Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

Eggs and Mushrooms-Procure a pound of mushrooms and wash them well in cold water; do not let them soak; peel and put them into a stewing-pan, with two ounces of butter, half a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of white pepper; set them over the fire until thoroughly heated; turn into a shallow baking-dish and break over them six eggs; sprinkle over the top stale bread crumbs; dot with bits of butter; dust with pepper and salt, and bake five minutes in a hot oven. Eat with buttered toast.

Beefsteak and Oyster Pie-Procure a pint of oysters and two pounds of round steak, cut an inch thick. Cut it into strips two and one-half inches wide. Mix on a plate two tablespoonfuls of flour, a heaping teaspoonful of mixed herbs, the same of salt and half the amount of pepper. Dip each piece of meat in this; place an oyster on one end and roll up loosely; place in the bottom of a pie dish and pile up well toward the center. Pack the rolls loosely, so the gravy may flow through and help them to cook. Add the oyster liquor and enough stock-to nearly cover the meat; dot with bits of butter. Cover wth a flaky crust and bake an hour and a half in a slow oven. For the crust, add a quarter teaspoonful of salt to a cupful of flour; cut into it a half cupful of cold lard; when dry and powdery like meal mix through with the knife two tablespoonfuls of icewater, turn out on flour-board and sprinkle thick with flour and lightly roll from you until the requisite size to fit the top of pie.

By the Timely Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills-The Great Life Savers of the 19th Century Bright's Disease Robbed of its Terrors.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.-Local medical men, in common with their brethren in all parts of the country, have always maintained that Bright's disease is incurable, and that all that can be done for the victims of that disease is to ease their journey to the grave. There are thousands of Canadians, however, who know that this opinion is wrong. Among them is W. Young, traveler, of this city, who says he was cured of Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I am completely cured," he says, "and n did me any good." These pills are the only sure cure for Bright's disease.

Ald. Winnett Says He Has No Power to Produce Them-The Council's Instructions Are to Get Them - Better Street Car Service - The Hospital Bylaw Referred to Council.

The finance committee held a short and interesting meeting last night, Ald. Bennet in the chair. The jubilee hospital board had promised to exhibit their plans to the committee last night, but a letter was received from Mr. P. W. D. Brodrick, on behalf of the board, expressing regret at their inability to lay the plans before them, and returning thanks for the courtesy shown the company by No. 1 committee.

Ald. Winnett explained that the jubilee hospital board had expected a representative from the Ontario Association of Architects to examine their plans, but owing to some technicality the association had refused. The board could not open the plans, as they were for permission to do so from the tender-

A LITTLE DEADLOCK. The committee had been instructed by the council to secure from the jubilee committee their minutes and detailed statement of their receipts and ex-

Needed Because of the Overcrowding of the Classes-No. 1 Committee of the Board of Education Recommend Their Appointment.

No. 1 committee of the Board of Education decided last night to recommend the addition of three teachers to the Collegiate Institute staff, in compliance with Ispector Seath's report. There were present Trustees Macpher-(chairman), English, Johnston, Murphy and Bridle, Principal Merchant and Secretary McElheran. Mr. Merchant stated the need of additional teachers. According to the government regulations, he said, the school was divided into four forms, and all but form IV. was crowded. In form I. there are two grades of commercial and two grades of regular work. These were particularly crowded, the four divisions each having more pupils than seats. Form II. was not so crowded that any increase in its four classes was needed, but form III., where there are but two divisions. was very crowded, and in it and in the commercial department was the greatest necessity for additional classes

