CONCENTRATE UPON GRANNAN AND CAMPBELL

That is Reported Plan of Government Forces, Fearful of Defeat in St. John

With each day that brings the general elections nearer the confidence of the opposition forces is increasing, while the spirits of the government supporters are drooping in a proportionate degree.

The sentiment in St. John is turning so strongly towards the opposition that the government leaders are now beginning to be dubious of their own position which they have been figuring. It is understood that the efforts of the party are to be concentrated on Messrs. Campbell and Grannan, while Messrs. Tilley and Potts will be left to shift for themselves.

In St. John county the opposition prospects are considered at least as bright. The action of the leader, W. E. Foster, in going into the county to meet the attorney-general has aroused strong enthusiasm and is assured of strong support. Mr. Bentley is one of the strongest men in the county, politically, and his election would not come as a surprise to the government forces.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS SUNK?

London, Feb. 20.—The Newfoundland fishing schooners (145 tons, and Dorothy (fifty-seven tons) have been sunk, so Lloyd's Shipping Agency announces.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—At the naval service department today it was said that no report had been received of the sinking of two Newfoundland fishing schooners, nor had there-latterly been any word of operations on this side of the Atlantic, but it may be said that every precaution has been taken. In naval circles here the view is expressed that if undersea warfare is to be resumed on the Atlantic seaboard, bigger game than fishing smacks would be gone after.

JURY'S VERDICT AFTER INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF FREDERICK LIGHT

That some of the men working on the steamship Corsican were careless when Frederick Light, a longshoreman, met his death by being struck with oil cakes which slipped from a sling last month, was the tenor of the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury last night after the evidence had been completed and submitted for their consideration. The accident occurred Jan. 27 and the unfortunate man died at the General Public Hospital two days later, having sustained a fracture of the skull.

The verdict as brought in last night was as follows: "We, the jury empaneled to inquire into the death of Frederick Light, of J. DeMille (N. B.), find that he died at the General Public Hospital on Jan. 29 at 8:25 a. m. from a fracture of the base of the skull received while working in the hold of the steamship Corsican on Jan. 27, 1917, about 5.50 p. m., produced, in our opinion, by being struck by oil cakes falling from a sling about to be lowered into the hold, due to the sling being imperfectly fastened.

WINTER RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but is not the cause. The cause is in the blood and the blood only. Victims of this winter malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which may shortly leave the victim pain-racked and helpless.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism, and that is through the blood. Liniments, hot applications, and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by the rich, red, new blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills afford. These pills are the blood drives out the poisonous acids and impurities, and the rheumatism disappears. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin curing yourself today by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They will drive out the old, red, new blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills afford. WAR PROSPECTS WORRY INSURANCE COMPANIES

Berlin, Feb. 20.—The threatened rupture in peaceful relations between Germany and the United States has created much uneasiness among American insurance companies with interests in Germany. Local offices have been thronged for the past few days by holders of German issued policies who are doubtful whether to continue to pay premiums. The result, it is thought, will prevent their investments.

Representatives of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the New York Mutual and Germania Life Insurance Companies, and the Fidelity Safe Deposit Company, through working details in instructions from the head offices have assured the uneasy ones that ample funds have been deposited with the proper authorities here to cover all German business.

Some of the American companies own much valuable real estate in Germany, the Equitable, for instance, whose building at Leipzig and Friedrichstrasse is one of the finest buildings in Berlin's business district.

Humble Employee is Looking for Votes for Big Job and Expects to Get Them

London, Feb. 20.—W. S. Webber, a baggage-master at the Lea Bridge station of the important Great Eastern Railway, has given the conservative British public a shock by announcing his candidacy for a seat on the railroad's board of directors. He is himself a small stockholder, and declares that he has the support of a large number of other small stockholders, whose aggregate voting power he hopes will be sufficient to win him his coveted place in the directorate. Most of his supporters are people whom he has met "on the job" during his long tenancy of his post as baggage-master.

Webber's announcement of his candidacy is a sequel to an animated controversy, which sprang up in February, 1914, on the question whether or not there is a lack of business talent among English railway employees. Climbing the ladder in the English railway service is a laborious process, and no one appreciated that fact more than Lord Claude Hamilton, the head of the Great Eastern, when, in defending the appointment of an American manager, he roused bitter public resentment by stating that there was an acknowledged dearth of first class men capable of filling even the minor positions.

Mr. Webber replied in the newspapers that there was plenty of good material on the Great Eastern, but that he had observed most good positions on the road were given to men "simply because they were muscians."

