*Caused by a Candle.

PARIS, Feb. 11.-A workman upset a amp at 10 o'clock this morning in Vilmorin & Andrieux's seed store, in the Rue de Reuilly. The store caught fire, but firemen put out the flames before they reached any of the large receptacles of oil kept in the building. Afterwards the firemen went through the building to ascertain whether any sparks had been left. They carried safety lamps, but the workmen who aided them had candles. A workman inadvertently struck his candle against a receptacle containing 600 litres of oil. An explosion followed, and ten firemen and seventeen workmen were thrown to the floor and more or less burned Fire Sergeant Bochat was killed instantly, and his body was burned to a crisp. The fireman who stood beside him when the explosion occurred was so badly burned that he died a few hours later. The eight other firemen and the seventeen workmen suffered severe injuries, which in zeveral cases are likely to result in death.

Conservatives Will Nominate a Candidate on March 24.

Those Asked to Stand Are Richard Tooley, M.P.P., Peter Elson, James Gilmour, Richard Whetter, J. W. Ferguson, Thomas Duffin, Thomas Robson and John Abray.

The Conservative electors of East Middlesex held another meeting on Saturday afternoon to discuss the ways and means of holding a conventiou at which to bring out a candidate for the Local House. Saturday, March 24, was named as the day on which to hold the convention. This was agreed to.

Richard Tooley, M.P.P., put in a decided. ly long "spoke" for the East Middlesex nomination. It was ornamented by many "Then, sirs," and "Now, gentlemen," and in it the speaker fought all his battles o'er again, dwelling in fiendish glee on each mutilated scalp, while high above all Richard's elastic imagination scared, bright with vain hopes for the future, contented with the past. The first half of Mr. Tooley's speech was marked by the persistency with which he reiterated the statement that none but a tiller of the soil should have the honor of representing East Mid.

"Matters are now taking a very peculiar shape in elections," said Mr. Tooley. "We have the Patrons of Industry, we have the P. P. A. I don't think that we are here to-day to consider or discuss the views of these societies; what we are here to-day to discuss is, whether the views of our present leader, W. R. Meredith, are in accord with your views or not? That is a point which I wish you to take into your most serious consideration. The Patrons of Industry's platform almost covers the whole thing. ### FINED $50.

For Not Permitting a Constable to Enter a Barroom.

In Morgan vs. Black-An Appeal to be Made-Other Police Court Cases.

An important decision was given in the Police Court this morning. It was in the case of Morgan vs. Black, in which the latter is said to have 'unlawfully and wilfully" interfered with a constable, Acting-Sergt. Morgan, in the discharge of assigned duty. James Black the defendant was fined $50 or three months in jail. The facts of the affair will be readily recalled. Morgan visited the London House at Il o'clock on a recent Sunday morning. He was in plain clothes, and did not have a badge to distinguish him as a constable on duty. Morgan admitted in his evidence that "everything was right in the barroom." But he wanted to get into the bar, just the same. Black, who is employed by Mr. Humpidge, proprietor of the hotel. objected to admitting him. Morgan stated that he did not, at this time, disclose his name, official character or business, but simply informed the occupants of the barroom that they knew him. The bartender, however, said he didn't. Mergan swore, later on, that he did not know whether the occupants, who were Black and the porter, knew him or not. Mr. Love, Black's lawyer, said that it was clearly the right—the bounden duty of Black to exclude Morgan from the barroom as he did.

Morgan swore, when the evidence was being taken some weeks ago, that at the time Black pushed him back, he had not revealed his identity, and that, after this, he made no further attempt to go in. He then asked that Mr. Humpidge be brought down to identify him. This gentleman, though, did not know Morgan as a constable either. When Morgan told him who he was Mr. Humpidge invited him to enter the barroom. This the latter would not do. Morgan admitted to Humpidge at the police station afterwards that everything was right; "showing," Mr. Love stated, "that Morgan was aware that there was not the slightest necessity for his entrance into the bar-

The magistrate commended Mr. Love for his statement of his client's case, but thought the charge proven. Black was bailed out and an appeal will be made. Joseph Cake, charged with stealing a gun, was remanded for a week. Two r accusations have been laid against him by

STRUCK AT THE CROSSING. Wm, Delve Collides with a G. T. R. Train at Pottersburg-Taken to the Hospital-A Raging

Blizzard. Wm. Delve was struck by a Grand Trunk train at the asylum about 7:30 this morning while driving east in the teeth of the raging blizzard. Delve drives one of Cameron's coal and wood wagons and was going out M.P.P., as their candidate for the Legis. | to begin his day's work hauling coal from the siding at the platform where the trains on the Stratford branch stop when the brakeman puts his head in the door and cries "Pottersburg!" A companion was on ahead, and Delve was right on the track when he heard a shout of warning. When he noticed the train he whipped up the horse, but before he got clear of the track the engine struck the latter part of the wagon and ground it to little pieces. Delve was thrown with the wreckage and the horse was knocked off his feet. The injured man was carried into Barnes' Hotel and made as comfortable as possible until the Patrons industry of West Kent as the ambulance arrived. He was then taken to the hospital and his injuries examined. They were not so serious as was at first supposed and were found to consist of a broken knee cap and a bruised and cut head. The former will take a long time to mind.

Delve's companion claims that the engine's bell was not ringing or the whistle blowing, but local railway men scoff at the idea. Driver Turton, they claim, has been over the line too often to make any such mistake. The fireman was Wm. Mc. Fadden. There is a cutting and crossing just west of the pottery that the usual signals have to be given for and then besides ringing for the Dundas street crossing the train hands have to whistle for the C. P. R. diamond crossing. The storm might have drowned the signal. Luckily the train was slowing up to stop about fifteen yards further on or the accident might have been more serious. Delve is a young single man, living at 294 Dundas street.

A Rush of American Tourists Expected -Lord Wolseley Superstitious-The Queen's Reception-Royal Family Notes.

