ENEMY'S RETREAT IS VERY RAPID, SAYS THE OFFICIAL LONDON ANNOUNCEMENT

Whole Artillery Equipment of One German Army Corps Captured by French-British in Swift Pursuit of Retiring Foe This Morning

London, Sept. 12.—According to official announcement made here, the third French army has captured all the artillery of one German army corps.

The artillery of a German army corps consists of two regiments of field pieces (eighteen batteries of field guns and six batteries of field howitzers, a total of seventy-two pieces), one or two batteries of heavy field artillery, and a machine gun group.

Our aeroplanes report that the enemy's retreat is very rapid. BATTLE IN RAPID PURSUIT.

London, Sept. 12.—"Our troops have crossed the river Ourcq and are moving this (Saturday) morning in rapid pursuit of the enemy," is an announcement given out today by the official press bureau.

Two hundred prisoners were captured. The cavalry of the allies was between Soissons and Fismes last night. (Soissons is about fifty miles northeast of Paris and Fismes is fifteen miles to the east of Soissons.)

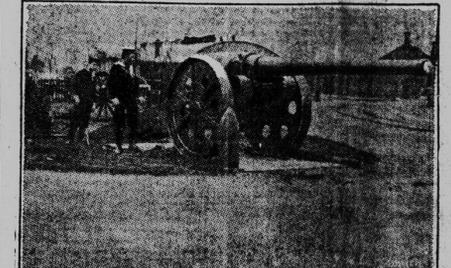

"The enemy is retreating north of Vitry-Le-Francois." London, Sept. 12.—Three tremendous struggles are waging along as many battle lines, and from none of them comes a report of a decisive result.

The situation along the Russian borders is becoming an obscure as are the western operations. Berlin reports that the victory of General Von Hindenburg will clear East Prussia of Russians, but military experts at Petrograd declare that it is incredible that the Russians should give up the investment of Koenigsberg until suffering greater disaster than what has been reported.

On Russian Poland, the Russians still seem to be successful while operating against the Austrians alone, but they are making less impression on the combined Austro-German armies on the Vistula. The stand being made on the Vistula has caused several military experts at Petrograd to assert that German reinforcements from France are being sent to Galicia instead of to East Prussia, as was at first reported.

Paris, Sept. 12, 3 p. m.—It was officially announced here this afternoon that the German forces to the east of Paris are generally retreating, and that they are offering only a feeble resistance to the French and British troops.

A WARSHIP THAT IS NOT A SHIP AT ALL AND A GUN THAT HAS MILITARY HISTORY

The picture shows the "Ladysmith Gun," a 4.7 quick-firer which was mounted on wheels by the crew of H. M. S. Powerful and taken to Ladysmith where it did good service during the Boer War. It is now on H. M. S. Excellence, as the Admiralty calls the training depot at Whale Island, Portsmouth, although it is not a ship but a land station.

FAGGED GERMANS WOULD LIKE REST

Content for Present if They Could Hold Allies At Bay

Match Between Masters in The Art of War—General Pau Captures Great Ammunition Column From The Enemy

London, Sept. 12.—The Morning Post correspondent at Nantes, department of Seine-et-Oise, France, writing under date of Thursday, says:

Never since General Joffre began his magnificent retreat from Belgium, has the allies position looked so promising. At the same time we should be cautious in proclaiming the good news.

The Germans want repose. The German prisoners I have seen are dead beat and their case is general. It therefore is possible that the German commanders will, if they can remain content to hold the allies at bay, for a time.

Prisoners confirm reports that two Austrian army corps are operating with Germans in France. If so, they must be upon the lines of communication, for they have not been in action since no Austrian prisoners have been taken.

Match Between Masters The admirable discipline of the censorship was revealed by yesterday's communications, which showed that the only ones outside of the military authorities who knew of the whereabouts of the French forces at the beginning of the great battle, were the Germans. The latter learned of it none too soon, and their diversion from the route to Paris, heretofore attributed to fear of the Paris defenses was simply a clever manoeuvre to escape a desperate situation.

"It Is Our Life Against Germany's; Upon That There Must Be No Truce!"

Stirring Recruiting Speech By The First Lord of Admiralty

MILLION BRITISHERS IN THE FIELD Should Be That Many to Make Assistance of Empire Effective—By New Year Half Million Ready—New Battleships Far Outnumber the Germans' New Ones

London, Sept. 12.—Under the auspices of the National Liberal and Constitutional clubs, two great rival political organizations of the metropolis, whose members before the war were scarcely on speaking terms, an enthusiastic meeting was held in the London Opera House last night, in support of the prime minister's call for recruits.

The chief speakers were Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty; F. E. Smith, director of the official press bureau, and Will Cooke, Labor leader in the House of Commons.

It is too soon to speculate upon the result of the great battle which is now being waged in France, said Mr. Churchill, "but everything we have heard during four long days of anxiety seems to point to a marked and substantial turning of the tide. We have seen the force of the French and British armies strong enough not only to contain and check the devastating avalanche which has swept over the French frontier, but now, for four long days, the enemy has splendidly rolled back."

In a battle taking place on a front of over 100 or 150 miles, one must be very careful not to build too high hopes on the results achieved, but when every allowance has been made for the uncertainty with which great operations always are enshrouded over so great an area, the situation tonight is better, far better, than the cold calculations of the forces available before the war could lead us to expect, in this early stage of the campaign.

"But had this battle been as disastrous as, thank God, it appears to be triumphant, I should have come before you tonight with unabated confidence, with a certainty that we have only to continue our efforts to bring this way to the conclusion which we wish and intend."

"The war has now been in progress five or six weeks. In that time we have swept German commerce from the seas. All our ships, with inconsiderable exceptions, are arriving safely and punctually at their destinations, carrying the commerce upon which the wealth and industries and power to make war of this country depend. We have transported, not without danger, but still hitherto safely and successfully great numbers of soldiers across the seas from all quarters of the world to be directed upon the decisive theatre of the land struggle. We have swept the so-called German ocean without discovering a German flag."

Continuing, Mr. Churchill said: "The number of battleships that will be completed within the next twelve months is more than double the number that will be completed for Germany and the number of cruisers will be three or four times as great. Therefore we may count upon the naval supremacy of the country being effectively maintained."

"What we now have to do is to make under cover and shield of the navy, a great army, strong enough to enable this country to take its proper share in the decision of this terrible struggle. To make the assistance of the empire effective we should put on the continent and keep there an army of at least one million men. That figure is well within the compass of arrangements now on foot and well within the scope of measures which Lord Kitchener has taken. By the new year we will have an additional half million men ready for the field and by the summer of 1915 we will have twenty-five army corps in fighting shape."

"It is our life against Germany's. Upon that there must be no compromise or truce. We must go forth unflinchingly to the end."

GALLANT ACTION OF BRITISH TROOPS

With French Cavalry And Artillery Beat Large German Force

CAPTURE GUNS AND 6,000 MEN

London, Sept. 12.—A despatch to the Daily News from Paris says: "A motor car brings news from the front that the first and second divisions of the British army with the French cavalry and artillery, cut off and defeated a large force of the enemy, sixty miles northeast of Paris, taking 6,000 of the enemy prisoners and fifteen guns. The Germans are reported as demoralized."

The half beaten prisoners ravenously devoured beef and biscuits supplied by the British troops.

During the fight, fifty British cyclists, from the cover of a small wood, wiped out 150 of the enemy's cavalry.

The allies' losses were severe, but they are as nothing in comparison to those of the enemy, who is now retreating north of the Marne and west of the Ourcq.

London, Sept. 12.—The Nautic's correspondent of the Morning Post writes: "A dramatic incident, in the recent fighting may be mentioned the grim work of the ancient ponds near Epermenville. These ponds are shut in by high trees. Driving the enemy through the woods, a Scotch regiment hustled its foes right into the fish ponds. The Scotchmen jumped in after the Germans up to the middle, to finish them in the water, which was packed with their bodies."

London, Sept. 12.—Among the wounded brought to Noisy-Le-Sec, near the Ourcq Canal, was a young laundress in a soldier's uniform. She had followed a company of Zouaves and had fought alongside of them in the trenches. Her identity was not discovered until she was wounded. The commanding officer complimented her on her bravery.

Petrograd, Sept. 12.—The Bourge Gazette publishes a story about a Russian regimental chaplain, who, single-handed, captured twenty-six Austrian troops. He was strolling outside of Lemberg, when he was confronted by a patrol of twenty-six men, who tried to force him to tell the details of the position of the Russian troops.

LATE PERSONALS

E. Arthur Coolen, of Halifax, was in St. John for Sunday and Monday, returning home on Monday.

Miss Anna McDade, of Lakeside, spent the week-end with her friend, Miss Anna McCarthy, 247 King street east.

Mr. and Mrs. James Logan Cameron, baby Angus and Miss Florence DeMille of Sussex, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Watson F. DeMille, German street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jacobs of Brighton, Mass., are in the city and are at 112 Waterloo street.

Miss Grace Robertson, secretary of the Associated Charities, will leave on Monday for ten days holidays. She will visit her sister in Philadelphia and will make a call at the office of the Associated Charities in Boston before returning home.

C. D. Howard, the St. John playground director, will leave this evening to complete his holidays and will be accompanied on his return by Mrs. Howard and their little daughter. While away Mr. Howard will visit New York to get some information on the latest developments in social centre work.

Mrs. Daniel J. Purcell and children, accompanied by her father, Thomas McGrath, left on the noon train for her home, New Glasgow, N. S.

Mrs. E. E. Short has returned to Boston after a visit to friends in North End.

