Port Daniel

The bells of St. George's Catholic Church rang out on Monday 17th, announcing that four of our young people had embarked on the Sea of Matrimony, and Port Daniel was the scene of a pretty double wedding when Miss Nellie B. Jones, became the bride of W. J. Leo Gagnon and Miss M. Gladys Jones the bride of G. Emile Nadeau, both daughters

Mr. Joseph Jones. Miss Nellie was given away by her father, and Gladys by her uncle, Mr. James D. Both brides were unattended, were dressed similar, wearing travelling suits of blue velour with hats and furs to match.

Mr. L. Gagnon was attended by father Mr. F. X. Gagnon, and Mr. Nadeau by his brother Mr. C. H. Nadeau. The marriage was performed by the Reverend Father J. E. Gagnon, and the music was rendered by Mrs. G. E. Roy and violin by Gustave Roy.

After the ceremony a Buffet Luncheon was served at the home of the Bride. Both couples left for the morning train for Montreal, Halifax and other parts. Upon returning they will stop at Port Daniel.

The community wishes Mr. & Mrs. Nadeau and Mr. and Mrs. Gagnon a long and happy wedded life.

The out-of-town guests were:—A. Ouel, Jean, Marie and the bridesmaids, Mr. Filcar Nadeau of St. George, and Messrs. Wells and Robt. Nadeau, brothers of Mr. Emile Nadeau.

NEW SYSTEM FOR TOTAL FIGURES

Order-in-Council Signed by Lieutenant-Governor Into Effect on December

March will compile the number of the 31st of December next the Province of Quebec will be provided with an up-to-date system of collecting vital statistics, an order-in-council putting in force a new law to that effect having been signed to-day by the Lieutenant-Governor.

In the past through some defects in the provisions of the law the Province of Quebec was the only one in the Dominion which was not fully organized to keep an up-to-date record of births marriages and deaths. To meet the requirements a law a-Quebec, Nov. 15—Effective from mending the Quebec Public Health Act was passed at the last session, which will allow the figures to be available at short notice and will place the province in such a position that it will figure with other provinces in the Federal statistics and may be in position to answer any argument there may be in this connection.

According to the new law the Director of the Provincial Bureau of Health every year before the 1st of March will compile the number of births, marriages, deaths as well as causes of death based on information received from any person entrusted with the registration required under the Civil Code which must be transmitted to him in the first fifteen days of each month for preceding month.

Provision is made in the law that, though there will be a census of the illegitimate birth, the name of the father and mother will not be inscribed.

Regarding the authority given to those in charge of registration to prepare such reports the law says:

"For statistical purposes only, the Director of the Provincial Bureau of Health shall appoint, for each municipality and also for each unorganized territory, a collector of vital statistics, and solely for statistical purposes, every birth, marriage or death which has not been duly registered with a person authorized by the Civil Code to keep registers of civil status shall, within eight days following such birth, marriage or death, be declared to said collector of statistics, who shall then fill in, or cause to be filled in, one of the forms as the case may be.

During the first fifteen days of each month, every collector of statistics shall forward to the Director of the Provincial Bureau of Health the forms filled in during the previous month, including the certificates of death sent to him.

If there are no forms or certificates to be forwarded, the collector shall report same to the Director."

For Roman Catholics the father and mother have to give information to the priest in cases of birth and the consorts in case of marriages. In case of death the attending physician has to give a report on a special form.

In the case of non-Roman Catholics every physician, nurse, or father or mother must give information.

NO FOREIGNERS IN LOWER CALIFORNIA

Mexicali, Lower Calif., Nov. 18.—Colonization of Lower California (Mexico), by Japanese or any other foreigners is declared impossible under the existing laws of Mexico in a bulletin made public here by Governor Abelardo Rodriguez, of the Northern District of Lower California.

The bulletin, which refutes the denial or recent reports of a congreter portion of its space to a Lower California, quotes the Secretary of Exterior Relations at Mexico City to the effect that Mexican Federal law prevents the colonization of foreigners either near the sea coast or the border.

