hotels?

A READER OF THE ADVERTISER

BROCKVILLE CONSTABLE RESCUES SMALL CHILD FROM A BURNING HOUSE

Occupants to Escape, When Dwelling Caught Fire.

[Canadian Press.]

Brockville, Ont., June 24.—Fire, which started in the dry kiln after midnight, destroyed the woodworking department of the James Smart Company. The blaze gained speed before the firemen arrived that it was impossible to stay the progress of the flames. Besides the factory, a double dwelling was consumed with its contents.

The occupants of one apartment beat a hasty retreat. A small child asleep in a bedroom was forgotten in the rush. At the risk of his life, Constable Gaster effected a gallant rescue of the child. The loss is $20,000; about half covered by insurance.

EMPRESS INQUIRY

who died from injuries received while walking on the roof of the Empress, of Ireland, after being brought to the top by the gunner, was paid by George Washington Weatherpoon, the salaried expert when recalled to the stand at the opening of the Dominion inquiry this morning. Mr. Weatherpoon was describing the skill of the divers engaged in the work of attempting to get the boiler out of the Empress and up-to-date nature of the apparatus they were working with. He said that everything had been done to get the bodies and that his instructions were that this work should be a first charge on his men in any other operations conducted at the wreck. After this they were to attempt to get the mails and then the boiler.

Mr. Weatherpoon said that Mr. Whitehead's skill and courage were quite worthy of their splendid traditions of the British admiralty service, to which he belonged. Lord Mersey informed Edmund L. Newcombe, K.C., acting for the Dominion Government, that the divers from the Essex who had been down to the wreck were at the disposal of the court.

Independent Evidence. Chief Justice McLeod asked whether independent evidence would be taken. The Empress took after leaving Father Point was not available and Mr. Newcombe promises to attempt to secure it.

George Morrison, a steward, testified to attempting to close a sliding watertight door on the Empress deck but being unable to do so, owing to the water in the passageway. Cross-examined, Morrison said that he attempted to close the water-tight door when he heard the Empress stricken. The portholes were always closed at night.

Leonard Powell, an assistant steward, said that he aroused the passengers after the crash, and told them to put on their lifebelts and come up on deck. He was on duty on the upper and lower promenade decks.

Certified copies of the ship's papers, her passenger and accommodation papers, and the regulations governing lifebelts and boats and rafts were then filed. Alex. Radley, the boatswain's mate of the Empress, was called. He said that he heard the Empress blow some fog signal before she reached Father Point.

"Did you hear her blow any after leaving Father Point?"
"Yes."
"What was the first one you heard?"
"Three short blasts."

"Do you remember you did hear some signal blown by the Empress before you heard the three short blasts?"
"Yes."

Mr. Haight asked him if it was not true that in a statement signed shortly after the accident, he had said that he had heard the Empress blow one long blast. Witness said that he had said so, the one long blast meaning that the ship was under way.

He saw the Stordard before the accident. Both her masthead lights and the side lights. The red was on the starboard, he thought. He recalled hearing the two long blasts from the Empress, indicating that she was stopped.

CALL OUT 38 CARPENTERS

Union Men Allowed To Go Back To Work Again Taken From Jobs.

Carpenters took another step in their fight, yesterday, when they called what thirty-eight union men whom they had allowed to go back to work under the forty cent wage.

The move followed the refusal of the contractors to meet the demands for the increase. It is said that more will be called out unless there is an agreement reached soon. Shortly after the strike was called several contractors, it is said, agreed to pay the forty cent minimum wage. After a discussion the executive in charge of the strike decided that carpenters could return to work under that condition.

COUNSEL CLASH IN THE DUGAL INQUIRY

Carvel, Accused of Blowing His Own Horn, Replies It Is Making Some Noise—Evidence Taken.

[Canadian Press.]

St. John, N.B., June 24.—Burton M. Hill, divisional engineer, continued his evidence at the Dugal inquiry this morning. He said his estimate of $10,000 as the amount required to finish the work would be within fifty or twenty per cent of the actual amount.

Mr. Teed objected to Mr. Carvell's line of examination. Mr. Carvell—"Is this objection the result of last night's conference?"

Mr. Teed—"That is none of your business. It was not mentioned at our conference."

Mr. Carvell—"We are entitled to find if other people's money was squandered, and I intend to do so."

Mr. Teed—"You seem to be chiefly concerned in blowing a horn labelled F. B. Carvell."

Mr. Carvell—"That horn seems to be making quite a noise throughout New Brunswick just at present."

Under cross-examination by Mr. Teed, Mr. Hill said the road was built according to specifications and the inspecting engineers inspected the work.

On re-examination by Mr. Carvell, witness was asked what would be the relative hauling capacity of a locomotive over the N. T. R. and over the witness's division on the road.

"The N.T.R. has the greatest hauling capacity probably of any line in America," Mr. Carvell—You have not answered me. You have praised the Transcontinental, but you have not damned the Valley Railway."

