FIFTH CELEBRATION ENDS

TTENDANCE GREATER THAN EV ER WAS THE CASE BEFORE-A BATTLE OF CONFETTI-NOTES OF SOME OF THE EXHIBITS.

Although the fair proper closed or Friday night, there was a good crowd on the grounds yesterday afternoon and particularly in the evening, to witness the horse races, the Nat Reiss attrac-tions and the fancy dress carnival and other jollity.

The scene in the evening was very pretty and about 11 o'clock the fifth annual Nelson fair came to an end in a blaze of glory.
Outside of the Reiss attractions yes terday the only sports in the afternoon were two horse races the drilling con-test spoken of not materializing. The first event was a consolation race n which the entries were Weazle Brown, the Fort Steele horse ridden by Indian Pete, Peach, a Cranbrook entry and the two local horses Kirk and Mandy. To the delight of the crowd Indian Pete won both heats and the race, Kirk taking second money. other race was a matched event tween Actress and Alice, a quarter mile dash. Actress won by a short length, it being an exceedingly close race from start to finish. Owing to the press of general exhibi-tion matter and of the intrusion of local incidents not connected with the fair but scant notice has been taken of the really excellent flower display Owing to the weather conditions in August and the first half of the pres-ent month, local flower growers were discouraged and a special effort had to be made to induce some of them to come to the rescue of the fair manage-

J. T. Bealby's display of dahlias from his Bonnington ranch, adjoining that of J. J. Campbell, was the leading feature of the flower show. The dahlia a splendid sample of what the soi hereabouts can produce. Mr. Bealby stated that when he came to the ranch in March last he put the dahlias in the virgin soil and is delighted with the Mrs. Wm. Rutherford's display of astors was a beautiful one and won that lady many prizes and many compliments from flower lovers who visit the fair. The general display made by Mrs. D. C. McMorris, wife of the genial fair secretary, was another exhibit worthy of special mention and it is ris carried off several awards, More than the hearty thanks of the fair di-rectors are due to those who aided in making the flower show this year what it was, under very trying conditions.

Owing to causes already mentioned

There was a much larger crowd in the evening upon the grounds than was by the battle of the confetti. Ontsi of that battle there were not many atin front of the grand stand by the car nival company which, although intro-ducing some novel features, were shorter than usual. These were followed at a later hour by some wrestling on horseback between a couple of Indians which held the crowd very well. But after all the chief attraction was the animated scene upon the Midway where between 1,500 and 2.000 adults and voungsters, some masked and some unmasked marched backward and forward throwing confetti, going into the sideshows and generally amusing themselves. Nor did the crowd tire gan to thin out. The maskers were not at all remarkable although there were

Regarding the proposed Petty Debts court in Manitoba, Mr. Pettypiece said: "I just want to say this: That in British Columbia we will have that wretched act removed. There was never such a law of petry bourgeois meanness enacted for the purpose of enabling these people to put workmen in prison because they owe a few dollars. Let the state bank look after itself and the petty bourgeois look after themselves. That is what we have to do." Mr. Boulnois: "Would that make the

The fourth annual convention of the Alberta and eastern British Columbia press assolcation terminated with a long session on the steamer Kuskanook yesterday afternoon, the delegates being en route from Cranbrook to Calgary, Much of the time of this closing session was taken up with the discussion of ques ting the business interests of publishers, and steps were taken lookng to the formulation of plans that will unite the publishers of the west in mutual efforts for the protection of their business interests. In particular atten-tion was paid to the foreign advertising question and the best methods of protecting publishers from the agency "graft." An important progressive move made in arranging that the secretary of the association should hereafter act on behalf of all publishers, mem-bers of the association, in cases of fraud and non-payment of accounts by advertising agencies. It is hoped that hereafter the frauds too frequently worked upon the unsuspecting publishers by mushroom agencies will be prevented. Among other resolutions of interest to publishers the following of special moent were adopted:

eastern British Columbia covers a territory in which it is daily becoming more necessary that there be efficient dissemination of views and thoughts oyal to the dominion and empire, a necessity occasioned more particularly by the immigration of persons of all nationalities; and whereas such views and thoughts properly seminated must assist most materially in the rapid development of such territory on lines tending to promote a fit and proper na-

