TO THE RESCUE

The Times desires to appeal to the Board of Trade, Commercial Club, Trades and Labor Council, Rotary Club and women's organizations to save the city from the disgrace of abandoning vocational training.

than torture chambers, because the mentally normal mass held the mentally abnormal few to be criminals of the deepest dye.

Mr. Lawson points out that last year because it was necessary to demonstrate the value of vocational training the classes were thrown open to a much larger extent than this winter, and that in future the selection of students will be still more carefully made.

With regard to the contention that school boys and girls are not getting the benefit, the grant asked for this year would be partially spent to provide day classes in commercial work for these young people.

There is one matter, however, which demands attention. Is it true that there is in the vocational board itself opposition to vocational training?

HUMANITARIANISM

At a meeting of the Children's Aid Society of Halifax this week, after addresses by Mr. John P. McKeen, Miss Wisdom, Mr. Ernest H. Blois, superintendent of neglected and dependent children in Nova Scotia, and Rev. Dr. Curren, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"In view of the consensus of opinion among authorities on child welfare regarding the importance of the home for the proper nurture and training of future citizens of the state, the Children's Aid Society endorses most heartily the principal of allowances from public funds for widowed mothers with families of young children. This society is glad to know that the matter is receiving attention of the provincial government and that a commission has been appointed to make the necessary survey to ascertain the number of widows in the province entitled to receive assistance in order to preserve the family home."

There is another movement in Nova Scotia that is worthy of attention in other provinces. The Halifax Chronicle says:—"There was a time when public interest in the care of the feeble-minded in Nova Scotia was at a very low ebb, and, in consequence, the province today is facing a truly serious problem in arranging for their care."

Reviewing the change that has come about in the treatment of the abnormal or sub-normal, the Chronicle goes on:—"Insane asylums were once little better than torture chambers, because the mentally normal mass held the mentally abnormal few to be criminals of the deepest dye. Now we have hospitals for the treatment of mental diseases, and a large percentage of the cases treated recover mental poise.

Of course provision of a home for the feeble-minded involves a scientific examination of such persons in order that no injustice may be done. Apparent mental deficiency may sometimes be due to physical defects, and this calls for expert knowledge.

Of course such an examination would be of little value unless an institution were provided for the care of those found to be in need of institutional care for their own protection and the good of the community at large.

From estimates made by social workers there are from 400 to 700 illegitimate children brought into the world in Toronto every year. The Ontario government has a bill already drafted which will make fathers of illegitimate children jointly responsible for their support.

But for the burden imposed by the Valley Railway interest charge, the province would have this year the most satisfactory financial showing in its history. The statement of accounts printed today shows that the ordinary receipts were nearly $100,000 greater than the ordinary expenditures.

HIS BUSY DAYS.

Now Brother Harding's days are busy, he has small chance to rest, or take a joyride in his limousine, the sport he loves the best; for every hour some statesman drowsy arrives to be his guest.

THE LANE TO BALLYBREE.

There's a little lane a-winding, a crooked little lane; A dewy, woodbine-scented lane, that leads to Ballybree.

There's a little lane a-winding, a crooked little lane; Where the furze is all in blossom like a wave of yellow-gold.

There's a little lane a-winding, a crooked little lane; And there's some one at the end of it, who's wishing hard for me.

Then she changed her mind. A popular rector tells a good story against himself. Going up the steps of his church to conduct the service, he was accosted by a stately old lady in difficulties with her breathing.

Green, Brown and Johnson were invited to Robinson's Christmas dinner. On the way there Brown remarked to Johnson and Green:

"By the way, you fellows, I just want to give you a friendly warning. Beware of Robinson's champagne!"

"What really was the matter with Robinson's champagne?"

"Oh, the quality was all right," replied Brown quietly. "It was the quantity I thought would be deficient—not enough for everybody."

"Miss Peach, you are gorgeous!" tooted William Tellen. "When I look into your deep blue eyes, I feel my soul surge from out of the deepest depth of my heart."

How those eyes of hers shone, how her pretty little cheeks blushed.

"But I believe you are sincere. Please excuse me, don't let me interrupt your remarks!"

POTATO GROWERS MEET. Hon. D. W. Merseureau, minister of agriculture, was the principal speaker last night at the meeting of the New Brunswick Potato Growers' Association in Woodstock on Thursday and Friday.

When a wagon-load of police responded to energetic cries for help from the victim of a holdup in Lancaster, Penn., they found a young man wildly demanding the arrest of a rival who had stolen his girl from him while he was walking along the street with her.

London, Jan. 29.—The tide of unemployment is still flowing. The number of those without work registered at the labor exchanges throughout the kingdom, which was close to a million on January 21, has increased by 60,000 in the week just passed.

As many of the South Wales mines are closing down, owing to the virtual cessation of coal exports to France and elsewhere, the labor situation is bound to become worse.

DECLARES EAST INVADES WEST TO SELL SUGAR

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Discussing a dispatch from Calgary announcing an advance of fifty cents a hundred in the price of sugar, J. W. Fordham Johnson, president of the British Columbia Sugar Refineries, issued a flat denial that there was any collusion between eastern refineries and the local company.

Mr. Johnson said that due to the big stocks on hand in the east there had been unusually severe competition on the prairie, and prices in Saskatchewan and Alberta were consequently lower than conditions warranted, and the British Columbia Refinery had been forced to meet prices to hold its territory.

REMEMBER THE FROGS.