To Trustee Johnston Mr. Merchant

said he was confident that the large attendance would be permanent, as the entrance classes in all the public schools were now large, and with the addition of London West, the number of entrants yearly would be increased. There were now 430 pupils in form I., which corresponds to the highest 21st May, 1897. which corresponds to the highest grade of public school work in the country schools. It was practically for the fifth form work of the public schools that extra teachers were needed, for, with crowded classes, it was impossible to do good work. The teacher was teaching a crowd instead of individuals. Under these circumstances the teachers could not be blamed for the standard of reading which Inspector Seath reported against. Mr. Merchant showed that in the lower forms, where the work of the fifth form of the public schools was done, that by making the classes with 50 or 60 pupils in each, the teaching was done at about two-thirds the cost it would be in the public schools. Therefore, instead of the Collegiate Institute being, as some believed, an expensive institution, it saved the city a great deal of expense. What should done to remedy the over-crowding of the classes, he said, was to have Ald. Rumball-The jubilee committee an extra division in form III., one in appointed by the council has never been the commercial department, and one in the lower grade of the regular The commercial department work. a committee composed of six aldermen should be separate from the other and the mayor to act with the citizens. work, and its three divisions be given to the charge of three teachers one to Ald. Rumball-A committee appointed teach English and mathematics, and the two others the regular book-keeping and shorthand work. About 120 pupils. Mr. Merchant said, would enter these classes. This work could be done in the same manner in connection with the public school work. As to the sources for meeting the expense, they were, he said, either increased estimate or putting a fee on pupils in the upper school. No fee could be put on pupils in the lower form. To provide for the new classes a new building would have to be erected or rooms made in the attic of the Collegiate In-

Trustee Johnston thought it wise to wait until February of March before doing anything, so that they might await the action of the Local Legislature. He understood Mr. Ross would make some change that might affect the matter.

Mr. Merchant said no change would be made in the curriculum unless it be that some subjects would be added. They might have to teach agricultural chemistry.

Mr. Johnston then raised the question of finances, and it was shown that there would be enough money to fix the attic. As to the expense of the three teachers, this could be met annually by the $10 fees suggested. There were about 300 pupils in the upper

Dr. English said he believed it necessary to get the teachers, and moved that the committee recommend to the board their appointment. "We can't get out of the difficulty which demands it." he said.

Trustee Johnston moved in amendment that no action be taken until after the session of the Local Legislature. Dr. English's motion carried. Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared by Lord Rosebery on Britain's Future-Canada's Interest In It.

The speeches of British public men, made at a time between campaigns, are generally worthy of note. That recently delivered by Lord Rosebery, one of the leaders of the Liberal party, and a strong believer in the consolidation of the empire at home and abroad, deals with a point that must interest tention of the London Free Press that many Canadians, as it takes up the question of British agriculture and its relation to Britain's trade with the world. Lord Rosebery spoke at the meeting in the Free Trade Hall, Manchester, to celebrate the centenary of the Chamber of Commerce. He said the abolition of the British import tax on grain-or the repeal of the Corn Laws-saved the people of Great Britain not only from starvation but from revolution. Of all the mad things they had heard in their day, said Lord Rosebery, the re-enactment of the Corn Laws was the maddest that they could possibly conceive. It was always well, differently. he thought, not to overstate their case. Indulging in some chaff of the "distressed agriculturist," in which there was a good deal of sympathy, he said the first and necessary condition of agriculture was that it always must complain, and it always would complain. "From the time of Theocritus and Virgil, and even further back, I suspect," continued Lord Rosebery, 'from the time when Adam delved, a great Masonic service, and among agriculture has been in a state of com- others, the Prince of Wales, grand masplaint, and who can wonder at it? He maintained that it was only by free trade that the empire could be held together.

When a leader of the people, who has the standing of Lord Rosebery, whose views are indorsed by many Conservatives, takes this attitude in regard to Britain's trade policy, which has certainly made her the mistress of the seas, we in Canada may be pardoned if we do not look for a speedy reversal of that policy. It is not in practical politics today. It is a question if ever it will be faced as a definite issue. We would gladly receive special treatment for Canadian products in British markets. And it is open for our cousins across the water to give it to us at any time that they may see fit; but it would have been stupid beyond measure for our government to say that it would fold its hands and do nothing to promote trade with Great Britain until such time as the Motherland reversed her trade policy. That species of dickering was talked about in Canada from 1881 to 1897, but till the time that the Fielding tariff was brought down no practical step towand preferential trade with Great Britain was taken. The importance of and the benefits flowing from the policy then inaugurated, and which will come fully into force next July can scarcely be over-estimated. And this mutually beneficial Anglo-Canadian trade policy is put in force without antagonizing either of the great political parties of Great Britain, or waiting for the conversion of hundreds of thousands of persons to views of public policy to which they are utterly hostile. It is established with the warmest indorsation of every true British heart, and with the best of prospects that great and abiding benefits to the Dominion will flow from it.