LONDON, Feb. 12 .- It should be said that the suffering among the London poor is not so great as was expected. It has been about an average winter for the unemployed. There has been only about a week of severe weather, which fact has greatly mitigated suffering. Lord Wolseley's letter to the presiden of the Thirteen Club declining to attend their dinner will amaze the world. The distinguished general is as brimful of superstition as an old Scotch crone of two or three generations ago or the simplest of Irish peasant women. Oscar Wilde approached the superstitions which the Thirteen Club want to destroy like an æsthete, and in the spirit of one who cannot mix on too familiar a level of equality even with the herd of common cultivated men, but Lord Wolseley approaches it as a man whose blood will curdle or freeze within him at the sound of a rat at the lonely hour of midnight. A child of a poor woman in London died last week, practically of starvation. The case happened to come before the coroner, and it was proved that the mother had done her utmost to keep body and soul together. She had two children. She was the wife of a soldier in the Life Guards, but she married without the consent of the military authorities, and, therefore, she was not, as the saying is, "on the strength of the regiment," and according to the law of England her husband was not obliged to support her. When her pitiful story was told, the cold-blooded coroner said to her: You plead poverty, but you could easily have obtained a parish order. You see, your husband was not legally bound to support you, as you are not cognized as his wife.' This was more than the grief-stricken woman could stand, and she interrupted: But I am his wife. I have a certificate to prove that I was legally married to

The brutal coroner responded, "Yes, that may be so, but the military authorities do not recognize you. Peter Campbell, one of the early pioneers of the rownship of Lobo, died on Jan. 27 at the advanced age of 80 years. He was a native of Argyleshire, Scotland, being born on the banks of Loch Fyne, With his father's family he emigrated to Canada in 1831, and settled on a farm in the northern part of the township of Lobo, near what is now the vil-lage of Duncrief, but afterwards took up his death. Deceased hal seen the rise and progress of the township of Lobo from being a dense forest (the roads being Indian trails and sleigh paths, and the nearest neighbors being several miles away) so its present condition of advancement and presperity. The remains were interred in the Ivan cemetery. Rev. Mr. Lindsay, the pastor, preached the funeral sermon. The pall-bearers were his four sons and two sons-in-law. OXFORD.

A correspondent in the South Riding writes: The Conservatives in this vicinity are on the move in a quiet way. They betray an anxiety, however, to see a fight be-tween the Patrons and Liberals, so they can slip a candidate in the field at the last moment, knowing that as on former occasions, the Conservatives will stick together when the alarm is sounded. J. N. Chambers, of East Oxford, and Benjamin Hopkins, of Dereham, are spoken of as probable candidates. One well-known Tory was heard to remark that "he felt proud of the way J. N. Chambers stuck up for the old policy at the Farmers' Institute at Toronto on Feb. 7. He was a true protectionist at heart, although a tariff reformer when with the Patrons," he said with a knowing wink. LORD ABERDEEN AND THE HOUSE OF ICE.

Lord Aberdeen and his good wife enjoyed themselves very much at the Quebec winter carnival, and the Governor-General has written to Mr. Joly to say that he will tell the Queen all about it. The Hamilton Spectator implores his Excellency, "if he loves the people he is supposed to be ruling," to carefully conceal the fact that it is possible to build a house of ice in any part of Canada-even in Quebec-but to dwell on what he saw in the Canadian fruit line at the Chicago Fair.

We see no reason why Lord Aberdeen should conceal any part of the truth. He can write all about our splendid resources in agriculture and horticulture; he can say well as other Protestants, saw a good word for our clear-skied summers, and he need keep nothing back about our exhilarating winters. Even though it was possible to put up a house of ice in Quebec last week, the Governor-General can tell the old country people that while he was enjoying himself at the winter carnival there the British Columbians, in another part of Canada, were studying the formation of the early snowdrops; the farmers of the far Northwest were turning out their cattle to feed in the open air on the sweet herbage of the foothills; while midway between the east and the west, in this much-favored peninsula, nestled between two great lakes, the weather was so mild and balmy that the average schoolboy struck against wearing his overcoat to school, and housebuilding and other outdoor work proceeded without

The Governor-General can thus convince old world people-the Queen includedthat in this country the new comer has a choice of weather, even in winter time. He will be within the truth if he says that the sleighing season, albeit cold and crisp, is a most delightful period of the wear, and is needed to tone up the human system and to brace the spirits of the

There is no more disappointed people in Canada, taking them as a whole, than a community which is called upon to pass through the winter months without an ample period of sleighing, skating, curling and snowshoeing. The knowledge of these facts properly circulated in Great Britain will do no harm. Where Canada has been misrepresented in the past has been in the pictorial representations of winter scenes sent to the old country, which, without ample explanation, were liable to make the careless student believe that Canada is a snow and ice bound, comfortless country. We look to Lord Aberdeen-or rather to Lady Aberdeen, in her widely circulated and charming publication, "Onward and Upward"-to explode the idea that Canada's winter is not fully as enjoyable to the healthy person as is her summer. Both, indeed, in their season, are needed to produce the hardy, progressive Canadian race, who, wherever their lot may be cast, are able to hold their own with the best brains and muscles of the civilizations of the old and new worlds.

-There is a good field for the medical profession, so over-crowded in America, in he German Empire. That country, whose population is about 50,000,000, had 21,621 physicians in 1893, against 20,500 in 1892; that is an increase of 1,521. This makes about 4.37 doctors for every 10,000 inhabitants, but they are not equally divided throughout the empire; for in some regions there are not even two doctors for every 10.000 inhabitants, while in other districts there are 30 of them for the same number f population. SIR OLIVER MOWAT ON THE SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

Sir Oliver Mowat had a very enthusiastic of British fair play. reception from the electors of South Ontario when he visited Whitby last week. Sir Oliver represented the riding for nearly fifteen years, having been elected in three general elections, and in two bye-elections necessicated by his acceptance of Cabinet positions. It was a pleasure, therefore, to Sir Oliver to renew acquaintances with his former constituents, now so ably represented by Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, and the great mass meeting of electors were equally pleased to welcome the veteran Premier and to listen to one of the best addresses on public affairs that has ever been delivered in Ontario. The exposition displayed a breadth of grasp, a comprehensiveness of statement, an ability to master facts and figures which demonstrate that the Grand Old Man of Ontario has lost none of his old-time statesmanship with his advancing years. We purpose referring to this speech from time to time. Meanwhile, let us give a few remarks of the Premier upon the separate school question, and the attitude of parties in regard to it. Referring to the settlement of the separate school issue at Confederation Sir Oliver said: "On the subject of the schools the basis of the new system agreed to was that the dissentient schools of Lower Canada and the separate schools of Upper Canada should be left in possession of the legislation theretofore obtained, but that (subject to certain conditions) all future legislation on the subject of education should belong exclusively to the Legislature of each Province. This manifestly affords perfect security to the Protestants of Ontario, as there are five Protestants in Ontario to one Roman Catholic. Mr. Brown, the champion of Protestantism, in common with the other zealous opponents | to Kingston for a three years' term. The of separate schools 30 years ago, was delighted with this determination of the long and exciting controversy. The B. N. A. Act made impossible any further legislation in favor of separate schools or other Roman Catholic institutions and objects, except what the Protestants of Upper Canada should be willing to grant. Accordingly there has since been no legislation, not a particle, which was objected to at the time rom a Protestant standpoint.