Judge White came to the city today from Fredericton.

Frank Donnelly returned home this morning from Quebec, where he has been during the summer.

Mrs. Alban E. Sturdee returned home today from Toronto, where her dog "Corrie Law" again distinguished himself in the honor list of the dog show.

Miss Marie Corkey, of North End, who last evening for Canton, Ohio, where she will spend a month as the guest of Mrs. John H. Barnes, her cousin.

The German station at Langenberg in German East Africa has been captured by a British force from the steamer Gwendolen.

The Turkish ambassador to Washington yesterday explained to Secretary Bryan his country's attitude with regard to her "national rights." The powers have informed Turkey that they could not accept abolition of the treaty rights accorded foreigners. Turkey says that abrogation of such rights is by no means a pretext for war on her part.

HOME AFTER MISSION Rev. Charles McCormick, C. S. S. R., and Rev. E. Walsh, C. S. S. R., of St. Peter's rectory, North End, have returned after having conducted a successful mission in St. Martins and outlying parishes of which Rev. Father Hannigan is pastor.

Mexico City, Sept. 12.—General Alvaro Obregon last night telegraphed to General Carranza a request from General Villa that the Constitutionalists request Washington to remove the United States troops from Mexico. The despatch quoted General Villa as follows: "With the dissolution of the Huerta government and the disarming of the Federal army now completed we should have one flag waving over Mexican soil. It is humiliating that the Stars and Stripes should wave."

The Pope is said to have entrusted to the foreign cardinals the task of confidentially urging their governments to cease hostilities and convolve a peace conference.

ENGLAND NEEDS MORE HORSES FOR CAVALRY

London, Sept. 12.—Shortage of cavalry horses is causing British army officials much uneasiness. Fox hunting in England and Ireland has encouraged the breeding of light mounts, but unfortunately officers from continental armies have visited the chief English and Irish fairs for years and bought the most select saddlers.

Belgium and France have thought nothing of paying $800 for a suitable mount for an officer, while buyers for the English army have seldom been authorized to pay more than $200. Furthermore, the foreign buyers have paid a higher price for three year olds than the English buyers would pay for four year olds, the age demanded by the English army.

Germany, Italy and Austrians have annually sent officers to England to purchase fine mounts.

The government is also urged to keep all the mares it possibly can in England, in connection with the home defense, sending geldings to the scene of war. A movement is also under way for the establishment of national studs in connection with the work of army re-organization.

LOCAL RECRUITING

Steps are to be taken immediately to bring the 8th regiment, Canadian artillery up to full war strength. The regiment has already sent 260 men to Valcartier and also has a full battery on active service at Partridge Island. This last the regiment somewhat depleted and in order to be ready in any emergency that may arise, it has been ordered to recruit to full strength on a war footing.

Recruiting will be commenced at once at the army, the West Side armory and at 54 Prince William street, the times being given in detail in an advertisement appearing elsewhere in this paper. Drilling will be commenced at once but the drill will be all spare time work and will not interfere with the regular employment of the volunteers.

The officers of the regiment who have not gone to Valcartier and who are not engaged at the island include Captains T. Gambin and Laurence Allan, Lieutenants D. K. Hazen, S. A. Thomas and L. F. Archibald.

In addition to these nine former officers who have been on the reserve list are again donning the uniform and will take their part in the training of the local regiment for home defence. These officers include Lieutenant Colonel J. B. M. Baxter, Major J. M. Robinson, Captain Walter Foster, Lieutenants A. L. Fowler, William Vassie, H. R. Ross, R. D. Magee, Roy McKendrick and T. E. Ryder.

The Eighth Princess Louise Hussars are also being recruited to war strength and it is understood that preparations are being made for mobilization. The whole regiment volunteered as a body and it is possible that the regiment may be accepted for the second contingent.

FATALITIES ON FARMS

London, Sept. 12.—Sannaed Lindsay, aged thirty, and his father Walter Lindsay, both prominent farmers of Kincardine township, are dying as a result of being struck with pieces of a bursting threshing engine cylinder, another section of which was blown clean through their big barn.

William Egan, aged twenty, slipped while working about a threshing engine, and was drawn into the machinery and killed.

DEATH OF J. I. TOLE

It was with feelings of sincere regret that many friends about the city learned of the death of James J. Tole, which occurred yesterday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Tole in Fairville. He was well known about St. John where he had conducted a printing establishment in Prince William street for many years. By all who knew him he was esteemed and liked. He took an active interest in the welfare of Catholic societies and was identified with St. Joseph's Y. M. S. for several years, and also a most energetic member of Branch 134 C. M. B. A., where he was secretary.

Mr. Tole, besides his parents, is survived by three sisters, Misses Mary and Sadie at home, and Mrs. McGrath of the southern states; and two brothers, one of whom is Hugh Tole of Bridgeport, Conn. He was a little more than forty years of age, and unmarried. The funeral will be held on Monday at 2:30 p. m. from the home of his parents in Fairville to St. Rose's church as a member of which he had long been prominent and active.

TWENTY-FIVE DEATHS

The death roll at the board of health offices during the last week has been large, twenty-five names being registered. Death was due to the following causes: Cholera infantum and premature birth, three each; inanition, heart disease, and marasmus, two each; enteritis, phthisis, bronchitis, meningitis, acute dysentery, whooping cough, cancer of rectum, renal calculus, nitral regurgitation, pulmonary oedema, rheumatoid arthritis, malignant disease of stomach, and hemorrhage from stomach, one each.

Part of German Fleet in Baltic; Tremendous Cannoning Heard

London, Sept. 12.—A Copenhagen despatch to the Times says it is reported from Sandhansen, twenty-nine miles northeast of Stockholm, that a German fleet of twenty-nine vessels has been sighted between Gotska, Sandan Island, in the Baltic and Kopporstenarne, nine miles north.

The Swedish newspapers report tremendous cannonading heard on the line between Gotska and Nygmo.

Britain Seizes German Pacific Territory

London, Sept. 12.—The admiralty announced this afternoon that the British Pacific fleet has occupied Herberthoehoe, on Blanche Bay, the seat of government of the German Bismarck archipelago and the Solomon Islands.

The Bismarck archipelago, with an area of 18,000 square miles, and a population of 200,000, is off the north coast of Australia, northeast of the Philippine Islands. The group was assigned to the German sphere of influence by an agreement with Great Britain in 1885. German New Guinea is included in the jurisdiction.

Cottagers at Westbrook, Conn., have been amused by the skill of a cat which is not only a good swimmer but a fancy diver. Each day, as often as requested, the owner takes the cat out about fifty feet from the beach, whereupon it dives several times into the water and finally swims ashore.

What words or names do the figures spell? The magic circle will tell you.

Each number in the words called for above stands for a letter of the alphabet. When all the numbers in each word are found and placed in proper rotation you will have the word called for. What words or names do the figures spell? That is the puzzle for bright girls and boys.

How to solve this great puzzle

Look at the magic circle and you will see that each number stands for a letter of the alphabet. In the words above each number stands for a corresponding letter of the alphabet. The magic circle is in turn called for a letter in the words above. You find the letter by looking at the number in the circle. For instance "16" is represented by the letter "P". For instance "1" is represented by the letter "A".

The boy and girl, fully equipped for the contest, will receive a prize of $20000 in cash. The prize will be awarded to the boy or girl who sends in the best letter of the alphabet. The prize will be awarded to the boy or girl who sends in the best letter of the alphabet. The prize will be awarded to the boy or girl who sends in the best letter of the alphabet.

THE WAR NEWS

Caution still marks the official communications from the seat of war in France. While the correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph declares that there will be no siege of Paris, and quotes, with approval, the remark of an English officer of an aviation corps, that the only anxiety of the Germans now is to increase the distance between themselves and their pursuers, the official reports content themselves with saying that the enemy continues to give way on the left and in the centre, but that on the right of the allied armies they have not fallen back and that there is no change in Lorraine and the Vosges.

The fact, however, that the German centre, as well as their right wing, is retreating, shows that they have been overmatched. The real significance of the gradual retirement of the allied armies on their centre and left, permitting the Germans to come up almost to the gates of Paris, is now apparent. The rapid advance of the Germans, in which, however, they were compelled to fight the way, exhausted them, and their ammunition, drew them farther and farther away from their base, and at the same time enabled the allies to bring up fresh troops and meet them in a stronger position near Paris, to strike such effective blows that the German advance has been turned into a retreat, with fresh and vigorous pursuers pressing hard upon their wearied ranks.

The determined attempt of the Germans with three armies converged at that point to break through the French centre has also failed, and it is true that they are now retreating the people of Paris may breathe freely once more, with the assurance that the German menace is a thing of the past.

Today's cables confirm those of last night telling of the continued success of the allied armies. The spirit of the German troops must have been broken by the forced retreat, and all the reports agree in describing them as hungry and exhausted and short of supplies. The strategy of the allies has thus far triumphed, and after all these weeks of war not a single French or British army has been overcome, while the Belgians have not only recovered their strength, but have again taken the offensive.

While the Russian operations against Austria continue to be successful in Galicia and Southern Poland, the gallant Serbians in the south have achieved a notable victory in the capture of Semlin, which has so long threatened Belgrade, and the victory will stimulate them to still greater efforts in a campaign that has been marked by conspicuous bravery and success. While Russia is strongly opposed in East Prussia, the Austro-German army which invaded Russian Poland has been repulsed. Reviewing the situation the London press regards the position of Austria as now practically hopeless.