(Forbes Magazine.) Tough going, isn't it? Almost tempted to give way to despair, perhaps? The prospect of winning out looks pretty hopeless? Maybe it will revive your faith and fortitude a teeny-weeny bit if you recall the story of the two frogs that fell into the can of milk. Try as they would you may remember, the frogs could not leap out of the can, but fell back into the milk each time they jumped. Finally, one frog, who had along the street with her. "He pushed in between us and walked away with her. I want him arrested," he said, but the police were powerless.

Weds a Screen Artist, a Manicure, an Artist's Model and a Country Girl—Admits Three Marriages.

(N. Y. Times)
"Wild hootch made a wild man of me," remarked G. Roy Salisbury yesterday, in a confidential chat with reporters through the bars of a cell in Jefferson Market Court. This, in a sentence, was G. Roy's explanation of it all, after Magistrate Harris had heard that he had married a manicure, an artist's model, a motion picture actress and a simple country girl—all quicker, the authorities said, than the law allowed. Mr. Salisbury, a burlesque, all of six feet, careful in his garb, charming in speech and manner, was originally arrested on Jan. 21 on a charge of grand larceny in issuing a worthless check to Rogers, Peet & Co. Last Saturday he was held in $1,000 bail on a charge of being wanted on a similar charge in Shreveport, La. Then there came word of an indictment against Salisbury in Philadelphia.

One would think that the police had had their little game and would quit after all that trouble, but no. When Salisbury appeared in Jefferson Market Court yesterday Detectives John Scheuing and Roscoe Jenkins had a couple of Mrs. Salisbury's waiting around.

Married a Hotel Manicure.
The young woman whom G. Roy married in Philadelphia said the detectives, was formerly Miss Zimmerman, a manicure at one of time in the Hotel McAlpin. She was in court, and she had, figuratively speaking, an arsenal of daggers in her eyes—snappy black ones, it may be added.

It was a "case of love at first sight" when the defendant came into her life, she told the court. He had plenty of money, said he was a broker used to get his nails done regularly, "and he made love to me repeatedly," she said, "and I loved him then, too, but now I could tear him to pieces."

They were married in June, 1918 in Philadelphia, she continued, but soon Mr. Salisbury had to go away to Oklahoma. He left a note in their suite at the Bellevue-Stratford "telling me he had directed his attorney to look after me and had left $10,000 in trust for me."

Looking through her husband's papers, however, the former manicure said she found something that made her think G. Roy had married another girl last February. The name of this girl was furnished by Assistant District Attorney Dimeson. She was an artist's model, according to the papers Miss Zimmerman said she found, and the marriage was alleged to have taken place in Calvary Church, Fourth Avenue and Twenty-first street, the Rev. Wolcott Cutler officiating.

Investigating the detectives said they found Mr. Salisbury living at 476 Clinton Avenue Brooklyn, which, according to the counselling detectives, "is all fixed up like a millionaire's." There was, they added, a Mrs. Salisbury there. She was the girl from the country. Then, they added, they discovered trace of the screen wife.

After listening to all this, Magistrate Harris and the auth. des conferred and decided to drop the charges against Salisbury locally and hold him to await the arrival of police from Philadelphia.

Prisoner Says "Hootch" Did It.
Greeting the reporters with a pleasant smile, G. Roy blamed all his troubles upon "the kind of hootch they've been selling since prohibition." He admitted that he had three wives living, even though the police suspected him of having one or maybe two more. "Two of the 'wives' he said he married under the influence of liquor and separated from them almost immediately after marriage by mutual agreement. The third marriage, he said, was to "a little country girl whom I still love."

"Are you the owner of three wives?" he was asked.

"Unfortunately, yes," he replied, rather pleasantly, "two." One was all I really wanted, but I seem to have taken more than my share. It gave me quite a turn to see two of the women in court today. This trouble all started a little over a year ago, when I came to New York with about $500,000 which I had made through speculation in oil properties in the West. Like many another fool, I started into see New York and to see it right.

"But believe me you only see only see about three blocks of the Gay White Way on $500,000. Well, I had my fling and I'm now broke and sober, and I suppose I will have to see this thing through."

He then gave his version of how he married a girl named Hoffmann in this city in February, 1920, and also how he wed Miss Zimmerman.

"As you may imagine," he continued, "by this time I was sick and tired of Broadway. I went to Hasleton, Pa. where I knew a dear little girl. Understand, I thought of the two other women were out of my life, that they had the marriages annulled. We were married in Hasleton and went to live in Brooklyn."

Then, apparently deeply serious, he added:

"She is my real wife and God knows I love her and am sorry this thing had to come to spoil our happiness. The other women said they took me for 'better or worse.' I wonder which they got."

RECENT WEDDINGS

Moore-Morrill.
A wedding of much interest was solemnized at St. Thomas' church, Black River, on Wednesday, January 26, when Wallace Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Moore to Mrs. Elizabeth Jennie Morrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gunn, of French Village (P. E. I.). The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Folett. Miss Mary Gunn, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by his brother, Robert G. Moore. The bride looked very charming in a navy blue traveling suit, with picture hat to match, and racoon furs. The wedding march was played by Miss Armstrong and after the ceremony the bridal party drove to the groom's parents where a dainty lunch was served. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Moore drove to their future home, 26 Clarence street, St. John, where they will reside.

