British Line Is Advanced a Bit

Gains On Principle Battle Fronts Last Night—Haig Taking Advantage of Lull Before Next Attack to Strengthen His Line

While awaiting the next German blow, now momentarily expected, Field Marshal Haig is taking advantage of the comparative lull to strengthen his lines in various spots.

Both north and south of the Somme and on the Lys battle front the British defensive positions were improved in local operations last night. Similarly, the Germans made an attempt to push forward their lines in the Mesnil region, north of Albert, in which sector they apparently are preparing for some more important movement. The British offered a sharp defence, however, and foiled the enemy effort.

Heavy artillery fire is in progress on so many parts of the front that little indication is afforded by this as to the point selected for the Germans for their renewed thrust. Naturally they may be expected to make further efforts to extricate themselves from the pocket into which they have forced themselves along the Lys, southwest of Ypres.

Thus, last night, the enemy was reported shelling the British positions in Dieppe Wood, whence lies the route to Hazebrouck, about the railway centre from which it is well nigh vital for the British to hold him.

There have been no developments in the region north of Ypres, where the Belgians stopped a turning movement last week, preventing the British from being flanked out of the Ypres positions. The nature of the ground and the disposition of the opposing forces, however, make it seem probable that a repetition of the attempt is to be looked for.

The situation in the Somme region is being for the moment even more closely watched than that along the Franco-Belgian border to the north. Field Marshal Haig reports heavy shelling of the British lines on both sides of the Somme and the Ancre, and the correspondents are sending word of German preparations for a movement of some nature between Arras and Amiens, within which the region under bombardment is located.

The enemy is known to have brought up some of their heaviest guns to the Somme battlefield, where Amiens is his objective, but the Entente artillery is matching these and hampering the Germans severely in their preparations for attack. Last night the French repulsed a German raid along the Avre, in this region.

A BRITISH GAIN. London, April 22—The British advanced their lines slightly last night in local operations on both of the principal battlefronts.

Gains were made near Villers-Bretonneux and Albert, on the Somme front, and Robecq, at the tip of the Flanders salient.

A strong local attack by the Germans on the front north of Albert was repulsed after the enemy had captured one of the British advanced posts.

Paris, April 22—German raids east of the Avre river and near Rheims were repulsed last night.

Former Exile Named Russian Ambassador to Court at Berlin

Moscow, Tuesday, April 16—(By the Associated Press)—Odolph Joffe has been named Russian ambassador to Germany, and is to leave Moscow tonight with his staff. On his way to Berlin he will meet Count von Mirbach, German ambassador to Russia.

M. Joffe was chairman of the first Russian peace delegation at Brest-Litovsk. He is only thirty-four years old, and is a Bolshevik Socialist. He spent a long time in exile in Siberia, and one time lived in Germany.

Fear Hun Vengeance on 11,000 Czech Troops

Washington, April 22—There is much concern here over the fate of 11,000 Czech troops who deserted from the Austrian army to join the Russians at the beginning of the war and who, according to Vienna newspapers, have been captured by the Germans advancing into the Ukraine. Members of the Czech-Slovak national council here said it was feared that most of the prisoners or at least the officers might be summarily executed.

German Effort to Make Dutch Fight

London, April 22—According to the Daily Telegraph's Rotterdam correspondent a plot is being hatched in Berlin deliberately designed to compel Holland to participate in the war. The facts have not yet been made public, but the correspondent believes to be true that the German government has already made, or is about to make, demands which, if pressed, would force the Netherlands to enter the war on one side or the other.

The writer intimates that the Germans' first move has been made, that as a result of mediation by the Pope, Emperor William has ordered that no more Belgian church bells shall be seized.

A Cologne despatch says that, as a result of mediation by the Pope, Emperor William has ordered that no more Belgian church bells shall be seized.

Commissioner McLellan Refers to Them on Request for Permission for Electric Signs—The Belyea Claim—Mr. Fisher's Protest

A meeting of the common council was held in city hall at noon today. Commissioner Russell submitted a report with reference to a claim for $7,000 presented by J. Fred Belyea because of the law to prohibit sign fishing. Commissioner Fisher had two applications for electric signs, permission to erect signs being granted under certain conditions. Commissioner Fisher also made a protest to the mayor against Commissioner McLellan, who he said, refused to support him when he asked the legislature to have one of the street car tracks in Union street removed.

The following reports were passed: The commissioner of finance and public affairs reported having further inquired into the matter of Leo D. McKiel, constable, who was referred back to him on April 2, and again recommends that Theodore H. Banks, one of his surties, be allowed to withdraw from the bond that Mr. McKiel is required to file a new bond before taking up any further duties as constable.

Four commissioners also recommended that the appeal of the C. P. R. from their assessment for patriotic purposes for 1917 be allowed by substituting a valuation of $420,000 for that made by the (Continued on page 2, seventh column)

President Wilson Objects to Measure

Washington, April 22—President Wilson came out today in opposition to the Chamberlain bill which would try violations of the section laws by court martial. In a letter to Secretary of War Woodrow Wilson, he declared his belief that the measure is unconstitutional.

If enacted, the president declared, the bill would place the United States on a level with its enemies. The measure, he said, was opposed to the spirit and purpose of the espionage laws.

Canadians Beat Back Raiding Enemy

Canadian Army Headquarters, April 21—(By W. A. Willison, Special Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—Two attempted enemy raids have been beaten off with numerous casualties. One party of thirty which attempted to approach our lines under cover of a heavy trench mortar barrage was completely broken up by our rifle and artillery fire. The second raid, which was against one of our posts, developed into a miniature battle. The initial attack of ten of the enemy against our post was beaten off, but the raiders, reinforced by double their strength, returned to the attack. As soon as this, under the circumstances formidable, force came within bombing distance, the garrison of our post retired to positions in shell holes.

With such protection they maintained such a steady and accurate rifle fire against their opponents that the enemy were driven back without having gained the slightest foothold on our line. After the failure of the raid a heavy artillery fire was opened up against the post and vicinity, but we suffered only one severe casualty, whereas the enemy was seen taking six of his men back on stretchers.

PARLIAMENT WILL PROBABLY FINISH BUSINESS MAY 23

Ottawa, April 22—Prorogation of Parliament by Thursday, May 16 or Saturday, May 18, is hoped for by the government and in official circles, although it is quite likely that it will not be possible to dispose of business until a week later. Thursday, May 23, is therefore regarded as being a quite likely day for the formal winding up of this session.

