Outcome of New Home Rule Issue Looked Forward to With Great Anxiety

BAD WEATHER PUTS A STOP TO FIGHTING

Quiet on Western Front is Reported in German Official Statement

ARTILLERY IS ACTIVE IN CHAMPAGNE SECTION; RUSSIAN FRONT QUIET

By Courier Leased Wire
Berlin, March 8, via Saville.—Conditions on the Franco-Belgian front were generally quiet yesterday owing to the prevalence of bad weather. The official statement reads: "The Western front: Only in the Champagne was the artillery fire violent. On the other fronts during the heavy weather and snow storms, conditions were generally quiet. During reconnoitring advances between the Somme and the Oise, 17 British and French were captured and several machine guns brought in."
Operations on the Russian front yesterday were unimportant. In Macedonia only outpost skirmishes occurred. The statement regarding events in these war areas reads: "Eastern front: No military action of importance occurred. Between Vileika and Molodchyno bombs which were dropped caused a Russian railroad train to jump the tracks."

Deputy Fire Marshal Lewis conducted an inquiry into the fire which occurred at the home of Mrs. Mabel Cronin, 63 St. John street, Hamilton, on January 30th. Mrs. Cronin was evasive as regards the disposal of furniture and clothing. Speaking at Ottawa, Sir Sam Hughes said: "If there was a little border raid, a Canadian baseball team could clear it up in a day or two. There has not been an overt act against Canada yet unless it has been carried out by some mercenary paid by Germany."

WOMEN NOT TO RUN FOR OFFICE

Premier Hearst Moves Six Months' Hoist to Rowell Bill

NO DEMAND AS YET NOT ONE WOMAN HAS ASKED RIGHT TO SIT IN LEGISLATURE

The women of Ontario must be content with the vote without any accompanying right to run as candidates for the Legislature for a year at least. In the House last night N. W. Rowell's "afterthought" bill to give women the right to sit in the Legislature was given a six months' hoist after a short but lively debate. The Prime Minister, Sir William Hearst, did not voice opposition to the principle involved, but he made it clear that the Government in deciding to give women the franchise had gone as far as it would be justified in going at present, had gone as far as the most enthusiastic advocates of franchise extension had hoped for, and much farther than most of them had expected.

In introducing his bill Mr. Rowell stated that now that the House had accepted the extension of the franchise to women, there was no good reason for withholding from them the right to run as candidates for the Legislature. He showed that in Australia the right to sit in the Legislature was linked up with the franchise. In states of the Union women could sit in the Legislature by the name of men. The Province of Manitoba in deciding to enfranchise the women had decided also to remove the disability that kept them from being members of the Legislature. In Saskatchewan the women had been given that right. Women might not be elected, but that was a matter for the electors to decide.

Redmond and Nationalist Party May Form Active Opposition to British Government and Thus Force a General Election in the Country--Lloyd George's Speech in the House of Commons

By Courier Leased Wire
London, March 7.—(via Reuters Ottawa Agency, March 8.)—Following is the full text of the passage in Mr. Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons in reference to the government's offer of Home Rule to Ireland:

"I am not in the least afraid," said the Premier, "in submitting the proposal of the government to the judgment of any unbiased friend of Ireland in any quarter of the globe. I put it again, and I want not merely Irishmen to know, but I want men outside of the confines of the British Empire to know what it is that to-day we offer. It is that the part of Ireland that clearly demands Home Rule—Self-government—shall get it."

"There are two questions to be asked by all of us. The first is this: 'Are the people of this country prepared to confer self-government on the parts of Ireland which unmistakably demand it? The offer which I give on behalf of the cabinet is that the government are firmly of that opinion, and are firmly of the opinion that that represents the view of the vast majority of the people of this country. The next point is this:

'Are the people of this country prepared to force the population of the north-eastern corner of Ireland to submit to be governed by a population with whom they are completely out of sympathy? In my communication and here I speak on behalf of a government, they are not.'

London, March 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Pending a decision which is to be taken at an adjourned meeting of the Irish party at two o'clock this afternoon, the outcome of the new Home Rule crisis is regarded with the greatest uncertainty and no little anxiety. Whether the exit of John Redmond and his followers was spontaneous or, as Unionists say, carefully organized beforehand for effect, it took the House somewhat aback and has created a situation which is regarded in some quarters as acute as at any period in the long drawn out Home Rule fight. Speculation in the lobbies and in political circles concerning the next move of the Nationalists is exceedingly active and the result of today's party meeting is eagerly awaited. The usually well informed lobbyist of the Daily News says: "Some alternative courses of action were put before the meeting. These, which will be further considered today, were briefly, whether the party should stay or go, and if it should stay, how it shall act towards the government. If it decides to stay it is regarded certain that it will be more hostile to the government. The Nationalists, the correspondent adds, consider that the Premier's speech was delivered to placate foreign opinion and to put the Nationalist party in the wrong light. They thus consider, the correspondent concludes, that they have suffered a great injustice, and their attitude at the moment toward the offer of a commission is to brush aside the suggestion as unjust to their claims. The lobbyists for the Unionist newspapers describe the Nationalists as now in definite hostility toward the government. The Morning Post's correspondent says: 'Presumably they will do nothing. #### JERUSALEM MUST FALL VERY SOON

British Advancing Through Palestine Within Forty Miles of City

Washington, March 7.—Jerusalem the ancient capital of Palestine, may soon be in the hands of the British as well as Bagdad, according to despatches received here to-day. These reports say the advance guards of the British troops advancing through Palestine from Egypt are within forty miles of the city. One despatch had them at El Chail, which is in the mountains of southern Palestine and about twenty miles from Jerusalem. The allied troops are now invading Asia Minor from three sides, one British force advancing into Palestine from the Egyptian valley, while the Russians are fighting on the Persian front. It is believed here that if the British succeed in taking Jerusalem the American refugees there, numbering over a thousand, will choose to remain instead of attempting to proceed to Beirut to secure transportation to the United States as they had planned. The British capture of the city would also open a new route out of Turkey for the Americans who wished to return to the United States in any event.

300 CAPTIVES TAKEN INCLUDING REBEL LEADER AND HIS ENTIRE STAFF

Havana, March 8.—The following statement in part was issued at the palace last night by Senor Azpiazu, secretary of President Menocal: "Jose Niguel Gomez and his whole staff, together with more than 300 men belonging to his forces, were taken prisoner to-day by government troops under the command of Colonels Consuegra and Collazo. For three days Colonel Collazo had been close on the heels of Gomez, and last night another column under Col. Consuegra joined in the operations that resulted in what was probably the biggest pitched engagement in the history of Cuba. More than 3000 men took part in the engagement, and although full details have not yet been received, it is known that the rebels lost, besides the 300 prisoners, over 100 killed and a great many wounded. Among the prisoners are General Gomez's son, Miguel Mariano, Damazo Pasalodos, his secretary, Menocal and Dr. Matias Duque. These men will all be tried before the proper tribunals."

Reports from Cuba reaching New York are to the effect that the revolution there has assumed serious proportions, which the strict censorship at Havana prevents from becoming public. It is said that General Jose Gomez has over 5,000 armed men, and practically all of the Government forces have been sent against him, with Havana city defended by only a few rural guards.

MEMORIAL TABLET TO PAULINE JOHNSON UNVEILED YESTERDAY

Brant Historical Society Yesterday Honored the Indian Poetess, Whose Home Was Here; Instructive Addresses Delivered

An event long to be chronicled among the foremost commemorative occasions of this county, took place yesterday afternoon at the Conservatory of Music, when, in the presence of a large number of interested Brantfordites, friends and relatives and her ardent admirers, many of whom had journeyed from a distance in order to be present, a memorial tablet was unveiled in honor of Miss Pauline Johnson. The ceremony was graced by the presence of a number of Indian Chiefs from the Reserve, a circumstance that lent a decided distinction to the gathering convened to do honor to a daughter whom Brant county, and indeed the whole of the Dominion is proud to claim.

Mr. Standing, President T. W. Standing was supported on the platform by President Falconer of Toronto University, Chief Smith, His Honor Judge Hardy, the Rev. J. W. Gordon, Principal A. W. Burr, Mr. J. B. Gamble, Major Gordon Smith, and Mr. Paul Wickson, of Paris. In a brief opening address, the President pointed out that while Miss Johnson, by birth, belonged to this county, her achievements had been of such a wide scope and of such sterling quality, that the poetess was now claimed and honored by the entire country. In commemorating those attainments in the world of science, literature or music, Mr. Standing thought that the Historical Society were rendering a duty to the present generation, and to posterity, and cited the instance of Westminster Abbey, which edifice, he claimed stood as a lasting memorial to Britain's great men and famous women as an inspiration to others to emulate their example. He then briefly outlined the existence of the society, giving some early reminiscences in connection therewith and telling of the officers first associated at its inception, eight years ago. Since that time much work had been accomplished that would be of value to historians, and would develop a love of country, and a national spirit among those who came into contact with the work. Amid an impressive silence Mr. Standing then unveiled the tablet and displayed to the audience a beautiful creation in bronze, inscribed as follows:

In Memory of the Canadian Poetess, Emily Pauline Johnson
Te-Ka-Hain-Wa-Ka
A Mohawk, born March 10th, 1861, in Brant County
At "Chiefswood," Grand River Reserve of the Six Nations Indians, who died March 7th, 1913 at Vancouver, B.C., and after cremation was interred in Stanley Park, this tablet was erected in Brantford, Ontario, by the Brant Historical Society, March 7th, 1917.

Mr. S. P. Passmore, M.A., the designer of the tablet, and immediate past president of the Society, read telegrams expressing regret on the part of Miss E. Johnson, of Brantford, Ontario, and Mr. Allan Johnson, sister and brother of Miss Johnson, for their inability to be in attendance at the ceremony. Mr. Passmore continued reading the following instructive description of the memorial:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I desire to express the honor I feel in being allowed to take part in a programme in commemoration of Miss Pauline Johnson, who did so much by her writings for the honor of her people and of her country. In collecting materials for the tablet, I wish to acknowledge the valuable assistance of His Honor Judge Hardy, my colleague on the Memorial Committee, of Miss E. H. C. Johnson, sister of the deceased, and her brother Allan Johnson, for facts of family history; of Chief Hilton Hill, of the Indian office, for supplying with information in regard to the totems of the tribes or clans, while for many points of arrangement in the design of the tablet, the suggestions of Mrs. Passmore were of the greatest value. In memory of the Canadian poetess Emily Pauline Johnson, a Mohawk, born March 10, 1861, in Brant County, at "Chiefswood," Grand River Reserve of the Six Nations Indians, who died March 7th, 1913 at Vancouver, B.C., and after cremation was interred in Stanley Park, this tablet was erected in Brantford, Ontario, by the Brant Historical Society, March 7th, 1917. The language employed on the tablet, as well as the emblems, indicate a local and a national interest. The words, "Born in Brant County," emphasize the local feature, while in other phrases due prominence is given to the fact that the poetess was of Canadian Indian birth. The British and Canadian symbols will be explained in connection with the emblems. It will be noted that before interment in Stanley Park, Vancouver, B.C., the remains were cremated. This was in accordance with the wish of the deceased. In former times, indeed until this generation, or, perhaps, more strictly speaking, the last generation, few Indians bore two names. The late grandfather of the late poetess, called Jacob Johnson, was always known on the Reserve as old Tekahionwake, and as the family had no surname previous to Johnson, which old Tekahionwake was the first to bear, this (the family) adopted his name as their Indian surname, and therefore this word coming before the English name Johnson distinguishes a Tekahionwake Johnson from any other person of the name Johnson. The word means Double Wampum or Continued on page two Madrid, via Paris, March 8.—The cabinet is studying measures to institute a better distribution of food stuffs throughout the country. Every disposition will be made to ensure Spain to live on its own resources and restriction will be imposed on all articles not absolutely essential to the life of the country. Rain and snow storms are sweeping the entire peninsula, trains are stopped and communications interrupted. The express train from Irun, which ought to have arrived in Madrid at 9 o'clock last night, has not been heard from. She was last reported leaving Avila, fifty three miles northwest of Madrid, far behind schedule.