THE HOSPITAL COMMISSIONERS
At a special meeting of the board of commissioners of the General Public Hospital called yesterday afternoon to discuss matters relating to insurance it was decided that the amount of plumbing repairs in the hospital did not warrant the appointment of a plumber as a permanent member of the staff.

Matters of insurance were dealt with and the insurance committee was given power to place insurance on the hospital and nurses' home. It was recommended that a temporary schedule be used until July when all insurance could be put on a uniform date.

NAMES MISSED FROM HONOR LIST AT NEW YEAR'S

Some Others Included Not Very Well Known

Gossip of London—The Buyers and Business—Another Rumor of Prince of Wales' Wedding that Proves Incorrect.

(From our own Correspondent)
London, January 6.—The New Year's honor list is remarkable for two things—the names conspicuously absent after rumor had almost made their inclusion official, and the difficulty in discovering, even in the latest Who's Who, anything about some of the recipients. Sir William Boardman is the best known of the new peers, both as a shipping magnate and as chairman of the Industrial Welfare Society. The Countess of nonconformist pastor, Rev. John Clifford, will please the Free Church people. Two distinguished admirals figure among the new baronets, both Julian men, and Admiral Burney's was one of the names mentioned at one time for C-in-C. of the Grand Fleet. The chairman of the Clan line is another new baronet. But the most popular is undoubtedly our old friend of Matoking and Boy Scout fame.

People have been asking whether one of the new baronets is a noted hater, and nobody seems to know the answer. Among the new knights are some eminent public officials. Martin Harvey of "The Only Way" fame, the lord chancellor's brother—Harold Smith, M. P. for Warrington and, incidentally, author of "A Pair of Silk Stockings" the editors of two medical journals, and some distinguished professional and commercial men. Publishers also do well—a fact which Dr. Johnson might have had something to animadvert.

"The Tiger" Abroad.
A friend in the Dutch East Indies has sent me an amusing account of the reception given to M. Lamsoneau by the large English colony in Java. A general holiday was taken, and the "Tiger" was made the chief guest at the flourishing English Club in Batavia, where the English entertained in dishes and made a speech which swept his hearers off their feet. My friend is quite delicious about the great Frenchman.

The fun came afterwards, when the splendid veteran was made the centre of a typical English "rag." Most of the Dutch Government are Germans who have been turned out of China and Japan, and there is a perpetual feud between them and the belated Englishmen. So the opportunity was taken to annoy them, the jovial crowd harnessing themselves to Clemenceau's motor-car—a German Mercedes by the way—and towing him around the town in the tropical moonlight. France's G. O. M. enjoyed the fun immensely, his only regret being that the Germans declined the challenge, and no fight took place.

A Club Tax.
For clubmen, this is a time of very tempered rejoicing indeed. For one thing, there are the servants' Christmas funds, to which everyone is expected to contribute, and which are kept open late for the benefit and the terror of laggards—in one club I know as late as February or March. If you belong to several clubs and on the bases of a pound a head, these things, coming at a season with other obligations of the same kind, represent a very considerable tax. They are also the source of a little natural irritation, because as they are divided according to seniority and responsibility, you may find that 17s of your pound goes to stewards or hall porters who do nothing for you at all, while the man who has got you a brandy and soda at some moment of stress near midnight when you have just been let down by the worst bridge partner among your fellow members is, so to speak, cut off with 2s.

For this reason, I know my respectable club members, who would rather die than commit the enormity of tipping in the ordinary way, but who, as Christmas approaches, accost waiters whom they want to reward with some such as "Ah! William, here is a pound you lent me on Tuesday week," or some other convenient lie, and then escape rapidly in the confidence that there will be no explanation. For the "one club" people who really live in their clubs and have no friends to ask them to Christmas dinners or New Year suppers, the rule that on Christmas night at least the servants should have their time to themselves and not be asked to do any work. Your alternative is, therefore, to spend a Scrooge-like evening or else go and pay five times its value for dinner at an hotel.

People Spending Less.
The restaurants, like the shops, are by no means having the time of their lives this New Year. Everywhere hangs the shadow of impending financial disaster. I suppose there never has been a time when people have felt so acutely the impulsion to spend less. A friend of mine who did some shopping at some of the big stores told me she was astounded at the emptiness of all of them. Nearly every one of the big retail dealers are overstocked with commodities, particularly what they call dry goods, shirts and ready-made clothing. All these things are paid for at fixed credit dates, and there are whispers that when the next settling time comes there will be large bargain sales for the purpose of finding, by means of heavy reductions in price, some ready cash.

At the bigger restaurants, where at any Christmas during the war you would have had to book a table days ahead, places can be had quite easily. Even the theatres are suffering.

A Royal Rumor.
The newspapers, I believe, have been asked to refrain from speculation about the matrimonial intentions of the Prince of Wales. If the court has really craved this favor of the newspaper press, it has done a very wise thing. Certainly I have no intention of drawing aside the curtain of silence which has fallen on this subject since a London daily came out some months ago with a rather sensational story. But for the restraint of the press, however, another sensational story might have had its vogue for a few hours if not for a few days. We had all particulars in clubland, down to the smallest details. The prince was said to be engaged to a very charming lady, the consent of his parents had been won after a mild domestic struggle, the government had been pleased to intimate its approval of the suggested alliance, and formal announcement of the engagement was to have been made at a semi-state banquet. But, so far as I have been able to ascertain, there was no element of truth at all in this particular story. As for the lady in question, it would be wrong to describe her as a second Mrs. Harris. There certainly is "such a person," and she is very delightful specimen of English womanhood, but I do not think she is destined to become the Princess of Wales.