CANADIAN PINE OIL

In order that the theories and experiments of science may be of the fullest possible use to the manufacturers and producers of Canada, the government has steadily endeavored to bring into closer touch the scientific institutions of the country and its various industries. With this object in mind there was established about four years ago the forest products laboratories of the forestry branch, department of the interior, which has rendered a number of important services to industry, but none more important, perhaps, than when quite recently, it discovered a substitute for southern pine oil for ore reduction purposes. Since it has been demonstrated that the oil flotation process of ore extraction results in a yield of from fifteen to twenty per cent more metal than does any other process, in the case of certain ores, the value of southern pine oil and the demand for it have increased so greatly that there was danger that the supply produced in the United States would leave nothing over for export to Canada. Pine oil from the southern states was still the main source of the supply, the essential ingredient used in the oil flotation process and nothing was known that could replace it. Consequently, when the fact of the shortage of this oil became known, keen anxiety was felt in mining circles as to how the ore flotation plants of Canada could be maintained. This led to a conference between the minister of the interior and the chief mine owners of northern Ontario, who were aware of the wish and aim of the government to unite science and industry for their mutual good, the miners appealing to the government to start through the forest products laboratories an immediate investigation into the possibilities of Canadian pine oil with regard to ore extraction. The laboratories had first to determine the method for producing Canadian pine oil, in which they were successful, but the result of their finding was not very satisfactory from a commercial standpoint because the small percentage of turpentine in Canadian pine makes the production of pine oil very difficult and very expensive. Further experiments were then made with a view to discovering something that could do the work of pine oil at less cost, and here the laboratories met with splendid success. Their "find" is one of the creosote oils thrown off as a by-product by the wood distillation industries as well as practically a waste material. It is produced at the rate of 1,900 gallons a day, which means that Canada is now producing a home product sufficient to supply all her own flotation plants and leaving a good surplus for exportation. This important discovery is valuable to the wood distillation industries as well as to that of mining, in that it has raised a hitherto insignificant by-product to the position of chief factor in the oil flotation process or ore extraction. LULL EXPECTED TO BE BRIEF ONE. London, April 22—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency)—The lull in the battle is not expected to last long, despite the inclemency of the weather, with wind and rain.

The Germans are licking their hurts after their recent thrashing and evidently do not mean to re-attack until they are ready to do so on a great scale. They are being openly and enormously reinforced, but the Allies have also strengthened their forces, and it is not likely that the next thrust will be any more effective in achieving a decision than that of a month ago, when the German people were told to expect a speedy triumph.

The expectation on this side, indeed, is that the battle may last well through the summer. For one thing, it will henceforth be impossible for the enemy to benefit by a strategic surprise similar

OBJECTION TO THE STALLS IN CHINESE RESTAURANTS HERE

(Continued from page 1) assessors and by granting an abatement of taxes levied to the sum of $12,681.78. The commissioner of harbors, ferries and public lands recommended that a renewal lease issue to William A. Cunningham of lot No. 916, Guys ward, for term of seven years from the expiration of the present lease May 1, 1914 at $14.80 per annum, an increase of 10 per cent on the present rental.

Commissioner Russell presented a report dealing with the $7,000 claim of J. Fred Belyea because fishing rights had been affected by a law prohibiting chad fishing. The report was prepared by Engineer Hatfield, who on the advice of the city solicitor said that at the time of the fishing signs were sold to Mr. Belyea by auction no guarantee was given, and that the question was one to be dealt with by the dominion government, not the city authorities.

Chinese Restaurants. Commissioner Fisher said he had received two applications for permission to erect electric signs, both from Chinese. One desired to erect a sign in Brussels street and the other in Market street. He moved that permission be granted.

Commissioner McLellan said he thought the rights should be withheld. He said there was a movement to have all stalls in Chinese restaurants removed, because they were affording men an opportunity of going there to drink liquor. He said that the Chinese had been warned against this, but that they did not seem able to control the situation. He said that if the stalls were allowed to remain, it would require a large number of policemen or plain clothes men to keep in touch with these places. He strongly advocated having them abolished.

Mayor Hayes said he thought the suggestion was a good one and that such places be done away with. He said that if the Chinese asking for the right to erect electric signs were naturalized, he did not think they could refuse them the right, but if they were not, it would be different.

Commissioner Fisher said that if Commissioner McLellan would make a motion inserting a provision in the agreement to the effect that the stalls be removed, it would cover the matter.

Commissioner McLellan then moved that in future no permission be given to Chinese to erect electric signs over their restaurants unless all stalls were removed. This was unanimously passed. Commissioner Fisher said he wished to place before the council the fact that he had desired the telephone company to have some of their poles set back in Main and Union streets where permanent paving was to be done, but that they refused to do so. He then went into the matter with Engineer Hatfield and they decided that the gain was not sufficient to warrant the city forcing them to do so.

Commissioner Fisher then made a protest to Mayor Hayes that Commissioner McLellan had refused to support his bill in the legislature to force the street railway to remove one of their tracks in Union street between Waterloo and Brussels street. He said the commissioner had promised to do so.

Commissioner McLellan he told Commissioner Fisher plainly that he would support any bill he could get through. He said he did not support that bill because he knew that it would not be passed. He laughingly remarked that he would not go any other place with Commissioner Fisher if he persisted in telling tales out of school.

Mayor Hayes said that the request had been refused, because it was a bargain entered into by the old council and the railway, and that the railway had contended that it cost them $10,000 to place the track there and would cost them that much more to have it removed. The meeting then adjourned.

POOLING INTERESTS. Dr. M. F. Egan Speaks of Attitude of Scandinavian Countries.

New York, April 22—Norway at one time would have been willing to give the Allies a military base if Sweden could have been induced to join in the movement, according to Dr. Maurice F. Egan, American minister to Denmark, who spoke here last night on the relations of the Scandinavian countries to the war.

"Norway is a freedom-loving country," Dr. Egan declared, "but Sweden is a monarchy of the old type. Her military leaders are in sympathy with Germany because they were nearly all educated there. And now that we have been compelled and justified in strangling these little countries more or less in order to strangle Germany, I do not think I am giving out any diplomatic secret when I say that all three of these Scandinavian countries do not feel as kindly toward us or so much in sympathy with us as they did before we resorted to our embargo policy. There is a growing tendency for the Scandinavians to pool their interests in a more rigid neutrality."

"Denmark," Dr. Egan continued, "is also a liberty loving country, but its future is so perplexing as to cause the peo-

FINE PARADE OF VETERANS IN HONOR OF YPRES ANNIVERSARY

A large gathering of citizens turned out yesterday to witness the parade of the Great War Veterans at present in the city to St. John's (Stone) church and the Cathedral in memory of those who fell at the second battle of Ypres.

The veterans "fall in" at King street east at 10:30 o'clock. Brigadier-General Macdonell, C. G., is the commanding officer.