In Beautiful England

A Brief Account of our Pleasant Experiences with The Canadian Weekly Newspaper Party on our Trip abroad
By H. B. ANSLOW

July 6th. was without doubt one of the most enjoyable days of our trip. In our journeying about we were able to see some of the real beauty of England.

Starting at 8:30, an hour's drive in the bright sunshine of a summer morning took us into the suburbs and landed us on the Thames at historic Richmond in Surrey. There we found awaiting us a river steamer that had been provided by Messrs. Knapp, Drewe & Sons, proprietors of the Surrey Comet, which is published at Kingston-on-Thames. Mr. Valentine Knapp is a Past President of the English Newspaper Society and at present is Treasurer of that organization. He was one of the first of the English newspapermen to interest himself in our tour and the preliminary arrangements made by him contributed in large measure to the success of our visit. Not only did Mr. Knapp work hard preparing for our coming but he devoted a great deal of time to our entertainment. By his kind attentions and winning personality he added greatly to the enjoyment of our tour.

Starting out from Richmond, an hour was spent on one of the many attractive reaches of the upper Thames. We had often read of the beauties of this famous river but it was never given justice. Its banks are luxuriantly wooded with elms, beeches and many other large and handsome trees, while along the shore are charming cottages, each with its pretty garden in which roses and other flowers abound. Even at that hour of the morning, the river was alive with punts and canoes carrying parties, out to spend the day on the river. The punt, a long craft propelled by a pole, seemed to be the favorite. People reclining in them, propped up by pillows, were pictures of solid comfort.

It seemed the fashion to picnic on board, and it was a common sight to see a jug tied on behind the craft. Passing Twickenham Ferry, famed in the songs we came upon a houseboat, a kind of summer home which is not now so much in demand as it used to be before motor cars became so common. There was ample variety in name and decoration.

At Teddington we passed through a lock. This point marks the upper end of the part of the river governed by the Port of London Authority. Near by were noticed great filtration beds by which the city's water supply is treated.

So enjoyable was the river journey that it seemed an exceedingly short hour which brought us to Hampton Court, the largest and one of the finest Royal palaces in England. This was built in 1515 by Cardinal Wolsey and there that powerful prince of the Church lived for sixteen years in a style of great splendor.

Before his fall he made a gift of Hampton Court to Henry VIII and there this much married monarch spent a great deal of time with his six wives. During the reign of George III it ceased to be a royal residence and was divided into suites of private apartments which were allotted by the king as dwellings, chiefly to members of aristocratic families, in recognition of services to the Crown and nation.

It was not until the reign of Queen Victoria that the palace was thrown open to the public without fee or restriction. It is estimated that fully 60,000,000 people have visited the beautiful parks and gardens since 1837. Notwithstanding all the many thousands visiting these gardens daily, not a petal is spoiled by the public, so one of the superintendents said. The House Park is surrounded on three sides by the Thames and comprises some 750 acres. In it is the famous long canal bordered with magnificent trees. The basin and fountain, built by William III, and the ancient yew trees around it are striking features of the grounds and there is a profusion of flowers on every hand. There is a tennis court built by Henry VIII on which tennis has been played uninterruptedly for 450 years.

Here we saw the Great Vine which was planted in 1789 from a slip of a vine that still is flourishing at Essex. The grape is of the Black Hamburg variety. Its average mature crop is 800 bunches, each weighing a pound, though it has been known to bear as many as 2200 bunches in one year. At present the vine is 48 inches in the girth and the principal branch 114 feet long. The vine is carefully trained and is, of course kept under glass.

As we were already due at our next stopping place, we had no opportunity to visit Queen Mary's tower, the famous maze and many other interesting spots in the beautiful grounds.

Having been invited to luncheon at the country home of Colonel Grant Morden, M.P., a Canadian who has made a name and place for himself in England, we drove direct from Hampton Court to "Heathfield Hall," Ivan Hesh, Buckinghamshire, the magnificent home of Colonel and Mrs. Grant Morden, who made us very welcome. Luncheon was served in an immense marquee. In addition to the newspaper party Colonel Morden had invited the Canadian Bikey team and a distinguished party of guests in our honor. There were thirty tables, each presided over by some distinguished personage and the luncheon was a delightful informal affair.