Even Baby.
Only the most unobtrusive person could fail to notice the general increase in the public use of the powder puff and the rouge pot. The majority of people will agree in regretting that the fashion should have become so prevalent that the smallest office flapper, in spite of a natural complexion that defies improvement, must have in her small hand-bag all the paraphernalia of the passe society woman. In the average office even the telephone is redolent of cheap powder nowadays and a heavy smoke-cloud of cloying scent greets one on entry. A friend, however, tells me that the "make-up" mania goes further than this, and assures me that there are mothers who actually make up their babies to give them a false appearance of health and beauty.

Bringing Back the Canada Dollar to its Higher Buying Power

We want to make the Canada Dollar worth par—when you cross the Border.

Never before has the Canada Dollar had an adverse reflection cast upon it.

We can achieve that object by increasing the purchasing power of the Dollar—by giving it a greater exchange value in buying the necessities of life—and by refraining from the purchase of luxuries and needless articles of foreign origin.

We bring with us in this campaign all our skill in manufacturing and merchandising, backed by the purer wool weaves and the surer tensile strength of our wear products.

It's the Canada Dollar and the British Loom against the Yankee Dollar and our industrial doom.

It's a resumption of the fight for absorption begun in 1867.

When the American Senators thought to force us into their country by a similar coup—by withdrawing tariff reciprocity and breaking the Elgin Treaty.

We offer more for the Canada Dollar today than any Dollar will buy in any civilized country in the world.

Doctors Stand Amazed at Power of Bon-Opto to Make Weak Eyes Strong--According to Dr. Lewis Guarantee to Strengthen Eyesight 50% In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home. Philadelphia, Pa. Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses, and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes which induced severe headaches. I have worn glasses for several years both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the type-writing on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of wearing glasses. Eye troubles of every description may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

poration taxes exceeded the estimate by over $80,000. The amusement tax was plus over $7,000 and the motor vehicle fees plus over $18,000. Even receipts from such institutions as the Boys' Industrial Home, vocational education and the Jordan Memorial showed up very much larger than was anticipated. The total revenue for 1920 was estimated at $3,000,000, but actually exceeded the estimate by $300,000.

WAS SUFFERING FROM INDIGESTION No Fear of Pains Now

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble, and many people suffer terribly after every meal they eat. The rising and souring of the food, pains in the stomach, heartburn, water brash, belching of wind, vomiting shortly after eating, etc., are some of the symptoms. There is no need for any person to be troubled with indigestion, dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble if they would only take Burdock Blood Bitters, which contains a combination of nature's roots, herbs, bark and berries; a combination that cannot help but put the stomach right.

protection of the forests would cost. Forest service men, the salaries of surveyors, fire rangers and game wardens, many of whom are now employed by the year instead of temporarily as formerly. The forest service is controlled almost entirely by the forest commission composed of experienced men selected from throughout the province, together with the minister, his deputy and the chief forester.

Other Rising Costs. Members of the legislature when they note that the expenditure under the head of legislative assembly exceeded the estimate by nearly $20,000 will concede at once that the over-expenditure was the result of the unanimous action of the legislature in increasing indemnity to members.

A similar reason really exists for over expenditure in many of the departments. The people engaged in carrying out the work of the government demanded more for their time and more for their services and materials of every kind, and the public service was kept up.

The cost of printing, every business man in the country knows, has gone up by leaps and bounds and the cost of public printing followed suit, exceeding the estimates of $20,000 by $7,626.

The administration of the Public Health Department cost between six and seven thousand dollars more, which, however, must be reduced by additional receipts of about the same amount, and the Provincial Hospital maintenance, which in 1916 cost $94,385, in 1920 cost $173,483.

It will also be interesting to those in favor of free school books to note that the province received over $2,000 less than was estimated from the sale of school books and that it paid out nearly $15,000 more for school books than it received from the parents of pupils.

The very large excess of expenditure over the estimates was in the Public Works Department, where over $300,000 more was spent than was estimated. Ordinary and ordinary bridges demanded this very large expenditure.

FOR LUMBAGO

Try Musterole. See How Quickly It Relieves. You just rub Musterole in briskly, and usually the pain is gone—a delicious, soothing comfort comes to the aching place. Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Use it instead of mustard. It will not blister. Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest. Always dependable.

SKIN DISEASE What Causes It?

After years of humiliation or even torture from some skin disease, you may at last find relief, you may well ask, "What is the cause of skin disease?" Some doctors say it is the blood, others say it is the nerves, but unfortunately, no one knows. We do know, however, that for 25 years a doctor's prescription known as D. D. D. has had the most successful success with all sorts of skin trouble ranging from simple pimples to the most obstinate cases. This is proved by thousands of letters from grateful users. We mean no extravagant claims. Let the letters below speak for themselves.

Are you rushing on to disaster?

TRAIN, marine, street car—in fact, all disasters are on the decrease, largely due to educational propaganda preventing carelessness. The toll of human life through ill health and disease is also on the decrease. People of the 20th century are realising more and more the necessity of keeping themselves fit and well, for without health they can never attain their ambitions.

There are still some, however, who ignore a vital factor in preserving their health and strength. They ignore medical scientists who tell us the necessity of repairing the ravishes on the heart and nerve centres. These are the people who fail to wake up one morning; the people who drop dead in the street, in the car or train, and just at a critical time when they are specially needed by friends and dependents.