Following the parade staff came the returned officers, then the civic representatives, including Mayor Hayes, Commissioners Fisher, Wignome and Russell.

At the conclusion of services in both churches the parade proceeded back over the route of march, having taken a course with the Schollart support people in Chicago.

Striking references were made at St. John's (Stone) church by Rev. Gustav Kahring, and in the Cathedral by Rev. William M. Duke.

THE 2 BARKERS LIMITED

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., APRIL 22, 1918.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

CITY AND POWER COMPANY.

It is expected the legislature this week will pass upon the demand of the New Brunswick Power Company for an increase in rates required to enable the company to pay dividends on watered stock.

If the money were not needed for that purpose the company would have no more the reason to raise rates than, for example, the Halifax street railway company which is not asking for any increase.

The whole story is told when we say that the old St. John Railway Company had interest and dividends to pay on only $2,057,600, and this company must provide higher interest on $8,100,000, with $2,000,000 of common stock waiting its chance. The increased charges must be paid by the same old plant, giving a worse service.

The citizens of St. John have not sought to dictate to the legislature. They merely ask the legislators to refuse an increase in rates until there has been a thorough exposure of power company finance. The advocates of the company's demands have wholly misrepresented the case and the city's position in the matter. They want the money. They are determined to get it. They regard a public utility as far game for the exploiter. They would make St. John pay higher rates than any other Canadian city, in order that they might enrich themselves at the public expense.

To permit these frenzied financiers to have their way would be a crime against the province. All the city asks is a thorough investigation, and it knows what that investigation will reveal. So does the company, and that is why it wants the increased rates, and wants them now.

The city rests its case with the far-sighted members of the legislature, asking only what is fair and just.

HERE'S A SUGGESTION.

The Bangor chamber of commerce has had a great revival. There is in process of formation a members' council, which all are asked to join. The letter of invitation reads thus:—

"The members' council, which every member of the chamber of commerce has this opportunity of joining when organized, will be the live-wire group of the chamber. Its purpose is to keep the membership interested in the work of the organization, to interest non-members in becoming members, and to urge delinquents to remain members of the chamber. It will also initiate activities for the chamber, suggest reforms, and do the many things necessary to steer an active organization like this clear of pitfalls and hold it together. These duties while comparatively light are important; one of your principal obligations being to attend regularly the meetings of the council which will be held at regular intervals. In order to eliminate the possibility of having 'dead wood' on the roster, you are asked to sign and mail the enclosed self-addressed card at once, first reading the accompanying 'oath of Athens.'"

The oath of the young men of Athens, which is commended as a creed for Bangor, reads thus:—

"We will never bring disgrace on this, our city, by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks."

"We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many."

"We will never and obey the city's laws, and we will do our best to inculcate a like respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to annul them and set them at naught."

"We will strive unceasingly to quicken the public sense of public duty; that thus in all these ways we may transmit this city, not less, but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

The St. John board of trade once had a great revival, but the results were not commensurate with the energy put forth. Perhaps the time is ripe for another effort, less financially ambitious but more vigorous and sustained.

Hon. B. Frank Smith talked at great length on Saturday, but failed to give the information the house desired in regard to that $32,860.89 note of A. C. Smith & Co., and a certain check for $38,271.84 which figured in the affair of the patriotic potatoes. Will it be necessary to appoint another royal commission to bring out the facts? Mr. Smith had a fine opportunity to take the house and the country into his confidence, but failed to do so. Perhaps ex-Premier Murray will clear up the mystery. If not, a commission should do so.

MR. TAYLOR'S IDEAL CITY.

Mr. F. R. Taylor has a new recipe for the growth of a city. Before the legislature yesterday he drew an alluring picture of a city which expands and by its expansion attracts more and more people who want more and more miles of street railway, more power, more gas and electric light, and other evidences of an abounding prosperity and development.

This picture was drawn to show the propriety of the claims of the New Brunswick Power Company for increased rates. It follows, therefore, that in the astute mind of Mr. Taylor the conviction has been developed that the way to make a city grow is to make things cost more.

Charge more for power and you will get more factories. Charge higher car fares and you will get more passengers. Charge more for gas and electric light and more people will spring up to clamor for the delightful privilege of using them.

To go a little farther—for Mr. Taylor dealt with only one phase of the subject, with which he is personally and deeply concerned—it may be pointed out that to stimulate still further the growth of population and prosperity the rents should be raised. The merchants should be charged more for their wares than is charged in other places. Taxes should be increased. Every possible device to separate a man from his earnings or his savings should be adopted. Then the city would grow by leaps and bounds, everybody would be happy, and people would be crowding each other into the ditches along all the highways in the eager rush to get there and grow up with the town.

Of course Mr. Taylor's ideal city is not yet on the map. Evidently, however, he entertains hopes that it may eventually be found on the shores of the Bay of Fundy. The Times, with profound humility, begs to put Mr. Taylor's name in nomination for the joint offices of mayor and finance minister.

TAXATION OF WEALTH.

The Toronto Globe says: "There is an object lesson for Canada in the way the United States is tackling the war taxation of what are commonly called the 'Big Interests.'"

Despatches state that John D. Rockefeller will be required to contribute in income tax the enormous sum of $38,400,000, and that the twenty-nine wealthiest citizens, after Mr. Rockefeller, will pay an aggregate of $165,100,000 on the same assessment. The men whose incomes have been increased by war activities are also paying a more substantial share to the States in the excess profits tax. One instance is recorded in which a citizen who made $100,000 last year had to turn over to the government in taxes $29,000.

Wealth in Canada is not yet paying its just proportionate share of the country's war obligation. Hon. Frank B. Carvell, minister of public works, has already indicated publicly on more than one occasion that it is his purpose to renew the effort to see that wealth is required to pay its proportionate share of the nation's war expenditure. It is hoped that Mr. Carvell has been able to bring all his ministerial associates to his way of thinking on this matter. The example of the United States should strengthen his hands."

Word comes from Ottawa that no more men, even of the First Contingent, can be given furlough. Every man overseas is needed there, and reinforcements must be sent as quickly as possible. We in Canada must spare the men and ourselves do the work they would have done had they remained at home. It is a time for universal service and real sacrifice. Are we worthy of the men at the front? That question thrusts itself upon the attention of every citizen of Canada.

The destruction of ships by submarines is increasing. It is therefore asserted with confidence that the submarine will be defeated and the transportation problem made far less acute.

Sir Arthur Currie's call to the Canadian soldiers at the front is not less a call to us at home to be worthy in this hour of destiny for the Empire.