Denmark Fears Teuton Invasion

Reported That Germans Have Been Increasing the Number of Troops in Schleswig

London, Feb. 20.—The identical note of the three Scandinavian countries protesting against the German blockade policy possesses special significance in the case of Denmark. The London Times this morning printed the following despatch from its Scandinavian correspondent:

"In connection with recent messages in the Dutch press about the massing of German troops in the border districts near Holland, it may perhaps interest you to learn that for some time trustworthy reports have been reaching various Danish quarters to the effect that German troops in Schleswig have been increasing in number.

"During the early days of February when reports of Germany massing troops on the Dutch frontier were most specific, information reached London of Denmark being similarly menaced, and it was well-informed Scandinavian quarters of neutral territory by Germany would be in the Dutch press about the massing of German troops in the border districts near Holland, it may perhaps interest you to learn that for some time trustworthy reports have been reaching various Danish quarters to the effect that German troops in Schleswig have been increasing in number.

"From the military point of view the latter country would be able to offer more serious resistance than Denmark for insufficiency of artillery would be offset by the possibility of flooding tracts of land and thereby minimizing German superiority in the arm and making conditions of conflict such that Holland's man-power would have its fullest value. Denmark, on the other hand, could be overrun without difficulty. Apart from military considerations, there are others that indicate that Denmark is a more desirable booty than Holland.

"The courage of the little country in making a dignified protest against Germany's blockade under the circumstances excited admiration. In the opinion of careful observers here the course of future events as between Germany and the Scandinavian countries will be closely interlocked with developments in the situation between Germany and the United States."

Your Five Hundred Muscles

The five hundred muscles in the human body depend on pure and rich blood for their health and contractile energy which is the ability to labor. If they are given impure blood they become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity (the arm's efficiency, and there is incapacity to perform the usual amount of labor.

What a great blessing Hood's Sarsaparilla has been to the many tolling thousands whose blood it has made and kept pure and rich! This medicine cleanses the blood of all humors, inherited or acquired, and strengthens and tones the whole system. It is important to be sure that you get Hood's Sarsaparilla when you ask for it. No substitute for it is like it.

Two More Victoria Crosses

Two more Victoria Crosses have been conferred, the recipients being Captain W. A. Bloomfield, Scots Corps, South African Mounted Brigade, and Temporary Lieutenant E. P. Bennett, Worcestershire Regiment. Captain Bloomfield passed through four hundred yards of fire-swept ground to rescue a wounded corporal. Lieutenant Bennett, by his personal example of courage, rallied an attack and reached his objective, which he at once took steps to consolidate, though under heavy fire. He himself was wounded, but remained in command.

Inquiry Into Charges Against Street Superintendent

FINDING TO BE GIVEN LATER

Mr. Winchester Defends Himself and Presents Evidence to Show That He Was Not Lax in His Duty

"This investigation has served to receive the minds of those of us who have been accused of condoning evil, and instead of fastening a crime upon Mr. Winchester, it is proved to be a farce," said Commissioner McLellan yesterday afternoon in his closing remarks at the investigation of the charges brought by Commissioner of Public Works G. Fred Fisher against Albert Winchester, the suspended superintendent of streets.

Three commissioners, a police officer, five citizens and Mr. Winchester gave evidence before the common council that sat as a special committee, and at the conclusion of the two hour session it was agreed that the members of the council would go over the testimony which was taken down by Miss B. Cliff, city hall stenographer, before rendering a formal verdict.

Commissioners Fisher, McLellan, Russell, Police Sergeant George Baxter, W. J. Crawford, a plumber, Walter Amund, of Mecklenburg street, George Keirstead and Mr. Winchester were called to the stand and gave testimony under oath.

Several interested citizens attended the investigation and a half dozen other spectators gathered in the ante-room adjoining the committee room.

Mayor Hayes, in calling the meeting to order, said the council was meeting as a special committee to consider the charges made by Commissioner Fisher against Albert Winchester, former superintendent of streets. The mayor said that the commissioner should first state his charge and seek to establish it, and then Mr. Winchester would have the opportunity of defending himself.

Commissioner Fisher.

In accordance with a request made by Commissioner McLellan, Commissioner Fisher was sworn in as the first witness.

Commissioner Fisher declared upon being closely questioned in a preliminary manner, that he felt this was an investigation to set matter right before the people and that the council was not sitting as a jury or court of judgment.

Commissioner McLellan objected to this statement, inasmuch as the council certainly was sitting as a court of judgment.

The commissioner in stating his charge of certifying to return a sidewalk guarantee in being closely questioned in a preliminary manner, that he never had any previous trouble with sidewalk repairs made by Mr. Winchester, but that he was in office until Mr. Fisher had come in, and that he never even saw any of the money that figures in the transactions, but that he never even signed a certificate and that he always inspected the job before signing a paper enabling the house occupant to obtain his guarantee.