A MILLION MEN

"It is our life against Germany's." In this tense and striking phrase the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill sets out the real significance from the British standpoint of the present war. It is also, as Premier Asquith stated the issue in a broader sense, relating to all the nations, "civilization or barbarism." Mr. Churchill's reference was, however, to the British people alone, and it was his justification for the declaration that Britain must prepare to place a million men in the field.

Mr. Churchill was able to show that the mother country is not in need of more battleships. Not only is her present fleet entirely effective against the Germans, but she has many more vessels under construction and nearing completion than has Germany. She will continue to keep the German fleet bottled up, or if it takes the offensive she will destroy it, and she will keep the sea routes open. So far as the navy is concerned she requires no assistance whatever.

She does, however, need men and money and supplies, and these Canada can give. The first contingent of men from this country must be followed by a second and doubtless a third. If a million men are to be thrown across the British channel into the war zone, provision must also be made for home defence and to fill up the gaps as fast as they are made on the battlefield.

Every member of the British government who speaks concerning this war directs attention very forcibly to the fact that it will not be a short war, and that the British Empire must continue without ceasing the work of preparation for a prolonged struggle and for victory at any cost. That is the true British spirit, and it finds a response in the hearts of the people throughout the Empire. No one doubts the result, but the more rapidly the armies are mobilized and sent to the front the sooner that victory will be achieved. Winter campaigning is a very serious business, and the soldiers must be properly equipped in order that they may be strong to do their work.

The duty of Canada is clear. That million men should contain at least a proportionate share of Canadians, fighting with their brothers from other parts of the Empire for the preservation of its honor and its life, and for the triumph of human liberty over the military despotism which Germany and Austria represent.

KEEP BUSY.

"While there are many export markets closed, or partially closed, to us now, there are also many import sources that are in the same condition. If we turn our attention to supplying to ourselves what we cannot just now supply to others, we can at least partially make up for what loss we suffer industrially. If we can keep busy, we can keep prosperous, and it seems to us that, as we view the situation in its entirety, there is no reason to lose heart."

These observations, made by the Maritime Merchant should commend themselves to manufacturers and business men throughout the provinces. We must keep busy. This is not a time for "cold feet." The men who are fighting our battles in Europe are setting an example that ought to be followed by those who stay at home. Courage and confidence are the requisites in time of war. Business men and the banks should exert themselves to the utmost to prevent unemployment and to keep business as near the normal as possible. The Maritime Merchant in this week's issue devotes a good deal of attention to this subject, and its review of the situation should do much to stimulate confidence among the merchants of the maritime provinces. The merchant who drops all his advertising and retreats into his cyclone cellar will come out after the war to discover that the man who went on doing business at the old stand, advertising his wares and going after business more vigorously than he ever did before, has reaped a lasting benefit. As another journal remarks, discussing the same subject:

"Veterans and heroes are the men who fight and keep on fighting."

VON MOLTKE.

At a famous conference between Bismarck, Von Roon and Von Moltke, just before the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war, after Bismarck had read a despatch which he declared would lead to war with France, Von Moltke, smiting his chest, exclaimed:

"If I but live to lead our army in such a war then the devil may come afterward and take my old carcass."

Von Moltke led the army and their success was complete. Today another Von Moltke, nephew of the conqueror of France, is chief of the German general staff. He has held that position for more than eight years. As a striping he fought in the Franco-Prussian war, and gradually rose to the highest rank. We are told it was the Kaiser's desire to have the magic name of Von Moltke to carry fear into the hearts of his enemies. General Von Moltke is sixty-six years old, and we find in an exchange the following description of the man upon whom Germany has vainly relied to repeat the successes of the war of 1870:

"Von Moltke's qualities are not of the dazzling order. Bulky and stocky of exterior, with the ungainly outlines of a Bismarck, blue-eyed and blondish-gray haired, taciturn to a degree, a famed characteristic of the Mecklenburgers and Schleswig-Holsteiners from which the Moltkes have sprung, the chief of the general staff is a man of indomitable force, unflinching candour, and mental capacity more distinguished for sanity than scintillating brilliancy. He cares far less for show than a guard lieutenant. The Kaiser offered him the imperial chancellery when Prince Buelow fell, and Von Moltke, believing that a soldier should stick to his trade, declined the invitation. Though he contrived to keep himself thoroughly in the background, his powerful initiative and relentless perseverance are known to have been the influence chiefly responsible for the vast increase in the peace establishment of the German army at a cost of $250,000,000."

The exhibition in St. John this week has demonstrated that there is plenty of money in circulation, and that business conditions in the province are generally healthy.

The reports from Berlin give the impression that the Russian advance into Germany and Austria has not been successful. Petrograd is, however, a much more reliable source of information.

Fear is expressed in some quarters that after Germany and Austria have been crushed Russia will become a menace to Western Europe. On the contrary it will be a much more liberal Russia that will emerge from this war.

Those who wish to make a more leisurely inspection of any of the features of the exhibition will have an excellent opportunity to do so this evening. The fair has been more successful in point of attendance than even the directors anticipated.

Elmer Twitchell of Oxford, Me., has erected on his land a large sign on which is painted "Prepare to Meet Thy God." It is said that the act was prompted by the belief that the present war heralds the end of the world.

A suburban minister, during his discourse one Sunday morning said: "In each blade of grass there is a sermon." The following day one of his flock discovered the good man pushing a lawn mower about and passed to say, "Well, parson, I'm glad to see you engaged in cutting your sermons short."

"After a few years' absence from home I was playing in a city near by and I invited my father to come and see the show," related Laurence Wheat, an actor.

"When the last curtain had rung down he came back on the stage to see me, and while we were chatting the treasurer appeared at the door of my dressing room and handed me my pay envelope. Dad saw the figures on the outside and his eyes sparkled. 'My boy,' he said, 'you don't tell me you get that much every week, do you?' 'That's right, dad,' I replied. 'Well, well,' said the old gentleman thoughtfully, 'is that so. What other chores do you have to do besides acting?'—Everybody's Magazine.

DESCRIBES ROLLING BACK OF THE GERMANS

Kaiser's Troops Retreated In Thunderstorm—Correspondent Praises the Shooting of British Artillery

New York, Sept. 11.—The Sun this morning prints the following from its special correspondent, Harold Ashton, at Crecy-en-Brie, under date of Sept. 8: "We have good tidings today. The German right is on the run for a spell, anyway, and Paris may breathe again. 'The siege of Paris is to be, is a long way off yet.'"

"The other afternoon Uhlan raiders were scampering through Chantilly, and a cavalry dash (name deleted) nearer still, was turned by a fine splash of daring by a mere handful of English with two or three Maxims. 'I must say these German Uhlans with their fine mounts are splendid riders. All are utterly fearless and are demons for daring. They ride and they ride, noting here, there, everywhere. They have been making moonlight raids for a few nights back very near to the city gates and from what I know of their tactics and their carelessness of the consequences, I should not have been surprised to hear the clatter of them along the demolished boulevards. 'But yesterday we changed all that. They vanished, and the roads around Paris for many miles are now clear. 'A journey through the silver dawn this morning brought me unchallenged and quite comfortably to the restful valley of the Grand Morin. Further and further eastward I rode until at the last full blaze of noon I saw ahead white dust whirling at the end of the ribbon of road, and a string of London general buses ripping along stacked inside and out with yards of good French bread, bales of cheeses, quantities of cabbages and various other masses of comforting stuff. 'Next a detachment of French cavalry was riding with loose rein. The long tails of their splendid horses were flying 'Goodbye for the present' to the city far behind. All were speeding to the northwest, where, under a black, sullen cloud trembling with Heaven's artillery tumult of another kind raged. 'We were not retreating this time. Somewhere beyond the cloud, pierced now and again by livid streaks of flame the German right was rolling back. 'A French officer of the Cuirassiers rode up. He spied my civilian garb and wanted to know my business. I pulled from my grimy shirt a small library of passports and other rused documents. The officer laughed merrily and shook my hands. 'The English,' said he, 'have come along. It's all right. We have turned them. We at last are chasing them. This is our first stage to Berlin. Off he rode like a whirlwind. 'He was glad and jolly and so were the French Tommies as they swung along, burnt black as cinders. 'I learned from these soldiers that since yesterday the German right had been driven 25 miles up the Valley of the Marne, and is still retreating. Watching that significant cloud ahead one could see it plainly enough. 'I rode on, met some English soldiers and then entered the Marne Valley. The village of—(name deleted) was still smoking—an aftermath of last night's battles. A combined rush of French and British cavalry had smashed into a patrol of German cavalry and utterly demolished them on the outskirts of a small wood just beyond—(name deleted). 'Here's a battery of our own Royal Horse Artillery, with half its men and horses gone, did splendid work. They were screened by a few forest trees they had cut down. A hundred yards ahead a small stream flowed. Beyond that the German artillery was posted. A big thunderstorm was rolling up and in the gloom of it the artillery duel went on. 'Our new 18-pounders were engaged in this, and magnificent shooting they put in. Our gunners were directed and the range was found for them by a Berlioz aeroplane which circled high overhead out of the range of the rifle fire. 'As soon as the range is once found these guns can go ahead with no further trouble, for the recoil is worked by a buffer system and the wheels do not move an inch. On the other hand, the German field guns which opposed our crowd here were all fitted with an old spade contraption which necessitated continual re-sighting and much loss of time. 'Their shooting was good whenever they found the range, but it was not a patch to ours. Just as the thunderstorm burst we had them either smashed or on the run, absolutely demoralized. We captured a number of prisoners, horse and foot. 'The storm, which burst at the tail end of this fight in the Marne Valley was a sousing drencher. The French and English soldiers stripped off their tunics and shirts and absolutely revelled in the glorious shower bath. Many stood stark naked in the downpour. They were a most amazing sight; black from the rim of their hats to the rim of their collars, and the rest of them snow white by comparison. MANY STRANDED IN NORWAY About 1400, Mostly Norwegian-Americans Visiting Their Native Land Christiania, via, London, Sept. 12.—Maj. Shinkle, Capt. Colvin and Lieut. Phipps, the latter a former military attaché to the American Legations to Sweden and Norway, have taken charge of the work of helping stranded Americans here to return home. About 1400 Americans have applied for assistance. Most of them are Norwegians by birth, but naturalized Americans who have been visiting their native land. They have spent what money they brought with them and are entirely dependent on assistance from the relief committee. As steamship communication between Norway and England by the Bergen and Newcastle route is undisturbed, most of these Americans will be sent that way, supplied with steamship passage to the United States from English ports. Since the war started between 7,000 and 8,000 Americans have returned home by Scandinavian and Norwegian liners. All accommodations have been taken for the ensuing month on these liners. The relief committee expects to finish its work here in two weeks.