St. John is to have a new assessment set. It is the product of much earnest study by able men, and should be a great improvement on the old act.

The British line in France and Flanders is still unbroken. What of the line in Canada—the army behind the army? Will its duty be done as unselfishly?

The present week will see the beginning of a much more rapid increase in the number of men called to the colors in Canada.

The week begins with conditions on the western battlefield more favorable to the Allies than they were a week ago.

Premier Lloyd George: "These days of trial can only serve to unite more closely and permanently the peoples who are fighting side by side for the cause of right against the tyrannous aggression of militarist power."

A TRIBUTE TO WOMEN.

You've cheered Soldier Tommy and Sail-or Jack, too. You've shouted hurrah for the state, But while you are cheering the heroes who fight,

Just think of the women who wait. Women who wait, women who wait, You don't fight with guns at the enemy gate,

There's no V. C. for you, but you brave you. And you're none less the heroes, brave women who wait.

For men there's the danger and perils of war, A shot may soon settle their fate, But what of the anguish, the sorrow and the care,

That come to the women who wait. Women who wait, women who wait, They don't write your name on the scroll of the great,

For your fighting is done far away from the gun, But God knows its fighting, brave women who wait.

There are homes that are desolate, once happy wives, Full of sorrow in losing their mate, There are children to feed, now that daddy has gone,

And it's up to you women who wait. Women who wait, women who wait, Your husbands and sons you have given the state,

But when fighting is done and the glory they've won, Will reward you for waiting, brave women who wait.

A THINKING ROLE. (Los Angeles Times). A group of people were touring Alaska one summer were disgusted at the laziness of the buck Indians they saw in the villages and along the trail.

One day when in the woods they saw a man and a woman. The man was evidently packing into the mountains to stay a while. The squaw was staggering under a tremendous load. She juggled all of the bedding and provisions and a papoose for good measure. The old buck was slumping along lazily ahead of his pack, his pipe and looking down at the trail.

One member of the tourist party halted the Indians, and when they stopped he inquired, somewhat impatiently, "See here, Buck, how comes it that Nikkawana is carrying all of the baggage and you are slouching along, enjoying your pipe? Why don't you take at least half of the load off your squaw, you big lazy Indian?"

"What a pleasant surprise as a sphinx for a few moments, then he flung to himself and pointing his index finger to his forehead, he exclaimed in deep guttural tones: "Huh, me all time think!"

Girl of Eleven Pale and Lifeless

So Nervous and Irritable That She Finally Kept to Her Bed—By Using the Great Food Cure She Grew Strong and Healthy

Italy Cross, N. S., April 21.—In every school there are children who do not seem to be able to stand the strain of school work. The confinement indoors, the poor ventilation, the strain on the eyes and the nerves, all combine to sap the vitality and to undermine the strength of the human body.

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven exceptionally effective under these circumstances, it has come to be considered standard as a restorative treatment for pale, weak, nervous children.

What a pleasant surprise as a sphinx for a few moments, then he flung to himself and pointing his index finger to his forehead, he exclaimed in deep guttural tones: "Huh, me all time think!"

Mrs. Stephen Hartman, Italy Cross, Lunenburg county, N. S., writes: "My little sister at eleven years of age became nervous, irritable and seemed all-fired out. She had no appetite, was lifeless and drowsy, and her complexion grew pale and sallow. Finally she had to keep her bed and have somebody with her all the time. She was afraid of everything, would get excited and tremble till the bed would shake. As she seemed to be getting worse under the doctor's treatment, mother decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She used three boxes and she was wonderfully improved, was poticable, and it was wonderful to see how much brighter and stronger she grew week by week. She used three boxes altogether, and they cured her. She got fat and rosy and went to school every day with an ambition that she never seemed to have before. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone, for it was indeed wonderful what it did for her."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of six boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be misled into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

SUFFERED WITH NERVES

COULD NOT KEEP QUIET

Diseases of the nervous system are very common. All the organs of the body may be bound while the nerve centres may be affected.

Many women become run down and worn out by household duties never ending, and sooner or later find themselves with their nerves shattered, and their heart action weakened.

On the first sign of any weakness of either the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, do not wait until your case becomes hopeless.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will do one quiet, the shaking nerves strengthen the weak heart and build up the entire system.

Mrs. F. Bailey, 281 Earl street, Kingston, Ont., writes: "I was suffering such with my nerves, so much so that I could not keep myself quiet at all. I was recommended to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I bought three boxes, and I must say I have derived much benefit from them, so much so that my friends have all noticed the change in me."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

GOUGH LACKED MEN TO HOLD LONG FRONT

Untimely Mist Came up So That The Germans Surprised The Fifth Army

Three Breaks in the Line—Officers Had to Instruct Some of Mixed Force as the Battle Went On (Special Cable to New York Times). London, April 17.—As men come back from the front it is possible to piece together in more detail the story of the actual defeat of Brig-General Carey and his scratch brigade in the battle of the Somme.

He took up the work already begun by a brigade general of the Royal Engineers. The emergency arose through the development, during the retreat of the British, of a gap between two brigades. The Germans were pressing hard, and there was really nothing to prevent the enemy rushing through, if only he had known about it.

It has already been told how every kind of soldier the commander could collect was thrown into action, among them being a strong contingent of American engineers; but what has not come out before is the curious superfluity of arms.

Close to where the gap occurred was a training school for machine gunners. Of course the men in training had long since been hurried into action, but a large supply of machine guns remained. It is not every soldier, however, who understands how to use these weapons, and the officer found himself with a large supply of them which all came to be mustered from being captured, and very few men able to handle them. Those who could were put in charge of squads, and whenever they had a moment's respite from turning them on the Germans they set to work to give hurried instructions.

British Labor Units Joined Infantry. Many British labor units fought side by side with ordinary infantry, and so in the line of resistance, and before many hours had passed by sheer weight of numbers the Germans had forced the British back on the battlements. Then the fewness of numbers began to tell, and, as always at point of junction between divisions, the Germans got through between the Seventh and Nineteenth, the Nineteenth and Eighteenth, and the Third and Eighteenth, and the whole line was broken up.

No particular blame is attached to General Gough, although he has paid the price which a defeated general must pay, and has been removed. There is no question that the British soldiers fought as they have always fought. One of the divisions that was crumpled up was a famous Irish unit. Had No Time to Destroy Bridges. Meanwhile it was impossible for the French reinforcements to come up as quickly as was necessary, and the retreat began. Bridges were not blown up for the simple reason that the parties of engineers were all killed. After that it was a mere question of hard fighting, concerning which the British have no apologies to make.