"In a neech which I made in 1890 I was able to say, and without any attempt at contradiction having been since made from any quarter, that whatever legislation there had been in Ontario respecting separate schools had been passed with the concurrence of every member of the Legislature. Protestant as well as Catholic, Conservative as well as Reformer, and without a word of objection from anyone outside the House; not from one church or congregation, not from one society, not from one individual, clerical or lay. Most of the legislation took place while Mr. Brown was alive, and he, as legislation. Rev. Dr. Ryerson, for so many years superintendent of education, and still interested in the work, suggested no objection. It was not until the electioneering 'No-Popery' cry was afterwards raised that objections were suggested; and. more or less excitement having been got up, these objections were made or repeated by honest Protestants as well as others. I think many of those objections arose from misapprehending the meaning of the enactments or greatly exaggerating the effect of them."

Below will be found the provisions of the act passed in 1867 by the Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland, under which the Catholic separate schools of Ontario and the 900 Protestant separate schools of Quebec had their rights to exist guaranteed:

"93. In and for each Province the Legislature may exclusively make laws in relation to education, subject and according to the following provisions: "I Nothing in any such law shall prejudicially affect any right or privilege with respect to denominational schools which any class of persons have by law in the Province

"2. All the powers, privileges and duties at the union by law conferred and imposed in Upper Canada on the separate schools and school trustees of the Queen's Roman Catholic schools shall be and the same are hereby extended to the dissident schools of the Queen's Protestant and Roman Catholic subjects in Quebec.'

This makes it plain that while the Imperial Act is unrepealed by the British Parliament Catholic separate schools in Ontario and Protestant separate schools in Quebec cannot be abolished, even though the Provincial Legislature might vote unanimously in favor of such abolition.

Sir Oliver further showed the falsity of outcries in this unequivocal statement: "Since last election it is not pretended that there has been any legislation which was objectionable from a Protestant stand. point. It was alleged also that Roman Catholics had an excessive share of the ffices in the gift of the Government. An official paper, which was recently published giving the actual number of Roman Catholics and Protestants respectively in every department, showed the groundlessness of that notion, demonstrating that they had fewer offices and received in the aggregate for salaries less than their proportionate numbers. In the present agitation the contention is that Roman Catholics should be excluded from the Legislature and from municipal office and from public employment. That was not the view of the great Liberal leaders of the past, nor of the Protestants of the Province in their time. On the contrary, four years after Confederation had gone into effect we find Mr. Brown making this statement: "I believe it is the universal feeling of Protestant Reformers throughout Ontario -now that French-Canadian interference in our affairs has been brought to an end, now that the Protestant majority is completely dominant in our Province and the Catholics placed, by their scattered position, at disadvantage-that it is the incumbent duty of the Reform party, dictated as well by their most cherished principles as by justice and good policy, that a full share of parliamentary representation, according to their numbers, and generous consideration in all public matters, should be awarded to the Catholic minority."" The boycott of any section of the community because of their religious or social preference, is as foreign to Liberal principles to-day as it was in the days of Hon. George Brown and Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, The Administration of Sir Oliver Mowat law for all?

deserves support if for no other virtue than the upholding of the cardinal virtue

PILING UP THE DEBT. The net debt of the Dominion on Jan. 31 last was $241,972,351. The net debt on June 30, 1878-the year in which the Liberal Government was replaced by the Conservatives-was $140,362,069; ten years later, in 1888, it had increased to $234,531, 358, and now it is over $7,000,000 greater than it was five and a half years ago. And this despite the enormously high taxes collected by the Administration on necessaries of life consumed by the people. Let the same crowd get control of Ontario's resources and where would the Province be a few years from now?

DEATH OF REV. DR. DOUGLAS. The ADVERTISER of Saturday evening contained the intelligence that Rev. Dr. Douglas, principal of the Montreal Wesleyan College, had died that afternoon, after several months of serious illness, the immediate cause of which was an attack of grip, which, in his enfeebled condition, he was unable to throw off.

Dr. Douglas was born in Scotland in 1825, and his early religious training was in the Presbyterian Church, but on coming to Canada he allied himself with the Methodist body, and was received into its ministry in Melbourne, Que., in 1848. He left that place in 1849 to try and build up his none too robust constitution in the Bermuda Islands. There he remained till the latter part of 1850, when, failing to regain his strength, he returned home and withdrew from the ministry for a year. In 1852 he was stationed in Montreal, remaining till 1854, when he was transferred next three years he was pastor of the chief Methodist church in Toronto, going from there to Hamilton, in which city he was stationed till 1863. Then he was transferred to Montreal, where he has ever since resided. In 1873 Dr. Douglas was appointed to the principalship of the Wesleyan College in Montreal and professor of theology in the same institution. He has been a member of all the general conferences of the Methodist Church in Canada, and in 1879 he was elevated to the distinguished position of president of the General Conference, held that year in Montreal. He was a delegate to the first Methodist Conference in London, Eng.,

as an able, fearless and elequent preacher, not only throughout Canada, but in the United States and Great Britain. He was an orator in every sense of the word, and tew speakers could more effectively retain the attention and enlist sympathy and enthusiasm. His mental grasp of all subjects. whether pertaining specially to the pulpi or of a moral or political character, was wonderful, when we take into consideration the fact that for many years his physical powers were, through some mysterious disease, in a state of paralysis. For years, too, he was stone blind. Despite this great affliction his mind remained clear till the last, and as opportunity offered he expressed his opinion in the pulpit, on the platform, and in correspondence to the press in terms the force of which could not be gainsaid. He was one of the chief movers in the equal rights agitation and he strongly opposed the Jesuits Estates Act passed by the Quebec Government. His scathing arraignment of Sir John Thompson was one of the sensational sequels of that vigorous campaign. By the death of Dr. Douglas the Methodist Church sustained a severe loss and the Canadian public and platform is deprived of one of its few orators. Why are the orators so scarce as to make the fact one for comment?

- "Sir Oliver Mowat had the effrontery to say 'Yes' to the prohibition question,' pertinently remarks the Toronto Telegram, 'when his friend the enemy wanted him to say something else."

THE "BRITISH GOLD" CRY.

A dispatch from New York says the Republican newspapers that during the last presidential campaign printed a sensational story in regard to the disbursement of an immense corruption fund raised in England for the free trade cause in America, are likely to suffer. Libel suits have been brought by Edward H. VanIngen against the Mail and Express, the Recorder, the Advertiser, the Press and Curtis H. Bond to recover damages for publishing, in 1892. statements to the effect that Mr. VanIngen was disbursing agent of a "Cobden Club corruption fund whereby British gold was to convert American voters to free trade." So the tactics of the high tax advocates are the same on both sides of the border. The only difference is that the newspaper libelers engaged by the monopolists in Canada alleged that leading Liberals were bribed by United States money to advocate policy of trade fredom that would have increased our business with the United States, the inference being that liberty to buy and sell would be beneficial to our neighbors and hurtful to us. Very stupid argument undoubtedly, but some took stock in it. Though nobody bothered themselves enough to sue the slanderers, they richly deserve to be stuck for substantial damages.