At the head table included, among others: the Rt. Hon. L. C. Amery, M.P., the Hon. E. W. Armstrong, Premier of Nova Scotia, the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Birkenhead and the Countess of Birkenhead, the Hon. R. D. Bennett and Miss Bennett, Sir Robert Donald and Lady Donald, the Rt. Hon. Sir Hamar Greenwood, Bart., and Lady Greenwood, Lord A. E. B. De la Roche, the Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, and Mrs. E. S. Martin, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Grant Morden, Sir Frank Newnes and Lady Newnes, the Hon. T. B. O'Connor and Major Streight, Commander of the Canadian Bikey Rifle Team, Mr. Justice Duff, A. E. Calnan, E. Roy Sayles and W. Rupert Davies of our party.

The toast of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association was proposed by the Right Hon. the Earl of Birkenhead, who deplored the Labor Government's failure to continue the imperial preferences.

Lord Birkenhead said in part: "We do not seek to involve you in the domestic political disputes, but I say it plainly and frankly that that decision (regarding Imperial preferences) does not represent the views of the people of this country. As one who has not always been wrong in his predictions of the future, I ask you to carry back to Canada this message: That the decision which has been taken in the teeth of our protest is not only not irrevocable, but it shall be revoked." (Cheers.) Tell them that there are in this country many men not without the power of recommending their views to their fellow-countrymen, who, unlike those who took this decision, are still aware, on the material side of the incomparable resources of the mighty Dominions, and the advantages of the Preference which you voluntarily gave us many years ago, and, on the moral side, never forget that at the greatest crisis in our history, you, like Australia, in the very early days of the war, ranged yourselves on our side, not only with material support, but with the moral support of an unquenchable spirit of courage which was even more valuable to us."

(Cheers.) "The problem which requires settlement today which requires all the statescraft in your country and mine, is whether or not, in close and harmonious association on terms of equal co-operation, we may preserve the British Empire—the greatest constitutional wonder which the changed political and sociological developments have ever afforded, a loosely associated, free and equal brotherhood of great and self-respecting communities. If that association is to be preserved certain fundamental postulates must be made. First and foremost among these I put this, that there is absolute equality between each daughter State and the Home Country. There must be no question of our dictating policy to you, nor you dictating policy to us. People sometimes say that memories and traditions are short. It is only the memories of the unworthy people that are short. Many things mostly untrue, have been asserted against Englishmen, but no one can assert that we forget our friends. Of all things giving me those who rally to your side, in moments of prosperity, but of those who test the loyalties of Canada by that formula. There has been a moment in the last 30 years when everything into the balance in our cause. Your young and brilliant men, all the resources of your material wealth, the incomparable comfort of your moral associations, with your point of view—all these things have been ungrudgingly contributed and none of them will be

BATHURST BOY KILLED BY AUTO

Deaf Mute Named Joe Hachey, Son of Widow, Is Victim of Accident.

Bathurst, N. B. Nov. 17.—Joe Hachey, a deaf mute and the son of a widow, suffered injuries which later resulted in his death when he jumped off a truck wagon on the north side of Church Hill, on which he was riding up the hill, and ran directly in front of an automobile coming down the hill.

The accident happened late on Saturday afternoon and the injured boy was taken to the home of the family with whom he lives, where he was attended by Dr. J. C. Meahan, who found that he had suffered a broken collar bone. Later on internal injuries developed serious conditions and resulted in his death.

Inasmuch as the driver of the automobile was not to blame for the unfortunate deaf and dumb youth having run directly in front of the car which he could not hear approaching, an inquest is not being held. Dr. Meahan, who is a coroner, said today that he considered an inquest unnecessary. The driver of the automobile, who was from out of town, left here in the belief that "the boy was not badly injured."

Deceased was about 17 years old and a willing youth in spite of his disabilities.

PLAN KNOCK-OUT FOR PUNCH BOARD

To co-operate with the federal legislation, which came into force on the 1st of October last, it has been necessary for the Attorney General of this Province to issue orders to the Provincial Detective Bureau to seize all "punch boards" and other similar devices, which have been installed in public places recently.

