ENGINEMEN INSTANTLY KILLED

Miraculous Escape of Passengers in the Smoker-The System's Tracks Completely Blocked.

Newburgh, N. Y., July 30. - Two wrecking crews are at work this morning clearing the debris of the wreck of New York Central's Pacific express, which ran into a landslide one mile south of New Hamburg at 11:30 last night, resulting in the death of Edward Wells, the engineer of Albany, and Edward Warren, fireman, of New York, and in injuries to about a dozen passengers, none of which will prove fatal. There are three tracks at the point where the accident occurred, but they were all torn up or badly twisted for 100 feet or more, so that it was apparent that it would be many hours before through traffic could be re-

AND RUSSIA CANNOT BE WORSE

Likely to Take Place Before the Autumn.

London, July 30 .- The cloud of pessimism which has overhung Europe for fully three weeks has disappeared as pened paradoxically in the face of the DISASTROUS STORM realization of the worst fears in regard to the policy which the Czar might adopt in Russia.

Another cause for the revival of cheerfulness in business circles is the diminution of the fear of a Mohammedan uprising which was caused by the Several Places in Town Struck recent alarmist speech of Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister. The general view now is the same as was expressed in these dispatches a fortnight ago, that this danger, for the present, at least, is diminishing instead of increasing. There is also a slight revival of hopefulness regarding Russia. The dissocalm since last Sunday's ukase.

Tomorrow the Last Day of the Midsummer Linen Sale

Tomorrow brings to a close a very successful Linen Sale.

We want tomorrow to be the most successful day of the sale, too. To make it so we will rush out many odd and broken lines and all remnants' accumulated during this sale at greatly reduced prices.

All bleached and Unbleached Tablings, Towelings, Towels, etc., will be sold at the reduced prices previously advertised—until tomorrow night when prices will go back again to regular.

Bear This in Mind. Manufacturers'

Prices have advanced fully 15 per cent this season on linens. As this, or no other store, controls the linen market our prices will have to advance in sympathy with the higher market prices. This means our regular prices will be advanced in the near future. Better buy now, while our regular prices are reduced, and save money.

Liberal Savings in Upholstery Goods

The Midsummer Upholstery Sale brings

many liberal savings your way. Half the sale is now over; you shouldn't delay purchasing the materials for re-covering the dull-looking furniture or for making cosev corners, window seats, etc.

UPHOLSTERERS will find our reduced prices in many instances less than jobbers' prices. Furthermore, you have the added advantage of getting a piece cut any length

LONDON, MONDAY, JULY 30. THE SECRET MINING DEAL.

Apprehension over the secret mining deal between the Temiskaming Railway Commission and an Ottawa syndicate will be allayed in a measure by the Attorney-General's statement that the matter will be reviewed by the Government. Under the act the commission has no authority to sell or lase mining privileges without the authority of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-

The Ottawa Citizen, the Conservative newspaper of the capital, advises that the concession be offered again to the public on the terms which were proposed by the Ottawa syndicate, and accepted by the commission without inviting competition. Says the Citizen:

"A change was made in the terms of the sale, obviously of a nature favorable to the purchasers, and the change was made without being advertised so that any other competitors might have had an opportunity to take advantage of it. In the opinion of the Citizen while there may be nothing actually wrong in this it exposes the commission to the charge of partiality and unfair dealing, and reflects through the action of the commission on the Government"

The fact that the son and the busisioners, Mr. Denis Murphy, are members of the favored syndicate, does not improve the position of the railway board. The concession consists of a of the Temiskaming Railway. The weather that alcohol is a fuel. lower end runs for about one third of a mile into the famous Gillies' limit, which is supposed to be so rich in silver ores that Premier Whitney announced that it would not be disposed of, but would be developed and mined ple. It may be asked also why the terms labor pledges. for the lease of the right-of-way, which Mr. Whitney declared were the lowest the Government would accept, modified in the interest of a favored syndicate. Perhaps some light will be thrown upon these matters by the Government itself when it reviews the secret deal.

SUMMER FOOD.

The superheated term presents the problem of what diet is best for one at this season, and nature unerringly indicates in her profusion of fruit and vegetables the food which is best for the average human system, with the further advantage of furnishing it in such plenty as to permit the poorer people to enjoy the boon.

In an editorial on summer foods, the New York Herald points out that during the heated term nature wisely tempers the appetite for meats and other solids and contents us with lighter garden stuffs in their season, which in torrid zones constitute the bulk of the "Eggs, milk, cereals and fish." it says, "supply most of our needs for substantial nourishment, while the In stuffy stalls of a house inside. fruits and vegetables do the rest." The Herald continues:

The food value of fruit depends mainly upon the amount of sugar, salts and vegetable acids they contain. The relative proportions of these ingredients vary greatly and have a corresponding influence on nutrition and digestibility.

"The orange is perhaps the leading favorite, combining substance, flavor, sweetness and due acidity. The apple ranks next, but in its raw state is sometimes indigestible. It is perhaps the only common fruit that is improved by cooking.

"Peaches are comparatively poor in sugar, have very small nutritive value, being mostly composed of gum, vegetable jelly and acid juices.

As a rule they are easily digested. "The banana is the most substantial of all fruits, has the highest sustaining properties and is generally easily assimilated. "Cherries and the various berries are particularly relishable, because of the large quantity of sugar they

"Pears, grapes and melons, deliclous in their way, have also little more than flavor to recommend them as articles of diet. Of course, none of these should be eaten unripe or overripe, as in either case they may cause digestive derangements. Their ideal state is when they are fully matured and freshly plucked. "Among vegetables the potato, mainly composed of starch, is the allround standby, but it owes its reputation more to its agreeable combination with meats, beans, peas, and other proteid foods than to any intrinsic virtue of its own. The various other roots, such as the carrot, beet, parsnip, turnip, oyster plant and radish, are also quite poor in proteids and contain but a small mented, it is the horror of the dys- the provincial service. peptic, but to the Teutonic stomach it is more than a welcome guest. "Boiled spinach, however, an equally German dish, has no such objecpid digestion.