A syndicate of Toronto and Orillia capitalists intends to offer $30,000 to have the Corbett-Jackson fight take place at Strawberry Island, in Lake Simcoe.

RECORDS BROKEN. Boston, Feb. 11.—The fifth annual indoor handicap athletic meeting of the Boston Athletic Association was held last night in Mechanics' Hall. Sweeney, of Xavier, broke the indoor running high jump record of 6 feet 3 inches, held by himself, jumping 6 feet 31 inches. Bernard Doherty, Dorchester Athletic Club, also broke a world's indoor record. In three standing jumps he covered 34 feet 6 inches, and the best previous record was made by M. W. Ford, of New York-34 feet 43 inches.

PUGS FAILED. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11 .- A rough and tumble street fight occurred Friday night, in which pugilists young Mitchell and Jack McAulifie played the prominent parts. Other actors in the scene were Ed Ziegler and John Fox, theatrical men, friends of McAulisse. Mitchell was kicked and pounded into insensibility. The police were called and proceeded to subdue Mc-Auliffe in a manner not in accordance with Marquis of Queensbery rules. All were arrested, but Mitchell was unable to appear

THE KID VS. GRIFFO. CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 11.—Geo. Lavigne, of Saginaw, Mich., known as the "Kid," and Grifto, the Australian featherweight champion, fought eight rounds at the Second Regiment armory last night. The Michigan lad had the best of the fight, but under the articles the referee was compelled to decide the contest a draw.

THE CUE. IVES DEFEATED BY SLOSSON. Boston, Feb. 11 .- The unexpected happened last night, and Siosson, the student, defeated Schaefer, the wizard, and Ives, the Napoleon, in the big triangular billiard match in Boston, carrying away $750 of the $1,500 stake. Schaefer will pocket $500 and Ives gets $250. The final game between Ives and Slosson was rather ordinary, and only twice or three times was therea ny brilliant work. The score:

Michigan Central Extension—Cases Before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council.

The Michigan Central Railroad has received permission from the railway committee for the extension of the Amhurst-

The railway committee of the Dominion Privy Council met on Friday. Among the cases dealt with was an application of the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway for an extension of time to complete two bridges ever the Canada Pacific Railway in the township of Nepean. Mr. Christie obtained an extension to the 1st of July. An adjournment of a week was agreed upon in the matter of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways by the Toronto Electric Railway Company. The matter of the building of a bridge over the tunnel cut at Sarnia and the opening of a new street as agreed between the Grand Trunk and the town was not settled when the committee adjourned. Mr. J. F. Lister, M.P., appeared for the town of Sarnia. A Bay City, Mich., telegram says: William Anderson, a brakeman on the Michigan Central Railroad, was crushed between two cars on the Vanderbilt branch, Sept. 16, 1892, and died from his injuries. His widow, who lives in West Bay City, brought suit in the Circuit Court of this county and on Saturday was awarded a verdict of $5,000 damages. POISON IN THE CUP!

Veterinary Surgeon Treats His Friends to Aconite in Mistake for Whisky.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 11 .- A case of accidental poisoning occurred at Roselle, and one of the victims is dead. P. H. Tracy, a merchant of Canaan, and president of the Canaan Lime Company, was on a business trip to New York. He went to Roselle to visit an old friend, Frederick Ward. They stopped at the office of N. B. Oakley, a veterinary surgeon. During a social chat Oakley went to his medicine closet and brought out a bottle supposed to contain whisky. Tracy swallowed the contents of his glass first and Oakley was the last to drink. No sooner had the latter taken a swallow of the liquid than he recognized the taste of aconite. Just then Tracy and Wood began to exhibit evidences of extreme pain, and Oakley told them of the error he had made. Tracy remained conscious for fifteen minutes and died in horrible agony.

Dominion Finances. (Associated Press Dispatch.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—The revenue for the month of January according to the official returns of the Finance Department amounted to $3,098,843, a decrease of $114,734 compared with the revenue for the month of January, 1893. The revenue for the seven months of the current year completed with the revenue for the corresponding period of the fiscal year 1892-93 shows a decrease of $358,048. The expenditure on account of the consolidated fund for the past seven months was $19.-391,899, as compared with the expenditure of $19,189,893 for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year, an increase of about $20,000. The capital account expenditure was $3,108.290.

KNOX'S GOOD TIME COMING. (Canada Presbyterian.) There has been a good deal of discussion among the Knox men during the last graduate session about the semi-centennial celebration which it is proposed to hold next autumn. The college began its existence on Nov. 5, 1844, but it has been thought by many that it would be well to have the celebration at the opening of the session during the first week of October. It has been suggested that on the Monday evening of that week a memorial sermon be preached in one of the city churches. For the forenoon of the following day a memorial service, chiefly devotional, is suggested, at which a brief history of the colege shall be read and thanks given for what the college has been enabled to accomplish. For the afternoon of that day a popular meeeting is spoken of, to be addressed by distinguished alumni. The names of Principal MacVicar, President Patton of Princeton, Dr. George Leslie McKay and Dr. Munro Gitson are mentioned in connection with this meeting. For the evening a social meeting to be held in the Pavilion is suggested. This meeting, when the refreshments are disposed of, is to be addressed by representative men such as the Governor-General, Sir Oliver Mowat, Geo. W. Ross and one representative from every college and university in Ontario. Of course nothing definite can be done until the committee that has the matter in charge meets, but the foregoing suggestions seem feasible and many of them may be adopted. Knox has never done much in the way of demonstrating, but her sons seem bound to have a good one this time.

Kindness sometimes kills, but it doesn't often kill the one who is kind.