(Quebec Telegraph)

As a sequel to the co-operation of both Governments in the enforcement of the new law it is expected that the "punch boards" will disappear once and for all and that no further abuses will be reported.

forgot." (Cheers.)

The Right Hon. "Tay Pay" O'Connor, father of the House of Commons, who seconded the toast, is a freetrader and he took issue with Lord Birkenhead on the question of imperial preferences, but Col. Amery and Sir Hamar Greenwood, who proposed the toast of the Canadian Bikey team, warmly supported the Earl of Birkenhead. A. E. Calnan and E. Roy Sayles replied on behalf of the C. W. N. A. and Major Streight for the Bikey team.

After a few minutes in the rose garden and glancing over some other features of Col. Morden's great estate, our party had to hurry away to all an important dinner at the home of Hall Bara, the home of Viscount and Viscountess Burnham. It is a delightful drive from Ivor Heath to Beaconsfield and is a most interesting one. The Burnhams were awaiting us at the door and welcomed us with a warm smile. Lord Burnham conducted us about the grounds, telling something of the history of Hall Bara. It was once the property of Edmund Waller, the poet, who died here in 1867. Waller was related to Hampden and to Cromwell and entered parliament when only eighteen years of age. Prominent as a popular leader, he was nevertheless detected in a Royalist plot and being punished spent several years in prison. Returning, he re-entered parliament, and was still an M. P. at the age of 82. His poems, mostly sweet and simple, were chiefly remarkable for their polish. Lord Burnham has an estate of six thousand acres. It is situated in "Beechley Buck" and has many fine beeches that through good care are from 400 to 500 years old, though the beech seldom lives over 200 years. Hall Bara has the most perfect example of an Elizabethan garden extant; its spacious, velvet like lawns were the first laid in England, dating from 1680 and it has wonderful yew hedges hundreds of years old. The crowning mark of the gracious hospitality of Lord and Lady Burnham was seen at the afternoon tea for which we were seated at tables in a large hall. Our host and hostess, with friends and members of the family, waited upon the tables and created an atmosphere which made us feel that we were at no formal gathering but at a happy family party. Nothing was left undone that could contribute to our enjoyment. When the time came to start for London in our charabancs we carried away a vision of our smiling host and hostess waving us a kindly farewell.

USES FOR OUR HARDWOODS

In Canada in 1922 there were nearly three million broom and mop handles made. These are practically all made in maple, as this wood provides a handle of sufficient strength for even the most energetic sweeper. This is but one of the uses for which hardwood is adaptable.

Canada has large areas of hardwood forest, and even of mixed forest in which hardwoods predominate. One of the problems of forestry is what use to make of the hardwoods. If the trees could be taken out and utilized at the same time as the coniferous timber is being cut it would materially lessen the difficulties of lumbering and reduce the expense of taking out the wood. The limited markets, however, restrict the development of the hardwood industry. The local manufacturing of small ware of the wood is wasted. Hardwoods as a whole are more defective than softwoods, and in order to cover the cost of taking out the material the closest utilization of every log, not of maple only but of all the species, is necessary to secure satisfactory returns in the hardwood industry. The local manufacturing of small ware of hardwood is not yet undertaken to any large extent in Canada, although in some European countries it is of considerable importance—Exchange.

Leger, who was chosen as the standard-bearer of the Liberal Party at an enthusiastic convention in Campbellton on Wednesday, is widely and favorably known in business circles in the province. He enjoys the warm esteem not only of his fellow citizens in Campbellton where he resides but of the County as well.

Mr. Leger has the advantage of having long lived in a healthy political atmosphere. He is a son of the late August T. Leger, who represented Kent County in the Federal House at the time of his death in 1922 and who had previously contested elections for a seat in the Provincial Legislature. Through his father's connection with the affairs of the province and by his own observations, the present candidate has familiarized himself with the needs of people. As a member for the County of Restigouche his ability will be of much service in keeping those needs to the fore and seeing that they are met.

In the policies of the Veniot Government and the manner in which they have been carried out for the last six years, Mr. Leger will find that he has a great cause. The achievements of Premier Veniot and his associates in the administration are such that he may present them with pride to the people of Restigouche—Moncton.