"At Amland's," said Mr. Winchester, "the sidewalk was very bad before my trench or cut was made."

"Have you been asked by Commissioner Fisher for an apology in connection with these charges?" asked Commissioner McLellan.

"Yes, I have," said Mr. Winchester. "I have always carried out the orders given me by Commissioner Fisher to the best of my ability?" was a question put by Commissioner McLellan.

"Yes, I have; that's my business," he replied.

"I consider when a sidewalk is all cracked and broken on either side of a cut that the city should repair it without cost to the abutter, but where the sidewalk is good I make a measurement and put in the guarantee slip how many yards are to be restored."

Sergeant George Baxter was then called and the gist of his testimony was that he had been asked by Mr. Winchester to sign a guarantee until work had been done to the general satisfaction of Mr. Winchester.

W. J. Crawford, a member of a plumbing firm, and who has had wide experience in installing water sewer systems, told of how Mr. Winchester had compelled him on more than one occasion to fully and satisfactorily restore the sidewalk and streets.

"On one job I came to city hall at least ten times before I could get back my $20 guarantee. I thought Mr. Winchester was too strict," said Mr. Crawford.

George Keirstead, who had some experience in attempting to secure the return of sidewalk guarantee, also told of his difficulty in trying to have conditions certified until Mr. Winchester had been thoroughly satisfied with conditions.

At the conclusion of the testimony Commissioner McLellan said: "This investigation has served to relieve the mind of those of us who have been accused of condoning evil, and instead of fastening a crime upon Mr. Winchester, it has proved a farce. The impression has gone abroad that the street superintendent had done a dishonest act, and it is very evident from the testimony submitted that he had nothing to do with any money, and has certified to sidewalk restorations only when in his opinion he was sure the work had been properly done."

Commissioner Wignome spoke along the same lines, saying that the investigation had filled the purpose for which it was held, and that it was plainly shown that Mr. Winchester had not touched or had any part in the actual distribution of the money.

A motion was here made to adjourn, with the announcement that the testimony would be reviewed and a verdict rendered later.

IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Feb. 19.—There were strong indications tonight that unless some sensational development precipitates immediate action, President Wilson's next step in the crisis with Germany will be postponed until a few days before congress adjourns for the session, a week from next Sunday.

The belief still prevalent in official quarters and at the capital that the president intends to ask congress for authority to protect Americans and their ships from illegal submarine attacks, and as he is known to want no extra session, if it can be avoided, it is regarded as certain that he will address a joint meeting of the senate and house before March 4. It was stated authoritatively tonight, however, that nothing toward that end had been done since the president visited the capital and discussed the subject with senators Saturday evening.

Rev. Mr. Hooper's Resignation

Rev. E. B. Hooper, whose resignation has been accepted by the vestry of St. Paul's Episcopal church, had been rector of the church for eight years, previous to which he had been located in Montreal. In accordance with the policy adopted by other Anglican churches in Canada, Rev. Mr. Hooper was asked to return to his church before April, on the grounds that he was needed at home more than in England. He replied that he considered his hospital work more important and, as he intended to continue as an army chaplain until the end of the war, he tendered his resignation. In accepting the resignation, the vestry expressed their regret at having to do so. Before the war, Mr. Hooper was chaplain of the 62nd regiment and of St. George's Society. He went overseas as chaplain with the 26th battalion and, after a period of service at the front with them, was invalided to England. Since then he has been ministering to the Canadian wounded in English hospitals.

A Lieutenant-Colonel's Parcels

A lieutenant-colonel who was taken prisoner by the Turks at Kut writes: "I have only slept in a bed twice in the last six months. A few days ago I bought a couple of packing cases. These form my couch and are most comfortable, softer than the floor, and keep me out of the draughts and dust. I hear some parcels have come up by the mail. I hope there may be some for me. One feels like a schoolboy getting a hamper!"

DRASTIC RESTRICTIONS ON IMPORTS INTO BRITAIN

London, Feb. 19.—Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, stated in the house of commons this afternoon that the British government had decided upon very drastic restrictions on imports. The new measures, he added, would affect the Allies of Great Britain and the British dominions.

A statement regarding the steps to be taken, he said, would be made on Thursday. This statement was to have been made by Premier Lloyd George today, but the delivery of his speech was postponed because of unexpected delay in the completion of necessary negotiations with the dominions and Allies and neutral countries.

GENERAL FUNSTON DIES SUDDENLY

San Antonio, Feb. 19.—Major-General Frederick Funston, commander of the American forces on the Mexican border, collapsed in a hotel here tonight and expired in a short time.

