J. L. STEWART ST. JOHN, N. B., OCT. 29, 1872. Crime Exaggerated—Misplaced Sym-

Every now and then an alarum cry is sounded by some city paper in reference to the increase of crime in St. John. garrotting or pocket-picking, or kindred deed; and the changes are rung from the lowest to the highest note, These wailings are not justified by the Weekly Investments facts. Our criminal record is small, and much the greater portion of it is occupied with cases that are not considered crimes in most cities—cases of drunken ness. Any one who pauses to reflect on the St. John burglaries, and sneak-thief operations, of a year, will be struck with the smallness of the number in comparison with the record of other maritime cities of equal size. The entire absence of professional thieves, except when they are attracted hither by a great boat race, must not be overlooked when our degree of crime is under consideration. All the "cribs" that are "cracked," all the pockets that are picked, show the presence of the hands of amateurs. The crimes are usually invited by either carelessness or drunkenness. Insufficient fastenings on back windows tempt criminally-inclined youths to enter stores for fruit, small change, and cigars; unlocked doors permit tramps to possess themselves of overcoats and mbrellas; helplessly-drunk occupants of door-ways and lumber vards invite greedy "owls" to go through their pockets; and swaggering frequenters of low resorts mix in drunken brawls and are beaten and robbed. These cases afford no just grounds for the assertion that crime is on the inrease in the city. They afford little grounds for sympathy with the sufferers. They do not justify the outcry raised in a portion of the press. The ably IN ADVANCE. POSTAGE must be paid idle should not be tempted to commit at the office of delivery. doors and windows. THE FIRST BRICK. Mr. Lindenstruth (our reporter), finding the fire nearly out, went to the wood pile to get something to make it up. While returning he heard a heavy thad upon the floor of another room, as if something heavy had fallen. Thinking some member of the family had srisen, he paid no more attention to it. But subsequent events thrown by the ghosts or whatever agency is at work on the premises, as no member of the family had as yet got up.

So rapidly had the news spread and so great was the excitement, the Macon and Brunswick Railroad despatched an extra train on Sunday. It arrived at Surrency about three o'cleck in the atternoon, with seventy-five people on board. But the ghosts, spirits, or whatever else they might be called did not choose to give them any manifestations, and the train left in about an hour, taking most of them back. A few remained, however, determined to see into the matter. There were at least three or four hundred persons on the ground during Sanday, and up to the time our reporter left fully five hundred. The case was heard before the county magistrates sitting at Grimsby. A similar case from the same village had been heard and dismissed above a month before. The chairman, in giving judgment, disclaimed all idea of making it a religious question, stating that there was considerable difference of opinion in the interpretation of the Act, even among legal authorities, some contending that the offering for sale of articles without any profit to the salesman, and for a purely charitable purpose did not place such a purpose within the scope of the Act. Since the summons had been granted he had consulted a high legal authority, who took the same view, and in the absence of no right interpretation of the Act, the bench decided to give defendant the benefit of the doubt and dismiss the case.