ATTACK ON BOBBED HAIR IN PARIS

Paris, Oct. 22.—The attack on bobbed hair, opened at Desauville, now is being fully developed at the start of the Paris autumn season. The main support of bobbed hair, its opponents declare, is the difficulty of presenting an attractive appearance during the intermediate period while the hair is growing again. To overcome this obstacle, the hair dressers are making a public show of devices for camouflaging scanty locks.

Six Delicious Ways To Serve Oysters

Oysters are general favorites in all places where they can be obtained and they are a welcome addition to the menu. Raw in canapés, cocktails, and on the half shell, cooked in sauces, salads and scalloped, not forgetting the popular fry, they are perhaps most generally served, but there are many more dishes and combinations in which they are particularly good, and recipes are given here for a few of the dishes.

Deviled Oysters on the Half Shell Poach a solid pint of oysters in their own liquor for three minutes then drain, saving the liquor, and chop the oysters. Make a sauce of a cupful each of the liquor and cream, or rich milk, thickened with roux, adding a saltspoonful of dry mustard, the same of salt, a little pepper, two teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, and a teaspoonful of finely minced celery leaves, a little bit of chopped parsley and a half teaspoonful of minced red pepper. Add a quarter cupful of dry crumbs, and fill buttered ramekins, or the deep shells, with the mixture. Sprinkle a few dry crumbs on top and dot with butter.
Bake a delicate brown. Garnish with lemon and parsley.

Oyster Shortcake
Poach a quart of oysters in their own liquor for two minutes until their heads curl, then drain. Have ready a dish of rich cream sauce made in the usual way and put the oysters into it. Make a shortcake of blest dough and when it is baked, add butter and sugar. This makes a full supper dish in itself, with potato chips, and a lettuce salad.

Curried Oysters
Drain the liquor from a quart of oysters and to a cupful and a half add a cupful of cream, two teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, a heaping teaspoonful of curry powder. Add a teaspoonful of cornstarch and a teaspoonful of egg powder. Add a tablespoonful of minced celery leaves, the juice of an onion, and a little salt and pepper. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, and when smooth and free from lumps, stir in a half saltspoonful of saffron and cook a few minutes until colored, then add the oysters, cook two minutes and serve on a hot dish garnished with toast sippets.

Oysters à la Tontine
Select enough large frying oysters to allow four to a portion. Drain off their liquor and dry them off. Dip in melted butter and broil. When done lay them on a buttered baking dish and cover each with a teaspoonful of minced chicken seasoned with pepper, salt, a little chutney, melted butter, a few dry crumbs and a beaten egg. Heap neatly on the oysters and brown in the oven, serve on slices of buttered toast and mask with a little cream sauce.

Oyster Pie
Drain a quart of oysters and dry them off. Make a cream sauce, using a cupful each of milk and the strained oyster liquor, season well and thicken slightly with roux. When thickened, add the oysters and let cook for three minutes. Add a half cupful of boiled shrimp, picked over and broken with a fork. Line a deep pie plate with goo dehort crust, fill it with the oysters and add the top crust, having a good vent in it. Bake until the crust is done and serve hot.
If there is any cream sauce left serve it with the pie.

Oysters Baked With Tomatoes
Select enough large frying oysters to allow one to a portion. Hollow out the stem ends after washing them carefully. Allow four small oysters to each tomato, season them with pepper, salt, juice of an onion, a teaspoonful of minced celery leaves, a tablespoonful of soft butter, a tablespoonful of grated cheese, and two teaspoonfuls of fine, dry crumbs.
Fill the tomatoes with the oysters, place in buttered baking dish and bake until the tomatoes are tender.

How You Can Have Good Luck With Flowers Indoors

Real plant lovers are always willing to give up sunny windows to their plants and all the time they have at their disposal to care for them. The rest of us may have to see the results but are not willing to accept the labor, and think if we are caring for a table fern dish we are doing a whole lot.