Physicians who were hurriedly summoned gave the cause of death as acute indigestion. General Funston had just finished dinner, and was playing with a little child when stricken.

Officer Who Fought a Machine Gun A writer in T. P.'s Journal reports how one Warwick officer fought a duel with a German machine gun. This gun was firing down a communication trench at the British barricade in a trench just captured. The officer took a rifle and began to fire on the German gun crew. They were well protected, but he was a crack shot, and with two men acting as loaders, he fired steadily at the enemy. It was a duel—machine gun against rifle—and manvously, the rifle won.

DIAMOND CURB MARKET ONE RESULT OF WAR London, Feb. 20.—A new curb market has sprung into existence in London since the war. Its headquarters is in Hatton Gardens, home of the wholesale jewelry trade; and its dealings are not in stocks and bonds, but in diamonds and other precious stones. Most of the dealers are trades which, before the war, would have taken place in Antwerp and the brokers are silent, elderly men of various nationalities—Russians, Belgians and Lithuanians pronouncing thousands of dollars worth of stones change hands daily in this strange street market. Hatton Gardens is a short, narrow street, flanked on either side by the sombre buildings of the big wholesale jewelry houses. Under the shadow of these buildings will be found every day the same groups of traders, among them some of the world's finest jewel experts, although their outward appearance scarcely indicates it. These men, too, know the secret of getting about Europe in war time, as much of their work comes from obscure corners of the continent. Strangers are not welcome on the Hatton Gardens curb. The little paper packets of jewels are hurriedly consigned to their owners' pockets if a stranger ventures to stop and crane his neck toward the treasure. The Last Straw "Well, did he pay you?" asked the wife of a dentist who had been to collect a bill for a full set of false teeth that he had made for a man almost a year before. "Pay me?" growled the dentist. "Not only did he refuse to pay me, but he actually had the effrontery to gnash at me—with my teeth!"

give way to passion. One might extol his almost childlike simplicity and trustfulness of others, so strangely blended with the most brilliant faculties as a financier. Posterity remembers him chiefly as "the founder of the Bank of England," emphasizing kindly, albeit late, his one success. But the man is best described as an incurable idealist, a "splendid failure." Many a mile he had traversed since the day when he tramp- ed England as a packman, yet one can imagine him smiling with a secret hope, even on the brink of darkness.

"Council for one side objected to a person whose name was on the court's register for some purpose or other, on the ground that he was dead. The coun- sel on the other side declined to accept the assurance, and demanded conclusive testimony on the point.

"Whereupon counsel for the other side arose and gave corroborative evidence as to the decease of the man in question.

"But, Sir, how do you know the man's name?" demanded opposing counsel.

"Well, was the reply, "I don't know it's very difficult to know."

"As I suspected. You don't know whether he's dead or not?"

"No. But I do know this--they bur- ied him about a

CRUELTY CASES OF LAST YEAR

(Continued from page 1.) As to the ill-treatment of horses, the small boy teamsters are the cause of almost all of the cases referred to in the tabulated statement and it is one of the many hard cases to deal with owing to the fact that often their acts are noticed quite a distance away, too far to attract their attention, and as in too many instances there is no name or number on the wagon or sled, it is hard to get their names. We have a city by-law which, if enforced, would compel owners of such vehicles to be numbered, and would help me to get at the names of the boys, also the owners of the horses. Speaking on this matter I sincerely express the wish that there could be forced upon the grocers and butchers in some way an earlier closing on Saturday night, as custom now controls. Surely it is a sacrifice to an unreasonable practice which keeps the grocer and butcher so late at their business on the last day of the week and imposes upon their horses a long day and some hard hours at night. You can often hear late Saturday night or early Sunday morning these wagons rattling along at a high speed. Too often these drivers are thoughtless and irresponsible lads, who ought not to be trusted with the care of tired animals in the middle of the night, because of the desire of the drivers to have his work finished, and helped by the temptation of the highest street to the highest speed. But even if they were the most careful of men their Saturday hours could be shortened with advantage to themselves and their horse and with no disadvantage to the community, I have enlarged a good deal in this matter in view of in some way bringing before the public a remedy for what might be called an act of cruelty not only to the tired horses, but to the boys and merchants who are kept at their work so late Saturday nights. If the ladies of the household would only take this matter into consideration and make it a point to order their Saturday supplies early in the day the source of trouble would be very much lessened. Ladies please think this matter over seriously and see if you can help us in relieving the poor horse of such suffering. A few years ago we had printed on a post card, the Delivery Appeal. It read as follows:--"To the Lady of the House:--Please order all your supplies for the day early in the morning and save my tired legs another trip, for it is hard and fast driving that kills me. I know you have not thought of this before or you would be more considerate of me. Appealingly Yours, S. M. WETMORE, Secretary and agent."

advice which they have so freely given me in my work. Mr. Frink is ever on the alert for any acts of cruelty in his travels around the city and has dealt with many cases coming under his notice. Mr. Kelly is always ready and willing with his valuable legal advice when called upon and in almost all the cases taken to court he has been there with me to conduct our cases and which often takes very much of his time. Respectfully submitted, S. M. WETMORE, Secretary and agent.