The foregoing resolution was duly printed on handsome cards and signed by all in attendance at the convention forming a very pleasing souvenir of a most enjoyable and profitable gathering. The steamer Kuskanook with the visiting newspapermen on board arrived at Nelson just in time to catch the train for Robson, so that the visitors from Alberta were unable to see anything of the city. However, they will all be here next year for the fifth annual convention, which is to be held in this city, at a date to be fixed by the executive which will likely coincide with the date of the fruit fair. The Albertan editors were delighted with what they saw of British Columbia and certainly carried away with them the kindlest feelings the Cranbrook section of the province. The hospitality of the citizens of Cranbrook was something to be marvelled at. Apparently the whole town was out to do honor to the visitors and make them feel at home, "Old Man" Simpson, the retiring president of the association, had aroused an interest and an enthusiasm over the press conven-tion that seemed to have affected every resident of the town. It did not requir the kindly assurances of alderman Fink, that the press men owned the town during their stay within its limits, that was made obvious immediately upon alighting from the train, where large reception committees welcomed visitors and at once set about giving them a good time. A very noteworthy and commendable feature of the arrangements was the care taken to entertain the ladies, many of the editors being accompanied by their wives. Some of the lady visitors, who were attracted by the fine up-to-date stores Cranbrook esses, started out to do a little shopping and were pleasantly embarrassed by the refusal of storekeepers to accept payment for goods selected. It appeared

SECOND MIL

After talk for years as to the McGoldr ck mill, the site for which was bought many months ago just beyond Fairview, a new mill is to go up in Nelson which is not to be built at Farview nor it is to be erected by Mr. McGoldrick, who talks of building in the spring. If he does there will be three milks right in the city. The new milk is to be erected on the C.P.R. flats, between the C.P.R. wharf and the launch club, and is to be built by John Dewar for the Porto Rico company. The matter has been talked of for some time and negotiations have beer going on all through the summer, and even now, although every-thing is practically settled, yet there are one or two manor points which will require

The new mill will have a capacity of about 45,000 feet daily and has a future before it of several years. This is easily seen when it is stated that the lim to nos sessed b ythe mill owners are conservative estimated at 100 million feet. These limits are situated up 6-M le, Grey and La France creeks. Just now there is nothing being done on either of the two latter but on 6-Mile a camp has been established and the logs will be brought down during the winter to the lake and floated into Nelson. The other timber limits are being held in reserve for the present there being quite a bunch of timber up 6-Mile creek, which will keep the mill pretty busy for some time to come. It is imperative that work shall start at once and A. McPherson has been arranged with to drive some 800 piles at once on the site. It is proposed that the mil itself shall be built on piles. The new mill means something to the city inasmuch as there will be a payroll of a considerable amount connected with the mil. About 40 men will be employed in Nelson and about 60 more will be necessary in the outside camps. On learning of the impending building of the mill a Dally News man called on Mr. Dewar, who at once admitted that the project was in the air and that he had seen Mr. McPherson as to the nile driving but was reticient, claiming that some part of the deal had not as yet been put

COMMERCIAL CONDITIONS

SIR WILLIAM VAN HORNE TAKES OPTIMISTIC VIEW.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN TRADE CAUSE OF TIGHT MONEY.

New York, Sept, 17.—Two prominent capitalists interviewed here as to the present financial and commercial conditions and possible troubles ahead, think asike that there is no cause for uneasiness. Sir William Van Horne, chairman of Sir William Van Horne, chalrman of the beard of directors of the Canadian Pacific railway, said: "The time has come when Wall street can no longer ignore the great presperity that pre-valls throughout North America. Bus-iness will go ahead, Wall street not-withstanding. Of course, it is easy to predict anything. Tight money might be the result of two things: It might come from lack of credit or because of come from lack of credit or because of the active conditions the great activity in trade, the present tightness is caused by the latter condition but it is not hurting anybody."