German Centre Also Forced To Retreat

Paris, Sept. 11, 11.13 p. m.—The following official communication was issued here tonight:

"First—On the left wing our success increases. Our progress has continued. North of the River Marne, and in the direction of Soissons and Compiègne, the Germans have abandoned to us great quantities of ammunition, stores, some wounded and some prisoners. We have taken another flag. The British army have captured eleven guns and some important stores and has taken from 1,200 to 1,500 prisoners.

"Second—In the centre, the enemy has given in on its front between Sezanne and Revinny. The Germans have not yet fallen back from L'Argonne. Notwithstanding the strain to which our troops have been subjected during the last five days of battle they still find energy to pursue the enemy on its left wing.

"Lorraine and the Vosges—There is no change in this territory. In the Austro-Russian centre of operations the Austrian army, which was defeated at Lemberg, has not been able to assume the offensive and in spite of heavy reinforcements it is being repulsed. On the front, between Jalonne and Rawa and the River Dniester, the Russians are besieging the fortified town of Grodek. The second Austrian army has been attacked near Tomaszow, and has been compelled to retreat.

"In the Austro-Serbian centre of operations, the Serbian troops have crossed the River Save at Shabat and Obrenovatz. In Bosnia they have assumed the offensive in the direction of Visegrad."

ors makes charming dresses for morning wear. The lines of the model used for today's home dressmaking lesson are unusually graceful, featuring the beautiful hip, sweeping shoulder and narrow effect at the bottom of the skirt.

The collar and fills on the sleeves are stitched with bias silk folds. To make the dress will require 4 1/2 yards of 44-inch material, with 1/2 yard of 27-inch silk for the bias fold. The vest is an independent adjunct to be transferred from one frock to another.

The skirt is cut from an open width of the material, and if a vest of the same material is used this may be laid alongside the skirt, together with the turn-over and the plain cut. Folding the voile, the back is laid along the lengthwise fold, also the collar. Front and long sleeves are arranged on a lengthwise thread.

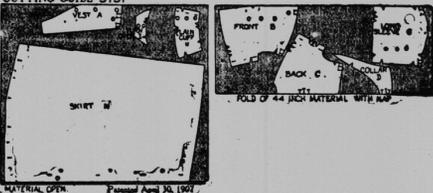

The sleeve deserves special attention in the construction. The waist first has the under-arm and shoulder seams closed, after which the vest is adjusted and the lower edge gathered and added to the stay.

Now close the sleeve seam as notched, also seam of turn-back cuff as indicated. Sew cuff to sleeve. Pleat stay cut, bringing the "oo" perforations each side of double "oo" perforation together on double "oo" perforation, bringing remaining "oo" perforations to corresponding "oo" perforations. Gather between double "oo" perforations. Sew to sleeve, double notches even, and bring edges together at small "oo" perforation in sleeve. Sew in armhole as notched, easing any fullness between notches.

URGING THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT TO LEARN FROM SUDDEN WAR OUTBREAK

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 12.—Pointing to the European war situation as an example of the necessity for preparedness, the Spokane Chamber of Commerce has adopted resolutions requesting the government of the United States to provide "a proper military organization and an adequate reserve system with all dispatch."

Copies of the resolutions have been forwarded to scores of organizations along the Pacific Coast to arouse public sentiment. It is emphasized that there are now in the world millions of trained soldiers, armed and equipped, now on foot, a large number of whom are aggressively engaged. "This activity," the resolution continues, "developed so suddenly that not a single monthly or weekly publication of our country, at the time, contained any intimation of an impending crisis.

"The hapless task of a nation defending itself with untrained troops against such armies as are now in the field is apparent. If we ever are called to defend our country, it will be against armies of trained men. We call attention to the truism that under modern conditions, that government which must raise, arm, equip, and train its armies to meet a crisis after the fact, possesses elements of weakness."

As a recognition of good service, the Erie Railroad paints the name of a meritorious engineer on his locomotive.

AFTER SEPTEMBER 14 AMERICANS MUST HAVE PASSPORTS IN ENGLAND

London, Sept. 12.—Five hundred American refugees applied on Thursday to the American committee for relief. They come chiefly from Germany, and many of them presented the appearance of immigrants arriving at Ellis Island. Some of the women wore shawls over their heads and many were unable to speak English.

The committee is heading the warning of Doctor Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, and is exercising great care in the examination of applicants. The English authorities also are taking extra precautions to prevent the introduction of disease into Great Britain.

GOOD PLAN TO PREVENT OVERWORKING OF HORSES

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 12.—To prevent overworking of horses the Spokane Humane Society has evolved a system of placarding streets on every hill in the city with information as to per cent of grade and the maximum load advisable. The proposed schedule runs all the way from a load of 8,000 pounds for a 8,000-pound team on a 2 per cent grade, to 8,000 pounds for the same team on a 10 per cent grade.

Each transfer company or other company using horses for teaming will be given printed cards showing the grades of every street in Spokane, so that loads be fixed within the limit at the starting point. To facilitate further the working of the system, each hill will be placarded with its per cent of incline, and if there are other easier routes to the top, directions will be given on the card telling drivers which streets to follow.

After Sept. 14 English officials will not admit American citizens not provided with passports. This applies to Americans coming to England from the United States as well as from the continent. This provision may go into effect earlier should any more doubtful cases of American citizenship arise.

The American money transfer committee announces that it will not, for the present, pay out any more money unless an equal sum has been deposited at Washington with instruction to pay to a designated individual over here.

Some misunderstandings have arisen concerning several sums of money deposited in Washington to be paid on the continent. The persons for whom this money was intended claimed it in London, and in some cases the money was paid twice and in others the records became confused.

J. F. Forth of Evansville, Ind., in cutting a watermelon found a dime in the heart. No incision through which the money could have been pushed was found.

Baby's Summer Troubles are prevented and overcome by using the 'ALLENBURYS' FOODS.

SUMMER complaint in babies is caused by improper feeding.

Mother's milk is the best food for Baby, but it is often affected by mother's health. Cow's milk cannot be trusted—it is seldom pure or sufficient in cream-fat—it is acid, contains indigestible curd—hot weather quickly sours it.

The 'Allenburys' Foods provide a thoroughly reliable method of feeding babies from birth. They are scientifically correct—the perfect substitute for mother's milk—always the same—not affected by weather—provide a complete easy-to-digest food. Baby will have no summer troubles and no summer diarrhoea arising from improper feeding, if you use the 'Allenburys' Foods according to directions.

Give Baby the 'Allenburys' Foods this summer, and avoid the hot weather troubles of babyhood.

MILK FOOD No. 1. MILK FOOD No. 2. MALTED FOOD No. 2. From birth to 3 months. From 3 to 6 months. From 6 months upwards.

LORRAINE (By Robert W. Chambers.) When Yesterday shall dawn again, And the long line thwart the earth Shall quicken with the bugle's thrill, Thine own shall come to thee, Lorraine.

Is it in vain thy sweet tears strain Thy mother's breast? Her castled crest Is lifted now! God guide her quest! She seeks thine own for thee, Lorraine!

So Yesterday shall live again, And the steel line along the Rhine Shall culminate and all that's thine France lives—thy France—divine Lorraine.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has discovered that a small amount of ordinary borax sprinkled daily on manure will prevent the breeding of the typhoid or house fly. Similarly, the same substance applied to garbage, refuse, open toilets, damp floors and crevices in stables, cellars or markets, will prevent fly eggs from hatching.

In celebration of the silver anniversary of her widowhood, Mrs. Caroline Koeler of Chicago recently invited to her party twenty-five widows. A toast was drunk "to their future husbands."

When You Are Old
 Who will provide the money to keep you? Will you then be compelled to keep on working the same as some old men you know?
 Or will you be able to enjoy an old age of comfort and independence?
 It all depends upon what use you make of your present opportunities.
 A moderate annual saving for a few years now—when you can spare the money—if invested in an Imperial Endowment policy, will secure you a regular income in your old age; or it will provide for your family should death call you early.
 May we tell you more about the advantages of Imperial Endowment? A postcard will bring the information.

IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT
 Eating Meat For a While If Your Bladder Is Troubling You
 When you wake up with backache and all misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must remove them, like you relieve your bowels; moving all the body's urinous waste, so you have backache, sick headache, lousy spells; your stomach sour, tongue coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels of the ureters, water scalds and you are glad to seek relief two or three times during the night.
 Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of J&J Salts; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt made from the acid of grapes, is a most efficacious remedy, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, which irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.
 J&J Salts is a life saver for regular cost eaters. It is under such circumstances that the most stress than ever should be placed on advertising. Yet it is always so. People seem to be contented impermanently in such a manner that they find business good, they will advertise in order to get more trade, but when the outlook seems gloomy, they cut out the publicity and in that way they minimize their opportunities for getting even the small trade they expect. Strict logic should dictate the reverse. But then the general fear and caution of the present times are not helped by logic. It is nothing but the sceptic in one, the lack of faith, that vantages the point of view.
 The people who keep on advertising in this time are going to benefit richly, or they will have less competition among those appealing for the interest of the public, so that their publicity, if judiciously worked out, will have the longer pulling power. It may be taken or granted that there will be many who will at this time think to conserve their resources by cutting down their expenditures on publicity, not realizing actual potentiality of publicity as a lifting factor. Far sighted advertisers will take advantage of this, particularly if they observe that their competitors are cutting out their advertising. We now one shrewd advertiser who has already expressed this view to us. He got publicity and he believes that his ad should not be pushed as hard as ever, but he is not only not profit by the presence of his advertising in the public press, but the absence of the advertising of every of his competitors.
 We wonder if any manufacturers or jobbers or retailers are limiting their efforts to make sales in other ways. If they are, they give evidence of a lack of proper aggressiveness. There is a war

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.
 Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving one poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:
 Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength), about 75c. worth. Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of moist or granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.
 Important—In ordering Parmit always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c. to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.

A MARINE CASE.
 Charles Cravens, a Danish seaman on the Norwegian steamer John Bakke, was given in charge yesterday by Captain Holmes. The captain said that Cravens had refused duty and wanted to be paid off. He said that Cravens had shipped with him in Liverpool and agreed to sign articles but that after they left port he refused to do so.
 The prisoner, who was only eighteen years of age, said he had been going to sea for four years. He said he was getting $2 a month and as he had not signed articles he wanted $3. The magistrate suggested that $2 10s should be paid him. The captain said he had offered this, but the young seaman still held out for $3 and the magistrate advised that this amount be paid him. The police have taken an interest in the boy and will see that articles are drawn up at the rate of $3 a month.

Political Nicknames Verbal Claws That Have Caught Famous People

(T. P. WEEKLY) Apropos of Mr. Chamberlain's enjoyment of the popular and affectionate nickname "Joe," a writer in the "Star" remarks: "It is a curious and almost inexplicable mystery why some public men acquire familiar nicknames and others never acquire them. It is not a matter of chance. There is something in the personality which calls forth the instinct of nicknaming the people." It is probably a shrewd guess on the part of this writer that Mr. Chamberlain became "Joe" on account of his fighting qualities, and from the necessity which bakers feel of using a pet name for their hero. Every pugilist of note has a nickname. This principle explains a large number of political nicknames, but with many others it has no connection. "Tear 'em" It explains, of course, the nickname "Tear 'em," so long borne by John Arthur Roebuck, M. P. for Sheffield, who now sleeps in Bushey churchyard. It is a curious fact, however, that Roebuck conferred this nickname on himself. The occasion was the Cutlers' Feast of 1858, when referring to Lord Houghton who was at his side, he said (vide "Times" report):— My honorable friend here and I went to Chertbury, and then we floated in the waters of a despot. It may be said that those in my position ought not to say anything that excites national animosity, and I respond to that sentiment (Hear, hear). But, Sir, the farmer who goes to sleep, having placed his watch-dog, "Tear-'em," over his rickyard, hears that watch-dog bark. He, in the anger of a half-somnolence, says, "I wish 'Tear-'em would be quiet," and bawls out the window, "Down 'Tear-'em." 'Tear-'em does go down, the farmer goes to sleep, and he is awakened by the flashing in at his windows of the light of his rick on fire. (Cheers.) I am 'Tear-'em. (Loud cheers and laughter.) Some Famous Sobriquets

A good history of political nicknames would have more than a value of curiosity. It would exhibit very remarkably that human nature element in history which in some wonderful way most of us contrive to forget. But since generalization and chronology are impossible in these brief notes, the following list of selected political nicknames may be given for its own interest. Mr. Gladstone's world-famed nickname, the "Grand Old Man" is commonly said to have been taken from Mr. Bradlaugh's repeated reference to him by this phrase in a speech delivered at Northampton. Bradlaugh is said to have had it from Mr. Labouchere. But "Labby's" own story is different, and is to the effect that when supporting Mr. Bradlaugh at Northampton after his rejection by the House of Commons, he assured his audience that Mr. Gladstone, "that grand old man," had taken him by the hand and said: "Mr. Labouchere, bring me Mr. Bradlaugh back again." Disraeli's nickname "Dizzy," requires no explanation, but it is an interesting fact that he was always "Dizzy" to his wife. "Pam," the sobriquet of Lord Palmerston, belongs to the same category of familiar diminutives. "The Gentle Shepherd" A parliamentary nickname whose history must appeal rather painfully to Mr. Lloyd George, was that of "The Gentle Shepherd" bestowed with burlesque effect on George Grenville by Pitt. Grenville, in supporting a tax on cider, said that the late war expenses necessitated new imposts, and plaintively added that he wished gentlemen would show him where to lay them. When he repeated this question even more repeatedly, Pitt, mimicking his tone, repeated the words of an old song, "Gentle Shepherd, tell me where," and the nickname stuck to Grenville during the rest of his career.

Co-operation In Great Britain

A meeting of the Co-operative Union of Great Britain and Ireland, held recently in Dublin, calls attention to the rapid progress of the co-operative movement in the mother country. The co-operative societies to be found throughout the country now number 1,400 and embrace a membership of more than three millions of working class families. These 1,600 individual societies are, almost without exception associated in the formation of the English and Scottish Wholesale Co-operative Societies. These latter organizations obtain for the local co-operative stores, direct from the English or foreign grower or manufacturer and on the lowest possible terms, practically every article in which they deal. Their operations, however, are by no means confined to such undertakings. During the last forty years they have themselves to manufacture practically every commodity required by the local stores that can be so manufactured with advantage. The magnitude of this branch of their work may be best illustrated by reference to the fact that goods valued at $165,000,000, representing the total of the annual sales of the English Co-operative Society, almost one-quarter are of its own production. It has its own dairies, etc., and owns tea plantations in Ceylon. The most significant of the discussions of the recent conference, which was presided over by Sir Horace Plunkett and G. W. Russell, the apostles of the co-operative movement in rural Ireland, was that which was concerned with a proposal for fusion with the political organization of the labor forces. An indication of the strength which the latter would gain from such an alliance was given in the recent Dublin strike, in which, during several weeks, the co-operative society sent its own ships, laden with provisions for the locked out Dublin workers. While the conference decided to defer definite action in this matter, negotiations will be continued and it is easily conceivable that the proposed union may become an accomplished fact in the not very distant future, thus introducing a new and extraordinarily powerful factor into the work of social reconstruction. The funds of the trades unions, amounting to no less than $25,000,000 would be deposited in the co-operative bank, and the remarkable producing and distributing organization of the co-operative movement would be at the service of labor in its struggles with the entrenched forces of capital.

AN IMPOSING CEREMONY IN MILLTOWN CHURCH

Rev. Monsignor Doyle Invested With New Office by His Lordship, Bishop LeBlanc — Pries From Many Sections of Province (St. Croix Courier) St. Stephen's church, Milltown, was the scene of an impressive ceremony last Friday morning when Bishop LeBlanc invested Rev. Edward Doyle, the pastor, with the dignity of Domestic Prelate, an honor conferred on him by the late Pope Pius X. The ceremony opened with a solemn high mass of which the pastor, Rev. E. Doyle, was celebrated. Rev. L. Guertin, D. D., vice-president of St. Joseph's college, St. Joseph's, N. B., deacon, and Rev. J. J. Ryan of St. Mary's, sub-deacon. Rev. J. M. O'Flaherty, St. Stephen, was master of ceremonies. The bishop occupied the throne and was assisted by Very Rev. Mgr. Chapman, V. G., and Dean Joseph Edlitz, N. J. Immediately after the mass, Dr. Guertin ascended the altar and read in Latin and English the papal declaration of Rev. E. Doyle as a Domestic Prelate. Then, under the direction of the bishop, the pastor was clothed in the robes of his new office. The bishop thereupon ascended the altar and in a few well chosen words expressed his pleasure to be back in Canada once more, far from the perils which now presented themselves in those countries through which he had passed just before the war. He exhorted the people to pray for the dead Pope as he had been singularly good to Milltown in creating their pastor a domestic prelate. He congratulated Father Doyle and wished him the honor on him because of the beautiful life of good example to both priests and people that characterizes him everywhere. Father Ryan followed, and in an able discourse eulogized the blameless life of the good pastor who was unasked, in the house, a circumstance that procured him the nickname of "The Dinner-bell." It was in an all night sitting of the Commons, November 13, 1756, that William Gerald Hamilton suddenly established himself as a great orator and won for himself the name of "Single-Speech" Hamilton. No report of this famous speech has been preserved, and we are left tantalized by Macaulay's description, founded on one of Walpole's letters: "His eloquence threw into the shade every orator except Pitt." As a matter of fact, Hamilton spoke once again at St. Stephen's, and according to Walpole, he "shone again."

