CLIFFORD

Mrs. Thomas, who has been housekeeper at Mr. Andrew McIntosh's for the past three years, left this week to live with her son, Mr. Ernie Thomas, at Niagara Falls.

While Mr. Wm. Woods of Iron Bridge, Algoma, was away burying his wife, who died of pneumonia, he returned to find his son, Sammy, had also died from the same disease. Mrs. Woods (nee Minnie Bayliss) was a sister of the late Isaac Bayliss of Howick, and the late Mrs. And. McIntosh, and of Mrs. R. J. Watson, of Guelph. She leaves her husband and three sons to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Langwisch, an aged and well known pioneer of this district, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Reipert, on Monday, 11th inst. The cause of death is attributed to old age, she being over 91 years. Her husband passed away about 14 years ago. Her son, Mr. Peter Langwisch, her daughter Mrs. Reipert, whose husband died a few weeks ago, and another widowed daughter also survive. The funeral is this afternoon to Normanby Lutheran Cemetery.

A number of emigrants from Germany have arrived here and at Mildmay the past few days. The distress in that war ridden country is said to be alarmingly prevalent, many of the poorer and middle class being unable to secure a bare living, so many are willing to come to this country on assisted passage to work on farms and elsewhere. The passage money is to be kept out of their wages. Among the number are some who have relatives here. A man and wife with child is at Mr. Jacob Schanz's, some relatives are at N. Eckel's, a young girl at C. V. Koehler's, a farm hand at Dan Werner's, and a relative at And. Rahn, Carriek.

READING

I'm glad I learned when I was young, to sit down and read, the lofty strains by poets sung, and tales like "Adam Bede." I'm glad that I acquired a thirst for lore of every sort; I searched for it, the best and worst, absorbed it by the quart. The reading habit stuck to me till I grew bent and grey, and now beneath the sunset tree I read old age away. I sit among my cauliflowers and read the hardy sublime; I have no bored or weary hours, I'm happy all the time. I see so many gray-beard wights who find old age a bore, their days are dreary and their nights make souls and systems sore. They are tired of pacing withered lawns of trips in noisy cars, they're tired of gloomings and of dawns, of watching suns and stars. And they might sit in comfy nooks and have the blameless time, if they'd acquired the love of books, of stately prose and rhyme. And some of them have stored doubloons, and gons as large as bears; they have their spinels and jargoons, zions and tourmalines. They have ten thousand books, I wot, where I have only one, but they can't sit with Walter Scott and have a raft of fun. They have fine cars and famous cocks and hats from every clime, but they can't sit among the books and have a bully time.

THE BEST IN THE WORLD

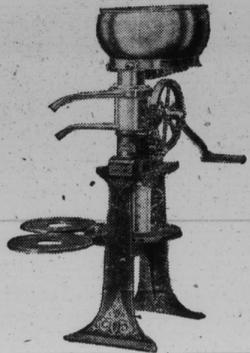

Canadian hockey players defeated the United States in the Olympic finals by a score of 6 to 1. The Canadians have made a great record in their games against Switzerland, Belgium, France, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Great Britain and United States. In all the games there have been only three goals scored against the team from this land, while they have piled up a record of 110 straight through shots. Hockey is peculiarly a Canadian game, and it would be a peculiar thing if, with our sheets of stately skaters and persistent practice, this country could not have the best hockey team in the world. And that is exactly what we have.

Why do the departmental stores spend thousands and thousands of dollars annually issuing and mailing their catalogues to the homes of the people and occupying columns in the daily press? Not for fun or because they are in a philanthropic mood but for the reason they want business.

For two hundred and fifty years, the Hudson Bay Company has semi-annually offered all the raw furs that it has gathered on the North American continent in London by public auction. For years there has been a demand that portion of the catch be offered in this country, but until this year, the company has never diverted from its historic policy when a distribution will be made in Montreal. Enough will be sold in London to maintain the standard established by Canadian furs. In former days the countries of Europe were the chief customers of the company's most expensive furs, but today America is the market for the expensive furs. The success of the sale will determine the attitude of the company toward future sales outside of London.

TOO MUCH WATER IN BUTTER

Mr. Wm. T. Norris, proprietor of the Kincardine Creamery, against whom a charge of manufacturing butter containing over 16 per cent. water was laid, and who was to appear before Magistrate McNab at Kincardine on Tuesday, pleaded guilty through his lawyer, Mr. Stewart, of Kincardine, on Monday and settled the case by paying $25.00 for the offence. About a year ago, Mr. Norris was fined on a similar charge.

GOT STALLED IN DRIFTS

That one don't need to go to the North Pole to get stalled in a snow-drift was evidenced here on Sunday when several of the religiously-inclined of the Otter Creek settlement got hung up in the banks of the beautiful white trying to break thru to Walkerton for Sabbath worship. So many cutters, in fact, were upset and horses down that it put the sanctity of some of the drivers to quite a severe test as Balaam when he immortalized himself swearing at his ass. As it became apparent that a horse would have about as much chance of overcoming those snowbanks as a mouse would have of cleaning up a cat show, the farmers turned themselves back, like Balaam on the day of battle, and went home. Some hours later one member of the agricultural society in person of Oscar McLean got through on foot, which shows that chank's mare has the horse beat when it comes to stellar pedal performance. If a man's religion is measured by the sacrifices he will make for it, we believe that Oscar's speciality on Sunday will stand comparison with anything pulled off this day for the good of the cause.—Herald & Times.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF YOUNG FARMER

Dr. Kyle, of Fergus, has ordered an inquest into the death of J. Tilley, a young West Garafraxa farmer, who died in the Alexandra Hospital, Fergus, on Thursday, as a result of receiving a blow on the head with a pick two weeks ago while working in a gravel pit. At the time the dead man was struck he did not complain that the injury was serious, but took his team and drove home. Later a doctor was summoned, and when he was removed to the hospital it was found that he had suffered a fractured skull.