From year to year we forget the things we really have intended to grow and wake up too late to the fact to be able to rectify the oversight.
So this reminder may not come amiss, though it will, in most instances, be too late for the things we should have planted for ourselves. The lovely double narcissus and the daffodils will do well indoors if planted late.
They will also grow to the results bowl of water almost as quickly as the Chinese lilies do.

Freesias are said to be the sweetest flowers grown, the odor being a little like the jasmine. If the bulbs are planted successively there will always be flowers coming along during the winter. Plant the bulbs in a mixture of loam, leaf mold and sand.
They should be kept cool and watered until the winter sets in and then brought to gentle heat and sunlight, but never kept where it is cold enough to freeze the bulbs. The foliage is very tender and it is a good idea to put little stakes around the outer edge of the pot and brace them up with string. This supports them and there is no danger of the delicate stalks drooping, and breaking with their weight of blossoms. Lily-of-the-valley is another thing that does well indoors, if planted and corrected for properly. The lily pads come separately as well as in clumps for planting in any shape pot liked. The lily pads are usually selected for house plants, though for a window box the clumps are generally chosen.

White or yellow calla lilies do well indoors if planted in late autumn.
The foliage is attractive, especially that of the yellow lily, which is cream spotted, which makes it very decorative. Oxalis is another attractive indoor bloomer. Six bulbs planted in an eight-inch pot will produce a profusion of blossom—yellow, white, pink or lavender. They are left to root for ten days or two weeks then are brought to the light and warmth and given active care. They will blossom for weeks.

Several of the begonia family are favored as house plants, and their delicate waxy blooms are very colorful and attractive. Mignonette in another plant that does well in the house and produces the sweet spikes of blossoms that are always a joy.
They are half-way hardy, so will do well in rooms not over-heated.

Half plants are usually palms, rubber plants and dracaenas, which are the green, white and red striping upon their long leaves. They do well in the house and require but little care.

ECONOMICAL RECIPES

Here are two tested recipes that, in addition to being delicious and tasty, are unusually economical:

ONE EGG CAKE
1/2 cupful Borden's St. Charles Milk diluted with 1/2 cupful cold water.
1/2 cupful vegetable cooking oil, scant.
1/2 cupful sugar.
1/2 teaspoonful salt.
1 1/2 teaspoonful baking powder.
1 1/2 cupful sifted flour.
1/2 teaspoonful vanilla.
1/2 teaspoonful lemon extract.

1 egg.
Beat the egg light and "cream"
with the sugar, salt and flavoring.
Combine the milk, diluted, with the cooking oil. Sift together the dry ingredients and add them alternately to the first mixture with the milk.
Beat thoroughly, turn into lined, well-oiled pan and bake in water bath, covered, for 20 minutes.

Transfer to a covered jar. This will keep indefinitely in a cool place.
If too thick, thin with Borden's St.
Charles Milk.

EGGLESS MAYONNAISE
3 teaspoonfuls Borden's St. Charles Milk, undiluted.
1/2 teaspoonful salt.
1/2 teaspoonful mustard.
2 teaspoonfuls sharp vinegar.
1/2 cupful salad oil—any kind.
1/2 teaspoonful pepper.

Combine the seasonings, add the milk and gradually beat in the oil with an egg beater. Then whip in the vinegar. Use as any Mayonnaise.
Transfer to a covered jar. This
will keep indefinitely in a cool place.
If too thick, thin with Borden's St.
Charles Milk.

WOMEN OF THE FUTURE

Girls of today come nearer being modern than their sisters of the preceding generations. The physical education department of an Ohio co-educational college has presented the evidence.

The modern girl is taller, stronger, and heavier than her grandmother and her mother were at the same age.
The tests are conclusive, for they represent studies made of 1600 women entering college in each of the periods from 1886-1903, from 1905 to 1915 and from 1918 to 1922.

The average "freshman" woman up to 1903 was five feet two and six tenths inches in height. Her college sister of today is nearly two inches taller.

In weight another increase is recorded. The average 18-year-old college girl weighs 116 pounds. Her predecessor in 1886 weighed 112.

Various strength tests similarly show the superiority of the modern girl. Feminine styles and the social requirements for women of today admittedly are not perfect, although they represent a marked advance over the last decades of the 19th and the first decade of the 20th century.