Man Goes Over Niagara Falls. (Canadian Press Despatch.) Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 28.—An unidentified man jumped into the river above the falls this morning and was swept to death over the United States brink, according to S. W. Rhodes, reservation officer, with whom he talked a few minutes before making the leap. He told Rhodes he was from Cleveland. Rhodes said the man told him he had come to the park to take a farewell glance before leaving Cleveland, and left him looking at the falls. Later he was attracted by a shout and the man jumped over the railing, shouting "good-bye."

A LONDON MYSTERY

He Gets Busy With the Mirrors of Downing Street.

BIG MEN ARE EXPOSED
About Lloyd George and Others.

A GENTLEMAN WITH A DUSTER—his own description—has just published a book called "The Mirrors of Downing Street" at the London Morning Post. It describes the way in which this gentleman uses his duster.

"It might be possible," says the Post, "to ascertain the real name of a Gentleman With a Duster if we were to set a literary detective, learned in the analysis of poisonous and non-poisonous styles, to work for a day or two. But would it be worth while?"

"His appreciation of Lord Northcliffe as the spring-heeled Jack of Journalism" is so near to the mark, and truth that we cannot believe he ever served under the banners of sensationalism with the sense squeezed out.

"Lloyd George is presented in broad strokes with the fair-and-square touch. His faculty of vision, his singular receptivity are duly commended and it was a stroke of genius to set it at the top of this essay in apt and de-precation of the lines of Dryden: And war, like mist that rise against the sun, sits him but greater seem, not greater grow."

"His amazing ignorance is brought out by the saying of M. Clemenceau as he lifted up his amazed arms: 'I have never met so ignorant a man, and the even more scathing comment of a greater wit: 'I believe that Mr. Lloyd George can read, but not perfectly, certain he never does. There is a man in an illustrious example both of the value and perils of emotionalism which becomes the greatest of all dangers when no longer controlled by moral principles."

"Mr. Asquith is also presented as one whose reduction to a comparative facility has been caused by the loss of moral earnestness. He now finds relaxation in the modernity of advanced young people; his fame is perishing in face of chronic Margotism."

Who Says You Can't Climb in Britain?

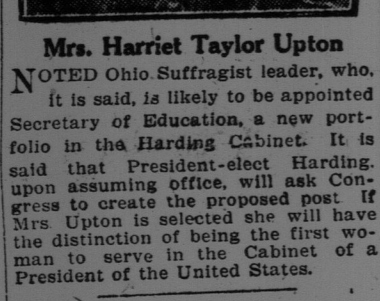

James White Started as a Bricklayer, and at 42 Is a Millionaire.

SOME say he started life as a bricklayer; others as a stepladder. In any case, the career of Mr. James White, sporting and business king, who ranks among Britain's millionaires, is an amazing one.

He negotiated the sale of the Bedford Covent Garden estate which involved £2,000,000, and was concerned in the floating of the Dunlop Rubber Company for £2,000,000. Also he is said to have won £100,000 in the Caserewitch!

He is fond of telling the story of a get-rich-quick Oldham cotton miller, who bought a Rolls-Royce, but still retained his shabby clothes.

One day he left his car outside a shop. A ragamuffin rushed up, as usual, to mind it. After a while the owner came out and was about to enter his car when the urchin cut in with: "Here, you go and find your own car to mind; this one's mine."

"Well, I don't feel any too confident. I can tell you," she replied. "I haven't any doubt about him, but I'm not sure of myself."

It was a revelation to watch the Harding family on that election night as well as what to say when a stogie and scanning telegrams giving returns it was Mrs. Harding who attended to the honors.

HE ADVOCATES CITY MANAGER

Edmonton Banker Presents
Reasons for Faith in That Plan of City Government.

(Canadian Finance)
The awakening of interest in civic affairs in Edmonton has been very pronounced since the recent civic election. The defeat of ex-Mayor Clarke, the labor representative, has been followed by a real go-together movement. The civic administration of receiving close attention and a move is already on foot to adopt the city-manager form of administration.

One who has come out strongly for a city-manager plan is Frank Pike, manager of the Merchants Bank and until recently a member of the city sinking fund board. Having an insight into civic affairs from membership of two important public boards, Mr. Pike's views naturally arouse interest.

Speaking to the Edmonton Journal recently, Mr. Pike stated:
"I have very strong and decided opinions regarding civic affairs, and believe that now is the time to speak plainly. At a time when our taxes are at the maximum, mismanagement, or rather, lack of experience and continuity in city management, is costing us hundreds of thousands of dollars a year. Now, do not misunderstand me. I do not want to reflect on the energy or ability of any civic official, from the mayor down."
"I sincerely believe that the officials we have had for the last five years, without exception, have conscientiously done their best, but I am strongly of the opinion that we cannot make progress under our present system of civic administration, and that we shall only go from bad to worse until the system has been changed."

Need Capable Manager.
"What we want in the city of Edmonton today is capable, experienced and continued business management. This is impossible under our present system where the executive head is constantly changing. All business corporations that have proved a financial success in the present day are managed by a board of directors, acting as a deliberative body, and the executive functions are looked after by a general manager and his staff. If the same business principles as are followed out by financial, railway, industrial and other large corporations were adopted by a city government it would be possible to achieve the same business efficiency. Therefore, I would recommend that the city-manager plan, money, co-operation and efficient management of government under the guidance of an elective board of directors, or mayor and aldermen, whose functions would be purely administrative and advisory, be adopted by the city of Edmonton as its municipal form of government."