In making my third annual report of the business of the Fredericton Branch of your society, I beg leave to say that we have had another successful year; that interest in our work has been well sustained; that while our membership for various reasons, more especially on account of the many demands resultant from the war, has fallen off somewhat, our financial standing continues satisfactory, enabling us to meet all liabilities, and to start the new year with a substantial balance. Our agent has been active in pushing the aims of the society, and since its organization there is a noticeable absence of cruelty to animals. Many cases have been pushed against offenders, especially the owners of old and decrepit horses.

I have again to acknowledge the sustained interest of Miss Jeanette Beverly, our efficient collector for the past three years, and it is largely through her efforts that our society has continued in good financial standing. Influenza or La Grippe. It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for Influenza or La Grippe. An article in the "Lancet" Clinic, Dr. James Bell of New York City says he is convinced that the best production is both unnecessary and injurious. When called to a child which occasionally patients is usually seen when the fever is present, as the child which occasionally users in the disease, has practically passed away. Dr. Bell then orders that the bowels be opened freely with salts, or citrate of magnesia. For the high fever, severe headache, pain and general soreness, one anti-influenza tablet every three hours is quickly followed by complete relief. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headache, neuralgia and all aches.

WILL ENFORCE PROHIBITION

The opposition party, if placed in power, will enforce the prohibitory law which is on the statute books and which will come into effect on May 1.

W. E. Foster has publicly declared over and over again that this is the policy of the opposition. His supporters endorse it.

Any statement to the contrary is a deliberate falsehood told to shield a government that is afraid of the people.

Do Athletes Make Best Soldiers?

Writing in the New York Tribune, W. O. McGeehan calls attention to the fact that while the French as a nation were the poorest athletes in the world, they proved the best soldiers, or at least as good as the best. He does not draw any conclusion from this, preferring to treat it as the exception which proves the rule, and expresses his belief that compulsory physical training in connection with compulsory military service is a sound principle.

No doubt the fighting ability of France has been the greatest sensation of the war. The French people were not expected to do what they have done, and this was due to the common mistake that the boulevardiers of Paris were the people that most visitors saw; and they have done their share of the stiff fighting, but they have not played the part that the French peasant and mechanic have played. With the French peasant and mechanic, however, most visitors to France had little to do.

At the Olympic Games

It is to be admitted that at the last Olympic games the representatives of France made a wretched showing. In the track and field competitions at Stockholm, France had just one representative. This was Jean Bouin, and by finishing second to a Finn, Koehlemann, in the 5,000 metre race, he saved his country from a zero in these competitions. Bouin was killed at the battle of the Marne. In the minor Olympic sports France captured four first prizes, winning the riding competition, the tennis championship in covered courts, the competition for shooting with army rifles and the yacht race of the six metre class. The fact that French soldiers did win the rifle-shooting competition ought to have warned anyone inclined to assume that to be a good soldier it is necessary to be a good athlete. France also won some second prizes, but if military prowess were to be judged by the attainments of athletes, then France would be the United States as Roumania is to Germany. The United States was the great athletic champion at Stockholm.

French Attitude Toward Sport

The fact is that France, until comparatively recent years, has been indifferent to athletics. She has never had a national team, and she has never had any inclination to outdoor games and sports that the Anglo-Saxons have developed. Some sixty years ago I. Hope, an English barrister, wrote a book on "Britanny and the Chase, With Hints on French Affairs," in which he deplored the attitude of the French to his favorite sport. He said: "The Frenchman's inferiority in the chase is great; no resource following of the object with quiet and skill and a firm determination to get at it, enjoying the while the free air of the hillside, the open scenery, the charms of dell and glade; but all noise and bustle, talking, now singing some home refrain, now howling to the dog, or diverting to rest or to light the eternal pipe." Those who have enjoyed the "Exploits of Brigadier General" will recall in this connection the episode of the brigadier who slew the fox.

