

HAMILTON WAS IN SCHEDULE POWER COMMITTEE INDICATED

Mayor Stevely Settled the Matter When He Secured, in Toronto, a Copy of the Original Agreement By the City of London With the Hydro-Electric Commission.

The city of Hamilton was one of the cities included in the original Niagara power contract signed by Mayor Stevely.

Hon. Adam Beck has intimated that much was not the case, while Ald. Beattie and several other members of the committee have asserted that Hamilton was included.

To straighten out the tangle, the power committee adjourned until definite information could be obtained on the matter.

Yesterday Mayor Stevely was in Toronto and obtained an exact copy of the original contract, and also looked over the contract he signed. It was discovered also that Hamilton was included among the cities included in the first proposition.

By Special Legislation.

The Ambitious City was eliminated however, at the time the special legislation was passed at the last session of the Legislature.

The fact that Hamilton was in the combination of municipalities at the beginning makes little difference.

At the present time that city is out of it, and the hydro-electric commission has the power to deal with Hamilton regardless of the other municipalities.

Whether or not power-users in that city will be given preferential treatment depends altogether on the commission.

If they so desire they can enter into a contract for five years or thirty just as they see fit.

Hamilton in It.

"Hamilton was included in the original contract," said Mayor Stevely today. "I saw the contract I signed."

DUTCH AGAIN CAPTURE GRAND CHALLENGE CUP

Belgians Once More Take Blue Ribbon of Henley Regatta in a Fast Race.

Henley, Eng., July 8.—The final of the Grand Challenge Cup was rowed off here today, and won by the Club Nautique de Gard, of Belgium, which defeated the Jesus College crew of Cambridge, by a bare length in the fast time of 7 minutes and 8 seconds.

The Belgians took the lead early in the race and passed the mile post about three-quarters of a length in front.

Jesus College the nuptured but was unable to make much impression on their rivals, who, rowing strongly and with beautiful precision, finished in the time which has been beaten only twice in the history of the race.

The diamond sculls, the second biggest event of the Henley regatta, was won by A. A. Stuart, of the Kingston Rowing Club, who defeated Rudolph Lucas, of the Maynard Rowing Club easily.

Lucas broke down and gave up at the mile post when Stuart was two lengths ahead. The winner's time was 8 minutes 31 seconds.

TOO MUCH MONEY

Sandwich, July 8.—The sheriff's office is worried over the novel prospect of having more money than it knows what to do with, when it winds up a sheriff's sale of goods and chattels belonging to A. A. Adams, a former Windsor merchant, who disappeared about a month ago.

The sale is to be made to satisfy claims of about $1,800. An inventory shows the stock of the store cost more than twice this amount, and there is no one in sight to receive any balance that may be left in the sheriff's hands. Adams' whereabouts are unknown.

CASE SETTLED

J. B. Smith, of the East End, this morning laid a complaint against J. Coursey, of the same locality, before Squire Chittick, charging him with violation of the health act. The case was settled on the understanding that the nuisance should be stopped, and that Coursey pay the costs of the action.

PUBLIC ABATTOIR IS NEEDED FOR PROTECTION OF PEOPLE

Trouble Has Been That the County Have It in Their Power to Allow Slaughtering in Their Territory and the Meat Could Be Sold in London in Spite of the Authorities.

The statement of Prof. Rutherford, head of the veterinary department of the Dominion Government, that the citizens of Canada are eating much impure meat, owing to the lack of inspection of slaughterhouses, has brought the question of an abattoir again to the fore in this city.

For some time there has been an agitation for an abattoir, but nothing has come of it, owing to the fact that it will be impossible to establish an abattoir until such time as the law governing this is amended.

The city could grant an exclusive franchise, but the county could allow slaughtering without inspection, and there would be little or no improvement in conditions. For that reason the city has been at a standstill.

It is probable that the city and county may get together on the subject, although the city has the power to establish a municipal abattoir.

It would cost considerable money, but it would be a paying proposition. "I have always favored an abattoir, and I still think one is necessary," said Mayor Stevely. "Of course the city has the right to build one, but it would cost a lot of money to do so."

"Had we been able to transfer our franchise to the Canadian Packing Company, a fine large factory would have been added to the city."

"We will have to do something soon."

THE KING STRONG FOR TECHNICAL TRAITIC

Says the Safety of the Nation May Depend Upon It Some Day.

London, July 8.—While laying the foundation stone of the new buildings of the Imperial College of Science and Technology at South Kensington today, King Edward gave a helping hand to the campaign in favor of higher scientific education, to the lack of which most public speakers here are in the habit of attributing England's loss of the crown in her industrial race with America and Germany. After emphasizing the "supreme importance" of the highest specialized instruction in science, especially in its application to industry today, his majesty continued: "I feel more and more convinced, as time goes on, that prosperity and even the safety of the existence of our country depends on the quality of scientific technical training of those who are to guide and control our industries. With the present rapid growth of knowledge and special education of a higher order is necessary to success."

At 10 o'clock the delegates divided into two gatherings, one in the auditorium, and the other in the Central Presbyterian Church. President Francis E. Clark was in the chair in the auditorium meeting, while N. H. Lathrop presided over the other. At noon evangelistic services were held in the Metropolitan Opera House.

QUEBEC GIRLS WELL PLEASED

Advertiser's Party Write to Say They Are Having a Splendid Time.

THE WONDERFUL SIGHTS

Are Being Enjoyed in All Quarters—Visit to St. Anne de Beaupre and Montmorency Falls.

Quebec, July 5, on board R. and O. steamer.—Our trip continues to be one of blissful enjoyment. The scenery is fine and the service the best possible.

A pleasant surprise awaited us on landing at Quebec when Mr. Frank Miller met us and gave us a breezy account of what had happened since we left, and introduced Mr. Carroll, of the Quebec Daily Telegram, and very genial travelling companions on our trip up the Saguenay.

On leaving Quebec we passed the Island of Orleans, then Grosse Ile, about where the river banks rise to a height of 2,000 feet, presenting a never-to-be-forgotten scene.

Reaching Tadoussac at noon, we walked to the Antique Chapelle, the oldest church in Canada, having been built in 1647. In the evening we arrived at Murray Bay, where we were shown through the Manor Richelieu, a very fashionable and commodious hotel. The location is certainly ideal.

A Mishap.

We enjoyed the light of the full moon until so late that it was really the cause of our only serious accident, as one of the young ladies was so weary when we arrived at Quebec that she did not sufficiently take time to pack all her luggage and left one new shoe in her stateroom, which the bellboy found, and thinking it a minor case, had planned to have an afternoon off, and invited a friend to accompany him in it.

Imagine his consternation when the stern reality of the situation was impressed upon him. Needless to say, he received a good tip to atone for his disappointment.

Our stay in Quebec left nothing to be desired. We had breakfast at the Chateau Frontenac, where the finest scenery in Canada met our gaze. The Laurentian Mountains, the Saguenay river, and the mighty river itself, made us feel how insignificant we were to nature.

Montmorency Falls.

We then visited Montmorency Falls, a most picturesque sight, where the water rushes down 274 feet on our way to St. Anne de Beaupre, where we were shown through the Basilica, a magnificent cathedral, where pilgrims come for hundreds of miles to be cured of all manner of diseases. Hundreds of cripples leave their crutches and go away cured, and there are thousands of dollars worth of jewelry left every year by people who are grateful for cures effected.

After luncheon in Quebec, at the Chateau, we took a trolley and visited all the points of interest; the Plains of Abraham, Parliament Buildings, cathedral and churches. We drove through Little Champlain street, which is only fifteen feet wide in some places.

Leaving for Montreal tonight, and expect to arrive in the morning. With kindest wishes from all, we are, THE CANADIAN TOURING CLUB, of The Advertiser.

DINNER NOT READY CAUSE OF A TRAGEDY

A Niagara Falls Railwayman Murders His Bride and Destroys Himself.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 8.—The walls of a deserted inn greeting the ears of Charles Small, a milkman, brought about the discovery of a murderer and suicide at 246 Whirlpool street, George England, 30 years old, during the night had sent a bullet through the heart of his four-months' bride and turning the weapon upon himself shot a bullet through his head.

Neither could have lived long after being wounded. England, a New York Central brakeman, was incensed when he returned home last evening to find his wife away and dinner not ready. Neighbors heard the couple quarrelling late at night, but heard no shots. The infant had belonged to Mrs. England's sister, who died recently in Detroit.

MUNICIPAL MEAT INSPECTION CALLED FARCE BY AN EXPERT

Prof. Rutherford Says Many Canadians Are Eating Diseased Meat and Conditions in Some Places Are Worse Than Those That Existed at Chicago.

Ottawa, July 7.—That a vast quantity of diseased meat is being consumed daily by the people of Canada without let or hindrance from those charged with the care of the public health, is the somewhat startling deduction to be drawn from the investigation made by the Dominion Government during the past eighteen months in administering the meat and food inspection act of 1907. Dr. J. G. Rutherford, veterinary director-general and live stock commissioner, is authority for the statement that municipal meat inspection throughout Canada is simply a farce. The work of the inspector, he says, must be done at the abattoir, and the first step required for public protection, in his opinion, is "the abolition of the private slaughterhouse with all its abominations and the establishment of municipal abattoirs."

As matters now stand there is reason to believe that abuses exist even worse than those published about the packing houses of Chicago. There were no doubt many revelations at Chicago which we never heard of, because they could not be printed, and there is official testimony on file at Ottawa to show abuses in Canada which cannot be referred to in print. Moreover, the effort by the Dominion Government, under the present law, to insure sound meat, is designed for the protection of our export trade. The Canadian consumer is only protected when he imports his meat from another province.

Municipal Inspection.

UNDERWRITERS ARE STILL PLAYING SPINX

Mayor Stevely Had Interview on Wednesday, But They Are Non-Committal.

The underwriters have not made any statement as to what they will do with the insurance rates, provided the municipal meat inspection is carried on July 26.

Yesterday Mayor Stevely interviewed some of them in Toronto on the question, but they were non-committal. A report will be made some time later, however.

"I asked them if there had been any decision as to what we might expect in the way of a reduction in insurance rates, but they said that nothing had been done as yet," said his worship. "A definite answer will be given some time later."

FOUR FLOORS CRASHED INTO THE BASEMENT

Workmen Have a Miraculous Escape When a Quebec Building Collapses.

Quebec, July 8.—Four floors of the main building of the large wholesale drygoods establishment of the Garneau Company, which has been undergoing considerable alterations and repairs, for some time, fell into the street, being put into place yesterday afternoon and fell into the basement. A large number of men were at work in the building at the time, but as if by a miracle, none were carried down with the wreck, and the only injury any of them received was a few scratches.

NIAGARA POWER AND PRODUCER GAS POWER

Former at $44 Does Not Look Good Against Latter at $20.

Niagara Power at $44 a horsepower is not attractive to users of power in London, and it is expected that the city will have some difficulty in obtaining a market for the power.

A well known manufacturer who uses from 250 to 400 horsepower, informed one of the aldermen that power at $44 "is too high for him."

"I have contracts in my possession from producer gas firms binding the companies to guarantee me power at $20 per horsepower, and for a heavy penalty," the manufacturer stated. "I would be willing to pay $30 to the city for power, but not a cent more. I cannot get it for that price I will have to instal the plant."

GOVERNMENT WILL INVESTIGATE ACTIONS

The Municipalities Laid Whole Question Before Sir James Whitney Yesterday.

The Ontario Government will probably take up the question of septic tanks, and the threatened suits for infringement of the patents of the Cameron Septic Tank Company, and it is expected that the patents, if valid, will be declared void.

A conference was held yesterday in Toronto on the matter, about thirty delegates from the different municipalities interested being present. Mayor Stevely acted as chairman.

After meeting in the Engineers' Club in Toronto, the deputation, headed by Mayor Stevely, interviewed Sir James Whitney, and laid the matter before him.

An opinion will be obtained from the patent solicitor of the Government regarding the validity of the patent, and Dr. Amyot will also be asked to give an opinion on the hygienic aspect of the question.

If it is found that the patent is valid, the attorney-general's department will take the matter up.

GRATEFUL ENGLISHMAN REMEMBERED INSPECTOR

Man Who Was Befriended by Mr. Sanders Did Not Forget It.

Inspector Sanders was the recipient of an anonymous letter episode the other day, that was much out of the ordinary run, and reveals an interesting story.

In going through his house he found a letter on the floor addressed to him. On opening it, he found a little gold half-sovereign. It referred to the kindness Mr. Sanders had shown the donor some time previous, and asked him to accept the little gift on the eve of his return to the land of his birth for a visit.

The letter was not well written, and the spelling was not correct, but a grateful heart was behind it. It was evidently written by an Englishman, for in it was a reference to the fact that he was homesick for the old land.

The inspector would not discuss the gift at all. He acknowledged that it had been presented to him, and that he did not know from whom it came, but he desired to thank the party who gave the money to him.

PORT STANLEY LAUNCH WAS A TOTAL LOSS

Mr. Green's Craft Only Partly Insured—Another Version of Flag Story.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
Port Stanley, July 7.—Wm. Green's gasoline launch, which was burned the other evening, is a total loss, and was only partly covered by insurance.

John Smale, the contractor from Port Burwell who was running in the crib in front of Hill Crest, has received the contract for the raising of the steam tug Willie D., which sank in the inner harbor a couple of months ago.

The dance at Hill Crest tonight was well attended. The orchestra furnished excellent music. The big weekly hops are becoming very popular with Londoners.

Lawrence Davey, of St. Thomas, is visiting Miss Ead at Renfrew Cottage, Hill Crest.

Miss Laura Unruh, of St. Thomas, is the guest of Miss Kathleen Smith, of Shady Nook Cottage, Orchard Beach. Mrs. Torry and the Misses Torry, of Brantford, arrived yesterday and will sojourn for the balance of the season in their cottage, Idle Hour, Orchard Beach.

Miss Adelaide Jackson, of St. Thomas, has returned to her home after visiting Miss Marion Leitch, Hill Crest.

Miss Ruth Titus, of St. Thomas, has returned home after being the guest of Miss Belle Smith, Shady Nook Cottage, Orchard Beach.

Mrs. Belton and two daughters, of London, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John A. Croden at Unreared Cottage, Orchard Beach.

Mrs. E. B. Thompson and little son Alex, have returned to their home in Woodstock, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, at The Clifden, on Hill Crest.

Mr. Benson Bann, of Harrietsville, and Mrs. N. A. Swartz, of Aylmer, are guests at the Good Times Cottage on Willow Beach.

The following young ladies were the guests of Miss Vera McDougall at Erie Lodge, Orchard Beach, on Tuesday: Miss Marjorie Ross, Miss Gertrude Williams, Miss Florence McMillan, Miss Helen McMillan and Miss Queenie Ware.

Capt. Wm. J. Berry has in his possession several letters and cards which were found at the end of the breakwater addressed to R. Richardson, care of Wm. Perry, Port Stanley, which he is holding for the owner.

Fred Flynn, representing the Bradstreet Commercial Agency, London, was in town yesterday on business.

The lady from Marfield, who was claimed to be insulting Canada, by hoisting flags, stated to The Advertiser last night her side of the story.

It appears that she and her friends, being Americans, strung up some Stars and Stripes, as well as several British flags. All the flags were on verandah posts, all on the same level, with the exception of one American flag over the doorway, which was a couple of inches higher than the rest. This angered the feelings of another cottager, who went to Squire Price and sought his aid in having the flag removed. Mr. Price found no fault with the decorations, and allowed them to remain. Thereupon the cottager took the law in his own hands and tore down the flag. At this the other cottagers were angered, and every one hoisted an American flag to express their sympathy for their American cousin. The result was a large supply of fireworks, half of which they set off on Dominion Day, and the other half on Saturday in honor of the Fourth.