An operation was performed but physicians were unable to save his life. According to information received by Crown Attorney J. M. Kearns, of Guelph Tilley, and a neighbor, William Hammond, were picking frozen gravel on the side of the pit, and two other men were working on the level below them. They suddenly dropped to the ground unconscious and Hammond drew the attention of the other men to his condition. Then the three men, after some difficulty, brought him to. On being asked what had happened to him the man stated that he had been struck by a pick.

Hammond stated that he does not know what happened to Tilley and is emphatic in his statement that he and Tilley were good friends and that he did not strike him. It is thought that the injury was received accidentally, but the circumstances in connection with the case will be thoroughly investigated.

TRADE HORSES IN HASTE REPENT AT LEISURE

"Marry in haste and repent at leisure" is an old adage that still holds good, as a lot of people have found out. Like getting married, horse-trading, too, is somewhat of a chance especially if one goes into it without his eyes open. Trading horses and getting married are considerably alike, and it remained for a young lad from Glenegh to learn last week that while "all is not gold that glitters," also everything in horseflesh that looks sleek and good sometimes isn't. Horse-traders as a rule are not philanthropists, especially when trading horses and if there were any doubts in the young Glenegh man's mind when he came into town there certainly were not when he left.

The story as it floated around to The Chronicle office is, in brief: The young Glenegh man, a lad of about 19 years of age, came to town on Wednesday of last week driving a horse reputed to be worth around $115. Whether or not he was looking for a trade we know not, but anyway he traded. The beast he received in exchange for his $115 cause is said to have been a good-looking animal, in fact, it was a real horse. When he hitched it up, he found that the truth had not half been told. It was two hundred and thirty dollars worth, and that was a fact. Anyway, he found the horse too wild for him when in harness, though peaceable enough unhitched, and made another swap with another fellow for an entirely different kind of horse, probably worth $120 to $130. After coming up town with the proceeds of the second trade, the young lad is said to have repeated his action in parting with the proceeds of Exhibit "A" as if it were a bad thing to do.

The first place too wild for him. In other words, he had made a mistake; he had sold the wild one, after all. This would no difficulty in negotiation had No. 2, in which he received his second horse of the day by a trade with another fellow. He had a good horse, but it didn't take the young lad long to learn that his first objective was correct; the animal was too wild for him. Another good bargain was visited and, for the paltry sum of $20, for which he gave a promissory note, the fourth deal of the day was negotiated, and the young lad, who are told, received a horse of the half-bred variety—that is, one that you could hang your hat on any time any place, any where.

In brief, the young fellow in question, came to town with a horse worth $115, and departed with a horse worth, we are told, $15 at the outside, and, in addition, had given $35 in boot in the various transactions.

The evidence, as we have heard it, confirms us in our opinion that Barmy was much too modest when he said that there is a figure every minute. It is said, too, that the horse traded in the first place was not been fully paid for, but as to that we know nothing. We do know, however, that there was some tall hustling around town for a few days afterwards by the principals and for a time it looked as though legal action to recover would be taken on the ground that the young man who was mistaked was a minor and could not legally make a deal. Possibly the last has not been heard of the case.—Durham Chronicle.

SECOND of the series dealing with the establishment of the BANK OF MONTREAL at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere

IN QUEBEC

WHEN the Bank of Montreal opened its first office in Quebec 106 years ago, travel between Montreal and Quebec was mainly by stage coach, occupying three days in the journey. The difficulties and exigencies attending travel were such that funds were only conveyed between the two cities "at the first safe opportunity."

With the opening of this Quebec office, the Bank of Montreal introduced into Canada branch banking, one of the elements that has contributed to the remarkable elasticity of the Canadian banking system, winning for Dominion finance an enviable reputation in all parts of the world.

Of the Bank's 567 Branches, 83 are situated in the Province of Quebec.

PAYS $1,000 FINE

Frank Ross, described as a "thorn in the side of the inspector and police," was fined $1,000 and costs by Magistrate Crescor at Owen Sound on last Friday morning's police court after having pleaded guilty to having liquor within the meaning of the O.T.A. He paid the fine and left for Niagara Falls the same day.

There were four charges in all, three under the O.T.A. and one under the Inland Revenue Act. By the fine to which Ross pleaded guilty he was charged with manufacturing, selling and with having liquor unlawfully manufactured, the last being the Inland Revenue Act charge. This case was against the Department of Inland Revenue and was dismissed. The other two were withdrawn when Ross pleaded to having the liquor.

Quite an array of legal talent appeared. D. B. Coleman of Welland appeared for Ross; O. E. Klein for Angus J. Tuohy; P. P. Bennis for the Department of Inland Revenue; C. S. Cameron for the O.T.A.; and Crown Attorney T. H. Dyre. Evidence consisted of about two dozen assorted bottles of gin, Scotch, rye, and a "moonshine" distillation of the court table.

"They say a bootlegger that sells real moonshine to good business men isn't a bootlegger," remarked the magistrate when the court was trying to explain the comparative degrees of bootlegging.

At the J. Tuohy, proprietor of the Quebec Hotel at McLeod, where the cache of 102 bottles of liquor was found had both cases pending against him withdrawn, after Ross confessed that he and others were owners of the stock and that Tuohy had nothing to do with the affair.

ADDRESS TO MRS. F. SCHMIDT

Dear Friends:—

We, as friends and neighbors have gathered here to express our feelings of regret that we are losing you from our midst, and to show our appreciation that you have always lived amongst us in such a way, that you may be assured you will be missed by all.

You have grown up in this community and have spent the greater part of your life amongst us and as neighbors have always been found to be kind and obliging and we certainly have always enjoyed your presence because of your cheerful sunny disposition for wherever you went there was a very pleasant attitude.

In the religious life of this community you have been a faithful member of our church and have always taken a very interesting and energetic part in all our undertakings and we wish you to accept our thanks and admiration for your un-failing efforts.

We are glad that you are not moving far away and will be ever fresh in our minds. We are certain that you will be welcomed as a citizen and wish to see you in your new home.