"If the announcement were made tomorrow that a strong, capable and experienced general manager had been appointed for the city of Edmonton at a salary beginning at not less than $10,000 per annum for five years, it would mean the dawn of a better day for Edmonton. Any man not worth $10,000 per annum would not be big enough for the job.

Poor Economy.
"This is no time for parsimonious cheese-paring and back-woods treatment of important officials. The poorest kind of economy is the cutting down of the salaries of capable officials, and thus losing their valued services to the city and replacing them by mediocrities. Brains and efficiency are always at a premium."

"It may be said that we have tried the city-manager form of government at Edmonton and that it did not work. However, we did not give it a fair trial. Had we continued that efficient, business-like system it would have saved the taxpayers of this city millions of dollars. If we fail to adopt it now we shall yet lose further millions. It may mean higher taxation—that, in itself, is not an unmitigated evil, providing we are on the right road and can see daylight ahead. What does it profit us if, by petty economies and reduced taxation, we save a few thousand dollars annually, and by mismanagement and lack of continuity in business methods lose hundreds of thousands?"

Strict Business Methods.
"It may also be contended that the people will not support a business manager, but I do not believe it. I have more faith in the average common sense and intelligence of the citizens in this western city, and I believe, as a whole, they are ready to demand strict business methods in civic administration."
"I trust that never again at an election shall we see our citizens divided into two tickets—labor and citizen. Such a distinction is absurd when the great body of laborers and workmen are our best citizens. The success of our city-manager form of government will depend entirely on the general and whole-hearted support of all citizens. The needs of the hour are harmony, co-operation and efficient management."

Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador at Washington, was talking at a luncheon in Philadelphia about civic efficiency. "There are numerous remedies for scabbiness," he said. "Some advice cotton in the ears; others recommend smoked glasses; a champagne diet has its votaries; fasting has its advantages as well; but I, for my part, however, in-

THE TARIFF IS A TWO-EDGED SWORD

A Solomon is needed to write America's tariff laws. A multiplicity of complex considerations must be taken into the reckoning.

First, America needs foreign markets, as even our mid-continental cities of rural districts have lately realized. We cannot hope to sell the largest possible amount of products or merchandise to foreign countries to ship goods to us.

Second, if we set the world an example in the fixing of dizzy tariffs, we must expect the world to follow. "Canada Considers Tariff Retaliation: Application of 7 1/2 Per Cent. War Duty or Increase in British Preference are Mentioned" reads a newspaper headline.

Then, if unscalable barriers are raised against the landing of foreign products in this country, how can our foreign debtors ever pay us the dozen billions and more they owe us?

On the other hand, all genuinely desirable protection must be afforded American industry. Our dye manufacturers, for example, were encouraged to go ahead and invest many millions of dollars in establishing plants and were given to understand that they would be safeguarded against ruinous competition, especially from Germany.

Certain American-made chemicals may also need considerable protection, at least temporarily. They are other American products which very properly could be shielded by a tariff against too strong foreign competitors, although not nearly so large a number as the high protectionists would have us believe.

The tariff, indeed, is a two-edged sword. If we are to escape as grave wounds as we inflict, it must be handled with the finest delicacy. As for resort to the embargo, it would be a still more dangerous weapon for employment by the greatest exporting nation in the world. Embargoes have a faculty of inviting embargoes. While hasty legislation may be useful in the interests of dynamite and a few others, no general tariff action should be undertaken until after the most profound deliberation.

The trend should be toward freer trade, not toward more and higher trade barriers.

One feature of the annual fall opening display of members of the Merchants' Bureau of the Hazleton, Pa., Chamber of Commerce was the male model stunt staged by the Hub Clothing Co., Broad and Wyoming streets.

Living models to show corsets, gowns, etc., are an old story, but the employment of men and boys to display the new fall styles in suits, overcoats, hats, canes, collars, neckwear and caps was something that was new in this community and in many others, judging by the statements of commercial travelers who happened to be in town.

The Hub windows drew the largest crowds of any of the displays staged in the city during the fall openings and in achieving this result the firm competed against a contest show in which living models of the other sex were used by a department store nearby.

The meeting before last was spent in visiting the 18th St. John (Coburg St. Christian) Troop, a very pleasant evening was spent. At the east troop meeting Dr. Skinner, the examiner for the Wallace Nesbitt Junior First Aid Competition for the above competition. The team was as follows:—Thomas Mowry, Herbert S. Harold Dinnington, John Joseph and Kenneth Mowry. They were prepared and trained for this competition by John Gorton of the St. John Ambulance Association who takes more than an ordinary interest in this Troop.

TRACKLESS TROLLEY

Has Proved Success in Bradford, Eng.—May Possibly be Used in Toronto Suburbs

(Toronto Telegram.)

While the Transportation Commission has practically decided that the motor bus will not have more than a small part in Toronto's transportation system, it is thought that the trackless trolley, electrically operated, will be introduced in the suburban sections of the city.

While the trackless trolley, if the commission decides to use them in Toronto, will be somewhat of an innovation in Canada, they have been used very successfully in other countries. Where winter climatic conditions in Toronto will have any effect on their operation is yet to be seen.

The trackless trolley was first introduced in Bradford, England, it is claimed. They have proved a success in that city for the past fifteen years, and are still in operation. This type of trolley is closely related to the motor bus, except that it is operated by electricity instead of gasoline. They are run on the same principle as the electric street car, the current for the motors being derived from an overhead trolley wire.