-Little Susle McGill, the clever and talented dancer and singer, of this city, has been secured by the Twenty-Sixth Battalion Band of Sarnia to dance at their grand concert on Feb. 14. This is her second engagement at Sarnia within the last month. Little Susie is among the smartest of Miss Alice Galbraith's class of dancers, and is known as "the young predigy."-[Com. The Crossing Accident. Driver Turton told an ADVERTISER reporter this afternoon that not only was the bell ringing when the crossing was reached this morning, but the whistle signals had Assiduous practice for weeks has brought the London Choral Society to a stage sufficiently near perfection to appear in public, and on Thursday evening, at the Grand Opera House, a chorus of 100 will sing Mendelssohn's magnificent "Hymn of Praise." Mr. Roselle Pococke will conduct and will be assisted by an orchestra of 40 pieces. It will be the notable musical event this season. The disinterested efforts of the society, which cannot fail to have an elevating and educational effect, should be warmly encouraged by the public, as no doubt they will be. The sale of 500 or 600 tickets already assures a well-filled house. The outside soloists are: Mrs. Martin Murphy, of Hamilton, and Mr. Frederick Rogers, tenor, late of Chichester Cathedral, England-both capable artists. Wagner's "Spinning Song" will be given by the chorus in the first part. The plan of seats opens Tuesday morning at the box office.

Their Commander Resigns.

Lieut.-Col. Payne, commander of the Seventh Battalion, with which regiment he has been identified for the past nine years, has resigned. This action has been necessitated owing to the colonel's anticipated absence from the city, which, he told an ADVERTISER reporter, will render it impossible for him to give the requisite time and attention to the work. Col. Payne's resignation, to take place almost immediately, will be greatly regretted by those who have been associated with him. He was a most painstaking officer, well versed in military technique, and has brought the battalion to a high state of efficiency. He was a reasonable disciplinarian and was popular with all the men. Col. Payne joined the Canadian militia in 1869, being first connected with the Twenty-fifth Battalion. For five years prior to the withdrawal of Col. Tracy, he was practically in command, his predecessor's business excluding him from taking any very active part in military movements. Major Beattie will probably succeed to the command now and Major Haves be senior major.

Annie Pixley's Affairs. Mrs. William Fraser, Port Stanley, bas just arrived at New Yoak from London. England, in company with her brother, Robt. Fulford, husband of the late actress, Annie Pixley. Mr. Fulford was interviewed regarding the story by his mother-in-law. that he had conspired with Dr. Fleming and the actress' maid, to bring about his wife's death, and to deprive her family of any part of the estate. He was shocked at the allegations and denied the charges in toto. Mrs. Fulford's physician stated that her death was due to overwork and to grief over the loss of her little son, who died some years since in Port Stanley and was buried in Woodland Cemetery, this city. The actress leaves between $200,000 and $400,000. Mr. Fulford has gone to Phila-

The Morphine Case.

In the interim sessions room at the court house this morning Col. J. R. Wheate and Col. E. J. Meagher appeared for trial on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from Dr. E. Gray, of New York, whom they treated for the morphine habit. At 10 o'clock sharp the two colonels put in an appearance accompanied by their counsel. A number of their patients were also present. The defense was not ready to proceed with the case for another week, and accordingly asked for an adjournment. Bail had to be furnished, however. Last Friday Dean Innes had gone security for their appearance, but as he was out of town new securities had to be procured. After a hunt of an hour or so the necessary backing was secured. The case was then enlarged till Monday next, when the defense expect to have some important evidence to produce.

Doings in City Churches and Interesting Notes.

The Late Dr. Douglas-A Plea for Alma College - A Catholic Mission - New Members at the Centennial - The Bishop of Huron's Movements.

The Bishop of London recently made the announcement that on Sunday, Feb. 18, a mission would be commenced in London. It will be conducted by two fathers of the Society of Jesus. Mrs. Tilley, Dominion Secretary of the Order of King's Daughters and Sons, lectures in the Congregational Church, Woodstock, on Tuesday.

The Bishop of Huron will visit Thorndale, Feb. 13, for the purpose of holding a confirmation service in St. George's Church. On the following evening, Rev. Evans Davis will preach in the same church in connection with the annual missionary meeting. Rev. Dr. Antliff preached twice in St. Thomas Sunday. The pastor of Dundas Street Center has more calls from outside churches than he can respond to.

Rev. J. Allister Murray, of London, will preach anniversary sermons in Knox Church, Learnington, on Sunday next, and on Monday evening following will address a team eeting there.

Thursday, Feb. 25, is the day appointed for prayer for colleges and other institutions of learning.

Feeling references to the late Dr. Douglas, of Montreal, were made in the Methodist churches of the city Sunday. In Dundas Street Center Methodist Church yesterday Rev. J. P. Rice, of Alma College, St. Thomas, who preached morning and evening, made a strong case for asking the help of the Methodists of London for that institution. At the union the college was taken over from the M. E. body with a heavy debt upon It is being successfully conducted, but the debt of $50,000 must be wiped out in the next five years, beginning a fraternal visit to Chorazin Lodge of Odd- now, or disaster will insue. This is the only college for women owned by the Methodists, and Mr. Rice urged that though times are hard, and people are doing without necessaries of life as well as without luxuries in some cases, the Methodist people should lend a hand, and and Maria Hobbs, of Southwold, Elgin respond to the conference request generously.

Rev. Canon Davis, South London, is preaching a series of sermons on the relation of the State to the Church in England. Rev. W. J. Maybee, a talented divine from Lansing, Mich., preached twice in the First Congregational Church Sunday. He will conduct both services next Sabbath. Rev. Dr. Wild has gone away for his health.

At the Centennial Church Sunday morning the ordinance of baptism was conducted by Rev. Joseph Philp. the pastor, upon six adult members of the congregation. The water used was brought from the Jordan by Mr. this morning, but the whistle signals had been given. He said that Delve was lashing Holy Land. In the evening the ordinance of the Lord's Supper was held. A reception service was afterwards held. when the right hand of fellowship was extended to about 25 new members. Tuesday evening the regular meeting of the official board will take place.

"The duties devolving upon a person before and after partaking of the Lord's Supper" was dealt with in an earnest manner by Rev. D. Robertson at King Street Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. It is expected that the church membership will be considerably increased next Sunday. when the new pastor will preside at the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Evangelist Park and wife, who have just concluded a successful five-weeks' revival in the Centennial, commenced a two weeks' campaign in the Wellington Street Methodist Church Sunday morning. Both services were largely attended. There will be a literary entertainment at the First Congregational Church on Thursday evening next, at which Prof. Beale, of Albion College, will take part. Miss Jennie Bishop will sing.

Easter Sunday this year will be the 25th of March, as it was in 1883, and only three Easter Sundays in the nineteenth century have been at an earlier date-March 22 in 1818, and March 23 in 1845 and 1856. The latest date of any Easter Sunday in this century was April 25 in 1886.

Mr. Robson, of Huron College, is conducting memorial services in the Trivitt Memorial Church, Exeter. The Bishop of Huron preached in St. Thomas' Church, St. Catherines, Sunday

Rov. Dr. Stone, of Collingwood, who officiated at the opening of the Centennial Methodist Church, East London, last year, has been advised by his physicians to give up preaching until be next meeting of conference. It appear that the attack of la grippe from which the doctor is recovering has aggravated his other physical ailments and absolute rest is required to restore health and vigor.