AID FOR COBALT

Government Likely to Give By Remission of Taxes.

Toronto, July 7.—Mr. C. Corkill, inspector of mines, who was sent to Cobalt by the Provincial Government to investigate conditions caused by the recent disastrous fire, has reported to the Premier, and the matter will come before the cabinet tomorrow.

The Premier will not say what may be done, but it is pretty well understood that any relief granted will take the shape of aid in municipal loans and remission of taxes with grants towards the cost of food and shelter for the early days after the fire.

At Chillicothe, Mo., on the Grand River, six men were swept from a bridge today. Whether they reached land safely was not known. Hundreds of people at Chillicothe were forced to leave their homes.

At Pottsville, Mo., a thousand persons were imprisoned on roofs or in second stories for hours. Life boats and supplies were rushed there from nearby towns, but it was difficult to cross the two miles of swirling water between the marooned residents and dry land. A man was carried away by the current in the main street and drowned.

THEY WERE THE VICTIMS
Hon. J. J. Foy Clears Up Misapprehension in New York Dispatch.

Toronto, July 8.—In a statement issued yesterday, Hon. J. J. Foy said that the members who, according to a dispatch from New York, were involved in the charges against the mining promoter Mitchell, were concerned, not as partners, but as victims. Mr. Foy said: "Some people have misinterpreted the dispatch from New York in reference to the proceedings for the extradition of William S. Mitchell. It is true that some members of the Senate and House of Commons are said to have been among those who are alleged to have been swindled, but there is no foundation whatever for any statement that any members of the Senate or Parliament had anything to do with the swindling. On the contrary, they were among the victims." Extradition of Mitchell has been refused.

Almost Choked to Death.
Mr. Lionel E. Schartz, a commercial traveller, writing from Winnipeg, Man., says: "Catarrh cured me of asthma, after the doctors had despaired of my recovering. I seldom slept through a whole night without waking up in a fit of coughing. Sometimes I almost choked to death. I have not been bothered since using Catarrh. It has cured me entirely. Catarrh is the only remedy I have ever met to give such good results."

The dollar outfit of Catarrh contains two months' treatment, and invariably cures; small trial size, 50 cents. All dealers or the Catarrh Company, Kingston, Ontario.

MAN WITH A GUN STOOD NEAR TAFT

New Haven Detective Unfolds Startling Story of the Celebration at Norwich.

New Haven, Ct., July 7.—That an attempt on the life of President Taft was planned at the Norwich celebration, and that everything was not so quiet as has been reported, is the startling statement of Detective James Ward, New Haven's police representative there. Describing the incident which occurred Monday at the time of the big parade, he said:

"I was standing near the President and with me was Detective Wheeler, of the secret service, when a woman in the crowd shrieked. We thought it was for lack of air, although it was not a warm day. We drove the crowd back and as soon as we were near her we heard her gasp: 'A pistol there!' Then she seemed to faint."

"After we had brought her to her senses, she told us that a man of medium stature had stood near the President with a revolver under his coat and that in fright she had pressed her hand to her forehead, attracting the attention of some officers of the law."

After this, the detectives looked through the crowd but failed to find the person described or any information regarding him except that he had been seen hurrying away. President Taft was not disturbed.

FLOODS THREATEN THE LIVES OF MANY

Train Crashes Through Bridge, Coaches Overturn and Passengers Go in River.

Kansas City, Mo., July 7.—Swollen by unprecedented rains, Missouri Valley rivers today left their banks and caused damaging floods in many parts of Missouri and Kansas. The most spectacular accident due to the flood was the derailing in a flooded place of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe passenger train, bound from Kansas City to Denver. The rails spread near Pomona, Kas., and four of the ten coaches rolled over in 18 feet of water.

Although the overturned day coaches were empty, a telephone message tonight reports that Laura St. Clair, of Boston, suffered a wrenched back and Nannie St. Clair, a sister, sustained bruises and cuts. The St. Clair sisters were going to Perry, Oklahoma. Miss Nannie St. Clair is an elderly woman and it was while trying to assist her that the other sister was hurt.

Pomona is almost inundated. The Marias des Cygnes river at that point being three miles wide. A relief train was sent from Ottawa tonight with food and other supplies for the sleeping-car passengers, who were said to have been to climb on top of the cars for refuge from the rising water.

In Kansas City the situation is threatening, if not yet serious. In the bottoms in the western section, where are situated the stock yards, wholesale warehouses and manufacturing plants, the water from the confluence of the Missouri and Kansas Rivers tonight are lapping the danger line, and precautions were taken against a further rise.

At Chillicothe, Mo., on the Grand River, six men were swept from a bridge today. Whether they reached land safely was not known. Hundreds of people at Chillicothe were forced to leave their homes.

At Pottsville, Mo., a thousand persons were imprisoned on roofs or in second stories for hours. Almost Choked to Death.
Mr. Lionel E. Schartz, a commercial traveller, writing from Winnipeg, Man., says: "Catarrh cured me of asthma, after the doctors had despaired of my recovering. I seldom slept through a whole night without waking up in a fit of coughing. Sometimes I almost choked to death. I have not been bothered since using Catarrh. It has cured me entirely. Catarrh is the only remedy I have ever met to give such good results."

The dollar outfit of Catarrh contains two months' treatment, and invariably cures; small trial size, 50 cents. All dealers or the Catarrh Company, Kingston, Ontario.

HEADS CRACKED IN COAL STRIKE

Police Obligated to Draw Revolvers to Defend Themselves.

TROOPS READY TO MOVE

Mob Attacks Men on Way to Work, and General Manager Duggan is Wounded.

Sydney, N. S., July 7.—The strike took its first violent turn this morning at No. 2 and No. 3.

Roughness was commenced at No. 2 at 6 o'clock, just as soon as the first man appeared for work. An enormous crowd had assembled at the colliery, being composed of men, women and children, waiting for the men who were expected to go to work. All were armed with sticks and stones and eggs, and when the first man appeared they bore down on him and surrounded him, and the riot broke loose.

General Manager Duggan and a posse of police charged the crowd to open up a way for the workmen to escape.

Mr. Duggan was struck and slightly wounded on the side of the head, and several women and children were knocked under foot and a number injured.

After a sharp struggle between the mob and the police, the place was finally cleared, and the rest of the workmen were suffered to go into the mine without further interference. Eight men were placed under arrest, charged with a breach of the peace, and were later brought to the police court, where they were first fed and then tried before Stipendiary Magistrate.

Conditions were even more serious at No. 3. There the mob, assisted by women and children, attacked the men who reported for work, and by the use of sticks, stones and eggs, prevented all but a very few from entering the mine.

Heads Were Cracked.
A number of heads were cracked, and the crowd assumed such a threatening attitude that the police were forced to draw their revolvers to defend themselves.

It was reported early this morning that somebody had set fire to the fence about No. 2, and that the plant was in danger, but later it was learned that there was no foundation for such a story.

A coal train from No. 3 was held up on its way to the pit and derailed by the mob.

Regular Troops Ready to Go.
General Manager Duggan has appealed to the town of Glace Bay and Dominion and the municipality of Cape Breton for protection for his men and property, and each of these towns will swear in several constables to day. It is widely stated that the Royal Canadian Regiment stationed at Halifax is ready to leave for Glace Bay at a moment's notice.

The troops will be called if the rioting continues. An order is expected to be sent any moment, ordering them to the affected districts.

Saloons Opened Today.
Yesterday the saloons were closed tight, but today they are wide open and liquor is flowing freely. As a result the passions of the mob are inflamed and they are ready to commit almost any deed of violence.

The coal company advises that about the same number of men are working today as yesterday, and about the same amount of work is being done. The U. M. W. leaders say that colliers 2, 6, 7 and 9 are totally tied up and that 3 and 4 are completely out of business. Reserve and Dominion 1 are working with about 200 men less than yesterday, and Bridgeport is working with about 40 men less. The coal company is installing a searchlight at No. 2 colliery.

Montreal, July 7.—The attitude of the Dominion Trades Congress upon the strike at Glace Bay is at present that of "suspended animation." Neither the U. M. W. A. nor the P. W. A. are affiliated with the congress, and therefore no action has been taken. The matter is, however, being carefully watched, as the question at issue is of interest to all labor men. Mr. Alphonse Verville, M.P., the labor leader, was asked this morning as to the attitude of the congress toward the strikers, but he courteously declined to commit himself to an expression of opinion either personally or on behalf of the heads of the labor movement.

BROKE A LEG.
Brantford, Ont., July 8.—Last evening, when returning from a picnic at Mohawk Park, Mrs. T. Lyle stepped off the electric car at the corner of Peel and Colborne streets. In some unaccountable way she broke her leg between the knee and ankle. She was taken to the store and later removed to her home.

A GREAT DAY AT LAKESIDE

Many Picnickers Put in Pleasant Time at the Port.

SOME SPLENDID SPORTS

Keen Contests in the Many Events on the Several Programmes.

Yesterday was a record-breaker this season for picnics at Port Stanley and thousands of people from all parts of Middlesex, Elgin and Bruce spent the day at the lakeside, and enjoyed to the fullest extent the lovely weather and all the attractions of the popular summer resort.

For the little ones it was an ideal outing, and while their mothers sat on the beach they paddled for hours and collected shells or pretty stones.

In the afternoon after lunch had been served there were excellent programmes of sports, which were keenly contested and thoroughly enjoyed. Nearly all the picnickers had chartered special cars either on the traction line or on the Pere Marquette, and stayed over until late in the evening.

During the day a party of 250 picnickers came down from Wingham on the Huron and Bruce morning train, and spent the day at Port.

The picnic was held under the auspices of Wingham Lodge, No. 236, A. F. and A. M., and a most enjoyable time was spent. A great many picnics of Sunday schools and churches from different parts of Elgin and Middlesex were also held.

Talbot Street Church.
One of the largest picnics was that of the Talbot Street Baptist Church. The party, numbering between 200 and 300, went down on the 9 o'clock Pere Marquette train.

"It was one of the nicest picnics we ever had," Rev. A. J. Vining told The Advertiser. "The weather was ideal, and everyone had a magnificent time."

An event of the day was the winning of the men's 100-yard race, by Mr. W. Walters.

Young men's hop-step and jump—1 J. M. Thompson, 2 R. Nichols.

A baseball match was played between the Talbot Street Baptist team and a team from the First Methodist Church, and after playing for some time the game was called and the score declared a tie.

Chalmers Church.
Yesterday morning two big carloads of members of Chalmers Church went down to Port on the traction company, and held their annual picnic, which was a big success right through.

The following were the winners in the races:

Infants' race—1 Clarence Hicks, 2 Frank Robinson, 3 Chalmers Moffatt.

5 o'Clock Closing

Have you given it a thought, or have you left home as usual about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and arrived down town just in time to see the stores close, forgetting all about the 5 o'clock summer closing?

Take the Morning Instead of hurrying with the noon luncheon and exerting yourself in the heat of the day to get down town early in the afternoon, just reverse things for a day. Come down in the morning, when you can do your shopping leisurely and comfortably, with the day before you instead of the few short hours of the afternoon, and the morning air is so exhilarating; it's so cool and comfortable, too, under the high ceilings in our new store in the mornings.

ENGLISH CAPITAL FOR W. E. & LAKE SHORE

Chatham, July 7.—A number of English capitalists arrived in this city this morning, and in company with John Piggo and J. H. Brock, they are making an inspection of the Windsor, Essex and Lake Shore Railway. They were greatly impressed with what they saw of the road, and it is understood that considerable extensions are contemplated.

If the Englishmen can be induced to put up the capital they talk of doing, the road will immediately be extended to Chatham and later it is the intention to build it on to London.

ANTI-KISSING CRUSADE BY NEW YORK POLICE

Osulating Campers Arrested Whenever They Are Found.

Have you heard about this town's anti-kissing crusade?

Well, it's in progress. It's official, too—that is to say, it proceeds from and is being engineered and enforced by the municipal authorities. Nobody knows just who inspired and suggested it. Bingham, the burg's military top cop, archly denies the imputation that "he germinated the idea."

It was at first suspected that perhaps McC

LONDON, THURSDAY, JULY 8.

THE INDIAN UNREST.

The murder of Sir William Wylie by an Indian student is one of the incidents that not only show how difficult it is to govern an Oriental race, but also how difficult it is to educate them up to that condition where they will be fit for self-government. In its control of India, the English parliament finds it difficult to recognize the fact that the Indians are not imbued with Anglo-Saxon ideas. Especially is that the case in the different estimates that the two races place on the value of human life. The Englishman estimates it very highly—the Indian but slightly. Murder and suicide are serious crimes in the eyes of the one man; but the other thinks nothing of taking his neighbor's life or giving up his own.

The English people in their control of India have been trying to educate the native races. As education has progressed, the Indian has begun to feel the desire for self-government. But while the authorities have been moving in this direction, they have not moved as rapidly as the native thinks they should have done. That, under the circumstances, he should cry loudly for what he considers reforms, is quite natural, and would be quite laudable if he adopted the Anglo-Saxon methods of agitation. But he does not. He thinks his arguments can be best emphasized by the knife, the pistol, and the bomb. And this is what the average Englishman seems incapable of understanding. The Socialist or ultra Radical, who denounces the Government because it does not give the Hindoo and the Mohammedan all he asks for, may be sincere, or he may be only using the native for political purposes. In either case he does not realize that he is encouraging assassination.

Nor do English statesmen realize the intrinsic differences between the Occidental and the Oriental. A section of the so-called "advanced" Indians have been publicly preaching murder—not only in India but in England. There is a paper called the Indian Sociologist, published in London. According to cable dispatches, a recent issue of this paper used the following language: "Political assassination is not murder. All unprejudiced men treat political assassins not as criminals in any way, but often regard them as benefactors of their race." The average Englishman, reading this language, would probably dub it "communal rot," and think no more of it. He does not realize that the writer is in earnest; and that the people for whom he writes take his language seriously, and would not have the slightest scruple in acting upon it.

This indifference, coupled with that freedom of speech allowed in England, is not correctly estimated by the Oriental. He has not lost the idea, inherited through long ages of despotic rule, that if a government allows adverse criticism it is simply through fear. If the British Government is not afraid, he says to himself, why does it not chop off the heads of those men who abuse it? That is what he would do, and he judges others by himself.

It is not an easy problem to solve. There is nothing more difficult than for a man to put himself in the place of another of an alien race who, by heredity and temperament, is his very opposite. To the Englishman self-government includes self-restraint and obedience to law until the law is changed. The Oriental has not reached this plane. Until he does the governing races will have to treat him accordingly.

CHILDREN'S TEETH.

While it is generally believed that more attention is now paid to the care of the teeth of children than was the case twenty or thirty years ago, investigation at the New York health department serves to show that there is still great neglect in regard to this important matter, so far at least as that city is concerned. Under the health laws of that state children are required to obtain work certificates from the department before they are permitted to take employment. In May last 500 boys and girls, ranging in age from 14 to 16 years, underwent dental examination at health headquarters, the examination being the same as dentists make of private patients, and careful notes were made, showing which teeth were diseased, unsound, crooked or lacking. Only fourteen were found to have sound teeth, and even these needed cleaning such as only a dentist can give. In one case the teeth were completely obscured by tartar, while many had pitted teeth and malformed jaws. Among the 486 children there were 2,808 unsound teeth. Only 25 out of the 500 had ever had any dental treatment other than extraction, and for these only 41 teeth had been filled. A case quite representative of many unfortunate ones who choose display rather than health and soundness, was that of a girl with six decayed teeth who had had a dentist put a gold crown on one front tooth.