Amsterdam, via London, March 8.—Commenting on despatches from London, implying that Holland is playing Germany's game if she accepts what German dictates. The Courant repudiates the suggestion, maintaining that Holland did what was possible after the declaration of Germany's submarine warfare and that the only alternative was the breaking of relations with Germany which, according to authoritative British newspapers would be to attempt suicide. The Amsterdam Telegraph on the other hand, says the situation provides another typical example of the necessity for greater pressure from the outside on the Dutch government in order to get it to do its duty as a neutral and what is in its own interest. The newspaper adds that under the pressure of circumstances and Great Britain measures, the Dutch government is likely eventually to adopt a more active attitude.

CHURCHILL IS RESPONSIBLE FOR DARDANELLES EXPEDITION

Commission Inquiring Into The Campaign Submits a Majority Report Finding That Former First Lord of Admiralty Took Initiative in the Undertaking

By Courier Leased Wire
London, March 8.—The Dardanelles expedition as far as Great Britain was concerned, was undertaken on the initiative of Colonel Winston Spencer Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty, according to a majority report of the commission appointed to inquire into the responsibility for the expedition which was issued to-day. The report summarized the conclusions reached as follows:

First Considered
"The question of attacking the Dardanelles was, on the initiative of Mr. Churchill, brought under the consideration of the war council on November 25, 1914, as the ideal method of defending Egypt. It may reasonably be assumed that inasmuch as all the authorities concerned were prima facie in favor of a joint military rather than a purely naval attack, such an attack, if undertaken at all, would have been of the former rather than of the latter character, had not other circumstances led to a modification of the program. A communication from the Russian Government of January 2, introduced a fresh element into the case. The British Government considered that something must be done in response to it, and in this connection the question of attacking the Dardanelles was again raised. "The secretary of state for war declared that there were no troops immediately available for operations in the east and his statement was accepted by the war council, who took no steps to satisfy themselves by reports of estimates as to what troops were available then or in the near future. Had this been done, the commissioners think it would have been ascertained that sufficient troops would be available for a joint military and naval operation at an earlier date than supposed, but this matter was not adequately investigated by the war council. Thus the question before the war council on January 12 was whether no account of any kind should for the time being be undertaken or whether action should be taken by the fleet alone, the navy being held to be the only force available. "Political arguments, which were adduced to the war council in favor of a prompt and effective action of such were practicable, were valid of the highest importance, but the practicability of whatever action was proposed of equal importance. Mr. Churchill appears to have advocated an attack by ships alone before the war council on a certain amount of half-hearted and hesitating expert opinion, which favored a tentative or progressive scheme, beginning with an attack upon the outer forts. This attack, if successful, was to be followed by further operations against the main defenses of the Narrows. There does not appear to have been direct support or direct opposition from the responsible naval and military advisers. Lord Fisher and Sir James Wolfe Murray, in the practicability of carrying on the operations as approved by the war council, viz., to bombard and Continued on page five.

ROYALTY IS ENTERING INTO BUSINESS LIFE

King Peter of Serbia Runs a Barber Shop; Bulgarian Ruler a Magnate

HUN DUKES BUTCHERS While One Draws Revenue From a Corset Factory

By CARL GABE Copenhagen—The King of Spain is the proprietor of a large motor and bicycle factory near Madrid.

His All-Highest also receives dividends from a lager beer brewery in Hanover; and he is the sole owner of the big and flourishing porcelain works at Cadix, which return him a profit of about 9 per cent. on a capital of $900,000.

King Peter of Serbia owns a shaving saloon and chemist's shop in Belgrade. Before the war, his majesty was the agent for a well-known French motor car. The Queen of Holland supplies from her dairy near the palace at Het Loo a large proportion of milk consumed by buyers in Amsterdam.

The King of Wurtemberg draws a net profit of at least $50,000 a year from the hotels he runs in the Black Forest. The beautiful queen of sorely-stricken Roumania started, a few years ago, a factory for manufacturing toothpicks. So successful was this enterprise before the war, that her majesty was able to make quite a comfortable income out of it.

The czar of Russia is a timber merchant. The duke of Wurtemberg owns perhaps the largest corset factory in the world. The grand duke of Saxe-Weimar is a butcher, and, like all Huns, does a flourishing business. The archduchess Frederick of Austria invested nearly $2,500,000 in a candle-making factory near Budapest. The king of Denmark confines his commercial ventures to the stock exchange, and has made many considerable "deals." The king of Sweden has a large interest in a Stockholm brewery. A large brandy distillery fascinates the new emperor of Austria, who has much in the industry, which thrives remarkably well in the ramshackle empire. King Albert of Belgium, when a young man, courted fickle fortune as a stock speculator. He owned a printing press and an American paper at a salary of $15 a week. The king of Bulgaria enjoys the reputation of being the shrewdest and wildest of all royal business men. He owns theatres, cinemas, tobacco factories, dairies, and has made considerable sums on the Austrian steel exchange.

Laid at Rest

Mrs. Calhoun. The late Mrs. A. Calhoun was buried yesterday from the family residence, 52 Erie Ave. Rev. David Alexander delivered an impressive funeral address. Miss McCumber played the "Dead March" and sang a solo. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. Peachy, G. Almas, N. Kew, J. Weaver, D. H. Stiles, A. Cannon, and the Rev. Mr. Alexander. The casket was borne to the Reach Co. and placed in a beautiful wreath. The husband laid a lovely spray on the casket. Sprays were also sent from Mr. P. J. Calhoun, London; Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, London; Mr. and Mrs. Ling, Galt. The body was conveyed from the T. H. and B. to Jerseyville, and met there by a large number of friends, and interred among its kindred dust in the old cemetery within sight of the farm of her birth place. Mrs. Calhoun was born Sept. 16, 1857.

The immediate relatives left are Mrs. Howell, of Avon, Ont., sisters of deceased; also two brothers, Mr. Valentine Drake, Washington, U.S.; Mr. Horace Drake, Jerseyville, Ont., and the bereaved husband, Mr. J. A. Calhoun.

Friends from a distance were Mrs. C. N. Crawford, Detroit; Mrs. Wilson, Detroit; Mrs. E. Dafoe, Belmont; Mrs. P. J. Calhoun, London; Mrs. Kelly, London.

The family have the sincere sympathy of Eagle Place in this fresh bereavement.

NEWS OF NORFOLK

Successful Sale of Farm Stock Held at Helborn Farm

(From Our Own Correspondent) Simcoe, March 8.—The sale of farm stock at Helborn Farm, the residence of the late Jno. W. Lee, of Townsend, held yesterday, attracted a large attendance. Mr. Lee claimed that he was the oldest herdsman in Canada. His herd was well known among breeders and his Oxford Down Sheep, too, had a reputation. The L. E. and N. cars stopped at the farm crossing close to the barn all afternoon and facilitated traffic.

Pedigree cattle brought good money. The highest price paid for one animal was $300, and the lowest $20. There were several baby calves in the lot.

All Sheep Went to W. Swanton, of Villa Nova. The whole flock of sheep sold in pairs with or without lambs as they came were all purchased by Mr. W. Swanton, of Villa Nova. There were 19 sheep, one wether and about 13 lambs. The first pair with two lambs went for $54. The next pair with four lambs for $66. A single ewe, the last sold brought $38, the highest price paid. The lowest stock cost Mr. Swanton about $43, but he was apparently satisfied with the price.

Most of the Pedigree Cattle remain in Brant County. "Bonheur Princess Posch," 10 years old was purchased by Mr. Milton Porter of Port Dover for $135. "Rosa Bonheur Nierop," 7 years old brought $300 and was purchased by C. F. Jackson of Port Stanley, who also got "Lady Bonheur Schilling," 5 years at $130, "Lady Bonheur Posch," 12 years at $150 and "Korn dyke Spink," one year at $102.50.

A Halet, of Norwich was booked for "Helborn Beauty" Bonheur at $295, a six year old. Neil McEugan of Sheddin took home "Helborn Spinx Pride" three years old at $195 and Princess Bonheur Bessie" at $120, same age. Dr. Burt of Simcoe was in the bidding too. He landed "Rosa Bonheur Helborn" 3 years at $145. "Helborn Beauty Spink" at $232.50. "Princess Posch Schilling" at $195 and a twelve month baby for $195. F. Coates, of Simcoe, paid $195 for "Lady Bonheur Spink" three years old.

Wm. Overholt, of Simcoe got "Helborn Beauty Bonheur, five years old at $250. Fred Lingwood, of Villa Nova got a two year old for $120, and a year old calf for $120. N. C. Butler, of Nixon, paid $115 for a two year old just freshened.

The total realized from the sale of 23 female and male animals was $2486.50 or there abouts.

To The Editor

In your issue of last evening, I find certain strictures were meted out to the clergy of the city by a member of the executive of the committee on the semi-centennial celebration. If this referred merely to myself I would not bother noting it, but as others are involved, I feel it my duty as their representative to correct the statement so unjustly made.

The first representation was made to the Ministerial Association by the chairman who had in charge the church services for Sunday, and asking that representatives be appointed to meet with him. This was done and at the meeting held in the public library, a programme was submitted, involving considerable expense, and after discussion, it was given no assurance that the Ministerial Association had representation on the Committee. There the matter ended and we heard no more of the matter until we saw your issue last evening. I presume you had been asked for notice of the meeting on Tuesday night. If the speaker had merely asked if we had been notified, I presume he would have saved himself from making so unworthy and so unmanly a criticism as he did.

I which I just received this morning a letter from Mr. V. J. Charlton stating that owing to illness he had not been able to notify us that a representation was requested. He bears the P. O. stamp of March 8th, and I have shown it to the Editor that there may be no doubt. If this criticism represents the committee, I can be assured that the Ministerial Association will favorably consider sending a representative.

G. A. WOODSIDE, President Ministerial Association.

The Editor, Sir: In instructions of the special committee of the City Council on the High Cost of Living, I sent to the coal firm of F. H. Walsh a letter, copy of which is enclosed, and which would be to the public interest to publish. The same was registered, but it was returned unopened and marked "refused." This childish and farcical policy prevents the public from knowing the truth of the matter. It is returned unopened and marked "refused." This childish and farcical policy prevents the public from knowing the truth of the matter.

Your faithfully, GEORGE KEEN, Corresponding Secretary, High Cost of Living Committee, 136 Rawdon Street, Brantford, Mar. 5th, 1917.

Coal & Wood Merchants, Brantford.

Dear Sir—At a meeting of the High Cost of Living Committee of the City Council, held on Friday last, a letter addressed to you by the City Clerk, advising you to attend the meeting was returned sealed after the same had apparently been opened by you. It was reported to the committee that you had sent a verbal message therewith declining to accept the invitation.

On the previous Monday there appeared in the Brantford "Courier" a statement purporting to have been made by you in writing to that newspaper to the effect that all you were charging for coal was ten dollars per ton, five dollars per half ton and fifty cents per hundred. This statement does not coincide with representations made by citizens to the City Clerk, and who allege they have bought coal from you at much higher figures.

As the committee wishes to give you every reasonable opportunity to justify your position and business policy, I am instructed to give you a final invitation to appear before the same for that purpose. Therefore I am requesting you, on behalf of the Committee, to attend its next meeting, to be held in the City Hall on Friday next, the 9th instant at 8 p.m.