Many curious incidents are coming out now. One acting brigadier-general was captured by the Germans and passed six hours in their lines. He was well treated by the officers, but found his escort very rough. He admired immensely the precision with which the Germans were marshaled for attack. At length he thought that he would make a dash for freedom. He was in charge of two Germans, but, being an international rugby football player of splendid physique, he was able to knock them over. His hands were bound, but he made a run for it, and thought his best chance was to get near a blazing ammunition dump. Shells were exploding, and his escort was sniping at him, so at last he managed to get out of sight.

Then he made his way forward till he got near the line of British outposts. He was almost exhausted, and nearly despaired till he heard one soldier sing out: "Get up, Jack, ye devil!" These were the most welcome words he had ever heard. He had tumbled into a line of the Gordons, and so was safe.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

ASHAMED TO GO OUT

Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by unsightly pimples, blotches, flesh worms and various other blood diseases. Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted as well as pain and regret to their friends.

Many a cheek and brow cast in the mould of beauty have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost and their possessor rendered unhappy for years.

Why, then, consent to rest under this cloud of embarrassment? There is an effective remedy for all these defects. It is Burdock Blood Bitters. This remedy will drive out all the impurities from the blood and leave the complexion healthy and clear.

Mrs. Katherine Henry, Fort Sydney, Ont., writes: "Two years ago my face was so covered with pimples I was ashamed to go out at all. I tried several remedies, but they were of no use. At last a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I got a bottle, and by the time it was used I could see a difference. I then got two more, and when I had used them the pimples were completely gone. I can highly recommend B. B. B."

EVERY WOMAN EVERY MOTHER EVERY DAUGHTER NEEDS IRON AT TIMES. To help strengthen her nerves and put color into her cheeks. There can be no beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked woman without iron. The trouble in the past has been that when a woman has been told that she needs iron, ordinary medicinal iron, which often corrodes the stomach and does more harm than good, I always insist that my patients take only organic iron—Nuxated Iron. This particular form of iron is easily assimilated, does not burden nor injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, irritable, overworked, weary-looking women in ten days' time in many instances. I have used it in my own practice with most surprising results.—Ferdinand King, M.D.

THE WAR GARDENS

An Article Worth Reading—Reason Why All Who Can Should W—Some Hints

(By Frederick Abraham, chairman Vacant Lot and Home Garden Section Canadian Food Board.)

Some one has estimated that Canadian war gardens last year added to the wealth of the state upwards of $89,000,000. American gardens are credited with producing food last year worth, in the aggregate, $880,000,000.

The cultivation of vacant lots and backyards has risen from a pastime to a work of national necessity. It is no longer a hobby. Everyone who can is asked to assist this movement to the fullest extent of his or her ability. It may be the only war service you can render. Do not let this spring pass without seizing the opportunity to assist a situation that is continually growing more grave. Do not let us continue the principle of doing today what should have been done a year ago. This has been done in the case of the serious defect of democracy in its struggle against an organized and unscrupulous autocracy.

Failure to Feed the Soldiers.

Too many people in this land of comparative plenty assume that we cannot starve, forgetting that just as grave a tragedy can happen if we fail to feed the soldiers at the front.

Home-grown vegetables eliminate unnecessary transportation with its attendant waste of fuel and labor. It also releases other and much-needed food for export to the Allies. Another misconception which needs constant correction is that if the war should suddenly cease prices would immediately fall. Prominent authorities agree that prices will be high for a long period after the war.

In most towns and cities a cultivation committee exists. It is desirable that all who can should join such an organization. Failing this, secure a small lot as near your home as possible. A great responsibility rests upon each one of us with a plot of land at his disposal of helping in this titanic struggle.

Let every One Do Something. Everyone can help. It is the individual effort that counts.

"There's not a pair of legs so thin, there's not a head so thick, There's not a hand so weak and white, nor yet a heart so sick, But it can find some useful job that's crying to be done. For the glory of the garden glorifies every one."

The home garden offers a special opportunity for women. Their mobilization is a war necessity. It is true that women are not equal to men, but they do not need to be in order to cultivate a garden. And it has been proven that in endurance of hardships and fatigue women are man's equal.

See that the soil is suitable for cultivation and do not take on more than you can successfully look after. A lot 25 feet by 100 feet will furnish an abundance of fresh vegetables for an average family and this is all any one person otherwise employed is physically capable of working. Plant standard vegetables—the fewer the better—such as potatoes, beans, peas, carrots, beets, parsnips, lettuce and onions.

What and When to Plant. Turnips or corn in small plots. Even potatoes require considerable space, but they are so essentially the "blue ribbon" vegetable that a garden seems incomplete without them. Unless you are a professional gardener don't waste your time on fancy vegetables such as asparagus, or on strawberries, or even on tomatoes. There is little nutrition in them at best, and while occupying valuable space, require much time and labor.

A word about what to plant. A lot of nonsense is being written under this heading. One of the most influential women's journals in the United States, a magazine with a very large circulation in Canada, says in its April issue to "plant when the peach-trees put out their first blossoms." Some of us in Canada who have never seen a peach tree will hardly be able to follow this rule. A safer general plan will be to plant when the earth is firm to the step—not spongy. The week of May 24 is early enough in most Canadian localities, and even a later date will yield plenty of vegetables in a climate where vegetation matures quickly.

CANADIAN FINANCES; LIKELY INCREASE IN TAX ON THE LARGE INCOMES The budget for the present fiscal year will be presented to the commons at Ottawa on Thursday by Hon. A. K. McLean. At about the same time Sir Thomas White will arrive in Washington to negotiate finances with British and American representatives. The finance minister will seek to complete pending arrangements for marking four or five hundred millions of the United States loans to Great Britain for transfer by Great Britain to Canadian account in helping to pay for our financing of British orders in Canada. It is understood that the budget will contain a recommendation re taxation whereby the toll on men of large incomes will be increased. Little or no change is anticipated so far as the tariff is concerned. A new domestic loan of $250,000,000 is anticipated. The financial statement for March shows that the net debt of the dominion is $1,106,394,028. There has been a general ten per cent. wage increase in Rhode Island woollen mills.

GREAT MUNICIPAL ORGAN

INSTALLED IN DENVER An $85,000 municipal pipe organ whose size and special features make it one of the greatest instruments of its type in the United States, has just been installed in the Denver Auditorium, a municipal assembling place seating 14,000 persons, says the May Popular Mechanics Magazine. In it are combined the qualities of a cathedral organ and a popular orchestra. Some conception of its size may be gained from the fact that the largest of the pipes recitals two stories high, is 40 inches square at the large end, and weighs 1,250 lbs., while the diameter of the smallest pipe is about that of a straw, and it weighs half an ounce.