As a slight token of our appreciation and esteem we wish you, Mrs. Schmidt, to accept this chair, and you Orlando, this Bible, as a remembrance and may they ever remind you of the high respect in which we have held you.

We give you our good wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life and may success ever be yours wherever you may go and may the Lord bless you that you may be a blessing to others.

Signed in behalf of the Congregation of Salem's Church, 10th Concession, Carrick.

WORDS OF WISE ME

A good man will as soon run into a fire as quarrel.
Old quarrels and old charges are best left alone. Raise no unsavory odors.
If evil will die, let it die.
Many fearless chiefs have won the friendship of a foe.
Fortitude is victory.
The iron of one stout heart shall make a thousand quail.
The surest way not to fail is to determine to succeed.
Intentions which die are pretensions which lie.
Fondness for fame is avarice of air.
Ambition, the last infirmity of noble minds.
A timid man has little chance.
Plough deep and you will have plenty of corn.
As coals are to burning coals and wood to fire, so is a contentious man to knifing strife.
In too much disputing truth is lost.
I hate to see a thing done by halves; if it be right, do it boldly, if it be wrong leave it undone.

"GET AWAY FROM THE CROWD"

Robert Burdette, in a talk to young men, said: "Get away from the crowd for a while, and think. Stand on one side and let the world run by while you get acquainted with yourself and see what kind of a fellow you are. Ask yourself: Ascertain from original sources if you are really the manner of man you say you are; and if you are always honest; if you always tell the square perfect truth in business details; if your life is as good and upright at eleven o'clock at night as it is at noon, if you are as good a temperance man on a fishing excursion as you are on a Sunday School picnic; if, in short, you are really the sort of man your father hopes you are and your sweetheart believes you are. Get on intimate terms with yourself, my boy, and believe me, every time you come out of one of those private interviews you will be stronger, better, purer man. Don't forget this, and it will do you good."

ZERO WEATHER TAMES BRUCE COUNTY CATTLE

Ten head of cattle owned by Geo. Bartman, and three head owned by W. T. Golden, farmers of St. Edmund township, Bruce, became so wild that they could be chased out of the swamps on the Bruce Peninsula when winter set in. The owners thought the cattle had died from cold and starvation, but were surprised yesterday when all but one of the animals walked into their own barnyard ready to be admitted to winter quarters.

AN INDIAN, AN AUTO, AND A BOTTLE OF MOONSHINE

Clyde Younghorse, a young Indian suddenly oil-rich, bought himself a $5,000 automobile and drove away. Next day the salesman was confronted by Younghorse again. The Indian was afoot, walked with a limp and bore various contusions and bruises. This was his explanation. "Drive out big car, buy gallon moonshine; take big drink; step on gas. Tires and fences go by heap fast. Pretty quick-see big bridge coming down road. Turn out to let bridge pass. Bang! Car gone! Gimme another one."

DOCTOR CHOPPED WOOD AT $1.00 A DAY

Toronto—Stephen Spicer, a medical graduate of University of Western Ontario, suing his wife, Amy, in the supreme court before Mr. Justice Rose, claiming ownership of a $12,500 twelve-room house on King street west, Toronto, told, under cross-examinations by R. H. Greer, K.C., an unusual story of the struggles of a doctor.

He married in 1911. Amy Ward, of London, Ontario, and during eight years lived several times to pass the council of the College of Pharmacy so that he could do business as a druggist. As a matter of fact, he did start as a druggist on $5,000 borrowed from his father-in-law, but the college stepped in and put a stop to his dispensing. So, in three years and two months all the money was lost.

"Then," said Spicer, "I worked on a farm and chopped wood for about a dollar a day."

"Anything to keep alive," suggested Mr. Greer. "You couldn't earn anything but as an unskilled laborer."

MUNICIPAL

At the February meeting of Durham Council Reeve Calder sounded a note of alarm that the town tax rate might reach 60 mills this year or 6% on all assessable property, a condition in which Durhamites will be paying a high rent for the privilege of living in their own homes. The fear of high taxes was the main reason for the taxpayers of Durham voting down a waterworks by-law on January 7th. They are content to go on drinking well water even though the microbes grow so large that they can be seen without the aid of a microscope. The citizens of Durham must not forget that an outbreak of Typhoid Fever is quite a plague in any municipality and that doctors' bills soon mount up, not to take into account the possibility of fatal results when the citizens will be up against the real problem of "The High Cost of Dying."

Bruce and Grey are not the only County Councils that have been raising the very dickens across the line but the Provincial Highways exchange that the Warden of Dufferin in his inaugural address drew the attention of his colleagues to the fact that the County would be required to provide for payment to the Province of Ontario of $34,186.58, being the expenditure for construction work on 1923 for which the bill has not yet been rendered. This expenditure is made by the Province and is not under the control of the County Council and as it amounts to a large sum it will probably be necessary for Dufferin to issue debentures for payment. We are not at all surprised that County Councils in Counties through which Provincial Highways pass are asking the Legislature to assume the entire cost. The 20% to be paid by the County Councils doesn't look high but the construction of the roads are so expensive on account of their width and cutting down the grades to engineer's levels that the small percentage amounts to a large sum.—Chesley Enterprise.

BIG GRAFT SCANDAL IN U. S.

Like many other things "graft" is carried on in the United States on a grand scale. Rarely do our Canadian newspapers pay much attention to such matters across the line but the "Espionage Naval Oil Scandal" has seemed of sufficient importance to merit almost daily attention.

And what is it all about?

It appears that the United States Government, some time ago, set aside large areas of oil lands—one field in Wyoming and another in California—as reserves for the navy's most war ships now are oil-burners, and the Navy Department thought it would be well to make sure that all the oil lands would not be occupied and perhaps exhausted, thus leaving the Navy without a supply of fuel.

But private operators were allowed to operate in the vicinity of these reserved fields with the result that the reserved oil was being drained away. Some thought it would be better to pump the oil and store it, while others thought it would be better left under ground where it would be safe from destruction by fire or loss by leakage or deterioration.