I am further to inform you that if you fail to attend such meeting it will be assumed you have nothing to say in your own defence, and the representations made to the Committee will be submitted to the Federal Minister of Labor, with the view to his taking such action against you as the circumstances may demand. I am, yours faithfully, GEORGE KEEN, Corresponding Secretary, High Cost of Living Committee.

MEMORIAL TABLET

Double Wampum Belts. This word must not be confused with that of the chieftainship of the father of the poetess. When nearly five centuries ago the Confederacy of the Five Nations was organized and established, there were fifty head chiefs appointed, and these constituted the hereditary chiefs, the lineal descendants of whom occupy seats in the council of the Six Nations at the present time. The chieftainship of Pauline Johnson's father comes fourth on the list of the original fifty chiefs, with the name Teyonohk. The emblem being a long narrow fern with leaves alternating on the stem, suggesting the meaning of double life, which the name signifies.

In the border of the tablet appear the names of the clans of the Six Nations, viz: Mohawk, Seneca, Onondaga, Cayuga and Tuscarora, the first five of whom form the original Five Nations, and had totems which are depicted on the tablet, viz: the bear, the wolf, the deer, the turtle and the snipe. Some tribes have as many as three totems. The Tuscarora did not belong to the original confederacy, have no totem.

At the top of the tablet in the center has been seen the Maple Leaf, our Canadian emblem. On one side of it a wreath formed of cones of the pine, the characteristic tree of the Indian; on the other a wreath of oak representing the state emblem of Britain, thus signifying the protection that Canada enjoys from the sons of the oak, united with the swartly sons of the pine-land.

The triple unity of the pine and the maple is depicted also in the corners of the tablet border—a loyal unity which we trust will never be broken.

At this juncture, Mrs. Leeming delighted the audience with a sweet and appropriate solo, which, in common with all her offerings of this nature, was heartily appreciated.

Judge Hardy presided over the proceedings, perhaps none were better qualified to speak of the character of the departed poetess than His Honor Judge Hardy, who was intimately acquainted with her in her lifetime, and has also had an active interest in all the work of the Historical Society, especially in the erected tablet. The words which he had to say in regard to the speaker, he considered as a debt of gratitude to an old friend, and in giving utterance to his thoughts on the occasion, he was influenced by feelings both of regret and pleasure.

Referring to the manifold beauties of the subject, the speaker, because he believed that a debt of gratitude was being discharged to the poetess, regret, because, as a citizen of Brantford, he realized that during her lifetime her manifold beauties had not received the recognition due them. "No nation," declared Judge Hardy, "can have its soil discovered, let itself, except by the message of a poetess, be known to the world."

The speaker, continuing, recalled the many pleasant features of the character of Miss Johnson, and eulogizing the beauty of her home life, and the manifold beauties of the province of nature that surrounded her childhood. Each member of the family were distinguished by remarkable qualities, and the speaker, in handling his subject, quickened and retained his hearers with a description of the many admirable qualities of the Johnsons. To Pauline herself, the speaker said, was due the credit of the poetess as a writer of nature, and through the medium of her works, revealed to those she loved, the secrets which she had learned.

President Falconer, of Toronto University, in an address greatly appreciated, dwelt at length on the many values to the nation, or indeed any nation, to be derived from the writings of her children and her daughters. The speaker had been impressed by the singularity of the expressiveness of the poems of this famous author and thought that her deep insight into Canadian life and deep conveyed through the exquisite language adopted in the poems, which seemed to catch the magic of the summer season, such as stirred the affections, and quickened the memories of all true Canadians. The outstanding features of Miss Johnson thought President Falconer, were her natural and genuine, and her musical language, her charming ability to interpret the spirit of nature, and the fire which seemed to consume her when relating the legends of her race of describing some familiar tragedy connected with it. He declared that she was inspired by a vigor which sprang from an inborn spirit, that burst its bounds and overflowed in original and vivid language. The mystical or religious element was also emphatic in her works and lent to them an indescribable charm. While most Canadian poets excel in descriptive work, the products of Miss Pauline Johnson demonstrated a wide range of ability unequalled as yet in this young country.

President Falconer congratulated the society on the work thus far accomplished and supported this work as a warning of how easily the traditions and customs of our race, in this country could be dissipated if not properly nurtured. In the past national feelings had to some extent been disjointed and ununited, and while certainly in our race, lacked a focusing power to concentrate them. During the past three years such a force had come to light with the support of the poetess, and in their common war—and had bound into one world-wide, the best elements of the various races comprising the Dominion. The history of Canada had impacted to us, a tradition which under the circumstances, it would be impossible for the other overseas dominions to possess, and thereby we were in a unique character, characterized by a certain uniqueness. The present crisis however, although

MORE BRITISH GAINS The arrows show location of recent gains.

Continuing, he aptly described it as the link between heaven and earth that might be compared to the aviator who ascending into the heavens on an earth made contrivance, with all its earthly limitations, and later returns to earth bringing with him some of the celestial influence of the heavenly regions. There were many other comparisons, all applicable that could be made, but Mr. Burt thought that they were all but an indication that the poet could be truly included among the company of glorious apostles who praise the Lord.

Reviewing the prominent eras of poetic success in the past, the speaker pointed out that added vigour had only been acquired through some great earthly stimulation. The first period had been brought about by the successes achieved by the Roman Empire and had been designated as the Augustan Age, while the Renaissance, or revival of learning, in which poetic productions, led by Shakespeare had excelled, had been the outcome of the zeal created in the Crusades. The heroic events through which we are now passing, Mr. Burt hoped would prove the inspiration for a renaissance of poetry, that would rival these other two periods for the brilliancy of its productions.

In concluding, fitting reference was made to the tablet itself. Mr. Burt declared that long after the teeth of time had devoured the bronze tablet, the poetess herself would be remembered through her achievements, which had placed her among the immortals, and had created for her an everlasting monument.

A hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Burt, and seconded by the Rev. G. A. Woodside, was presented to President Falconer.

The ceremony was brought to a conclusion by the singing of the National Anthem.

The treasurer of the Canadian Patriotic Fund acknowledges the following subscriptions:—Province of Ontario grant (second payment), $83,233; Hamilton and Wentworth County, $65,665; County of Perth, $4,000; Indians of Blood Reserve, $458.

undemonstrative, it must not be assumed that he was impervious to any benign influence exerted on his behalf. He emphatically declared that if equal opportunities of education were afforded to the Indian, that he would be apt to take advantage of them, and would be well up in the race with his white brothers. He voiced his appreciation of the efforts of the Brant Historical Society, and commended the good influence which it exerted, and concluded by moving a vote of thanks to them for their efforts on behalf of committing to memory, the life and works of Pauline Johnson. He was supported in this by Chief J. S. Johnson, of Oshweken, who seconded the motion. It was carried amid applause.

A double duty, or rather a dual privilege was laid upon him, said Principal A. W. Burt, that of expressing the gratitude of the audience for the brilliant and complete discourse of President Falconer, and speaking a few words on behalf of Pauline Johnson. The charge committed to his care, was however, not so difficult when it was realized that there was no incompatibility between praising the efforts of the orator and the works of a poet, they were so nearly akin, and only different manifestations of the same spirit. "What then is poetry?" inquired Mr. Burt.

Chief Smith.

A word from the early days of the country was granted to the audience by Chief A. G. Smith of the Mohawks. Chief Smith was pleased to have in his opinion, it would have a tendency to inspire his aboriginal brothers to greater efforts, that would bring out the best in their characters. He had been personally well acquainted with the entire family of which Pauline was a member, and was pleased to be able to say that she herself, had never been ashamed to claim her nationality as an Indian, and had always been the warmest of friends with her fellow Indians. He thought that the white race did not fully comprehend the Indian character, and warned them that just because the red man was

THE SITUATION

The Russian official statement announces that possession has now been gained of the Asadabad summit ten miles southwest of Hamadan and that pursuit of the enemy continues. With disaster in the region as well as on the Tigris—the British are now only twenty-eight miles from Bagdad—it begins to look more and more as if the Turks would be the first of the Central Powers to be practically eliminated.

On the British front matters during the last few hours have remained in a quiescent condition. No doubt Haig's men are busy in the work of consolidating ground now.

The renewed Verdun assault of the foe has died away and the French have once more conclusively demonstrated the ability to hold their own.

The sub activity of the Huns is not at present gleaming in any sense the results they expected. It is announced that a device now exists which enables detection of their presence. Whatever the reason, their career of terror has certainly been much curtailed.

The Home Rule incident in the British House with the Nationalists walking out in a body, is a regrettable thing during this period of hostilities but it is to be hoped that a way out may yet be found.

China is expected to soon sever diplomatic relations with Germany. That fact does not seem to be of paramount moment but has its significance nevertheless.

UP TO THE ORGAN

The Expositor is still trying to wriggle out of the box in which it has got itself relative to Conservative Liberal achievements in this Province and Dominion. The organ splurges around a good deal, but without success. Let it give a parallel, if it can, of Liberal achievement compared with this partial record of Conservative ditto.

For the Dominion; Confederation.
The National Policy.
The Canadian Pacific.
For the Province; Hydro Electric.
Prison Reform.
Workmen's Compensation Act.
Abolition of the bar.
Enfranchisement of women.
The organ has the floor.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The local Grit organ has still to trot out any big national move initiated by the Liberal party.

While the Expositor is making its boasts on behalf of the Grits, why does it exclude Commercial Union and Reciprocity—both moves tending to a step from London and towards Washington. Ashamed of them?

For thirty-five years the Liberals held power in Ontario, and all the time played into the hands of monopolies against the interests of the people. The school book ring and the giving of Niagara power to private corporations are simply two illustrations.

The Courier claims credit for the Conservative party for the Workmen's Compensation Act. There had been such an act on the statute books of the province for many years, but its provisions had become obsolete and inadequate, a fact which was only presented time after time by Mr. Rowell. Hence the present improved measure, for which the Conservative party is entitled to credit just to the same extent that it is entitled to credit for provincial prohibition and equal suffrage. And no more.—Expositor.

Bosh: In 1911, Proudfoot, Liberal member for Huron, introduced a measure which was inadequate. The Conservative Government had Sir W. R. Meredith look into the whole matter, and on his report a measure was framed which is rightly regarded as a model for the world. For thirty-five years the Liberals had a chance to introduce something. What did they do? Echo answers what?

A taxi-cab filled with young men and women plunged into the harbor at Baltimore, Md., and four were drowned. Several of the party were chorus girls, one of whom was drowned.

SOME SHOP

The Courier had an at home of its own last evening and the incident is the excuse for talking a little shop.

In the first place this institution is by all odds the oldest business in the city of any kind whatsoever, including also banks or any other financial concern. As a matter of fact there was very little money in vogue when this sheet made its bow to the public and subscriptions were first paid for in produce. The Genesis of the publication was the "Sentinel" started in 1833, and one of the first papers issued in Upper Canada. Its headquarters were in a frame building on the Colborne Street of today. In 1839 "The Courier" developed from that enterprise so that this year witnesses a 78th birthday anniversary. During all these years this paper has had its vicissitudes and has witnessed many changes not alone in the community but in the Dominion at large but it has held on its way successfully and is to-day in a stronger position than ever before in its long career.

Opposition it has had a-plenty. Our neighbor up the street was first started as a Conservative Journal for the friendly purpose of—well the plan was not a success. In later years a second Conservative sheet was started—The Telegram—which had a lively but precarious existence for a long time. On one occasion the bills of a Sheriff's Sale were on a Courier job press, but a local company was suddenly formed. All claims were paid and the Telegram existed for some years longer, only finally to be given up. Fires has twice destroyed the plant and once nearly so, but through a long list of experiences the Great Family Journal has come up smiling.