The success with which orchestral effects can be produced makes the organ particularly suited for giving recitals of a popular character, as well as for accompanying large bodies of singers. With its rich tones can be produced that are wonderfully like the violin, and the flute, clarinet, and oboe are simulated in an equally striking way, while the mighty tubas and the diapasons furnish tone color that is pronounced truly impressive.

WANT MORE SPRUCE TO MAKE AIRPLANES

(American Lumberman.) There is a decided willingness to buy spruce in the east, but as stocks that are offered are small, broken and varied in nature the total volume of business transacted is less than the demand would bring about under normal conditions. Eastern producers are scheduled for a conference with the government this week to try to arrange for the greater use of eastern spruce in airplane construction. As the government wants every stick of suitable spruce that it is possible to obtain there is every reason to believe that orders will be placed in the east. On the Pacific coast the government promptly helped the spruce producers out in getting a plentiful supply of labor, and perhaps this policy will be followed in the east. Should this be done the production of side lumber would be greatly increased, but the market is simple to absorb any amount that can be cut. On the Pacific coast the aircraft spruce specifications have once more been revised and the prices to be paid increased. A blanket order has been placed at the following prices: "A" wing beam stock, $175; "B" long clear, 880; "C" short and thin clear, $48. The government is also instructing the spruce sawyers in the method followed by hardwood producers in sawing for straight grained stock. It is claimed that this will materially increase the production of airplane material, although the daily cut will be less. As this will result in less side lumber the mills will welcome the change, as far as that is concerned.

The principal argument against the use of New England spruce for aircraft construction heretofore has not been as to the size of the timbers. The feeling here is that if the smaller New England stock can be utilized the government should have the advantage of it in the rush to turn out airplanes in constantly increasing numbers. The New England spruce is a quality of material, and closer grain. This is desirable for aircraft since the material is stouter. Many spruce trees on the west coast are rejected for airplane stock on account of the wider grain. But the west coast timbers are many times larger.

It is believed some of the specifications for spruce can be changed so that the New England material can be utilized to advantage in certain parts of construction, despite the smaller size of the logs.

A call for three million feet of New England spruce a month for airplanes was sent out by the

B. F. Smith and The Veniot Charges In The Legislature

Fredericton, April 21—Facing serious charges which he could not or would not answer B. Frank Smith, minister of public works under the late Murray government presented a sorry spectacle in the legislature on Saturday.

Hon. Mr. Veniot had said that Mr. Smith while serving as his predecessor had arranged to purchase motor trucks on such peculiar terms that after entering office he (Veniot) had been able to effect a reduction of $7,200.

Instantly Hon. Mr. Veniot was on his feet. "If the honorable gentleman is serious I will take him up. If he will name the date on which he cancelled the contract I will resign my seat."

A transaction in connection with the famous patriotic potatoes had been described by Hon. Veniot as disgraceful and dishonorable and he had asked for an explanation. Mr. Smith's only answer was that the people of Carleton had rejected him after that transaction had taken place.

The answer to this was the presentation to the house of the account duly marked approved and signed with the initials (B. F. S.) in spite of these things Mr. Smith had had the effrontery to produce his remarks with the statement that he was not ashamed of his record and had done nothing to cause him to blush.

The debate on the budget was closed by the provincial secretary-treasurer, Hon. Robert Murray, the minister completed the task of clearing up the criticisms and insinuations of the opposition showing that there was not a charge

CASES OF SPECIAL INTEREST AMONG M.S.A. JUDGMENTS

An Inspector of Customs Gets Temporary Exemption

RAILWAY COMMISSION OFFICIAL

Central Appeal Judge Says Secretary Should go to War—U.N.B. Fourth Year Student Also—Important Clerk in Naval Service, Ottawa, Must Go

The following are reports of cases under the military service act decided by the central appeal judge, Mr. Justice Duff, Ottawa:

Customs Inspector Smith. Inspector of customs, granted temporary exemption to enable arrangements to be made to have his place filled.

Marriage since July 6, 1917, not to be considered as affecting an application for exemption.

This was an application for exemption on the ground of the importance in the national interest that the applicant should continue his employment as an inspector of customs.

The ground was also taken for exemption by reason of the domestic position of the applicant, who married in September, 1917. It was also submitted that the applicant's health was such as to unfit him for military service.

The central appeal judge—The subject of this application is an inspector of customs.

Before coming to the substance of the application it may be observed that a claim is made upon the ground of exemption by reason of the domestic position of the applicant, who married in September, 1917.

The military service act was passed, and another by reason of ill health.

As to the first, it has been observed more than once that he must be treated for the purpose of this application, as being unmarried.

As to the second, an opportunity for further examination will be given if he desires it.

The substantial ground is the importance of his work as inspector of customs.

In the circumstances disclosed, the central appeal judge thinks that exemption should be granted for about two months, to say until June 1, to enable satisfactory arrangements to be made.

Exemption till June 1, 1918. Railway Commission Official.

The secretary to the chairman of the railway commission for Canada is not to be exempted by reason of his occupation.

The fact that he proposes to farm his own land personally is no ground for his exemption.

In this case the appellant (Clarence M. Chapman) is private secretary of the chief commissioner and chairman of the Railway Commission of Victoria.

He appealed on his own behalf on the ground of the importance of his duties in the public interest. He also relied upon his position as a producer of food.

On the latter point he established that he is the owner of 820 acres of land in Saskatchewan, which produced 7,400 bushels of wheat in 1916.

He was preparing to have 240 acres sown with wheat in the coming spring, and proposed to take up agricultural work personally if exempted.

The local tribunal granted exemption till Jan. 31, 1918, and the appeal tribunal refused to disturb it. He now appeals asking for total exemption.

The central appeal judge—The appellant is secretary to the chairman of the railway commission for Canada. In 1916 he purchased 160 acres in Saskatchewan, and in 1917 he purchased the adjoining 160 acres. The property has been rented and the tenant has worked it on shares. The local tribunal granted him exemption until Jan. 31, 1918. The appeal tribunal confirmed this decision.

The appellant says that he will go on the land himself and work it. He has not been engaged in practical farming for the last seven years, and his absence is necessary to enable production to be seriously affected by his absence on service.

The chairman of the railway commission does not object.

The drafting of the applicant will not doubt be a cause of inconvenience to the chairman of the railway commission, but no such detriment to the public service is suggested as would justify the granting of exemption.

Appeal dismissed. Note—An application subsequently made by the chairman of the railway commission, an exemption for one month was granted to allow of the procuring of a new secretary.

Case of Student at U. N. B. A student of civil engineering and forestry in the fourth year of his professional course in a university, is not to be exempted in order that he may complete his studies.