Richard C. Kerns the St. Louis financier said: "A year ago the country was at the flood tide of its greatest industrial prosperity. Then comes a searcity of labor followed by stringent money conditions and depression in building and kindred enterprises. But this should not be called a depression. It is generally believed in the west that the worst has been passed for this season. An all important consideration however, is the crops. A few weeks more of favorable weather and a bumper corn crop will be assured. The yield of other cereals has been fair. Ample or other cereais has been lan. All the money to move the corn crop seems to be forthcoming. Therefore it may well be concluded that there will be nothing

IN ONE FOLD

Toronto, Sept. 17.—The joint committee on church union concluded its labor last night, but will have to meet again next year. A resolution was passed to this effect,

"The practical unanimity in the decision of the committee affords a fair prospect that in due time, the matters in hand may be submitted by the vain nane may be summed by the va-rious churches under their constitution and usages to their people and their courts for their consideration. We are persuaded that decidedly substantial progress has been made toward the end in view and that such solutions of difficult problems have been found, so far as we have pursued our work, that a firm conviction is felt that the proposed union appears to be practicable.

"When we consider the difficulties and perplexities that must be expected and perplexities that must be expected to arise in an effort to bring into one, systems so various and of so long standing, we may well be gratified at the unanimity which has been obtained. The question of coetrine, the different policies and modes of administration, of the tenure of property, of the benevolent funds, especially such as the aged ministers' and widows' funds; the publishing interests; the college and publishing interests; the college and educational works; and the legislation necessary to give effect to the union and secure all the interests involved have heavily taxed our most experi-enced men and clearest thinkers and must continue to demand their utmos attention till satisfactory conclusions shall have been reached. Such kind-red questions which have arisen demand also the earnest and prayerful attention of all our people and the exercise of due patience, till the great work in the providence of God shall have been completed."

The fifth annual fruit fair of the Nelson Agricultural and industrial Association was duly declared open at 2 o'clock yesterday by Hon. R. G. Tatley, provincial minister of finance and minister of agriculture, he being preceded by a brief address from Hon. J. H. Turner, B. C. agent general in London. The sun shown out brightly and the attendance was satisfactorily large. The Nat Reise carnival company was delayed en route and the arrival on the ground by the company's baggage, tents, ed en route and the arrival on the ground by the company's bagage, tents, etc., during the early aftremoon caused some confusion and delayed the regular program a little. The full eeven act performance was carried out on the stage platform before the grand stand, afternoon and evening, and at night the afternoon and evening, and at night the carnival and side show attractions were in full swing.

The horse racing undoubtedly proved

The horse racing undoubtedly proved the star attraction on the grounds during the afternoon. There were many entries and the several heats resulted in close and exciting finishes.

For reasons given elsewhere, the firemen's races proved a disappointment, regretfully so to the onlookers and to every one connected with the sports. The display made in the main building of fruit, vegetables, flowers, and minerals is a most excellent and creditable one and when the disadvantages encountered by exhibitors owing to the cold, stormy, wet weather of the past six weeks are considered, the showing made in fruit and flowers is surprising beyond words. Not only is the display beyond words. Not only is the display in fruit and flowers probably the finest ever made here, but there is a distinct ever made here, but there is a distinct gain over past years in variety, and in the number of exhibits.

Want of space in this issue prohibits individual mention of exhibits, but to-morrow and again on Saturday detailed accounts will appear covering the chief display made in the main building, including a special article on the fruit exhibit, kindly contributed by Martin Pursul and a review of the splendid Burrell, and a review of the splendid mineral display as well as mention of the commercial exhibits.

The exhibition of 1907, speaking as to its horticultural side, marks another

The exhibition of 1907, speaking as to its horticultural side, marks another step in Kootenay's forward march. Some doubts were entertained as to a successful fruit exhibit on account of the very wet and cold season, but these doubts were dispelled on the first glance down the well-filled tables of the main building.