During its lengthy career it may be safely affirmed that it has from first to last honestly endeavored to help with others, in the upbuilding of the interests of this community. In fact in more than one instance it has adhered to a course which it thought to be right at personal loss.

It may perhaps be of interest to note that Major Lemmon was editor for over forty years and that the present editor, his nephew, has occupied the post for thirty-five years. It is doubtful if there is another such family record in the Dominion.

In many Brantford and Brant County homes The Courier has been a welcome and continuous visitor for over half a century—in fact in more than one case over sixty years—and we hope and believe that the confidence which has resulted in such an intimate family relationship will continue for an indefinite number of other years and that present families of a newer vintage so to speak, will also in the time to come enter into a like classification.

The bonds so formed have been mutually pleasing and in conclusion many thanks all round.

Y.M.C.A. Circus is Again Successful

Outclassing all former entertainments of a like nature, the fourth annual circus that made its debut at a crowded house at the Y. M. C. A. last night was pronounced an unqualified success by those who were able to be present. In every department it excelled, and from the moment of their entry until the time when they must reluctantly depart, there was not a dull second for the spectators, nor for an instant was the entertainment allowed to pall, so full was it of unexpected situations, and laughable contingencies.

There were many attractive features, which were introduced to a Brantford audience for the first time, including a realistic representation of the famous British "tank", a huge model being in operation on the gymnasium floor. Lifelike imitations of miniature dreadnoughts also entertained the audience with the battle of "Skagrock", one of the most famous battles of the Lilliputian warfare in which they engaged.

To single out any as star performers, would be a difficult task, all taking part doing the circus full justice, but perhaps the most mirth was provoked by Lloyd Smith, who, in a special return visit of Halley's comet, delighted the audience.

The side show, held in the boys' department, prior to the "big show" was also a huge success, and contained many interesting exhibits and revelations.

The event will be continued to-night and tomorrow evening and promises to draw as large crowds as turned out for the initial performance.

Obituary

WM. E. PETTIT.
The death occurred last night of Wm. E. Pettit, 102 Oxford Street, aged 61 years. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and three children, Harry of this city, Fred of Galt and Mrs. H. Garland of this city. The funeral will take place on Saturday to Mount Hope cemetery.

Cards were circulated on the campus of the University of Kansas, bearing the words, "Why enlist? You have nothing to gain and your life to lose."

PICTURESQUE RUINS OF CTESIPHON
These buildings date back to the sixth century. They are the ruins of the great palace. The huge arch of the hall is 83 feet wide and 95 feet high. The walls are 23 feet wide at their base, and are made of brick baked more than 1,300 years ago.

COURIER GET-TOGETHER DINNER SCORES THOROUGH SUCCESS

First Annual Event Held Last Evening and a Source of Great Enjoyment—Proceedings Were of a Thoroughly Enjoyable Nature

Co-operation, the keynote and first essential of all business undertakings, was never more in evidence than last evening on the occasion of The Brantford Courier's first annual "Get-together" and Staff Dinner, held in the Belmont hotel and attended by over thirty persons, members of the board of directors of the company, the stockholders of the concern and the staff of The Courier. Unqualified success in every view hailed the event, with the result that its permanence has been assured and future gatherings of a similar nature are looked forward to by all while the recollection of last evening will remain green in the memories of all for a very long time.

At 7.30 the gathering sat down to a delicious dinner in the dining-room of the Belmont, the meal being served in a manner reflecting the highest credit upon the institution, and being enjoyed most heartily by all present. An adjournment was then made to the hall of the O. E. F., where a happy social evening was passed in cards and other pastimes. The chair, favored by the presence of an excellent program. Mr. W. S. Brewster, president of the board of directors, briefly and appropriately welcomed the gathering, expressing his appreciation of the progress of The Courier and the cordiality between the directors and the staff. Mr. F. D. Reville, who occupied the chair, favored the assembly with a few brief reminiscences of newspaper work in past days, and sounded the need of co-operation between all the workers of the paper in order that its progress in the future should continue as steadily as a nature as had been previously recorded. SAD DEATH TAKES PLACE NEAR PARIS

Mrs. Wm. Wright Passes Away, Aged 31 Years; Other Paris News

Paris, March 8.—(From our own correspondent)—A very sad death and which has cast a gloom over the entire community, took place at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dawson, Brantford Township, on Tuesday, March 6th, in the person of their daughter, Sarah Jessie Dawson, beloved wife of Wm. Wright, in the 32nd year of her age. Deceased was born in Norfolk County and came with her parents here about ten years ago. Prior to her marriage she worked as a trained nurse, and through her loving sympathy and skill, had made many friends in and about this vicinity, who will learn of her demise with deep regret. The late Mrs. Wright was united in marriage in February of last year, to Mr. Wm. Wright, formerly of Galt, and left with her husband to take residence on his farm in Saskatchewan, coming back Christmas to spend the festive season under the parental roof, where she has since been visiting. Deceased was in her usual good health until about a week ago when in spite of all that loving friends and care could do, she gradually passed away, leaving a sorrowing husband and parents to mourn the loss of one so much respected in life. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at Davis cemetery. A very sad feature of the case is that a little baby daughter, who was born February 28th, has also since passed away, and the heart-broken parents will not be able to reach here until Saturday or Sunday. The little one will be buried with its mother.

In one of the English papers which arrived here this week, appeared the name and photograph of Pte. A. W. Dore, with a foot note that he had been awarded the Military Medal. Pte. Dore enlisted in Paris and went overseas with the 4th C.M.R. While here he boarded with Mrs. C. Ball, Paris Station, and worked in No. 1 mill. His many friends will be pleased to hear of his success on the field of battle.

The Sons of England held a most successful patriotic concert last evening in the central fire hall. Mr. J. A. Fisher, M. P., made a capital chairman, while the speakers for the evening were Rev. J. R. Seton-Adams, Mayor C. B. Robinson and the chairman, Quartettes, duets and songs, while the accompanists were Mrs. James Sinclair, Mrs. B. Travers, Miss Stella Berg, Jno. P. Mc Cammon, Murray Taylor, T. Southworth, Geo. T. Foster. Len Bates and the vocalists were Mrs. P. Oldham, Miss M. Shepherd and Mr. T. M. Aver. A goodly sum was realized which amount will go in aid of the Maple Leaf Club for patriotic work.

Corpl. Sinclair Knill is expected to arrive home this morning, and his friends are arranging to meet him at the front. He has seen considerable service, having crossed with the transport column, and later with the ammunition train. His brother Jack is still in the front with a machine gun section. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Knill of town.

The deciding game for championship in the town hockey league was played off last night between "Penguins" team and the Bush League. After one of the warmest games seen here for some time, the latter team won out by five goals to one, and the Thompson cup this year goes to the Bush League. Lorne Fraser of Toronto was brought up to specially referee the game.

There is strong growing feeling in town that the Council should co-operate with the suggestion of the Government in the planting of all vacant lots and other land wherever possible this year, with potatoes and beans.

A rear-end collision of two street cars in the tunnel under the Chicago river caused the death of one passenger and the injury of four others. Ordered by her husband of four weeks to leave the home, Mrs. James J. Buggy, 23, of Shamokin, Pa., murdered her three-year-old step-daughter.

FIFTY-SIX PLANES IN TWO DAYS

Unparalleled Record Set by British and French on Western Front

London, March 7.—Fifty-six aeroplanes have been brought or driven down on the western front in the last two days. More than half of these, 33, are asserted by German main headquarters to have been allied machines. Monday's and yesterday's communications from British headquarters admitted that six aeroplanes were brought down and 12 are missing. These numbers account for more than half of the German claim. The French Ministry of War does not publish losses, so it is impossible to say whether the remainder of the German claim is accurate. Of 23 German aeroplanes brought or driven down British airmen accounted for 2 and the French airmen and gunners the other three. The record of these two days is without parallel, since at any rate the battle of the Somme began on July 1, 1916. Eighteen machines, 11 German and 7 British, came involuntarily to earth on July 2. On February, 15 last 21 machines, 14 German and 7 allied, experienced this fate, but on no two successive days in all these months has there been such a tale of losses as disclosed in the official reports of Monday and Tuesday. Again on Wednesday the British report admitted the loss of four brought down and seven others missing, and says six German machines were brought or driven down, a total of 17.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately up on rising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

The Supreme Rules

To successfully sell goods there are two outstanding rules to follow:

1st. ESTABLISH THE QUALITY OF YOUR PRODUCT. The best advertising on earth will never sell an inferior article.

2nd. ADVERTISE. And do it continuously. People have short memories these days. Don't think for a moment that because you or your business are well known you do not need to advertise.

Keep your business before the public through the best local medium—THE DAILY COURIER.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT
The Courier acknowledges many thanks the receipt of $5 from Mr. Wm. Edwards, for the Bel. Relief fund.

TROUT CLUB
A meeting of the trout club is being held in the city council chamber at the city hall to-night.

BOARD OF TRADE
The ballots for the annual election of the Board of Trade are to be distributed on Monday by Secy Geo. Hately.

BAG PIPE BAND.
The proceedings at the Alfred Rink last night were greatly enhanced by the presence of a Highland bag pipe band of Hamilton, led by Mr. W. Dreaver, assisted by Mr. McGregor. On account of the weather, the low level of the upper floor was in a rather soft condition, on the lower floor was all that could be desired. A good sized crowd enjoyed the feature.

BOXING
Everything promises well for boxing tournament to be held in Grand Opera House on Friday night under the auspices of the 215th Battalion. Some fifteen bouts will be staged, each being of three round duration. The proceedings will commence at half past seven and expected will continue for at least three hours, as the events will rush off in rapid succession.

LETTER FROM FRONT.
This morning a letter was received by Lt.-Col. H. F. Leonard, of Private H. J. Jones who left Brantford to form a part of the first contingent, leaving Brantford on August 29th, 1914. Since then he has spent considerable time on the firing line, and returns Ted McDonald, Andy Williams, Garrow and Pte. Chambers, all known Brantford boys, whose states are all quite well. Just before leaving Brantford, Pte. Jones also served through the South African War, left in the custody of Lt.-Col. Leonard, the Queen's men then won by him.

LAST CHANCE. Courier readers should remember that to-night is the last opportunity to witness the magnificent production at the Grand Opera House, of "Intolerance."

WEDDING BELLS. On Wednesday evening at 113 Darling St., Mr. Arthur M. Schlarbaum, of Galt, Ont., and Miss Margaret Reid of Brantford, Ont., were united in marriage by Rev. G. A. Woodside, of Zion Church.

HAS RESIGNED. After a most successful six years' pastorate at Shenstone Memorial Baptist church, Rev. James Chapman last evening tendered to his parishioners his resignation in order to accept a call to Burlington. During the six years he has been charge of Shenstone church, wonderful progress has been made, and it will be with sincere regret that the parishioners will bid him adieu. The resignation takes effect at the end of March.

POLICE COURT. While the Ontario Temperance Act has been very effective here since its enforcement, a raid executed by Constables Monroe and Dowling of the police force, last night at half past nine, on a boarding house occupied by foreigners at 126 Alfred street, disclosed the fact that there was still "corn in Egypt." A touch-up ceremony was in progress, Bacchus being the object of adoration of those participating in the revelry. Wine, whiskey and beer in generous quantities were discovered and before Magistrate Livingston in the police court this morning charged by License Inspector Everett with keeping liquor in a boarding house. As there was some doubt as to the potency of the fluid, a delay of one week was decided upon to allow for analysis.

