First Negro Woman's Federal Post Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The appointment of Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, believed to be the first woman Negro to be named to a federal bench, as a U.S. district judge was confirmed yesterday by the Senate.

The Senate confirmed her nomination after Senator James O. Eastland (Dem. Miss.) read testimony to a Senate internal security sub-committee hearing that Mrs. Motley, of New York, had been active in the Young Communist League in 1942 and 1943.

The testimony was denied by other senators.

Eastland is chairman of the Senate judiciary committee which delayed action on Mrs. Motley's appointment since it was made by President Johnson last January.

Mrs. Motley, 44, is a former president of the borough of Manhattan and New York State senator.

She was on the legal staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for 20 years and participated in the long litigation over school desegregation.

She is the mother of a son.

J. Butler Finds Out That Gambling Is For The Birds

Mercury Recording Artist Jerry Butler found out recently that gambling is for the birds—especially if you try to win out against the Chess recording Radiants. Jerry's fan club headquarters at 58 E. Roosevelt Rd., in Chicago is a beehive of activity, though, as a result of the "rigged" game. The Radiants needed a car to escort Cleveland teenager Belinda Crockett around the city for a day. Belinda won the three singers in a national contest sponsored by Galazy Artist Management and conducted by Startime Features. The Radiants took Jerry's car, but Butler won the heart of Miss Crockett, who is now the John Hay Senior High School president of Jerry's fan club and working like mad to get new members to join. Perhaps it does pay to gamble!

30TH ANNIVERSARY

San Francisco (NPI) — Count Basie celebrated his 30th anniversary as a band leader recently saying that he still enjoys music and indicating he plans to be around for some time. Basie and his swinging big band were appearing at Basin St. West nightclub.

Klansman Convicted

ATHENS, Ga. — (NPI) — A Ku Klux Klansman, convicted last month on federal charges of conspiring to violate Negroes' rights, has been sentenced to 10 years in prison for assault with intent to murder his wife. Joseph Howard Sims, 43, was convicted in the shooting of his wife Betty, mother of eight. Sims had pleaded guilty to the charges last month.

Sam Cook's Widow Expecting

Los Angeles (NPI) — Mrs. Barbara (Cooke) Womack, widow of the late singer Sam Cooke, is reportedly expecting her first child by her current husband, Robert Womack, in December. At the same time, spec-

Bursaries Awarded At Mason's Meeting

One of the results of the 111th annual communication (convention) of the Ontario and Quebec Prince Hall Masonic Grand Lodge held in Chatham for the past three days was a better understanding and appreciation by members of the work being done towards co-operation with them in this area.

Worshipful Grand Master for Ontario Charles Downes made this point Tuesday.

He said of the convention "I think it has been extremely successful. We have done a great deal of work and we have also been able to embark on certain areas which we did not think we would be able to accomplish this year."

Centennial

Host lodge was St. John's No. 9 of Chatham which is celebrating its centennial year. Worshipful master is John Robinson.

Mr. Downes added: "We have a better understanding and appreciation of the community and civil organizations in this area and the work they are doing to communicate with us and assist us."

Then he said, "We have had our ups and downs. Everything is up now. We are co-operating with the authorities and the authorities are co-operating with us."

Wyndolyn Terrelle, grand secretary of Michigan, a lawyer in Detroit, criticized young people who were openly revolting against parental authority.

This revolt was manifested in some of the riots seen this year, he said. Unless parents could sustain direction of their children and allow them full partnership in the community, parents had no one to blame but themselves, he said.

Four bursaries were presented by the Electa Chapter No. 1 of the Order of the Eastern Star to help students to continue with higher education.

They included Miss Doreen Fowler, 20, of North Buxton, who is in her third year of nurses training at Public General Hospital; Michael Robbins, 19, of Chatham, a student at Western Ontario Institute of Technology, Windsor; Adah Jackson, 20, of Chatham, a student at the University of Toronto and Patsy Poole, of Dresden, a grade 13 student who plans to take a business course.