It is estimated by those who have been engaged in the investigation that if these 500 children are representative of the 25,000 who will want work papers during the summer, either that array of children must go without dental attention or their families or private philanthropy must pay out from a quarter to half a million dollars. One prominent practitioner believes that the cost may be reduced and a splendid educational campaign begun by enlisting the services of recent dental graduates. The Children's Aid Society has offered to equip dental clinics in fifteen industrial schools if dentists can be found who will give their services, as is now being done at two of the large city schools, or if individuals will come forward to provide funds to engage dentists who will be in attendance constantly. The Brooklyn Bureau of Charities has offered to both assist children to find dentists who will do work at reasonable prices, or to pay for the work on all Brooklyn children whose parents cannot afford the expense. In Manhattan there are organizations which are willing to aid in a similar work.

The condition of the teeth of children is a matter of much importance, as on it depends to no inconsiderable extent their health in after years, and a little of the interest shown by organizations in New York would not be out of place in other communities.

LIVE STOCK INSPECTION.

Some interesting statistics regarding the inspection of live animals entering and leaving Canada is contained in a blue-book recently issued by the department of agriculture. During the year ended March 31, 1908, there was a very large falling off in the importations of horses from the United States, as compared with the preceding twelve months, when the number entering almost doubled that of any previous similar period. The import inspections of horses in 1907 totalled 43,234; in 1908, 24,404. The import inspections of cattle for 1908 were 11,924, as compared with 26,147 in 1907, and of sheep, 53,424, against 95,905. The imposition of a 30-day quarantine on hogs has resulted in an almost total cessation of the importation of this class of animal. As a result of danger of hog cholera being imported by other than legal methods—a much dreaded possibility in view of our previous experience of this disease—is almost nil. From countries other than the United States the import inspections last year were 1,456 horses, 233 cattle and 2,790 sheep, against 1,354 horses, 176 cattle, and 1,122 sheep in 1907.

There were tested on arrival from the United States last year 3,633 horses, 247 of which were in infected shipments. Fifty-four of the animals were found to be diseased and were returned. Two swine and one cow were refused admission from the United States, at Emerson, Man., for being affected with hog cholera and tuberculosis, respectively.

The pure-bred imports last year totalled 1,703 horses, 1,238 of which were from Great Britain and 358 from the United States; cattle, 244 from Britain and 379 from the States, while of the 2,875 pure-bred sheep imported, 2,790 were from the mother country. Export inspections also form part of the work of officers of the department. These are conducted at Montreal, Bridgeburg, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Winnipeg, St. John and Halifax, while local shipments from Canada are inspected at other points as circumstances warrant. The excessive severity of the winter of 1906-07 resulted in a serious diminution in the number of western cattle exported last season.

All cars conveying cattle from the range country are thoroughly cleansed and disinfected after use, while the system of double inspection, by which all western cattle are unloaded and carefully inspected at Winnipeg, and again on arrival at Montreal, renders it highly improbable that affected animals can leave the country. During the year ended March 31, 1908, there were inspected for export 535 horses, 148,447 cattle, 116,207 sheep and 272 swine, of which 240 cattle and 125 sheep were rejected—all but 91 for lameness or injury received.

FATE OF THE BOYS.

There are nearly a million boys each year who terminate their school life and go to work to earn a living. The majority of them are poorly equipped for their life work by what they have learned in school. Their education is along such lines that they are able to continue it long enough they make fair bank clerks, stenographers, etc., but poor carpenters and plumbers or any other skilled laborers.

The question is, shall the effort to give boys a practical industrial education be left to totally inadequate private endeavor, or shall the public educational system be as interested in fitting the youth of the country for skilled mechanical trades as it now is in equipping them for a life behind the counter or an office chair?

The establishment of manual training courses in connection with some public school systems is evidence that public educators realize that mechanical as well as academic education is a legitimate public effort, and that such courses have not yet been placed on a practical basis.

ROMANCE OF MARRIED LIFE.

(Savannah, Ga., News.)
Really, the romance of life begins only after marriage. It is then that character is developed, that personality is cultivated, that the individual becomes a confirmed old maid or old bachelor, life is more or less in the nature of a picture, with comedy and athletics predominating. The most in it is fun and frolic, music and dancing, running and singing, plucking flowers, and so on. That is, it is a picture, a rule, that comes the realities that make men and women great and noble, or the reverse.

ENGLAND AND MOHAMMEDISM.

(Brooklyn Standard Union.)
The only power which has been able to preserve law and order in Mohammedan countries is England, whose king is sovereign over more followers of the prophet Mohammed than the Sultan of Turkey. Egypt and India and the Sudan are examples of what can be accomplished by overwhelming force. Germany would doubtless be glad of the chance to show what it could do in Asia Minor and Armenia and Syria; but still more hopeful, because more nearly possible, is the expectation of an improvement to come about as the result of the new semi-constitutional government of Turkey.

FAT, FAIR AND FORTY-TWO.

(N. Y. Tribune, July 2.)
"Our Lady of the Snows" yesterday blushing confessed to having seen forty-two summers. We beg to assure her that she doesn't look it, though she is big enough, strong enough, rich enough, and stable enough to be ten times as old.

LEPROSY.

(Chicago Tribune.)
With all the progress in medical science it would appear that leprosy has not been clearly defined. Nor are physicians agreed as to its possibilities of contagion. The disease of a young soldier at Washington is fresh in the public mind. Cast out as a leper, deprived of all society, shunned by all, and under the ban of medical and civil law, he has been a thing at once of pity and abhorrence. Yet now physicians declare that his case is not one of leprosy, and he has been taken to New York City for examination. A legislative committee went to the settlement and reported that the petitioners should be brought to Honolulu. The board of health brought eleven of the suspects to the capital and infected them to rigid examination. Some of these patients had been sent to Molokai years before bacteriological experiments were used in determining the disease. The same disease, it is now known, is not contagious. At that time, after having been pronounced infected with the leprosy bacillus. But on the re-examination none of the eleven was found so infected.

THE MODER NOVEL.

(Westminster Gazette.)
In a new and thrilling story advertised to appear in the Spectator, the author is prodigal with his sensations in the very first chapter. Within twenty lines the heroine is in the hands of a villain, and to her "dry, convulsing lips," feels the blood leave her face; hears words of insult in her ears; feels something singling in her head; and the veins in her neck swell so that she fears they will burst. At this point the author, in her noble effort in the name of literature.

MOST WIDELY-CIRCULATED.

(From the London Globe.)
The most widely-circulated book in the world, we are informed by a Paris contemporary, is a Chinese almanac, printed in Peking by the Imperial Press. The edition consists of 8,000,000 copies, which are sent into the provinces, and so great is the interest in it that it is sold at a high price. The information contained, that of the 8,000,000 copies not one comes back to the printer. The almanac is the Bible, and next to the Bible in popularity comes "Don Quixote," and then Uncle Tom's Cabin. This is difficult to accept as true, but the figures are attained by any publication in the western world. A TORONTO-FACE.

(Hamilton Spectator.)
A Toronto woman earned a dollar for her services as a "face" for a man. Only a Toronto man would have the face to let his wife do a thing like that.

A MAILMIS.

(Vancouver Sun.)
For the Mail and Empire it is always silly when it discourses on politics, but it is a long-earred ass of itself as it has in criticizing the appointment of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King as Minister of the Interior that he was not a hony-fisted "labor" man.

FAMILY LONGEVITY.

(From the London Standard.)
At a local Government board inquiry held yesterday at Sheerness at the instance of the army council with a view to compensating the Urban District Council to join three public bodies on the mainland of Kent

In having a medical officer of health without private practice, it was stated that there was a family of four brothers and one sister living within half a mile radius of the council chamber whose ages were 35, 36, 72, 78 and 72 respectively.

THE AIRSHIP AGE.

(New York World.)
Signs multiply of the near approach of the expected age of aviation. The adjournment of Congress to witness the trial of a Wright aeroplane, the announcement of a national exposition of air craft to be held in Boston next spring; the presence of aeronauts near Calais waiting for weather conditions favorable for a European flight across the English channel—these incidents of a single day's news, together with the advertised offer of dealers to supply airships within 40 days after the receipt of orders, testify vividly both to the wide interest in air travel and to the progress made toward its realization. With the secret but just learned, its application to practical uses is well under way.

WOULD DISALLOW IT.

(Hamilton Times.)
The confederacy legislation passed by the Whitney Government in the Cobalt Lake case, and the acts passed to close the courts of justice against private citizens seeking adjudication of their rights in that case, and in the hydro-electric power matter have been productive of much adverse criticism. These cases involve such a serious breach of faith and such an attack upon the security of property and the right to access of the courts that it is not to be wondered at that they have alienated the confidence of the people. The effect being to weaken confidence in the safety of investments made in the Province where laws impairing the obligations of contracts are tolerated by the people. Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, while severely castigating legislation of the kind, did not in the Cobalt case advise the province to hold it to be within the competence of the Province, however vicious or unjust it might be. The statutes depriving citizens of access to the courts in the power matter are still subject to be disallowed, and there is a very strong sentiment in favor of such a course.

FIELDING'S SUCCESS.

(Hamilton Times.)
Hon. Mr. Fielding is being highly complimented for the success of his loan floated in London the other day. It was an unprecedentedly large one, the total being over thirty million dollars. A large proportion of the amount is merely for the renewal of expiring loans, which bore a much higher rate of interest. The remainder is mostly for investment in the National Transcontinental Railway, which will yield the country a revenue.

THREE POLITICAL IDEALS.

(Toronto Star.)
The claim of Great Britain to be the "mother of free nations" is amply justified. In the British Islands was the first birthplace of the constitutional monarchy. The representatives of the race in America worked out the idea of a French republic. The representatives of the race in Canada and Australia worked out the idea of the self-governing commonwealth under the empire.

STRATHCONA'S LATEST.

(Montreal Herald.)
Lord Strathcona is persistent in his munificence. His gift of half a million to the National Museum, and his gift of the medical faculty up to the highest standard, is worthy of his past and of the traditions of the institution. It is the heart of the whole world seemed genuinely touched by the unexampled loss of a community that refused to accept the wiping out of millions as more than a temporary setback. The months that succeeded the fire took off some of the brightness of the smile from the face of Lord Strathcona. The extent of the disaster was then first appreciated. The labor unions, which it was hoped would rise to the level of the occasion and give unstinted aid in rebuilding, adopted the evil policy of barring out recruits from other places in order to increase their own wages. In a city which clamored for good conscientious mechanics was seen the spectacle of brick masons receiving $12 a day and soldering half of their eight hours; carpenters getting $8 a day, plumbers $10, and lathers $15 a day—all putting in their time in the most approved union methods, while the owners of buildings were straining every nerve to secure money at high rates of interest and to complete their buildings rapidly. It was a heart-breaking experience for the enterprising men who began rebuilding before the ashes of the fire were fairly cold, and to add to the exactions of the labor unions came the dealers in materials, who advanced the price of brick, lime and all other necessary articles. Even the teamsters who hauled these materials added $1 a load and had some excuse for this exaction in the condition of the streets. When the millions in insurance money were paid out in the fall and winter of 1906, San Francisco showed the side of its character that was in keeping with its courage and its high spirit. Much of this money which the shrewd financiers expected to see go into rebuilding was actually spent in the purchase of luxuries. People in good circumstances who lost all their household treasures in the fire wanted good things again, and so an era of senseless extravagance set in. The insurance money lasted four or five months.

JAPAN'S STRENUOUS SCHOOLING.

(New York Post.)
The spread of moral and industrial training in Japan is recorded by the minister of state for education in his 34th annual report. It was the Russian war, of course, that started the movement. Brought into the circle of world powers, Japan's first thought was intense economic development; her second was to check moral dissolution, and it was driven in upon her by the belief of critical tongues that ensued when Christian missionary, German socialist, Buddhist and the cosmopolitan trafficker who knew no law, met her youths in her marketplaces.

AGED BUT EFFICIENT.

(London Standard.)
Of the workmen employed by the Marlborough district council for work on the district roads ten of them average 70 years of age, their combined ages being 701 years. The district council formed the council that they were all capable of earning good money at piece work.

DID SPENSER WRITE ENGLISH?

There is a good deal of truth in Ben Jonson's observation that "Spenser writ no language." He employs words no one ever used before or since. He employs words in a sense no one else has ever given them. It was not, however, this disregard of ordinary usages to which Jonson was referring specifically. His condemnation, as it is contained in the preface to the practice of attempting to reproduce the language of a previous period. In his eyes it was clearly not practicable, and even if practicable not desirable. The whole business of "affecting the ancients," as he phrased it, was objectionable in whatever language attempted. He praised Virgil for his rare use of older forms and terms. He censured Lucretius for his fondness for the rugged survivals and revivals of the past. "He seeks them," says Jonson, as some do Chaucerisms with us, which were far better expunged and banished." As the greatest scholar of his time, at least among men of letters, Jonson could not have failed to be struck both by Spenser's evident attempt to imitate the diction of his predecessors and by his frequent failure. He saw clearly then, what is far clearer now, that the poet, while trying to use the language spoken by the men of a former generation, was often using a language which had never been spoken by men at all.—Harper's Magazine.

SAN FRANCISCO'S BIG TRANSFORMATION

How the Damage Done by Fire and Earthquake Have Been Repaired.

The rehabilitation of San Francisco since the fire and earthquake of April, 1906, has witnessed as much courage, self-sacrifice, pluck and optimism as was seen immediately after the disaster.

In the first flush of enthusiasm, which was a rebound from the sense of crushing loss, the work of rebuilding seemed easy. Large amounts of insurance money were soon to be paid, banks and financial institutions at the east were eager to promise aid, the heart of the whole world seemed genuinely touched by the unexampled loss of a community that refused to accept the wiping out of millions as more than a temporary setback.

The months that succeeded the fire took off some of the brightness of the smile from the face of San Francisco. The extent of the disaster was then first appreciated. The labor unions, which it was hoped would rise to the level of the occasion and give unstinted aid in rebuilding, adopted the evil policy of barring out recruits from other places in order to increase their own wages. In a city which clamored for good conscientious mechanics was seen the spectacle of brick masons receiving $12 a day and soldering half of their eight hours; carpenters getting $8 a day, plumbers $10, and lathers $15 a day—all putting in their time in the most approved union methods, while the owners of buildings were straining every nerve to secure money at high rates of interest and to complete their buildings rapidly.

It was a heart-breaking experience for the enterprising men who began rebuilding before the ashes of the fire were fairly cold, and to add to the exactions of the labor unions came the dealers in materials, who advanced the price of brick, lime and all other necessary articles. Even the teamsters who hauled these materials added $1 a load and had some excuse for this exaction in the condition of the streets.

When the millions in insurance money were paid out in the fall and winter of 1906, San Francisco showed the side of its character that was in keeping with its courage and its high spirit. Much of this money which the shrewd financiers expected to see go into rebuilding was actually spent in the purchase of luxuries. People in good circumstances who lost all their household treasures in the fire wanted good things again, and so an era of senseless extravagance set in. The insurance money lasted four or five months.

Everybody bought things and lived well. The hotels, restaurants and stores flourished. It looked as though good times had come back to stay. Then came the big street car strike of May, 1907, and within a week a cruel frost had blighted the spurious prosperity.

For six months all business was badly crippled, rebuilding suffered severe check and banks refused to loan money for rehabilitation. When this strike was ended up came the financial stringency to put a crimp in San Francisco's recuperation and again there was a check to the recovery of business.