The present street cars derive their power from the circuit that is made by the connection of the trolley pole on the overhead wire with the alternating current that runs through the tracks. This has been overcome on the trackless trolley by the use of a dual overhead wire, the positive and negative wires running overhead within a few inches of each other. The circuit is in this manner closed and the danger of a premature short-circuit prevented by special arms that prevent the contact of the two wires while hanging over the street.

The chief feature of the trackless trolley is the fact that it is able to operate through heavy traffic. It does not have to follow any specific route; moving at will from one side of the street to the other. The operating radius is obtained through the use of a slack overhead wire which has sufficient play to allow the car to reach the sidewalk on either side of the street. The trolley pole itself is of a flexible nature, being built of spiral tubing such as is used for the manufacture of all metal hose.

Power Cheaper Than Gas.

The fact that Hydro power is a much cheaper fuel than gasoline, which is used to drive the ordinary type of motor bus, is one of the trackless trolley's big advantages. In addition to the saving in this way, many other advantages are said to exist. Some of them are: No high steps to climb; no stoppage of other traffic while passengers are boarding or alighting.

The trackless trolley of modern construction, it is claimed, allows speed, ease, cleanliness, ventilation and lighting. The car will accommodate about 75 people with ease, and weighs about four tons, which does not call for unusually heavy road building. They are also said to be easy on roadways.

Ald. Brook Sykes, who has had some experience with this type of car in Bradford, is of the opinion that they would greatly assist in cleaning up the transportation situation in the outlying sections of the city not served by street cars. He outlined the general method of operation, which is given above. Express packages, and parcel post are also carried on them in England. This, too, stated an informant today, has proved very successful.

A special feature of the system in Bradford, England, is one that greatly impresses tourists and visitors to that city. It is the parcel post and express delivery service that is operated by the

Trackless Trolley Co. The express system in itself is complete—anything from a four-ounce package to a heavy tourist trunk is carried and delivered with ease by this very mobile system. Special cars, with express compartments, look after this end of the delivery system. A parcel may be left at any depot on the line for delivery to any point on the route. A trunk, if it has to be delivered some distance from the nearest depot, would be carried to its final destination by a light motor truck or wagon in the service of the traction company. Owing to the surprisingly light overheads in this connection, a rapid express service is given at moderate rates. Should the Toronto Transportation Commission decide to introduce the trackless trolley to Toronto, it will no doubt take up this phase of the service and provide a cheap method of express transportation from one section of the city to the other. The engineers of the Transportation Commission are going into the merits of the trackless trolley and so far, it is said, are very favorably inclined to their adoption for use in the suburbs.

(Robert Louis Stevenson)
It's forth across the roaring foam, and on toward the West,
It's many a lonely league from home, o'er many a mountain crest,
From where the dogs of Scotland call the sheep around the fold,
To where the flags are flying beside the Gates of Gold.

Where all the deep-sea galleons ride that come to bring the corn,
Where falls the fog at eventide and blows the breeze at morn;
It's there that I was sick and sad, alone and poor and cold,
In yon distressful city beside the Gates of Gold.
I slept as one that nothing knows; but far along my way
Before the Morning God arose and planned the coming day;

Afar before me forth he went, as through the sands of old,
And chose the friends to help me beside the Gates of Gold.
I have been near, I have been far, my back's been at the wall,
Yet eye and ever shone the star to guide me through it all;
The love of God, the help of man, they both shall make me bold
Against the gates of darkness as beside the Gates of Gold.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF Y. M. C. I. MADE NOTABLE BY GAMES
Girls, Boys and Young Women and Men Participate in Splendid Programme and Rooms Packed With Spectators.
The Y. M. C. I. celebrated the fifth anniversary of the formal opening of the institution by a fine programme of athletic and aquatic sports yesterday when the building in Cliff street was packed all through the afternoon and evening with an eager crowd of spectators. Drills, basketball games, boxing, swimming and wrestling games, hand ball, volleyball, bowling games and apparatus work provided a varied and very interesting programme of events which was not concluded until shortly before midnight. After the afternoon events had been contested the board of directors and the Catholic Girls' Guild held an informal reception for visitors to the institution which was open all day for inspection by the general public.

The first event on the programme was a marching and free hand drill in which 100 school boys took part, giving a creditable exhibition. This was followed by a marching and drum drill by thirty school girls who warranted much applause for their smartness and efficiency. The wand drill and marching of the high school girls was also a very pretty sight. After these events had been run off the high school girls' basketball game was played at 4.45. Miss Flood's team, McNulty and Dobblestone versus T. Killen, M. O'Leary, A. Flood, J. Flood (Capt.) against A. Fraser, M. Crozier, M. Owens, M. Hennessy, T. Ryan (Capt.).

In the handball match, which was one of the most closely contested and exciting events of the day, was won by MacDonald and Kelly who played Coughlan and Stack, the score being 19 to 17. This was followed by a volleyball match between J. O'live's team and T. Killen's team, won by the former, 21 to 17. The teams were: J. O'live, Burns, McNulty and Dobblestone versus T. Killen, Fitzpatrick, MacDonald and Stack.