Exhibitors, and growers generally, are learning something every year by these shows, and one can readily recognize the effect of past exhibitions by noticing the desire to emphasize the commercial side of things in contradistinction to what one may call the great aim of these exhibitions should be to educate fruit growers on the question of variety-values, and the equally important question of packing. In connection with the former it may be well to point out that the rule of the association which demands the naming of all fruits exhibited is an eminently wise one, but it is not yet fully observed and was decidedly broken in the case of some of the district exhibits. Beginners naturally visit these shows to examine the character of the different varieties, and the examination its. Beginners naturally visit these shows to examine the character of the different varieties. different varieties, and the examination different varieties, and the examination is useless in many cases if plate after plate is unnamed. The rule should be strictly enforced. Another suggestion might be made, viz, that all well-established varieties of merit should be included in the prize list. Thus in the any other variety class of fall apples the well-known McMahan White captured the prize a variety much more season the coloring of the fruit was remarkably good, and, with the excep-tion of some of the later varieties, all fruits were well developed and excep-tionally clean. Without an actual ref-erence to the entry books it may be hard to speak positively in comparing this exhibition with that of last year, but my impression is that the show is decidedly better, especially in apples. The district exhibits were certainly far in advance of last year. Less attention was paid to decoration and the arrangement in each case was thoroughly business-like, and such that the public could at a glance sum up the characte of the various exhibits. It seemed a oubtful matter at first whether the cup doubtful matter at first whether the cup would be carried off by district No. 4 (the south shore) or No. 6, the Grand Forks collection. The latter, however, was much stronger in apples, having 105 varieties of fruits in all and no les than 65 distinct varieties of apples, 55 of which were named. District 4, on the other hand was stronger in plums and pears and contained some fine fruit but there were many duplicates, espec ially in apples, and no doubt the judge took full cognizance of the fact.

The association was fortunate in having a judge who lays great stress arcial values, and it was evident that in many cases the prize were awarded because the specimens were uniform. Beginners have an irrestible desire to include some particularly large specimen, even if accompanied by four smaller companions on panied by four smaller companions on the same plate. It is a fatal mistake. If the size of the specimens is normal and the coloring fairly good then uni-formity should be the great considera-tion. Other exhibitors have a playful way of pulling the stalks out of their fruit, done apparently in some cases to fruit, done apparently in some cases to enable the apple to "sit up." The stalk is a permanent and characteristic fea-ture of the fruit and in some cases is actually necessary in determining the variety. Other things being equal the these things, however, are being borne in mind, and one can only congratu-late Kootenay growers on the immense work generally.

In regard to the various classes, Astrachans and Yellow Transparents were a fine lot, and in splendid condition. The first prize plate of Astrachans came from Kaslo and were maress were not quite up to last year's standard. Leading varieties such as standard. Leading varieties such as Spy. Baldwin, Wagener, Ontario, Mc-Intosh, were well represented, the Baldwins and Ontarios being particularly good. C. W. Busk had a good plate, the only one, of Spitzenburghs. Mr. Busk also had a splendid plate of Early Crawford peaches which easily won a first. Amongst the winners of many prizes were J. McPhee, J. Hyslop, Jas. Johnstone, J. J. Campbell, F. M. Black and other well-known exhibitors. Crab apples were a good class, the Crab apples were a good class, the Hyslops and Marthas being particular-ly worthy of mention. The showing in grapes again demonstrated the doubtful character of this branch of fruit growing. Campbell's Eanly and Moore's Diamond were none too ripe while later varieties, such as the Concord, hardly showed a trace of color A man who embarks in grape culture must be prepared to expect some sea-sons when the bulk of his crop will nexer ripen. Plums were good, though in some respects it has not been a good season for plums, the constant rains causing a good deal of splitting of the fruit, noticeably with varieties of the Japanese type. Burbanks, Ponds Seedlings and Bradshaws were well represented.

Special prizes were offered for the six biggest apples and it is not a little amusing to note how big a man's own looks to him till he gets down to actual facts. One exhibitor was emphatic as to the superior weight of his own fatto the superior weight of his own fat-looking six specimens. The judge, how-ever, didn't intend to be caught in any l'snags." and promptly weighed the competing plates, when akas! for our friend, his unhappy six fell three quar-ters of a pound short of his rival's half ters of a pound short of his rival's half dozen.