When the stringency was past then the city was set fairly on the road toward prosperity. Eastern life insurance and trust companies found San Francisco investments very attractive and large sums were lent, while the local commercial and savings banks again began to lend on good city property. The active movement downtown of large retail business firms began and with restored pavements and sidewalks, the heart of the retail centre again began to take on its old appearance.

Quick Work.

Anyone who saw the city just after the fire, when only the steel skeletons of a dozen skyscrapers broke the wide expanse of miles of ruins, and who sees it again today, can scarcely believe that such a transformation has been wrought in a little over three years. Not only are all these skyscrapers rehabilitated and finished far better than before the disaster, but there are miles of fine business blocks all slick and span and with the latest improvements in fire extinguishing devices.

Before the disaster of San Francisco had so good a fire department that many owners of property and many merchants carried little insurance, but the fire changed all that. Even with the heavy insurance rates few take any chances in these days. All learned a wholesome lesson in those days, when the fireproof structure went down before the great sea of flame precisely like the cheap wooden building.

Perhaps the greatest change is seen on Market street, which is like Broadway, the great central avenue of the city, the street of streets for trade and traffic. For a mile and a half this street was swept on both sides, the ferry building at the lower end was uninjured, but from the ferry to Van Ness avenue, nothing was left except the shells of a few big office buildings whose interiors had been gutted.

Of these the Flood Building at the intersection of Powell and Eddy streets was the most speedily restored, because the Southern Pacific Company leased the greater part of the structure and rushed the work of reconstruction. Speedy also was the restoration of the Claus Spreckles Building in Newspaper Row, at the junction of Kearny, Geary and Third streets. The Palace Hotel was a hopeless ruin, and the new building is now only nearing completion.

Many fine new banks and office buildings now line this great thoroughfare. The best block is that on the south side from Fourth to Fifth street. Here are four new structures which fill the entire block, of which the Emeryum Building is the only building that was rehabilitated. The others are all new.

The Phelan Building.

The finest structure on Market street is the Phelan Building, at the corner of Market and O'Farrell streets. This building cost over $2,000,000, and it is a fine type of the new, up-to-date office buildings. Some idea of the rents secured on Market street may be gained from the fact that in the Phelan Building the tenants of stores pay at the rate of $70 a month a front foot.

Almost equally high rentals are paid by stores on Geary, Grant avenue, Post and Sutter streets in what has become the heart of the retail drygoods district. Grant avenue, which a few years before the fire was given over to cheap stores with concert halls in the cellars, is now one of the great retail trade avenues from Market street to Sutter. It is given over mainly to women's goods, as are also Post and Sutter streets from Grant avenue to Kearny street.

The latter street has suffered since the fire. It cost the White House which was a centre of women's shopping at the corner of Sutter street. This famous store is now located at Sutter street and Grant avenue in a very handsome building. Kearny street is now given up largely to men's wear and to office buildings. It is built up pretty regularly from Market to California street, but the structures are not so fine as on Grant avenue.

In the old banking and insurance district the changes have been simply in the way of far finer buildings. The Bank of California has rebuilt on the old site at California and Sansome streets—a structure of the classic style in white granite which is the most beautiful business building erected since the fire. Another very handsome building is the Alaska Commercial Company's building, directly across Sansome street, with its decorations of walrus heads.

Nearly all the banks and insurance companies have returned to their old sites, but conspicuous exceptions are the First National, which has built a splendid granite structure at the corner of Montgomery and Post streets and the San Francisco Savings Union, which is just beginning a granite building for its own uses, at the northeast corner of Grant avenue and Market street. This is a part of the old Blythe Block, and as property is worth $10,000 a foot, it is difficult to understand why a savings bank should have selected this costly corner for its new home when a location as good for its purposes could have been secured nearby for one-half the money.

Probably the greatest changes in San Francisco may be noted south of Market street in the old Irish tenement district known as Tar Flat. Here before the fire were thousands of cottages and old two-story wooden buildings that swarmed with the children of the poor. Most of the men who lived in the small alleys that lay between the wider main streets were employed in factories or rolling mills or shipyards, and they chose this quarter for residence because of cheap rents and nearness to the scene of their daily labors.

The fire drove all this tenement district out to the mission, where the people found new homes. The fire ordinances forbade the rebuilding of wooden structures in the old Tar Flat district and the alleys are gradually being invaded by manufacturing houses or business plants; but many blocks are still lying idle, as the owners hoped to see some relaxation of the fire rules.

SUN COOKING.

Sun cooking—roasting and boiling by sunlight instead of gas or coal—has been going on for 300 years. There are sun stoves that roast a sirloin or boil a soup to perfection. They are only used, however, by scientists.

A sun stove consists mainly of a mirror, a spherical mirror, on a joint. There is also a reflector. The place for pot or plate is so situated that the mirror's rays can be focused on it accurately.

A German, Baron Tchernhausen, was the first sun cook. He began in 1687 to boil water, and in 1688 he had very good success in boiling eggs. Sir John Herschell and Buffon are other famous names associated with sun cooking.

In California various sun cooks have boiled a gallon of water in twenty minutes, roasted meat in two hours and poached eggs in fifteen minutes—quite as good time as the ordinary fire makes.

An odd thing about meat roasted by sun rays is that it has an unpleasant taste. This is avoided by the insertion of a plate of yellow glass between meat and mirror. In all solar stoves the sheet of yellow glass figures.—Tit-Bits.

THE SULTAN'S CLOWN.

[Sports of the Times.]
Every event concerns the profession. The connection between the variety showmen and the deposition of Abdul Hamid, the cruel Turk, is not obvious, but the Stage points out that it cost a French clown his position. Years ago the Frenchman exhibited a trained cat. The Sultan liked the show; had the Frenchman arrested and imprisoned in the Yildiz Kiosk, and paid him $2,500 a year to train animals for the amusement of the ladies of the harem. The Sultan is now a prisoner, subjected to the third degree, the harem women are scattered to the winds; and the Frenchman and his cat find themselves out of date in the modern variety halls.

Cleveland, July 7.—Right at the eleventh hour, when victory seemed out of the reach of the Naps of Larry Mulle, Cleveland snatched George Mullin and his Tiger companions in under an avalanche of base hits today, and the Champs dropped the final game of the series to the Buckeyes.

"Detroit 3, Cleveland 1," read the score when the Napslanders came up for their final appearance at bat. Then G. Mullin, the man with the hoodoo number of victories to his credit, and a class student of aerodynamics, took an aeroplane ride, and when he descended to terra firma again the Champs were behind in the run column, the count being 4 and 3.

Addie Joss Twirled.
Addie Joss, the Tiger terror, twirled for the Lajoles. Joss wasn't in the very best of form, but his pitching was steadier than Mullin's throughout the game. In fact, the Tigers were aided and abetted in the rounding up of two of their trio of scores by some very faulty fielding of Cleveland. Cleveland got all of her tallies by means of healthy, full-grown bingles.

"Don't" Bush didn't like the way Evans was handling the game and he kicked. His protest was so vociferous that he booted himself out of the game, and Charlie O'Leary went in at the short garden position.

Uncle Ned and Generous More Finished Lane in Front

IAN BARS WAS BEST IN THE PACE TOOK IT IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Another Fine Day's Racing Before a Big Crowd.

SECOND EVENT WAS SURPRISE

Dan McEwan, With Elk Girl, Makes a Hair-Raising Finish.

Another fine day's racing was furnished a large crowd yesterday afternoon at Queen's Park. Every race was a contest, and there was plenty of excitement all the time.

The fast pace went to that honest little race horse, Ian Bars, who won it in straight heats. He was well within himself all the way, and although he had to step in 2:14—the fastest he has gone yet—he had plenty of reserve.

The other race went to Wild Hunter, who paced one of his very best races. This race was split up somewhat.

The running events were good, too, supplying plenty of interest.

In the first race there were seven starters. As was to be expected Ian Bars was the favorite. In the opening heat, he secured a comfortable position at the start, and moving up on the back stretch, he took the pole. After that he set his own pace, and won by himself. Lady Baxter made a determined effort to take his money in the stretch, but the little fellow moved away when he wanted to. St. Anthony was a bang-up third. Romboough laid up with Annie V. Brino, the first heat, finishing an ordinary last.

After that the contest was merely for second money. The Brino mare was sent out for this part of the purse, and won it almost as easily as Bars captured the race. Lady Baxter finished third in the second heat, and took down third money.

A surprise. Stonewall was somewhat of a surprise. Stonewall was the public choice, and he was well backed to win.

He paced a true race, but he had not speed enough to get to Hunter who was in right good form. Dan McEwan took the first heat with Elk Girl. This was the real hair-raising finish of the season. He took his charge out in front at the start, and made his own pace. Stonewall went after the mare, and in a terrific drive down the stretch he fought every inch of the way. When he was near the finish, he was in a bad way. Elk Girl had the edge. Miss Swift was as good as her name, and closed with a terrific burst of speed, being beaten by the heat would have been hers. It was a close finish, and the crowd was uncertain how the heat was decided.

In the second heat Bedford made his stand with Wild Hunter. He rushed him to the front, and after that he was never in trouble. Stonewall challenged on one or two occasions, but had not the speed. Miss Swift and Perfection in the second heat got the flag. Both were in poor form, refusing to pace at all.

The third and fourth heats were repetitions of the second.

The Running Race.
The running race, eighth-mile heats was a fair contest. Miss Felix, a fast-moving filly, owned by Farr, of Petrolia, had the speed of the party, and won under wraps.

In the dash, the winner turned up in Maemooren. Teeta H was the favorite, and there was a strong play on him, but he was not good. Red Top ran a good race, and should have been better ridden.

The crowd was large, but it is expected that it will be larger today. The programme this afternoon is a choice one.

The Five-Eighths Run.
Miss Felix, with Karr up, took both heats in the five-eighths run, beating Nigantic in the first in 1:02, and Generous More, Beck's cast-off, now owned by Mr. J. McDonald, of Hamilton, in 1:04. Mr. McDonald rode his own horse, but the chestnut finished lame, Uncle Ned, with Mallin up, was also in the race, and appeared to be in worse shape than the Hamilton horse, and is probably out of the game.

Gun Shot was drawn after the first heat, and Nigantic, Anyway and Uncle Ned were distanced.

The Seven-Eighths Dash.
Maemooren copied first in the seven-eighths dash, Teeta H. getting second money, with Red Top in for show. White was on the winner and rode a great race, covering the ground in 1:31 1/4.

NEARLY A SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT RACES
Dog Darts on Track, Scare Cere-monious and Two Horses and Riders Are Thrown.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Buffalo, July 8.—A small dog running on to the track in front of a flying bunch of horses in the sixth race at Fort Erie yesterday caused what might have been a most serious accident. The sight of the tiny animal dashing across the track frightened Ceremonious and before his jockey could prevent he crowded into the others in the race, with the result that Campaigner stumbled and fell, and Jack Baker, right behind, also went down. The jockeys were sent flying over their heads and seemingly into a maze of flying hoofs. The accident occurred in full view of the stand, and as it seemed impossible for the unfortunate riders to escape what looked like serious injury a chorus of cries went up from the crowd. Interest in the race was lost sight of for the moment, but the crowd breathed easier a moment later when both Deverich and Hufnagel, the riders who were thrown, were assisted to their feet and were able to walk off the track. Neither was hurt, beyond a severe shaking up. One of the horses that fell, Jack Baker, was the favorite for the race and his stumble brought dismay to many who had backed him to win. With him out of the way, the race went to Arrow-swift, although he had to run a corking race. Ceremonious opened a big gap, and it seemed he would last long enough to win. J. Reid, however, put up a splendid assist on the Belvidere gelding and just got his head in front as they went by the post. Red Hussar (Crummer) was third.

EMPIRE HANDICAP WEIGHTS.
Sheephead Bay, July 7.—The weights for the Empire City Handicap, one mile and a furlong, to be run on Saturday, July 17, were today announced as follows:
King James, 129; Celt, 123; Restigouche, 119; Fitzherbert, 118; Jack Atkins, 115; Alfred Noble, 115; Hilarious, 114; Live Wire, 110; Joe Madden, 110; Fayette, 107; Maltbia, 106; King's Daughter, 106.

GENEROUS MORE INJURED IN RUNNING

The Beck cast-off was one of the starters in the King's Plate and has been showing class. He finished the second heat of the five-eighths run in bad shape, and may be out of the game.

WALTER J. TRAVIS DEFEATED CANADIAN

William J. Reekie, of Toronto, Bester in Final Round for Golf Championship at Buffalo.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Buffalo, July 8.—Setting a new record for the Country Club links, and playing a brilliant game that elicited round after round of applause from an enthusiastic gallery that followed him over the course, Walter J. Travis yesterday defeated William M. Reekie, of Toronto, in the final round for the Western New York golf championship. The amateur champion was in rare form and gave an exhibition seldom witnessed. Those who have seen other clever golfers make the Country Club course were amazed at the form shown by Travis. His drives were marveled at accuracy and he made each one of the first six holes in four each, an augury of the precision of his play and the beauty of his calculation. He made the trip out in 34 and back in 36, a new record for the course, and one likely to stand for some time.

The Toronto golfer lost no prestige in losing to Travis. It was the champion's wonderful driving that won for him. Where he excelled in the long strokes the Canadian excelled in the puts. He was remarkably accurate in this respect—much more so than Travis.

THE EEL WILL GO AGAINST RECORD FRIDAY
Famous Pacer Will Try to Cut Down the Canadian Record at Queen's Park—Other Features.

The Eel will go against the Canadian record at Queen's Park tomorrow afternoon, and a matched running race between horses owned by two Americans who are attending the local meet will be put on.

The free-for-all will also be well attended. A big crowd is expected out tomorrow, as The Eel's exhibition will certainly be worth seeing. The match race is said to be the result of a dispute at the track yesterday.

GOSSIP OF THE RACES

There was a continuous procession of drivers and riders to the judges' stand. There were a number of complaints about bad drives, crowding at turns and other rough driving. McEwen and Crummer were asked about some rough drives. McEwen drove a noisy heat behind Elk Girl and the driver of Stonewall thought he waved his whip too far and wide. Dan was told to be quiet in future. Crummer's case was not a serious one, Charlie Barrett claiming that he was crowded by Crummer turning into the stretch. There were many minor complaints also.

Two runners broke down completely in the heat race. Uncle Ned, owned by R. Erskine, went wrong in front. The injury was a serious one, and will put him out of the racing business. The other accident was to the Beck cast-off, Generous More, who ran lame in front, and it is likely he will face the barrier again.

Yesterday's race makes the fifth won by Ian Bars, the Stratford pacer. His mark is now 2:14, and he could lower it easily. He has only lost one heat since the season opened, and that was to Stonewall, at Seaford. Since then he has marched away from them in handy fashion, and always with Campbell ready for the big ring, and if they are right there should be something doing. Either one will make somebody's horse step to town to beat them.

Merry Widow and Grand Opera, two of the fastest uncovered in recent years, were both absentees yesterday. It is understood that both are being got ready for the big ring, and if they are right there should be something doing. Either one will make somebody's horse step to town to beat them.

Elk Girl went one heat very well, but after that she was not good. McEwen tested her with her and worked her to the limit to win. It was by the scantest of margins that she got the place.

The meeting is beyond question the best ever given by the London Trotting and Pacing Association, and is worthy of the best consideration by the public. No better conducted meeting could be wished, and it is particularly free from objection.

KETCHELL AND LANGFORD IN A FINISH FIGHT

Middleweight Championship of the World Will Be Fought For on 6th of September.