Tony Smierczok, his attire enhanced by the addition of two sacks, which in these times of coal scarcity looked suspicious, was taken in charge on the Grand Trunk tracks in the vicinity of the depot, by Mr. John Holding, a special officer of the company, and this morning parted with $5 and costs of $4.85, the price of a half ton of coal, for his indiscretion.

An old charge of alleged conversion against Clarence Stover, arising out of a misunderstanding, was amicably settled this morning, and the charges resting against him were dismissed.

A. W. Vansickle, a resident of the county was haled before the court today by his employee, Samuel Fisher, who claimed that some wages were owing to him. As his employer had displayed a reluctance in parting with the money, Fisher took the necessary steps, and argued so consistently that Vansickle was ordered to pay the complainant $8, and also to part with $4.70 costs.

CHARACTERISTIC

Local Grit Organ Makes Announcement at Variance With Facts

With characteristic precipitation, the Expositor asserted last night that Ald. Hollinrake had been selected to fill the position of the late Mr. J. T. Hewitt—an appointment, be it noted, which it claimed to have been made on the very day of the funeral of the late official.

The post will be filled in due order and there was certainly never any intention on the part of Mr. Hewitt or the expositors to rush matters in the unseemly way depicted by the organ.

Soldier's Wives Hold Meeting

A most enthusiastic meeting of the Soldiers' Wives and Mothers' Association, was held in the Dufferin School on Wednesday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock.

A great many questions were brought up and discussed and those present are undertaking to form the organization in Holmedale at once and elect their representatives to the main committee, which will be announced later on.

Those who were present took the names of the soldiers, their wives and mothers who were not at the meeting and will call on them within the next week or two, after which a social meeting will be held when the organization will be finally completed and officers elected.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH MEMORIAL SERVICE

Memory of Two Fallen Heroes at West Brant Anglican Church

Last Sunday evening a special and impressive memorial service was held at St. John's church for two of the young men of the congregation who have fallen in defence of the Empire, namely Private Fawson and Pte. Bull. Rev. Capt. McKegney preached, the rector conducting the service. The service was made still more impressive by the two buglers from the 215th bugle band who gave the "Last Post" for the fallen heroes. The choir followed the "Last Post" by singing the hymn "Passing Souls." The rector and congregation appreciate the assistance given by Captain McKegney and the two buglers.

The children's Lenten services are being well attended, and much interest being taken in the pictures exhibited.

The majority of the Anglican clergy of the city attended the funeral of the late Rev. A. Cameron, rector of Brantford, on Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Patterson-Smyth were guests at St. John's rectory on Tuesday.

EXCEPTIONALLY FINE CONCERT

Given in the Congregational Church

Choir and Assisting Artists Did Most Commendable Work

Although the weather last night was so very unfavorable, the Congregational church had a capacity crowd on the occasion of the choir concert. This choir is most efficient and is deservedly popular, as was shown last night. They put on a splendid program, each member of which was well rendered. Mr. Styles acted as leader in a notable way, and in the two numbers given by the choir, they responded to his baton in a most finished manner. The choir was ably assisted by Miss Edith Whitaker of Hamilton, a once-time member of the choir. She is an artist of high character, and the church people were all delighted to hear again their favorite. Besides Miss Whitaker, Miss Mildred Sanderson gave great pleasure to the audience in her charming violin selections. Miss Wilson of Detroit, who is an elocutionist of no mean order, was a stranger to this city, but all will be pleased to hear her if she should ever favor our city in the future. Mr. Crooker is always heard with pleasure, and he was in his usual good form. All the members of the choir did themselves and their organization great credit, and the church has reason to be proud of them.

Both Lord Fisher and Sir Arthur Wilson would have preferred a joint naval and military attack, but they did not express to the war council, and were not asked to express any opinion on the subject, and offered no objection to naval operations as they considered them experimental and such as could be discontinued if the first results obtained were not satisfactory. The commissioners think that was an obligation, first on the first lord, secondly on the prime minister, thirdly on one other member of the war council, to see that the views of the naval advisers were clearly put before the council, and that the naval advisers should have expressed their views to the council, whether asked or not, if they considered the project which the council was about to adopt was impracticable from a naval point of view. "Looking at the position which existed on January 13, 1915, the commissioners do not think the war council were justified in coming to the decision without much fuller investigation of the proposition which had been suggested to them. The commissioners hold that the possibility of making a surprise attack on Gallipoli offered such great military and political advantages that it was mistaken and ill-advised to sacrifice this possibility by deciding to undertake a purely naval attack which from its nature could not obtain completely the object set out in the terms of the decision. Hon. T. W. Crothers has hopes that the garment workers of Montreal and Toronto and their employers may reach an agreement settle the strike in progress in the former city and avert a strike in the latter. Sir Thomas Taylor formerly Chief Justice of Manitoba and a resident of Hamilton city for 15 years, passed away unexpectedly yesterday, having caught a chill while attending church last Sunday. Antonio Alizar, formerly a Russian soldier, was shot and fatally wounded by Chester Pa., policemen, after a siege of several hours and a continuous revolver duel. The Russian had an automatic revolver and fired from an upper window, while the policemen took cover behind trees and telephone poles, roping the street off and stopping the street cars and all traffic. At night the police entered the house and an exchange of shots at short range resulted in the Russian being wounded.

Why City of Petersburg Has Become Petrograd

Before the War Russian Capital Bore Name of German Origin; Today It Has Become Russianized Owing to Abhorrence of All Things Teuton

Before the war Russia's capital was Petersburg. Which is to say that Germany had fastened the name upon it, since "burg" or "berg" is pretty fair German for fortress or city. To-day it is Petrograd! The chief city has become Russianized in name that is to say. And that is an allegory, as is pointed out by one Isaac Don Levine in the following truthful and convincing article:

Russia was, but it is no longer to be Germanized. That is in part at least, what the war means to her, though it will be necessary to go back to near the beginning to make the thing quite evident. Prussia aimed simply at world domination. This aim was to be achieved through an alliance of the "three Emperors," German, Austrian and Russian. Germany controlled Austria politically. Germany's influence in Russia was at one time so powerful as to bring Prussia's designs near to realization.

For Russia and Germany, so far as the ruling classes were concerned, have been closely affiliated for generations. Historically and politically the governments of the two nations have much in common. The Russian Czar according to the findings of one historian has in his veins only a small fraction of Slav blood, as compared with German. His present wife is German. Most of his family are married to German princes and princesses. The functionaries and counsellors at the court are largely men and women of German extraction. The bureaucracy is full of men and women of German origin or German sympathies. The whole governmental machine was before the war permeated with if not dominated by Prussianism. Among all the great powers of Europe official Germany came nearest to official Russia in spirit. This fact alone would have sufficed to create a bond of mutual affection between Russia and Germany.

An Economic Bond But besides the historical and political bonds that existed between the two powers there came into existence in recent years a new bond, the economic bond. Germany had made gigantic strides in the field of industrial progress. Germany was successfully competing with Great Britain in the realm of international commerce. Great Britain had her vast colonial possessions from which to draw raw materials. Germany had found in Russia a substitute for the hollowed-out British system. So Germany invaded Russia economically. She monopolized Russian trade legally and illegally. Her commerce with Russia had her vast colonial possessions from which to draw raw materials.

Germany had the advantage also of territorial proximity. She drew on Russia's vast timber wealth, which was floated down directly into Germany from the Pripiet forest belt along a system of rivers. Germany got this timber at ridiculously low prices. She drew on Russia's vast resources, cattle reserves, in constantly increasing quantities. She paid for all raw materials bought in Russia much lower prices than her competitors paid for the same materials bought in Russia or elsewhere. She therefore could afford to compete with France and Great Britain. The competition was at the expense of enslaved Russia.

Germany Lacked Gold. Germany had thus cemented her old political influence on Russia with a newer economic domination. Political and commercial Germany were working hand in hand for the attainment of the Hohenzollern ambitions of conquest and world dominion. But, if Germany and Russia were so closely bonded, how did it come to pass that the two should fight each other. If Russia's ruling classes were friendly to Germany, how did they come to be engaged in a war against Germany? The answer to these questions is based chiefly on an economic factor. This economic factor was a result of the mentioned economic invasion of Russia by Germany. Germany failed to make this invasion complete. While she captured more than half of Russia's trade, she failed to pour capital to make investments in Russia. She failed to do so because she had no idle capital.

Germany's commercial and industrial development was in full swing and had not reached yet its apogee. She needed all the capital she could accumulate for further military and industrial expansion. All her industrial surpluses went into her enterprises along these lines. And there were none to spare. Germany had not yet had time to become a money-lending nation like France or Great Britain. Could Not Play the Game. While she could send her commercial agents to wind around the globe

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL ON THE THRIFT ISSUE

Need Felt for Issue of War Bonds of Smaller Denomination

STREET RAILWAYMEN Again Before Council on Salary Question

A general discussion of the proposed thrift campaign was the principal feature of the proceedings of the Trades and Labor Council last night. One delegate was anxious to know by whose authority the Trades and Labor Council was bracketed with the Board of Trade and the Social Service League to promote it.

Smaller Bonds Delegate Morieu felt, however, that a man who saved a few dollars would be ahead of the man who did not. He thought the national borrowing should be, as in other countries, in securities of smaller denominations to meet the means of working people. Care should also be taken to ensure that money saved, which might be badly needed, was not tied up for a term of years now.

Encourage Soldiers President Noble said he was on the executive of the Patriotic Fund, and approved more every day the wisdom of encouraging soldiers' wives to put a specific amount by every month. In illustration of the value of the thrift issue, he stated that the means of bare existence and dollars in the bank, and when their husbands came back they would not be under the necessity of accepting any job at any price, in order to secure the means of bare existence and by their competition, thereby reducing the wages of men already in employment. He had been told they should not interfere with the money of the women, but he felt they were really doing them a good service.

Hon. Delegate Keen suggested that while the purchasing power of money might, after the war, be low, the same being intended to liquidate capital outlay which was nevertheless fully represented by intrinsic assets. Then again the installment of $6,000 applied to paying the same being intended to liquidate capital outlay which was nevertheless fully represented by intrinsic assets. Then again the installment of $6,000 applied to paying the same being intended to liquidate capital outlay which was nevertheless fully represented by intrinsic assets.

The suggestion of a conference the News says: "The history of the last triennium is the history of the wrecks of abortive conferences," and adds: "It is the part of the Government and not Mr. Redmond to find a solution of the Irish problem. To throw back the task on Irishmen in an abdication of a government function that can only end in disaster."

Force Election? The Daily Telegraph's lobby correspondent goes so far as to say that it is believed they will form an active opposition and try to make the position of the government untenable with a view to forcing a general election. Probably in view of the adjournment of the debate and the general ignorance as to the ultimate Irish attitude, few papers comment editorially on the situation. The Liberal press discusses the crisis in the most serious terms and expresses the fear that grave consequences will follow. Government's Task. The Chronicle and the News cooperate with bitterness against Premier Lloyd George's speech especially in regard to his insistence on the non-coercion of Ulster. These papers say in offering a truncated Ireland the Premier was offering something that the Nationalists could not possibly accept and that, since the offer could only irritate, it had better not have been made. German Admiral Gives In Where Rear Admi

Soon afterwards the auxiliary cruiser Otranto appeared and a little later the armored cruiser Good Hope. The enemy's cramped manoeuvres with their object, I believe, of getting in front of the coast, which would have been very harmful to me.

I immediately ordered Scharrhorst and Giesenu to get all the boilers to work, and in fifteen minutes I was running at twenty knots against a heavy sea and got parallel to the enemy, but had to wait for other ships. The enemy was so offing as not to disturb me in the undertaking. The distance between us was about 18,000 yards.

When my ships—except the Nürnberg, which was nowhere in sight—had come up at ten minutes past 11 I began to diminish the distance. And when we were about 10,000 yards I ordered the firing to commence. The battle had begun, at first with a few changes, of course, in the line our own calmly.