Britain, France and Russia, her rivals, made squatting on the confines of China profitable, and so she, too, resolves to squat. The game of grab increases in intensity as years roll by, but Great Britain has far the best of it. She was like the early Christmas shopper. She got there first.

Opposition Arithmetic.

The Exeter Times falls into the astonishing error of repeating the conthe cost of paper has been lessened from 100 to 200 per cent within recent years. How our contemporaries, in their excessive zeal to injure the Minister of Education, can hope to influence intelligent public opinion by such an attack, it is difficult to conceive. In the public schools of today, the youngest pupil in arithmetic is taught that when 100 per cent of anything is deducted nothing is left. But mayhap in the schools of the good old days, before Hon. George W. Ross was Minister of Education, they taught

WHERE BE YOUR CIBES, NOW?" Death of the Old - Time Circus Clown,

Thomas Edwin Cock. New York, Nov. 19.—Thomas Edwin Cook, who, in his prime, was a leading circus clown, is dead at his home at Paterson, N. J. He was 96 years old. Cook was born at Beck's Hill, England, and in 1836 came to this country with his father's circus, said to have been the first to exhibit in America. Young Cook was attached to the circus as a tumbler, but later became a clown, which line he followed until 1870. Cook has nearly 100 descendants, the majority of whom have taken either to the circus or stage. Pneumonia is given as the cause of his death.

Sunday Cars Must Go-Urges Organized Effort to Preserve Sabbath Observance-Rev. Mr. Shearer Also Speaks.

About 100 people assembled in Wesley Hall last night, most of them ladies, to listen to speeches by Mr. M. T. O'Meara and Rev. J. K. Sheaver, of Hamilton, in connection with the Lord's Day Alliance. Rev. A. L. Russell, of Wellington Street Methodist Church, presided, and with him on the platform were the visiting gentlemen, Rev. Dr. Daniel, Rev. Mr. Moorhouse and Mr. J. Beardsall.

After devotional exercises, Rev. Mr.

Russell commented upon the small number present. It might look better, he said, if the audience had been larger, but he did not believe the number present readily manifested the interest in the observance of the Sabbath Day. London's public thought it was all right, and not necessary that they should turn out; but he believed that if the people realized an attempt was being made to deprive them of their day of rest and sanctity, there would be an uprising of the people. But they forgot that encroachments upon the sanctity of the Sabbath were like weeds in a field—a little here and there, until finally the whole field was over-run. Mr. Beardsall, secretary of the local branch of the Lord's Day Alliance, by way of introducing the speakers, said it appeared to him that the character of the work of the organization was not very well known. Its specific objects were the observance and advancement of the Lord's Day, not only in this city, but all over the province. London had a Christian population, but all cities had not, and it remained for the people of this city to create enthusiasm, thereby helping other cities not so well