San Francisco, July 8.—Stanley Ketchell and Sam Langford will fight to a finish in an event on Labor Day, Sept. 6, for the middleweight championship of the world and a purse of $25,000. This was the announcement made late yesterday by Willus Britt, manager of Ketchell. Tex Hall, said to be representing a syndicate of mining men of the Nevada copper companies, has been in this city for several days, attempting to arrange the match, and yesterday Willus Britt agreed to accept his terms. Ketchell will sign the agreement today, and the articles will then be sent to Boston for Langford's signature.

HERRMANN DOES NOT FEAR BASEBALL WAR

"Garry" Says That Team Delivering Goods Always Wins—That American Association.

Cincinnati, July 8.—When "Garry" Herrmann, chairman of the National baseball commission, was asked today concerning the reported coming invasion by the American Association of Chicago, Cincinnati and Pittsburg, he said:

"Yes, I've heard that talk, but it does not worry me. A baseball war always goes to the team that can deliver the goods, and we're doing pretty nicely, thank you. However, I don't take any stock in this talk. There's nothing to be gained by the American Association in a fight with the two big leagues, and that's what an invasion of Chicago, Pittsburg and Cincinnati would mean.

"When I see the American Association players going out to their local park in carriage and hear the umpire yell 'Play ball!' then I'll believe that Cincinnati is to be invaded by the American Association, and not before."

George Campbell's pacer, Perfection, was not right yesterday, and seemed unwilling to work at all. He broke repeatedly, and always with Campbell had him in a good position. He was not out of his class with the party, but he simply would not behave.

The programme is again in charge of Jordan & Bernstein, the hustling boys from Toledo, Ohio. They come every year, and they are always welcome. They are hustlers, and keep things moving. They are doing well, but will do much better before the meet ends. They keep the programme up to date, and it is reliable.

A big bunch of runners arrived yesterday, and there will be plenty of horses to fill the five events to be run Saturday afternoon. This will be an innovation, and should be well patronized. Keep Saturday's programme in mind.

Charlie Barrett has a bad one to handle in Raymond F., but he is rapidly schooling him out of his tricks. He looks speedy, and when he is steadied away should prove a useful horse.

The colored driver, Roland, from Mohawk, N. Y., has not had much success so far, but he is always trying. He should get some of the coin before the week ends.

Jack Romboough and Dan McEwan may win heats, but so far they have not won races. Both are some teamsters, mark you.

H. J. Conley, of Toronto, is starting the runners, and he is doing a fine bit of work, too. When the wigglers are going he is associate judge with Dr. Routledge. They are doing excellent work, and have had many close ones to decide.

The track was slow yesterday also, and the time made by Ian Bars was all the more creditable.

THE SENECA BEATS OLD CUP BOAT
Rochester Freak Wins From Iroquois, But Loses Second Race.

Rochester, July 7.—The Seneca, last year's defender of the Canada's Cup, again showed her supremacy on the waters of old Ontario on the holiday when she succeeded in defeating the Iroquois and the Rochester. The wind was from the west, at the start, and was blowing about ten miles an hour. The course was east to the buoy and back to the starting point, covering a distance of about six miles. The Seneca took the lead at the start, closely followed by the Rochester, while the Iroquois travelled in third place.

The Iroquois lost on the run to the east mark. After turning the buoy she passed the Rochester, but was unable to catch the Seneca on the jam to windward and finished the race 47 seconds behind the Seneca.

LIBRARIANS GATHERED IN ANNUAL CONVENTION
The Western Ontario Association Met at Chatham—Discuss Summer School.

Chatham, July 7.—The second annual meeting of the Chatham Public Library Institute, comprising the libraries of Essex, Lambton, Kent and West Elgin, was a great success, the attendance being large and representative. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Westman, A. B. McCole, M. P., G. W. Sulman, M. P., and J. W. Humphrey, chairman of the library board. The opening address by Norman Gurd, Sarnia, dealt with "The Library and the Cultivation of Patriotism." Mr. Gurd advocated special collections of books on the Indian period, the French period, Canadian biography, and the use of the study hour.

Dr. Voaden, St. Thomas, discussed the classification problem, and Mr. A. B. Carscallen, Wallaceburg, spoke eloquently on "The Modern Public Library and Its Policy."

The financial problems of the small library were ably considered by Mr. A. Denholm, Brantford. His Honor Judge Hardy, Brantford, president of the Ontario Library Association, paid a feeling tribute to the work and worth of the late public library inspector, Mr. T. W. H. Leavitt, and dealt at some length with various library activities. Circulation was vital to a library, the books must be read or the library is a dead thing in the community. Good fiction, classic and current, is an indispensable feature, and the work of the library must be put constantly before the people.

A Summer School.
The training of librarians was discussed by Mr. E. A. Hardy, Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Library Association, who urged the necessity of such training in order to make the library efficient. He advocated a summer library school under Government aid and control, the course to embrace such topics as selection of books, purchase of books, classification, cataloguing, reference works, children's work, magazines and periodicals, bulletins, etc. Such schools are found in several American States, and this province ought to be abreast of the times. Government examinations and certificates should be given and a small extra grant made for certificated librarians. A resolution expressing their regret at the death of Inspector Leavitt was passed.

Wallaceburg was chosen as the place of meeting for next year, and Chatham library board was given a hearty vote of thanks for its most generous hospitality. The officers for 1909-1910 are: President, A. B. Carscallen, Wallaceburg; secretary, J. W. Hamilton, Sarnia; executive, Dr. Voaden, St. Thomas; Dr. Charters, Chatham; Dr. Mitchell, Wallaceburg; W. J. Twoby, Chatham.

COLBORNE BEAT DREADNOUGHTS
A very interesting game of ball was played yesterday afternoon on the Colborne street diamond, when the Junior Colbornes defeated the Dreadnoughts by 5-3. The batteries were: Junior Colbornes, Logan, Kent and Richmond; Dreadnoughts, Campbell, Johnstone and Eastwood.

ASK THE GOVERNMENT TO ASSIST IN SUITS

The Municipalities Take Septic Matter Before Premier Whitney.

Toronto, July 7.—The using of septic tanks for treating sewage is an infringement of a patent held by the Cameron Septic Tank Company, a United States firm, according to this concern's demands on many Ontario municipalities. These cities and towns have united for their mutual protection against the damage claims now against them.

A deputation of civic officials from several of these cities and towns, including London, Guelph, Waterloo, Berlin, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Peterboro, Preston and Barrie waited on Sir James Whitney today and informed him of the situation that has arisen. Since the provincial board of health had recommended this system of sewage disposal, and many municipalities were now using it, the Government was requested to retain counsel, both medical and legal, to report on the claim of infringement made by the United States firm. The municipalities by placing their sewage in tanks dissolve the most of it, and in the process of dissolution conditions are created which work for the destruction of the sewage. The company claims no monopoly of the tanks but of the system.

Mayor Stevely, of London, introduced the deputation. The spokesmen were: T. G. Meredith, city solicitor, of London; Mayor Hahn, of Berlin, and Mayor Means of Woodstock.

The Premier assured the deputation that their request was reasonable and that it would be dealt with at the cabinet meeting tomorrow. The Government will communicate its decision to Mr. Willis Chipman, C. E., of Toronto, the secretary of the deputation.

TRIES TO KILL GIRL AND SELF

Boards Smell Gas and Couple Are Found Unconscious.

New York, July 7.—James Morey is in a Brooklyn police station, charged with having tried to force a young woman to die with him. Miss Catherine McAuley is in the Long Island College Hospital, recovering from her startling experience with Morey.

The man had become greatly attached to Miss McAuley, but her parents objected to his attentions, and she informed him that he must not call on her again. A letter from him induced her to call at his boarding-house and there, she said, he tried to kill both himself and her.

"At first he wanted me to sign a written statement that we had planned to die together, and had turned the gas on," she said. "But I refused to do this, and tried to get out of the room. He locked the door, closed the windows tightly and then turned on the gas jets without lighting them. I tried to open the door, and he attacked me, choking me and throwing me to the floor, where he held me."

Other boarders smelled the gas, and after the door was broken in, Morey and the young girl were found unconscious from inhaling gas.

ROOSEVELT KILLS CHARGING LION

Nalvasa, British East Africa, July 7.—The Roosevelt expedition is enjoying good hunting and all the members of the party are well. This information was brought into Nalvasa today by courier from the Sotik district.

Mr. Roosevelt has killed a splendid maned lion, one lioness and four rhinos. He brought down the lion while the beast was in full charge, the bullet penetrating the middle of the chest. Kermit Roosevelt has secured one big bull rhino, one lioness and two rhinoceros. Both hunters have brought down a large variety of other game.

The party is coming to the farm of Capt. Richard Abernethy, on the south shore of Nalvasa Lake, where Mr. Roosevelt and his son will use a launch hunting hippopotamus.

WORK SIDE BY SIDE FOR HUMANITY'S GOOD

Brilliant Oration by Hon. Mr. Lemieux at Champlain Tercentenary.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 7.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, postmaster-general of Canada, delivered a speech in connection with the Champlain Tercentenary at the dinner given to President Taft here today in which he paid a high tribute to the President and dwelt on the necessity of harmony, mutual effort and reciprocity between Canada and the United States.

"We have learned to know Mr. Taft almost as though we were his own countrymen, and to admire and respect him no less," said Mr. Lemieux.

Referring to Champlain, the speaker said: "As missionary, soldier or statesman or even as historian, Champlain will always remain one of the great figures of American history. No man foresaw more clearly than he the vastness of America's destiny."

Probably nowhere in the world, the speaker said, were there two states bound more closely together in the interchange of commerce, in the unity of thought and speech and friendly intercourse, and in all that goes to make up the sum of every day life, as Canada and the United States. "In commerce," Mr. Lemieux said, "there was room for expansion between the two countries, an expansion which would mean an increase in the commerce and prosperity of both countries and an even greater intimacy than is known at present."

The speaker detailed the broad development of his country's resources during the past few years and said it would only be a year or two when the transcontinental railways, with innumerable feeding and calling lines, would place the broad northern land with a network of railways.

In concluding Postmaster-General Lemieux urged that the two countries should work side by side in promoting the welfare of their people and in advancing the happiness of mankind.

STRATHCONA'S HUMOR

It's of the Pawky Type, and Below is a Sample.

London, July 7.—Lord Strathcona, the Canadian high commissioner in London, has humor of what Scotchmen call the pawky variety. Four or five months ago an old man called at the offices of the Dominion of Canada in Victoria street and asked to see Lord Strathcona, saying that he was the cabman who drove young Donald Smith down to the docks and his ship when years ago he left Caledonia to make his fortune in Canada.

Lord Strathcona gave orders that he should be shown in at once, and the pleasantly two old men gossiped of "auld lang syne" and "bonnie Scotland." Suddenly the cabman heaved a portentous sigh, Lord Strathcona asked its meaning. The cabman explained.

He had not been prosperous but had fallen on evil days. He had to support two grandsons, and one of them to his grief had just died. He had little enough to bury him with and next to nothing with which to support himself and the other. Lord Strathcona passed a five pound note quickly into the waiting hand of the fearful grandfather.

Now the cabman has just made his second call and the high commissioner, not forgetful of the first visit, had the veteran driver brought into his private room. Once more the atmosphere of the office became thick with Highland reminiscences. Once more the cabman sighed and then with a trembling voice he related how in his old age he had to support his two grandsons, and now both of them were down with typhoid fever. "I hope, my lord," said he, "you did not give him anything. When he saw you some months ago he told you that of his two grandsons one was dead. Now he says both are down with typhoid fever. It looks, my lord, as if he might be an impostor."

Lord Strathcona eyed his well-meaning secretary from underneath his bushy brows.

"Thank you, thank you, very much, Mr. Jones," he purred, "but do you know that when I went to Canada first I was not driven, down to the docks in a cab at all, but just wheeled my own things to the ship in a wheelbarrow."

The sanitary official took steps to clean out his abode, which reeked with the years' accumulations of rags and other street refuse, despite the pitiful appeals of the beggar. As the bundles of rags were being removed showers of gold and silver coins fell to the ground, so much that six bags were filled. In addition to the coins, which were chiefly Portuguese and Spanish, government securities and shares in different companies were discovered, the whole totaling over $3,000.

A bank book was also found, showing a deposit of $5,000. Inquiry further revealed that Manacas owned four houses. His entire fortune is estimated at about $25,000.

BEGGAR WORTH $125,000

Lisbon, July 7.—For many years a typical type of the many professional beggars in Lisbon has been an aged man named Manacas, who daily perambulated the streets and begged for alms. He lived in a filthy hovel, apparently in the deepest poverty.

"There's a Reason"

MANY ENTRIES FOR CANADIAN HENLEY

This Year's Regatta Promises To Be Most Successful in Years.

Toronto, July 7.—Although it is a little early for the entries for the Canadian Henley they have already started to come in, and Captain Barker is confident that the regatta this year will be a greater success than ever.

The Argonauts, as usual, head the list of entries with junior and senior eights, junior and senior fours, special 140-pound fours, junior and senior doubles, junior and senior scullers, in fact they are entered in every event on the programme.

The Torontos and the Dons will also likely make a strong showing, although their entries will probably not be in until the last minute.

Ottawa will send up an eight and two fours, although they are having trouble in getting the shells shipped here. Hamilton will have one or two fours and an eight. They are borrowing a shell from the Argos for the latter.

It is the first time they have been competed, and they will be worth watching.

St. Catharines will be represented by several crews, and some of the Winnipeg men are expected. If the westerners do come down you can rely upon it that they will make a good showing, and will keep the local men on the hustle.

The only Americans heard from so far is the Detroit Club. They have promised to send over a couple of eights and several scullers. The secretary expects to hear from other American and Canadian rowing clubs during the week, and everything points to a big entry list and a most successful Henley.

The Detroit regatta starts on Aug. 6, the week after the Canadian Henley, and the Argos, as usual, will have a big entry. It is hoped that the Dons of Toronto, and some other eastern clubs will take this opportunity of repaying Detroit for their kindness in coming here, and be on hand on Aug. 6 and 7 to keep the Argos company in the Detroit camp.

SHEKEL DAY IN LONDON

Only of Few Years Standing, But Is Recognized by the Zionists.

London, July 7.—Shekel Day is an institution of only few years standing in England, but it is well recognized among the Zionists. It falls on June 21, and on that day it is the duty of every good Zionist to go the round of his friends and acquaintances gathering in shekelim in support of the general activities of the Zionist movement.

A shekel, of course, is the old unit of coinage used by the Hebrews, and as revived by the Zionists its value varies in accordance with the standard coins of different countries. In England it is represented by a shilling, and every contributor of one shekel is entitled to vote for a delegate to the next congress.

In the East End of London on the morning of June 21 workers for the Zionist cause made a house to house canvass, the district having been mapped out and divided. Shekels were gathered by scores from earnest Jews, who look to the Zionists for a new Jerusalem.

In the evening a public meeting was held and the news given out that the Zionist Congress this year had been postponed till December, as certain developments were pending in the general situation favorable to the Zionist movement and the work in Palestine.

STRANGE RUSSIAN SEXT

The Police Find Evidence of Human Sacrifice.

London, July 7.—After the Doukhobors, the Krausobosniks. For months past the police of the Government of Perm, Russia, have been endeavoring to trace a number of persons who had disappeared, mostly young men and girls. At length they received information that the Doukhobors had been connected with the disappearances with a religious sect, the Krausobosniks, the members of which met in secret.

The police broke into one of their gatherings. The people were found to be worshipping idols carved in wood. On a sort of altar a boy was lying, bound hand and foot, while over him stood a priest chanting in a strange tongue and beating a long knife. There could be little doubt that a human sacrifice was about to take place, so the police arrested all present.