There was a lamentable absence of competition for the Dominion Express Co's trophy, and the cup was withheld. Another year or so when more orchards are in bearing matters will be different. For the same cause one noticed a weakness in the entries of fruit packed for shipment. There is much to learn along this line and we do not doubt that it will be quickly learned. The essential thing in packing is firmness of the whole package. Not a specimen should be loose in the whole box. Wholesale buyers fight shy of "slack" packages and, no matter how excellent the fruit, "slack" packing will kill everything else. Exhibitors like F. M. Black, J. Hyslop and others who have learned Hyslop and others who have learned this by experience had the best exam-ples of packing, but all of us can learn something by these competitions.

Jas. Johnstone's exhibit carried off Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's cup, but one imagines it was a tight race with Mr. Hyslop's collection which was very well arranged, and contained a superior exhibit of fruit. While Mr. Hyslop, however, was "long" on fruit, he was "short" on milk, honey rabbits and other products of the farm, if rabbits inay be so classed. Mr. Hulbert's collection, which ranked third, had also lection, which ranked third, had also a capital collection of fruit. It is a big undertaking to enter a competition of this kind and while congratulating the indefatigable winner of the cup, one also congratulates the two other exhibitors on their meritorious displays.

Amongst other things in the fruit section was an excellent little collection of fruit shown by the Kettle Valley Irrigated Fruit Lands Co. of Mid-tion of fruit shown by the Kettle Valley Irrigated Fruit Lands Co. of Midway.

Take it on the whole Nelson may be thoroughly congratulated on the horticultural exhibit of this year. The fair is an institution now. It has come to stay, and there is a large field of usefulness ahead of it if attention is paid to the educational side, and it is abundantly plain that Nelson people are realising that a good yearly exhibition carried on along the right lifes is of immense assistance in the well-known McMahan white captured the prize, a variety much more deserving of a class to itself than some of the less known, and less desirable, sorts which were allowed a separate class.

SHAUGHNESSY CUP

The Shaughnessy cup, the great feature of the fall fair was adjudged yesterday t James Johnstone, who had really an in-teresting exhibit. The Shaughnessy cup is awarded for the best collection of produce from any one ranch, and includes an ex hibit of all the various products of a ranch There were but three entries, those made by the winner, by John Hyslop, who took second prize and by R. W. Hufburt, whose exhibit was highly commended. Indeed the exhibit of the last named won the highest amount of marks of any in fruit alone. It was when it came to field and garden produce that Mr. Hulburts' competi tors beat him. The points awarded in this competition by the judges, who were those for the fruit and the vegetables and farm produce sections of the fair, are as follows: Johnstone-Farm produce, 40; garden pr duce, 85, and fruit, 50; total, 175. Hyslop—Farm produce, 35; garden produce, 50, and fruits, 70; total, 155.

Hurburt-Farm produce, nil; garden pro luce, 25; fruit, 80; total, 105. The judges recommended Mr. Hulburt's exhibit for a special prize. It will be see that Mr. Johnstone won out on his garder produce on which he received more point than both of his competitors together.

DISTRICT PRIZE

The second important prize, that of th district display, went to Grand Forks. Dis trict No. 3, which won the prize last year was not even second, the second prize going to district No. 4. which was in charge of F. J. Sammons and J. W. Ford, who meant business and ran Grand Forks very close. The points of the competitors wer as follows: Grand Forks, apples 332, against 253 for district No. 4, and 210 for district No. 3; pears, 39, against 52 and 68; crab being equal the business will exhibit. All being being being and second cherries 0, 0, 5; apricots 0, 0, 5. The total progress they have made in exhibition of the Grand Forks exhibit lay in its splendid collection of apples which scored 70 No. 3, last year's winner. In grapes also Grand Forks had a lead of 11 more than No. 4 and 1 more than No. 3; in everything else it was behind. In plums it was badis more than it did. On the other hand it had a fead of 4 points over No. 3. No. 4's strong point was plums and No. 3 had both and peaches.

The success of Grand Forks was no sur-Popularly the south side is not supposed to ter of fact it has less land, except at the Prooter end and moreover has been less settled. The record made this year is some token of what has been accomplished in

The other districts made no exhibit, which is a pity as visitors to the fair from the prairies naturally went away with the 'm-pression that the distrets represented were the only districts which grew fruit to any extent. This is a pity as the Kaslo di trict, that around Trail and along the Arrow lakes are rapidly growing in impostrongest district is possibly the north side of the Arm, but this year, nevertheless, as rivals.