The appellant in this case (G. L. Miller) had been refused exemption by the appeal tribunal, and had also been refused leave to appeal to the central appeal judge. The matter now comes before the central appeal judge on application for leave to appeal.

The central appeal judge—The applicant is a student at the University of New Brunswick, taking a course of civil engineering and forestry, and is in the fourth year. His claim is based upon the alleged national importance of the work in forestry, in which he desires to be engaged. Further, he advances the fact that he was married in the month of December last, and that owing to domestic reasons his continued presence at home is necessary.

Weighing the prospective value of the applicant's services, so far as one can estimate them at all, against the immediate and pressing necessity of providing men for the army, it is abundantly manifest that the facts stated do not afford any ground for exemption.

Leave to appeal refused. Re LeBlanc. The chief correspondence clerk in the Naval Service Department, refused exemption beyond a short period to allow procuring of a substitute.

Applicant's claim for exemption in this case was made by the subject thereof of himself on the ground of domestic hardship, but it was strongly supported by the deputy minister of the naval service on the ground that it was expedient in the national interest that the man should be continued in his present employment. It was submitted by the department that the position of chief correspondence clerk required high educational qualifications, and that the applicant is a master of arts and possesses the qualifications necessary; that the correspondence of the department touched practically all departmental matters, including inventions submitted, inquiries of all natures, preparation of reports to council, house of parliament correspondence, etc. It was also further submitted that the applicant had been engaged in this work for nearly four years and had acquired the special knowledge and experience necessary for his effective conduct, that it would not be possible to train another man to a state of equal efficiency in less time than it had taken to train the applicant, and that it would greatly derange the organization of the department if the man were removed.

The local exemption tribunal allowed practice all departmental matters, including inventions submitted, inquiries of all natures, preparation of reports to council, house of parliament correspondence, etc. It was also further submitted that the applicant had been engaged in this work for nearly four years and had acquired the special knowledge and experience necessary for his effective conduct, that it would not be possible to train another man to a state of equal efficiency in less time than it had taken to train the applicant, and that it would greatly derange the organization of the department if the man were removed.

The central appeal judge—This appeal should be dismissed.

The central appeal judge cannot see any good reason for thinking that the period elapsing between the date when the Military Service Act was introduced, or for that matter the date when it passed the House of Commons, and May 1, 1918, should not be sufficient for procuring a substitute for the subject of the application.

The central appeal judge sees no reason to differ from the conclusion in which the local exemption tribunal arrived, and he accordingly dismisses the appeal.

Re Fraser. A professor of classics in a university is not to be exempted on the ground of his calling.

The central appeal judge—The subject of this application is an instructor in classics in the University of Dalhousie and holds the rank of professor. The application is made by himself and also by the president of the university. There is also a suggestion that his services in agricultural production are of sufficient value to require his exemption, but as to this the evidence is conclusively against the suggestion.

The central appeal judge finds no grounds for distinguishing in principle this case from other academic cases which have been before the central appeal judge, and he accordingly dismisses the application as constituting a ground for exemption.

Exemption refused. Plymouth Brethren. A claim for exemption on the ground that the applicant is a minister of the Gospel is not cognizable by the exemption tribunals. If he is within the class "clergy" under the act, he is exempted from the operation of the act, and need not apply for exemption.

Members of the religious connection commonly known as "Plymouth Brethren" are not to be exempted on the ground of their religious beliefs.

The central appeal judge—Exemption is claimed in this case and has been allowed to R. F. Elliott as a minister of the gospel in the Plymouth Brethren church.

The central appeal judge passes no opinion upon the question of whether or not the applicant is a clergyman within the meaning of the language describing the sixth class of persons declared to be exempted from the operation of the Military Service Act.

If the applicant falls within that class then he is entirely outside the operation of the act, and as regards him the exemption tribunals have no jurisdiction to grant exemption, or to declare his status in relation to the act; if he is not a clergyman within the language of the act then the facts presented are not grounds for exemption.

I have been unable to accept the contention made generally on behalf of the connection commonly known as Plymouth Brethren, that they are exempt from combatant military service under the Military Service Act.

Indeed, Mr. Elliott, who presented the case, and his friends with great clearness as well as with obvious sincerity, did not dispute that the taking part in combatant military service was not, according to the corporate views of the Plymouth Brethren, regarded as a disqualification for membership; wickedness alone, he said, would be a ground of exclusion and that would not necessarily be regarded as wickedness in all circumstances.

This conclusion necessarily requires me, in accordance with the law, to reject the claims made by members of this connection, for exemption as conscientious objectors.

An additional word in explanation seems necessary. It is not part of the duty of the central appeal judge to decide the question whether there is or is not any sound ethical basis for the distinction, which the status plainly draws, between persons whose religious belief forbids them from engaging in military service, but who, at the same time, are not members of any organized religious denomination holding such belief as part of its corporate creed, and those who, on the other hand, hold non-resistant tenets personally and are also at the same time members of an organized religious denomination having such a creed.

The condition prescribed by the statute may well be supposed to have had its origin in the desire to avoid or reduce the risk of imposture which the absence of it would probably involve; but whatever the object of the legislature, the enactment is plain, and the members of the connection in question are not, according to the proper construction of it, within the class entitled to take advantage of it.

PLAN CLOSING OF LEGISLATURE BY END OF WEEK

Another Session This Morning. Few of Opposition in House

NOT ONE FROM ST. JOHN CITY

No Morning Session Tomorrow, But Time Given Up To Committee Work—Items of Supply—Talk of New Wing For Provincial Hospital, Lancaster

(Special to Times)

Fredericton, N. B., April 22—Entering upon what is expected to be the last week of the session, the legislature business resumed at eleven o'clock this morning. There were few vacant seats on the government side, but the opposition was represented by only seven members when the house opened. None of the opposition members from St. John city or county, except Mr. Carson, was on hand.

There will be no time wasted this week, as it is desired that the house may conclude before the week-end. There will be no morning session on Tuesday, however, as the forenoon will be devoted to the completion of committee work.

Examination of the records has shown that the Saturday evening session was the first held since 1874. The matter of supply was the business before the house on that occasion also.

Supply This Morning

When the house resumed this morning supply again was taken up and a large number of items passed without discussion.

On an item of $400 for the Natural History Society, St. John, Mr. Smith of Carleton, on behalf of Dr. Campbell, asked if the government was not to increase the grant by $100. Premier Foster said that the government had considered the matter and another hundred would be provided for in the supplementary estimates.