Mr. Teed—"Is that what you want me to do?"
"Mr. Carvell—I want the truth; that will be damning enough."

Witness—"A locomotive would haul about three times as much on the N. T. R. as on the Valley Railway. The Valley Railway could have been built along the St. John River on a one per cent grade on a locomotive of improved type to four-tenths grade. On the present location this would be impossible without a wide diversion."

David A. Brown, divisional engineer on the Valley Railway, testified from his quarters in Fredericton, was then called.

INCINERATOR EMPLOYEE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Percy Aldridge Rendered Unconscious by Shock—
Temporarily Blinded.

When lightning entered the incinerator building this morning during the electrical storm Percy Aldridge, Chelsea Green, an employee at the plant, was struck by a bolt. He was taken to Victoria Hospital. It is thought that the blindness will only be temporary. There are no serious burns on his body.

Aldridge, who is a "feeder," was working on the feeding floor near a south window in company with two other employees, James Smythe and William Gray, feeding rubbish to the chute that carries it into the furnace.

Suddenly there was a dash, followed by a sharp crack of thunder. Smythe and Gray, who were stunned by the force of the clap, turned to see Aldridge clap his hands over his eyes and sink to the floor by the bolt.

They rushed to his assistance. He was picked up unconscious, but was soon restored. When he regained his senses he was seen to be groping about. It was then noticed that he had been struck by the bolt.

As quickly as possible he was carried to Victoria Hospital, a short distance away. It was thought at first that he would not regain his sight. Later of officials stated that he had been only temporarily blinded.

CARGO OF HINDUS WILL PROBABLY BE ALLOWED TO LAND

British Government Has Put Pressure on Borden Administration, in View of Situation in India.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., June 24.—It is understood that the shipload of Hindus anchored in Vancouver harbor will be allowed to enter Canada, and that the proceedings recently allowed to be taken in the courts of British Columbia had the tacit sanction of the Government.

The Imperial Government is known to have been putting pressure upon the Borden administration. The situation in India is not all the British Government desires. It is feared that should this shipload of Hindus return to India, there would be violent demonstrations against British rule there, and the consequence would be that the authorities believe that if there must be race riots, it would be safer to have them in Canada than in India.

Though the Japanese cruisers have reached Vancouver, they have as yet shown no inclination to take a hand in the matter. It is understood that the Japanese authorities have accepted the assurance of the British Government that a satisfactory settlement of the trouble will be reached within a few days, and the Japanese vessel which has been acting as a detention ship for some weeks will be released with demurrage charges paid.

It has been decided here that if the courts give any possible excuse in the proceedings now pending, the Hindus will at once be allowed to land and go where they please in Canada. The Government is only too anxious to get them on dry land, but desires to preserve some dignity in doing so.

Should another consignment arrive the Government will not deal with them in the same dilatory fashion which has led to the present trouble.

Will Meet Sister.—E. V. Buchanan, electrical engineer with the public utilities commission, leaves at the end of the month for his holidays. He has planned a trip to Montreal, where he will meet a sister who is coming over from Scotland. Together they will visit the Thousand Islands and see the points of interest in Eastern Canada. She will return to Scotland in the fall.

Last Summer Meeting.—The Children's Aid Society held its last meeting for the summer in the office of the charities organization in the city hall yesterday afternoon. The next meeting will be held in the fall. As much business as possible was transacted yesterday and the affairs of the society during the months of July and August were left in the hands of Sheriff D. M. Cameron and Inspector Joseph Sanders of the executive committee.

Off to Central.—When the 6:55 G.T.R. train pulled out for Toronto last night, Bailiff Ryerson of Toronto, added two of Governor Carter's guests to his string of four garnered in at Sarnia.

The gentry who accompanied this balliff from London were Gordon Fauson, who was sentenced on the 12th of June by the Magistrate Judd to six months in the Central Reformatory, now known as the Ontario Reformatory, and Roy Strong, who was recently caught after escaping from the Guelph prison farm.

The sextette made a happy little family group as the train pulled out for their future abode for some time to come.

Closing Recital.—Piano pupils of Miss Jennie Steele, gave their closing recital for the year, at the Conservatory of Music last evening. The playing of the pupils, showing the result of the year's training, was highly gratifying. Those taking part were: Misses M. Parsons, Alberta Somerville, Jurnot, Dorothy Wickerson, Gertrude Sharpe, Audrey Webster, Rhos Harris, Jean Jarvis, Erna Harkness, Levis Gueat, Mary O'Donnell, Geraldine Glover, Mildred Granger, Margaret Coleman, Pauline Ward, Belle McMillan, Winifred Pearson, Vonda Worman and Geraldine Bindner. The following vocal pupils of Miss Belle Brown very ably assisted:—Misses Berna Sanders, Lena Shortt, Lily Boyd, Hazel Gibson and Mayne Patterson.