Darcy Seems To Be Getting in Bad

Says He Has Dismissed Sullivan and Refuses to Live Up to Contract Signed by Him

New York, Feb. 16.—Les Darcy today began to be about as unpopular with the sport loving public in New York as it is possible for a man who has been placed upon a pedestal to be. Following an announcement to the United Press that he did not intend to live up to a contract signed for him by Tim O'Sullivan, his manager, calling for bouts in Milwaukee with Jess Smith and Mike Gibbons, Darcy declared O'Sullivan had been dismissed as his manager on last Tuesday.

He apparently forgot that on his trip up New York he had been employed as agent and never had been authorized to make matches. Meanwhile, O'Sullivan, Frank Mulken, John Weismantel and Grant Hugh Brown are locked in the throes of a desperate struggle over the prospect of Darcy fighting this or that man. Weismantel says he signed McCoy some time ago to a set of articles for a bout with Jack Dillon and has protested against his being allowed to meet Darcy until he has gone through with the Dillon bout. Brown also has filed a protest, saying that the fact that he has spent a large sum of money to stage a bout between Frank McCoy and Carl Morris, should the Darcy-McCoy affair fall through, Mulken and Andrews are at odds over a Milwaukee bout. Mulken has a contract calling for a bout between Darcy and Gibbons. Andrews wants one on the same date with Smith at the Milwaukee Auditorium will shelter his show.

At St. John the Baptist church, Broad street, yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, Pte. Hilarion Hebert, of 185th Battalion, and Miss Elmore Chase were married with nuptial mass by Rev. (Capt.) John Gaudet, chaplain. The groom hailed from Buctouche and the bride is a resident of St. Mary's, Kent county. Pte. Althe LeBlanc and Miss Regina Chase, the bride's sister, were the witnesses.

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning, most of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single scale and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

The New Home Treatment for Ugly, Hairy Growth

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms. Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered dicalcium phosphate. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attendant on this treatment. Results will be certain if you are sure to get real dicalcium.

PENSIONS FOR MOTHERS

At a legislative hearing held in Augusta, recently upon the bill proposing a state pension for mothers with dependent children, there was a very unanimous opinion expressed in favor of the measure, although some of the witnesses differed in their opinion as to some of the provisions proposed.

We believe that this is a very meritorious measure and that if the State of Maine is to confer any pensions the mothers with dependent children are entitled to the first consideration. The proposition that the bill carries is $25,000 a year and it is questioned if this is sufficient. Those who have studied the problem believe that a satisfactory start could be made with such a sum, but that ultimately the expense to the state would be from $60,000 to $80,000 annually.

In considering the expense it should not be reckoned that this is an expensive measure for today in many instances the help must be given at now extended it makes paupers of many deserving people and places some of them in almshouses who, with a slight assistance would be self-supporting.

which under our present system may be made necessary any time if the mother is temporarily out of work or suffering from illness. Never has a mother's pension law been so necessary as at the present time when the cost of existence has risen beyond the possibility of many mothers who have heretofore been able with the pittance they have been able to earn to keep the home together. A little aid will go far toward keeping deserving families together and breed sturdy, self-reliant children rather than dependents who have lost hope and courage through a losing struggle to avoid pauperism.

TALK ON ENGINES.

Rayden Foley, a native of St. John, and a graduate of Pratt Institute, gave a talk at the board of trade rooms last evening before members of the New Brunswick Automobile Association on gasoline engines. During the course of his lecture, which lasted about an hour and a half, he took up in detail aviation motors, two and four cylinder motors, and the Diesel engine. He brought out special features of new automobile engines and the use of aluminum in their construction. He also gave a complete description of electrical equipments of automobiles and a history of motors and carburetors. Special instructions were given for the care of the motors, and in commenting upon the engine of the future he said it would undoubtedly be an aluminum engine of the sliding valve principle. His closing remarks were devoted to gasoline turbines. T. P. Regan, president of the association, was in the chair. A vote of thanks was moved by John P. Dillon, seconded by Dr. J. Boyie Travers, and carried unanimously.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read anything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they do not pain dreadfully; now they feel as all the time. It was like a miracle to me. Let me tell you how it was done." Another prominent physician who when the above article was published, said: "This is a very remarkable eye-restorative and well-merited by name. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in many instances. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them and be able to see all the time and in many instances will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time." If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time." Another prominent physician who when the above article was published, said: "This is a very remarkable eye-restorative and well-merited by name. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in many instances. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them and be able to see all the time and in many instances will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. ### German Scheme to Disable Engines of Cecilie

THE STORY IS TOLD

Remarkable Evidence Given by Captain of German Liner in Boston Court—Had Orders From One of Official Staff

(Boston Globe, Saturday.)

Just about noon on Jan. 31 Captain Charles August Polack of the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie went into a Western Union telegraph office in Hoboken, N. J., to send this message to First Officer Wupert of the steamer:

"Tell Peterson everything O. K. Jackson."