ONE OF THE OLDEST FISHES
While the rays, including that well-known species, the sting ray, are related to the sharks (in structure, derived in both sharks and rays the skeleton remains cartilaginous throughout life, instead of hardening into bone. Other characteristics are the three valves of the heart, the spiral valve in the intestine, the absence of an air bladder and the large detached wing. Most of this group have the mouth on the lower side.

The sting-ray is the most highly specialized member of the group, its long, slender tail looks like a living whip, but it is a far more terrible instrument than even a cat-o-nine-tails or a Russian knout. It is not only capable of inflicting a severe laceration.

These spines are subject to wear and tear, but from time to time the fish sheds them and replaces them by new ones. Most of the sting-rays live in the tropics, though some migrate into temperate climates, one

DO YOU SUPPORT YOUR NEWS- PAPER

There is nothing that calls attention and draws people to a town so much as a good newspaper. In order for a man to make good newspaper he must have the patronage of the people among whom he lives. If he has half-way support it stands to reason that he must make a poorer newspaper, and in doing this every man in the town and surrounding country has to bear a portion of the loss. For this reason, if no other, the man who tries to make a good newspaper, should have the support of his own people, all of whom reap fully as much benefit from its efforts as he does himself.

TOLL OF DEATH MAY REACH SIX HUNDRED

Six Villages Completely Isolated by Floods as Result of Earthquake

Batavia, Java, Nov. 15.—The death toll in the earthquake which shook the central portion of the island of Java last Wednesday is estimated in official circles at 300, although private reports indicate that as many as 600 persons may have perished.

Six villages are completely isolated by floods. The damage to private property at Wonorebo exceeds $120,000.

The earth is still trembling from slight shocks. It is generally accepted here that the earthquake was not of a volcanic nature but merely due to the shifting of earth layers.

HER NERVES BETTER NOW!

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ontario.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and I kept on getting worse until I could do my own housework and was so bad with my nerves that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me a whole year before I was able to do my own washing again."

Through a friend I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. I gave birth to a baby boy the 4th day of September, 1922. I am still doing my own work and washing. Of course, I don't get my rest as the baby is so cross. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and am going to keep on with it until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone day or night and not be the least frightened. You can use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. CHARLES CARSON, 27 Forsythe Street, Chatham, Ontario.

Mrs. Carson is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from female troubles.

Mrs. Court Nelson has returned to her home at Richardsville after spending the week end with Mrs. Herbert Gaudin.

COMING BACK TO NEW BRUNSWICK

Montreal Despatch to Fredericton Gleaner Says Baxter Failed at Ottawa

Montreal, Nov. 15.—Hon. J. B. M. Baxter's days in Federal politics are numbered, according to apparently well authenticated reports which are going the rounds of political circles. The certainty is that before the next general elections he will be back in provincial politics in New Brunswick again as leader of the Conservative Opposition party in that Province.

While Mr. Baxter's return to provincial politics in New Brunswick will be camouflaged to make it appear that he is being "called," the facts are that his exit from the Federal field is the result of his failure to measure up to the required standard. He failed to broaden out when he got to Ottawa and, in addition to that, he is blamed for much of the intrigue against Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, the conservative leader.

In other words Mr. Baxter's so-called "Maritime Rights" campaign has raised so much trouble within the Conservative party, has operated so strongly against the possibility of success of the party and has proven such an obstacle towards consolidating the Federal party that Mr. Baxter has simply got to go. And the programme is for him to go back to provincial politics.

I AM THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

(By Bristow Adams)

I am the Country Newspaper. I am the friend of the family, the bringer of tidings from other friends. I speak to the home in the evening light of summer's vineclad porch or the glow of winter's lamp.

I help to make this evening hour; I record the great and the small, the varied acts of the days and weeks that go to make up life.