Mr. Fall, who was secretary of the Interior under President Harding thought it would be well to have the oil pumped, and appears to have been against the reservations altogether. He therefore leased the reserves to two men (or interests represented by them) Sinclair and Doheny. Evidently the leasing was made on terms very advantageous to the private concerns.

This, of course, was done by a

Republican government, and the Democrats at once saw in it first class campaign material and they are making the most of it. "Sold the very men by which our national existence is to be protected," is the way one Democratic Congressman puts it. It is said to be a severe blow to President Coolidge's prospects for re-election, although most folk will see that he could have nothing at all to do with it. Of course it helps to discredit his party; but with regard to graft, one party is no better than the other. The president's first act was to appoint eminent lawyers to investigate the whole matter and report. The likelihood is that some who expected to make big money out of the deal will come to grief.

MEETING HELD AT AYTON

A meeting of the ratepayers of Ayton was held on Tuesday evening for the purpose of getting electric lights in Ayton.

Two reports were presented, one from the Northern Electric Co. and one from the Crocker-Wheeler Co., both of which give information on the matter.

A motion was passed that the Police Trustees be a committee to interview Mr. Jas. Booth for a final agreement for power, and, if satisfactory, submit a by-law to the ratepayers for their approval or rejection to raise about $6,500, which will be required for a trunk line in town, etc.

Here is a proposition for Ayton to secure lights, and, if handled properly, will be satisfactory, as lights and power will be secured at a reasonable price. As the amount of power and light required in Ayton is very small, Hydro is out of the question.—Hanover Post.

NEW SEED ACT

Under the old act it was permissible for a farmer, provided the seed was not taken off his farm, to sell clover and timothy without first having these graded by the Seed Department. Now, all seeds of grasses and clovers sold by farmers, even on their own farms, must be first graded before offering for sale, unless sold to a seed merchant to be re-cleaned. The grade names defined under the act are registered Extra No. 1, No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3. The first two mentioned grades are given only for seed whose variety name, through field inspection of the growing crop, is known. Seed that will not grade No. 3 is designated rejected and is prohibited from sale in Canada.

MOUNT FOREST ROBBER ON HIS WAY TO CANADA

The long legal battle to get Lewis Austin, charged with robbing the Royal Bank of Canada at Mt. Forest out of custody of the United States authorities, ended last week when Provincial Inspectors John Miller and A. B. Boyd of Toronto started from Arkansas with their prisoner. They will lodge Austin in Guelph jail pending his trial before the Magistrate at Mount Forest. He is accused of stealing $30,000 in bonds and cash from the bank vaults in December of 1922.

Canada from Coast to Coast

St. John, N.B.—From all indications, the potato shipments to Havana this season through the port of St. John will greatly exceed those of last year. To date there have been 750,000 bushels sent forward in twenty steamers, while from September 1, 1922, until January 31st, 1923, a total of 505,668 bushels were shipped in seventeen steamers.

Quebec, Que.—Announcement has been made by the Federal minister of agriculture that a new Dominion seed laboratory will be established here. The plant is practically ready for operation and seed samples for the Province of Quebec will be tested and graded here under the Dominion Seeds Act.

Fort William, Ont.—Contract has been let by the Mutual Elevator Co. for the construction at the head of the Lakes of a grain storage elevator having a storage capacity of 1,500,000 bushels of grain. It will cost $1,000,000. Work will start in early spring, with expectations of having it ready by October 1, 1924.

Winnipeg, Man.—It has definitely been decided by the United Farmers of Manitoba to establish a wheat pool for the handling of Manitoba's 1924 crop. Incorporation will be sought by special act of the Legislative Assembly, now in session, and the pool will be officially known as the "Manitoba Co-operative Wheat Producers, Ltd."

The contract, which has been adopted, is not radically different from the Alberta pool contract.

Regina, Sask.—The total grain crop of the Province of Saskatchewan in 1922 was over 458,000,000 bushels, of which 250,167,000 bushels were wheat. The total value of the province's field crops is estimated at $287,270,600. Adding livestock and other farm products the total agricultural value of the province in 1922 was $505,318,966.

Edmonton, Alta.—Alberta's butter production last year was 18,500,000 pounds, or 2,900,000 pounds more than in 1922, according to reports presented at the annual meeting of the Alberta Dairymen's Association.

Victoria, B.C.—The amount of timber scaled in the Province of British Columbia during 1923 was 2,542,280,000 b.f.m., as compared with 1,899,158,000 feet in 1922, an increase of 34 per cent, according to a statement made by the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Acting Minister of Lands for the province.

Dawson City, Y.T.—Referring to the rush now in progress from Mayo to the newly discovered silver regions of the Beaver River district in the Yukon Territory, W. E. Cockfield, of the Dominion Geological Survey, says silver lead ores have been discovered at many points, and with much of the area still unprospected there's chances that further discoveries will be made.

PLANS AFOOT TO AMEND U.S. CONSTITUTION

Resolution Introduced in Congress to Effect Quicker Changes in Administration.

A despatch from Washington says—Plans to amend the constitution in order to bring about quicker changes in Administration after the votes have spoken and to eliminate "the duck" control of legislation and of the executive branch of the Government, were seriously undertaken in the House on Thursday.

The White resolution introduced by Representative White, proposing such an amendment to the constitution, was favorably acted upon by the committee on the election of President and Vice-president.

The resolution provides that the President and Vice-president shall begin their terms at noon, January 24, while the terms of Senators and representatives shall begin on January 4.

The resolution contains another provision concerning the selection of a President in the event neither a President nor a Vice-president shall have been chosen by House or Senate, respectively, whenever the election shall have gone to the Congress. This latter provision applies to a situation which it is considered might possibly arise under the present political circumstance relative to the election of the next President and Vice-president.