Grand Senior Warden Lincoln Alexander of Hamilton was in the chair.

Mayor Garnet Newkirk brought the city's greetings to the meeting.

There were many visitors from the U.S. and delegates came from all parts of Ontario and Quebec.

The Bible Today

Of all the changes taking place in the Roman Catholic Church, none is more significant than her attitude to the distribution of the Scriptures and her willingness to read and distribute Protestant Bibles, says a recent release from the Canadian Bible Society.

It is stated that the common Bible idea is now generally accepted by the Catholic Church and the Bible Societies. Of the 502 languages in which translations are now going forward under the supervision of the Bible Societies, the Catholics are sharing in two dozen cases. The Board of the newly formed Bible Society of Nigeria has official representation from the Roman Catholic Church.

There is active cooperation in both French and English editions of the Bible between Roman Catholic and traditionally Protestant Churches.

The Catholic edition of the RSV Bible which appeared last month has no changes in the Old Testament text from the Protestant RSV Bible, and only a few in the New Testament. This is the first translation from the original texts made available to English Catholics since the Reformation.

The Dogmatic Constitution on Divine Revelation, Arts. 22 and 25, are noteworthy says this release, for not since the early centuries of the Church has an official document urged the availability of the Scriptures for all.

MATES HONOR "GABBY"—RETIREMENT OFFICIAL

Stan "Gabby" Anderson, a product of London sandlots, was honored at a Senior Intercounty Baseball League play-off game at Labatt Park by teammates.

The occasion was Anderson's final game at Labatt Park as a London Pontiac. He's retiring at the conclusion of the series.

Gabby's retirement is one of many over the past few years. But this time he really means it.

Early in the spring, Pontiacs were having front office problems and Anderson came out of "retirement" to get the players together and organize pre-season workouts. He was later instrumental in acquiring a manager.

This is the type of dedication that has kept him active in the Intercounty for the past few years. Each of the past few years he has "retired," only to succumb to the call of the dust.

So it was that "Gabby Anderson Night" last night is so well deserved.

Since being tagged with the nick-name "Gabby" at the age of nine, he has risen through London's minor baseball system, playing in all categories, into professional baseball in the U.S., and capping his career with his name scattered throughout the Intercounty record books.

He was playing Junior baseball when the London senior club called him up for seven games in 1948.

In 1950 and 1951 he played with Olean in the Class "D" Pony League. Then came a hitch in the U.S. Army followed by a season in Class "B" at Peoria, Ill., before returning to London to play briefly in the intercounty in 1955.

He sat out 1956, but returned in 1957 and topped the London Majors and the Great Lakes - Niagara District League with a .403 batting average. He was also named the most valuable player that year.

This has been his pattern since then.

He won Intercounty batting crowns in 1957 and 1960 and was named to the first all-star team eight times. Twice he was elected MVP.

At 36, Anderson is not by a long shot finished with baseball in London.

He has been vice-president of the Pee-wee Division of the Eager Beaver Baseball Association for the past two years, devoting great quantities of time to the youngsters. This he will likely continue.

The Pontiacs' loss is the kids' gain.

Following the game, Bob Service, one of a number of Pontiacs' bat boys, addressed Anderson in the dressing room on behalf of all the youngsters affiliated with the Pontiacs. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Service, of 192 Bruce St., London.

CENTENNIAL GIFT — The Hon. Judy LaMarsh, Secretary of State of Canada, presents Centennial Clock to Marion Sadler, president of American Airlines, at Toronto luncheon marking 25th anniversary of the airline's service between Canada and New York City. In background is seven-foot-high Holland Clock, an historical instrument used in the 18th century to survey the first Canadian provinces. It was American Airlines' gift to the Canadian Centennial observance. At the close of the observance, the clock will be enshrined in the Canadian National Museum in Ottawa.

SKIN CARE

Follow this simple plan twice a week to help keep your skin clean and pretty as well.