That apparently innocent message was the signal to the chief engineer and the chief engineer to destroy the secret code and other secret and dangerous documents on the ship and put the engines out of commission.

It was the putting into effect of an agreement that had existed ever since the earlier diplomatic crisis following the sinking of the Sussex. The agreement had been reached upon the orders of a representative of the United States government, and the telegram of Jan. 31 was sent at the order of a member of the German staff.

Such was the startling and dramatic tale told on the witness stand this morning by Capt. Polack in the course of the hearing before Judge Morton of the Federal District Court on the petition for the sale of the liner.

That the Kronprinzessin Cecilie had been practically wrecked before she had been held back—the names of the government representatives who had given him his orders. Polack, in the course of the hearing before Judge Morton of the Federal District Court on the petition for the sale of the liner.

"I might be tried for treason."

"Your Honor, I am an officer of the German navy, and if I should have to give names on this hearing, I might be tried for high treason when I go home. I asked that I may not have to give names."

There was some discussion of the point, Attorney Edward E. Blodgett, who was examining Capt. Polack, expressing the wish that he might give the name privately to the court. But Judge Morton expressed the opinion that the name could not be useful and might be harmful to the cause of the liner.

The hearing began at 9:45 a. m. Attorney Blodgett first reading his petition for the sale of the liner because of the damage and depreciation to her and the high cost of maintenance. He put on Captain Polack as his first witness.

Only 110 to 120 of Crew Left.

The captain said he had been in charge of the steamer since she had been tied up here. Of her full crew of 940, only about 110 to 120 had been aboard during the last year, more than enough to care for her properly, but retained because of the length of service with the company and their inability from lack of knowledge of English or physical defect to get work elsewhere.

"In January," asked Mr. Blodgett, "you received certain orders from your superior in reference to doing something in regard to the ship?"

"Yes."

"When and where?"

"On Jan. 31 at the docks of our company in Hoboken."

"On Jan. 27 I had an anniversary celebration with friends. There I was going to Hot Springs for a fortnight, leaving the first officer in charge of the ship. Germany knew of coming break."

"On Jan. 31, just before noon, I was in the office at Hoboken. Others present were the superintendent of the company, Capt. Moeller, and a representative of the German government."

The question of the latter's name then arose. After its adjustment the captain went on:

"I was in the office of the superintendent when the putting into effect of an agreement was made. I was just taking leave of the superintendent. The other said: 'The relations between the two countries are being severed. The condition is very serious.'"

I went to take my leave and go out. He said, 'You remain here, and I remain.'"

"I asked, 'Now shall we do what has been agreed to do or our engines?' He said, 'Yes.' The superintendent did not say anything."

"What had been agreed?" asked Mr. Blodgett.

There is a startling difference between the "princess" which Irene Fenwick is playing on the screen in "A Coney Island Princess," a Famous Players-Paramount adaptation of Edward Sheldon's successful play "Princess Zim-Zin" and the princess which she played on the stage a few seasons ago in "Havorthorne of the U. S. A." The latter was the refined and cultured heiress-apparent to the throne of a mythical European kingdom and the motion picture "princess" is heiress-apparent to "The Turkish Dream," a cheap sidewalk in Coney Island. This is Miss Fenwick's first appearance on the Paramount Programme, though she has been a photoplay star before. She is one of the foremost actresses on the stage or screen and has established a remarkable reputation for versatility. Owen Moore appears with Miss Fenwick in the production.

Giant Recruit Has Record of Six No Hit Games

Waite Hoyt Gives Promise of Being a Star in the Major Leagues

Waite Charles Hoyt, a Brooklyn boy, signed by the Giants, has had a remarkable career, with six no-hit games to his credit.

In the first place Hoyt is the youngest player ever offered a big league contract. McGraw first signed him to an optional agreement in August, 1915, when he was only fifteen years of age. Waite was born on Sept. 10, 1898, which makes him sixteen years and five months old at the present time.

He is a husky youngster for his years, weighing 176 pounds and being five feet ten and a half inches in height. One thing which makes him a most effective as a pitcher is his long arm. He has a reach of seventy-six inches.

Hoyt is right-handed. He attended public school in Brooklyn and later started his baseball career at a second string club in the Erasmus Hall High School. His ability was such that he soon earned the job of regular pitcher.

In June, 1915, he was offered contracts by both the New Haven club of the Federal League and the Brooklyn club of the National League. Both these he declined as well as an offer of a try-out with the St. Louis Browns.

Nap Rucker and Jack Coombs became interested in the boy and he used to work out with them before the games at Ebbets Field. In August the Brooklyn club happened to see Hoyt during a series at the Flatbush stadium and Charley Doolan happened to see Hoyt doing a little warming up and was impressed by his style and form that he called McGraw's attention to him.