Under the constitution the House elects the President, while the Senate elects the Vice-president under the proposed amendment. In the event the House does not elect within the time given, the Vice-president is to serve as President "until the House shall have elected," and if the Vice-president has not been chosen the Congress shall specify who shall serve with the President until the election occurs.

Five Hundred Canadian Books Sent to Empire Exhibition

A despatch from Toronto says—Dr. George H. Locke, Chief Librarian in Toronto, has been asked to select the Canadian literature exhibit to be shown at the British Empire Exhibition this coming summer in London, England. Dr. Locke has started in on his task and hopes to have the exhibits chosen and well on their way to the Old Land in a fortnight.

Dr. Locke has been asked to do this by the Canadian Authors' Association and expects to collect altogether about 500 works in Canadian literature, exclusive of books and writings in French.

Already a preliminary list has been drawn up and submitted to the Canadian Authors' Association president, and Dr. Locke has received this list in turn from the president in Ottawa. He will start in on his final selections immediately.

England to India in 100 Hours Prediction of Air Ministry

A despatch from London says—"Jymes, get my bags and the plane ready. I've a notion to drop over to Bombay shortly."

This may be heard in any London household soon if the prediction made recently by Major-General W. G. Brancker of the British Air Ministry comes true. The General sailed for home on the Ordnance of the Royal Mail Line after completing six weeks of pleasure touring about this "jolly old country."

"England may soon inaugurate airship service direct to India, making the trip in less than 100 hours," he said. "I am quite confident of its success. It now takes seventeen days to make the journey by train and ship from London to India, and if things go as they should the trip from New York to India should not take more than 160 hours, at most."

DIRECTING DESTINIES OF INDIA'S MILLIONS

Sir Sydney Olivier, left, the new secretary of state for India, is an exponent of the social equality of white, yellow and black races. He tried putting his theory into practice, as governor of Jamaica, and claims it was a success. The great experiment, it is understood, is about to be made in India. Will it work? On its success or failure depends the political condition of India's restless millions, who are bitter in their complaint at the way past governments have drawn the color line. Lord Reading, right, the present viceroy of India, is a Liberal in politics and in his policy as viceroy. There is every likelihood of the two clashing on matters of administration when socialist methods are applied in dealing with oriental radicals.

DENY BRITAIN'S RIGHT TO CONTROL ADVANCE

Speakers in National Assembly of India Question Good Faith of Labor Government.

A despatch from Delhi says—The radical views of India's right to Home Rule, expressed on the first day of the National Assembly, were eclipsed on Friday during the debate of the Swarajist motion. Mr. Patel, intervened with a speech clarifying the issues. Wrapping his Khaddar Indian-made shawl more closely round his tall, grey-bearded and rugged figure, Patel, speaking clearly, but without pretence to oratory, denied the right of the British Parliament to determine the time or manner of India's constitutional advance. Moreover, he specially questioned the good faith of the new Labor Government, members of which, Col. Wedgwood and Mr. Spoor, six years ago, had supported the extreme demands of Congress. In reply to Sir Malcolm Hailey's challenge, Mr. Patel declared that he expected the Swaraj Government would be guarded from foreign invasion by gallant British officers and British soldiers, serving under its control.

The most significant point in his speech, however, was his declaration that the proposed conference for the revision of the constitution would be incomplete without the presence of revolutionaries. This possibly places Motilal Nehru in a difficult position, for it vitiates his efforts to maintain a reasonable constitutional character for the proposal for a round-table conference. This was shown by his chair held the debate must go on, and certain Swarajists were also unwilling to agree to its premature cessation. It had therefore been adjourned until Monday.

The effect of Mr. Patel's speech was enhanced by the intervention of two young Swarajists, both Oxford-trained. Mr. Chamanlal, Punjab, and Mr. Goswami, Bengal. Chamanlal, with excellent delivery, poured out red revolution in the approved Hyde Park manner. Goswami, less polished, took the same line, pleading for a brotherhood of the proletariat and describing the Indian States as picturesque, mediaeval relics.

Effort to Stamp Out Epidemic Cost $14,000,000

A despatch from London says—The gross amount of money paid to farmers in the United Kingdom by way of compensation for animals destroyed by the authorities in the effort to stamp out the foot and mouth epidemic is estimated at £2,808,000. A statement to this effect was made in the House of Commons on Thursday in answer to a question.

We are living in an extraordinary rush of discovery in physical science. —Sir Oliver Lodge.

The Will to Live.

All round about us are tired and discouraged souls confronted by problems which nothing that is read in a book or heard from a pulpit seems to reach and to dispel. Doctors, lawyers, ministers, writers do the best they can to imagine the plight of the lonely and distraught and to administer the prescription. Frequently there is success, and the condition of those who come in quest of comfort is alleviated, if not healed. The chief joy of a man in a calling that brings him into contact with human weal and need—such a calling as that of medicine or the ministry—is to know the good he has done, which is the reward superior to any payment that can be made in money.

Besides such professional aid as may be received from those who are consulted in doctor's office or minister's study—or even between the pages of a noble book—there is the incalculable help to be found in the tender sympathies of friendship. A man may be rich in friends and little else; and he is never poor while he can go to a few and divulge the contents of his mind with no fear of misinterpretation.

Yet with all the assistance to live that may come from the science of professional men or the affectionate concern of those who personally care for us and want to further our designs, there must be—in the last analysis—the strength of will on a man's own part to live his life, to face his duty, to meet his destiny, to make the best of things with a high courage that never recognizes defeat and never will haul down the flag in surrender. We think we suffer alone because we know so little of the lives of all the rest. Nature has no pets. Fate plays no favorites. It only seems so because of our ignorance. The cross that we have we are aware of; but we cannot feel the weight that millions of others are bearing.

Look about you, and the brave, the tranquil, the cheerful whom you see are likely to be the very ones who have come out of great tribulation or at this very moment are passing through the valley of the shadow. The solace and the strength they bestow are theirs to give because whatever life brought they faced in an unconquerable spirit. They made up their minds to meet life "adequate, erect, with will to choose or to reject." Out of their very failures are built the foundations of the ultimate victory which depends not on a blind hazard of fortune but on a man's indomitable will.