It was a gift for all, and no employer, firm, for the purpose of maintaining the company or corporation had in God's sanctity of the Sabbath sight any right to take away that blessed gift. They proposed to break down all such attempts. If the people portance. If they took a higher stand coked at it from a God-fearing quest in of paramount importance. Speaking of Sunday street cars, he peared to be a defeat, but it was not a final verdict. them by a vote of the province and not of the city of Toronto only. Last spring a most important statement had been made by the premier of this province, which was a source of great gratification to them, because it was apparent that the Legislature was aware of the growing evil. The statement was: "It has been pointed out that under the recent decision, the running of Sunday ears might become general, against wishes of the people." The govern-ment, acting on that belief, had introduced legislation by which traffic on Mr. O'Meara's Strong Address - Says electric railways was disailowed. It had been asked what more the alliance wanted, and what the trouble was. The trouble was that it had been seen fit to make certain exceptions in the law, by which it was not meant to affect those companies having charters prior to the passage of the act. This was a contest between Sunday cars everywhere or Sunday cars nowhere. Sir Oliver Mowat had declared that in his opinion no right had been given the Toronto street railway to run Sunday cars. "Let me most heartily congratulate you as citizens of London upon the noble stand you took two years ago before the city council that a clause must be inserted in the charter before it was granted, prohibiting the running of Sunday cars. That has placed London in the preeminent position of leader in this matter of the observance of the Lord's Day in Ontario. The work of the alliance was against unnecessary Sunday work of every kind. They proposed to make the law applicable to all classes of business. By the decision rendered by the court of appeals there was nothing to hinder any 'corporation' from doing what it pleased on Sunday, but left the merchant and the small firms under the provisions of the act. There was danger of the same state of affairs becoming prevalent here as existed in the neighboring republic, where 2,000,099 men were at work on Sundays, and 1,000,000 of these on electric railways. In the city of Chicago over 46,000 were engaged in Sunday work. The lamentable fact was that this had a tendency to deaden and dull the Christian conscience, and it would be a sorry day for Ontario when the Christian conscience was tarnished as much as that of Quebec and the United States. If Mr. M. T. O'Meara, provincial secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, was received with applause. The Sabbath, received with applause. urday, as compared with the preceding Saturday: Wheat, United States and Canada, east of the Rocky Mountains, acrease, 3,143,000 bu; afloat for and in Europe, increase 1,800,000. Liverpool Corn Trade News: World's supply total increase 4,943,000. Corn, United States and Canada, east of the Rocky Mountains, decrease, 1,11,000 bu. The more important increases in stocks of available wheat last week 1, included Messrs. C. W. Busby, H. E. Stevenin the official visible supply statement, 38,000 bu at Akron, Ohio. Corresponding Mr. C. W. Busby; recitation, Miss Medecreases include 105,000 bu at New Or- Kerricher (encored); selection, quartet; crop of the United Kingdom is estimated at 50% million bu. The preliminary estimate of the Italian crop makes it 85.131.000 bu against 144.722.700 bu last year. The Roumanian wheat crop i. estimated at 37,134,720 bu. The Bulgarian wheat crop is estimated at 40 per cent, rye at 35 to 40 per cent, and barley at 25 per cent less than last year. The wheat crop of Turkey has been estimated at 50,800,000 imperial bu. As regards crops now growing in the tinues to be favorable on the whole. In Argentina drought, which for a time in some provinces threatened serious injury, seems to have been generally broken, and danger of a serious loss from such a source seems now in the advanced state of the crop to have passed. The Indian wheat crop has been sown under favorable conditions, winter grain crops of Europe, and both in India and in Europe the weather seems in the main to have been very favorable to the growth of the seed. Live Stock Market.

Hide Market.

Toronto, Nov. 18 .- There is a firmer feeling in the mrket here, in sympathy with the stronger tone of the market in Chicago, and prices for cured are quoted a fraction higher by local dealers. The offerings are not large, but buyers appear to be indifferent. Local dealers are quoting 9c for No. 1 green, and 91/4c for cured. Sheepskins-The receipts are not large; there is a good demand for all offerings, and the market is firm at 90c for sheepskins and lambskins. Calfskins are dull, and prices are nominal. Tallow is quiet; there is no change in the market, and local dealers are offering 3c for it and asking 34c.

At the close of the programme a choice tea was served by the ladies of Lambeth R.T. of T. Council, after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered on behalf of the quartet by the manager, which was acknowledged by the quartet singing, "For they are jolly good ladies." Miss McKerricher's recitations were very pleasing and highly appreciated. Special mention should be made of the violin solos rendered, in an efficient manner, by Miss White. The humorous selections by the quartet delighted the audience, as did also the very appropriate closing