I had manoeuvred so that the stern of the Nürnberg was directly in front of the moon in the east was not very full, but promised a bright night. There were scuds of rain in various directions.

My ships fired rapidly and with success against the big ships, Scharrhorst engaged Good Hope (Admiral Cradock's flagship), Giesenu fired on the Monmouth, and I engaged the Otranto, and the Dresden against Otranto. The last-named ship left the line after a time and I believe escaped.

Fires broke out in the Good Hope and Monmouth. There was a tremendous explosion in the form which looked like a splendid firework display against the dark sky. The glowing flames mingled with bright green stars, shot up to great height. I felt sure that the ship would sink; but no, she was still afloat, and the fight went on uninterrupted.

Meanwhile it had become dark; had diminished the distance between us to 5,000 yards, then I turned far that it gradually increased. The enemy's ships could only be made out by the fires, but the cannon was kept up against them and on ceased when the gunners could no longer aim. The enemy fire ceased, and I ordered the small cruisers to take up the pursuit. But as it seemed that the firing would get into touch with us and had a certainly fallen in with the Monmouth.

German Admiral Gives Impressions of Battle of Coronel, Where Rear Admiral Cradock Was Killed

The following description by Admiral von Spee, the German commander of the Battle of Coronel, fought off the Chilean coast on November 1, 1914, when the British cruisers Good Hope and Monmouth were sunk with all their men and the British commander, Rear-Admiral Sir C. Cradock, was killed, is published in The London Daily Mail. This document is of extreme interest, as von Spee perished a few weeks after his victory in the Battle of the Falkland Islands. It is a letter from him, which was sent to Europe in a neutral ship before he met with disaster and which is now published in English for the first time. It has appeared in Admiral Kirohoff's recent book "Der Seekrieg, 1914-15."

November 2, 1914.—Yesterday was All Saints' Day and a lucky day for us. I was cruising with the squadron northwards along the coast when I received intelligence that an English cruiser had put in to Coronel, a small coaling harbor near Concepcion.

As a warship cannot stay longer than twenty-four hours in a neutral port I determined to intercept her. I showed my ships so that the Nurnberg should run up before the harbor to see if the enemy ships were still in there, while my remaining ships waited somewhat farther out. At 12.25 my squadron was somewhat spread out when it was reported that two ships had been sighted in the west-south-west.

Ordering the other ships to join me I held in that direction for it was evident that they must be east and Glasgow. Soon afterwards the auxiliary cruiser Otranto appeared and then a little later the armored cruiser Good Hope. The enemy at once attempted some manoeuvres with the object, I believe, of getting nearer to the coast, which would have been very harmful to me.

I immediately ordered Scharnhorst and Gneisenau to get all their hulls to work, and in fifteen minutes I was running at twenty knots against a heavy sea and got parallel to the enemy, but had to wait the other ships. The enemy was so obliging as not to disturb me in this undertaking. The distance between us was about 18,000 yards.

When my ships—except the Nurnberg, which was nowhere in sight—had come up at ten minutes past six, I began to diminish the distance. And when we were about 10,000 yards off I ordered the main battery to open fire. The enemy had begun, and with a few changes, of course, I led the line quite calmly.

I had manoeuvred so that the sun in the west could not disturb me. The moon in the east was not yet up, and promised a bright night. There were scuds of rain in various directions.

My ships fired rapidly and with success against the big ships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau. Admiral Cradock's flagship, Gneisenau fired on the Monmouth, Leipzig against Glasgow, and the Dresden against Otranto. The last-named ship left the line after a time and I believe escaped.

Fires broke out in the Good Hope and Monmouth. There was a tremendous explosion in the former which looked like a splendid fireworks display against the dark sky. The glowing white flames mingled with bright green stars, shot up to a great height. I felt sure that the ship would sink; but no, she was still afloat, and the fight went on uninterrupted.

Meanwhile it had become dark. I had diminished the distance between us to 5,000 yards, then I turned so far that it gradually increased. The enemy's ships could only be made out by the fires, but the cannonade was kept up against them and only ceased when the gunners could no longer aim. The enemy fire had ceased, and I ordered the small cruisers to take up the pursuit. But as it seemed that he had succeeded in extinguishing the fires on board, no trace of him could be found, and steaming round the enemy's line, in order to get it into a favorable light, brought no further result. The artillery battle had lasted 52 minutes.

At 8.40 p.m. I was on a N.W. course and heard artillery fire ahead at a very great distance (estimated at 10 to 11 miles). I made towards it to help if necessary. It came from the Nurnberg, which had failed to get into touch with us and had accidentally fallen in with the Monmouth in flight. The latter listed heavily to the starboard side. Nurnberg went close in (ging dicht heran) and finished her off with gunfire. Monmouth turned over and went down.

Unfortunately the heavy seas rendered rescue work impossible, added to which the Nurnberg thought she had seen Good Hope in the vicinity—an assumption which was doubtless correct.

Probably in the moonlight at a great distance she mistook one of our cruisers for the Good Hope. I do not know what became of the latter. Lieutenant G., who had opportunity to observe, believed that she too had a heavy list, and when I recall the incidents I am inclined to think he was right, although during the battle I believed it to have been an appearance caused by the movements of the ship in a heavy sea. It is quite possible that she sank; in any case, she was completely disabled. The Glasgow could hardly be seen; it is supposed that she got hit too, but in my opinion she made good her escape.

Thus we are victorious along the whole line, and I thank God for the victory. We have been protected in an absolutely marvellous manner. I do not know what unfortunate circumstances could have prevailed with the opponent which deprived him of any and every success. The enthusiasm among our men is enormous. I was especially pleased that the Nurnberg, which, through no fault of her own, took no part in the battle itself, was still able at the end to contribute to our success.

If Good Hope has escaped, then in my opinion she will be compelled by her injuries to put into a Chilean harbor. In order to find out I am going tomorrow with Gneisenau and Nurnberg into Valparaiso. Should the Good Hope have sought refuge there I shall endeavor to have her disarmed and interned by the Chilean authorities, and shall then be rid of my strongest opponents.

Good Hope is bigger than Scharnhorst, but her artillery is not so powerful. It is true she has heavy guns, but only two of them. Monmouth, on the other hand, is inferior to the Scharnhorst, as she had only 6-in. guns. The English have another ship out here like the Monmouth, and I believe further, a ship of the line Queen's class, with 12-in. guns. Against the latter we could hardly do anything at all. If the English had kept their forces together then we should certainly have got the worst of it.

You can hardly imagine the joy which prevails among us. At least we have been able to add to the glory of our arms.

Nov. 3, 1914.
We have arrived at Valparaiso this morning. Legation Secretary von Erckert and Consul Gumprecht came on board. The news of our naval victory had not preceded us, but it very soon spread. On landing to visit the chief of the station there was a huge crowd round the landing stage, while groups here and there shouted "Hurrah!"

The Patriotic Civic Committee held a meeting to consider plans for raising a $150,000 fund for Windsor for 1917.

Take Cascarets to-night and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You'll wake up with a clear head, clean tongue, lively step, rosy skin and looking and feeling fit. Mothers can give a whole Cascaret to a sick, cross, bilious, feverish child any time—they are harmless—never gripe or sicken.

The photo shows the helpless victims of Hun Savagery as they arrived at Glasgow from Holyhead. It was a sad homecoming for the British-born who were returning to their native land; in most cases after many years' absence.

CAST-OFFS OF CONNIE MAY BECOME STARS

Kopf and Crane Expected to Prove High Class Performers Elsewhere

HEINE GROH SAYS Believes Kopf Able Successor to Buck Herzog

Connie Mack for the past two years is supposed to have had the worst ball team that ever took the field in a major league, and yet—and this looks like one of the upsets of baseball—two players who were not looted enough for the worst team in the majors are expected to be high-class performers this season with other major league clubs. Reference is made to Billy Kopf (Brady), who will be with Cincinnati, and Sam Crane who will be with Washington.

Kopf and Crane are shortstops. From 1916 until last season Mack experimented with several shortstops in the hope that one of them would fill the bill in case anything happened to Jack Barry.

Among these players were Claude Derrick, Billy Orr, Sam Crane, and Billy Kopf. None of them could fill the bill. Three of them were sent to the Baltimore club of the International League, and the other, Orr, to the Sacramento club. Orr and Derrick are still playing in the minor leagues, but Crane and Kopf have fought their way out of the trenches and back to the big leagues.

Crane was twice tried out by Manager Mack. Connie thought that he had a coming star in Sam, and a lot of time was spent in tutoring him in the fine points of the shortstop position, after he was brought on from the Raleigh club, which was managed by Connie Mack's son, Earl. Both times that Crane got try-outs he was sick and failed to show the class that was expected of him.

Where both Crane and Kopf fell down hard was in hitting. Connie certainly does love the player, and can lay the wood to the horsehide. Crane did excellent work for Baltimore last year, and recently Manager Griffith of the Washington club turned three players over to Manager Dunn of Baltimore for Crane. Griffith is confident that Crane will be able to jump into the place so long capably filled by George McBride.

Kopf was secured from Baltimore last summer by the Cincinnati Reds. He showed a lot of improvement from the time he left the Athletics, and his work made a hit with Manager Mathewson. It also impressed Heine Groh, the second sacker of the Reds, who says of Kopf:

"Billy Kopf is destined to fill that shortstop place so beautifully that the Cincinnati fans will not miss Herzog. During the 12 games that Kopf played with us last fall, I was on second and working with him. That little set of games was all that I needed to convince me that we had at last found Herzog's successor. Kopf was digging them up in the right and left and he was coming over to the base to do team plays with me just as though he had been there for seasons. He never hesitated or stood there with the ball in his hand, as so many youngsters do for a second or so while making up their minds what they ought to start with which base needs the ball the most. Neither did he commit the opposite mistakes; make hurried plays or rush in the wrong direction. He can hit and isn't a snail on bases, and as I have remarked, he is thinking in fields."

Connie Mack will pull for both Kopf and Crane to make good, but the Athletic's manager will continue to believe that he has picked the right man in Lawton Witt.

CHINA TO JOIN THE ENTENTE

Cabinet Favors Severance of Relations With Ger- many Immediately

PRESIDENT YIELDS To the Premier and Break is to Follow

Peking, March 7.—The immediate breaking off of relations with Germany is expected here and it is generally predicted that China will join the Entente.

The belief is due to the fact that despatches from Tien-Tsin say that Tzu-Chi-Jun, who resigned March 4 and left for Tien-Tsin, has decided to return to the capital immediately and resume the Premiership. It is said that President Li Yuan-Hung has agreed to give the cabinet full power to frame the foreign policy. The cabinet is known to favor the severing of relations with Germany and parliament is showing a disposition to follow the leadership of Tzu-Chi-Jun rather than that of the President.

A despatch from Peking March 4 said the cabinet had decided to join the United States in severing diplomatic relations with Germany but that the President refused to approve such action. Thereupon the Premier resigned and left for Tien-Tsin, accompanied by several other members of the Cabinet.

TWENTY-THREE BRITISH SHIPS SUNK IN WEEK

Hun Submarine Piracy Ex- periences Another Fal- ling Off in Past Week

AND TWELVE ATTACKS Of Subs. on Ships Were Un- successful

London, March 8.—An official statement issued yesterday says that 23 British merchant vessels were sunk by mine or submarine during the week ending March 4. Of these 14 were of 1,600 tons gross or over, and 9 were under 1,600 tons. In the same period, three British fishing vessels were sunk. The statement includes one merchant vessel and one fishing vessel sunk during the previous week, but not included in a previous statement.