British immigration during the nine months ended December totalled 64,127, compared with 28,525 in the corresponding period of the previous year, an increase of 125 per cent. Immigration from the United States was 17,282, compared with 18,982, a decrease of nine per cent. Total immigration for the nine-month period of 1923 was 124,680, compared with 60,247 in the same period in the previous year, an increase of 107 per cent.

Both MacDonald and Baldwin Have Socialistic Sons

A despatch from London says—Both the present and the former premiers of Great Britain have Socialist sons. MacDonald's son, Malcolm, who is about to obtain his degree in economics at Oxford, is preparing for a journalistic career. He contested a seat at the last election and did well, but he expects to have an easier division at the next election, and will be returned, he hopes, as a Labor member along with Arthur Henderson's two sons, who are sitting in the present house.

Ex-Premier Baldwin's son is a radical and Socialist, but he has not as yet made any plans to get a seat in Parliament, being satisfied to speak in his opposition to the policy of the party of which his father is the leader. Baldwin and his son are the closest of chums.

Fifty-two Years' Service in Royal Household

A despatch from London says—Sir Dighton Probyn, V.C., comptroller to Queen Alexandra since 1910, had his 51st birthday the other day. The anniversary found him in excellent health and on the job at Sandringham, in his fifty-second years' service with the royal family.

Sir Dighton, who served in the Indian mutiny, won the Victoria Cross at Agra. He joined the household of Edward VII. when the latter was Prince of Wales, in 1872, and has faithfully served the royal family in varying capacities ever since. His flowing white beard makes him a picturesque figure. Each Sunday he drives a pony chaise to get to Church to open the door of the private entrance and conduct the royal worshippers to their pews in the chancel.

CHEAP AND QUICK WAY TO OBTAIN INSULIN

British Scientists Use Water Instead of Alcohol With Results in Two Days.

A despatch from London says—Very great interest has been aroused by an announcement of a new method preparing insulin without the use of alcohol. The discoverer of this method is Dr. E. C. Dodds, chemical pathologist to Middlesex Hospital, and in the current number of the Lancet he and F. Dickens, assistant in the biochemistry department of the hospital, make a preliminary communication of the subject.

Whilst the old method required costly alcohol and the process took eight days, it is claimed that Dr. Dodds' method requires only water and two days for the process.

Insulin prepared by the new method so far has been used on four cases of diabetes, and found quite satisfactory.

The authors acknowledge their indebtedness to the Medical Research Council, and especially to Doctors Dale and Dudley. The discovery is placed freely at the service of mankind.

Third of London's Population Travels Daily to City

A despatch from London says—There is a veritable romance of figures revealed in the latest Blue Book published by the Registrar General's department. London's population is somewhere in the region of 7,000,000 and the Blue Book's analysis of the figures shows that at least a third of this number—more than 2,000,000—move every day either in or out of that ancient bailliwick still known as the City of London.

The City is the ancient municipality in the centre of the London metropolitan area. It has its own municipal organization and is entirely independent of Greater London. But it is the heart of the business and financial systems of the British Empire. It has a daytime or working population of 416,160, whereas at night it contains only 13,709, of whom a large number are watchmen who guard with vigilance the great business and financial interests there gathered.

Denmark in Grip of Arctic Temperature

A despatch from Copenhagen says—Denmark has never experienced such a terrific winter as at present. It is continuously below 12 centigrade (10 degrees Fahrenheit). For the past three months the ice has held the Danish archipelago, which is closed to communication with Sweden. The sea communication with Germany also is frequently suspended.

HOPE TO PHOTOGRAPH EVEREST SUMMIT

Third Himalayan Expedition to be Presented in Films by Experienced Cameramen.

A despatch from London says—Elaborate preparations have been made to take cinematograph pictures of the third expedition to climb Mount Everest, which is soon leaving this country. Captain J. B. L. Noel, F.R.G.S., who was responsible for the film of the second expedition, shown last year, is again in charge of this side of the undertaking.

He and his party are taking fourteen cameras of all kinds and sizes, and he hopes this year to be able to photograph every phase of the expedition, and, if success crowns the efforts of its members, to take the first pictures of the summit itself.

A number of pictures are to be taken by a new process of color cinematography invented by Freise Green. This is said to be not only comparatively simple, but commercial,ly feasible, as the cost is only slightly in excess of that of the normal process.

Canada's fisheries production during 1923 is estimated to be worth $40,000,000. At the beginning of the year it was not thought that anything like this mark would be reached, for the Fordney tariff had cut deeply into exports to the United States. But as the year wore on the demand and prices generally improved, thus giving fishermen along the Atlantic coast especially a much better price.

Surnames and Their Origin

PENNINGTON
Racial Origin—English.
Source—Geographical.
The first syllable in the name of Pennington might lead you to suppose that it is of Welsh origin, for the word "pen" in the Cymric tongue means a "head" in the geographical sense. The rest of the name, however, has any Celtic origin.
As a family name Pennington, or Pennington, as it is sometimes spelled, is traceable directly to Pennington as a geographical name. And it is found in the designation of a township in Lancashire, England, and of a tything in Hampshire.
English geographical family names of this sort are likely to denote an origin among the nobility, for of course the old Norman feudal chiefs naturally took as their family names the names of the territories over which they held leadership. As a matter of fact one Pennington family does trace directly back to one Camel de Pennington, overlord of a place of that name, who had his seat in Mulcaster (or Manchester) county. Certain branches of the family have taken the latter name as their family name.
But this does not mean at all that all Penningtons trace back to this or any other of the Norman overlords. In many instances humble dwellers in the various Penningtons moved to other parts of England, and there became known by the names of the places whence they had come, as "Roger de Pennington," etc. In nearly all English family names such prefixes as "de" (of) and "de" (the) have either been eliminated as superfluous or have been incorporated into the name. In the case of Pennington it is easy to see that the latter would produce a combination rather hard to pronounce as a single word, which explains why such a variation is never met with.