No one had ever heard of any and wheeled suddenly around, pitch- deep sea sharks coming into the harbor. Satisfied with this information I began my work of diving regularly every day, and had been working for The lady continued her homeward about six weeks carefully, examining the work on the bulkheads. Surely, I thought, that cannot be the shadow of my boat at this depth? Then I saw the object move, and saw I was within two feet of a large man-eating shark. I reached for my knife, which has a blade 18 inches long, and as the head, besides an abrasion on the ankle. shark swam over me, almost touching my helmet, I stabbed him in the throat, cutting a deep gash. For a moment the big fish remained perfectly still terday morning. According to his as if stunned; then he began to lash furiously and the water became crimson with his blood. I hugged the piles of the bulkhead as closely as I could to get away from the fish. I could not move, owing to the heavy weight attached to my shoes. The shark swam straight for me, and rammed me, head on in the right leg. Luckily, it was a glancing blow, and although the shock tore away the heavy 'incelsion' cloth, of which my diving costume was made, and almost wrenched my leg off, there were no bones broken. The shark turned on his back, and again

SAN JOSE SCALE.

Located in Two Orchards in Kent. and Eighty-Five in All Ontario. Chatham Planet: M. W. Orr, of the department of agriculture, has been in this section the last day or two taking measures to prevent the spread of that terrible fruit pest, the San Jose scale. There are about 85 fruit farms affected in Ontario, of which two are in

It was brought here in some trees from the other side to the farm of John Van Horne, up the river. As soon as Mr. Van Horne discovered what was the matter, he took most energetic measures to destroy this pest. Last winter he applied the California mixture, consisting of sulphur, lime and salt. When the foliage began to come, and this could no longer be used, he applied whale oil soap cut down and burned. Then he thought he had the nursance stamped out. But when Mr. Orr arrived and they went over the orchard carefully, several trees were found still infected, and Mr. Van Horne will destroy them, too. Mr. Orr says the trouble now is in most cases that the government officials have no power to destroy the affected. Legislation will be secured so as to enable them to take most stringent measures in this way, for many people will not act with the energy of

A LOBO WEDDING. Wedding bells rang right merrily on Wednesday evening last, at the residence of Mr. George Murch, Lobo village, the occasion being the marriage ef his daughter, Miss Eva, to Mr. Wm. Smith, of Lobo township. The bride was attended by her sister Sadie, while Mr. James McLean, V.S., of Poplar Hill, assisted the groom, with Miss Frankie Murch and Master Eddie Holmes as maid of honor and page respectively. Upon the entry of the bridal party Mendelsshon's "Wedding March" was played by Miss Holmes, of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Holmes, of Mount Brydges, assisted by Rev. J. Freed, of Lobo village, under an evergreen arch, from which a bell of white roses was suspended with very pretty effect. About 40 invited guests were present from London, St. Thomas, Strathroy, Delaware and Lobo, and after warm congratulations all repaired to the tables, where a bountiful menu was spread. The newly-wedded left via the C. P. R. for points west on a short honeymoon trip. Many beautiful presents were coupled with best wishes for bon voyage through life.

BASSO SILENCED BY A GNAT. [Indianapolis Journal.] J. Russell Powell, the basso at Central Avenue M. E. Church, was to have made his farewell appearance at the services Sunday morning, and a large number of the friends of the promising young singer had come to hear him sing his last song there. Mr. Powell had two of the best numbers in his repertoire for that morning and was in excellent voice when he reached the church, but a most curious circum-stance silenced his voice temporarily. Just as Mr. Powell stepped into th church doorway a small gnat flew into his nose and caused him to sneeze violently, and the sneeze brought on a severe cough, which in turn ruptured one of the small blood vessels near the vocal cords. He took his place in the choir, but soon found that he could not utter a sound audible five feet away. Mr. Powell left the choir, and Dr. L C. Cline, who was in the audience, was summoned to attend him. Mr. Powell's injury to his voice will not prove sericame at me with wide-open mouth. I

Montreal, Nov. 19.—On Wednesday evening Mr. O. S. Perault, secretary of the American Tobacco Company, was on his way home on the local express, due at Vaudreuil at 7:05 p.m. The train stopped on the bridge between Ile Perrot and Vaudreuil to semaphore, and Mr. Perrault, thinking it was the station, put on his coat, walkto the platform of the car and into the Ottawa river, some 40 feet below. Fortunately the baggageman heard the splash, and after much effort on the part of the train hands Mr. Perrault was saved from drowning.

the One Who Robbed Cowan's Grucery-Coner Cases Deart with.