On a search being made in a cave hidden by the rocks an underground graveyard was discovered, from which the police exhumed several bodies which were subsequently identified as those of persons for whom they had been seeking. It is said that the victims had all gone voluntarily to their deaths, in a spirit evidently of religious mania. Charges of murder will be preferred against all the members of the sect who have been arrested.

THE AGE FOR SCHOOL.

Children at the age of eight are often supposed to be too young or too delicate for school. They are not. The child is sent to a school where there is a proper amount of supervision and care of the individual without codding. In the stages of late childhood health is almost at its best. The disorders of early infancy have been avoided or recovered from. Many of the specific fevers may have been satisfactorily passed through. The records of our hospitals for children show an extremely low mortality at this period. The brain has almost reached its adult size, perception acute, the mind restless and inquiring, the memory good and lasting, and the senses keen and alert. There is great endurance for short stretches, wonderful vitality and extraordinary activity.—The Hospital.

A ROMANCE OF YORE RETOLD IN COURT

Two Lovers Who Like Romeo and Juliet Shared a Common Grave.

London, July 7.—A love story of 160 years ago was retold the other day in the probate court.

It was the story of two lovers who were outcasts for their love, who shared a common grave like Romeo and Juliet.

It was, moreover, the story of a child left behind, deprived of father, mother and brothers, whom death had struck down together in a common fate, of a child, who, alone in the world, was deprived of his inheritance.

This unfortunate little one afterwards rose to be the captain of a king's ship. He was Captain John Twisden, who died in 1853, eighty years after his parents' death.

Mr. Justice Baggallay Deane was asked to say that he was right, right Sir John Twisden, and that his uncle, Sir John Papillon Twisden, had usurped his title.

Aged Petitioner. A declaration was asked that there had been a true marriage between his father and mother, and that his grandfather, Rev. J. F. Twisden, of Bradbourne, Kent, is the lawful holder of the baronetcy.

In form the petitioner was Emily Henrietta Twisden, an old lady who is now 95 years of age. It was she who asked for a declaration of legitimacy as being of the generation nearest to the marriage in question.

Mr. Rawlinson, K. C., who told the story, introduced his hearers to a house at Portsea in the year 1762. There has just been invalided home from the wars a young naval lieutenant, William Twisden.

He is a younger son of a famous Kent family, the Twisdens of Bradbourne. In this family there are two baronets. One of them, Sir Roger, the fifth of his line, is the young lieutenant's father.

Lieutenant Twisden has come to the house to be nursed. His nurse is Mrs. Kirby, the daughter of a petty officer. She has a pretty daughter, Mary. The young people fall in love.

The next step in the story is lost. Counsel cannot say where the wedding took place, but of the fact that there was a wedding he is quite sure.

The baptismal certificates of children who were born of the union show it.

Century-Old Letters. There were letters—they were produced in tatters—which, Mr. Rawlinson contended, proved the marriage beyond doubt.

Poverty overtook the young couple. The baronet, Sir Roger, was a stern and prejudiced father. He refused to see the son, who he thought had lowered the family name by mating with the daughter of a petty officer. All he would do was to send out small sums to relieve their financial distress.

A note in the father's writing recorded that one of the children died at Walthamstow.

"For tolling the bell at Walthamstow on the death of my child, Tommie, on the 11th of May," said another entry was: "Paid Mrs. Scavenger for Billie's board."

The other children were "Jackie" and "Charlie."

Mrs. Twisden died in 1771, and after her death her husband wrote to one of his brothers who had taken of their father being "justly incensed."

"The woman," as you have been pleased to call her, or the good woman, as you might well have said, is dead, and has left me in a wicked world that is without her like. She is dead and happy. I am alive and miserable.

"Two hours before her death she cut out her children's mourning, and made arrangements for her funeral. I will starve in a ditch, or die in a jail, rather than not comply with her desires. Unhappy me."

In another letter Lieut. Twisden said: "I wish that we had all died with her. I love her offspring better than myself for her sake. Charlie has died of a most dreadful sort of smallpox. I fear that Billie, Jackie and I are infected. May one grave, I pray shortly receive us all."

Brother's Usurpation. This letter was prophetic. Within a few days the father and one of the little ones were dead. Jackie was left alone in the world.

In 1779 John Papillon Twisden, on the death of his brother Roger, assumed the baronetcy, despite the fact that he was younger than William.

In a family document Jackie was described as "the natural son of William," for the Twisdens were determined to ignore the marriage of Jackie's parents.

The son of Sir John Papillon died in 1841, and then the baronetcy lapsed. Jackie, an old man at that date, did not claim it. He used to compare his story to that of the hero of Thackeray's "Emmond."

The first witness was J. R. Twisden, a solicitor, son of Rev. J. E. Twisden. During his evidence a letter was produced in which it was stated that Sir John Papillon Twisden developed eccentric habits.

He used to sit and peep at the villagers going to church, and a little hole made for the purpose in the park wall. He often expressed regret for the injury he had done his nephew. The hearing was adjourned.

TOOK SIX, GOT WELL

Mrs. R. C. Small, of Ottawa, certainly ought to know a lot about rheumatism. Goodness knows, she suffered long enough. For years, she was almost a cripple and at times the pain was so severe that she was compelled to lie helpless in bed.

"About a year ago," writes Mrs. Small, "I saw Fruit-a-lives advertised and decided to try them for my rheumatism. After I had taken two boxes, I was much better. I took six boxes—all—have had no pain for over six months—and feel that I am completely cured. I have gained over ten pounds in weight and am strong and well."

And yet there are some people suffering with rheumatism, who have not given "Fruit-a-lives" a fair trial. Perhaps they don't want to get well. "Fruit-a-lives" are a positive cure for rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia and all troubles arising from impure blood.

50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box 25 cents. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-lives, Limited, Ottawa.

MODEL RESCUED AFTER MANY YEARS

Found at Bottom of Lake and Now Shown in England.

London, July 7.—There is now on exhibition in London, at the gallery of a West End art dealer, an antique bronze statuette which will probably arouse much interest among archaeologists and lovers of classical art. It is the draped figure of a woman a little over three feet in height. It was rescued from Caligula's gallery, which has been lying for nearly nineteen centuries at the bottom of the Lake of Nemi.

Some years ago Prince Odescalchi gave permission to Signor Borgini, a Roman dealer in antiquities, to send divers to explore the bottom of the lake and search for the two galleys of Tiberius and Caligula. They found the galleys, which Don Cassius has described, and brought up some bronzes, chiefly the statue of a handsome woman wearing the elaborate dress of the time, with necklace and bracelets.

The right arm is extended and the left is held close to the side. The hands and arms are modelled with great beauty and delicacy. The surface of the bronze, except from incrustations, has taken several different colors. From blue to green, according as it was exposed to water only or pressed into the sand. The condition is that the bronze was cast in nine pieces, exactly fitted together.

As to the person represented, several suggestions have been made by the experts who have seen the statue, but it seems more probable that it was a lady of the Imperial court rather than the famous Diana Nemorensis—the goddess of the lake, whose services, down to Imperial times, were performed those strange, primeval, sanguinary rites which have supplied the author of "The Golden Bough" with the foundation of his theory of early religion and society.

PRICES FOR FAMOUS PICTURES RUN HIGH

Turner's "Burning of the Houses of Parliament" is Sold for $62,000.

London, July 7.—Prices at Christie's are still running high. The dealers, already loaded up with Turners or French landscape portraits or French landscapes, cannot appear to allow their own stocks to be depreciated by sacrifice prices at auction. The famous picture, "Burning of the Houses of Parliament," by the Agnews, and sets a new standard for other works of superlative merit from the same hand. The same remark applies to the unprecedented prices for Constables.

A future Radical chancellor of the exchequer may find the increment in the value of works of art a new source of revenue. What is more probable is an export duty for the benefit of national collections and the relief of patrons of art who are constantly called upon for subscriptions to prevent the capture of art treasures by American millionaires.

Among works under the hammer this week are Rembrandt's "Descent from the Cross," once in the Hampden collection; Turner's "East Cowes Castle," painted for John Nash, and several Rembrandts, Raeburns and Hoppners. This will be followed by the dispersal of Sir Cuthbert Quilter's collection, which includes "The Coronet's 'Villa Pamphili,' Burne-Jones' 'Green Summer,' Herkomer's 'Last Muster,' Holman Hunt's 'Scapegoat,' Landseer's 'Midsummer Night's Dream,' Millais' portraits of John Bright and Joan of Arc, Turner's 'Venus and Adonis,' and other famous works.

The collection of Ford Madox Brown's works has been opened at the Leicester galleries, illustrating every phase of his career, and tending to prove that, while he was influenced by the pre-Raphaelite movement, he maintained individuality of style and finally became a master of decoration, as shown by the cartoons for the Manchester town hall.

ALE MADE OF POTATOES.

One of the most remarkable menus ever drawn up must have been that of the feast to which Franklin, Lavoisier and other distinguished men sat down as guests of Parmentier. Every dish at this banquet was made of potatoes, and even the brandy and liquors were the product of the same vegetable.

This was Parmentier's final proof to his skeptical fellow-countrymen that potatoes were not poison, as they persisted in believing. Louis XVI. himself was one of Parmentier's earliest converts, granted him land on which to grow his plants, and did not disdain to wear the potato flower as a boutonniere. Then Parmentier cleverly

OLD LONDON ACCLAIMS THE RUSSIAN MARTYRS

Hears the Story of Vera Figner
Who Was 23 Years in a Fortress.

London, July 7.—London is greatly interested just now in the story of Vera Figner, one of the most heroic figures of the Russian revolutionary movement and a prisoner for 23 years in the fortress prison of Schluesselburg. She was a speaker and guest of honor the other evening at a meeting of Russians in South Place Institute. The meeting was presided over by Felix Volkovskiy, and among those present of prominence were Prince and Mme. Kropotkin.

Mme. Kropotkin has written an account of the life and sufferings of this noble advocate of the rights of women and the rights of the people, which is reproduced herewith:

By Madame Kropotkin.

"The number of women martyrs in the Russian liberation movement is enormous. Thousands of them remain unknown, even by name, even to those who take an active part in the movement, or closely follow it, but there are names deeply engraved in the heart of every lover of freedom in Russia, and one of these women's names—the dearest and most venerated—is that of Vera Nikolaevna Figner.

V. N. Figner was born in 1852, in a well-to-do noble family. She received her education in a high school for noblemen's daughters—an institution de dames—came out with the highest honors. The strong movement which was going on then in Russia for the right of women to higher education, and the other great movement, 'To the people!' carried her away. She passed in her examinations as a trained nurse, and went as such among the peasants. Her experience as a peaceful worker, who tried to help the people out of their misery, brought her to the same result as it had already brought many other peaceful reformers in Russia. She saw that the benefit of the people is possible in Russia under the autocratic regime. She became an ardent advocate of a constitutional change. She was soon convinced—as she said herself before the court during her trial—that the only way open in Russia for obtaining such a change was the revolutionary way.

In the Russian Bastille.

Youth, beauty—she was a very beautiful woman—all that wealth and privilege promised her in life, was thrown away for the sake of her country. She took part in the most daring revolutionary work of the eighties, and especially in the propaganda in the army. She was arrested in 1882, betrayed by a traitor—the Azeff of those times—De-gaev. For two years she was kept in solitary confinement in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul; and at last,

In 1884, she was tried, with thirteen others, under the accusation of revolutionary acts and propaganda in the army. She was condemned to death, but the death sentence was commuted into one of hard labor for life. However, this last sentence was reprieved still more cruel by immuring Vera Figner for life in a solitary cell in the fortress of Schluesselburg—the fortress of which its governor said to the inmates: 'No body has yet walked out of this fortress; all have been carried out.'

There she spent twenty years. No voice from the outside reached her until 1904. For thirteen years not a single letter was allowed to reach her, or allowed to be written by her to her old mother. Upon her fellow-prisoners the fascinating personality of Vera Figner had the most beneficial effect. They did not see her, but her very presence among them and her courage were enough to exercise a high moral influence upon them.

At liberty she was ready to die for her people. In prison she was ready for the same sacrifice for the sake of her comrades. In 1902, when the authorities wanted to deprive the Schluesselburg prisoners of the privilege of having books, and some manual work—a privilege they had won by a long series of efforts, by hunger, strikes, and by the self-sacrifice of some of them who had committed suicide, saying that they did it for the sake of their comrades—when these privileges were taken away from the omnipotent Von Plehve, Vera Figner saw that this would be equal to a death sentence upon all her comrades. They would end in madness, die from scurvy, or commit suicide—as so many had done during the first ten years, when no work nor books were allowed.

She then decided to sacrifice herself in order to save them; to commit some breach of the fortress discipline which would mean for her the scaffold, but would bring her before a court-martial, where she could tell at least all that was going on behind those impenetrable walls. When the governor of the prison, a colonel, entered her cell, she tore away his epaulettes. She knew it meant a death sentence, and she prepared for it.

But in Russia things happen quite otherwise than elsewhere. One may be hanged by a local governor without any form of trial—it is done often enough—and one may not be executed even when the military penal code is quite explicit. A strong agitation had begun at that time all over Russia, after Nicholas II. had ordered nearly two hundred students to be transported as soldiers to Port Arthur as a punishment for insignificant university disorders. To hang a woman at that moment would have been risky and Vera Figner was not tried.

Free After Twenty Years.

Two years later she benefited by a manifesto issued on the occasion of the birth of an heir to the Russian throne. Her imprisonment for life was commuted into a twenty years' imprisonment, and in 1904, as she had already spent twenty years in the fortress of Schluesselburg, she was liberated, and exiled to the Province of Archangel.

Then came the eventful year of 1905. In October her heart throbbed with joy when the cry 'Long Live the Constitution' resounded in the streets, and nobody was put in prison for it. But that lasted a few days only. The old regime was restored with sword, rope, and fire. The old nightmare that Russia had lived through under the rule of the Czar came back, and Vera Figner's heart is full again of the old sorrow.

"I almost regret," so she said the other day at a meeting, "that I am not in my lonely cell in the fortress. There I was dead for the outside world. In my ignorance of it I suffered less."

ENGLISH DEATH DUTY EXCEEDINGLY HIGH

Estate of £5,000,000 Passing to Strangers in Blood Would Be Taxed Nearly One-Fourth.

London, July 7.—An interesting statement furnished by the Chancellor of the Exchequer appeared in the parliamentary papers. Mr. Lloyd George, replying to a question by Mr. Bernard, said:

"An estate of £5,000,000 if passing to strangers in blood would be liable, on a rough estimate, to death duties amounting to £1,120,000 under the existing English law, £1,165,000 under the budget proposals, and £1,020,000 under the French law."

"If such an estate passed in the direct line the death duties might be roughly estimated at £700,000 under the existing English law, and £791,500 under the budget proposals, and £240,000 under the French law."

"Supposing a person possessed of £5,000,000 to be in receipt of an income therefrom at a rate of 4 per cent, or £200,000 per annum, he would pay in income tax (at the present rate of 1s in the pound), £10,000. Under the budget proposals he would pay £11,600 income tax and about £4,900 super-tax—in all, £15,500."

"Under the French income tax proposals, as I am informed, an income of £200,000 would pay 4 per cent to begin with, i.e., £8,000, together with a 5 per cent super-tax, which would involve a further charge of £10,000, or £18,000 in all."

The "Lake of Bays" Country.