FISK
Variations—Fiske, Fish, Fisher, Fisherman, Fisker, Peasoner.
Racial Origin—Anglo-Saxon.
Source—An Occupation.
The family name of Fisk, of Fiske, is another one of those surnames which illustrate vividly the changes which take place in a language in the matter of twenty-five generations, for it has been no longer than, that since our modern word "fish" was so pronounced. Virtually all of these "fish" names have arisen from the occupations of those to whom they were first applied. It is possible, of course, but hardly likely, that there were a few rare instances in which the first used was as a nickname, denoting a fancied likeness to a fish.
All variations, however, may be taken for granted as having been derived from either of two occupations, the selling of fish or the catching of them. These occupations were tremendously important in the middle ages, for the English nation subsisted largely on fish both as an economic and religious necessity. Medieval England was Catholic, and in the middle ages the fasts of the church were far more rigorous and numerous than to-day. Indeed, the Fishmongers' Guild of old London was the most powerful of the merchants' associations for many generations.
The Anglo-Saxon name appears on the old records variously as "Fischere," "le Fyske," "le Fyscer," and sometimes softened into "le Fysere" (the Anglo-Saxon "ch" had the "k" sound). The Norman forms, "Pescher" and "Pescheur," and "Pesoner" have only a few survivals in the last mentioned surname, though originally the Anglo-Saxon and Norman forms were often used interchangeably by the same family, as in the case "Egeas Fisher, or Peasoner," who was mayor of Gloucester in 1341.

Love and Life at Vigo.
Love at a distance until you are engaged is the rule in Spain. As a result of that somewhat inconvenient custom lovers are driven to strange expedients to communicate with each other. Consider the gentleman of Vigo whom Mr. Ralph Stock tells about in the Cruise of the Dream Ship. Picture if you can, says Mr. Stock, a well-dressed Spanish gentleman standing in the middle of one of the main thoroughfares and gazing toward one of the house-tops; he is apparently engaged in practicing the deaf-and-dumb alphabet. No one of the stream of pedestrians passing along the sidewalk takes the slightest notice of him; neither does the wheeled traffic, except to avert its eyes obligingly out of his path. It is his affair, and a love affair at that. He is conversing with his innamorata at the third-floor balcony window yonder. It needed three vulgar sightseers such as the crew of the Dream Ship to find anything unusual in the proceeding. I am ashamed to say that the lady caught sight of us and pointed in alarm; whereupon the gentleman turned with an excusable look of annoyance, and we hurried on our way.

"Men go to books—Heaven forbid—for instruction, but for warmth and light, for a thousand new perceptions that struggle inarticulately within themselves, for the enlargement of their experience, for the echo of their discords and the companionship of beauty and terror for their troubled souls. They go to literature for life, for more life and keener life, for life as it crystallizes into higher articulateness and deeper significance. The enlargement and clarification of men's experience—that is the function of literature."—Ludwig Lewysohn.

ALMOST HELPLESS AFTER INFLUENZA

Left Weak, Nervous and Broken Down—Health Regained.
"A few years ago," says Miss Frances Hankin, of Plenty, Sask., "my mother, Mrs. Walter Hankin, was stricken with influenza, which was then epidemic, and for a time was in a critical condition. She appeared to get over the prominent symptoms of the trouble but did not regain her strength. Some weeks later her weakness developed into sinking spells, in which she would almost smother. Notwithstanding medical aid these spells continued and she was constantly growing weaker, until she was practically reduced to skin and bone. Her lips and gums were colorless, she was nervous, and suffered from indigestion and palpitation of the heart. At this stage a friend of mother's, who lived at a distance, came to see her and strongly advised her to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which, she said, had greatly helped her in a critical illness. We got these pills and mother began taking them, but we could see that the sinking spells were growing less frequent, and that strength was returning. The treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was continued, and day by day health and strength returned, until she was again able to go about, and help with the work of the house. The improvement this medicine made in her case was simply remarkable.
"I may also say," adds Miss Hankin, "that in my own case these pills were of the greatest benefit. Last winter I was in a badly run-down condition, and very nervous. My appetite failed and I had no color. Knowing what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for mother, I began taking them with the result that they soon made me as strong and full of vigor as the other girls of my age. I may just add that I think we owe mother's life and my good health to the pills and I hope our experience will be of benefit to some other sufferer."
You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c, a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Words of Wise Men.
Haven't Descended As Yet.
"Do you believe that men have descended not only from monkeys, but, farther back, from fishes?"
"No—most of 'em are poor fish still."
He Knew It.
The bashful young suitor entered the home of his sweetheart bearing a large box with the name of a well-known florist on the cover.
"How sweet and fresh they are!" cried the young woman, opening the box. "I believe there is still a little dew on them yet."
"Why—er—yes," admitted the youth, "but it's just a little, and I'll pay it to-morrow."

The Pewter Pitcher.
Great-great-grandmother Gertrude Gray got the set on her wedding day.
Pewter graceful of curve and flare
Its costly and delicate silverware;
Not of lead and soft all through,
Lustrous, and a dead dull blue,
But with copper enough in the tin to hold
A patina rich akin to gold.
Porringer, charger, bowls and spoons
To stir the tea of afternoons
When a gossiping crowsy came to call,
With half knit stockings and woolen ball,
And needles flickering in and out
Turning a gray yarn heel about,
While the pewter sugar bowl, plain and plump,
Yielded many a luscious lump.
But the pewter pitcher with flowering lip
Like a calla lily's lovely lip,
And handle looping its fluted side,
Was the joy and pride of the happy bride.
It held the cream at the evening meal
For the lovers wedded for woe or weal,
And later milk for the babies four
That played in turn by the cottage door.
Great-great-grandmother Gertrude Gray
Folded her hands and passed away,
And out of her cherished pewter set
Only the pitcher survives her yet.
It stands in a mansion now between
A Chinese vase of apple green
And Venetian glass as thin as air,
Like a bubble blown from a jewel rare.