Creaming

Cover your face with a creamy cleansing cream or lotion. Be sure to include your throat and the back of your neck. Massage gently, working fingers in light upward, outward motions: chin to cheekbone, upper lip to under eyes, eyebrows to temple. Gently circle eyes. Smooth cleanser down in long strokes from chin to collarbone. Tissue off and repeat.

Steaming

Hold your face over a basin of hot water, making a tent of a towel to catch all the steamy benefits (3 minutes). While skin is warm apply paste made with cosmetic cleansing grains, or mix baking soda or cornmeal with cleansing cream or lotion and massage on in up-and-out pattern followed for creasing. (Skip eye area).

Refreshing

Finish home facial by closing the pores. If skin is dry, pat face and neck with cotton pad soaked with skin freshener; if oily, use an astringent product. Once a week use a mask suited to your skin type to rev up circulation. A homemade substitute can be as simple as the white of an egg (apply, let dry). Rinse off with cool water.

Greatest Right-Handed Hitter

Fabulous Willie Mays of the penant - chasing San Francisco Giants has cracked Jimmy Foxx's career home run record of 534 to become the greatest right-handed hitter in baseball's history.

"Say - Hey" Willie tied Foxx's record by rifling an eight - inning homer over the right field fence in the Giants wind - blown Candlestick park in San Francisco. His historic homer paced the Giants to a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and enabled his pitching teammate, Gaylord Perry, to register his 19th season victory.

With the 535th career homer — which also was his 30th of the current season — Mays moved into second place in the major league's all - time homer race. Babe Ruth, the great "Bambino" of yesteryears, holds the record with a prodigious total of 714.

Many experts believe that Ruth's total is beyond Mays; that the "Bambino's" mark will never be broken by Mays or anyone else. However, one can never be sure what Mays will not achieve. Given the chance of sticking aronud for another six or seven years, he may well top Ruth's mark.

To excel Ruth, however, willie, who, except for his rookie year in 1951 (when he hit only 20), has never hit less than 29 in any season, would have to hit about 10 more homers this season and then hit 30 or more each season for the next six years. Quite a task!

Can he do it? That is the big question which only time can answer. But I'll wager that even if Willie tapers off in his remaining major league years, he can overtake Ruth, providing, of course, that he plays about seven more years.

Willie clouted homer number 535 last week, the partisan Candlestick Park crowd of 24,178 stood and roared a great ovation for him. Years to come, those in the crowd, as in the one to witness hi msurpass Foxx, will be able to tell their children about the cherished moment when they watched Mays tying his record that had stood for years. He wired his congratulations to Willie, and declared:

"I hope he (Mays) hits 600. For 25 years they thought only lefthanders could hit the long ones. They even teach right - handed youngsters to hit left (switchhit)."

"Why, I hit 500 before any other right - hander could hit 400. I'm happy that another right - hander can prove he can hit." Amen.

Letitia Burke Home From Cyprus After Teaching Nursing Four Years

Out of the hundreds of people working for the World Health Organization only 10 people a year are awarded fellowships. And only a few go to nurses.

Miss Letitia Burke, whose home is 381 Lacroix Street has gained one of these fellowships. She starts a summer session at the University of Western Ontario, in London, before taking a two-year course at the university to get her master of science degree.

She has been working with W.H.O. in Cyprus as a nurse educator for the past four years.

Miss Burke said that it was becoming more and more important for nurses these days to have a university background so it was even more necessary that teachers of nurses should have a higher training.

For all the time she was in Cyprus she was based at Nicosia and her duties were training nurse teachers. She also worked for the upgrading of the standard of the nurses school. While she was there the school received full recognition from the General Nursing Council of England and Wales.

This she said would help in the recruiting of a larger number of girls.

She added, "We seemed to attract more male students than girls into nursing."

Miss Burke said she loved Cyprus because, "I find it very stimulating. What I particularly like about it is its beauty." She added that there were few chilly days and there was sunshine for 360 days of the year.

It was not all smooth sailing — for during the time of fighting between the Turks and Greek-Cypriots she was very much involved.

"I was kept very busy helping with the care of casualties — anybody who had any knowledge of nursing — was called upon to help."