Twelve British merchant vessels were unsuccessfully attacked by submarines during the week. The number of merchant vessels of all nationalities of more than 100 tons net arriving at United Kingdom ports during the week was 2,523. The number sailing was 2,477. These figures are exclusive of fishing and local craft.

McCAFFERY KICKS

Toronto, March 7.—President McCaffery, of the Toronto baseball club, is not satisfied with the International League schedule. He does not like the idea of having the Leafs away all August and home in September, which is the worst month of the year for baseball at the Island. He does not think that the arrangement will be continued for more than one year.

AGAINST H. C. OF L.

Victoria, B.C., March 7.—Government action to prevent increased cost of living was urged by A. J. Fisher, member for Fernie, B.C., yesterday in continuing the debate on the speech from the throne. He declared certain firms were rapidly securing influence in the distribution of essential articles of food.

PRISONERS ON TRIAL

London, March 8.—Mrs. Alice Wheelodon, who, with her daughters, Miss Ann Wheelodon and Mrs. Alfred Mason, and Mrs. Mason's husband, is on trial charged with conspiracy to murder Premier Lloyd George and Arthur Henderson, member of the war council, testified yesterday that poison was obtained for poisoning does. She admitted that she sympathized with conscientious objectors to military service, and said she was attempting to assist three of these objectors, including her son, to escape from the camp in which they were interned. She volunteered to obtain poison in order to poison dogs at the camp.

LENTEN RECIPES FOR HOUSEWIFE

Creamed
Two pounds boiled lobster meat. 1 pint of sweet milk, or 1-2 pint of cream. 1 tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper.

Remove the meat from tail, large claws, chop fine; place milk in a pan with butter; heat until butter melts turn in lobster meat; salt and pepper to taste and heat very hot; if cream is used add 1-2 cup of water before putting on the fire.

Stuffed Codfish
Clean a 3 pound fish, sprinkle with a little salt inside and outside, cut gashes one each side of the back bone stuff and sew; put slices of fat pork on strips of white cloth, sprinkle with a little pepper, brush over with melted butter; sprinkle over with a little flour; place around the fish small pieces of pork; bake one hour in hot oven; baste every 10 minutes after the fat begins to come out. Stuffing: One cup of bread crumbs, 1-4 cup of melted butter; 1-2 cup of cracker crumbs; 1 teaspoonful of onion juice; 1 cup of hot water; 1-2 teaspoonful salt; 1-2 teaspoonful of pepper; put a little water in the pan.

Boiled Mackerel and Parsley Sauce
Take nice, plump mackerel, wash well and scrape; tie up in a clean white cloth that has not been ironed; put in boiling water with a teaspoonful of salt; let boil 20 minutes; when taken up the skin and all large bones should be removed. Serve with sauce made as follows: Put 1 pint of milk on to boil; when it comes to a boil stir in 1 tablespoonful flour creamed with a tablespoonful butter and a little salt; stir until it thickens; add 2 tablespoonfuls finely chopped parsley and stir until well mixed.

Creamed Codfish
At 9 o'clock a.m. put salt codfish on back of stove in cold water; half an hour before dinner prepare potatoes, and take some of the water from fish to boil them in; pick the fish (nearly 1 pound) in strips before soaking; have 1 pint of milk heating; when near boiling have 2 tablespoonfuls flour creamed with 1-2 cup of cold water, and add a tumbler full of water from fish, and add cup hot water, then the thickened milk; cook with fish and lump of butter until thick cream; turn over cooked potatoes and take to the table; nice if fish is freshened day before for breakfast.

GIRLS! ACT NOW! HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Beautifully let it is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two week's use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine, and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Many Army Rumors
Court records, yellow with over two decades of life, show today that someone was selling certain army supplies. It meant that the Greener dropped out of the army world and until he "gave up" in Manchester a few weeks ago, nobody knew whether he was alive or dead. Many army rumors, as the years dragged on, credited him with fighting with the Boers of Magersfontein, located him in China, India, Canada, the United States and elsewhere. Greener's own story shows that he was no where during all the years, but living down the past as a mining prospector in the mountains of Quebec, Canada. It was in this isolated rendezvous that the tales of European battlefields reached the deserter and the call of the army was overpowering. It drew him back to England to face what might mean dishonorable death.

He is in the 60's but still erect and soldierly. His temples are whitened and there are lines in his face. He wears the simple uniform of a sapper and is soon destined for his further "come back" in northern France.

MYSTERY MAN OF ARMY BACK

Lure of Great War Calls Deserter From Remote Part of Chili

London, March 7.—Disappearance from the army under a cloud, 21 years a "mystery man" in South America and now ancient British court records are skeins revealed to-day in the story of the man who came back. Friends of Sergeant-Major Greener, Royal Engineers, have just learned the whole truth in connection with Green's sudden leave from his battalion headquarters at Aldershot in 1895.

The irresistible lure of the great war which called the deserter from a remote part of Chile caused him to appear before a court martial, again at Aldershot, just 21 years and three days after he was officially reported missing on the barracks room bulletin board. Desertion usually means death, but this court martial had only the heart to reduce its victim to the rank of private. It was back in the days when the Duke of Connaught was commander-in-chief of the Engineers. Greener had charge of a little yard and shed—the balloon works—a particular

SIDE TALKS BY RUTH CAMERON

IS HE MEAN?

A young married woman in our town was telling me about her brother-in-law one day. "He's terribly mean," she said; "he won't let Gertrude go anywhere or do anything. We're always trying to get them to go to the theatre or go off for the week end or things like that with us, but he says they can't afford it. Its all nonsense. He gets a good salary."

"Does Gertrude mind?" I asked. "Well, she won't admit she does. Everything John does is all right. But I know she must. She always loved a good time as much as I do. And I tell Harry if he treated me like that I'd get a divorce. If there's anything I hate it's a mean man. It's really no fun to go out with them either because they're always counting off their pennies. I'd be so ashamed if I were Gertrude."

Now meanness is unquestionably a vice, and more than that, like some other small minded vices such as covardice, a vice that is particularly hard to forgive.

But I have grave doubts if the brother-in-law is mean. The Critic Makes Me Doubt

The doubts come not from what I know of him,—I have never even met him,—but from what I know of his critics. Critics often take half their significance from those who make them.

And I know perfectly well that this critic's idea of meanness would be living within one's income and trying to save a little.

She isn't mean! Far from it! She spends every cent her husband earns, keeps him jumping to make more, and even goes into debt to tradespeople.

And not satisfied with living in that unnatural way, she must criticize other people who will not. There are many more like her and they do much harm by the false standards they set.

They Owe Everyone But They Have A Good Time

I know another couple who owe the dentist, the butcher, the grocer, yet go in for all sorts of good times. And when any of their friends will not join them, on the ground of too much expense, they say, "Oh be a sport."

It's a good thing to be a sport (in the best sense of this word); it is good to be happy, to live your life intensely while you can; but the unobtrusive yet all important foundations of all these goods, the sine qua non is the common honesty of paying one's debts.

I suppose I sound old fashioned but to me there is no meanness so dishonorable as that which carelessly and needlessly runs into debt,

Rippling Rhymes

CHANGED TIMES
In other times, when spring was near, the fans would talk, untrusting, about the team we'd have this year, to pennant fame aspiring. Down at the Blue Front sauerkraut store we'd gather, in the gloaming, and thrash the prospects o'er and o'er, our long china whistles combing. But now I seldom hear a spiel about the south-paw pitcher; the talk is of the steering wheel, and mixtures lean or richer. We labor at our punk cigars, and talk, like men and brothers, in-dorsing certain brands of cars, denouncing sundry others. We bask our stiff and ancient limbs, and lay aside our crutches, and talk of rubber tires and rims, of windshields, brakes and clutches. We talk of trips we mean to make, when winter hits the gravel; for all things mundane are a fake excepting motor travel. To talk baseball I sometimes try, but find the going rocky; the talk's of climbing hills on high, me much the grand old game has lost; its lorry station, in this—our town—perhaps the same throughout the carstruck nation!

THE ROBIN'S RAIN SONG

Once upon a time the earth became quite parched, because there was no rain for days and days. The trees moaned in the wind. The grain in the fields drooped their heads. Even the little flowers faded because there was no water to quench their thirst.

"The Winds held a meeting and decided because there was no water to quench their thirst. The West Wind held a meeting and decided on the errand.

"Why, oh, Cloud do we have no rain?" The earth was weeping. "If I had water you would be well come to it!" replied the Cloud.

The West Wind went back to the earth and told the fields and flowers but they only drooped their heads lower. Things went from bad to worse, until one day the Robin said he would see what he could do and he raised his pretty head and sang a doleful song.

"Oh, if I only had water!" cried the Cloud when he heard the Robin's song.

"Something must be done," said the West Wind, and he went to the Sea.

"The earth has no water. What shall we do?" he asked, and the Sea rolled his great waves as far as he could reach, but the waves would not return.

"Let me think," said the Sea. "Suppose you take a trip to the Sun. Perhaps he will know a way."

So the West Wind called on the Sun. The old Sun winked his great eye and pondered a while.

"Just the things I'll send my Sprites and they will bring the water to me. I'll give it to the Cloud. He in turn shall send it down to the earth," said the wise old Sun.

The West Wind returned to the earth and told his glad tidings to the trees and the flowers and they nodded their weary heads.

Soon the Sun sent out a Sunbeam that reached from the sky to the ocean and all day long his Sprites ran back and forth carrying water. When he thought there was

HELD FOR BAIL

Hoboken, N. J., March 7.—Fritz Kolb and Hans Schwartz arrested in connection with an alleged plot to destroy munitions for the Entente Allies, today were held for grand jury without bail. Two bombs found in Kolb's room were identified by the prisoners in court.

Clarence Ficke, who lives in a hotel here where Schwartz had been employed as a cook, told the police that early last Monday he met Schwartz and observing his fatigued condition, asked him where he had been. Schwartz replied, Ficke alleges, that he had been "out all night in a motor boat."

The police say trips to Black Tom, N. J., in a motor boat figure in the alleged scheme to blow up munitions.

"If advertising space in newspapers could be sold at standardized rates—based upon a fixed price per line for each thousand of circulation—space buyers would rejoice. At least, some of them seem to think that they would. But advertising space does not have a standardized VALUE, therefore cannot be sold at a standardized rate. IN THE CASE OF NO OTHER COMMODITY DOES QUALITY PLAY A STRONGER PART."—Editor and Publisher.

MISSSES' AND SMALL WOMEN'S DRESS.

By Anabel Worth

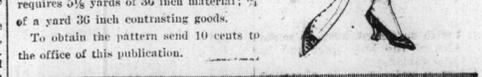

The simple little frock in this illustration is made indecible by the addition of a separate yoke belt of contrasting goods and a collar of unusual cut developed in material to match. The trimming fold on the cuff is a detail that adds to the originality expressed by the design.

The waist is cut very full and bloused at gathered waist line, where a three gore gathered skirt with the popular panel front is joined. A full length sleeve, with quite some fitted effect, is set in without fulness. It adds to the youthful lines of the dress to have the closing at the back, and a back closing is always decorative. The small buttons trimming the collar and yoke belt have decided style value.

Serge, gabardine, novelty checked material—also satin, pongee, taffeta and linen—are excellent weaves on the fashionable list for daytime frocks. This design is particularly suited to misses and small women. The simple suggestions on the pattern envelope are the only guide necessary to copy the model.

The dress pattern No. S175 cuts in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. To make in size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material; 3/4 of a yard 36 inch contrasting goods.