The old collector of precious things,
Cups and ewers and coins and rings,
Its weight in gold twice over paid
For the pitcher of lead and copper made.
For the atmosphere of the long ago
Clings to the humble metal, lo!
Homely virtues, and simple joys,
And the merry prattle of girls and boys.
The pewter pitcher is full of dreams
Of bowery woods and crystal streams,
A farmhouse brown with mosey eaves,
Rosy apples and golden sheaves,
Amber lamplight and bread and milk,
And yellow cream as smooth as silk.
Of all his treasures of gems and art,
The pitcher is dearest to his heart.

"Ah can't cook," was the reply.
"Are you a good laundress?"
"Ah don't do no washin' an' ironin'; its too hard on mah hands."
"Can you sweep?"
"No, lady; I ain't strong enough to sweep."
"What on earth can you do?"
"Ah duxts," the applicant answered.

MRS. MISENER'S ACHES AND PAINS
Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
"Branchton, Ont.—"When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' period I worked on munitions for two years, and in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing pelvic inflammation from which I have suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for several years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines."—Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.

Is Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron?
Without Plenty of Iron in Your Blood You Don't Get the Strength and Nourishment Out of the Food You Eat.
When over-work, lack of sleep, improper food and impure air sap the iron from your blood and mass you feel weak, nervous, irritable and out-of-sorts. It is important that you should at once put more iron into your blood. Without iron the blood loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing that you eat does you the proper amount of good because you don't get the full strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. Because of this steady starvation of the blood and nerves people often become weakened, tired-out, nervous and rundown and frequently develop all sorts of symptoms. But the moment organic iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear in most cases, the flesh becomes firmer, the muscles get back their strength and the roses of health bloom in cheeks that were pale and sickly looking.
No matter what other so-called remedies you may have tried, if you are not strong, vigorous, hearty and well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can walk or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next, take two five-grain tablets of ordinary ironized iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. You can obtain Nourated Iron from your druggist on the distinct understanding that if you are not fully satisfied your money will be refunded.

COURTING TROUBLE

It was a red-letter day for Pat Finnegan. For the first time he was a member of a jury. Dressed in his best suit he was about to depart for the courthouse when his wife asked him where he was going.

"Shure, an' it's to court Oim gging," replied Pat.

The next day the same thing happened. However, on the third morning things came to a climax. Mrs. Finnegan again asked the question.

"Shure, an' it's to court Oim gging," replied Pat.

Mrs. Finnegan took the rolling pin and got in Pat's way.

"Now, Pat," she roared, "take off them good clothes; yer not going to court. If there's any courtin' to be done, shure, ye'll do it here, and do it with me!"

GIVE THE BOY A HEIFER

Give the boy a heifer,
Start him on his way,
Make him feel he's starting in,
To be a man to-day.

Let him know the value
Of a cow or two,
See him take a keener pride
In the farm for you.

Give the boy a heifer,
Tell him—"Take it, son,
say you have a dozen cows
Say, instead of one."

Let him know he's wanted
On the old farm too,
And he'll stay and work his way
Side by side with you.

February is short is not sweet,
which is one consolation.

Accounting for the weather is one of the oldest of pastimes. In the United States the storms that originate in the southwest and sweep northward toward the Great Lakes bring warmer weather than those that originate in the northwest and sweep southeast. There is some evidence that more storms are coming from the southwest than was formerly the case, though it would take a bold man to say why.

DEATH OF MR. JOS. BEASINGER

The death of Mr. Jos. Beasinger, well known in this vicinity, took place at his home in Pinconning, Mich., on Jan. 25th, at the age of 81 years, 10 months and 16 days.

Beasinger, who has not been in the best of health for some time, had to give up farming and he retired and lived in the village of Pinconning. About a year ago he took a stroke which completely prostrated him and he passed peacefully away on the above mentioned date.

The late Mr. Beasinger was married to Miss Katie Klemmer, who died when they resided at Aurable, and left him with eleven children, of which eight are still living, 6 sons and 2 daughters, namely:—Louis of Royal Oak, Mich., Andrew, Joseph, Simon, Philip, all of Detroit; Edward of Flint, Mich.

(Theresa) and Fred Pochert, of Detroit; and Mrs. Alstorn, of Royal Oak, Mich.

Mr. Beasinger is survived by his second wife, who was Mrs. Harriet Deschamp, and who nursed him kindly through his long sickness. The late Mr. Beasinger also leaves 4 sisters, Mrs. Wm. Kupferschmidt of Deemerton, Mrs. T. Wilson of Port Huron, Mrs. Mrs. Henry Isley and Mrs. George Lantz of Hesson. Three of Mr. Beasinger's sisters are dead. (Eva both) Mrs. Andrew Fortney of Deemerton, (Katie) Mrs. Wm. Ertel of St. Clements, and (Rose) Mrs. Andrew Diemert of Moorshead, Minnesota. The funeral of the late Mr. Beasinger took place on Jan. 28th at the Roman Catholic Cemetery at Pinconning.

TWO JACKS—WHITE AND BLACK

There were two well-known Jack Johnstons in Toronto last Thursday, a fact which led to some confusion.

Our good friend, Mr. John A. Johnston, publisher of the Midway Gazette, was down in the city attending the Provincial get-together of Horticulturists. The famous colored pugilist of the same name was also in the Queen City. As both big fellows made their headquarters at the King Edward Hotel and there were a good number of Bruce folks down for the fall fairs and horticultural conventions, it is not surprising that his query: "Have you seen Jack Johnston?" led to considerable misunderstanding. Even "J. A." himself was taken in, when he strode into the rotunda for the first time and heard "Mr. Jack Johnston" being ragged. When he owned to the bell boy that he answered to that name, the little fellow replied: "O, I'm looking for a cullud gentleman."—Telegraph.