The Bishop of Huron will preach in Trinity Church school house, St. Thomas, every Friday during Lent.

Encouraging results have attended the special services held nightly in Adelaide Street Bantist Church during the past week, and it is intended to continue them throughout the present week. The church celebrates its anniversary on the first Sunday in March, when Rev. T. S. Johnson, a former pastor (now of Brantford) will occupy the pulpit.

Rev. W. J. Clark addressed a large meeting of men in Victoria Hall yesterday afternoon. He dealt effectively with the influences which actuate in life.

A sensation was caused Sunday morning in St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, by an attack upon the pastor, Rev. William J. Hill, by his assistant, Rev. Patrick V. McDonald, who knocked the pastor down. McDonald's friends believe he is insane.

Parke; Amherstburg, G. T. Florrey; Anderdon, Jos. A. Aubin; Tilbury North, Walter Welsh and J. W. Kerr; Tilbury West, Geo. A. Ainslie. Active working committees were also named for each of 44 polling subdivisions. The whole party are now ready for the battle whenever it comes. At the afternoon meeting over 500 representative electors were present. Mr. W. D. Balfour, M.P.P., was nominated by Samuel Malott, of Gosfield South, seconded by Clement Mailloux, of Tilbury

On the president calling for further nominations the unanimous expression was that there should be only the one name mentioned, and Mr. Balfour was renominated by a standing vote of everyone present amidst rousing cheers.

Mr. Balfour made an able speech in support of Premier Mowat's policy. Speeches were also made by H. W. Allan, M.P. for South Essex; W. McGregor, M.P. for North Essex; W. D. Balfour, M.P.P. for South Essex; Dr. J. Brien, ex-P.M.; Mahlon Cowan, R. F. As Liberals, it is with pride we view the purity which has marked their administration of the public affairs of the Province, the justice meted held in the county. It was thoroughly out to all classes and the economy practiced in every department. As a riding principally devoted to agricultural pursuits, we especially rejoice in the large measure dents, M. Barrett (Colchester North), of attention devoted to the interests and advancement of the farmer, evidence of which is found in the appointment of a practical farmer to the position of Minister of Agriculture in the person of Hon. John Dryden, as well as the liberal grants made to agricultural societies, farmers' institutes and other kindred institutions.

Sheriff McKellar Dead. HAMILTON, Feb. 12 .- The death occurred Sunday of Hon. Archibald McKellar, sheriff of Wentworth, one of the city's most respected residents and an old and tried servant of the county. The remains will be taken to Chatham, where the funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from the residence of his son, Mr. P. D. McKellar, Victoria avenue, to Maple Leaf Cemetery in that town.

Carrie Phillips, aged about 60 years, and her son Charles H. Wilson, aged 15, arrived in this city on Saturday night from Eastwood. They came from Pennsylvania and walked all the way from Hamilton to Eastwood, At the latter place a subscription was taken up and the unfortunates passed on to London. They had been wet through on their tramp and their clothes were dried on their back at the station. They were suffering severely from exposure and slept on Saturday night in the police station. The city gave them lodging last night in a coffee house and this morning passed them on to Glencoe. They want to get to Detroit, where the woman says she has friends. The boy is half-witted.

Short and Sweet. "It is a great pity," said the popular, "that young men their visits on the short ap "What is that?" aske "Go home early candy."

Out of the Workhouse

"You would, my wench, if so be you could. I knows that; but a slip of a thing like thee can't look to earn much. But it's a comfort, anyways, as you don't forget me. I'll not forget thee, child, when I speaks to the Lord and asks for justice."

There was silence between them. What was there to talk about? Bell was too depressed by the dreary surroundings of the place to tell him the small gossip of the little town, and he had nothing to bring out of the profound gloom of his mind, which was full of vague but strong resentment towards all creation. Yet he liked to have her near him, as much as he was capable now of liking anything. The touch of her gentle hand on his knee, the kindliness of the soft brown eyes upturned to his-if these had been taken out of his life, he would nave longed more than ever to die When she was gone, he sat and thought of her till bed-time, fondly, if dimly, recalling the days of her childhood and those of his own girl's. He had known then what it was to be proud, pleased, hopeful. Now each dull hour ticked itself into eternity unlighted by anything brighter than the faint satisfaction which a warm meal, a pipe, or the weekly visit of Bell could give it.

Mrs. Mathew Lucas was superintending the cutting up of a fine porker the following efternoon in her back yard, when her youngest boy abruptly appeared with the

"Mammy, there's a gentleman in the parlor askin' for dad. I telled him he was cone to market, and he says you're to come."
"Me!" in shrill protest. "Me see a "Me see a gentieman in my apron all messed with the pig! Go and tell him to call again when ad's in. I reckon it's only some of them blessed rates. Be off now and tell him, Willy, however, returned. "He won't keep you a minute; but he can't wait. It's summat important,' Mrs. Lucas impatiently threw off her dirty apron, plunged her hands in water, and, with a frown not infrequent on her hard face, confronted a person-evidently not a collector of rates and taxes-whose imposing appearance made her instantly assume a more respectful air.

"And what might you be pleased to want, sir ?" she said. The stranger was a middle-aged, welldressed, clever-looking man, evidently not of Ebrington. "I haven't any business with you or with your husband exactly," he said in courteous but decisive tones. "My business concerns chiefly, if not entirely, your husband's father, if I am right in supposing Mr. Peter Lucas of Ebrington to be that."

'Yes, sir," the woman answered somewhat frostily, Her father in law was a sore subject with her. "Mr. Peter Lucas," she added, with sareastic emphasis, "is in the Union over yonder, sir.

"Dear me! In the Union! That's strange --very strange !" A peculiar smile broadened his lips. Mrs.

Lucas stared inquiringly at him.

"And what sort of business, sir, if I may make bold to ask, may you have with my husband's father?"

"Oh, certainly you may ask, Mrs. Lucas; there's no reason why you shouldn't know. My name is Wilbraham. I am a solicitor from London; and I have a piece of news for your father-in-law-a very agreeable piece Mrs. Lucas breathed faster; a dull flush came into her sallow face.

"Your father-in-law had a brother, as probably you know, who went to America in '58, and, I believe. was lost sight of. He has lately died, unmarried and childless, sessed of a large fortune, which comes to his brother. His lawyer out there was an agent of mine, and communicated with me. I was directed to Mr. Matthew Lucas for information about his father, to whom I am now on my way.

"A large fortune! A large fortune!" The woman repeated the words mechanically. "Lord save us-a large fortune!"