Thos. Conlan, about 55 years of age, with a long, gray beard and white hair, was charged as a burgiar at the police court this morning before Magistrate Parke. He was arrested last night by Detectives Nickle and Rider in a King street saloon, on a warrant charging dated at Skaguay. He states that he him with robbing the house of Mr. D. A. McDermid, 150 Prospect avenue.

During the afternoon, Conlan called at several houses in the vicinity of Mr. The Governor-General yesterday as- McDermid's, asking for money to buy a ticket to Toronto. He worked upon people's sympathies by stating that he had just been discharged from the hospital, and he met with fair success as a result of this story.

A domestic in the house of Mr. Mc-Kechnie, corner of Princess and Prospect avenues, however, noticed Conlan's suspicious movements. She saw him look into the window of Mr. Mcwith something under his coat, which | fund. he afterwards removed to his pocket. About 7:30 last night she informed Mr. Lecture, "Y" rooms, on Tennyson. The young woman who saw Conlan leave the house was brought to the station at 11:30 last night to identify the man.

Conlan pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried by the magistrate. He claimed Toronto as his home, and said he ran a train into this city on the G. T. R. for over ten years. He was remanded for a week. Conlan answers the description of the man who was begging in the north end of the city and telling the same story, a few days was robbed of $45. The case was begun on Wednesday afternoon, occupied the court's attention all day yesterday and a sitting last night. A settlement was arrived at this morning between the parties, by which the shed, erected in May last and which projected over plaintiff's lands, is to be removed to the old line between the Wonnacott, and for an injunction to pay $100 of plaintiff's costs. G. C. Gibbons, Q.C., for the plaintiff; McPhillips & Toothe for defendants. Frudenthal vs. McLaren-Postponed until next court.

Phoebe Glass vs. F. Trebilcock-This was an action for the discovery of certain contents of a lease of the second story of the building at the southeast corner of Richmond and King streets, occupied by the defendant. The latter held a lease from the British Empire Insurance Company, who were mort-gagees in possession and who sold under their mortgage to Mrs. Glass, who held a second mortgage. Mrs. Glass becoming the purchaser, she applied to the defendant to know the terms of the lease, under which he held, and which he is alleged to have refused. Settled between the parties by consent, with the exception of costs. After hearing argument the judge ruled that each party pay their own costs. G. C. Gibbons, Q.C., for plaintiff; Thos. AUGUST HYLLESTED.

The Great Danish Pianist. August Hyllested, the world-famed planist, who is to give a planoforte recital in the Auditorium, Y. M. C. A. on the evening of Friday, Nov. 26, is of Danish birth. In childhood years his great ability as a pianist was recognized, and he quickly took high rank in the most critical musical circles. The favor with which he has been received by royalty is an epoch in musical history. The Prince of Wales attends his concerts in London. He has been invited to Marlborough House, and has received charming souvenirs from host and hostess. Last year, in the course of a concert tour, Christian of Denmark called him to the (hether! Amalienborg and talked long and freely with the pianist. Prince Hans is one of his most ardent admirers, testifying sincere admiration when the pianist played at the prime minister's. He is a great favorite in German court circles, and was invited by the dowager Empress Frederick to play before her. He is court pianist to the Princess Louise. His recognition in the most critical musical circles is remarkable. He has gained the highest praise from the world's great. est critics, such as Edward Greig, E. E. Taubert and W. W. Tappert, of Berlin; Alexandre Guilmant and Victor Maurel, of Paris: Alexander Mackenzie and others of London. As a composer Mr. Hyllested ranks very high. His Symphonic Poem (for grand orchestra and double chorus) was per-formed at St. James' Hall in London under his own direction, and numerous of his other instrumental and vocal compositions have been brought before the European public by the most eminent artists abroad. There is every reason to suppose that a large and fashionable audience will greet this celebrated musician on his first and only appearance in this city. The plan for seats is open at the piano warerooms of Heintzman & Co., 236 Dundas street. Prices, 50 cents, 75 cents and $1.