A handsome brochure, artistically illustrated, has been issued by the passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System, telling of the beauties of the Lake of Bays district, in the "Highlands of Ontario." A new feature of this district is the new hotel—the Wawa—at Norway Point. The hotel itself has a page illustration, reflecting the summer glories of woodland and water, with a brood of seven wild geese soaring skyward beyond the tower. The concise description embodies the story of a charming resort. A copy can be obtained free on application to J. D. McDonald, D. P. A., Toronto.

OWNERS OF DIRT HEAP HAVE FORTUNE IN IT

Pile Will Yield Radium and Give Profits of $500,000 Per Year.

St. Ives, Cornwall, July 7.—On a hill just back of this ancient, quaintest and most picturesque of English towns is a huge rubbish heap that is said to be worth a fortune because of the radium in it.

When that statement was first made and called to America it probably was treated with the same sort of scepticism that a similar yarn, coming from America, would receive here. But now that the existence of the most infinitely costly of all minerals is vouched for by the radium heap have yet been advanced. There is much pitchblende still in the mine itself is certain. Above the water level a large lode of it has been struck, and considerable quantities of it have been brought to the surface.

CALLS COBALT FIRE TRAP

Board of Trade Will Now Move To Get Fire Protection.

Cobalt, July 7.—Ways and means of bettering Cobalt's sanitary condition and fire-fighting facilities were discussed at a lengthy meeting of the board of trade last night. Without formulating any definite policy it was decided to adjourn until Thursday night when a special meeting of all businessmen will be held.

At this meeting it is probable that the town council will be asked to appoint a paid fire chief and an inspector whose business it will be to see that the proper regulations are observed in all buildings.

Chairman Milton Carr, a big merchant here, characterized things here as a disgrace to a civilized community, and said that when the insurance underwriters paid their promised visit to the town, they would see "the greatest fire trap in the world."

An attack was made on the town and township councils who have been fighting over a $75,000 bylaw for months that was drawn up for the purpose of installing a permanent water and sewerage system.

As a way out of the difficulty Mayor Lang suggested a joint meeting of the two councils and this may be arranged immediately.

The general meeting on Thursday will recommend a new fire alarm system with alarms on nearly every corner of the town. At present there is only one bell in use, located at the town hall near the centre of the town, which spreads out for a mile or more in all directions.

prices more than $500,000—may be looked for annually in the near future.

On what he bases that expectation I don't know. The mine is only 200 fathoms deep, and up to within 100 feet of the top it is filled with water. And that water cannot be pumped out and the mine explored until the new reservoir for St. Ives, now well under way, is finished. The water in the mine is radio-active. When the mine is pumped up it is said that the water will be bottled and sold, and doubtless it will be discovered that it possesses wonderful medicinal virtues of some sort, though for many years the St. Ives folk have been drinking it without discovering that it had any extraordinary properties. Perhaps that may be attributed to the fact that their drinking water passed through two other abandoned mines, on behalf of which no claim to radio-activity have yet been advanced. There is much pitchblende still in the mine itself is certain. Above the water level a large lode of it has been struck, and considerable quantities of it have been brought to the surface.

CENTRALIZE THE LAWS THAT GOVERN TRUSTS

U. S. Attorney-General Says It Is the Inevitable Result of Conditions Today.

Paducah, Ky., July 7.—Congress should control organization of corporations doing an interstate business, according to an address delivered before the State Bar Association by Geo. W. Wickersham, attorney-general of the United States, tonight.

Mr. Wickersham treated the trust question as it appears to the present national administration, the address being notable chiefly for the recommendations that Congress should enact a law providing for nationally-created corporations to carry on interstate commerce.

Mr. Wickersham sketched the ways by which states may regulate business of foreign corporations within their boundaries and advocated that the license of any foreign corporation be vacated if 50 per cent of its stock was owned by any company, domestic or foreign, or if that amount became later so owned.

"Of course, many will object to the centralizing of a law authorizing the formation of corporations to carry on interstate business," said Mr. Wickersham. "But such a law seems to me to be the inevitable result of economic conditions."

The speaker said this would logically follow the tariff tax on corporations. He tried also to show the separate states how they might control the business of a foreign corporation in their limits.

Dealing with the citizenship, and standing of corporations, Mr. Wickersham quoted decisions to show that they were not citizens in the meaning of the federal constitutional requirements that citizens of each state should be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States; that the power of a state to prevent a foreign corporation from continuing to do business is but the co-relative of its authority to prevent such corporation from coming into the state; that the state in passing on these questions might take cognizance of acts done elsewhere.

"The unlimited extent of the power of the states recognized by the supreme court," said Mr. Wickersham, "is strikingly illustrated by the decision in the case of the Security Mutual Life Insurance Company versus Prewitt, where the constitutionality of a statute of Kentucky was upheld."

DROWNED IN THE RIDEAU.

Rebels Capture Colombian Towns

Colon, July 7.—A revolution has broken out in the Republic of Colombia, apparently against the Government of Rafael Reyes, the president of the republic, who is now in London.

This news was brought into Colon by the British steamer Median, which has just arrived from Savanilla, Barranquilla and its sea, Savanilla, seventeen miles away, are in the hands of the revolutionists.

Private letters received here from Colombia report that the town of Santa Marta also has fallen to the rebels, but the Median brings no confirmation of this intelligence.

The trouble began Sunday morning at Barranquilla, the governmental headquarters of the revolutionaries, and spread rapidly to other points. There was little resistance, and the rebels were on the whole successful. Two hundred men, armed with rifles, then marched down to Savanilla, and took that port without firing a single shot. Only one prisoner was taken, the captain of the port, and he was sent back to Barranquilla.

A Colombian gunboat was seen Monday night approaching Cartagena, but no news of what has occurred at this place has reached Colon. When the Median left the Colombian coast it was rumored that an American warship was expected momentarily at one of the coast points. Persons well versed in Colombian affairs are of the opinion that this movement is the beginning of a fusion of all parties against the Government. There is no direct telegraphic communication between Colon and the Atlantic coast of Colombia. All telegraphic news from the Atlantic side has to go first to Bogota, then down to Buenaventura, on the Pacific coast, and thence north by cable, and is subject to Government censorship.

LONDON STANDS HIGH IN BANK CLEARINGS

Only Seven Cities in the United States Are Ahead of City of Montreal.

It is an interesting fact, and one well worthy of comment, that in the listed bank clearings of 110 of the large American cities of the United States, only seven of them show a larger clearance than Montreal, according to Bradstreet's Montreal shows a clearance of $109,031,190 for the six months ending June, 1909. Against this there is New York, with $9,111,703,294; Chicago, with $1,186,719,823; Boston, with $659,387,405; Philadelphia, with $573,932,026; St. Louis, with $268,719,046; Pittsburgh, with $199,433,620; and Kansas City, with $189,936,337, for the same period. This is a remarkably creditable showing for Canada's eastern metropolis, and Toronto also compares favorably with American centers of population in this regard. San Francisco's $147,044,954, stands before the second Canadian city, which shows second tenth on the list, with a clearance of $122,561,523.

All Going Ahead.

The report is interesting, too, as a decided indication of the return of good times. Not a single city in the 112 listed shows a retrograde movement, but there is a pronounced advance all along the line. Especially is this noticeable in the case of New York, whose bank clearances during the past six months have shown an increase of almost double the clearance of the same six months of the preceding year. The grand total for the United States for the past six months is $14,015,684,101, an increase of $4,262,397,332 over the similar period last year.

This is equally so in the case of Canada. Her clearances for the past six months total $433,854,466, or an increase of $110,345,559 over the similar period of the preceding year.

City of London.

London, too, compares very favorably with other cities of her size in respect to her bank clearances. In fact stands pretty well at the head of the list of her cities, and, indeed, in many cases hopelessly outclasses them. London's recorded bank clearances for the past six months shows $5,386,457, again $4,569,231 over the same period of the preceding year.

These statistics seem to show beyond the shadow of a doubt that the back of the hard times has been broken and that the land is once again upon the high road to unprecedented prosperity.

NAVIES IN RIO

Railway Workers at Woodstock Strike and Refuse to Leave Cars.

Woodstock, Ont., July 7.—About 50 Italian navies, who are occupying a work train in the C. P. R. yards here, and engaged in track laying, went on strike this afternoon. The men demanded a raise from $1.35 to $1.50 per day, which the contractor refused to grant. A row followed, and the city police had to be called on to quell what amounted to an incident riot.

Mr. and Mrs. Froone left last evening on a honeymoon trip, and on their return will take up their residence in Glangerry County, near Prescott.

Brantford, Ont., July 8.—This morning a young lad named Miller was in the river south of this place, having a swim, and was drowned. The life-saving boat was called out and his body was recovered about 11 o'clock. Miller, it is said, lived between Ancaster and Hamilton, and was on a visit to friends in West Brantford.

INTENDED TO SUICIDE.

Windsor, July 8.—The police found an unidentified woman sitting on the Grand Trunk dock late last night. When she was taken to police headquarters she refused absolutely to talk or to give any information about herself. An unsigned note was found on her giving an Essex address, and containing instructions as to the disposition of a body. It is believed it referred to herself and that she intended to commit suicide.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS MADE BIG SENSATION

Highlanders and Foot Guards Make Fine Showing at Plattsburg.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 7.—New York State's share in the tercentenary celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain reached its climax today. Tomorrow the scenes of pagantry, the parades, the speechmaking, the interchange of compliments among the three nations of France, Great Britain, and the United States, who shared in the history-making of the Champlain country, will all be transferred across the lake to Vermont, and Burlington will have its fling.

Canada had a large share in today's celebration, and on the American military reservation at Plattsburg barracks this afternoon, the President and the other guests witnessed a parade of American and Canadian troops, which was spectacular to a degree seldom attained in this country.

A regiment of Highlanders, in scarlet coats, furry heads and plaid kilts, and another regiment of the Governor-General's Foot Guards in uniform of almost equal brilliancy, all fully armed and with bands playing British and Scotch marches and melodies, piped in the military display. Two regiments and a squadron of cavalry from the United States forces and a regiment of the New York State National Guard—all in the mode blue of the American army—formed the contrast for the vivid lines of color which the foreigners presented.

ADGIE WAS ATTACKED BY A LIONESS

Lady Lion Tamer Who Was Seen at Bennet's Injured at Hamilton.

Hamilton, July 8.—While feeding lions this morning at Maple Leaf Park, Madame Adgie had a miraculous escape from being seriously, if not fatally, injured. The lions are given raw meat twice a day, but on account of Tribby, one of the lionesses, being sick, Madame Adgie has not been allowing her the usual portion. Today she decided not to give Tribby any meat, and the lioness became enraged. The plucky tamer had often seen her that way before, and used the usual methods to try and quiet her, but Tribby was not to be put off that way, and pounced on her trainer before Madame Adgie knew it. She tore the flesh from her arm with her paw, and was having the better of the argument when the keeper got on the job with a revolver and scared the enraged beast away. Madame Adgie had the wound dressed, and outside of having to wear bandages, shows no signs of being much the worse for the encounter.

MUNICIPAL MEAT INSPECTION

is planning a campaign of education to bring about municipal inspection. The first step required is the appointment of a veterinarian to inspect the meat at the slaughterhouse. But even this will be of little account unless municipalities educate a corps of trained inspectors. A veterinary surgeon without special training is not a meat inspector, and his conclusion as to the soundness of meat which he views already cooked and offered for sale on the market is practically of no value. When the Dominion Government undertook to administer the Dominion act, it was found that there was absolutely no trained meat inspectors in Canada. Therefore it became necessary to provide without delay the nucleus of an inspection staff. This was done by arranging for a special course in meat inspection and kindred branches of knowledge at the Chicago Veterinary College, to which through the kindness of the United States authorities was added the great privilege of a course of practical work in the large meat establishments in that city. Sixty-four Canadian veterinarians were authorized to take this course, which lasted five weeks, on the understanding that if they were successful in passing the examination to be held at its close, they would receive a bonus of $100 and be eligible for appointment to the Canadian meat inspection service. Even this proved but a beginning, and it has the ingenuity of the Government to train and provide for the enforcement of the Dominion act.

That drastic action is called for by the municipalities is apparent from the "People talk about the Chicago packing houses and the sensation created by the 'Jungle,'" said Dr. Rutherford the other day. "Yet far worse than can be found in 'The Jungle' are going on at this very hour and every day in this city, Toronto and other cities of Canada."

Conservatives Made Strenuous Fight in Queen's Bye-Election.

Charlotte, P.E.I., July 8.—The Liberals tonight are jubilation over the result of the local bye-election in the first district of Queen's, where Cyrus Crosby defeated John Myers, Conservative, by 69.

The seat was vacated by the death of Hon. Matthew Smith, Speaker, whose majority at the general election of 1905 was 81. The Conservatives made a determined effort to capture the constituency. Had they succeeded the standing of the parties would have been 16 to 14, and as the other bye-election has to be held in the fourth district of Prince, where Hon. Joseph Field was returned at the general election, the Conservatives would have been in a position to win the seat.

The ablest speakers on both sides stumped the district and seldom in the island's history has such interest been taken in any bye-election. The parties are now 16 to 13, not counting Field. The Conservatives are practically keeping the Government in office until at least the end of their four-year term.

DIES OF WOUND.

Manila, July 8.—Sergeant Robert Johnson, of the United States Artillery, who was wounded in the fight at Patian on Jolo Island, by the notorious Mory outlaw, Jikri, and his band, who were exterminated last Monday, died today from the effects of his wounds.

Corporal Hauser, who was wounded during the same fight, is not expected to live, but the remainder of the wounded, including the three officers, are making satisfactory progress.

TWO TWIRLERS OUT.

Chicago, Ill., July 8.—Mordecai Brown and Ed Reulbach, the Cubs' star pitchers, will not join the champions during the present series with Philadelphia, and it will be longer before Reulbach will be able to take his turn on the slab.

Brown's injury showed little or no change in her condition yesterday, and the three-fingered pitcher asserted that he would not join the team until his wife is entirely out of danger.

Reulbach, who was taken suddenly ill with ptomaine poisoning last Monday, was able to stand yesterday for the first time, but he has little hope of joining the team for ten days or two weeks.

THE KANSAS FLOODS.

Kansas City, July 8.—Daybreak today revealed much distress throughout the flood-stricken districts of Missouri and Kansas. Thousands of people along the Missouri River, the Grand River and the Missouri and the Marais des Cygnes River in Kansas, who had been forced to take refuge in upper stories of houses, were rising, and the washing away of property the flood is causing much suffering to many farm-people, who are marooned in remote and inaccessible spots. Several relief trains sent out from Kansas City and other points were unable to reach their destination, and boats along the river were unable to supply food and other necessities, which had put out to go to the rescue were forced back by the swirling current. A call for relief sent out from Patterson says conditions there are hourly growing worse. Main street is eight feet deep in rushing water. Three-fourths of the people in the town have lost everything they had.

PRAYING FOR RAIN.

Washington, July 8.—A raising of voices in prayer, the Chinese Imperial government hopes, may be followed by copious and greatly-needed rains, and a consequent revival of crops. So dry has it been in China this summer that the Government has issued a decree ordering a number of the princes to offer up prayers for rain.

WESTON FAILS IN FEAT BUT HAS GREAT RECORD

The Aged Walker Has Gone 3,650 Miles in Ninety-Six Days.

New York, July 8.—Eastern sportsmen, at today observing with interest the progress of the aged Paxon Weston, the walker, who is plodding across the Sierras in California, on the last swing of his transcontinental walk from this city 100 days. This is the 99th day and Weston has still over 200 miles to go over the mountains, so that his effort to make the distance of about 4,000 miles in a century of days appears to have failed; but he has established a feat of pedestrianism that will probably remain unequalled for a long time to come.