MINTO CITIZEN IS CHARGED WITH SEDITION

Alex. Stewart Accused of Uttering Seditious Words at Hamilton Market

Guelph, March 8.—For the first time in the history of the County of Wellington a citizen appeared before Magistrate Watt yesterday in the city of Guelph charged with one of the most serious offences possible in time of war, that of sedition. The name of the accused is Alexander Stewart, a Canadian-born citizen of Scotch parentage, fifty-two years old, a prosperous and highly respected citizen of the township of Minto, about a mile from the town of Harrison. He was given a preliminary hearing and committed for trial at the coming spring assizes.

The alleged offence was committed at the public market place at Harrison, on Thursday, February 1st. The chief witness on behalf of the crown was Mr. John Rowland Walker, a well-known drover and there was also the person present, a young farmer named Pridham. The following is the text of the charge laid against Stewart: "That on February 1st at Harrison, he spoke seditious words with intent to cause dissatisfaction and discontent among His Majesty's subjects, and promote public disorder, to wit, when referring to a certain loud voice of old men then present, no doubt they'll make them up for clothes for the soldiers (meaning thereby the soldiers of the Crown) and it's too good for them at that, and then referring to the said soldiers, 'they are only a lot of bums and loafers, and I have to help keep them.' And further, in reply to a question as to what he had done, 'I would not refer to any of my sons to fight for England,' and further, in answer to the question to him whether he did not know that England had protected him and given him all the liberties and freedom he had, and that he ought to be ashamed to talk so, he said, referring to the said soldiers, 'I can fight my own battles and get along without the old country or the soldiers helping me, because they are no good.'"

Says He Meant Some at Harrison The evidence offered by Mr. Rowland and Mr. Pridham was corroborative in every particular, and the conversation alleged to have taken place was stated by Stewart, who did not know Rowland, and that he had two sons at the front. Stewart has three sons, none of which is in khaki. Stewart admitted saying some of the things attributed to him, but declared that he had no recollection of the remarks to some who had enlisted around Harrison, who, he said were anything but creditable to the town. Mr. Nicol Jeffrey, counsel for the defendant, took the ground that Stewart was in the habit of passing jokes in a serious manner, and that this was one of them, but both witnesses declared he appeared very much in earnest. Mr. Rowland wrote the facts to the Militia Department some time ago, and the matter was turned over to Col. Sheppard, the Dominion Commissioner of Police, who took it up with the Attorney-General's Department at Toronto, and Col. MacDonald, County Crown Attorney, laid the information. The case is the talk of the whole community. Stewart was released on substantial bail being given.

CHOICE FOR PREMIER

By Courier Leased Wire. St. John, N.B., March 8.—At a conference of the opposition candidates elected and defeated in the recent provincial election held here yesterday, Walter E. Foster, of St. John, was declared the first choice for Premier of New Brunswick. Mr. Foster was defeated in St. John county in the election, but he announced that several seats have been offered him.

In the near future M. A. McCubbin, M.A., of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, told Niagara Falls, a law will have to be made against the moving of currant bushes and white pine trees from one part of the country to another so as to avoid the spread of white pine blister rust.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG DARKEN GREY HAIR

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray. Look young. Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Witch's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, it can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, and taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

RECIPES FOR BABY FOOD, ETC.

Lime Water.
A TEASPOONFUL of unslaked lime in a quart of boiled water. Shake in a large bottle such as a gem jar and let stand for twenty-four hours. The clear fluid standing on top may then be run off. This is Lime Water.

Barley Water.
Two level teaspoonsful of Robinson's or Brook's barley flour. Mix with water to make a paste. Add water to one pint. Boil for twenty minutes in double boiler. Strain through two thicknesses of cheese cloth. Add boiled water to make up that boiled away so as to have one pint.

Gruel.
Oatmeal or Barley. Use either Robinson's or Brook's barley flour or Robinson's oatmeal (groats). Take three teaspoonfuls of the flour. Add sufficient cold water to form a paste and add enough water to make a pint. Cook for twenty minutes in a double-boiler. Add a pinch of salt. Strain through two thicknesses of cheesecloth. The gruel should be thick enough to jelly when cold. If too thin, cook longer.

Whey.
To one quart of skimmed milk, heated to 105 Deg. F., add four teaspoonfuls of liquid rennet. Let stand in a cool place till the curd forms. Break up the curd with a fork and strain through four layers of cheesecloth. Heat the liquid (whey) to 155 Deg. F. and allow to cool gradually. Keep on ice. One quart of milk makes 24 ounces of whey.

Albumen Water.
To four ounces of water, heated to 104 Deg. F., add the white of one egg, stir with a knife until dissolved. Do not beat or shake. Strain through cheesecloth.

Broth.
Put a pound of meat in one pint of cold water. Add a pinch of salt. Cook slowly for three or four hours. Strain through two thicknesses of cheesecloth and cool. Remove all the fat.

Beef Juice.
Partially broil over coals, both sides of a half pound of the top of a round of beef. Cut in small pieces and squeeze out the juice, using a meat press or wooden lemon squeezer. Add a pinch of salt. Half a pound of beef makes two ounces of beef juice.

Scraped Beef.
Scrape a piece of round steak with a knife and then very slightly broil. Scraped beef is free from fibre and is better than minced beef.

Junket.
To one quart of whole milk heated to 105 Deg. F., add four teaspoonfuls of liquid rennet. Add a pinch of salt and a teaspoonful of granulated sugar. Let stand in a cool place till the curd forms. Strain off the liquid. The balance is junket.

Coddled Egg.
Put the egg in boiling water and immediately remove from the fire. Cover and let stand for seven or eight minutes. The white of the egg should be soft and not liquid.

Prune Juice.
Take half a pound of good prunes. Wash and soak in water over night. Cover with water and add half a teaspoonful of sugar. Cook in a double boiler until the prunes are perfectly tender. Strain through cheesecloth. The resulting liquid is prune juice.

Soap Suppository.
Take a piece of castile or common brown soap and cut out a portion one or two inches long, pointed at one end and about as thick as a lead pencil. This will make a very good suppository. Slightly wet when about to use it.

Boric Acid Solution (2 per cent.)
Put one tablespoonful of boric acid crystals in a clean eight-ounce bottle filled with boiled water. Shake the bottle. Not all the crystals will be dissolved, but the water will be a saturated (4 per cent.) solution. Some of this diluted with equal parts of boiled water will be a 2 per cent. solution. The 4 per cent. solution should be so labelled and used as a stock solution.

HUN PIRATES DISLIKE TASK

Submarine Crews Voluntarily Surrender to British Warships CAN NO LONGER HIDE Discovery Whereby Their Presence is Detected

London, March 7.—"A Londoner's Diary" in the Evening Standard contains the following which I have reason to believe is not lacking in substantial truth: "Some time ago I referred to rumors concerning docks full of captured submarines. I warned my readers against taking them too literally. I am now in a position to say that there is more substance than usual behind the present gossip of anti-submarine successes; whether any success has gone wrong with the supply ships or whether the Hun crews dislike their task, the fact remains that there have been surrenders. "I understand, too, that the men on our destroyers are elated over the results of a certain new method in fighting the submarine. It would be indiscreet to give particulars, but I am now in a position to state that the great difficulty of detecting the presence of the submarine has been met with considerable success. It is, as Jellicoe hinted, only a matter of time before the newest devices will operate with cumulative effect."

Nets Mustly Used Raymond Leston, an authority on submarines, writing in the Paris magazine, which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, it can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, and taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Nets give good results. The English have caught a large number of small submarines by using them. But placing them in position and keeping them in repair (they deteriorate rapidly) demand a large number of men, a considerable amount of floating material and much time. The use of nets, however, is still being continued and increased. "Explosives, mines, shells and torpedoes are in general use against submarines. Mines aid in fixed defence, as nets do, but while nets shelter men, their prey escape, a mine if touched, never does. "The shell is used for great distances, but to sink a submarine it is almost essential to surprise it at close range when on the surface, and to have the good luck to hit it within a minute, for it only needs one minute to disappear beneath the water.

"An ordinary torpedo is not of much use, being made for attacking a ship sailing on the surface and so have a horizontal trajectory and moving through the water at too slight depth. "Navy aeroplanes for submarine search work have for some time been supplied with bombs which are dropped when submarines are moving just below the surface, or when the weather conditions and the clearness of the water allow them to be seen when below. Several submarines have been sunk in this way.

"On board destroyers and patrol ships large sized grenades charged with an extremely powerful explosive are used. These grenades are exploded at any desired depth. Their effect is felt for eighty feet around with sufficient force to make the plates of the hull start and so sink the submarine. "When a submarine is signalled the patrol boat makes for her at top speed opening fire with its guns. The submarine plunges and continues its way at a sufficient depth to shelter her from shells. From time to time the periscope must be used to make sure of her direction and to note the attacker's position. The periscope process is a slight farrow which enables the patrol boat to follow the submarine. In fact an experienced eye can follow her by the disturbance her mast causes on the surface. As a submarine below the water does not move very quickly, her pursuer has only to take care of not losing track of her. "When the patrol boat is judged to be about over the submarine grenades are thrown into the sea every eighty feet. These explode as soon as they have reached the depth for which they are fixed. An oil stain on the surface is presumptive evidence that a submarine has been sunk. "No official estimate of the number of German submarines sunk has been issued by either the French or British Admiralty. The number is generally said to be between sixty and seventy."

FRENCH WARSHIP IS TORPEDOED

Captain, Six Officers and One Hundred of the Crew Perished

SURVIVORS FIRED ON Lured To Death by Pirates' Shout, "Comrades"

Paris, March 7.—The torpedo-destroyer Cassini, of the Mediterranean patrol service, was torpedoed by a submarine on February 28. According to the official statement the vessel sank in two minutes. The powder magazine having exploded, and the captain, six officers and 100 of the crew perished. The text of the announcement reads: "The torpedo-destroyer Cassini, of the Mediterranean patrol service, was submerged February 28 at one a.m.—the powder magazine having exploded, the vessel sank in less than two minutes. The captain, six officers and 100 of the crew perished. Two officers and 32 of the crew were saved. "According to the formal testimony of the survivors, who during the night sought to attain floating rafts, the shout of 'Approach comrades' could be heard. An instant later they perceived the dark outline of an enemy submarine, which fired a gun or machine gun shots and a shell, the latter touching a raft as it fell."

GREATEST MAN OF CENTURY

Was Tribute Paid to Kaiser Recently to Late Count Zeppelin

GENERAL POPULARITY Of Germany Shared by Zeppelin With Von Hindenburg

SACRIFICED FORTUNE To Give His Country Use His Dirigibles

By Courier Leased Wire. Berlin, March 10.—via London. The Berlin press is filled today with reviews of the life and achievement of Count Zeppelin, who shared with Field Marshal von Hindenburg, honor of national popularity. Count Zeppelin's name, however, was established when the field marshal was practically an unknown quantity and Berlin today recalls the time long gone by when airship flights from Dusseldorf to Berlin by way Bremen and Hamburg veer luxuriously thrills to be enjoyed at a mark a head. The obituary notices recall the vision of Count Zeppelin to the realization of his dream, which was only manifested in matches in his private fortune. The paper recalls the emperor's tribute to Count on his 75th birthday when termed him "the greatest man of the 20th century." Count Zeppelin was ill for more than two weeks and the immediate cause of his death was pneumonia. His death shroud is his favorite lan uniform in which he is known to the public. The mass oak and steel casket, in which will be buried, was sealed this afternoon and taken to Stuttgart, where the funeral will take place.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT FOR NORWAY

Would Have Department Industrial Supply in the Kingdom

By Courier Leased Wire. London, March 10.—The Norwegian Government has proposed the Council of State to be looking to create a department of industrial supply according to a Christiania despatch to Reuters. The proposed department would deal with questions concerning industrial organizations and the production trade in the country, in view of circumstances which are interfering with Norway's import trade.