Life's Problem.

As in review passed before her the checkered other days, with the ever vexing "might have beens," as well as the trying today, she wondered why so bitter a cup had been pressed to her lips, while many of her friends, so much stronger, from her standpoint, to bear, were care-free. She did not murmur or rebel; oh, no, not she, for how could she, when from first to last she heard the whisper, "It is I, be not afraid!" Still, we confess, she often queried, "Why am I thus dealt with?" And thus we find her; outwardly calm, but with conflicting emotions within. But she was lifted out of self, by the sudden appearance of an impulsive school girl, who, with beaming face, said:

"I am so happy, so proud! I must tell you about it." And then she related how that day her class-room had been visited by distinguished guests, and how the principal, to demonstrate his system of teaching, went on with the classes. "You know," she rattled on, school-girl fashion, "algebra is my strong point; still, when teacher se-lected one of the most difficult problems, and, "unning his eyes over the class, asked me to go to the board and work it out, my courage was not equal to the occasion. But, seeing how I shrank from so trying an ordeal, the teacher drew near to me, and said in an undertone: 'You are the only one who con solve it, but I can trust you to do my teaching credit.' And then all fear vanished. My teacher's confidid solve the problem, and fearlessly, too. But that isn't why I'm proud and below. ## THE OWL ON TOP.

Pennsylvania's Great Loss Through the Payment of a Bounty.

[Boston Globe.] "Can there be any possible harm in killing owls for women's hats?" ex-claimed a New York milliner to a member of the Audubon Society the other day. "Of what use are the horrid creatures to anybody?" The pretty milliner was quite surprised when told that owls were very useful birds. Owls eat the field mice and other small rodents that work great injury to the farmer, and every one that is lost not only means a menace to the farmers but a distinct less to agriculture. Dr. C. Hart Merriam, ornithologist of the United States department of agriculture, has estimated that in offering a bounty on hawks and owls, which resulted in the killing of more than 100,-000, the State of Pennsylvania sustained a loss of nearly $5,000,000 in one year and a half.

EATING NUTS WITH SALT. One time, while enjoying a visit from an Englishman, hickory nuts were served in the evening, when my English friend called for salt, stating that he knew a case of a woman who was taken violently ill by eating freely of nuts in the evening. The celebrated Dr. Abernethy was sent for; but it was after he had become too fond of his cup, and he was not in a condition to go. He muttered, "Salt, salt!" of which no notice was taken. Next morning he went to the place, and she was a corpse. He said that had they given her salt, it would have relieved her, and, if they would allow him to make an examination, he would con-vince them. On opening the stomach the nuts were found in a mass. He sprinkled salt on this, and it immediately dissolved. I generally eat salt

Margaret's living somewhere in this very neighborhood now, sir, I believe. I've never seen her, but I've heard she came back here some bit ago as a widow. London, Nov. 19.—London capitalists seem to be resolved to share in the big profits anticipated from a rush to the Klondike next spring. The Vancouver and Northern Shipping and Trading Company, working in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railroad, with a capital of $750,000, privately subscribed by six shareholders, today purchased two old Cunarders-the Bothnia and the Scythia-and two Cape mail steamers, as the nucleus of a fleet to run from Vancouver to Klondike ports, commencing March 10. Both ships are chartered for freight by Lipton, the millionaire provision merchant, for the voyage out, and he is said to have a scheme for building a new town to be called Liptonia, near Skaguay. This enterprise is understood to be the result of the visit to Skaguay of the Hon. James Burke Roche, who

Ottawa, Nov. 19.-Mr. McArthur, one of the staff of the Dominion surveyors, is in the city, and, having traveled over the Dalton trail, speaks most favorably of that route. He says that it is much shorter than any other trail, and can be made passable at a small expenditure of money. During the past year Dalton took in cattle by that route, and on 125 head cleared $30,000. The cattle gained 2,000 pounds on the trip up, the grass being principally bunch-grass, and highly succulent.