THINGS YOU MAY NOT DO IN ENG. AND AT PRESENT TIME

The proud boast "an Englishman's home is his castle" does not operate during the present war. Here are some of the things the naval and military authorities may do under the Defense of the Realm Act, passed by parliament: Take possession of any land, buildings, gas, electricity, water works, or sources of supply, horses, automobiles, or any other means of transport. Cause any buildings, statues, or any property to be moved or destroyed, and order the inhabitants to leave any given area if necessary for naval and military purposes. Close saloons entirely, or during specified hours. Enter by force, if need be, any house or ship which is suspected of being used to the prejudice of the state. Arrest, or order the arrest, without warrant, of any suspected person. Despite his valiant singing of "Britons Never Shall Be Slaves," here are some of the things a free-born Briton may not do: Loiter near a railway bridge. Give or sell liquor to a soldier or sailor on duty. Spread reports by word of mouth or writing, near a defended area, likely to create alarm among the troops or civilian population. Light fires or display lights of any description on hill tops or other high ground or buildings without permission. Tamper with or loiter near telegraph or telephone lines. Civilians ignoring a military demand to "halt" may be shot down without a second challenge. Court martial shall deal with offences against the military laws, and the tribunal shall have power to inflict sentences of imprisonment for life, in case of infringements.—Wall Street Journal.

TORTURED NO LONGER WITH ASTHMA

Sometimes, He Had To Sit Up All Night For Weeks At a Time—Suffered For 15 Years Until He Cured Himself With "Fruit-a-tives"

D. A. WHITE, ESQ. 21 Wallace Ave., Toronto, Dec. 2nd, 1913 "Having been a great sufferer from Asthma for a period of fifteen years (sometimes having to sit up nights for weeks at a time) I began the use of "Fruit-a-tives." These wonderful tablets relieved me of Indigestion, and through the continued use of same, I am no longer distressed with that terrible disease Asthma, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives" which are worth their weight in gold to anyone suffering as I did. I would heartily recommend them to all sufferers from Asthma, which I believe is caused or aggravated by Indigestion." D. A. WHITE Asthma is a disease of the Nerves. It usually attacks those of a high strung nervous system—those whose nerves are easily affected by any disturbance of digestion. This is why 96 per cent of those who suffer with Asthma also suffer with Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation. In Mr. White's case Asthma was cured at the same time that his Indigestion was cured. Why? Because "Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on stomach, bowels, kidney and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" cleans the whole system of the poisons that are irritating the nerves. "Fruit-a-tives" sweetens the stomach, insures sound digestion and healthy appetite. "Fruit-a-tives" is a positive cure for Asthma and Hay Fever. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Home Complexion Peeler Works Wonders To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and youthful in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin immediately it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The only known treatment which will do this, and from a painful, expensive, surgical operation, is the application of ordinary milled wax, which is as harmless as is effective. The wax is put on at night, just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead and dead surface skin in almost invisible flakes each day, no discoloration, gradually appearing. With the disappearance of the dead skin, the newer, healthy skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth. This milled wax, which you can get at any drug store in original packages, is indeed a veritable wonder-worker.

News of Stage Favorites

Sam Meharry in Lowell; Helen Grayce in Vaudeville; Nordica Left a Million; The Visit of "Peg" —Budget of Gossip of Players and The Stage in General

His friends in St. John will be interested to know that Sam Meharry, last year's popular lead with the Thompson Woods Stock is playing in Lowell, Mass., with a stock opened there under the same management. As the Times has previously announced he will not be in St. John with the stock this year as Will D. Howard has been selected as lead, owing to a change in plans. Mr. Meharry has made a hit in Lowell with his playing in "A Gentleman of Leisure," "Officer 666," "The Royal Mounted," and other stock releases. Mr. Fleming and his wife, both members of the company here last year, are also in the Lowell stock.

Helen Grayce, who will be remembered for the excellent traveling stock company, and the high standard of plays produced during an engagement in St. John some few seasons ago, is going into vaudeville. She is breaking away from the Appell management in which she starred for seven years. Her vaudeville playlet is a short one act dramatic sketch.

The proposition advanced by the House Ways and Means Committee at Washington to levy a war tax on the attractions has met with a vigorous protest from theatre managers. It would be up to the patrons of the theatres to pay the tax, it was said, and if the patrons refused the theatres would be forced to close.

Charles Frohman will present at the Hudson Theatre, New York, on Oct. 1, for the first time on any stage, a play of life in New York City by Paul Armstrong, entitled "The Heart of a Thief." The play is in a number of scenes, beginning at the Tombs, and shows other parts of New York city up-town. A cast of fifty people will be headed by Miss Martha Hedman, who will represent the character of a Swedish girl brought up in New York.

The visit of "Peg O' My Heart" will long be remembered. Not often does such an excellent company visit St. John, and seldom are we privileged with such a meritorious production as is the famous creation of J. Hartley Manners. The chief regret is that crowded houses did not greet them at every performance. The show deserved it. Marion Dentler's name is made in St. John, just as it has been made in other cities through her remarkably clever portrayal of the Taylor role. It would seem safe to predict that she is destined for further fame behind the footlights, as she has already won such success while still young in years.

Laurie Cowie, who has long been a favorite in London and who is now at His Majesty's Theatre there, is to be the leading lady for Mr. Johnston Forbes-Robertson when that distinguished English actor makes his latest "farewell" tour this season. She is both charming and accomplished, having played with Desborough Tree, and made a name for herself in the performance of Shakespearean roles.

Laura Hope Crews, who has contributed a deal of distinctive work to the American stage in recent seasons, is to be the leading lady for Leo Ditrichstein when he appears shortly in his own adaptation of Molnar's play, "The Legend of the Wolf."

The Farnums to Vaudeville

William and Dustin Farnum, both of whom have played in St. John, will be the next stars to turn to vaudeville. The Farnums have lately been devoting their attention to feature motion pictures. It is probable that the Farnums will soon enter the two-a-day. As yet they have not decided upon a vehicle, although they have been considering a sketch, "The Shirkers," owned by Arnold Daly. Edward Sheldon is fast following in the footsteps of the late Clyde Fitch as a prolific playwright. In addition to his "Garden of Paradise," which the Liebbers are to produce the coming season, and his "Bride of Sighs," which Charles Frohman is to present, he has written a new play for John Barrymore, entitled "The Lonely Heart," which Charles Dillingham will produce the piece.

On petition of George W. Young, of Deal Beach, N. J., husband of the late Madame Lillian Nordica Young, who died while on a trip to the South Sea Islands on May 10, the Orphans' Court of Monmouth County, N. J., has appointed Dew S. Crater, secretary of the State of New Jersey, as temporary executor of the estate of Mrs. Young. The estate has been estimated at one million dollars. Complications have arisen through the fact that the singer made two wills, the first in 1910 and the second while on the steamer. In the second will her husband was eliminated on the ground that at various times she had given him cash totaling $400,000. The counsel for Mr. Young has refused to file the second will.

"The Sea Wolf" is to be given a dramatic production by C. H. Livingston, the company opening early in November. The show will be given a Stair-Havlin route.

Henrietta Crossman, who played in St. John some years ago, is again to enter vaudeville, opening at the Brooklyn Orpheum next week.

Miss Crossman has secured the little sketch in which Laurette Taylor and Cyril Maude appeared for a special performance last season and all the lines of which are but single words.

Movies and Those Who Play Them

Leah Baird, Picture Favorite in St. John, in Exciting Venture; Frank Powell, Here With Harkins, as Pathe Director; Plans of Some Companies

According to the Morning Telegraph, New York, Leah Baird, a "movie" actress who is a favorite in St. John and elsewhere had an exciting experience in Nova Scotia recently. The Telegraph says:—"When the Vitagraph Company went to Nova Scotia recently to take a number of exterior scenes the Dominion Coal Company's miners invited her to take a little trip into one of the coal pits which extend some considerable distance under the ocean.

"She went. Since it was her first real journey beneath the sea there is no use denying that she was just a little bit—well, uncomfortable. The feeling of un- easiness soon left her, however, as she became more and more interested in the workings of the mine. She did not hesitate to ask questions and the miners were only too glad to tell her anything she wanted to know.

After about an hour she suddenly realized that she was overdue on the surface of the earth. No sooner had they started to go up than an explosion shook the walls of the mine and they found their only means of exit blocked. They were quite effectively buried alive.

Will anyone blame the actress if for a moment or two visions of all the mine explosions she had ever read about flashed upon the screen of her brain? Then she decided that if it was the end, it was the end, and that was all there was to it.

"Even some of the hardened miners began to show signs of fright, and it was Leah Baird who reassured them. Finally, after two hours, the men on the surface began to make some headway in removing the fallen debris, and soon after the party was safe and sound on top of terra firma.

"A" the actress stepped from the cage she was greeted with a cheer and as she was leaving the mine one of the men, chosen as spokesman by the others presented her with a piece of birch bark on which was drawn a plan of the upper works and on which every miner connected with the company had signed his name or made his mark.

Norman Hackett is in the Aguanu Canon, Northwest Canada, with the Esperanto Film Company, making a film production of Will Livingston Comfort's story, "The Painted Wilderness," in which Mr. Hackett is to be featured.

"The Painted Wilderness" marks Mr. Hackett's debut on the screen. At the completion of the picture he will begin his regular season in "The Typhoon."

Mr. Comfort is assisting in the production of his story for the screen.

A cast that might well be played in- act on Broadway has been engaged by the All-Star Company for the screen production of "Shore Acres," with which the fame of James A. Herne is so closely linked. John H. Pratt, under whose personal supervision the picture will be made is now at Block Island with the company.