"It was rather terrifying to see how people who were formerly friends and associates become enemies almost overnight," she added.

And during this time she had to move to another apartment in a safer area.

But she said that now the situation was improved.

It is a country of contrasts. In the cities, she said the women were sophisticated and wore the latest fashions. But in the villages the women still wore the traditional black dress and the women worked in the fields — even in the building of roads and on construction.

"But the city women are really pampered. Many come back from overseas with degrees and they don't go to work. They just sit at home waiting to get married."

The girls are still chaperoned — not allowed to date alone unless they are engaged. And it is still the practice, though this gradually dying out, for bridegrooms to be given a dowry by the bride's father. The dowry could consist of a house of a large sum of money.

"Sometimes marriages are arranged — particularly in the wealthier families — and this does lead to marital problems later on," she said. She explained that arranged marriages only took place in the Greek community.

Miss Burke said that the two communities were very similar — the population is made up of 18 per cent Turks and 78 per cent of Greeks with some other minorities.

"The difference is in the religion — Greek Orthodox and Moslem — but as far as physical traits are concerned you would not be able to tell the difference between a Turk and a Greek she said.

Living was rather expensive because all household items had to be imported. Meat was expensive, but the fruit and vegetables were quite reasonable.

"Rents for apartments and homes were certainly quite reasonable," she added.

About three weeks after she arrived in Cyprus she acquired a black mongrel puppy, Gigi. And Gigi was everywhere with her. Gigi is now back in Canada.

During her tour of duty Miss Burke has visited Israel, Lebanon, Egypt, taken a cruise to the Aegean Islands, been to Greece, Germany and England.

After she has finished her studies Miss Burke hopes to be reassigned to the Middle East.

She said of her work with W.H.O., "It is extremely interesting and rewarding. You are able to fulfill two objectives — to travel and to learn about other people and cultures of the world. You are also able to give service by using your own particular skills and training."

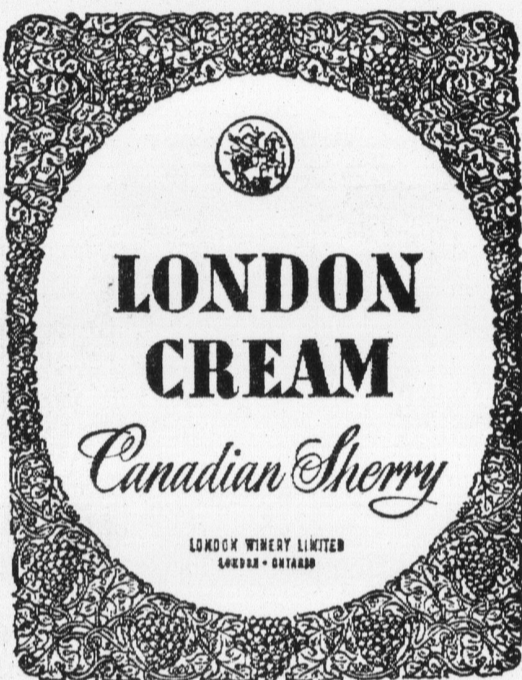

She trained at the Hotel Dieu of St. Joseph, Windsor and then went to the University of Western Ontario to get her diploma in nursing education.

She was a member of the teaching staff at St. Joseph's Hospital, Chatham, for a time before returning to Windsor. While there she took her BSc nurse instructor degree. Then Miss Burke went to a Chicago hospital as a staff nurse and was eventually promoted to supervisor.

ON ITS OWN

Lusaka (NPA) — Kambia, the copper-rich independent African nation which has in the past had to knuckle under to Rhodesia when it wanted to ship its mineral to the Indian ocean ports, will be by-passing its erstwhile partners in the Central African Federation by next March. By then, it proposes to have in operation through a system of alternate highways and rail lines to get its copper ore to the coast.