The other afternoon events were a swimming exhibition by William J. McNulty, who was seen in fourteen different strokes, and other swimming events, as follows: Bad McCarthy in fancy diving; Peterson, H. Nixon, A. Peterson, in fancy diving; twenty-five yard exhibition, won by A. Peterson; twenty-five yard relay, won by A. Peterson, which Bad McCarthy and J. Coughlan tied, and a handicap twenty-five yard race won by H. Peterson over A. Peterson.

Evening Events.
The first of the evening events was the high school boys' basketball game, in which Tanaman's team defeated Fraser's team by 8 to 4. The line-ups were as follows: Tanaman, W. Williams, Riordan, T. Williams and O'Connor against Fraser, McCrossin, Maxwell, Lowe and Dobblestone.

In the senior girls' basketball game Miss E. Driscoll's team won from Miss A. Collins' team by 8 to 4. The winning team was composed of Misses E. Driscoll, T. Ready, G. Ready, G. Costley, Z. Higgins. The losers were Misses A. Collins, M. McCrossin, H. Corkery, N. Jennings and E. O'Brien.

The Alerts and the Y. M. C. I. played a very fast exhibition game, which was won by the Y. M. C. I. after five minutes' overplay, the score being 21 to 18. Roy Willett refereed. Nixon, Dow and Lennox did some fancy stunts on the parallel bars while the senior class under W. The River's End

James Oliver Curwood

John Keith was impersonating Derwent Conniston. He had rehearsed thoroughly every detail of the English officer's life, but had not been warned that Conniston had a sister. And so, when he found her a slim, wonderfully pretty little thing who called him brother, he felt within him the impact of conflicting emotions, of contradictory impulses. He loved her instantly; he wanted to tell her the truth, yet he knew that if he did so, he, a fugitive from justice, would be hanged. This is only part of the tale, by James Oliver Curwood.

Not a Wild West Story. It's a Classic!

HARD HEADED JOE
(Written by George L. Cooper, St. John)
In Huntsville, Alabama, they claim a mule kicked Joe Jones on the head. And today that poor mule is dead. While Jones is at present in hospital; they say his memory is rapid and keen, and he is fast on the way to recovery; O! Gee! But that Jones had some bean.

Now this story to many looks fishy. For a mule is darn good with his kick. But Jones stood the test with a shudder; He went up in the air just a-lying; He came down with a bang on his head; The concussion broke glass in the windows. Of houses round there, "it's said."

But Jones did not seem to be troubled. He came to his feet with a spring, Rubbed the blood away from his forehead. While the mountains with echoes did ring. He looked at that mule with great wonder. Then he paused, for a minute or two; Then exclaimed to himself, "Well, by thunder, I'll get no more kicking from you."

LEND A HAND TO THE NEEDY
The Times received this morning a letter, enclosing two dollars, which has been given to the mayor's clerk, to be used to help those who are in need. The letter offers a suggestion that is worthy of attention. Other things as well as cash are needed, and these could very well be distributed through the Associated Charities. The letter follows:—
"Even at cost price the food at the diet kitchens will not be available to those who need it most, unless contributions are received from not only butchers and bakers and candlestick makers. Wholesale and retail grocers, and even dry goods people, can lend a helping hand with flannels, etc., all as badly needed as food to the very poor. Won't you suggest this to them and ask of others cash, cakes, milk puddings, etc. Ask the good-hearted people in every well-off home to do their bit in this winter weather for the poor and needy of St. John and see what you will see. Wonders, I am sure, of the place find enclosed."

THE POWER BOAT CLUB GOOD HOSTS
Social and Dance Last Evening Was Greatly Enjoyed.
The St. John Power Boat Club went to a pleasant gathering last evening at the Commodore J. H. Barton, D. D., the officers and members of the exclusive tendered the first of a series of complimentary dances and socials to the members and their lady friends. The club house was artistically decorated with flags and red, white and blue bunting, and presented a gala appearance. When the guests arrived they were welcomed by a committee consisting of Mrs. J. H. Barton, Mrs. George Lake and Mrs. Edward Brown. An excellent programme of dances, including some of the old time popular steps, was enjoyed. During the intermissions the guests were regaled with songs and banjo solos by Messrs. Cain and Jamieson; some of Harry Lauder's famous Scotch comic songs by Jack Rossley, and piano solos by ladies present. When the first half of the programme was completed the guests retired to the assembly hall where refreshments were served. Dancing was then continued until nearly one o'clock, when the party broke up, all voting the event a grand success. The programme was arranged by William Edgett, and Hartley Vanwart officiated as floor director. The officers and members of the executive rendered valuable assistance and were all instrumental in the success achieved. Music for dancing was furnished by Black's orchestra.

THE SAILORS' CASE.
To the Editor of The Times:
St. John, N. B., Jan. 29, 1921.
Sir—In answer to the report about the men that refused going on board the S. S. Manola for sixty dollars a month, that is not the English wage, and there were fifty-three men in the Institute. Why are they coming down on the twenty-one without beds? Those men did not see much benefit of it. When they had to pay for a game of billiards and some of them asked to use the phone, and the answer was this: "I think you better get one of your own." So that is not much benefit; and most of the men that were in the police station were returned men. I don't think the people of St. John would like for the men, if they were working longshore, and some of them working for union wage and the rest of them working for forty-five cents an hour. Mr. Brindle can't say anything about helping men, for one man went to the head of the Navy League and tried to get help from them, and was told to go to Mr. Brindle and Mr. Brindle said he could not do anything for him. So he had to sell his clothes to get something to eat. So that is not helping sailors. The same man has done five years and a half in the Royal Navy.