Charles A. Stevenson will be seen as Nathaniel Berry, William Riley Hackett as Sam E. J. Connelley as "Blake" Violet Horner, formerly with the Imp, Hell- asce, Biograph, and Vitagraph companies, will play Helen, and little Madge Evans, who has posed for nearly every artist of note in the world, will portray the part of Mildred. Others of the cast are Phillip Traub, as Bob, Harry Knowles as Captain Ben, Mrs. Evans.

Frank Powell, Pathe director, who has played in St. John some years ago with Harkins, is telling of some exciting times that he has been having in connection with his picture, "The Taint," which he is playing in St. John.

"I bought a modern locomotive for the sole purpose of turning it into scrap iron before his camera. Edward Joss, his leading man, was to make his escape from pursuers by confiscating the engine, starting it and letting it run wild. Mr. Joss showed his nerve by assisting to this decidedly fishy venture, and Mr. Powell and his camera men showed theirs by standing on a small platform only a very few feet above the engine.

"I was just in the act of being ditched. Everything went off smoothly.

"A hit as the loving and lovable "Peg" at the Opera House this week, is a keen dog-fancier, or dog-fanciers, whichever is right, the fact remains that she likes dogs. That makes her more like the living representative of the life she plays before the footlights, for the denure Miss O'Connell, beg pardon—"Peg" we should say, displays a strong favor for dogs.

Miss Marion Dentler's Mike came from a plain, messy looking specimen of the canine family who readily responds to the name of "Mike." But one respect for the dog pound in San Francisco, where he had been sent by the catcher. Re- prepared for stage service, he developed into the brightest of all the dogs that have played the role of "Mike."

The Revue's Success

It is interesting to note that Halifax has given the Mack's Musical Revue a hearty welcome. Every night since they opened at the Academy the S. R. O. sign has been displayed long before the curtain rose. It is necessary to be in the theatre early to get a seat. One of the biggest hits scored since their coming into this territory, either St. John or elsewhere, was this week in the singing of the English battle song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," which was given in costume by Frank Venette, assisted by the company. A St. John man who saw one of this week's performances said that on this number being given it was several minutes before the cheering sub- sided.

ly at the start. Mr. Jose got the engine started on its wild career and just before it left the rails of the siding, where the accident was to take place made a thrilling race for life. The number of somersaults he took on the steep bank would have been a marvel to a circus acrobat. When he picked up his aching body he found that he had left a good part of the skin of his face upon the embankment. In the meanwhile Mr. Powell and the cameraman found that their platform had been placed dangerously near the derailing point. The engine chugged down upon them like a mad bull and landed beside them in a roar of escaping steam and a shower of earth and stones. To the three thousand spectators it looked as though the two men could not escape, so when they emerged from the cloud of steam a cheer of relief went up and every one pressed forward to extend their congratulations.

BROKE OUT ON HEAD, NECK AND SHOULDERS

In Little Blotches, Scratching Caused It to Spread, Hands Had to Be Tied, Cried Day and Night, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Enskillen, N. B.—"The trouble started when my baby was four months old. Her head, neck and shoulders were a mass of sores. They broke out at first in little blotches, only watery, which the child scratched and caused to spread and form a mass of sores. Her hands had to be tied to keep her from scratching the sores. The sores caused her to itch and burn and to be cross and peevish. She was distressed for the time she had it. She cried day and night from the irritation. Neighbors said she would never be cured.

"She was given some medicine to take inwardly but without success. Then a friend told me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I did. I washed the child with Cuticura Soap, dried well, then applied the Cuticura Ointment every day and in a week's time the burning sensation left, the child scratched no more, and when she was eleven months old she was completely cured. (Signed) Mrs. John J. McCann, Nov. 27, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery, because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with 32-p. book, send post-card to Foster Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

That's why we invite comparison.

Any style you may fancy—always to measure—and never any added charges for "Extras."

"Didn't Believe It Possible." Last week we made a Suit of our special Navy Blue Serge for a man who told us he never paid less than $30.00, and was leaving his order because he "didn't believe it was possible." That man showed the Suit to a friend of his who is "in the business" and who valued it at $25.00. Now he is figuring out how much he could have saved in the last few years, and is putting a few of his friends wise who "didn't believe it possible." There's nothing we can't do in good Tailoring, and it's mighty gratifying to have them come in and tell us we win—because any man has a right to expect it must be "some" stuff at fifteen that will stand up beside what he is used to at twice the money.

Catching of Cowdy Has Transformed
The Pitching Staff of Boston Braves

By Hugh S. Fullerton
There never has been a championship baseball club that did not have a brainy catcher. There have been great catchers, and mediocre catchers who were smart, and always, if you study the past of the game, a smart catcher was one of the main causes of victory.
Going further: you seldom will find a great pitcher who has not worked with a brainy catcher; for a good catcher, with brains and a memory, an instinct for judging what the batters and runners are going to do, can develop pitchers wonderfully.
The Boston Braves are not a violation of these rules. Some players who have worked with Gowdy in the past may laugh—but it is a new and transformed Gowdy who is catching now.
Gowdy was, this early spring, a joke as a catcher. It wasn't because he had not the ability of the brain; it was because he never had been taught to catch, did not know the finer tricks of the trade.
They called him "Feather" because Stallings, in a fit of anger, named him Featherhead and Featherbrain.
But he was learning. Under the teaching of Stallings and Evers, Gowdy suddenly developed into one of the best catchers in the National League.
The improvement of the pitchers of the Braves was coincident with Gowdy's development as a catcher.
In the first forty-six games that Boston played this year only nine were well pitched. In the games since then only four have been badly pitched.
Rudolph perhaps is the most surprising success of the sensational trio of twirlers. He is small, McGraw knew he had ability and discarded him alone on account of size. McGraw wants big men who can pitch often. He miscalculated on the durability of the wiry Rudolph. He swept through eleven straight victories before he fell in a smashfest in which he tried to rescue Tyler.
James is a different type. He has strength, speed and bulk and he can whizz them through. His curve is a terror and he uses it now with more cunning, mixes it better and uses a slow ball.
Tyler is a peculiar case. This fellow has been for several years one of the best left handers in the business. But he never could find a catcher who would or could work to his satisfaction. Maybe it was left-handed imagination, but the players told me that when he exploded it was because of anger over some blunder of a catcher in most cases. He "fought" his catchers.

Stallings tried to get his brother to catch him. Now he has trained Gowdy so that he catches Tyler even better than he does the others. Tyler thinks him the best catcher in the world—and there you are.
Boston is not so badly off for pitchers as it would seem. Crutcher is one of the most promising youngsters. He is a veteran, of course, but when he is right he is unbeatable. I think Stallings could use one reliable experienced veteran pitcher; a fellow steady and wise, to jump in and stop a break, if such a thing should come. He evidently realizes this—for he was grabbing for Charlie Smith when O'Day jerked that ancient twirler back to the Cubs to keep Boston from getting him. But even without help Stallings' pitching staff looks better than that of any of his rivals for a finish fight. And do not forget that it has all the confidence of youth.
There is more Caterh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven caterh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Caterh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Patriotic Fund Grows Steadily

Now More Than $21,600 - Today's List Includes Prayer Meeting Collection, Day's Pay From Employes of Two Concerns and Cash Balance of Bankers' Club

- The Soldiers and Families Patriotic Fund is steadily growing. Private subscriptions, collections, gifts of a day's pay from employes of some of the larger concerns and contributions from societies all are included and there have been many promises of further help as it may be needed, some in the form of promises to repeat the original gift monthly. Among the subscriptions received by the treasurer, C. E. Pittsman, is one of $21.58 representing the credit balance of the John Bankers' Club, which has been inactive for several years, and $10.22, a collection taken at a joint prayer meeting of the Presbyterian and Baptist congregations at Chipman, Queens County. The total of the fund received by the treasurer is now more than $21,600. The employes of the Dominion Bridge Company, Ltd., of Montreal, working on the new highway bridge at the reversing falls, who have contributed a day's pay to the fund, totalling $175.25 (are as follows: C. UNIVERSAL TRAINING IS THE EXPLANATION

Australian and New Zealand Readiness to Send Men Quickly ARE AHEAD OF CANADA

Calvin Lord Describes Cadet System Which Begins at Age of Thirteen and is Continued For Nine Years—Not Enrolled For War Purposes