Weston is over 70 years of age, and when he started away from the New York city hall on March 15 last there were many predictions that he would never reach the objective of his journey. Overcoming difficulties of the spring roads Weston kept steadily on, and April 21 found him trudging into Chicago. All along the line of his march bands of townsmen came out to greet him and escort him to his resting-place for the night.

Notwithstanding his many years the walk seemed to give Weston new life. Two months after the start found the aged pedestrian in Wakeney, Kansas, and nearing Colorado. A month more and Weston was travelling the plains and Wyoming, near Granger, and while it was apparent that he could scarcely make San Francisco at the time appointed, he kept steadily on. Weston remained at Reno, Nevada, yesterday, and today he began the long ascent of the Sierras. From New York to Reno Nevada, Weston has covered 3,650 miles in 96 days, exclusive of Sundays.

LIBERAL VICTORY IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

GIANT ENGLISHMAN ALLEGED TO BE INSANE

John Thornber, of Westminster Township, Made Things Lively at a Belmont Hotel.

John Thornber, of Westminster Township, appeared before Squire Chittick this morning charged by John Byrne, the hostler of John Charles hotel at Belmont, with being insane and dangerous to be at large.

Thornber is a handsome young Englishman standing considerably over six and a half feet high. He is at one and the same time, according to his story, a Plunkerton detective and a member of the royal family.

Thornber had quite an amount of money with him, and immediately started in to provide refreshments for all the thirty souls of the locality. It was not long before he became very boisterous and started playfully posing of all the movable furniture. As a result John Constable Hughes was warned and immediately sent out to arrest the man. When the officer arrived he found out his orders a lively melee occurred, and Dan McCallum and John Byrne joined in the fray.

Even with this force it was some time before Thornber could be handcuffed. On the journey in Thornber varied matters by alternately holding a prayer meeting and inviting all and sundry within earshot to drink at his expense. In front of the Salem Church band hand and foot as he was, he made a leap from the rig and almost succeeded in carrying the rest of the party with him.

Thornber is a man of evident education, but at the same time has no relatives or friends in this country.

He appeared before Squire Chittick this morning, and was remanded for a week.

CRACKSMEN AT ZURICH BLOW OPEN BIG SAFE

Discharge Wrecks Front of the Building and Thieves Decamp Without Loot.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Zurich, July 8.—Last night about 1 o'clock burglars entered the office of Edmund Zeller, conveyancer, of this town, and succeeded in demolishing a large safe, nitro-glycerin being used. The store front of the Herald printing and telephony office, also owned by Mr. Zeller, was blown to atoms, and part of the safe was driven through the telephone cabinet. The cracks, however, got nothing for their work. The loss will be considerable to Mr. Zeller. His fine gold watch and chain hung directly behind the safe, but was not taken. A number of citizens were awakened by the report of the explosion, but by the time they sounded the alarm, the night owls had flown.

AN ASIAN 'QUAKE.

Hamburg, July 6.—The seismograph at the university here registered an earthquake at 10:45 o'clock last night which was equal in violence to any of the shocks that have occurred at Messina since that city was devastated last December. It is believed that the earthquake occurred about 2,900 miles to the eastward, evidently in Central Asia.

JAP ARMS ACTIVE.

St. Petersburg, July 8.—A dispatch to the Reich today from Harbin reports that the Japanese are strongly reinforcing the garrison at Mukden, which now consists of 22,000 troops, including fifteen squadrons of cavalry. Trains of ammunition and provisions are constantly arriving and the Japanese are actively repairing and extending the fortifications.

A PROBLEM UNSOLVABLE.

The mysterious power we term life, which alone renders possible the production of a few of the chemical elements of such diverse fabrics as bone and skin, horn and hair, muscle and nerve and brain, which, when manufactured all the infinite varied products of the vegetable kingdom—the thousand delicious fruits for our use and enjoyment, the endless woods and fibres, gums, and resins, to serve the purposes of our ever-developing arts and manufactures, will surely never be explained—as many suppose they will be explained—in more matter and motion.

But beyond even these marvels is yet greater marvel of that ever-present organizing and guiding power which to take a single example—generation after generation, and even year after year—builds up the individual, builds up the race, and builds up the world.

Not only is a feather a miracle of complex structure, in every minute part adapted for most important and even vital ends, but it may be safely stated that no two feathers on any bird are absolutely identical, varying in contour, in curvature, in rigidity, in size, by almost imperceptible gradations, so that each fulfills its special purpose. And beyond

STORY OF A BELL.

Few persons suspect that in the cathedral church of Notre Dame is a bell contemporaneous with Joan of Arc—"the blessed bell" which sounded the tocsin when the maid of Lorraine appeared in August, 1429, and Paris was besieged by the English. This historic bell, referred to by Victor Hugo in his "Notre Dame de Paris," was given to the cathedral in 1400 by Jean de Montaigne. It was refounded in 1836 and then relapsed under the name of Emmanuel Louise Therese, in honor of Louis XIV. and Marie Therese of Austria.

So if this bell is not the same bell which the heroine of Domremy heard, nevertheless the same metal vibrates today at the great religious ceremonies of the metropolitan church. In view of later events it seems rather more than a coincidence that when all the other bells of Notre Dame were destroyed by the revolutionists, Joan's bell should have been spared.—London Globe.

London Market Today Was a Comparatively Small One.

HAY PRICES WERE FIRM

Oats Had a Good Sale—Vegetables
Were Not Very Much in Evidence.

There was a very small market today, and every variety of produce was comparatively scarce. Prices, on the other hand, were fairly good, and save in a few instances, there was a very good demand.

The supply of hay fell off very noticeably today, only about 17 loads being offered, a good number of which were of new hay. The prices, however, remained strong, and $10.50 to $12 was paid for old hay, the majority of the loads being sold at the latter price. New hay, too, brought considerably better prices, selling from $7.50 to $9, according to the quality. The best found a ready sale at higher prices. Oats, too, had a good sale today, and the price showed a considerable advance, going as high as $1.66 for first-class quality, which is the highest price which has prevailed now for some time.

Meat Prices.

In butchers' meats there has been only a slight change. Beef shows a tendency to be firmer, while dressed hogs still continue to advance, and are now selling as high as $10.75.

Vegetables were very little in evidence. There was a good supply of lettuce, but other green vegetables were rather noticeable for their absence. The demand for potatoes was somewhat stronger than it has been for the past week or more, and they sold today for 75 to 80 cents.

In the line of fruit, cherries were the only thing that showed anything like a brisk sale. They sold from 8 to 9 cents a quart for all varieties. Gooseberries were somewhat easier, bringing today 7 to 8 cents.

Strawberries were there in some quantities, but the sale was anything but brisk. At wholesale, some small berries went as low as 5 1/2 cents, and from that up to 8 cents, while the general retail price was 9 cents.

Red currants made their initial appearance today and had some sale on account of their novelty. They were wholesaling at 9 cents, and retailing at 10 cents a box.

COFFEE.

New York, July 7.—Coffee—Futures closed steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 15 points, in response to the gain in the French market, and ruled generally steady to firm, with the near by showing relative strength on the bullish attitude of leading trade interests and covering by shorts, who seemed to have expected previously that the influence of new coffee in the Brazilian markets would lead to freer offerings of the supplies available in consuming circles than have so far materialized. The market closed steady, net unchanged to 20 points higher.

Sales were reported of 15,000 bags, including July 7; September, $5.55 to $5.70; December, $5.50; March, $5.55.
A prominent French authority estimates the production of coffee for the year ending June 30 last, all kinds, at 15,915,000 bags.

DECLINE OF READING ALOUD.

The number of volumes of fresh poetry published is increasing year by year, and the old poets are sold in greater quantity, yet there is a general impression that there is less poetry read than there used to be, that the younger generation does not have the love for it that their elders had. This impression we believe to be correct, and we account for it largely by the decline in the habit of reading aloud. For poetry is based on sound, and when no sound is heard poetry is merely a vexatious awkward way of saying things. There are persons with such strong auditory imaginations that they can read a page of music and get the same enjoyment out of it as by hearing it played, and there are persons of the same type who can read poetry silently with as much satisfaction as aloud, but such gifted individuals are rare, and they are getting rarer as the auditory faculties are nowadays less developed.

Someone has said that it is a crime to read poetry to oneself and that it should be prohibited by law. We agree with the first clause, but not with the second. Legal measures are unnecessary, for where poetry is not read aloud it is usually not read at all. There is no reason why it should be. Independent.

MONUMENT ERECTED TO THE M'COLL FAMILY

Unique Shaft Stands in the Ford Cemetery, a Few Miles From Rodney.

The following account of the erection of a monument in the Ford Cemetery, south of Rodney, to the McCall family, many of whom were former residents of London, will be interesting to the readers of The Advertiser:

There has recently been erected, in the Ford Cemetery, on Talbot street, seven miles from Rodney, a granite monument, by surviving members, at one time well-known residents of the city of London, now resident in Toronto, of a family of one of the branches of the McCall lineage, who years ago lived in that district, and of whose people some settled in the vicinity nearly a hundred years ago, as inscribed on the monument.

The monument is of moderate size—five feet in height above the grass, three feet wide, and fifteen inches thick. It is polished on its two faces, an' edges, as smooth and hard as glass. The undressed rock bottom part is some two feet in depth, sunk below the grass, and resting on a five-foot bed of adhesive concrete, set on solid clay ground, thereby assuring its stability for all time.

Is Unique.

The monument is unique in its being made of one entire block of granite, which is dark ebony, taken from quarries near Montreal. Its durability, and that of the letters cut into it, may be considered as indestructible and enduring for ages. It is bevel chamfered at the hammered band and mold, at the foot of its polished die, completing a solid finished piece, several inches wide, to that part of its undressed base.

The top of the monument on each of its two sides is chiselled into scrolled ogee curves from each edge, culminating in a rounding and arched crest at the centre, each of the ogee curves terminating in volutes. The contour line of the top is emphasized by a polished border an inch wide on each of the two faces, which follows the contour of the whole top, so designed as to shed the weather freely.

The memorial inscriptions record the genealogy of five generations of deaths and lives, extending over more than a century of years, beginning back at the great-grandparents and families, and continuing forward from the grandparents to the children, great-grandchildren and their parents, giving uniquely the birth year of each person of the grandparents' descendants, and the death year of those who so far have passed away, making the stone a memorial of intelligent interest for surviving relatives during the future years of their lives and beyond them. There is a blank space for inscribing in future the death year on the line of our parents thereon, and other names and spaces might be used for further records.

On the memorial are the names of fifteen persons deceased, and some twenty-five persons, whose deaths are yet to come—thus recording their entry, and existence in this beautiful world, and indicative of their accountability for a creditable use of their time thereon. On the memorial is cut the obituary of the nobleman, Colonel John Campbell, of Melford, near Oban, on whose lands beyond the seas, the family dwelt for generations, and testimony to his social and moral worth.

The Family Crest.

On the arched crest of the memorial on one side is the deeply cut crest of the family name, with its classic motto. On the opposite side within the arch, also deeply carved, is the Maple Leaf encircled by the Scotch Thistle, both national emblems. On either side adjoining this is the family name, McCall, in the vernacular, and the years 1739-1903. Then beginning at the top of this face, immediately above the inscriptions are a few lines of an ancient suggestive hymn in the language said to be that of the Garden of Eden. Its Scripture texts indicate the missionary character of the memorial. A visit to it—or its photograph, could furnish thoughts and exercises for the preacher and teacher.

The letters and figures of the memorial are nearly all in Old English, cut deep, and gradually shaded, and smallest so large as easily to be read, and the whole inscription quite legible from any point of reflection, and the superstructure of the granite and not requiring any gliding or painting to make them legible.

The plot on which the monument is erected is on a gently sloping hill, rounded by a low border of concrete, sunk deep in the earth, ornamented with granite and marble trimmings, and the superstructure of the monument with lake gravel, having small marked polished stones on each of its six or seven graves. Settees for resting and a few trees and shrubs tastefully planted, completed the work of the memorial erection.

LING--KILBOURNE

A Pretty Home Wedding at Kilworth on Tuesday.

A quiet home wedding occurred at the residence of Mrs. Maria Kilbourne, Kilworth Bridge, on July 7, when her only daughter, Miss Adeline, was united in marriage to Mr. Edwin E. Ling, of Lobo. At 8 o'clock the bride, charmingly gowned in French mill, wearing the conventional veil and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, entered the drawing-room leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Charles Kilbourne.

Rev. Mr. Freeman, of Delaware, performed the ceremony.

After the wedding ceremony, the guests, consisting of immediate relatives, sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast.

The bride's going-away gown was of green chiffon broadcloth. Little Miss Marie Kilbourne, niece of the bride, dressed in pink, acted as flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Ling will be at home to their friends at Maple Grove Farm, Lobo, after July 21.

ZU EULENBURG FAINTS IN COURT

Berlin, July 7.—Prince Philip Zu Eulenburg had an attack of heart failure in court today, while undergoing an examination at the hands of physicians to determine his physical fitness to stand trial on charges of perjury alleged to have been committed during the Harbon-Von Moltke case, which was an outgrowth of the "Round Table" scandal of 1907.

When the proceedings opened today, the presiding judge asked the prince if he was able to follow them. Zu Eulenburg answered that he did not think so. The judge thereupon reminded the prince that the commission of physicians on arriving at the castle of Liebenberg, had seen him walking in the grounds, but that he had at once entered the castle and gone to bed.

The members of the commission declared that in their opinion the prince was sufficiently strong to stand the trial. They declared that when they examined him he had simulated weakness and checked his breathing to affect his pulse, thus endeavoring to deceive them.

The prince, who was sitting in an easy chair, before the prince was placed and stood trembling before his accusers. Resting his hand on the railing in front of him, he said:

"That is not true! That is not true! I have never pretended. I have an interest in being well. I want to get through with this trial, and what would be the sense of my pretending?"

"Why did you hold your breath during the medical examination?" asked the judge.

"I did no such thing," retorted the prince, shaking with excitement.

The public prosecutor thereupon demanded that the prince be placed under arrest and not permitted to give bail. Before ruling on this request the judge consulted with his colleagues on the bench and decided that Zu Eulenburg should be examined by Prof. Kraus, who was present.

The court room was cleared and the examination began. While undergoing it, the prince's pulse rose to 132, and he fainted away. After he had partially regained consciousness the court reassembled. Prof. Kraus declared that the prince was not able to go on with the trial, and the case was adjourned indefinitely.

BATTLING WITH NATURE.

Brazilians, when they consider the size of their country and the vast resources which undoubtedly exist in it, are at times dazed by such opportunities and persuade themselves that their country is really one of the greatest in the world, although, as a matter of fact, thus far it only has an almost certain promise of really attaining to that fortunate position. It is often said that Brazil is a wilderness with a fringe of civilization surrounding it. An explorer who recently traversed Brazil from the Atlantic to the boundary of Peru told me that for two hundred days he had not seen a white person. Yet the "fringe" must not be understood as being a very thin band. In places it is hundreds of miles wide and it penetrates into the wilderness along the river banks for long distances. Yet, even in the most advanced state of Brazil, the state of Sao Paulo, a large area is marked as unexplored country on the latest maps.

Brazil holds the distinction of being the most important tropical country in the world. All the charm and interest of the tropics have entered into its civilization and are expressed in its literature. But nature in the tropics is a powerful mistress; her very exuberance and fertility prevent men from thoroughly subjugating her. If the engineer builds railroads and highways, their embankments are washed away by the tropical rains. The clearing