Yesterday a warrant was sworn out against William Jewell, C.P.R. conductor, charging him with assaulting Jack Bunyan the previous evening. Jewell went over to Eholt in the morning on his regular run and will either be served there or Alex. Fife is brought into the general comment, he being charged with aiding Jewell.

it is anticipated that the whole matter will be gone into from start to finish. Only a portion of the facts have so far been made public and it is believed now that facts, which should have been before the police commissioners, had those officials gone carefully into matters, will now be placed on record, as the assault on Friday evenong series of events.

The whole affair is said to date back to a night. Later on in the Nelson cafe a se-cond scene occurred, in which a govern-ment official—not Jack Bunyan—a rancher, and Jewell played a leading part. Jewell

NELOSN IS WITHOUT POLICE BOARD SUMMARILY DISCHARGE YOUNG AND MOBEATH.

CHIEF AND SERGEANT HAND IN THEIR RESIGNATIONS. Nelson is without a police force commissioners, the mayor, J. E. Anna-ole and William Irvine have dismissed constables Young and McBeath, and chief Arthur Pitchford and sergeant James Wightman have resigned.

In view of what the chief and the sergeant think is their duty to the citizens of Nelson whom they have served faithfully for six and four years respectively, they have consented to re-main on duty, dding-double duty, until Tuesday or Wediesday next, by which time the commissioners will hold another meeting, The position taken at their meeting last night by the three commissioners was, that as police magistrate Crease had fined both Bunyan and Madson, it was the bounden duty of Young and McBeath to have arrested both men on the morning of the 19th and the failure to do this was a sufficient ground for the summary dismissal of both officers. When the board met last evening there was a brief private conference and then mayor Gillett announced an open ses-

The mayor said the result of the trial before Mr .Crease that morning showed that both men should have been arresters to say whether his, the mayor's, action should be sustained Messrs Irvine and Annable declared they were entirely in accord with the mayor, and this was the next step taken. Moved by J. E. Annable, seconded by William Irvine, that the action of the which may remain the action of the mayor in suspending police constables Young and MBceath be sustained and that the suspension be made permanent, that their places be filled temporarily by the mayor and that the city clerk advertise for applicants to fill the vacancies. The resolution carried unanimously, the best of the property of the control of and then chief Arthur Pitchford, displaying a great deal of emotion, stepped up to the mayor and said: "Your worship, I beg to tender my resignation. When the commissioners will not give us reasonable support I think it is time to resign. Here is my badge and I want to say that had I been on duty in the place of Young and Mo.

have done exactly as they did." Sergeant Wightman followed suit, saying: "I have done my duty for the past four years and my record will speak for itself. I would like to guit now tions be at once accepted but he lacked

The mayor asked the officers if they would remain on duty for a few "I have served the citizens to the bes of my ability for the past six years," said the chief feelingly. "I'm not going to the chief feelingly. "I'm not going to quit them now. For the sake of the public I will serve for a few days. The sergeant reluctantly followed his chief. "I have been 24 hours on shift," he said slowly, "but as a duty to the public, I'll go on until Tuesday night." A general conversation followed ween the commissioners and the two officers, in which incidentally the men pointed out, that many times in the past where a street scrap had arisen between two men, one noisy and un-der the influence of liquor and the other sober and comparatively quiet, the noisy man was run in and kept out of harm's way and when neces other man summoned to appear next This was Pitchford's justification le and he added, when for his attitude and he added, whe pressed to do so, that admitting Mo

McBeath had been previously called n and asked if he had anything to say the replied that Madson was sober while Bunyan was not and only one blow passed. He had used his own judgment in taking Bunyan off. The other man could have been got at any time. The commissioners did not call on constable Young at all, although he was Pitchford, who has been doing double duty for the past 36 hours, went on again last night. Wightman stated, like his chief, that he would have done exactly as McBeath and Young did, had he been in their

Both the acting officers have unim-peachable records, for personal bravery, good conduct and attention to duty. CERTIFICATE OF THE REGISTRATION OF AN EXTRA-PROVINCIAL