While Canada has responded nobly to the call for volunteers to aid in fighting the battles of the empire, the work of mobilizing an effective army division has been hampered somewhat by the lack of previous organization and also by the fact that a large percentage of the volunteers are absolutely untrained. In this respect Canada has not shown quite the same efficiency as some of the other colonies, and there have been many inquiries as to the reason for the greater promptness displayed by Australia and New Zealand in getting their troops away for Europe. While the Canadian contingent has not yet embarked, the Australian troops are on the high seas, and the New Zealanders have effected the capture of several German island colonies in the South Pacific. Calvin Lord, of Christchurch, New Zealand, who, with Mrs. Lord, is visiting the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Walker, has taken a great interest in the military and volunteer systems of both countries, and in reply to a request from the Times furnished some interesting information which forms a basis for comparison between the methods employed. With the exception of the small permanent force required to garrison the fortified ports, etc., the militia system of both New Zealand and Australia is entirely voluntary. In this respect it is similar to that of Canada, but they go a step farther and provide for universal training in order that, when a man wished to volunteer, he may be qualified to step into the ranks and take up the work at a moment's notice. In an emergency such as the present this does away with the long period otherwise required to prepare the recruits for active service. The training commences at the age of thirteen, and is continued until the age of twenty-two. During this period the boys and young men are drilled regularly two or three times each week, and go into camp for further training for two or three weeks each year. These men are trained as cadets, and are divided into junior and senior corps, which are appropriate for the different ages. The training is arranged so that the drill does not interfere with the studies of the school boys or the work of the older youths. For the younger boys the training is carried on in connection with the schools which are conducted on the English system. The older boys and young men are enrolled in separate corps in the most convenient way. While this is military training it is not military service, and the cadets are not enrolled for any purpose and cannot be called on for anything except the drill. Having passed the limit of twenty-two years the cadet is free to drop the training if he wishes. If he cares enough for it to continue he may then enroll in the volunteer corps, and as his training is much the same as that given the cadets, except that it is more advanced, and more varied, the cadets are given only infantry drill while the territorial include also artillery, cavalry and other branches of the service. The older boys and young men, however, is that the latter are actual volunteers for military service, and as such are subject to the orders of the authorities in time of need. Their enlistment is for service wherever they may be required, and there is no understanding, as in Canada, that they are for home service only. When they were needed the regiments were simply ordered out and sent on their way, and this will explain the rapidity with which the forces from the antipodes were started for the front. For the organization of this system and for the training of the men the British war office contributed a large number of officers, and this will be continued until the colonies develop sufficient men of their own to do this work. The system has been in operation for only six years, but so far it has worked splendidly. It is the official approval of Field Marshal Lord Kitchener, who visited the island colonies at the time it was established. Sir Ian Hamilton, who has had an inspection of the forces of the empire, was greatly impressed, with the efficiency of the New Zealand and Australian volunteers, and secured their enlistment in both the results and the methods, although he has always been an opponent of anything resembling compulsory training. One of the reasons why the system has proved popular is because it has proved its value in other ways besides adding to the efficiency of the military forces. It has been observed that the young men who are being trained in the cadets show the results of the discipline in their private lives as well. The training helps to develop the manly qualities, which add to the value of a citizen in any line of activity. Not only is the moral effect good but the physical results are also marked. With every boy in the country receiving regular training a new and better type of physique is being built up and the results of this are expected to have a marked effect on the future of the race.

The Man In The Street

Did you get one of those dolls? Just one last night to help the fair! Are you still wearing your straw sail-or?

The Kaiser's bathing average is on the slump again. Those new street cars look very nice, but they might be better ventilated.

Russians have used an aeroplane as a bear's bait. But, well—but suppose the deceased wasn't bound in that direction?

Building Notes The Kaiser has evidently decided against plaster Paris at present.

To say that a fellow's going to the dogs this week was rather ambiguous, for he might have had a ticket for the dog show.

Passing along one of our city streets we cannot help wondering why some dealers allow quarters of beef and other meats to hang outside their doors. We've never yet eaten meat that had an added flavor from street dust.

If Thanksgiving is as big a "holiday" for the newspapers as Labor Day was, that will be one thing for which we won't have to say "thanks."

"No American Money Accepted"—Isn't it nearly time that sign was taken out of the street cars?

The German ambassador at Washington is talking too much. He's getting about as popular as rain at a moonlight excursion.

Many people now feel pleased that their country cousins have returned their mid-summer visit. The exhibition visitors from the old farm spent a day and a half in town with their city cousins in return for the two weeks' vacation each one put in in the country. The farmer always gets the "week-end" of things, anyhow.

The fifty-one wife deserters at Valcartier probably prefer war in the field to scrapping in the kitchen.

It's certainly somebody's duty to remove that unpleasant, unhealthy odor from about the Union Depot, caused by the caving train. Whose work is it?

Our chief regret after the fair is comparing our board bill with what we spent trying to get one of those baseball dolls.

Perhaps the censors are getting more generous, but if they hadn't, some of us would have to learn the deaf and dumb language.

Since the city seems to insist that road-digging be in its height when there's an extra crowd in town, at the exhibition for instance, it is pleasing to note that despite all obstacles the car drivers during the fair was entirely satisfactory.

Those who have watched the motor car games at the exhibitions have been impressed with the remarkable skill and coolness with which the drivers handle their cars. The ability, as well as the daring, gives the spectator the conviction that a man must be a top-notch to even venture into the game. This opinion does not seem to be shared by all the drivers, among some of whom the most cordial relations do not exist. The other day two of the cars had been retired because of accidents, and the drivers were watching the finish of the game from the side lines when there was another crash and the remaining cars were put out of business. One of the drivers on the side lines enquired, "Amateurs," he said, with infinite scorn. "That's what comes of hiring drivers who don't know the difference between a motor car and a dump cart."

For the convenience of subscribers and advertisers, The Telegraph and Times will have a booth at the exhibition directly facing the main entrance in the gallery, where subscriptions will be taken, information given regarding advertising rates, etc.

RECRUITING MEN. Editor Times: Sir:—With regard to recruiting men for foreign service, men should not merely be examined from the waist up. A man's body may look good, but he may have bad legs and feet. The doctor should not pass any man for foreign or home service unless he is sound all over. No boy should be allowed to sign unless he is with his mother or father. No man under the influence of drink should be allowed to sign. No married man should be allowed to sign unless he is with his wife. There are rumors that these rules have not always been observed. Yours truly, OLD SOLDIER.

FIVE BABIES St. John's population was increased by five births this week. Four of the youngsters are boys. Fifteen marriages were reported to Registrar John B. Jones.

Straight Dealer Talk R. H. Durbin, the advertising manager of one of the largest and most successful department stores in the country recently addressed a meeting of buyers in New York. He made a strong plea to local merchants to support the manufacturers who advertise in newspapers. Such national advertising, Mr. Durbin declared, should inspire the retailer to come out and buy. "I carry 'such and such a product,'" Mr. Durbin gave this advice to the buyers. "Do not forget that the goods you have in stock are to be sold right there in your town and that the way to sell them is to advertise in the home newspaper. "Pay no attention to the manufacturer who sends you a lot of circular matter, saying, 'We are going to buy a $10,000 spread in the Sun and Moon Magazine on such a date and we hope you will co-operate with us by advertising in your local newspapers that you handle our product.'"

TODAY'S LOCAL BATTLE

Late bulletins from the bureau of censors' offices in the new armory indicate that a lively skirmish is expected this afternoon in the vicinity of S—P—road. The exact location of the scene of the expected conflict, which will take place between a company of picked men from the local defending force of the regiment is withheld until after the advance of the invading troops from "A" Co. has been checked. This force which is thoroughly equipped for battle is marching via — (the censor has evidently eliminated here the names of the streets through which they will march from the armory) to the neighborhood of — (here again the blue pencil has been put through the destination of the enemy). The gallant defending contingent from St. John will take up their quarters at a section of the S—P—road (evidently the same place mentioned in the preceding paragraph), and firmly entrenched along this highway will endeavor to hold the city against the on-wards of the hostile troops who thus far have been unrestricted in their march upon the peaceful farmlands forming the environments of St. John. The result of the fray will be eagerly awaited, as it will test the mettle of the permanent defenders of St. John, with whom the sympathies of the citizens will naturally be enlisted. The strength of the opposing forces is — P. S.—In order to allay the fears of any timid-minded folk in the community, the "war" editor of the Times desires to announce that this is only a sham battle, and that it has been carefully staged by the officers of the 62nd regiment, St. John Fusiliers. Blank ammunition will be carried, and Captain Malcolm McAvity will officiate as umpire.

DEATH OF CHILD.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Harrington of 88 Millidgeville Avenue, will sympathize with them in the loss of their little son, William Vincent, aged seven weeks, who died at an early hour this morning. The burial will take place this afternoon.

ST. GEORGE WITHDRAWN

The twice-a-day service on the Bay of Fundy route of the C. P. R. will be discontinued today with the withdrawal of the steamer St. George. She will lay up at Reid's Point for a while. Representatives of the company could not say this morning if she would be put into commission this winter. The Yarmouth will continue on her regular schedule.

JOHNNY, GET YOUR GUN

The season for shooting big game and partridges will open on Tuesday next, September 15. According to the present indications, moose and deer will be plentiful this fall, many having been seen in the thickly settled districts within the last month. The shooting of partridges for market is prohibited this year as last.

AFTER MANY YEARS

A visitor to the city at present is John Reihan, of Bloomfield, Mass., who is being welcomed by old friends after an absence of nearly thirty years. He has done well in the United States, but this is his first visit to his old home since he first left St. John when quite a young boy. Old acquaintances have been pleased to welcome him.

FAIRVILLE NEWS.

Last evening in Temperance Hall, Fairville, a meeting of the committee selected earlier in the week to collect the patriotic fund was held. Councillor John O'Brien was in the chair and there was an excellent attendance. All except representatives from the most outlying sections being present.

Territory was divided, so the entire parish would be carefully canvassed, and collecting will commence the first of next week. John Donaldson left this week for Bath, Me., where he will make his home with his son Thomas.

POLICE COURT

Patrick Walsh, who said he belonged to Fredericton, was arrested last night between twelve and one o'clock, charged with wearing a white coat and not giving a satisfactory account of himself. Asked by the magistrate where he had been on previous nights, he said he was in Carleton Place last night, spent Wednesday night in Rockwood park, and on Thursday night he did not know where he had been. "You'll know where you are tonight," said the magistrate and sent him to jail for two months. A young man, given in charge by W. J. Myles, of the High School yesterday afternoon on a charge of looting pieces of chalk and ink from the school building, where he was afterwards found lying and lurking, was fined $8 or two months in jail, which was allowed to stand. Mr. Myles said the man had been drinking and he did not wish to press the charge.