Fresh Tomatoes Into Spaghetti

While tomatoes are plentiful, both in the home garden and on the market, plan to make fresh spaghetti sauce. There's nothing like it. Make it in large quantities and freeze it for the days ahead when you don't feel like cooking. To strain the tomatoes and other vegetables for a smooth sauce, use a Foley Food Mill.

Spaghetti Sauce

1/2 cup cubed salt pork
1/4 cup olive or other oil
4 onions, sliced
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
5 pounds fresh tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon dried basil
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1 teaspoon salt
Freshly ground pepper as desired.

In a large kettle, cook salt pork in oil until pieces are lightly browned. Add onions, garlic and celery and cook until soft. Cut tomatoes into quarters (do not peel, core or seed; the Food Mill takes care of it); add to kettle. Add basil, oregano, salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly about one hour. Strain through a Foley Food Mill. Return to pan and continue cooking, uncovered, until sauce is thickened, about 1 1/2 hours. Taste and add additional herbs, salt and pepper as desired. Makes about 1 quart sauce. When doubling or tripling recipe for freezing, do not add additional herbs or other seasonings at the end. Wait until frozen sauce is thawed and heated, then taste and add seasoning if desired.

For Spagetti Meat Sauce—
saute 1 pound of ground beef, or 1/2 pound beef and 1/2 pound of pork in a small amount of oil until browned. Mix with tomato sauce and continue cooking 1/2 hour. Makes 8 servings.

Another "Insult"

Lagos (NPI)—Nigeria was on the receiving end of another "insult" by a Peace Corps worker. According to a report appearing in the West African Pilot, one of the leading dailies, Robert S. Davies, 23, of Martinsburg, Pa., is accused of asking students at a teacher-training college to summarize passages from a book that Negro was synonymous with "slave" and that Africans have no history.

Undecided

Papeete, Tahiti (NPI)—Some do and some don't want to change the status of the islands of east Polynesia, currently an overseas territory of France. Some leaders who seek more self-rule say that France's use of the islands for nuclear weapons testing is blocking the progress of their people. Neither side, however, thinks the time is ripe for complete independence from French rule.

Civil Rights Roundup

ATLANTA — (NPI) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation was investigating a brief battle which broke out at an Army induction center as Negro pickets shouting "Black Power!" tried to storm the place. Government officials were seeking to determine whether action is warranted. Members of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee were said to be among the pickets. Among the 12 persons arrested was a SNCC field worker charged with assault.

Negro Branch Of WI Grows

Acaciaville, N.S. — The Women's Institute here has the distinction of being the only one in Canada composed entirely of Negro women. When the Acaciaville Community Betterment Association was organized in June 1962, under the leadership of the Rev. W. Clayton, the women decided it was time they, too, were broadening their views and reaching out in the interest of community life.

It was decided the WI could supply the help they were seeking with their problems. Mrs. Florence M. Hilchey, Supervisor of Home Economics and the Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia, visited the group in 1964. At the close of her talk the Acaciaville Women's Institute was organized.

Since that time, talks, demonstrations, and needlework classes have been well attended, and a variety concert was put on, the women using their own talent. The response was so great that the W.I. was asked to repeat it for their church. "It was during the preparation for the concert," writes the president, Mrs. Cromwell, "that we began to see the effects of the organization taking hold, because we were getting to know each other really well. Working together, as we never have before . . . we were thrilled with the results."

Through their efforts a number of books were received for a community library, and women from 3 nearby areas were brought closer together as they sought advice to their problems.

SWITCHAROUND

WASHINGTON — (NPI) — "Black Power" won the approval of an organization headed by Barry Goldwater, while being condemned by U. S. Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, remembered for his civil rights advocacy. The Free Society association found that "black power" could become a constructive political force under responsible Negro leadership. Black power "could provide the stimulus for independent thought and grass-roots problem solving—maybe even the nucleus of responsible political organization in Negro ghettos," the association said. Meanwhile, Marshall said the "black power" movement is "Jim Crow" thinking that has nothing to offer Negroes except violence. To replace white power with black power is "an aim based on inequality," he said.

There are two forms of government—the long form and the short form.