She could have screamed out the agonizing thought which ran through her heart like a knife-thrust. Matthew's father was Matthew's enemy! Oh, why had they not known, that they might have treated the old man differently, and have kept some place in his regard! Now they were shut out in the cold-kin, but not kind-shut out in their poverty, while the old man rose to riches; for well she knew he would never forgive, never forget. Her sordid, self-sufficient soul knew not the meaning of repentance; but remorse, none the less bitter for being vain, stung her as she realized the position of affairs. She faltered out a ques-

"Will he be really well-to-do, sir, after Mr. Wilbraham smiled again.

Rather more than well-to-do; he will be

"Rich, rich !- and him in the workhouse

"Yes. How comes he to be in the work house? She was at once loud and voluble in her defense; but the shrewd lawyer cut her

"It was a pity you couldn't manage to keep him out; it would have been better. Has he any other relations?" "Only a bit of a girl, sir, his daughter's child, an orphan—Bell Robertson by name."

"May I ask if you're on friendly terms with the old gentleman?" The dull flush again; and, after some hesitation, the sullen answer:

"Well, no, sir, not exactly friendly

"Ah! then I think I'd better go on to the to the house you speak of, and See Mr. Lucas myse f. Is he an old man?"

"About 73." "And in good health?" "Not over and above.

"Ah !" the lawyer nodded and turned to the door. He was stopped by the words, nervously yet defiantly spoken: "If the old man were to die, sir, I suppose it's us as 'ud come in for the money

"Yes, yes, of course; the next of kin; pro vided he made no wil. Good-morning!" And he walked quickly away. The woman stood as if petrified: she repeated over and without a will, Matthew would have this fortune-this large fortune. A lawyer doesn't speak lightly; if he called it large, it must be very large. They would be rich beyond their wildest dreams, and without any trouble; rich like the squire, or Mr. Hill, he retired manufacturer at the Furze. Bu f these lawyers got hold of him, they would ever rest till he had made a will: besides, himself would be only too eager for renge; they would be left in their poverty, ect as it seemed in contrast; and that -that silly pale-faced Bell-would have magic gold! The thought was too bit--the woman sat down and burst into rless sobs, as if racked with physical of drink, she told him in harsh, jerkey sentences what had happened. He sat and stared at her, dazed, stupefied, confounded. His first thought was the same as hers. "It'll do us no good, Martha. We'll never get a penny by it now."

"No," she said bitterly. "If only we'd a know'd! It'll be all Bell with him now! But if-if he dies afore he's made a will, "Ah! But he won't; you'll see. He'll never be friends again, after what's hap-'Never. But there's just that chance, Mat— Well," she whispered hoarsely, "this lawyer man 'ud be on our side if 'twas worth his while-he might put off the will.

I reckon you'd best see 'un, Mat."

Peter Lucas was sitting, as usual, on his bench not far from the fire, half asleep, when the master entered with his brisk, official

"Here, Lucas," said he-and there was something strangely bland about his voice— "just step into my office a minute. There's gentleman wants to see you on business. The other old men mechanically turned their heads and stared like so many sheep, first at the master, then at old Lucas, who stared too, with hardly a dawning of surprise on his worn face.

'A gentleman-for to see me?" "Yes, to see you. Important business. Hurry up, old gentleman, Shall I give you

Affably smiling, the master actually offered his arm to the old pauper! What on earth was coming next? The old men sniffed indignant at the partiality of fortune, though their imaginations, whittled down to the level of the "House," did not rise to any idea more brilliant than a distinguished visitor. Lucas followed the master in silence. That great potentate ushered him blandly into the presence of a dignified yet condescending stranger-Wr. Wilbraham, in sort-and of the shabbily dressed but genial chaplain, whom Lucas liked as well as he could like anyone connected with these hated walls. It was no surprise to him to feel his hand clapsed by Mr. St. John, to whom social distinctions were of small account; but when the stranger nodded to him and called him Mr. Lucas, the old man stared blankly as in a dream. MUSTN'T MARRY A MINOR. A Widow of 48 Wan's to Wed a Boy She VALPARAISO, Ind., Feb. 11. - County Clerk O'Neil received a call yesterday from a widow aged 48 and a boy aged 19. He supposed she wanted to be appointed the lad's guardian. They wished instead a marriage license, which was refused, because the minor had not his parents' consent. His mother lives in Chicago and his father is in an Illinois asylum. The widow has raised the boy from the age of 3 years. They disconsolately said they would wait until the boy was of age. She might be appointed his guardian, and then give her consent to his marriage.

sion of Most of It. NEW YORK, Feb. 11 .- Legal steps have been begun to compel Robert Fulford, husband of the late Annie Pixley, to explain what has become of the property of the actress and how he became possessed of property that was always thought to have pelonged to her, Col. Robert J. Haire, of 245 Broadway, counsel for Miss Pixley's mother and other relatives, has ust returned from Philadelphia, where he made a careful examination into the affairs of the dead actress' estate. Col. Haire's investigation developed the fact that no property or mortgages whatever are registered in Philadelphia in the name of Annie Fulford, but that sixteen mortgages aggregating $98,300 are recorded in the name of Robert Fulford. One of these mortgages, $65,000 in amount, on the Park Theater, of Philadelphia, which all of Miss Pixley's friends have hitherto thought was held by her, was found recorded in the name of Robert Fulford. Col. Haire filed in the courts what is known as a bill of discovery. Further Col. Haire began legal proceedings to prevent the payment to Fuiord of interest on certain mortgages registered in the recorder of deeds' office in Philadelphia in his name.

Only Twenty-five and Practices Before the United States Supreme Court.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 11.-Miss Kate H. Pier, of Milwaukee, who has just been admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court, comes from a family of lawyers. Her father, her mother and her two sisters are attorneys, and good ones, too. Miss Pier's mother, Kate Pier, is the only woman court commissioner in the United States, and the bill making her appointment possible was lobbied through the Legislature by the young woman who now has the right to appear before the highest tribunal in the land. Miss Pier graduated from the law department of the University of Wisconsin in 1887. She is 25 years of age, tall and handsome, a decided brunette, Miss Pier was born in Fond du Lac, Wis. and graduated from the high school in that city. In 1886 Miss Pier and her mother entered the university law department and by hard work were both enabled to finish in a year. For almost a year Miss Pier held a position in the legal department of the Wisconsin Central Railroad, after ates the popular antidote to pain, throat which she opened a law office with her without the slightest apprehension of any pears before the Supreme Court at Madison. other than salutary consequences. SEE TO THIS. It cannot be too fully impressed upon citizens of London-and more particularly upon young men and new comers-that the only qualifications required to get on the Ontario voters' lists now being revised are: (1) That the applicant is a British subject; (2) That he is 21 years of age; (3) That he is at the present moment a resident in either of the six wards of the city of London; and

(4) That he has had a residence in the Province for the last twelve months.