After McGraw had seen him, he called the New York manager asked him to come over to the Polo Grounds. There he looked him over more thoroughly and what he saw induced him to sign him to an optional agreement.

During the remainder of the summer Hoyt pitched amateur and exhibition games and then returned to high school. During this season of 1915 his fifteen-year-old boy pitched thirty-six games of which he won thirty-three and four of them no-hit games.

The record which he made last year was equally remarkable. He started four days for Erasmus Hall, two of them in May he went to the Lebanon club of the Pennsylvania state league, where he won five games out of six. His only defeat was a game that he lost in nineteen innings by a score of three to two. He pitched all the way, permitting nine hits and giving only one base on balls. Later this league disbanded and Hoyt returned to New York and pitched for the DeLeon-Grays.

In June McGraw signed Hoyt to a regular playing contract. He was then loaned to a club of the Eastern league. He had not started a game with this club as Hartford induced him to sign an agreement of some sort which caused McGraw to recall him.

He then was so unfortunate as to contract blood poisoning in both hands. Before he had entirely recovered he was sent to the Lynn club of the Eastern league, which was short of regular pitchers, but having by then entirely recovered from his disability, he rounded into form and won four out of his next five games. Incidentally he defeated Portland in the encounter which decided the Eastern league championship, letting his opponents down with two hits.

After the close of the Eastern league season he returned to the Giants and in September went back to school. Out of the thirty games which he pitched last year he won twenty-two and lost eight.

Last month the mix-up over Hoyt's services with the Hartford club was settled by the National commission which gave the Giants undisputed title to his services.

McGraw, therefore, has a most promising prospect among his recruits. Here is a boy only seventeen years old who in the past few years has won fifty-five out of sixty-six games and pitched six no-hit contests.

After the close of the Eastern league season, and if he can be kept from getting over ambitious and hurting his arm, he should be no reason why, under good coaching, he should not develop into a major league star. He is likely to be farmed out to the Memphis club of which Mike Donlin is manager.

CHINESE CASE RESUMED

Hearing in the case against twenty-five local Chinese was resumed in the police court this morning. The police concluded their evidence, and Daniel Mullin, K.C., who appears for the Chinese, asked that the case be dismissed on the ground that it was not established according to the meaning of the sections of the law relating to gambling houses. This the court refused to do and the case was opened for the defence.

Inspector Caples said that on the night of the eleventh and the detectives and several other policemen and Tom Chew, the complainant, visited the premises of the accused in Mill street. He told of what was confiscated and of conditions found. He also said that he assisted in a raid in the same premises in August and arrested fourteen Chinese.

Detective Barrett said that he identified all the defendants now in court. He said that when he entered the premises there were about fifteen Chinese around the table. He gathered up seventeen twenty-five cent pieces, seven fifty cent pieces, ten ten cent pieces, three five cent pieces and four $1 bills. This was the third raid on these premises.

Sergeant Scott and Detectives Briggs and Duncan also testified.

Mr. Mullin quoted section and subsections of the criminal code to uphold his plea, but the court said that the case would not be stopped here, as there was sufficient evidence to establish a case.

Lim King, the proprietor of the alleged gambling house in Mill street, was called. He said he was not a Christian. He denied that Tom Chew ever gambled in his place, ever lost any money, as he said he did, and also said that the King was not conducting a gambling place for Chinese.

Mr. Mullin recalled Tom Chew, complainant, and asked him if he was ever arrested in Grand Falls on charge of threatening the life of the manager of the Curtis Hotel. This he denied. He also denied, when asked, that he was ever arrested while in Grand Falls.

SEVERELY WOUNDED

Lieutenant T. Leary, Who Went From Here as Sergeant With the 26th

Mr. and Mrs. David Corkery of Paradise Row, on Sunday evening received official notification from Ottawa that Second Lieutenant Timothy Leary had been wounded on February 16 and was in a military hospital in Boulogne, France, his leg shattered. Lieutenant Leary left St. John as a sergeant in the 26th Battalion and was one of their most popular N. C. O's. He went through considerable fighting with his regiment and was wounded in the hand. This, for a time incapacitated him from actual trench work. He was then given charge of about 200 military baths at a base.

Later on he qualified in England for a lieutenancy in the 26th Royal Fusiliers and succeeded in securing his commission in the English army.

He has many friends in St. John, who will regret to hear that his name appears again on the list of wounded. By birth Lieutenant Leary is an American, but he threw himself into the fight of Canada and the Motherland unhesitatingly. His many friends will hope that his recovery may be speedy as well as complete.