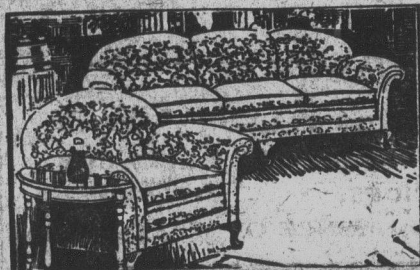

I am for and of the home; I follow those who leave the humble beginnings whether they go to greatness or to the gutter, I take to them the thrill of old days, with wholesome messages.

I speak the language of the common man; my words are fitted to his understanding. My congregation is larger than that of any church in my town; my readers are more than those in the school. Young and old alike find in me stimulation, instruction, entertainment, inspiration, solace, comfort. I am the chronicler of birth, and love and death—the great facts of man's existence.

I bring together buyer and seller, to the benefit of both, I am part of the market place of the world. Into the home I carry word of the goods which feed and clothe and shelter, and which minister to comfort, ease and happiness.

I am the word of the week, the history of the year, the record of my community, in the archives of community and nation.

Coal-Tar Marvels
Coal-Tar, a cheap by-product of the manufacture of illuminating gas, is a rather nasty substance, and very unattractive to see. However if "hand-some" is as handsome does it is much to be admired.

Delightful perfumes, such as "white heliotrope," are obtained from it; likewise numerous valuable medicinal drugs, carbolic acid, naphthalene for mothballs and a whole rainbow of wonderful dyes.

Coal-tar, being derived by distillation from coal, must be recognized as a substance of plant origin. It is an exceedingly complex organic substance and for that reason serves admirably the purposes of the chemist, who splits it up into a number of things, splits those again, and so on, finally resolving the stuff into an amazing variety of products.

Ninety-nine years ago Michael Faraday extracted benzene from coal-tar, and finding that it had the property of dissolving fats, recommended it for taking out grease spots. Half a century later a young chemist named Perkins, endeavoring to obtain an artificial quinine by treating benzene with nitric acid was surprised to discover that his process yielded in quantity the product we call aniline, which is the source of innumerable dyes.

Naphthalene—the mothball material yields some of the most beautiful colors, from buttercup yellow to pinks, greens and scarlets.

Anthracene, another coal-tar product is a cheap source of "turkey red," a color supplied up to 1868 by the root of the madder plant. That discovery put madder-growing out of business, and revolutionized the dyeing and calico-printing industries.

SHOT A HOLE IN HIS PANTS
In apparent good faith an English newspaper prints the following: James Bronson pulled a revolver from under his pillow and blazed away at what he imagined was a burglar in his room and investigation proved that he had shot a hole through his own trousers hanging on the chair. All that saved him from killing himself was that he had removed his trousers before going to bed.

"MET TOM TODAY, NELLIE." Tom was the man Nellie had refused. Nellie: "Did you tell him I was married?"

"Yes." And did he seem sorry? "Yes," he said he was sorry, although he didn't know the man personally."

The Very Best Way
There is only one way to be getting along with your task if you don't mean to lose it.

"Go to it at brightly, with laughter and song, / 'Tis to climb o'er its obstacles cheery and strong— / That's the very best way you can do it."

There is only one way you can keep up your end
When a cloud comes, and you must go through it.

'Tis to gather fair Courage, and make him your friend;
'Tis to spare no exertion, but all your might lend—
That's the very best way you can do it
There is only one way to the land of Success,
If you aim and desire to win it;
'Tis to know what your goal is, and onward to press,
'Tis to shirk no cowardice ne'er to confess—
That's the very best way you can do it

"Yes," said the principal of the young ladies' school to the proud parent. "You ought to be proud to be the father of such a large family, all the members of which appear to be devoted to one another."

"Large family! Devoted!" gasped the old man in amazement. "What on earth do you mean?"

"Why, yes, indeed," said the principal, beaming through her glasses, "no fewer than eleven of Doris's brothers have been here to take her out for walks, and she tells me she expects the tall one with the blue eyes again tomorrow."

"MET TOM TODAY, NELLIE." Tom was the man Nellie had refused. Nellie: "Did you tell him I was married?"

"Indeed, sir!" replied the waiter. "Where did you sit?"

"By the window," answered the customer.

"Oh, that explains it!" said the waiter. "We always give the people at the window a large helping. It's a good advertisement!"