Examine the lists any day or evening at the Young Liberal rooms, and satisfy yourself, or you may be without a vote in the coming elections.

-Wm. Burriss and wife, of Center street, London West, were before Squire R. F. Lacey on Saturday. On Friday night the two had a dispute and aroused the neighbors with their loud talk. John Storey, a neighbor, was giving an account of the disturbance, when Burriss jumped up and called him a liar. The magistrate warned Burriss to keep quiet. It had a beneficial effect for a while, but when Storey reached another interesting part of the story, Burriss again jumped up and repeated the previous epithet, only with the addition of a foul expression. The magistrate at once closed the proceedings, gave Burriss a word of advice, and committed him to jail for two days for contempt of court. This afternoon the charge of disorderly conduct will be heard.

Women's Missionary Work. The London district convention of the Women's Missionary Society will be held in the Wellington Street Methodist Church this afternoon and evening. The afternoon session will be taken up chiefly with reports from the various circles and three seven-minute addresses by Mrs. Dickson, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. F. Daly. In the evening a programme will be carried out, including an interesting address on the missionary work in the Northwest by Rev. a lodging house on North Clark street yes- James Woodworth, superintendent of the work in the Prairie Province.

The opening lecture of the course arranged for by the "Ys" was delivered on Tuesday evening, and was a marked success in every way. As all the lectures of the course promise to be most interesting, it is expected that each one will be as largely attended as was the last.

Supposed Horse Stealing.

Wm. Simpson, a farmer from Lobo township, came to the city on Saturday, and during the day he met David Joyce and Thos. McDougall, two young men from Komoka. After spending the day around town Simpson started home alone, and when about five miles from the city stopped at a hotel and went in, tying the horse outside. When he was ready to pro-ceed on his journey Simpson came out to

He reported the loss to Constables Ward and Ward, of London West, who after a long search found the outfit in London township. To discover the parties who were guilty of the theft was the next duty, and as suspicion rested on Joyce and McDougall, they were arrested in Komoka yesterday. They were brought before Squire Lacey, but as Simpson did not desire to prosecute, Joyce and McDougall were dismissed, paying the costs in the case.

An Oddfellow's Funeral. The last sad rites attending the laying to rest of the remains of the late Wesley W. Osborne were conducted on Saturday afternoon. Deceased being a member of Dominion Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., the funeral was conducted by that order. Services at the house were held by Rev. W. J. Clark, of the First Presbyterian Church, who also officiated at the grave. The impressive service of the Oddfellows was read by W. Angus, N.G., and Walter Fairbairn, P.G., and they were supported by a large number of the members who attended in procession and marched to the cemetery

J. Boyd, jun., and Thos. D. Hastings. There were many beautiful floral offerings, and everything connected with the sad ovent tended to show the esteem in which deceased had been held by his numerous friends and their spontaneous sympathy for the bereaved young widow and family.

During the service at the grave one of the teams attached to a coupe was startled by a sudden gust of wind and ran away. A crossbar was broken by their colliding with a tree, but otherwise no damage resulted.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC. London Actress in England - "Robin Hood" To. Night-"Playmates."

A LONDON ACTRESS IN ENGLAND. Go-Won-Go-Mohawk is still touring England with her American company of actors. She has received flattering notices from the English press for her unique style of acting. The Barnsley Chronicle of Jan. 13, in reviewing the performance, speaks highly of the merits of her company. It mentions that "Miss Kitty Connor is a winsome little actress and sang with good taste, receiving loud applause." This lady is the wife of Mr. Frank Connor, of this city, who is the advance agent of Mohawk, and formerly resided in London.

"ROBIN HOOD" TO-NIGHT. The ever popular comic opera of "Robin Hood" will be presented at the Grand Opera House to-night. Twice last year it appeared in London. This year the trio of proprietors, Barnabee, Karl & Macdonald, have placed an unexcelled cast of principals and a chorus of 35 voices in the road company. A large sale assures a good house. There is no more delightful comic overa before the public than this masterpiece of De Koven and Smith. Wheresoever music is appreciated there will be found the solos, duets, trios, quartets, sextets, and octets from "Robin Hood." "O, Promise Me" has been sold by music publishers by the ten thousands of copies. So has "St Swithin's Bells, "Brown October Ale," "Nine Tailors," the anvil song, "Neath Greenwood Trees," the "Trou-badour Serenade," the comic round, "O See the Little Lambkins Play," the several needy homes with Christmas cheer, "Tinker's Chorus," and innumerable others. ensemble music of equal catchiness. But the music is not all there is of "Robin Hood." The libretto is an excellent comedy by itself. BESSIE BONEHILL IN "PLAYMATES."

Many of the farce-comedy stars now touring the country originally made names for themselves by doing individual specialties. Bessie Bonehill, one of the greatest favorites in that particular line, will appear at the Grand Opera House to-morrow night with her company of comedians, singers and dancers in a new musical comedy entitled "Playmates." Miss Bonehill in her specialty line is distinctly clever and original, and for this reason she preferred to create a role in "Playmates," rather than play roles in "Sinbad," "The Dazzler," and "A Straight Tip," for which her services were earnestly desired. Miss Bone. hill has had plenty of experience on the legitimate stage. A few years ago she played William to Lillian Russell's Susan in "Black-Eyed Susan" at the Alhambra Theater, London. The scenery used in this production Miss Bonehill brought from England. The cast comprises some of the eleverest comedians on the American stage, and also several European novelties. MME. MODJESKA ILL. A New York dispatch of Friday's date says: The Fifth Avenue Theater was closed last night on account of the illness of Mme. Modjeska. While playing a week ago last night the actress bruised her left side against the arm of a chair. She did not pay much attention to the fact at first, but on Tuesday her side became very painful, and Dr. L. L. Seaman was called in. The doctor told his patient she had an attack of pleurisy, and advised her not to play for a couple of days. She did play, however, on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, but yesterday the doctor told her she must rest for one night at least, or he would not answer for the consequences. Mme. Modjeska then gave in, and sent word to the theater to dismiss the audience. IDA VAN CORTLAND'S COMPANY, Ida Van Cortland and her company closed successful week's engagement here on Saturday, giving "Michael Strogoff" in the afternoon and "Peck's Bad Boy" in the evening, playing to good houses on both occasions. It is safe to say that the favorable impression which Ida Van Cortland At the semi-monthly meeting of the created on the occasion of her former visits season is strong, well-balanced and clever, while the plays produced are as entertainance at the rooms during the month was ing as they are varied in character.
