REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

FOR THE YEAR 1848-9.

IN again appealing to the sympathy of a Christian public on behalf of the above institution, the Committee enter upon the task, with emotions of deep gratitude for past support and ardent solicitude as to the result of their present effort.

The actuating principle of the Society which your Committee represent, having been already, in former reports, so clearly stated and explained, it is conceived unnecessary in the present instance to say much on the subject. To find out the abodes of want and misery, and minister to the necessities of their unfortunate inmates, is the motive that guides and actuates the Ladies' Benevolent Society. Thanks to the liberal contributions of their patrons and subscribers, they have to a certain extent been enabled to carry out that object: their hearts still yearn, however, over the miseries of their fellow creatures; their desire still is to be made useful, under the Divine blessing, in alleviating their temporal wants : and therefore they again throw themselves on the sympathies of a christian public, whom they would again assure, as the almoners of their bounty, that the same catholicity of spirit which has characterized the institution since its origin, continues to be one of its leading features.

In the report of last year, occasion was taken to refer to the probable increased demand that would be made during the winter, upon the society, through the effects of the commercial pressure experienced during the business season—that appeal was generously responded to, as appears by the Treasurer's report, hereunto appended : but this year, superadded to commercial pressure we have been visited by devastating sickness, and through it, many industrious and happy families who a few months ago were in comparatively easy circumstances, have been deprived of their natural supporters, and now need the fostering aid of those whose lot has been more fortunate. And surely if the circumstance of having been saved and protected from the fatal scourge, excites in the mind a feeling of gratitude to the God of Providence, we cannot express it better than by succouring those of his creatures who by His inscrutable will are suffering from its effects.

Your committee conceive it would be superfluous to add any thing further, by way of securing a continuance of your support. Past experience has afforded too gratifying a result to warrant despondency as regards their present application.