In an item of $10,000 for public hospitals, Hon. Mr. Burchill asked that in the distribution of the total amount, efforts be made to provide $700 for the new Miramichi hospital in Newcastle. Mr. Robichaud asked for an increase from $600 to $800 or $1,000 for the institution in Bethurst. Mr. Leblanc wanted more money for Campbellton, and Mr. Melanson made a similar request for the Moncton institution, which serves both Westmorland and Kent.

Mr. Robinson suggested that the distribution be made on the basis of "hospital days," that is the total reached by adding the number of days each patient was in the institution. The premier agreed that this was a good suggestion and promised consideration.

Items for roads, bridges, military hospitals commission and several others were discussed and passed and the list was completed. Further consideration of supply was fixed for Thursday afternoon. The house arose at 1:10 to resume at 8 o'clock.

Provincial Hospital Here

As to an item of $150,000 for the provincial hospital at St. John, the premier said that it had been necessary to look forward to additional expense for looking after returned soldiers affected mentally. Plans for the addition of a new wing capable of accommodating fifty new patients, and the contribution of $100 a year for each soldier patient by the federal government had been under consideration.

Highway Bill Passed

A bill respecting highways was read a third time and passed.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale introduced a bill to provide for the purchase and sale of sheep.

Mr. Smith (Carleton) said that the public accounts committee had still a great deal of work to do, and if it was proposed to hold morning sittings of the house, could it be arranged that the committee would sit at the same time.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he quite appreciated the importance of the work of the committee and would arrange for the suggestion of the hon. member to be carried out.

The house then went into committee of supply.

COST OF LIVING SHOWED A FURTHER INCREASE IN MARCH

Ottawa, April 22—A further increase in the cost of foodstuffs is shown in the report of the department of labor for March. In wholesale prices the departmental index number for March stood at 292.2 as compared with 293.8 for February. The average cost a week of a family budget of staple foods in nearly sixty cities was $12.05, as compared with $12.54 for February, $10.70 for March, 1917, and $7.98 for March, 1916. In retail prices there were decreases in eggs, potatoes and apples, but meats of all kinds advanced.

EARLY VOTE LIGHT

So far as indications went this morning the vote in the city election finals will be a little larger than at the primaries a fortnight ago. The vote polled at that time was considered a small one, but during this morning the number of votes polled did not warrant any presumption that today's vote would be much larger. There was some expectation, however, that things might become livelier later on in the day. Absolutely no excitement was noticed at the polls. A few workers were out in some of the wards.

TRIBUTE TO HONEST BOY

A gentleman from Kings county called at the Times office this morning to pay a tribute to a boy. The boy is Harold Maxwell of 38 St. James street. The gentleman, while in Hawker's drug store, dropped a pocketbook containing between $50 and $60. Returning to the store in search of it, he was told that the boy had informed them of finding the pocketbook, and left his name and address. The owner went there and received the pocketbook and contents. He felt that the boy's honesty deserved greater recognition than a mere reward in cash, and so came to the Times.

COMPENSATION ACT LIKELY NOT TO BE IN EFFECT THIS YEAR

Some Time Needed for Organization and Government Wishes to Give Sufficient Notice

The date when the new workmen's compensation will go into effect is a matter of considerable interest to employers who are already carrying this form of protection with the insurance companies. Under the new act all persons or firms of the classes specified who employ ten or more persons will come under the scope of the act, and as they will be assessed under the provincial law, they will not find it necessary to continue their present policies. The question of renewing policies which are expiring in the near future has therefore become one regarding which they are looking for information.

In reply to questions regarding this phase of the matter, Premier Foster has informed the Times that the new act would not come into effect until production by order-in-council. As the new department will require some time for organization and as it is not the desire of the government to spring the act without sufficient notice, it is not probable that it will be made effective before the first of next year.

HAS MADE THE SUPREME SACRIFICE

When Private Frank deForest Campbell gave up his life for the cause of right on April 9 this year, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of 75 Market Place, West End, suffered the loss of their only remaining child. The news of their great loss came on Saturday as an overwhelming shock as they had had no news of his being wounded. A telegram from Ottawa brought the word that he had died at the West London Field Ambulance from wounds in the legs which caused compound fracture.

Private Campbell made attempts to enlist in the 26th Dragoon and later in the 26th Battalion, before becoming attached to the 140th Battalion, under Colonel Boer. For a time he was on guard duty on the C. P. R. line. He went overseas with the 140th, and after a two weeks' stay in England was drafted to a New Brunswick battalion. Two years' active service on the western front followed, the first winter of which was spent in the trenches. The following season he was attached to a Canadian machine gun company, and last winter again found him back in the trenches. He went over the top at Vimy Ridge, was wounded, and spent seven weeks in hospital. He saw further service and participated in several engagements in the Somme district.

He was only twenty-five years old, a splendidly built young man, popular on the west side, a member of Ludlow street Baptist church and of True Blue L. O. C. No. 11. He had been employed by the C. P. R.

His father is on police duty at Seaside Park. His mother is only recovering after an operation in the General Public Hospital. They have the deep sympathy of many friends in the loss of their gallant son.

CARLETON HOME SADDENED BY NEWS OF DEATH IN ENGLAND

A cablegram received on Sunday morning by Mrs. Arthur Weaver, 221 Prince street, West St. John, brought the sad news of the death of her father, John Baisdon Morrish, in Beaworthy, North Devon, Eng. He passed away on last Friday at the age of sixty years, after a short illness. Mr. Morrish was a farmer in England, but came to St. John with his family some years ago, and was for a time connected with the city waterworks staff. Mrs. Morrish passed away when they had been here but two years, and Mr. Morrish returned to England six months later. Mrs. Weaver is an only child. Many friends in the city sympathize with her in her sad loss.

LT. FRANK YOUNG WOUNDED

Lieutenant Frank Young, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Boyle Travers, Lancaster, has been wounded in the recent fighting and is now in a hospital in England. It is believed the wound is not serious. Dr. Travers had a cablegram yesterday signed "Hoskins," saying briefly that Lieutenant Young was in hospital, and adding "Not serious." It is assumed that a letter is on the way. Mrs. Young, who formerly was Miss Vera Macaulay, has received no word as yet except that coming to Dr. Travers.

Lieutenant Young was a major in the 140th but reverted in order to go to France and has been serving with a famous New Brunswick unit on the western front for many months. He is a most popular and efficient officer. His many friends will hope that his wound is slight. His mother, Mrs. J. Boyle Travers, is at present visiting his sister in Chicago.

Shakespeare's Birthday.

London, April 22—News that the birthday of Shakespeare is to be celebrated in the United States as well as in England is welcomed by the Daily Telegraph, which says that there is every justification for a movement like this, "for America always has claimed its birthright to Shakespeare."