ENDORSES SAM. HUGHES
IN PETAWAWA INCIDENT
Middlesex W. C. T. U. Bans Cigarettes and Declares Against Militancy.

Resolutions deploring the increasing use of cigarettes; re-affirming the stand of the union in support of woman suffrage, believing that it would be an effective means of ridding the country of the liquor evil; and endorsing Hon. Samuel Hughes for what the resolution styled his "courageous action," in prohibiting the use of liquors at the Petawawa camp, were passed at the annual convention of the Middlesex W. C. T. U., which met yesterday in the Presbyterian Church at Glencoe.
The last resolution expressed the view that untold harm was caused by the use of liquors in camps, military training schools and similar institutions, many young men drinking it for the first time in these places.
The licensed liquor traffic was styled, "The home's avowed greatest enemy" in the suffrage resolution, which also contained a clause expressing the opinion that any "resort to violence or intimidation to win the desired end," would injure the cause of suffrage.

Voice of the People
A Statement From the South Oxford Prohibition President.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
In the Ingersoll Chronicle of June 18, there appeared a letter as written by a member of the executive committee of the South Oxford Prohibition Association to the two candidates, Col. T. R. Mayberry and V. A. Sinclair, B.A., followed by the replies received.
In reference to these replies, I wish to state that the answer received from Mr. Mayberry, though somewhat brief, is candid and frank, showing as it does that he stands as he always has stood, with us for the abolition of the liquor traffic.
The letter received from Mr. Sinclair was evasive and indefinite, and contains statements that are inaccurate and misleading, though they may not appear so to him, viewing them as he does from his own viewpoint. I have been a member of the executive of the Ontario Alliance for several years and in close touch with the leading temperance forces of the province, and know from my own personal experience that there has been no effort put forth by the temperance people or its leaders to drive their adherents to the support of the Reform party. The very fact that Mr. Sinclair makes such a statement indicates to me very clearly that he is not in harmony with the best progressive temperance sentiment of our province, and therefore not entitled to the support of temperance electors.
Thanking you for space in your valuable paper, I am, yours sincerely,
W. H. KIPP,
President of South Oxford Prohibition Association.

LEGAL QUERIES
A.B.C.—I bought a mare and colt for $235.00. The mare is worth about $200.00. The man I bought it from said there was nothing wrong with her, but the third time I drove her I saw she was lame, and she is getting worse. Can I send them back, and what can I claim for my trouble, feed and blacksmith bill?
Ans.—You can bring an action to recover damages for breach of warranty, if you can prove that the vendor warranted the soundness of the horse when it was sold, and it was afterwards found to be unsound.

WILL ASK CITY FOR MORE MONEY TO BUILD SCHOOL
Board of Education May Buy Macbeth Property on Princess Avenue for $30,000.

The Board of Education officially abandoned the plans for remodeling Princess Avenue School yesterday afternoon, when it adopted the report of committee No. 2, which recommended such action on the ground that the lowest tenders for the proposed improvements amounted to practically $40,000.
Chairman A. M. Hunt, L. H. Martyn and A. E. Silverwood were empowered to carry on further negotiations for a new school on Princess avenue, and it is believed that the Macbeth property will be purchased for $30,000 as the site. The committee will also carry on negotiations with the board of control for enough money to see the project through.
At a recent council meeting the Board of Education was granted $25,000 on a debenture issue for altering the Princess Avenue School. Permission will have to be obtained to divert this money to other uses.

Propose One-Story School.
Inspector C. B. Edwards showed the members of the plans of a one-story school, now in use in Rochester, and it is suggested that such a school will be built on Princess avenue. Some of the members are interested in the plans, and others are opposed to it. It is being planned to take some of the members to Rochester to show them the school as it really looks. There are many advantages in the one-story building. The question of using Alexandra school for industrial training will be brooked further before the board takes any action.

CITY CLERK IN RUNAWAY
Horse Bolts on Egerton Street, Throwing Him Out of Buggy.
City Clerk Samuel Baker was thrown from a buggy on Egerton street yesterday afternoon, when the city clerk fell out in the road. He was unhurt. The horse was caught on Queen's avenue.

DELMEGE IS REFUSED BAIL.
MONTREAL, June 23.—Vassil Delmege, the clerk of the Merchants' Bank, of this city, accused of stealing several thousand dollars from the bank, was refused bail by Judge Leet today. Peter Bercovitch, K. C., counsel for Delmege, offered $10,000 cash security from Delmege's mother, but the judge said it was better to leave the prisoner in jail until tomorrow, when he will appear for trial.

Mrs. Baker had been in the rig, but when the horse first showed signs of fright, Mr. Baker helped her out and then got back in the rig to drive past the machine. The horse bolted, and the city clerk fell out in the road. He was unhurt. The horse was caught on Queen's avenue.