"The cooling salads are deservedly popular. The lettuce family, cresses and the like are wholesome, digestible and agreeable to the system. Asparagus is rightly prized for its delictous flavor. Even the onion, the despised interloper, is a most honest contributor to any feast and by its volatile oil acts as a sufficient stomachic stimulant. The tomato ranks equally high as a relish, but is most unjustly under the ban as a provoker of rheumatism.

"Thus for the summer feeder there is truly an embarrassment of opportunities. The best of all is that fruit and vegetables in the raw state retain their original flavor and are all within reach when we appreciate and need them most

"But for all that can be said in favor of mostly vegetable diet for the hotter months animal food in some shape is required by most workers. One meal of meat, fish or poultry is usually sufficient for such. unless the bodily labor is very severe. In this, as in other matters of feeding, the appetite has a rule of its own that defies all theories and is a law unto itself" to be derived from bread is most important, and should not be overlooked by any breadeater.

The Question Nourishment

There is, however, a vast difference in the nourishing properties of bread, which varies according to the flour from which it is made. It is admitted that the Manitoba Hard Wheat from which "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made contains more gluten and phosphates than any grain grown on this continent, and as "FIVE ROSES" is made only from the pick of the harvest, by a process which retains the nutritive properties of the grain unimpaired, bread made from it consequently contains more nutriment in more easily digestible form than that made with ordinary brands.

St. Icolmkill Church Corners, Mich., July 29.-Here, 65 miles north of Port Ubly, is a colony of Highland Scotch Catholic families, all farmers, who are an example of earnest devotion to their church and who still love and tell fond fecollections and legends of the lonely Island part of their mother country. Practically all of them are descendants of the 5,000 Highlanders, who, under the banner of Charles Edward, of the house of Stewart, known in history as the Young Pretender, fought and lost to 12,000 royal troops under the Duke of Cumberland, at Culloden, in northwest Scotland, on April 16, 1746, the last battle to restore a catholic prince to the throne of England.

The island of South Uist, in the Hebrides group, 30 miles off the northwest coast of Scotland, is where the colony sprung from. The sad experience of starching clothes all overagain can be avoided by using Celluloid Starch. When something goes wrong with starch its cost is trifling compared to the loss of time and labor. Celluloid Starch is a little higher in price than common starch but is, after all, the cheapest in the end. It saves time, its results are uniform and sure, it doesn't wear out your goods by demanding unnecessarily hard lishing, it makes cotton goods look equal to the finest linen.

Celluloid Starch gives stiffness with pliability, yields a polish like the soft sheen of satin, dazzling white and very lasting. Its simplicity is such that anybody who uses it can be sure of perfect ironing. It doesn't stick to the iron, needs no cooking, and very little labor produces a beautiful gloss. The beginning and end of perfect ironing is perfect starch, Celluloid Starch. If your grocer does not keep it send us his name on a post card and we will send you free sample.

The Champions are interest by many with a view not only of being a good game, but in the event of the Ramblers winning there would still be a chance for either of the other three clubs to get to the top. But the Ramblers were defeated, making it next to impossible for any of the others to head off the fast Somerville Club for the championship this season The game started out well, and up to the fifth inning it looked like a close contest, but at that stage the batthing commenced. Luney led off with a pretty hit to center which was followed by three more hits by Donohue, Patrick and Clark. This seemed to put the Rambiers out of play, as they made numerous errors and allowed the Somervilles to score five runs. From this inning on the Somervilles batted hard, making in all sixteen hits and thirteen runs. Outside of the fifth inning the Ramblers put up a good game. Morley's two fine throws from center field to Gillies, cutting off Maxwell and Donohue from scoring, were pretty plays. Fitzmaurice pitched a steady game, and was finely supported by Luney, who did not allow a stolen base amateur record in throwing the 28- in the nine innings, while Gillies alpound weight, Irish style, was made lowed only one. Unknown man. Samuel Lodner, Woodbury, N. J. Angelsea is one of the favorite fishing places along the Southern New Jersey coast. Every excursion train from Philadelphia and other near-by points came down crowded with visitors. After noon a brisk breeze sprung a party of twelve, bowled along, and the wind was getting stiffer and the sea rougher. A squall struck the Nora, and, as the craft heeled over, she was hit by a huge wave and turned completely the sea. As the yacht turned turtle there was a cry and then nearly all the victims disappeared beneath the water. The heavy sea, however, was responsible for the saving of most of the survivors, the waves uncovering the struggling victims, who were caught in a tangle of fishing nets and sail. After the survivors had hung to the yacht for nearly an hour the lifeboat reached them. The rescue was most perilous, as the rough sea was constantly pounding. Shortly after the survivors of the Nora were brought ashore, the Alvin B. was seen to capsize, near where the Nora went over. There were several boats in the vicinity at the time and all but one person were saved.

The London season has left him this year in much better health than last year, when a rest and change on the continent became imperative.

The full Marienbad regimen, however, will be strictly followed by his majesty. He will rise at half-past six and walk to the pumproom, where he will take his dose of the waters from a special roblet inscribed with his name. Then he will take an hour's walk, after which he will eat a simple breakfast at a little cafe in the pine woods.

The other meals are of the lightest description, no beef appearing in the daughter, Mrs. George Chandler, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. M. Ferguson, of fish and poultry, but sometimes the Wing will vary the fare with the typically British and unaristocratic dish of tripe and onions, with white sauce, of which he is fond.
